Rebel Leader Flees From Crete For Un-announced Destination; Loyalists Regain Control of Crete And Place Government Officials Back In Office; Extradition of General Mamanos is Sought

Athens, Greece, March 12.—(AP)—Former Premier Venizelos was reported today as fleeing from Crete simultaneously with the surrender of all naval vessels except the cruiser Averross—which remained in the hands of the rebels.

Unfounded reports said the 71-year-old figure of Greek political wars, departed from his island home on board the Averross in company with his wife and several of his insurgent associates for an undisclosed destination.

With Venizelos's departure, the report said, loyalist regained control of Crete and government officials were restored to office.

The marine ministry was informed the rebel destroyers Psara and Ikon and the submarine Nerous had been abandoned and were in the hands of loyalist officers who had been kept prisoners.

The loyalist, General Dedes, and Governor of Apokintins, were to have resumed control of the Cretan government.

The government instructed the legation at Sofia, Bulgaria, to seek the extradition of General George Mamanos, the rebel military leader and his nineteen associates who fled with him after the defeat of their forces yesterday. The Greek navy reinforced the rebel cruiser Hele, which surrendered yesterday, moved today to smash the last vestige of rebel activity in the Macedonian area.

ROBBERY HERE
NIPPED IN BUDPatrolman Frustrates
Entrance to Home
Grocery Store Here
Last Night

A robbery of the Dickinson Avenue store of the Home Grocery Stores was frustrated last night, it was believed by police today, by a patrolman patrolling the district in which the store is located.

Patrolman Mobley reported at headquarters this morning that he found the front door of the store open, but a check-up failed to reveal anything missing.

Mobley said staples in the lock had been removed by the would-be thief or thieves, but that they were evidently frightened away when he made his appearance in the vicinity.

Mobley said he remained in the community for sometime, especially after discovering the open door, but that the thieves evidently gave up the job and did not make their appearance again during the night.

Stores of the concern have been robbed several times in recent years, the thieves at first getting small amounts of money and later contenting themselves with merchandise.

Other stores of the city also have suffered from such operations, but activities have been cut down considerably by numerous arrests, and in some instances bands of thieves have been apprehended and put behind the bars.

Action On Ballot Law
Boon For Republicans

Reflector Bureau, Raleigh, March 12.—Refusal of the house elections committee to give a favorable report to the School bill which was designed to abolish the absentee campaign law has given Republicans another load of ammunition.

Numerous bills concerning the much-abused wartime voting act were offered the house, but the Scholl bill was the only one which would have completely done away with the law. The bill reported favorably by the committee is found, after analysis, to be very little short of simply a reenactment of the present law and does very little toward abolishing the causes for alleged fraud.

The Scholl bill will, however, reach the floor of the house, but with a minority report. Chief signer of the minority report is Representative Charlie Jones, Republican house leader, and former tenth district congressman. Two Democrats are joining him, but the Republican stamp is officially set on election reform because of Jones' action. (Continued on Page Five)

LOCAL BANK
CHANGES NAMEGreenville Banking &
Trust Co., Changes
To Guaranty Bank
& Trust Co.

At a meeting of stockholders of Greenville Banking & Trust Company here yesterday it was decided to change the name of the institution to Guaranty Bank & Trust Company.

The change of name is the only change made in the institution, it was stated today by W. H. Woolard, executive vice-president. The change was made, he said, because of a desire to obtain uniformity in all places served by the institution and to get away from the local color as expressed in the name of the town where the parent institution is located.

In addition to the parent bank and branch here, the institution also operates branches at Bethel, Belhaven and Snow Hill.

Preparations were under way today for establishment of branches at Washington, N. C., and Williamsport. This action was recently authorized by the banking authorities. Mr. Woolard said plans for opening the new branches were being rushed to completion as rapidly as possible and there was every indication both institutions would be ready to open within the next thirty days.

Greenville Banking & Trust Company was established here in 1901 with a capital of $10,000. It has grown to such extent that its resources today, as contained in the last statement, were $4,930,413.62. Combined capital, surplus and profits were $520,369.56.

The phenomenal growth enjoyed by the institution the last several years has given it an outstanding position in state financial circles, as well as in other parts of the country.

Officers of the bank follows: E. G. Flanagan, president; W. H. Woolard, executive vice-president; M. O. Blount, vice-president; J. H. Waldrop, cashier; A. J. Moore, assistant cashier; M. L. Cowell, assistant cashier; S. C. Ives, cashier, Bethel branch; B. F. Patrick, cashier, Dickinson Avenue branch; J. E. Edwards, cashier, Belhaven branch; and V. N. Whitehurst, cashier of Snow Hill branch.

OUIDA KEETON
SENTENCED TO LIFE IN PRISONLaurel, Miss., Young Woman Charged
With Slaying Mother
Found Guilty

Laurel, Miss., March 12.—(AP)—A Jones County circuit court jury today found Ouida Keeton guilty as charged with recommendation of life imprisonment in her trial on charges of murdering her mother, Mrs. Daisy Keeton.

Judge W. Noe Pack immediately sentenced the defendant to a life term in the State Penitentiary.

The case was given to the jury yesterday afternoon at 4:14 o'clock after two weeks' of trial in which the defense claimed insanity for the young woman. The State sought to show she took part in the fiendish slaying of her mother January 19 and helped in cutting up and disposing of the body. The jury reported just after 9 o'clock this morning.

W. M. Carter, 67-year-old socialite and former employer of Ouida was expected to appear in court here today for his counsel to enter motion for an immediate trial for him on a charge of murder in the slaying of Mrs. Keeton.

A confession of Ouida introduced by the State accused Carter of being the actual slayer.

LEGISLATIVE

By C. A. PAUL

A bill to increase the size of the State Highway Patrol, probably to 200 of 250 patrolmen, is expected to be reported out by the joint committee on roads before the end of this week. It was indicated today by members of the committee. It is expected that either a committee substitute for the various bills now before the Senate and House Roads Committees will be reported or else the bill by Senator Arthur Corey of Pitt County, which would increase the number of patrolmen to 200 men. There is a possibility that the committee may merely change the figures in the Corey bill from 200 to 250 men and report that bill in favorably.

The bill sponsored by the administration would increase the number of the highway patrolmen in the State to only 115 men and officers. But since the State-wide drivers' license has been passed, most of the members of the General Assembly are convinced that 115 patrolmen will not be enough to both patrol the highway and enforce the drivers' license law. Officials of the highway patrol and motor vehicle bureau have told the committee that 300 men will be needed. Several members are convinced that 250 patrolmen should be the minimum, since this would provide only two patrolmen to a county and leave only fifty more for distribution near the larger cities and towns where traffic is the heaviest.

"I think we should have not less than 200 patrolmen, and 250 if possible," Senator U. L. Spence, chairman of the Senate Roads Committee, said today. "Nor do I believe the increased number will mean increased expense since the figures show that since the highway patrol was established it has collected in highway revenue and school revenue alone about twice as much as the cost of the patrol. Consequently I believe that a patrol of 200 or 250 men will more than pay for itself in the additional highway revenue collected in the usual course of their duties."

This revenue comes from passenger automobile and truck license collections and from fines and forfeitures entirely and does not include any other revenue, it was pointed out.

There is talk among members of the Legislature here today, especially among members of the committee on penal institutions, favoring the restoration of the lash in prison camps for punishing prisoners, instead of solitary confinement. This talk is being increased as a result of the

CLEMENCY IS DECLINED FOR
ON SLOW KILLERGovernor Refuses to Take Action to Halt
Electrocution of Sidney Etheridge

Raleigh, N. C., March 12.—(AP)—Governor Ehringhaus indicated today he would decline to grant clemency to Sidney Etheridge, Portsmouth, Va., white man, scheduled to die in the electric chair Friday.

Etheridge, a native of Chowan County, was convicted of the murder of Mrs. Mamie Moore, 71-year-old reclusive in Onslow County several months ago. The State Supreme Court upheld the conviction of Etheridge, and after a lengthy investigation by Edwin Gill, State Parole Commissioner, the governor said he did not see at this time any reason to grant executive clemency.

Mamie Lewis, a woman acquaintance of Etheridge, was tried in connection with the slaying, but was acquitted, although Etheridge contends she did the actual killing with a wrench.

The condemned man said he was in Onslow County on a visit when Mrs. Moore was killed and around $31,000 was taken from her home after the crime and "buried in a place down in Onslow." He refused to reveal the hiding place of the money.

REALTY SALE
HOLDING OWNMovement Not as Brisk Here as Formerly
But Industry
Still Favorable

The movement of real estate continued to hold its own in Greenville and Pitt County during the last several days, records in the office of the Register of Deeds today indicating that twenty-odd transfers were made during the period.

The movement isn't as brisk as it was several weeks ago, but it is of sufficient scope to cause realtors to view the situation favorably with hope for improvement in the future.

Several weeks ago the weekly list ran as high as sixty, but this was so good it just couldn't continue and the drops didn't cause any disappointment.

All of the transfers involved sums, ranging all the way from $10 to $8,000.

The list follows:

J. L. Robbins, trustee, to Lucy J. McLawhorn et als, $1,100.

Ira M. Moore to J. J. Gilbert, 13.15 acres, $10.

J. E. Green, et als, trustee, to Clara O. Cox, one lot, $500.

Tabitha DeVisconte, et als, trustee, to A. C. Monk Company, 24 acres, 1.530.

Leroy Dixon to Paul Gatlin and wife, two lots, $5.

R. L. Carr and wife to W. M. Jones, one lot, $3,200.

Simeon Dixon and wife to Rosa L. Jackson, 46.6 acres, $7,500.

R. R. Faithful, adm., to Stella Pollard, et als, 80 acres, $2,900.

A. L. Jackson and wife to Simeon Dixon, 46.6 acres, $8,000.

Ulster Misses American Money
Belfast, AP—Remittances sent by emigrants from Northern Ireland in America to the folks at home dropped sharply last year. Registered letters passing through Galway totaled only 3,457 compared to 5,335 in 1933. The decrease has been felt severely in many homes where American money orders were the chief sources of existence.

Brazil Cattle Production Lags

Late News Flashes

Hospital Bill Given Final Approval
Raleigh, March 12.—The legislature today gave its final approval to a bill to issue $250,000 worth of bonds for the construction of a tubercular sanatorium in Western North Carolina, as each division worked slowly and the long-awaited money bills still were not ready.

The joint finance committee rescinded another of its money raising actions when it voted to limit the amount of sales tax on one purchase to $10, the present limit instead of $15 as previously voted in the revenue bill.

This afternoon another report was to be made to balance the income and outgo measures which the committee was told would call for biennial general funds of expenditures of $65,575,915 and revenue of only $647,700,000 to meet the allotments.

Without a negative vote the senate passed the Raspberry-Clegg senate measure. It will become law on ratification which is the mere formality of being signed by the presiding officers of the two houses. It appropriates $10,000 for 1935-36 and $100,000 for 1936-37 for operations of the institution.

The house passed and sent to the senate a bill providing for increases in salaries of solicitors from $39,000 to $45,000 annually.

Senator Hill of Durham, announced a public hearing would be held at a later date on the Burrus bill. (Continued on page Six)

FACES COURT
IN MEAT THEFTHoyt Sims Bound
Over To Superior
Court After Magistrate's Hearing Here

Hoyt Sims, negro, arrested here last Friday night on a charge of stealing approximately one hundred pounds of meat from the farm of James Oscar Worsley of the Bethel community, will face trial at the next term of criminal court.

Given preliminary hearing here in a magistrate's court, the negro was bound over to the higher court under bond of $300. He was unable to give bond and was remanded to jail to await trial.

The negro was nabbed on the railroad tracks in the western part of the city last Friday night late with a sack of meat on his shoulders after officers had been informed of the theft from Bethel. The owners of the meat came to Greenville the next day and identified the meat which consisted of ham, shoulders and a considerable amount of sausage.

When Chief of Police George Clark threw a flashlight into his face the negro was so surprised he nearly dropped his heavy burden, but did not offer any resistance.

He is one of a number of thieves arrested on meat theft charges here in recent months, and the majority have found their way to the roads with still others waiting court action.

Capus Waynick and Jack Roach Say Their Investigation In Mecklenburg County Revealed Negro Permitted to Die Chained in Upright Position; Await Investigation of Legislature and Judicial Committees Before Taking Further Action

Raleigh, N. C., March 12.—(AP)—A negro was revealed today as having died in shackles hanging from the walls of a solitary confinement cell of Mecklenburg County convict camp, as a legislature committee laid plans to visit prison camps to investigate the case of two negroes who allegedly suffered "frozen feet" and had to have them amputated after being confined in "solitary."

Jack Roach, director of the penal division, and Capus Waynick, chairman of the State Highway and Public Works Commission, said inquiry into practices at Mecklenburg camp resulted in information which "leave little doubt" that L. Bogan, a negro convict, died last August when chained in an upright position.

Roach said the report to him after the death of Bogan contained no inkling that Bogan died in shackles, but that a negro prisoner being used as a house boy at the camp at the time told him Bogan died in chains.

Waynick said he thought the immediate cause of Bogan's death was heart disease, but that other factors might enter into the jail probe to be made.

"I am ready to act now on the facts I have in hand," Waynick said, "but I do not want to act hastily in view of the situation. There is our administration investigation under way; then there are the legislators, judicial and advisory investigations, to be considered. As soon as it is practical I will take definite action for the Highway Commission."

TWO INJURED
IN COLLISIONYoung Women of East
Carolina Teachers
College Hurt in Accident Sunday

Miss Hazel Willis and Miss Guskie Kuykendall of East Carolina Teachers College, were painfully injured in an automobile collision with L. M. Cade near the cotton mill, Sunday afternoon, it was reported today by the Highway Patrol.

The young women, suffering from painful, but not necessarily, serious injuries, were confined in the college infirmary where they were reported to be getting along as well as could be expected.

Cade is being held on a charge of reckless driving and will face preliminary hearing next Tuesday. Cade, it was stated at the patrol office, made a left-hand turn and Miss Kuykendall's car which was being driven by Miss Willis, crashed into his machine.

Both Miss Kuykendall and Miss Willis suffered mainly from severe bruises and shock, it was reported from the infirmary today, but were expected to be out in a day or so. Miss Kuykendall is a member of the music department at the college and Miss Willis is a secretary in the business department.

Lillington And Dover Win In Tourney Here

By R. O. MOYE

Dover boys and Lillington girls won championships last night as play was concluded in Class B divisions of the annual high school basketball tournament sponsored by East Carolina Teachers' College.

Dover defeated West Edgecombe boys, 16-11, and the Lillington girls won from the Smyrna sextet, 21-17. Play in the Class B divisions began early last week with twenty-seven teams entered in the boys' division and twenty entered in the girls' division.

New Bern defeated Washington, 17-16, in a thrilling battle for the Class A boys' championship. They were the only teams entered in this division.

Greenville and New Bern girls were the only entries in Class A, but the Greenville team withdrew—and so the New Bern ladies last night were presented the championship trophy, earned without competing a single time.

Trophies were presented to all championship teams.

The Class B girls' game opened last night's program. Lillington won in final minutes when Selma Lee Byrd made two field goals to break a 17-all tie. The teams were tied at 9-9 at close of the first half, but Lillington gained a six-point advantage in the third period, which ended with Lillington leading by 17-14.

Miss Boyd, with 15 points, led Lillington. Harriett Willis made nine points to feature for Smyrna.

F. Daugherty and M. Daugherty each with six points, led Dover boys to victory over West Edgecombe. Killebrew made five points to pace the Edgecombe team. Dover gained an early lead and remained in front throughout. At the half Dover had a 10-3 margin. West Edgecombe rallied in the fourth quarter, a period in which Dover was limited to one field goal.

The title game in Class A boys' division kept fans on edge throughout. New Bern had a 10-7 lead at the half, but Washington rallied and the score was tied at two stages of the second half. The teams were even, at 13-all, at close of the third period.

With the game in its final minutes, and with New Bern holding a one-point margin, Pritchett dropped in a field goal to give the Craven County boys a lead which proved big enough.

Pritchett scored eight points to feature for New Bern. Winfield accounted for nine of Washington's point. Washington gained ten of

Greek Gives Dinner Before Trip To Athens

The war is about over in Greece and James Balafas is going home to visit relatives. The local cafe proprietor plans to sail Saturday for Athens, and will return here in August.

Balafas, who has been in Greenville for the past fifteen years, has not been here during that time and he is so happy over the prospects of seeing his relatives and renewing old friendships that he celebrated the event with a dinner at his cafe, the Bug, B., last night.

Several of his friends, persons he has become to know quite well during his absence, were present.

James thought one time he probably might not be able to go on the date planned because of the revolution which has been causing Greek authorities so much trouble the last several days. But like most Greek revolutions, he thought it would be short lived and went through with the dinner. He was probably the happiest man in town when he awoke this morning to find the government had crushed the rebellion and that the rebel leader had fled to an unannounced destination.

James has been in America long enough to like peace and quite and the idea of going back home in the midst of a revolution was not an appealing one, although he wants to see his wife, mother and other relatives, very, very much.

Those attending the dinner last night were:

Judge Frank Wooten, Judge Dink James, E. F. Tucker, Frank Harrison, Sheriff Whitehurst, Mayor Flanagan, Chief of Police George Clark, F. C. Harding, Tom Goss, Louis Curry, and Mr. Baker.

POLITICS at random

By BRYON PRICE
(Chief of Bureau, The Associated Press, Washington)

Democratic leaders eat Washington no longer speak of the "Huey Long situation" as a joke.

They no longer expect to rid the volatile Louisiana Senator of silence, to laugh him off and to frustrate him by refusing to get excited about him.

Instead, they are speaking of him as seriously as their exasperated state of mind will permit. It has been years since such open expressions of hatred have been heard on the Senate floor.

The Senate is beautiful in its tradition of giving every Senator his say, and its managers have come rather slowly to their present view about Long. They have come to it, however, no less surely. If anything can be done about Huey, it will be done.

'Not a Menace'

It is not so much that the party chieftains regard him as a real menace for many of them reject the idea that he can attract any important following outside Louisiana. They do agree, however, that he is an annoyance of a type sufficiently troublesome to warrant use of the strongest measures.

His supply of money-wrangles seems inexhaustible, and the old liners are weary trying to figure out when the next one will wreck the planned placidity of Senate deliberation.

His announcement he would go home and run for governor next year met with heartfelt approval among many of the Senate wheel-horses. But they are not counting heavily on his actually doing so.

Drastic Measures?

So what? There are two possible approaches.

The Senate Democratic majority can, if it chooses, undertake to discipline him. It can read him out of the party organization in the Senate and clamp down Senate rules to shut off his charges.

These Democrats know, however, that the Republicans tried that a few years ago with respect to certain Western insurgents and go nowhere. Except that they gave the insurgents a chance to claim the role of political martyrs.

Or they can try to fight Huey with his own weapons. They can investigate him.

Indictments having been brought, it no longer is any secret that internal revenue agents have been busy for months looking into the affairs of certain figures in Louisiana's regime.

Yet, no indictments have been voted against Huey, and the natural conclusion is that no sufficient evidence has been found.

There remains a considerable field for speculation in the realm of practical politics.

What would happen if the Roosevelt administration severed all relations with the Long organization in Louisiana, and went into the State only to destroy it?

One answer is that it might be extremely hazardous, because Senator Long certainly knows his politics. The other answer is that Mr. Roosevelt also certainly knows his politics.

Whatever happens, the whole situation is one well worth watching.

ANY TIME YOU'RE TIRED...

get a Lift with a Camel!

HERE'S PAUL THOMPSON, HIGH SCORER of the world-champion Chicago Black Hawks hockey team, 1934 winners of the Stanley Cup. He says: "Hockey has often been called 'the fastest game in the world.' I guess maybe it is. I know it's one of the most tiring. When I come off the rink, dead tired, there's one thing I want—a Camel! Camels have a way of bringing back my 'pep'—taking the load off my shoulders. That 'energizing effect' is a great thing for any one who is active...who wants to continue to be active." College Resumes Classes
The College students are back on the campus again today, after a long week-end vacation between terms. Registration for the spring term has kept all members of the staff busy all day today, but everything will be in readiness for class work to begin promptly at 8:10 o'clock tomorrow morning, the beginning of the first period.

It is impossible to get the figures this early, but there will not be a great shift in numbers or students. All but about sixty-five of the students who board in the College went away for the vacation and eighteen members of the staff left town.

Weiner Roast! Maybe?
(By JNO. DAVID BRIDGERS Class Reporter)

The boys of the Intermediate Department of the Memorial Baptist church enjoyed a weiner roast last night, the gentlemen attending were: Alfred Bostic, Bernard Spillman, Jimmy Wells, Clifford Bostic, Earle Eluff, John Wells, William Brooks, John Mack Hicks, Jimmy Whitchard, Marvin Riddle and John David Bridges, J. B. Spillman was there also.

After the supply of hot weiners was disposed of a delightful second course of marshmallows was served. Except for J. B. Spillman who made a delicious sandwich out of leaves, rolls, mustard, onions and pickles, and Earl Shuff, who had stored some weiners in his pockets.

Then the fire was extinguished and the puppy cookers returned home after a successful trip. A good time was had by all. Clifford "Punt" Bostic was the financial supporter.

Methodist Home Mission Study
The Methodist Home Mission study "Orientals in American Life" by Albert W. Palmer will be conducted in the "Molly Brown Memorial Room" at the Methodist church next week on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday mornings at ten o'clock.

This book is an informative study that reveals the international implications and foreign background of a home mission subject. Out of his long experience of living in the United States and in Hawaii among Orientals, the author has shown how the relations between Americans and the neighbors of Oriental origin are bound up with Far Eastern problems of the most critical importance.

He describes the work of home missions among the Chinese, Japanese, Filipinos and Hawaiians on this continent and points out its bearing upon the solution of great world issues.

Assignments for this study have been made to Mrs. H. E. Austin, introducing China and the Chinese people, Mrs. D. L. Mangum, Japan and the Japanese, Mrs. T. A. Persson, the Philippines and Filipinos, Mrs. J. B. Kittrell, Hawaii and the Hawaiian people, Mrs. J. H. Rose will on Friday morning give the summary with a look into the future.

All Methodist women are urged to attend these meetings, a large attendance is desired. Any other persons interested in these subjects are most cordially invited to be present at these meetings.

These subjects will be presented in an entertaining as well as instructive way and will be well worth while. An educational opportunity.

Thumbnail Reviews
"Dante Vivo" by Giovanni Papini (Macmillan); a very wordy biography of Dante which has fully as much Papini as Dante in it.

"Southwest" by Louise Adams Armer (Longmans); a book about the Southwest which has the quality of a vast and mysterious painting; perhaps because Mrs. Armer is a painter as well as a writer.

"Waiting For Nothing" by Tom Kromer (Knopf); Mr. Kromer, out of copious experience as a "bindle-stiff," gives the horrible truth about the destitute floater; not for Aunt Lizzie.

"Women on Their Own" by Dr. Olga Knopf (Little, Brown); an intelligent discussion of women's capabilities and their place in the modern world.

"A Man Called Cervantes" by Brkuno Frank (Viking); the fictionalized biography of a man about whom only a handful of facts can be known surely; often beautiful, rarely dull.

Very Light
"The Cluck Aboard" by Tiffany Thayer (Doubleday, Doran); about a bright little librarian who went abroad, went to Marseilles, and there found Adventures; and those who know Marseilles will wonder why she went there.

"The First Woman" by Margaret Quilkin Banning (Harper); woman in politics, by another woman who knows a good deal about the subject.

"Was It A Holiday?" by Theodor LaRoque Codman (Little, Brown); searching for French wines, and tasting them; a light piece by the wife of a wine expert who also went alone.

"Old Roses" by Mrs. Frederick Love Keays (Macmillan); judging by the jacket of the book one would say it was a romance with a sweet old lady in it; actually it's about roses, the kind that grow on stems.

"Don't You Weep, Don't You Moan" by Richard Coleman (Macmillan); about Negro Charleston, by a man who obviously knows his subject; some delightful characters.

NEW BOOKS

By JOHN SELBY
New York—Thomas Wolfe wrote, it will be remembered, "Look Homeward, Angel." Now he has written "Of Time and the River" (Scribner).

This is not only a novel, it is most as long as "Anthony Adams." It is also the general title of a novel.

Of the six related volumes four have been written, and two published. They are all large, tough books. When Mr. Wolfe writes a "short" story, his usual length is around 30,000 words. It is therefore a surprise to find that there are more than 350,000 words in "Of Time and the River."

The foregoing is part of a deliberate effort to excite a certain amount of curiosity about Mr. Wolfe's book without saying much about the book itself. Although the temper of the novel may be expressed briefly, giving the flavor and importance of it demands more space than is available.

The novel is a panorama of a few years in the early twenties. It is strung upon the life of a young man, who is seen reflected against those with whom he comes in contact, his family, and life itself. It is the kind of book you can open at random and lose yourself in utterly. In spite of some terrific cliches and some Stainesque antics, it may be great.

DODGE ECONOMY BRINGS ORDER FROM SOUTH POLE

Byrd Expedition Operator Intercepts Broadcast . . . Sends World's Longest-Distance Order 9,000 Miles To Detroit

EVERYWHERE motorists are switching to the economy of the big, powerful, New-Value Dodge. But imagine the surprise when this radio message, from far-off Little America, reached the Dodge factory, from Radio Operator Clay Bailey, aboard Admiral Byrd's flagship, Mr. Bailey wireless:

"Picked up radio description last night of new Dodge that does twenty and more miles per gallon of gas. You can place my order now. Please have Coupe awaiting me Boston on my return to States. You can take in and sell my old Dodge now. It was a darned good car. After months of roughing it in this sea and ice that new 'Airglide Ride' will certainly feel swell. Dodge has always been the finest riding and driving and most economical car I have ever driven—and I've handled 'em all." (Signed) Clay Bailey, Radioman U. S. N.

Right back flashed the Dodge answer to the returning explorer: "Will have new Dodge awaiting you."

Throughout big America, too, the sales response to this new Dodge is the most sensational in history. Never before has any car, so low-priced, given such clear-cut supremacy to dollar-for-dollar value. And remember, with all its 95 basic advancements, the big, New-Value Dodge delivers for just a few dollars more than lowest-priced cars.

Because she was subject to pains, nervousness, irregularity, and began to feel so weak, Mrs. Retta McDonald, of Stearns, Ky., began to take Cardui. She writes: "Cardui is fine. Continued from Page One va's life seven men jointly were trying to fill the shoes of the out-spoken Johnson including Walton Hamilton, Sidney Hillman, Arthur Whitehead L. C. Marshall, Leon Henderson and Blackwell Smith.

If NRA workers could be persuaded to talk for publication they would tell you there have been seven different streams of personnel advice running down through the agency. Minor officials, clerks, stenographers and even office boys have been wandering who would come out on top and most of them made a frantic guess fearing a job's job these days.

FRICITION: Sources close to the White House predict NRA will return to one-man rule. It never would have been placed in the hands of a board had not that been the least embarrassing way to ease Johnson out. General warning was given at the time that divided authority wouldn't work.
Similar conditions to a somewhat lesser degree exist elsewhere. In tomorrow's column underground friction in the Department of Commerce will be discussed.

CCC: Looking well into the future, Robert Fenchner, Director of Emergency Conservation Work, is about to ask Congress for legislation that will prevent the CCC army from becoming a constant public liability some years hence.

Members of the House Appropriations Committee took the matter up with Fenchner when the Director appeared before an executive session considering the new CCC appropriation.
Some of the Congressmen had visions of a CCC Legion 5 or 6 years from now which would be pressing for compensation just as the war veterans have lobbied for continuing government payments. Fenchner agreed this was a very serious phase of the whole forest army movement, and revealed to the Committee that the War Department was much concerned about what might develop.

PRECAUTIONS: The forest general since has taken the question up with officials of the War, Interior, Agriculture and Labor Departments, they being the ones concerned with CCC.

What Washington visualizes as a possibility is a flood of claims at some future date that illness or incapacity was traceable indirectly to forest camp work. At present, the 300,000 CCC boys are under the U. S. Employees' Compensation Law, plus an amendment specifically restricting compensation to cases of injury and illness that could be directly proven to have resulted from their CCC service.

But Fenchner and veteran members of Congress want it tightened up still more. They want to make it impossible for a man who contracts tuberculosis, for instance, 5 years after his discharge to claim it came from the Battle of 1935.

RIDING: Treasury and Justice officials are still trying to figure out a way of remedying the Constitutional defect in the government's gold clause nullification without setting off a lot of political fireworks.

Immediate action isn't imperative, of which the New Dealers are glad. The Supreme Court held Congress had no right to invalidate the promise to pay in gold from government bonds but in the same breath said to date no bondholder had suffered any damage as a result.

The obvious solution is to have Congress pass an act preventing any government bondholder from suing in the Court of Claims in the future, but the administration approaches this move rather hesitantly at the moment. Republicans and strict Constitutionalists would be certain to make as much political capital of it as possible—and the atmosphere on Capitol Hill already is overcharged with lightning.

Semi-official inferences are that the matter will ride until the legislative jam is cleared up.

Legislative Ramblings

"strike" in the Mecklenburg County camp Monday, the same camp where Robert Barnes and Woodrow Wilson Shropshire were put in solitary confinement for refusing to work and for cursing the guards and gang foremen, and as a result of a general restlessness notice in several other camps. This restlessness on the part of the prisoners is attributed to the big play which has been given Barnes and Shropshire in the newspapers as a result of the amputation of their feet. It is maintained that these two prisoners contracted gangrene during and following solitary confinement in the Mecklenburg county camp.
"Indications are that a lot of prisoners now have the idea that the prison authorities will not even put them in solitary confinement since the Barnes and Shropshire case came to light," a member of the committee on penal institutions told this correspondent. "And since the use of the lash is already prohibited, they seem to think that now they can refuse to work and curse the guards and foremen and not be punished. The prison camp superintendent told me while I was home over the week-end that if this public sympathy for Barnes and Shropshire continued another week he would not be able to get any work out of the prisoners in his camp at all. I think the thing to do is to legalize the use of the lash for those prisoners that refuse to work, but have the whipping properly supervised."

This member of the committee, from a county not far from Mecklenburg, who asked that his name not be used for the time being, said he was considering introducing such a bill. Senator Bock Hurley, of Montgomery County, has already stated he thinks the whipping of prisoners for refusing to work, cursing guards and general insubordination is more humane and more effective than solitary confinement with the prisoners handcuffed to the board of the cells eight hours a day in a standing position. Senator Hurley is a member of the Senate Committee on Penal Institutions investigating the Mecklenburg County camp incident.

The Shropshire-Barnes case caused a flare-up in the camp Polk branch of the prison division here Sunday night, where some 250 white first-termers from 16 to 21 years of age are confined, according to reports from the camp. They cursed and wore at the guards, howled like dogs, shouted cat-calls and raised bedlam generally for an hour or two Sunday night after having been locked in the dormitory building for the night. But these reports were denied by the camp superintendent. There has been no indication of any trouble in the Central Prison here according to Warden H. H. Honeycutt.

"The prisoners know now that it is against the law for them to be whipped and believe now that public sentiment is turning against solitary confinement as a punishment," Assistant L. G. Whitley of the prison division said today. "As a result, some of them think they can now refuse to work, curse the guards and disobey the rules and get off without any punishment. But they are mistaken. We are going to put troublesome prisoners in solitary confinement just as we have in the past, or until the Legislature gives us some other form of punishment just as effective."

It is useless to sentence a man to prison unless the prison officials have authority to deal with them and compel them to work and obey the rules, Whitley said. Otherwise there is nothing to be gained from sending them to prison, he said.
Most prison officials are convinced that they could maintain better discipline and get more and better work out of prisoners if they were allowed to use the lash than they can now with solitary confinement as the only extreme punishment allowed. They would surround the use of the lash with strict regulations, however, that would require twenty-four hours to elapse between the offense and the punishment, have the whipping administered by some one other than the camp superintendent and have at least two physicians present to examine the prisoner both before and after the whipping to see that no physical injury is done. They believe that this would bring about better discipline and result in very few whippings being necessary.

Opposes Change in Prohibition Law

It appears that some of our legislators think their duty is to change public sentiment rather than carry out the mandate of our people. After the vote of November 7th, 1933, we would not have believed our next legislature would have devoted so much time to the question of legalized liquor.
Their duty is to devise a means of making more effective the law we now have. I would like to know from whence this liquor propaganda cometh?
The Hill bill is simply an attempt to put a little more attractive dress on an age old evil which will be none the less evil.
So far as some of our older law breaking drinking citizens are concerned personally it probably would be six of one and a half dozen of the other, but what about our future citizenship and personal responsibility? We are told "it biteth like an adder and stingeth like a serpent and the end thereof is death." We are also told "He that standeth

ADDITION TO SCHOOL HERE IS COMPLETED

Improvement Program Started Under CWA Increases Facilities

The addition to the West Greenville School, started under the C. W. A. program January 1934, has now been completed. This addition gives the West Greenville School four new large class-rooms, 22x30, and four adjoining smaller rooms, 9x24. These rooms are now occupied, three of them by three of the grades in the school, and one of them by the Federal Government Nursery School.

This addition to the West Greenville School matches the original building in architecture and also enhances the appearance of the building.

The total cost of the additions, including heating, plumbing, and electrical work is $30,000.00. The cost to the tax-payers of the Town of Greenville was approximately $3,000.00, the remainder of the cost being borne by the Federal Government.

The original building is going to be repaired also, in the near future under the Federal Relief Program. A new roof will be put on, and the building painted inside and outside. The grounds will be graded and made more attractive. Plans for a new auditorium for this building, have also been drawn, so that when the new Federal Program is ready, that school can have an up-to-date auditorium. When the auditorium is completed, the West Greenville School plant will be one of the finest in the city. The Federal Nursery School now being operated in the West Greenville School, is doing a fine piece of work. There are thirty children, between the ages of two and five, mostly from the cotton-mill community, who are being cared for each day from 8:30 to 2:30. Mrs. J. S. Elliott is the nurse and head teacher, and is assisted by Misses Elizabeth Kasey and Jane Hall, and a negro helper, Daisy Jones. The children are being taught Health habits, they are bathed, given one nourishing meal, and put to sleep on cots each day from one o'clock to 2:30. The Public is invited to visit this Nursery School and see its work.

Work is being continued on the Athletic field, for the Negroes, near the Fifth Street School, and this will be completed sometime this Spring. Also within thirty days, the new addition to the Fifth Street School will be completed. Five class-rooms are being added to the East end of this building. Two years ago under the Federal Relief program, 6 rooms were added to this building. The new H. S. Library was, of course, completed and put into operation at the beginning of school here this year. All these additions, along with building of the Third Street Field House, football field, baseball field, and repairs to other school plants and play grounds, amounted to something over $125,000.00. The net cost to the Greenville Tax-Payers for this entire program will be in the neighborhood of only $10,000.00.

IMPRESSIVE LIST OF AUTHORITIES TO SPEAK AT HUMAN RELATIONS MEET

Chapel Hill, N. C., March 11—An impressive host of speakers who have already accepted invitations to address the third quadrennial Human Relations Institute, to be held at the University of North Carolina March 31-April 6, was announced today.

The program, which has been practically completed, calls for two public addresses each day, one at 10 o'clock each morning and the other at 8 o'clock at night, in addition to numerous seminars which will offer an opportunity for thrashing out the more technical problems and question and answer periods, which would not be possible in the public platform lectures.

Another feature of the Institute will be an exhibit in the lobby of Graham Memorial of an attractive collection of books, posters, pamphlets, and literature of various sorts relating to the topics to be discussed.

Broadly stated, the purpose of the Institute is to stimulate thought and discussion of contemporary social problems.

ROTES HEAR BRIEF TALK

Dr. Grady Dixon of Ayden Does Some Reminiscing at Regular Meeting Here

By WYATT BROWN

There was a regular weekly dinner meeting of the Greenville Rotary Club last night in their club building on Rotary Avenue. The Ayden Club provided Grady Dixon of their club to speak for the pleasure of the local club. In his pleasant conversational manner of speaking Dr. Dixon stroked the beard of time with many pleasant reminiscences of the Greenville club which he first encountered through the hospitality of Karl Pace fifteen years ago. Dr. Dixon was introduced by Wilbur Ormond of the Ayden Club who preceded the speaker with a few explanatory remarks.

The Reverend Steve Gardiner, of the Washington Rotary Club was called on by Dr. Dixon to answer a question posed by the doctor: "Have we got out of the habit of living up to Rotary Ideals?" Steve answered with an enthusiastic "no," with facts to back his feeling what with his own record of fifteen years with only one meeting missed that he could not make up.

The guests of the evening were Professor Elijah L. Henderson, East Carolina Teachers College, and Dr. Gilbert R. Combs, Hayward Hall.

In fact he did not only win the prize but found the prize—after he had definitely won it. Of course, Hayward expected to win it anyway, so he just had it where he could lay his hands on it in order to save anybody the trouble of handing it to him.

In the spirit of Dr. Dixon's reminiscing Carl Pace of the Greenville Club brought forward a copy of "Bill" Hall's publication of twenty years ago—"The Drive Shaft." With brief remarks Dr. Pace presented this valuable copy of the now extinct publication to the Rotary Club for their permanent files. The president of the club, Herbert Rebarber, presided over the meeting.

ACTION ON BALLOT LAW BOON FOR REPUBLICANS

The Republican party in the state has long hurled the charge of election fraud at the Democratic party. The backbone of the charges have been the absentee ballot law.

Off the record some of the Republicans in the legislature have said that they hope the present General assembly does not remove from the statute books the absentee law because, they say, it is the chief manufacturer of Republican votes. They will, of course, vote for repeal of the measure if such a vote should be taken. Nevertheless they are hoping, as are many Democrats, that a vote on abolition of the act will not be taken.

It is freely said that many of the state's 100 counties would go Republican if the law should be repealed because there is little doubt that some counties are carried by the Democrats solely through the use of absentee ballots. Quietly active against any serious tampering with the act are legislators from those doubtful counties. The absentee ballot is most often used in those counties where there is a "nice balance" of power between the two parties. For many years the Republicans have berated soundly the Democrats for alleged misuse of absentee ballots. There is no doubt but that the Republicans have gained many followers as a result.

The state board of elections has condemned the absentee ballot law. So has the Governor, various county boards of elections and prominent Democrats. In fact if public utterances should be used as a yardstick the law has not a single friend. Privately, however, the law has many friends composed mostly of those who abuse the law or hold office because misuses do exist. They are strong in the legislature and will doubtless see that it is left on the books. Observers here are convinced that someone made a blunder, the result of which is to be more Republican campaign thunder. Charlie Jonas, a wily politician, was quick to see his opportunity. He lost no time in grasping it. Now he and the Republicans can go before the electorate and tell the voters that he stood almost alone against the Democratic legislature in the fight to wipe the alreadyiferous law.

Representative Scholl, who hails from Macklenburg county, told the elections committee that the Democratic party remove the act from the statute books before the act removes it from political power, or before the people rise up to demand its removal. Scholl is a Democrat.

The absentee ballot law, a relic of world war days, was enacted so that North Carolinians serving in the army and navy might not be deprived of their votes because of their service to their country. It was then that some unscrupulous politicians seized the chance for voting "bird dogs" and dead negroes via the absentee ballot route. They have been doing it ever since.

Despite the scandals and near-scandals concerning the abuse of the act no observer here is willing to concede that the law will be repealed. Political pressure is simply too great. Some legitimate absentee ballots are, of course, cast in every election by those who are ill, but of the state, or unavoidably away from home on election day. Great abuses do nevertheless exist. The Republicans will continue to use the abuses for campaign thunder.

proposing the establishment of the office of a "small loans supervisor," setting up the limits on interest and business of such firms.

This afternoon a judiciary committee was to have a public hearing on a measure proposing the establishment of a port authority to have control over all ports and navigable streams of the state and their development and tonight the hearing was scheduled on restriction of the child labor amendment.

Rep. Sentell, of Brunswick, introduced in the house a bill to amend the school machinery act by empowering the board of education to establish a maximum standard salary for teachers, principals and superintendents, and to allow counties to contract for services at figures based on local conditions and with salaries not to exceed the maximum.

Roosevelt Prepares For Vacation

Washington, D. C., March 12.—(AP)—A special message calling for the regulation of public utilities holding companies went from President Roosevelt today to a Congress already involved with a host of legislative controversies.

And with some surprise, the legislators learned simultaneously that Mr. Roosevelt had virtually decided to make his annual fishing cruise off the Florida coast the latter part of this month.

This was made known at the White House while the Senate was still embroiled over the $4,880,000,000 work relief bill. The social securities program was apparently at a standstill. The NRA was under fire and vote neared on the two billion dollar cash bonus issue.

Also disturbing the political horizon was the continued attack of Senator Huey P. Long on Postmaster-General Farley and the extension of the work relief battle between one side and Mr. Roosevelt's message said that with rare exceptions the utility holding companies with their NRA boss on the other.

Withdraw Port Measure

Raleigh, March 12.—Introducers of a measure proposing the establishment of a state port authority this afternoon withdrew their support of the measure due to fear that its passage by the legislature might endanger chances of Morehead City to carry out its port development already approved by the Federal Government.

New York Cotton

New York, March 12.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened easy three higher to thirteen lower under overnight liquidation and foreign selling of the new months off-setting relatively lower Liverpool cables.

The bulge met further liquidation and May contracts after selling at 11-4 at the start broke to 11-6 right after the call, rebounded to 11-2 during the next few minutes, fell back again to 11-3, then pushed up to around 11-13. Toward the end of the first half hour the general list was about 3 to 7 higher.

The market broke again later in the morning under renewed liquidation.

Stop orders were uncovered below 11 cents level for May and July with these deliveries selling off to 10-70 or about 40 below yesterday's closing quotations while later months showed net losses of about 30 points. The market rallied quickly after the stop orders had been executed and at midday was about 27 to 30 points up from the lowest with active months showing losses of about one to thirteen points.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, March 12.—(AP)—The financial markets struggled rather ineffectually to get their feet to higher ground today after becoming more and more dizzy by yesterday's break in cotton.

Stocks changed about indecisively in desultory trading.

The list tried to rally in the second hour when several issues showed gains of fractions to around a point but an early afternoon selling flurry wiped out the gains and sent many issues 1-2 to more than a point under yesterday's close.

Corporate bonds were heavy but United States government held up fairly well. The late tone was steady.

The pound sterling again weakened. Transfers were 900,000 shares.

REVENUE BILL
TO BE PASSED
AS REPORTED

Measure Will Contain
Sales Tax With Most Of Anti Forces Rejected

Reflector Bureau,
Sir Walter Hotel.

Raleigh, March 12.—The revenue bill will eventually be enacted in just about its present form, containing the sales tax with the exemptions removed and some of the increases made in other taxes by the finance committee, in the opinion of Representative N. E. Day of Onslow county, veteran legislator who served in the 132-day session of the 1931 general assembly. It was Representative Day who introduced the general sales tax bill in that session and which the house would have passed. The senate preferred the luxury tax bill, however, and it was the luxury tax measure rather than the general sales tax bill that kept the legislature in session all last month. It was finally defeated by a margin of only two or three votes.

Representative Day also believes that most of the McDonald-Lumpkin sales tax substitute plans will be rejected eventually, even if some of them are adopted by the house, for the reason that most of them impose taxes beyond the ability of these taxed to pay.

"One of the McDonald-Lumpkin proposals is to increase the taxes on the railroads," Representative Day said. "But every one familiar with the situation knows that every railroad doing business in North Carolina is either in receivership and hence bankrupt, or not earning their operating costs. Most of these railroads are already from one to three years behind in their payment of property taxes to the counties and to the state. It would be very unfair to increase the state taxes on the railroads."

"Then there is the proposal to increase the franchise taxes paid by domestic and foreign corporations by requiring them to pay 50 cents per $100 on their assessed property valuations in addition to the present state tax of $1.50 per $1,000 capital stock and surplus. This plan is manifestly designed to get more taxes from a few large corporations. But in order to do so, it penalizes many smaller, struggling corporations that are not able to pay this additional tax. The result would be, if this tax should be enacted, that hundreds if not thousands of smaller incorporated businesses would either be forced to fold up and close or leave the state entirely—and in either case the state would lose the taxes. So in the long run, the state would probably not get any more revenue from these higher taxes than it is getting from the present tax.

"The McDonald-Lumpkin group has already backed off from the 3 per cent occupational tax, which they estimated would yield more than $1,000,000 a year, largely because of the opposition to it by organized labor and the admitted difficulty of collection," Day said. "Another objection to this tax proposal was that it was only the 3 per cent sales tax levied on the entire income of persons in excess of $1,000 a year and not merely on that portion spent in buying at retail, and collectable in a lump sum instead of only a few cents a day."

"In fact, when the entire McDonald-Lumpkin plan is analyzed and studied, most of the proposals resolve themselves into nothing more than variations of the sales tax, but under some other name," Day said. "For most of these tax proposals are based on gross income, which is the same as gross sales. It is also true that the public, as is always the case, would pay these other taxes by paying increased prices, even though the tax might be passed on more painlessly than is the present retail sales tax. But the public would pay it just the same.

"Consequently I believe the present general assembly, after considering all these factors, will decide to keep the present 3 per cent retail sales tax, although I believe it will probably increase some of the other tax schedules wherever it thinks they can be increased without imposing too much of a burden."

Representative Day foresees another long session and believes it will be the middle of April or the first of May before the general assembly can compose all its differences and reach adjustment.

I'll never let you down

I am your Lucky Strike

There's nothing friendly about the sharp, bitter sting of unripe top tobacco leaves. There's nothing friendly about the grimy, flavorless bottom leaves. But there's a wealth of friendliness, of mildness in the rich, mellow-ripe center leaves. And I am made of these fragrant, expensive center leaves, only.

I'll not irritate your throat. I'll never let you down. I'm your best friend. I am your Lucky Strike.
