EUROPEAN POWERS MAKE PREPARATIONS FOR WAR

CITIES MAY GET HALF MILLION FOR HIGHWAYS

Senate Roads Committee Will Report Bill "Without Prejudice"

Reflector Bureau.
Sir Walter Hotel.
Raleigh, N. C., March 22.—"Without prejudice" is the comment with which a bill to allocate to cities and towns a fund of $500,000 annually for maintenance of State highways within corporate limits will be delivered to the Senate today. The bill, drawn by Senator Hill, of Durham, is almost identical with a measure presented by Senator Morgan, of Richmond. The Hill measure gives to the Highway Department a little more leeway in determining where the money is to be spent. Both bills have the sanction of the N. C. League of Municipalities.

Senate Roads Chairman Spence of Moore, reserved the right to oppose the bill when it reaches the Senate floor.

The argument advanced by Senators Hill, Morgan and others who favor such legislation is to the effect that much of the traffic over town and city streets is not of local origin and because of that the State should pay a part of the cost of street maintenance on those sections of State highways which lie within town and city limits. An added factor, injected by Hill, is that many towns are in default on their bonds and that they are unable to maintain properly such streets.

The State would not pay to the towns and cities any of the fund, but would co-operate with municipalities in the maintenance of such streets.

The bill will be fought by staunch defenders of the Highway Department in the Senate, of which group Senator Spence, as road chairman, is the leader. Many observers believe the bill will pass because of much local pressure being brought to bear on legislators by officers of their home towns.

With attempts being made to divert highway funds to the general fund, a half-million effort to reduce automobile licenses, and the added $500,000 bill the Highway Department and its legislative friends have their hands full just now.

GIRL FRIEND SLAYS WRITER

Magazine Writer Stabbed to Death by Companion in New Orleans Night Club

New Orleans, La., March 22.—(AP)—John Irving Pierce, 23-year-old magazine writer of Jackson, Miss., was stabbed to death early today as he sat at a table in the fashionable "Nut" Club here. With him at the time was a woman who police said was Marian King, also 23, former newspaper woman.

The girl, who with Pierce was well-known in New Orleans night life, was accused by police of the stabbing and was held without formal charge pending investigation of the slaying. Half a hundred fashionably dressed patrons of the club were horrified witnesses to the stabbing.

M. E. Culligan, assistant district attorney, in his investigation, reported that the girl admitted driving the blade of a small knife into the heart of Pierce after a series of quarrels, but quoted Miss King as saying: "It's a personal matter."

FAITH IN GOLD AFFIRMED BY TRANSVAAL AUTHORITY

Johannesburg, South Africa.—(AP)—"Whatever money standard the nations of the world may fix, gold always will retain its high value," believes John Martin, president of the Transvaal Chamber of Mines.

"Even if more countries, or all countries, left the gold standard at the old parity, the part that gold would play in the monetary affairs of the world would still be pre-eminent," he told the imperial press conference here.

"The hoarding of gold by governments, banks, corporations and individuals must mean that gold still is preferred to anything else as a store of value."

LARGE CROWD AT REVIVAL LAST NIGHT

Dr. J. Clyde Turner Delivers Powerful Sermon at Immanuel Baptist Church

The large crowd that heard Dr. J. Clyde Turner at Immanuel Baptist Church last night filled the main church auditorium to overflowing and the Sunday school auditorium had to be opened to take care of the additional crowd. The congregation included not only Greenville people, but several ministers from the nearby towns and communities, together with numbers of the members of their congregations were in attendance.

Dr. Turner speaking on "Three Looks at Christ" developed a most powerful sermon under the three divisions "the backward look, the upward look and the forward look." His message was a great inspiration to the large congregation of listeners.

A vocal solo by Mrs. J. E. Kirkpatrick, of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church choir, added much to the services.

The series of revival services will continue through Sunday with services tonight, Saturday night, and Sunday morning and night.

THE NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

News Behind The News.

Washington
By GEORGE DUBNO
HOODINI: New Dealers are persistently dodging one question these days. They don't care to become involved in any discussion of how the "white collar" unemployed are to be cared for under the $4,880,000,000 work-relief bill.

The reason is that this problem is a real poser. Jobless salesmen, musicians, nurses, artists, chemists, actors, clerks, seamstresses, manicurists and the like don't fit into the picture very well when it comes to building dams or roads.

FDR concedes that the trick of taking care of so-called professional men and women would have been a good one for Houdini to ponder over.

BUILDING: In the neighborhood of 44 per cent of all experienced workers on urban relief rolls come from the manufacturing or mechanical industries. The building trades group and the transportation group, coupled with domestic and personal service trades, furnish the bulk

THREE DEAD AS RESULT OF AUTO WRECK

Three Kinston People Killed and Two Others Hurt in Collision Near Raleigh

Raleigh, N. C., March 23.—(AP)—A collision between an oil truck and an automobile bringing five Kinston people toward Raleigh early last night, today resulted in the death of three of the young people in the car.

Lina Mae Becton, 26, of Kinston, was killed immediately; her cousin William Becton, 15, son of Stanley Becton, Kinston filling station manager, died half an hour after being taken to a local hospital. Early this morning Clifton Tripp, driver of the car, and son of Joe Tripp, neighbor of the Bectons, died in a hospital here.

At Rex Hospital Harry Becton, 12 brother of William, is in a very serious condition, but physicians said he might survive. At first it was thought that he was fatally injured. His mother, Mrs. Theresa Becton was painfully hurt and was in the hospital. Both were doing fairly well this morning.

FIVE PER CENT BEER BILL IS AIRED TODAY

Dry Forces Appear Before Senate Committee Seeking Unfavorable Report

Reflector Bureau.
Sir Walter Hotel.
By C. A. PAUL
Raleigh, N. C., March 22.—Cale Burgess, United Dry generalissimo, Dr. W. L. Poteat, president emeritus of Wake Forest College, and other perhaps less formidable dries, will again attack 5 per cent beer this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock when they will appear before Senate Judiciary Committee No. 2, to argue against a favorable report on the legal boost from 3.2 per cent, already passed by the lower House.

Representative Martin McCall, of Robeson, will be the lone speaker for higher powered brew. Doughty Scotsman and a graduate of the University of Edinburgh, he played a great part in the bill's successful passage through the lower House by recounting his experiences as a brew master and relating how British Islanders drink beer and ale. He told the House that the Scotch give small portions of beer to their babies.

Although both sides will be allotted 30 minutes each to tell their stories this afternoon, Representative McCall has already said he expects to "hand back to the committee about 20 minutes" of his half-hour. If the United Dries run true to form, they will consume their full 30 minutes. The hearing was granted by Senator Horton, chairman of the committee, at Burgess' express request. ## IN THICK OF BONUS FIGHT

Here are some of the congressional leaders taking prominent roles in the fight over payment of the soldiers' bonus. At the top, left to right, are Representative Andrews of New York, Senator Tydings of Maryland, and Representative Cogan of Missouri who introduced a compromise measure which would permit voting to exchange bonus certificates for negotiable bonds. At left below is Representative Vinson of Kentucky and at right is Representative Patman of Texas who are sponsoring the bill for a one-year extension of the bonus. The Vinson bill is held in the Senate by the majority. Patman would pay the bonus by issuing new money. (Associated Press Photo)

Finance Committees Are Worried Over Ruling On Highway Fund Diversion

Reflector Bureau.
Sir Walter Hotel.
By J. C. BASKERVILLE
Raleigh, N. C., March 22.—The Finance Committees are worried for fear they may not be able to divert even $1,000,000 a year from the highway fund into the general fund, as has been planned, and thus have to find another $1,000,000 of revenue from some other source. For according to a letter just received here from Thomas H. McDonald, chief of the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads, and based upon official opinions from its legal department, North Carolina cannot continue to divert even this $1,000,000 a year from the Highway Fund without running from the risk of losing between $5,000,000 to $6,000,000 in Federal funds from the public works funds for highway construction in North Carolina. Until this letter was received it was generally believed that the Assembly could continue to divert $1,000,000 a year of highway funds without endangering the grants it would receive in Federal funds. But this does not now seem to be the case.

"Until we can get more definite information, it would seem that we will not be able to divert the $1,000,000 a year from the highway fund, as we have planned, without losing several millions of dollars in Federal funds for highway construction," Chairman Gregg Cherry of the House Finance Committee, said today. "In that event we will either have to reduce the total expected from the revenue bill by $1,000,000 a year or find enough new taxes to make up that difference."

It has been generally understood here until the letter from the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads was received, that the State could continue to divert as much from the highway fund as it had in the past without being subject to the penalty contained in the Federal law which provides that the allotments of Federal money to any State shall be reduced one-third if that State diverts any more of its highway revenue to other than road purposes than was being diverted at the time the Federal law was enacted. It was this interpretation of the law which caused the Finance Committee to retreat from their original intention to divert $1,650,000 a year from the highway fund and cut the amount back to only $1,000,000. For the committees became convinced that if they increased the amount diverted beyond the amount now being diverted, the State would be probably between five and six millions of Federal Public Works money for highway construction in the State. In spite of this fact, there is still a large bloc in both House and Senate whose members are willing for

SENTENCE OF PITT NEGRO IS COMMUTED

Death Penalty For Jim Greene Was Today Changed to Life Imprisonment

Raleigh, N. C., March 22.—(AP)—Forty-five minutes before he was scheduled to be electrocuted at State's Prison today, Jim Green, Pitt County negro, who was sentenced to death for a criminal attack on a white woman, received commutation of life imprisonment. Warden H. H. Honeycutt told Greene of the commutation a few minutes before 10 o'clock with the hour set for the execution at 10:30 o'clock.

Greene said he was happy, grateful and would make a good man, the warden commented.

The Pitt negro was convicted in January, 1934, and had received reprieves as a complete investigation of his case was being made. It had been so strongly intimated that he might again be reprieved, that the usual custom of clipping the condemned man's hair the day before he was due to be electrocuted was not observed in this case.

DAMAGE SUIT BEING HEARD IN CIVIL COURT

Marvin Whitley is Suing Coca Cola Bottling Company For $5,000

Yesterday's session of Civil Court here and the greater portion of today's session was taken up with the hearing of a damage suit brought by Marvin Whitley against the Coca-Cola Bottling Company in which the plaintiff charges that he received personal injury as a result of swallowing glass from a Coca-Cola bottle by the plant here.

The suit was brought by T. C. Whitley, as the next friend, to his son, Marvin Whitley, a minor. The complaint charges that last June Marvin Whitley swallowed the glass and suffered considerably as a result of same. Damage of $5,000 is being sought.

The hearing of the case was begun yesterday morning, and following with the case going to the jury around the noon hour.

A two-weeks' term of court for the trial of civil cases was begun here Monday morning with Judge M. V. Barnhill presiding, and will continue through next week. Despite a recess in the court from Monday afternoon until Wednesday, a number of cases have been disposed of.

LEGISLATIVE RAMBLINGS

By C. A. PAUL

Representative Tom Cooper, of New Hanover, is afraid he's going to be hungry before this legislative session is over. He arose from his seat in the House to say that he hoped that the argument over the revenue bill would not last long. "My pay stopped March 3," said Representative Cooper, "and I've already started skipping drinks. If we stay here much longer I'll be skipping meals."

Representative O'Berry of the county of Wayne, is no blushing violet. Dropping in a women's luncheon at the Sir Walter he sat at the head of the table, had dessert. Influenced by the soft strains of the orchestra he asked one of the ladies to dance. They did, but not for long. Other ladies, intrigued by the son of the late Nathan O'Berry, started "cutting."

Late News Flashes

HOUSE PASSES BONUS

Washington, March 22.—(AP)—The administration opposed Patman bill for payment of the soldiers' bonus by issuing $2,000,000,000 in new money was passed today by the House and sent to the Senate. The vote was 318 to 90, or more than the two-thirds necessary to pass it over a presidential veto. President Roosevelt has threatened several times to veto the legislation if it is passed by Congress. Senate approval is freely predicted but administration leaders counted on that body refusing to pass it over a veto. That would require a two-thirds vote.

Before final passage the House rejected by a vote of 204 to 207 the Vinson-American Legion bill for payment of the bonus, but leaving up to the government the method of raising the money. Representative Vinson, Democrat, Kentucky, with a grin on his face stepped across the aisle and grasped the hand of Representative Patman, Democrat, Texas, who had defeated him by such a small margin. Yells arose mingled with applause from the members and even from the galleries.

Immediately after the Vinson bill had lost, Representative Treadway, Republican, Massachusetts, offered his motion to substitute the Tydings-Andrews-Cochran bill for the Patman measure, and it also was turned down 318 to 82.

In the Legislature

Raleigh, N. C., March 22.—(AP)—With administration forces pushing ahead steadily, the House, as a committee of the whole this afternoon, took up the controversial 3 per cent sales tax schedule in the biennial revenue bill. The Senate passed a number of minor bills.

Carrying on the same drive, it developed yesterday the administrative forces rejected every proposal to amend the Finance Committee draft of the money raising act. The major victory was the rejection, 71 to 34, of an amendment by Representative Barker, of Durham, which would have eliminated from the bill provision to tax incomes from dividends of domestic and domesticated corporations as normal income. O'Berry of Wayne, and Blount, of Pitt, supported the amendment in debate. Chairman Cherry of the Finance Committee, led the fight. He was (Continued on page eight)

AWAIT RESULT CONFERENCES

Germany to Demand Navy Equal to France or Italy; France Takes Precaution Against War; Italy Adding 500,000 to Armed Forces

(By The Associated Press)
London naval circles heard today that Germany would demand a navy equal to that of Italy or France to complement her newly-created air and land forces.

While diplomatic representative of France, Italy and Great Britain prepared to journey to Paris for tomorrow's tri-partite conference the eyes of all Europe were turned to the forthcoming conference at Berlin between Sir John Simons, British Foreign Secretary, and Reichsfuehrer Hitler. On the success of failure of the Berlin negotiations was expected to depend the entire policy of western European powers with regard to preservation of peace upon the continent.

London.—Possibility was seen that failure of the Berlin talk would result in a system of European alliances to encircle Germany with an iron wall.

Paris.—While diplomats went forward today with plans to seek a peaceful solution of the European crisis precipitated by Germany's rearmament declaration, France made it plain that she was taking adequate precautions against any possible outbreak of war.

Berlin.—Official press replied to France's protest against Germany's unilateral abrogation of the military clauses of the Versailles treaty by accusing the French of neglecting multitudinous opportunities for improving their relations with Berlin.

Rome.—As the Secretary of Foreign Affairs departed for Paris for the conference, the government announced that Italy's military conscription laws had been tightened to add 500,000 men to the army.

Washington.—Senator Key Pittman, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said the United States Government is "not interested" in the question of whether the Hitler government has violated the Versailles treaty.

Geneva.—Suggestions were heard that Sir John Simons might be so successful in his conference with Reichsfuehrer Hitler that a conference could be held among Germany, Great Britain, France and Italy which would obviate necessity of calling the League Council meeting requested by France.

Chance To Build Political Bloc Around Rabies Bill

Reflector Bureau.
 Raleigh, March 22. The State Department of Agriculture will probably benefit more from the new anti-rabies bill, just passed by the Senate, than will the dogs, in the belief of a good many political observers here. For the bill provides that all the fees for the vaccination of dogs shall go to the Department of Agriculture and that it shall have complete control over all the rabies inspectors, of which there will probably be several hundred, perhaps as many as one to a township. The bill further provides that wherever possible, veterinarians shall be employed as rabies inspectors. This is expected to mean that virtually every veterinarian in the state will be on the payroll of the Department of Agriculture.

The bill should really have been entitled "A bill to authorize the Department of Agriculture to build up a powerful political organization at the expense of the dog owners in the state, since it will give the department several hundred dog inspectors who will probably spend more time playing politics for the department and its head instead of inspecting and vaccinating dogs," one member of the Senate remarked after the bill had finally been enacted.

The present Department of Agriculture is generally conceded to have the most efficient and far-reaching political organization of any state department. The 1933 General Assembly attempted to clip the political wings of the department and of W. A. Graham, its head, by removing the gasoline inspectors from that department and putting these duties on the highway patrol in the Department of Revenue, and to otherwise reorganize the department. But all other efforts failed and it has continued as in the past.

If the House now passes the anti-rabies bill, giving Graham and his department complete control over all the dog inspectors, veterinarians and the money collected from vaccination fees, which will be 50 cents per dog, many believers are that the department will be able to build up an even more powerful organization than ever.

Experiments conducted at the Montana State Game Farm indicated pheasants would not eat poisoned grain and are safe from bait used for extermination of gophers and grasshoppers.

So that she might "see how it feels to hang a man," Thelma Rediger (above), 23-year-old college student, asked permission to spring the trap in the execution of Frank McDaniel, negro condemned to die at Springfield, Mo., April 12, for killing his sweetheart. Pontiac Sales Increasing.
 Automobile officials face a problem today that is quite different from what they have become accustomed to during the last few years. Every answer to the question "How's business?" brought a pause and, if answered at all, a flick of fingers that carried many times as a prefix.

H. J. Klinger, president of Pontiac Motor Company, has a new kind of trouble today—"happy trouble," that needs no crying words. His problem is to supply cars to keep up with orders, and so it is "happy trouble."

With the introduction of 175 new sixes to its line of eight this year, Pontiac salesmen have become order blank clerks. There is no telling how many Pontiacs could have been delivered so far this year if Mr. Klinger and his staff had known what an avalanche of buying they were going to be up against. Anyway, in January deliveries were 7,380 against 2,564 in the same month last year. February's figures are more than 10,732 which is higher than the best month last year and Mr. Klinger expects to have at least 130,000 new Pontiacs on the road, and perhaps 150,000 by the end of the year.

One thing about Mr. Klinger, his figures are respected. Sales expectancy figures that he set up during the depression and which conservative minds considered rash, were exceeded. He was appointed president of Pontiac about one and a half years ago, and the car is the second "best seller" of all General Motors makes.

Attending Arts Meeting.

Misses Kate Lewis and Ruth Bonnewitz, art teachers in the college, left yesterday for Charleston to attend the annual meeting of the Southern Arts Association, which is in session the last three days of this week.

This is an ideal time for a meeting in Charleston. Each afternoon sight-seeing tours sponsored by the Charlestonians have been arranged for trips around Charleston and to Middleton and Magnolia Gardens.

The program is admirably arranged so that addresses by leading art teachers and directors, panel discussions, luncheon and banquet meetings, all center in the theme "Art Education for a Changing World." A tea and "get-acquainted party," as well as the sight-seeing parties, give the members a chance to meet socially.

The president of the association, Miss Blanche Cahoon, director of art education in Tampa, Florida, on the program puts the theme in the form of a question: "What old ideas shall we allow to fall to make place for the new growth—the growth that must come if we are to take and keep our place and meet the demands of the changing world?"

One of the leading speakers, Karl Bolander of Columbus, Ohio, president of the "National Art Hobby Guild," who will talk on "Art Education and Art Hobbies of 1935," is a former teacher of both Miss Bonnewitz and Miss Lewis. Miss Lewis studied under him in Chicago and Miss Bonnewitz in Fort Wayne, Ind.

Two other high spots on the program are an address by the president of the "American Federation of Arts," F. A. Whiting of Washington, D. C., and one by the editor of "Design," Felix Payant. A number of interesting talks will be made by art leaders in the southeastern states.

Miss Lewis is vice-president of the Art Division of the North Carolina Education Association, which meets in Winston-Salem next week.

Marathon Round Table.
The "Marathon Round Table" on world problems affecting peace, a joint study group of local branches of the Woman's Club and the A. A. U. W., which has been meeting since November, had its closing program Wednesday afternoon at four o'clock.

Miss Laura Rose, history instructor at the college, who has led the discussion group, made an interesting talk on the present situation in disarmament, explaining just what has been done in the various conferences toward both land and naval disarmament. Miss Rose said the most encouraging result of the 1932 conference was Great Britain's agreement that the United States should have an equal ration with her in naval strength of every kind—the first time since probably the 1600's that she has made such a concession.

Miss Mamie E. Jenkins closed the hour with the presentation of interesting material on the munitions problem. She gave facts and figures to show that the three major armament companies of the world—the English Vickers-Armstrong, the French Schneider-Creusot, and the Czechoslovakia Skoda—have a network that practically covers the old world and knows no boundary lines.

It is well known that in the World War English soldiers were killed with Vickers-Armstrong bullets, the French with Schneider-Creusot ammunition, and Germans with munitions manufactured from their own raw material. Her report showed also some of the findings of the selection of plays and of the casts showed that a professional had charge of these. The excellent acting was partly an outgrowth of the year's work. While some of the cast had been in former plays, most of them made their appearance on the college stage for the first time last night, but they quickly caught the spirit of community drama.

Other problems discussed during the sessions have been the machinery in this country for handling problems involving foreign relations, the international machinery—the World Court and the League of Nations, the various treaties of the last ten years affecting peace, the situation in China, in Japan, and in Germany.

The meeting closed with a brief analysis of the World Pact for Munitions recently presented by the United States and now being considered by the various governments.

One-Act Plays A Success.
For the twenty-sixth time the Senior-Normal class of the college scored a success for a public dramatic performance. In the three one-act plays presented last night the class of '35 carries on the tradition established by their predecessors, and in some particulars set new standards, especially in stage-craft, make-up and lighting.

The class this year had the privilege of working in connection with the FERA project in Community Drama which is being carried on under the direction of Miss Mary Dirnberger. The result of the very excellent work that has been done throughout the year in the college classes in stage-craft and play production taught by Miss Dirnberger and of the work-shop activities connected with those classes, was clearly seen last night.

The selection of plays and of the casts showed that a professional had charge of these. The excellent acting was partly an outgrowth of the year's work. While some of the cast had been in former plays, most of them made their appearance on the college stage for the first time last night, but they quickly caught the spirit of community drama.

When the curtain went up for the first play, "The Duchess Says Her Prayers," the stage presented a beautiful corner of a medieval Italian chapel, which enabled the audience to "recapture the spirit of the Renaissance" which the program gave as the effect they wished to produce. The succession of pictures made by the characters in their rich costumes and the excellent bright shadows increased the effect of the production. The two taking the women's parts in the play were of the perfect Italian type featured in the art of the period, both tall, graceful brunettes with regular features. Miss Mary Elizabeth Baker presented well the beautiful Madonna type of controlled emotions and Miss Polly Melvin acted with abandon the part of the Duchess who pours out her soul in passionate plea. C. O. Armstrong was superb as the Duke.

Miss Ina Tatum never once stepped out of the character of Kame in "Job's Kinfolks," the second play. In looks, voice, dress and in every movement and tone of voice she was the old woman drudge found in many a mill home in this state. Miss Maribland Albritton as the desperate mother and daughter wage-warmer, Miss Jackie Strickland as the reckless child-woman, who was the victim on the altar of poverty; and Perry King as the man who exacted the sacrifice, all played well their parts.

Miss Minnie Ross as "Rosali" in the last play was great as the companion of the evening. Miss Sue Allen Warren, the Madame, and Bill Tolson, as Monsieur, in their desperate efforts to maneuver her, entered into the spirit of the French farce. All three caught the true spirit of the comedy and left a delightful impression on the audience.

Paul Fitzgerald as stage manager was assisted by Miss Lois Leake. J. Thomas Bland was electrician, and

J. E. Woolen was stage carpenter. The scenery and many of the stage properties were made in the workshops by members of the class in stage-craft.

Each play had a member of the class as assistant director and one in charge of properties. The directors were Misses Kathryn Shute, Elma Joyner and Frances Monk. Those in charge of stage properties were Misses Virginia Harrington and Hattie Hudgens. The costumes in the last play were in charge of Miss Louise Potter, Mrs. C. E. Jones, who is in charge of the sewing room for community drama, made the costumes, assisted by members of the Senior-Normal class and the class in stage craft.

Miss Louise Nagle had charge of all the music, not only selecting and arranging the incidental music for the first two plays and between plays, but playing herself. The singing back-stage was by members of the cast and production staff.

SYNOPSIS: James Stinson III, the "entire" of New Concord, N.C., is doing well in the business of the town. But James Stinson III, the "entire" of New Concord, N.C., is doing well in the business of the town. But James Stinson III, the "entire" of New Concord, N.C., is doing well in the business of the town.

Chapter 16
LESLIE, VILLAINESS
"I DON'T know that I ever did," Jane answered proudly. "And now that I know his taste in women, I care less than before."
"A common little thing like Leslie... it's impossible that James should be in love with her! I never did trust her. You'd think to meet her that but she's a sly, double-dealing little minx."
"Look how she acted when you brought those army officers up here from Fort Leavenworth! She always has been jealous of you. Mark my words. She's said something to James to prejudice him against you!"
The mention of the army officers was unfortunate. A few months before Jane had managed to wangle an invitation to a ball at Fort Leavenworth and promptly and triumphantly corralled four of the most attractive and eligible young bachelors at the Post for a week end of unprecendented and lavish entertaining.

Her guests had repaid Jane by dancing around Leslie, dancing with Leslie, flirting with Leslie, slipping off to call on her every time Jane's back was turned. And now it was Leslie who was continually pressed to come down to the Post and very very seldom Jane.
Jane stabbed her mother to the heart by bursting into passionate sobbing... Jane who even as a child almost never cried.
"There, there, dearie," Mrs. Northrup said soothingly. "It isn't worth crying about. I'll see that your father gets you that diamond and pearl bracelet. I haven't a doubt that poor James is secretly eating his heart out and running around with Leslie only to spite you. Why, you have only to lift your little finger to get him back."
Jane had already lifted more than a finger, but she could not tell her mother that. "I don't want him back," she sobbed. "I despise him. But it's all so humiliating. I wouldn't marry him if he was the last man in the world, but I can't bear to have that miserable simpering Leslie crowding over me and snatching away the only... only really eligible prospect in this... this miserable little hole."
Mrs. Northrup's mouth trembled, but there came a dark vindictive gleam in her eye. Jane, for all her brave pretense, was in love with that wretched weakling, James Stinson. Mrs. Northrup never altogether forgave James for that moment when her darling broke down and cried in her arms.
Jane was proud. And extremely jealous of her dignity. She had few secrets from her mother, but she felt she would rather die than let anyone else guess that James meant any more to her than Nappy, his office boy.
So she gave a dinner and included James and Leslie and seated them next to each other at the extreme end of the table. By inviting one of the army wives and her husband, relief situation while carrying full steam.

Now, since President Roosevelt was forced to grab off funds for direct relief everywhere he could find a nickel, homesteading has come down to an infinitesimal crawl. When the White House impounded $10,000,000 of Subsidized Homestead funds during the Senate fight, 38 projects automatically were held up indefinitely. This included 10 already approved. At this writing 1,652 homesteads are under construction or finished. A total of 555 families totalling 2,400 persons have been okayed to occupy them. The picture includes 14 projects spreading over 7 states—a pretty thin panorama so far as cutting down the unemployment burden is concerned.

ANALYSIS: Maybe Senator Norris knew it. Days before he got the Senate to pass a resolution instructing the Federal Trade Commission to investigate propaganda methods being used by utility leaders to beat the administration's anti-holding company bill, the FTC was at work on its own hook.
Before President Roosevelt sent his blast to Congress denouncing opposition to the measure he was in receipt of a report from the Trade Commission that an inquiry was under way.
Congressional leaders look for the findings to be dumped on them when and if the bill abolishing public utility holding companies gets to an important vote. It should make interesting reading.

DYNAMITE: The Senate fight against further extension of NRA, say veteran legislators, is only a sample of what may be in store if the administration doesn't soon get around to putting some ideas into operation to improve cotton. World conditions make this a task of Sisyphean.

Political reaction to the affairs of AAA cover a vastly wider area than that represented by NRA opponents. The weight of disaffection will be felt in 1936.
ARMAMENTS: At the State Department and in committees dealing with foreign affairs the talk is all of Germany's rupture of the Versailles treaty. Germany violates the treaty with the United States too, but nothing explosive will come of that. One comment on Hitler's action is that Germany has put members of the League of Nations on the defensive by showing that they have not reduced armaments as they undertook to do when the covenant was formed. This part of Germany's argument is sympathetically viewed here, but at the same time the German move is regarded as preparation for aggression sooner or later and not merely for defense.

Another effort to induce all Europe to reduce armaments is regarded by State Department experts to be the logical outcome.
New York
By JAMES McMULLIN
CLOSER: The recent report on industrial progress by Chairman H. P. Kendall of the Business Advisory and Planning Council was a buoyant affair. It spoke of "increases in volume and, or profit" varying from "satisfactory to 30 per cent" in 1935 compared to the corresponding period of 1934. This statement—while accurate as far as it goes—presents a distinctly lopsided picture of the council's true sentiment.

STOOGES: Members were canvassed individually as to the status of their business. About three-fourths of them reported increases in volume—but virtually no one admitted to a better profit showing than a year ago. So the phrase "volume and, or profit" is characterized as a trifle misleading. There were a number of sharp protests against mounting wage and tax costs and pointed condemnation of the government's "reform" policies—with special reference to the Wheeler-Rayburn utility bill. The general atmosphere was critical, perturbed and rather discouraged from the viewpoint of potential improvement in profits.
Not a single intimation of this state of mind was conveyed in the optimistic official statement. Some of the council members are privately much annoyed at being used as "stooges for an administration build up."
Neutrals remark that the government is probably more gratified by evidence of a rise in volume than concerned because profits are failing to keep pace.

MOTORS: Inner auto circles now talk of a strike in their industry as a virtual certainty within two months. They note that 36 out of the last 37 decisions by the Wolman Auto Labor Board have gone against the workers—which has built up a tension. Also they are convinced that the Federation of Labor will use every weapon at its command to regain the prestige it lost when the motor code was renewed, and to force action on the Wagner Labor bill.
The motor companies are all set for a walkout if and when it comes. Some of them privately wouldn't mind it at all. They're beginning to admit that maybe their expanded production schedules are based on more than an estimate of the public's desire and capacity to buy new cars. Retail demand is the best in several years—but it isn't at all likely to swamp production facilities.

REVERSAL: Informed New Yorkers learn that Railroad Coordinator Joe Eastman has changed his mind about government ownership. He has been a consistent advocate of nationalization—of the record—for about 20 years, but is said now to be convinced it wouldn't do at all. The reason for his reversal is understood to be an up-to-date estimate of the staggering financial burden involved.
ANGLING: Financial experts were surprised that France came across with a loan to Belgium—after indicating plainly that she wouldn't—but doubt that this trivial remedy will stall off the gold bloc's troubles for long. The loan will help Belgium's acute budget problem—but that only postpones the day of reckoning. Belgium's economic maladjustment—foreign trade—has been strangled by the gold standard. France shows no signs of helping in this direction.

New York sharps figure that France is merely trying to hold the gold bloc together while she angles for stabilization commitments from the United States and England. They believe she's ready to revalue the franc at the drop of a hat if she can get them. Hence she gives Belgium a bandage just big enough to keep her from bleeding to death while waiting for the major operation.

JOKER: Transcontinental Western Air would dearly love to know who slipped a little joker into the Mead airtel bill now pending in Congress. The clause in question—which wasn't in the original draft—provides that airlines can operate only on the routes for which they hold air mail contracts.
If this is enacted it will evict TWA from Chicago and cast the line about $100,000 a month in passenger revenue. American Air Lines would not be hurt, dropped at the United World base Kansas City—but aviation circles remark that would be a cheap sacrifice if it eliminated TWA competition from Chicago.

TWA is protesting vigorously against what it claims is unfair discrimination—but there's no assurance that its protests will be heeded.
DEMOTED: New York hears that Professor Rex Tugwell's new field of activity will be confined to subsistence homesteads, rural rehabilitation and the like. It's understood he will retain his title of Under Secretary of Agriculture but will have nothing to do with AAA or department policy in general. Conservatives will do a lot of private cheering if this happens. No other New Deal mention could give them such a kick.

WCODE: New York banks aren't as much worried by Hitler's sabre-rattling as they would have been a year ago. They've managed to dump the bulk of their German commitments. But they hear that London banks are deeper in the German woods than the well-known babes.

Legislative Ramblings

Newspaper headlines which broadcast that the McDonald-Lumpkin anti-sales tax forces are in the saddle will bring showers of visitors to the capitol. The power companies said one lobbyist, were asleep at the switch when the anti sales succeeded in raising their gross receipts levy from 6 to 7 per cent. More telegrams are being received by Representatives than at any time this session. Responsible are the levies on chain stores, chain filling stations and the domestic stock dividend tax. One such telegram, sent to a large group of legislators, pleads with them "not to tax widows and orphans by imposing a dividend tax." As a substitute, the telegram, dated from Salisbury, urges adoption of the Hull to be charged for the inoculation is 50 cents, which amount would be credited to the dog owner against payment of the dog tax. An amendment by Senator Coburn, of Marlin, to require the impounding of all dogs for 60 days during each year was defeated. The Coburn amendment was based on the English law. An amendment by Senator Bailey, of Washington, was adopted. His amendment provides that all dogs bitten by rabies-infected animals shall be killed, except in the cases of inoculated dogs. They would be impounded by an inspector as a guard against the spread of the disease.

Senator Gravely argued that the school funds, the beneficiaries of the dog tax, would not lose revenue by reason of the bill. The 50-cent loss on each dog, he believed, will be more than made up by increased collections of the tax.

ANTI-SALES TAXERS LOSE MORE GROUND

Hope For Elimination Or Reduction of Sales Tax Is Disappearing

Reflector Bureau.

Raleigh, N. C., March 22.—The McDonald-Lumpkin coalition of anti-sales taxers, lower sales-taxers and free spenders, who have been running the House ever since it started consideration of the revenue bill, went down in defeat when the House refused to adopt their amendments which would have increased the tax on insurance premiums to 3 per cent and a second amendment which would have increased the tax only half as much as the first. The first amendment would have increased the taxes which policy-holders now pay in excess of $300,000 a year and the second amendment, proposed for the McDonald-Lumpkin coalition by Representative Troy Barnes, of Wilson would have increased the tax by about $175,000 a year.

The McDonald-Lumpkin coalition attempted to stage a comeback when the sections taxing foreign and domestic corporations was reached and the battle between the "liberals" and the "conservatives" raged anew all Thursday afternoon. But they were defeated again.

Representative Lumpkin, who led the effort to increase the taxes on domestic and foreign corporations by $1,250,000 more than is proposed by the Finance Committee in the revenue bill, admitted that the success of their entire effort to secure enough additional taxes to make it possible to reduce the sales tax to 2 per cent, depended upon whether or not his proposed amendment to increase these taxes was adopted.

"You anti-sales taxers and you 2 per centers, how do you expect to be able to remove the sales tax or even reduce it to 2 per cent, unless you adopt these taxes to bring in the difference in revenue," Lumpkin shouted. "Unless you put on these other taxes you can't hope to remove or lower the sales tax."

The amendment was defeated and the section was finally adopted as written by the Finance Committee.

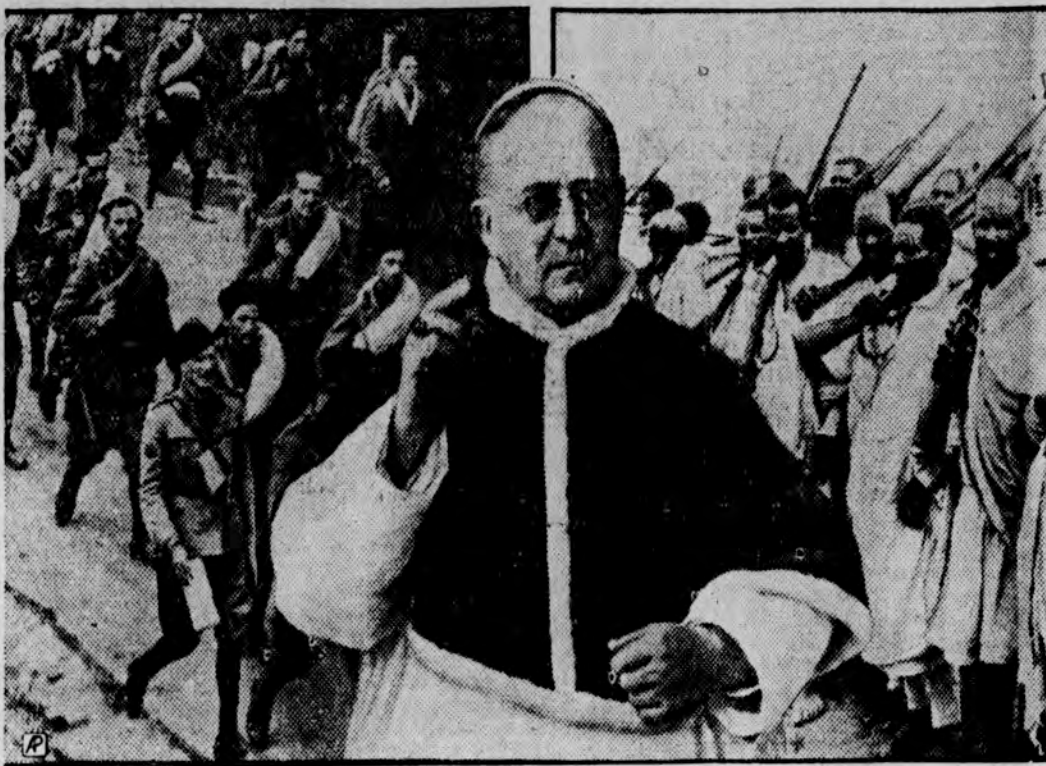

Most of the observers here, however, believe that the Lumpkin-McDonald coalition has reached the bank of its power and come just about as far as it will be able to go and that the conservative forces, under the leadership of Representative Cherry, of Gaston, chairman of the Finance Committee, are at last getting control of the House and as they eventually get control of the Finance Committee, that not only McDonald and Lumpkin and their cronies are going to give up the fight, but they are going to give up the fight for the reason that the "free spenders" who have been pointing along with them in imposing the new taxes they have added to the revenue bill, will not stick with them in their efforts to either remove the sales tax or reduce the rate. It is agreed here. For the "free spenders" are interested solely in getting more revenue so they can increase the appropriation bill if possible or at least bridge the present gap between the two money bills. They frankly want to keep the sales tax at 3 per cent and keep the new taxes, too. Nor are they willing to go as far as the anti-sales taxers and "two per centers" in laying new taxes. On the strength of the sales tax position is going to be materially weaker when the sales tax section of the revenue bill is reached.

Another factor which must be taken into consideration is that the anti-sales taxers and the two per centers cannot expect to have the same support when they get to the sales tax section that they have had so far, for the reason that the "free spenders" who have been pointing along with them in imposing the new taxes they have added to the revenue bill, will not stick with them in their efforts to either remove the sales tax or reduce the rate. It is agreed here. For the "free spenders" are interested solely in getting more revenue so they can increase the appropriation bill if possible or at least bridge the present gap between the two money bills. They frankly want to keep the sales tax at 3 per cent and keep the new taxes, too. Nor are they willing to go as far as the anti-sales taxers and "two per centers" in laying new taxes. On the strength of the sales tax position is going to be materially weaker when the sales tax section of the revenue bill is reached.

Most of the credit for stopping the tax-raising spree of the McDonald-Lumpkin coalition is being given to Chairman Cherry of the Finance Committee, who so far has fought almost single-handed for the committee bill. It is generally conceded that while he and the conservatives in the House are referred to as "the administration forces," that he and the members of the Finance Committee who are fighting for the committee bill have received little or no support for Governor Fritchman and the "administration." It is agreed by many observers that the Governor could have given material support to Cherry and the committee if he had wanted to but that so far no assistance from this source has been forthcoming. This strengthens the belief current for many weeks that the administration is playing hands off in the revenue bill fight.

VATICAN STAND ON ABYSSINIAN PROBLEM SEEN IN EDITORIAL BACKING COLONIAL IDEA

Expressions in the Osservatore Romano, generally recognized as the voice of the Vatican on public affairs, have been interpreted by prelates as indicating a desire by Pope Pius to see Abyssinia opened to the spread of civilization, but only through peaceful means. The pontiff, one of the world's greatest pacifists, is shown here between marching Italian soldiers (left) and a group of Abyssinia's fiercely fighting warriors.

By ANDRUE BERDING NN
Vatican City.—(AP)—The Italian mission, with its menace of open conflict, has placed the Vatican in a perplexing situation.

Pope Pius, now on the friendliest of relations with the Italian government, is at the same time most desirous of the success of the Church's missionary effort in Abyssinia.

He built here an Ethiopian college for the education of native missionaries to carry the Catholic gospel into Emperor Haile Selassie's realm. It is the only foreign college within the Vatican walls.

Vatican Newspaper Speaks
An attractive structure of light brick, it stands half way between St. Peter's and the papal radio station. Daily, dozens of brown-skinned students in black robes may be seen strolling around the college.

The Abyssinians are Coptic Christians, under the jurisdiction of the patriarch of Alexandria, Egypt. Their doctrine, except that they ascribe only one nature to Christ, either the divine or a united combination of divine and human.

An editorial, believed of great significance, has just been published in the official newspaper of the Vatican, "Osservatore Romano." The editorial which bears the title, "The Colonizing Idea," does not refer either to Italy or Abyssinia, but many prelates say it was written with the Italian-Abyssinian tension in mind.

The article begins by affirming the right of nations of superior civilization to colonize those of inferior civilization, and the duty of these latter to submit to peaceful penetration.

Riches Belong To Humanity
"It is evident that no people or race of this earth has the right, or the possibility of living in an isolation which would be equivalent to suicide," says the article.

"The great material riches that God has distributed on earth to give well-being and peace to mankind must be placed at the disposition of all. They must not be left to lie in a state of perfect abandonment, thus remaining almost totally unproductive for the peoples who possess them and for the entire world."

The editorial then says that this material idea of colonization has been accompanied by "a very different and superior conception—the noble and civilizing conception carried out by the church throughout the centuries whereby the true faith is spread into the countries to be colonized."

Brute Force Decried
The concept of barbarous, illegal only has fallen, says the Osservatore Romano, and another concept of and anti-Christian seizure of a colonialism collaboration among the races, between dominators and dominated, has taken its place. The colonizer, versed in specific studies, directs development of natural resources and the native collaborates with ever more useful results.

The Osservatore concludes by saying:

"Colonization must not therefore be considered as a problem for the employment of brute force, but as a problem always of pacific penetration, of persuasion, of perennial conquest of wills and of souls, albeit most laborious and slow.

"This is why, and only why, we feel it stupendous beauty and feel its intense and inextinguishable fascination."

FIVE PER CENT BEER BILL IS AIRED TODAY

had been rebuffed by Judiciary Committee No. 1 which told him he could have 15 minutes. Previously the House's No. 2 Committee had heard the drys on the original 5 per cent beer bill which attempted to rewrite the taxing schedule for beer dealers. The bill was defeated in the House and a substitute, the present bill, emerged from the committee room which merely raises the alcohol content.

A poll of the Senate Committee shows that the bill will receive a favorable report by a wide margin. Several Senators have said that "the Senate will pass the bill without batting an eye." Not more than 12 Senators are expected to vote against it. Senate proponents of the measure have said that they do not plan to debate the bill, so sure are they of a successful Senate voyage for the bill.

Despite the fact that Burgess is seen increasing frequency in capitol corridors and lobbies, sentiment for 5 per cent beer has grown.

For The WEEK

BIRD STUDY

To obtain a Merit Badge for Bird Study, a Scout must:

1. Produce a list of forty species of wild birds which have been personally observed, and positively identified in the field.
2. Produce a list showing the greatest number of species that he has seen in the field in one week.
3. Produce a list, derived from personal observation, of twenty species of birds particularly noted for their value to agriculture in the destruction of insects.
4. Produce a list, derived from personal reading, of ten birds of prey particularly useful in the destruction of rats and mice.
5. Name ten species of birds particularly useful in protecting the trunks of trees from borers, barklice, and scale insects.
6. Describe at least two bird boxes and two food tables that have been erected by him, the species of birds that have been attracted by them, and how many of the birds have nested in these boxes.
7. State what has been done to protect birds from wicked and unjust slaughter; to promote long-closed seasons for vanishing species; and to promote the creation of bird preserves and sanctuaries.

Miss Hooper Entertains.

The "D" or Senior-Normal class of the college was delightfully entertained last night by Miss Emma L. Hooper, "D" class advisor, in the "Y" Hutt after the plays presented by the class.

Bouquets of spring flowers were artistically arranged so that the "Y" Hutt made a very pleasing and inviting appearance. The guests were dressed in dinner or evening dress for the occasion.

Dancing was the chief feature of entertainment, with music furnished by the radio or by some member of the class who played popular selections on the piano.

Punch and cakes were served by the four "C" or Junior-Normal class officers and by Miss Hooper's student assistants.

Guests outside the "D" class included President Meadows; the two deans of women, Misses Annie L. Morton and Elizabeth Smith; two members of the faculty, Misses Greene and Coates, and Miss Frances Newsome, president of the Student Government Association, and Miss Elsie Camp, president of the Senior class.

Mr. Farmer: You have an important decision to make: One that vitally affects the welfare of you and your family.

In a short time the roads will be literally covered with trucks and wagons loaded with fertilizer. Some of these will be headed for your farm. Will it be just another load of fertilizer, or will it be a carefully selected load of plant food especially made for the particular crop under which you will use it. In making this selection you can not be too careful. Much depends upon your decision.

Now, if the bags on these trucks or wagons coming to your farm are branded "EASTERN", you will KNOW that you have a fertilizer second to none; that is backed by a management whose sincere purpose is to give to its customers the real results of experiment station recommendations; a fertilizer that has given great satisfaction to thousands of Virginia and Carolina farmers.

lowest-priced trucks and listened to all the sales arguments. When your salesman showed me the amazing number of high-priced truck features built into the Dodge I could hardly believe that they are now priced right down with the lowest. I don't mind saying I am absolutely sold on Dodge. It is the only one of the three lowest-priced trucks that has hydraulic brakes and I figure this feature alone is worth $100 in economy, safety and all-around satisfaction."

(sig.) C. H. BOOKEDIS, Chicago, Ill.

THE big swing among leading automotive manufacturers in 1935 is toward hydraulic brakes. But of the three lowest-priced trucks, only Dodge gives them to you!

Save Money 3 Ways

Everyone knows that hydraulic brakes work quicker and smoother... tend to check skidding and swerving. But they do another important thing... they make your truck a lot more economical to run... and here's why—hydraulic brakes stay equalized! Braking pressure on all four wheels with Dodge perfected hydraulic brakes is always the same. This tends to distribute the wear evenly over all four tires and all four sets of brake linings, so they last much longer. Thus hydraulic brakes save you money on tires... save on brake reining... save on brake adjusting expense.

Hydraulic brakes are just one of the 13 outstanding, high-priced features Dodge gives you in trucks now priced with America's lowest. Only Dodge gives you an oil filter to save oil. Only Dodge gives you 4 piston rings to conserve power—the others give you 3 piston rings. Dodge gives you 4 main bearings to prolong engine life—the others give you 3 bearings. Dodge gives you a six-cylinder I-4 head engine for low-cost operation. Dodge pioneered such outstanding features as valve seat inserts to save gas and valve grinding... full-floating rear axle to save repair costs... and many more.

Ask for a "Show-Down"

Lots of truck buyers who check up on Dodge features when they go to buy a low-priced truck say, "It just doesn't belong in the lowest-priced field, but it is!" The extra value built into Dodge is surprising... literally amazing! See your Dodge dealer and ask for a "show-down" of this extra value... today!

WILL VOTE ON LOWER LICENSE TAGS TUESDAY

Highway Forces Seeking to Defeat Move For Cheaper Auto License Tags

Reflector Bureau, Raleigh, N. C., March 22.—The Senate has deferred until Tuesday action on the bill which would reduce license on private automobiles. The move was made by the highway forces, who are opposed to the bill. The bill was introduced by Senator Spence, and was originally introduced for more time in which to attempt to sway enough Senators away from their vote earlier in the week when the Senate put its bill of approval in two readings in an amendment which would establish a $7.00 minimum tax cost for the present $12.50 and would have reduced the per hundredweight fee from 35 to 40 cents on private cars.

As a committee substitute for the multitude of license reducing bills the joint roads committee finally brought forth a compromise which would have made the minimum cost $9, with the weight charged fixed at 40 cents.

Unexpectedly, the Senate action refusing to accept the five-cent reduction and its approval of the 40-cent proposal. Finally the highway bill attempted to marshal its forces and succeeded in gaining a delay.

At present about $3,000,000 is being collected annually from the license of private cars, which means that a 15-cent reduction in the license would mean a loss of $1,500,000. The committee bill would have reduced collection by about $300,000.

The average small car now costs its owner about $13.75 for a license. The 15-cent reduction would mean that such licenses would cost about $12.

Faced with a continuance of the annual diversion of $1,000,000 from the highway to the general fund and a prospective further diversion of $500,000 for the same purpose, the highway bloc is fighting desperately against a reduction in the license fees below the 50-cent level. Senate Finance Chairman Harris Newman has served notice that he will re-offer on the Senate floor his finance committee room proposal to assess against the gasoline tax fund an amount equivalent to the three per cent retail sales tax levy if applied to sales of gasoline. Such a policy would divert a total of $1,650,000 from the highway to the general fund. Members of the highway bloc argue against further diversion because, they say:

The existing tax of six cents per gallon is excessive.

That all taxes imposed on motorists go for highway improvement and maintenance.

That federal aid may be endangered by further diversion under the terms of a federal act which provides that no state shall receive federal road funds which reduces its highway fund, based on last year's figures.

That the state should not divert further, but, instead, lay aside additional funds for replacement for roads. In the early years of the road, in the early years of the next decade, many roads in North Carolina built in the early twenties, will have become worn out.

Proponents of reduction license have in many instances made campaign pledges some of them having promised their constituents to support a $5 tag tax bill. These promises were responsible for the flood of $5 bills in the early days of the present session. They argue that many cars, now stored, would be licensed and, as a result, more gasoline tax being collected, resulting in a very small actual decrease in revenue from motorists. Statistics compiled in other States, including Georgia, where license rates have been reduced do not prove that conservation. Unless North Carolinians are a people very different from those in other States a reduction in car license fees would mean about a equal loss in revenue.

However, North Carolina's license charges are among the highest in the country and more than those in surrounding States. Legislators from extreme western counties declare that many North Carolinians in those counties are driving cars with $5 Georgia tags. Their critics retort that an increased highway patrol will stop the practice.

Tuesday the highway question will watch closely the Senate, a more conservative body than the lower House. Thus, think most observers the real test will come in the Senate. The bill passed its second Senate reading by a margin of two votes.

Thrill in Living That Attracts Most Attention

By HOWARD W. BLAKE-STEP
(Associated Press Science Editor)
New York.—AP.—A child's zest for life is the explanation of the tremendous outburst of public interest in the "cure-all stomach" operation of Alice Jan McHenry.

There have been hundreds of similar operations, yet until Alice came along the public virtually never had heard of such a thing. Even a good many medical men, though they were known about the operation and the patient, looked up the records and were startled to find how rarely successful surgery has been in curing the stomach.

Unusually Her Fate
Alice Jan McHenry, 22, of Raleigh, N. C., was the perfect picture of what this surgery can do through the professional barriers.

For the first time that any collector's records hereabouts show, a special fee stamp for the sending of currency through the mail has made its appearance in postal annals.

And it might easily be called a "currency stamp" for it not only indicates that a fee has been paid for the dispatch of paper money, but its denomination gives a pretty good indication of how much currency is in the envelope.

These special fee stamps come from the Dominican republic and consist of five value, 8 to 70 centavos. They were created by surcharges on the 7, 10, 20 and 50-centavo stamps of the 1933 Merino issue. The overprint reads: "Declared value fee—interior service" in addition to the amount.

The stamps are for use only with a special currency registration envelope bearing an envelope stamp of 13 centavos to pay the regular registration fee. The envelope also contains spaces for notations, printed and written, about the contents. It has a special perforated gummed flap designed to protect the contents from molestation.

Under the former Dominican postal regulations the sending of currency through the mails was forbidden.

Moscow Subway
Opening of the new subway in Moscow has been made the occasion for a special set of four Soviet stamps commemorating the event.

Subway scenes comprise the motifs, with views both during and after construction. The 5-kopek orange shows a tunnel as it is being bored into the earth; the 10 ultramarine, a cross section of a finished tunnel; the 15 deep carmine a subway station; and the 20 green a close-up of another station.

San Marino Celebrates
The world's smallest republic, San Marino, whose 38 square miles are completely surrounded by Italy, is presenting a special group of stamps in commemoration of the twelfth anniversary of the founding of fascism.

The same basic design is used for the seven stamps, with the black centers showing a San Marino scene. The faces are of various colors with denomination ranging from 5 centesimi to 1.25 lire.

Here and There
A new two-franc from France illustrating a river scene is printed in light green.

Three more values of the recent Manchukuo group have been added to the list. They include, 3 and 9 fen and 1 yen.

The new Philippine issue contains ten values which have been sur-

Alice Jan McHenry's happy smile and her childish thrill in all that goes on about her have attracted attention of all those who have come in contact with her.

The generosity of an unnamed benefactor in sending her across the country brought other writers to tell about her during the trip.

They all saw the same intense interest in life and reported it. By the time she arrived at Fall River she was nationally known. Medical men are barred by their code of ethics from admitting any form of publicity to their practice. The Fall River physicians were no exception.

But Alice's interest in life was too irrepressible for medical rules.

Germany Violates Versailles Treaty; Decrees Compulsory Military Service

Intense excitement gripped European capitals as the German government, suddenly sloughing off the military provisions of the Versailles treaty, decreed compulsory military service in the Reich.

Paris, in particular, was stirred by the action which was interpreted as the Reich's answer to the French adoption of two-year compulsory service. At top is shown the signing of the Versailles treaty on June 28, 1919. Chancellor Hitler declared Germany no longer would be bound by the pact. Below German soldiers are shown as they simulated a battle at Nuremberg during an army exhibition. (Associated Press Photos)

England's Jubilee To Take Color Of Victorian Revival

London.—(AP)—The color and gaiety of by-gone days will return to England this summer in celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of King George's accession to the throne.

Every city, town and village will be embellished with flowers, flags and bunting for the high carnival centering around May 6, the actual anniversary, which will be a national holiday.

Buildings will be floodlit, and there will be parades and pageants the like of which England never saw before.

The official period for the celebrations is a fortnight, but most of the decorations—which are to be weatherproof, incidentally—will remain weeks longer. Manufacturers or flags and bunting are working overtime.

Various boroughs of London have approved expenditures of more than $100,000 for decorations, while Brighton, England's favorite seaside resort, has set aside $30,000 for fireworks and other frills.

Even the summer's fashions are going to idealize typical beauties of the past, the camellia-like types of early Victorian days. Women will appear with curls bunched on the forehead and at the nape of the neck, revealed by bonnet-shaped hats.

Germany Violates Versailles Treaty; Decrees Compulsory Military Service

Intense excitement gripped European capitals as the German government, suddenly sloughing off the military provisions of the Versailles treaty, decreed compulsory military service in the Reich.

Paris, in particular, was stirred by the action which was interpreted as the Reich's answer to the French adoption of two-year compulsory service. At top is shown the signing of the Versailles treaty on June 28, 1919. Chancellor Hitler declared Germany no longer would be bound by the pact. Below German soldiers are shown as they simulated a battle at Nuremberg during an army exhibition. (Associated Press Photos)

England's Jubilee To Take Color Of Victorian Revival

London.—(AP)—The color and gaiety of by-gone days will return to England this summer in celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of King George's accession to the throne.

Every city, town and village will be embellished with flowers, flags and bunting for the high carnival centering around May 6, the actual anniversary, which will be a national holiday.

Buildings will be floodlit, and there will be parades and pageants the like of which England never saw before.

Washington Daybook

By HERBERT PLUMMER
Washington, D. C.—Task of a third party in 1936, while still more or less nebulous, has taken on a new meaning in view of recent developments in Washington.

Politicians and political analysts point to several things which they believe is indicative of the trend in this direction. While they are quick to say it is highly improbable the opposition to President will become formidable enough to endanger his leadership or chances for re-election should the economic situation grow worse anything might happen.

They point to the following as signs:

The incessant hammering of the administration by Huey Long.

The new insurgent movement in the House promoted by progressives from the northwest.

Disaffection among progressive in the Senate over the contest to unseat Bronson Cutting, of New Mexico, which they believe has administration support.

McCarl-Swanson feud.

President Roosevelt's decision to support Secretary Swanston of the navy in his squabble with Comptroller General McCarl over traveling expenses of dependents of naval officers ordered home for retirement is the most recent cause of discord.

McCarl is a protégé of Senator Norris, of Nebraska, leader of the progressives in the Senate. Norris already has come to bat for McCarl and is prepared to go even further for him. The amount of money involved in the Swanston-McCarl feud is insignificant, but Norris and other progressives contend the Comptroller General is an agent of Congress whose function it is to "check" on the expenditures of the executive branches of the government. They fear a breakdown of the whole accounting system if McCarl is not sustained.

These are instances that Congress is becoming restless and is not so unitedly behind the administration as in the last session. It is in such an atmosphere talk of a third party usually flourishes.

Republicans Watching

The Republicans have assumed an attitude are doing everything they can to hinder the administration without being openly charged of obstruction tactics.

G. O. P. leaders admit privately their strategy is to lie low and wait for a break. Continued assaults on the administration by the radicals such as Long and failure of recovery policies may in their estimation lead to a three-cornered contest in 1936 similar to that in 1914 with the Democrats on the losing end this time.

There have been rumors, impossible of verification, that the Louisiana "K" and Governor Olson, farmer-labor chief executive of Minnesota, have been discussing the third party idea. Gossip is to the effect the two would set themselves up as centers around whom could be combined all the dissatisfied elements into a new party in 1936.

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—The latest addition to the Huey Long "You will not come back in 1936" club in the Senate is about the last man in that body one would think had the qualifications for membership.

His name is Josiah William Bailey of North Carolina, staid, serious one-time editor of a publication known as the Biblical Recorder.

Until the "Kingfish's" most recent violent renewal of his feud with Joe Robinson, Democratic leader of the Senate, it has been believed generally that Long and Bailey were getting along quite nicely both personally and politically.

As a matter of fact, Huey has been rather proud of a letter in his files from Bailey, in which he "Kingfish" says "he told me what a nice man I was and how I had been done such great injustice."

Huey Predicts

Frequently Bailey has been seen to saunter over and carefully thumb the large-sized Bible which Huey keeps on his desk. The Louisiana Senator, who admits he knows his Biblical quotations and literally sprinkles his speeches with them, confesses privately, "Bailey, has me beat."

But the Senator who once told Long what a "nice man" he was, and who, in turn, has been complimented by Huey, now enjoys the distinction of being in the "Kingfish's" select "dog house."

Hes in distinguished company, however. With him are Robinson and the tall, sharp-tongued Pat Harrison, of Mississippi—both of whom have been warned by Long with their bids for re-election to the Senate in 1936.

While Huey has not actually threatened to invade North Carolina in 1936 to help defeat Bailey, he has said on the floor of the Senate: "I will bet he does not go back to the United States Senate next year. I just make the prophecy you will."

Troops Guard Border

As a result of the civil war in Greece, Turkey and Bulgaria strengthened their garrisons along the Greek border. The massing of Turkish troops created a tense situation in Bulgaria and Gen. Petko Zlateff (above), Bulgarian foreign minister, hastened to the royal palace to confer with King Boris on measures to meet the Turkish troop movements. (Associated Press Photos)

Long's wage and prophecy came after Bailey had declared he was "utterly unwilling" to take Long's

He Almost Snarled

He did, however, almost snarl at the North Carolina Senator during the brief set-to on the floor when he declared:

"I let every man take his own stand. Whenever you want to be an enemy of mine, that is an easy thing to do. I'll reciprocate it right off the bat. If you want to be a friend of mine, I'll go double the way. It is no trouble to have me either for friend or enemy."

There are 135 "flying girls" now on the staff of one of the leading air-lines operating between New York and the West coast. They are stewardesses chosen from 15,000 applicants.

Maryville, Mo., was the scene of the worst tornado in 1934.

Of the 3,300,000 orchards heaters in use in California, 2,900,000 are oil burning.

Botanists have determined that eighty distinct species of tree grow in Louisiana.

Reno had 2,920 divorce suits during 1934.

Tomorrow—"Angry Christopher"

Willy Nilly broke open the bank. A laugh that Top Notch could not keep back made Christopher look up in surprise. The rooster was perched back of a chair. Then Christopher looked at the contents of the bank.

Willy Nilly!

Christopher Columbus Crow thought that perhaps Willy Nilly was giving him a surprise.

"You must open it for me," said Christopher. "It will have to be broken in order that I get my money. But what fun I will have with so many coins. How they will shine in the sun."

West doubled the clubs and the double came around to Mrs. Marlowe, who now had four hearts. West doubled. North, fearful, went to five clubs, which East doubled. Mrs. Marlowe took the contract to five hearts, and West doubled again. That was the end of the hectic bidding.

Mrs. Marlowe was not one to be not vulnerable, the 100-point penalty being offset by her honors. West led a top spade and shifted to the club ace, which South ruffed. Later West made three aces of hearts and a ruff of diamond. If West's hearts had been drawn after the ace was forced out, South would have been able to return to her hand to run off established diamonds.

Against any opening but a club. West could have made six spades. A club opening by North, followed by a diamond return and another club lead would have set a six-spade contract two. And had the contract been reached South would have doubled.

Tips on CONTRACT

Big Save
By TOM O'NEIL

An overall of an original bid of two in a suit usually is futile. It is better to pass and hope that the other side will overbid. Most psychics also are bocomerage. But there are exceptions.

This article deals with a well conceived psychic overall after an original two bid. It resulted in preventing opponents from making a rubber, with possibly a slam count. The cost was nil. Had the adversaries bid slam the psychic would have caused an opening lead that would have set the contract.

The hand was played in a duplicate game at the Knickerbocker Whist Club, New York. The psychic bidder won a top on the board. In a rubber game there would have been an excellent save. The hands:

Vulnerable West opened with a bid of two spades. After North's pass East raised to three spades. Mrs. Edna Marlowe, sitting South, then called four clubs—yes, four clubs of which she had none. With a two-suit of hearts and diamonds, she reasoned that if doubled, as she should be, she had run out suits that would prevent sets from being extraordinary. But, most important of all, her club bid would case North to lead a club against a slam contract and the would ruff.

West doubled the clubs and the double came around to Mrs. Marlowe, who now had four hearts. West doubled. North, fearful, went to five clubs, which East doubled. Mrs. Marlowe took the contract to five hearts, and West doubled again. That was the end of the hectic bidding.

Top Notch's Prank
By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

CHRISTOPHER came down from his nest. He had had a very restful nap.

"I'll just rattle my lovely new bank," he cawed to himself, "and then I'll take the bank out into the sunlight and let it gleam and shine."

He flew to the shelf and took the bank so he could tuck it under his wing.

How heavy it was! Had he already received gifts? Willy-Nilly had come back and was working in the house, and as Christopher did not know that Willy Nilly had been away for a little while he felt sure that no one had played a prank on him.

"Willy Nilly!" he exclaimed, "some king soul has almost filled my bank to the top. It rattles beautifully. There is a lot in it. Maybe you put some money in there?"

"Not I," answered Willy Nilly. But Christopher Columbus Crow thought that perhaps Willy Nilly was giving him a surprise.

DIZ WINS FIRST TILT WITH BABE

Well, Dizzy Dean is one up on Babe Ruth. The mighty Cardinal hurler set down the mighty Braves slugger without a hit when he faced him twice in an exhibition game at St. Petersburg, Fla. It was the first meeting in a game for the two since the Babe entered the National league. You may recall that Diz said some unkind things about Ruth's switch to Boston when it was announced, but this picture indicates there's no hard feelings. It was made as each wished the other well before the start of the exhibition match. (Associated Press Photo)

35% MORE plant food

The biggest and best news you will find in the new fertilizer price lists is the very small difference in cost between a low-potash fertilizer and a fertilizer well-balanced with plenty of NV POTASH. For example, compare 3-8-3 fertilizer with 3-8-8 fertilizer. The 3-8-8 contains 35% more actual plant food, yet it costs you very little more than the 3-8-3. Figured in terms of an acre, the extra cost is so small it will surprise you. Ask your Fertilizer Man!

3-8-8 TOBACCO FERTILIZER has proven its value throughout the entire bright tobacco belt. Many leading farmers in this section use 3-8-8 or increase the potash in their regular fertilizer to 8% or even more by using extra applications of potash.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture and the North Carolina State College of Agriculture recommend a fertilizer containing 6 to 10% potash for bright tobacco.

Chemical analysis of high-quality tobacco plants proves that a 1,000-pound crop contains more than three times as much potash as 800 pounds of 3% potash fertilizer contains.

Fertilizer containing too much nitrogen produces rough, bony tobacco. Avoid this by selecting a fertilizer mixture in which the nitrogen has been well-balanced with plenty of potash.

3-8-8 TOBACCO FERTILIZER gives best results with closer rows, closer spacing, ridge cultivation and late topping. Set more plants per acre and top after about half the crop is gathered.

3-8-8 TOBACCO FERTILIZER holds the tobacco on the hill after it matures, without burning, producing a thin, grainy leaf with "high-dollar" quality.

Remember that 800 pounds of 3-8-8 usually costs less than 1,000 pounds of 3-8-3, yet 800 pounds of 3-8-8 contains more actual plant food and is a much better balanced fertilizer. Ask your Fertilizer Man!

Plan now to produce a thin leaf on the bright side. Use the best cultural methods, correct spacing, high topping and the proper amounts of 3-8-8 TOBACCO FERTILIZER. The extra potash in this fertilizer adds the extra quality that brings more on the floor.

Extra POTASH PAYS Extra Cash

FOR COTTON: To help your cotton prevent rust, control wilt and produce vigorous, healthy plants with less shedding, larger bolls that are easier to pick and better yields of uniform, high-quality lint—USE 3-8-8 COTTON FERTILIZER. IT PAYS!

New York Cotton

New York, March 22.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady, six points lower to two points higher, under March liquidation which was offset by trade and foreign buying in the late months. After selling off to 10.64, March rallied to 10.64, or back to about yesterday's close. At the end of the first half-hour May was selling around 10.74 and October 10.37 with the general list net unchanged to three points higher.

Trading was quiet later in the morning with March notices selling up to 10.67 just before trading in it ended at midday, or three points net higher. Later months at that time were not unchanged to two points higher.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, March 22.—(AP)—The financial market showed signs of being weary today and receded quietly to a drowsy state where small price changes ruled. Stocks slipped fractionally lower under weight of wabbling utilities during the early dealing, but a more steady tone developed when shares of the leading power companies hardened around noon. The bond market idled away its time without getting anywhere and the prices of commodity held within a narrow trading area. The late tone was steady.

Transfers aggregated 750,000.

opposed by Representative MacDonald, of Foyth, and Lumpkin, of Franklin, leader of the anti-sales bloc.

This morning Cherry said he would try to have the House finish its committee of the whole consideration of the revenue act late this afternoon so the measure could pass its first reading this afternoon, and with a House meeting tonight at 12:01 a. m., to pass the bill on second reading. He outlined the plan just before the House recessed for lunch, and after its first objection, MacDonald and Lumpkin agreed to the proposal. The House will debate for three hours on the sales tax and will vote late today. Then it will pass the revenue measure on its second reading according to the plan.

One hundred and sixty of the 225 sections of the bill had been adopted at lunch time.

The Senate passed the Andrews-Page bill limiting work hours of employees of State hospital and similar institutions to twelve hours a day and 84 hours a week after amending it to allow longer hours in time of emergency.

(AP)—Col. Louis M. Howe, secretary to President Roosevelt, continued on the verge of death at the White House today.

End Quilter Inquest
Southern Pines, N. C., March 22.—(AP)—Lawrence M. McDonald, 39-year-old tailor, today was exonerated of blame in the death of Mrs. William Quilter, 39, who fell from his automobile at a road-house near here early yesterday.

The coroner's jury after a two-day investigation returned a verdict that "Mrs. Charlotte M. Quilter came to her death from a fall from a motor vehicle driven by Lawrence McDonald who was operating said motor car while intoxicated. It is the opinion of this jury that the cause of the death was accidental."

The jury deliberated for an hour. Authorities placed McDonald under $100 bond for his appearance at recorder's court at Carthage Monday to answer a charge of drunken driving.

Save Municipal Power Plants From Franchise Taxes

Raleigh, N. C., March 22.—But for the successful effort of Representative Troy T. Barnes, of Wilson County, municipal electric power plants, as well as other power companies, would have been subject to the 7 per cent franchise tax on gross revenue, as adopted by the House in its consideration of the revenue bill. The amendment proposed by Barnes and finally adopted by the House, exempts municipally owned power generating systems from this tax even when they sell power outside their corporate limits.

The adoption of this amendment will result in a large saving to such cities as Wilson, Rocky Mount and other municipalities that operate city-owned power plants.

Two Bills Aimed At Banking Department Reported Unfavorably

Reflector Bureau,
Sir Walter Hotel,
Raleigh, N. C., March 22.—The by Representative Stone of Rockingham County to abolish the State Banking Commission and consolidate it with the State Utilities Commission, also the bill by Representative Bowie, of Ashe, to limit the number of State bank examinations to two a year, were reported unfavorably by the House Committee on Banks and Banking, of which Representative W. L. Lumpkin, of Franklin, is chairman, it was learned today.

There are indications, however, that an effort will be made by the friends of the Stone bill in with a minority report in order to get it before the House. Even if this is done, the bill is not expected to pass, since it does not have strong support. It was learned from reliable sources today that only three banks in the State are backing the Stone bill, and that one of these three is the bank of which the father of Representative Stone is president.

Both the Stone and Bowie bills are regarded as being "syll balls" and the outgrowth of grudges against the banking department on the part of a few individuals.

Insect outbreaks kill from 50 to 90 per cent of the forest trees in the affected area.

PARIS STAGE WORK BRINGS SMALL PAY FOR ACTORS

Paris.—(AP)—There is more glory than gold in being a member of the famous Comedie Francaise troupe nowadays.

Last of the Paris theaters to be hit by the slump, the "House of Moliere," is now in such low water that temporary closing is being discussed.

The actors are not paid salaries but receive shares of the profits according to their ranking. This year the shares of the stars amount to less than $3,000 each.

South Dakota's rural credit agency, established in 1917, had liabilities of $54,407,058.52 at the end of 1934 and assets of $40,656,736.43, its director reported.

—so far as we know tobacco was first used about 400 years ago—
—throughout the years what one thing has given so much pleasure..so much satisfaction—

Today the Governor of North Carolina says to the Governor of South Carolina—
"Have a cigarette"

TODAY people all over the world use tobacco in one form or another. They chew it, they smoke it in pipes, they smoke cigars and cigarettes, and here is what an eminent physician said about cigarettes:

"I have been something of a student of cigarettes, and it is my belief that they offer the mildest and purest form in which tobacco is used."

Yes, nowadays the cigarette is the most popular form in which tobacco is used. A good cigarette certainly gives men and women a lot of pleasure.

Have a Chesterfield—
For one thing—they're milder.
For another thing—they taste better.

It was a matter of pride with a host in Colonial days that his guests should smoke tobacco grown on his own plantation.
