Stresa Conferees Agree To Call New Parley On May 20

INDEPENDENCE OF AUSTRIA IS MAIN OBJECT

Danubian Conference Called for Rome After Appeal for Armament of Austria; Sessions to be Completed Tomorrow; Communique of Activities to be Prepared

Stresa, April 13.—(AP)—Premier Mussolini, after an armed Austria at the closing session of the Stresa conference today and three nations' representatives agreed upon a Danubian conference to find a way for guaranteeing Austrian independence with Germany, Italy and France present.

It was specially decided to hold the conference next month probably May 20 at Rome.

With this as the outcome of the tri-power conference here, observers saw the further possibility of a general European conference to settle the stability of Europe now that Germany's willingness to adhere to a non-aggressive pact has been expressed.

A British spokesman referring to the Danubian conference said:

"Such a conference is almost certainly probable for Rome in May."

The discussion here, interrupted by luncheon given by the British to the French and Italian delegation will close this evening, but the conferees will have a later meeting tomorrow to draw up a final communique on their talks as a whole.

"A wide range of subjects" was the only official description of what the conferees did this morning.

It was intimated that those invited to the Danubian conference will be Austria and states bordering on her—Germany, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Italy and Yugoslavia, France, Britain, Poland and Russia.

The feature of this morning's session was a long speech by Mussolini who argued for the armament of Austria.

LOCAL DRIVER IS EXONERATED

George B. Chappelle Set Free in Death of Child on Highway Near Chocowinity

George B. Chappelle, of Greenville, driver of the Rick Transfer Company, today was free of a charge of reckless driving growing out of the death of Joseph Buck, 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Buck, of the Chocowinity community.

No probable cause was found when Chappelle faced preliminary hearing in Washington before Justice of the Peace Harry R. Paul. Chappelle, driving an automobile of the Ricks Transfer Company, ran over the child as he dashed across the highway in front of the machine about two weeks ago. Fatally injured, the youth was rushed to a Washington hospital where he died several hours later.

Witnesses at the hearing stated that in their opinion the accident was unavoidable. They said two children were walking along the side of the road and one of them dashed across the road directly in the path of the car.

Chappelle said he swerved to avoid the accident and the child was hit on the left side of the road.

J. E. Simpkins Dies at Ernul

J. E. Simpkins, 72, died at his home near Ernul, in the Vanceboro district, this morning, according to information reaching the city this afternoon.

He had been in ill health for several weeks and his condition became so critical the last few days that little hope was held out for his recovery.

Funeral arrangements had not been completed this afternoon.

Ransom $50,000 For Kidnaped Cuban

Relatives of Eutimio Falla Bonet (above), wealthy young Cuban, paid $300,000 ransom to obtain his release from kidnapers who held him overnight in Havana. Eighteen suspects were arrested, but all save four were released. (Associated Press Photo)

SENATE STILL PUSHING THE REVENUE BILL

First Saturday Session of the Present Assembly Held; House Meets

Raleigh, N. C., April 13.—(AP)—Twenty-eight members of the House met for 15 minutes this morning to dispose of local bills.

The Senate held a regular business session, its first on Saturday since the Legislature convened. Work was continued on the revenue bill. Representative Sullivan, of Buncombe County, introduced a measure in the House to repeal the law creating a State Board of Examiners to regulate plumbing and heating workers and dealers.

Charlie Ross Laid To Rest This Afternoon

Funeral services for Charles Alton Ross, 17, who died at his home near House Station at 5:10 o'clock yesterday afternoon, were conducted from his late home this afternoon at 3 o'clock by Rev. R. F. Pittman of the Free Will Baptist church of Ayden, and interment was made in Greenwood cemetery here.

Classmates of Belvoir high school were active pall bearers. Young Ross was a member of the Tenth grade of Belvoir high school. He was the son of the late C. M. Ross and Mrs. Anna Whitcomb Ross of this county.

Surviving are his mother and the following brothers and sisters: L. P. and W. A. Ross of the home place; Mrs. B. J. Kertes, Newport News, Va.; Mrs. S. E. Brimm, Norfolk, Va.; Mrs. L. E. Smith, Greenville; and Miss Mae Ross of the home place.

Bud Jones' Hen Lays Large Egg

Bud Jones, who resides on the Greenville-Pickland highway, about three miles from town, is not only a good farmer but he has forged to the front as a producer of large eggs.

Bud brought an egg to The Reflector office this morning that tipped the scales at a quarter of a pound. It was seven inches in diameter.

The egg is the product of a Rhode Island Red hen, one of a number which Jones keeps on the lot for his egg supply. It is one of the largest hen eggs ever shown here. It is on display in the window of The Reflector office.

SEN. BAILEY TO FIGHT FOR STATE RELIEF

Tells Kinston Chamber Members He Plans to Get N. C. Share of Relief

Kinston, N. C., April 13.—(AP)—Senator Bailey, of North Carolina, had served notice today he would fight for what he considers North Carolina's just share of the $4,800,000 work relief bill.

Speaking before the annual dinner of the Eastern Carolina Chamber of Commerce here last night, Senator Bailey asserted:

"North Carolina must not be expected to provide large sums to help relieve unemployment in other parts of the country and accept a comparative trial in return."

Touching on the Morehead City port development, he said:

"North Carolina export trade must be protected. It is the only State in the Union with two great export crops. It is imperative that our foreign business in tobacco and cotton be maintained. This is a part of the philosophy of the Morehead City development."

"We must have ready measures for getting our principal agricultural products to foreign countries."

STOKES LADY TAKES LIFE

Mrs. C. L. Whitehurst Commits Suicide by Jumping in Well and Drowning

Mrs. C. L. Whitehurst, 30, of the Stokes community, committed suicide by jumping in a well and drowning at her home this morning about 11 o'clock, according to information reaching the city this afternoon.

The body was recovered about 30 minutes after the tragedy was discovered.

Mrs. Whitehurst had been in ill health for about six months and her rash act was attributed to despondency over her physical condition.

Funeral services will be conducted from her late home Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock by Rev. Mr. Davis, pastor of the Stokes Christian Church, and burial will be made in the McGowan graveyard near Reo Banks Church.

Mrs. Whitehurst was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee McGowan of the Red Oak community, and had lived in that and the Stokes section all of her life.

Surviving are the parents, her husband and one child and several brothers and sisters.

Berry Prices Best In Years

Prices are higher on the North Carolina strawberry market than they have been in years, stated S. B. Currin, of Greenville, who returned today from Wallace, where he has been on the berry market the past several days.

Mr. Currin said cold and rainy weather had caused berry blossoms to drop off, making the crop uncertain, but with improved weather conditions, the crop is expected to be good.

Farmers of the Wallace district, the heart of the early strawberry section, were reported as very well pleased with the price situation after several years of low prices.

DAINTY SERVING OF SUDS TAUGHT TO BRITISH MINERS

London.—(AP)—Dainty serving of beer and ale is being taught here in an eight-weight course for idle miners.

The graduates, at the end of this time, are given a certificate of competency—and, more important still, employment.

This represents a new kind of social work approved by the Minister of Labor. Some 300 men already have been trained under the supervision of Mrs. Ernest Estahin, the honorary organizing secretary.

In the early days of the game, did, it died with an unstained patch. It never had been heard to swear.

Late News Flashes

Senate Works on Revenue Bill

Raleigh, April 13.—(AP)—The senate today lowered the rate of the proposed tax on chain filling stations in the biennial revenue bill but rejected an amendment by Senator Johnson of Duplin to eliminate the new levy in its entirety.

Consideration of the tax measure of the senate as a committee of the whole proceeded slowly and the committee quit work after completing filling station legislative section.

Leaders had hoped for first reading passage today but it cannot be reached until Monday or later. The income tax section dealing with dividends remained to be considered.

Yesterday after four hours of debate the senate wrote into the sales tax articles continuing the present exemptions of nine basic articles of food. It was estimated the bill was close to $5,425,000 below appropriations approved by the house and awaiting senate action.

The lower rate on chain filling stations which the senate adopted were not expected to materially affect the income from the tax as a section which had proposed allowing credit on taxes paid for pumps under the levy was stricken out to compensate for the reduction. TWO HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENT

R. S. May Probably Seriously Injured in Collision on Greene Street Last Night

Two persons were injured, one probably serious, when an automobile driven by Bruce Cozart collided with another machine driven by Nash R. Joyner, at the intersection of Fourth and Greene Streets last night shortly after 9 o'clock.

R. S. May, who was riding with Joyner, was confined in the local hospital today suffering from a fractured hip and probably internal injuries. The full extent of his injuries had not been determined today, but hospital attaches said he was "seriously hurt."

Bill Edmonds and Bill Davenport also occupants of the Joyner car escaped with cuts and shock. Edmonds sustained a cut leg and was treated at the hospital, but Davenport escaped only with shock and bruises. Cozart was not injured.

Cozart was said to have crashed in the side of the Joyner machine as it attempted to cross the highway going in a westerly direction. Joyner's car was turned over by the force of the impact and May was pinned beneath the wreckage. Both cars were badly damaged by the impact.

Cozart was said to have told police he saw the other car approaching and thought it was going to stop at the intersection. When it failed to do so, he said, he was so near, the accident was inevitable.

Surviving are the parents, her husband and one child and several brothers and sisters.

Responsibility for the accident had not been determined today, but police were continuing their investigation.

LEGISLATIVE RAMBLINGS

By C. A. PAUL

Raleigh, April 13.—Members of the lower house are of the opinion that car owners ought to remain liable for the welfare of their guests when they are taking them out for a Sunday afternoon spin, or perhaps it was the hitch-hiker's lobby which exerted its influence. Anyway, when Representative Tom O'Berry, of Wayne, attempted to transfer from the unfavorable to the favorable calendar his bill which would have relieved car owners from liability for their guests in case of accident the house would have none of it. Overwhelmingly the members voted down his proposal.

After all, it is usually the insurance companies, not the car owners, who have to pay for accidents to such guests. Absent from the hall when the vote was taken was the house's No. 1 hitch-hiker, Republican Representative Bowers, of Avery, who way back last January thumbed rides to the capital city (Continued on Page Two)

HARBOR FUND FOR MOREHEAD ABOUT READY

Assurance of Agreement Between Government and Port Authority Given

Washington, D. C., April 13.—(AP)—A $1,500,000 harbor improvement program for Morehead City, N. C., was a step nearer realization today with assurance of an agreement between the port authority of the North Carolina town and the PWA administration.

Frank C. Wright, head of the division of transportation loans of the PWA has notified Senator Bailey of North Carolina that negotiations affecting the project appear to be in excellent shape. Wright said the signature of PWA and port authority officials would be affixed to the bond contract soon.

The Department is to proceed with the $1,500,000 program as soon as the $500,000 is available.

The War Department allotment is contingent upon construction of a wall and other port facilities for which the $500,000 would be asked. Assets of the Atlantic and North Carolina Railroad, a State-controlled line, will be used to secure the loan. Final difficulties of the railroad for a time had delayed negotiations of the contract, but the North Carolina General Assembly enacted clarifying legislation to hasten the work.

PRE-EASTER SERVICES TO CLOSE SUNDAY

Final Service of Series To Be Marked by Sermon by Rev. A. W. Fleischmann

The last of the series of Pre-Easter Union services which have been held at Pitt Theater the last six weeks is scheduled for tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock.

The sermon will be delivered by Rev. A. W. Fleischmann, pastor of Memorial Baptist Church. His subject will be "The Victorious Lord." Special music will be rendered by a choir directed by H. A. McDougle, featured by a number by a men's quartet.

The services are sponsored by the Ministerial Association of Greenville in preparation for the coming of the Easter season, and all churches of the city have participated.

Tremendous crowds have been on hand at each service, and the spacious auditorium has been filled to capacity on three or four occasions. Ministers of the various churches have delivered sermons in keeping with the significance of the occasion and all choirs of the city have combined to make the music as impressive as possible.

Members of the association said today they were highly gratified over the interest shown by the various denominations and commended church members for the "splendid spirit and support given the services."

Preparatory services are held each year prior to the coming of Easter but those this year probably attracted more interest and enthusiasm than all others.

Richard Nelson Passes Away Here; Funeral Today

Richard Nelson, two-and-a-half year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick L. Nelson, died in the local hospital yesterday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock after critical illness of three weeks.

Funeral services were conducted at the graveside in Reedy Branch churchyard this afternoon at 2 o'clock by Rev. J. A. McIver, pastor of Immanuel Baptist church.

Surviving are the parents, a brother and sister, Lowell and Patrick Lee, Jr., and grand parents Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Nelson of Greenville.

England Cuts Soldier Sizes

London.—(AP)—Experiencing difficulty in keeping its standing army at peace strength, England has reduced the minimum height for its infantry another two inches to five feet, two inches.

Get More For Schools Than They Pay In Taxes

Reflector Bureau

Sir Walter Hotel

Raleigh, April 13.—Eighty-eight of the 100 counties in the state receive more money back from the state in allotments for the support of the public schools than they pay to the state in taxes from all sources, including the sales tax, Senator Lloyd Griffin of Edenton, Chowan county, chairman of the Senate committee on education, told the members of the senate during the debate on the amendments to the revenue bill that would have removed the 3 per cent sales tax or reduced it to 2 per cent.

He also told the senators that 99 out of the 100 counties received more back from the state than they paid in sales taxes. Buncombe county bearing the only exception.

"There are only three ways to get the money necessary with which to carry out the terms of the State Constitution which requires the general assembly and the people of the state to maintain a free public school system," Griffin declared.

"One is to increase the taxes on all the industries, corporations, businesses, and individuals already taxed under the revenue act to make up the $10,000,000 we expect to get from the sales tax. The house and senate have already refused to do this.

"One way is to retain the sales tax which as now written will yield about $10,000,000 a year.

"The third way is to put a state tax of $10,000,000 a year back on property—if you think you can get away with it."

Since the people rebelled against the state 15 cents property tax for schools imposed in 1931 and demanded its repeal in 1933, asking for the sales tax as a substitute, Senator Griffin said he saw nothing else to do at the present time except to continue that tax unless the general assembly was willing to reduce the school appropriation back to $10,000,000 a year and go back to a four months school term.

Exports of cotton during March totaled 317,798 bales of lint and 18,287 bales of linters compared with 390,294 and 16,160 for February this year and 350,104 and 17,292 for March last year.

Cotton spindles active in March numbered 24,571,314 compared with 24,925,168 during February this year and 26,325,454 in March last year.

Although a complete check of the stolen goods could not be made it was said several suits of clothes and other garments were recovered.

Entering the back door by lifting the bar Saturday night, the boys allegedly packed the goods in sacks and left them in the basement until Sunday night when they were removed.

Police at first declared the robbery an inside job but this theory was abandoned after the first day of investigation.

COURT OPENS HERE MONDAY

Two-Week Term of Criminal Court to Convene With Heavy Docket

A two-week term of criminal Superior court will convene in this city Monday morning with Judge M. V. Barnhill, of Rocky Mount, on the bench.

The calendar of a hundred or more cases was completed the latter part of last week by Solicitor D. M. Clark, involving around a score of action for grand jury consideration.

Three or more murder cases and numbers of charges of robbery and breaking and entering are scheduled for consideration, and the two weeks are expected to be exceptionally busy.

Set for the first week, the Carson murder case originating in Bethel about two years ago is expected to highlight the term. The case has been continued from term to term because of congested dockets, but with two weeks ahead, every effort was to be made to reach the action during the first week of the sitting.

As customary hundreds of people from all sections of the county are expected to be on hand to attend the court proceedings.

SYMPTOMS: Twenty million men and women and children may be on relief rolls but latest figures from the Bureau of Labor Statistics show this year's employment in the auto industry up 20.6 per cent from last year. Watchmaking is 24.2 per cent over 1934. Workers in the jewelry business have found 18.3 per cent more jobs in the last 12 months. Manufacture of vacuum sweepers and other electrical apparatus has given work to 14 per cent more than a year ago. Radio continues to boom

OLD CWA PLAN TO BE USED IN RELIEF DRIVE

Senator McCarran Describes Action as "Greatest Fizzle There Ever Was"

Washington, D. C., April 13.—(AP)—Senator McCarran, Democrat, of Nevada, said today he understood the "old CWA plan" was going to be followed in the government's four billion dollar work relief issue.

"I understand they are going to go on the old Civil Works Administration plan," he said.

"The CWA was the greatest fizzle there ever was. They might just as well flush out the money."

McCarran was the leader of one of the hottest fights over the work relief bill in the Senate. He held the attempt to make it mandatory to pay the relief workers the same hourly wage rates received by employees in private industry should be paid to workers on permanent public buildings erected with relief money.

But Senator McCarran said today:

"It seems as though they don't want to construct Federal buildings because such construction is, too slow."

Commenting on the wage issue, he said:

"Well, they'll either have to alter the wage scale of the country or else follow the spirit of the McCarran amendment. I have always contended they are trying to tear down wage scales."

MUSIC MEET HERE TODAY

Greenville Schools Receive High Rating in District Contest at High School

The Annual District Music Contest was held in the Greenville High School this morning. The city schools had no competition, but had its contestants to sing in order to be judged as to quality.

Miss Louise Jones of the faculty of East Carolina Teachers College was judge of the contest and was high in her praise of the Greenville contestants.

In the Class C schools, the Girls' Glee Club, Farmville won without competition; Farmville won first place in the soprano solo and Bear Grass won second; in the girls' trio Roper took first place and Farmville second. In the piano solo, Fountain was without competition because Plymouth failed to show up. In the tenor solo, Bear Grass was without competition.

In the Class B schools, Greenville entered and received highest rating from the following events: Mixed chorus, Girls' Glee Club, Boys' Glee Club, soprano solo, alto solo, piano solo, girls' trio, baritone solo, tenor solo, bass solo, boys' quartet, mixed quartet, and trombone solo. The outstanding work of the morning was done by the Girls' Glee Club of the Greenville High School, mixed quartet, composed of Mildred Clark, Eoline Sawyer, D. T. Beaman, Robert Earle Clark; boys' quartet composed of Robert Muschelwhite, D. T. Beaman, James Simpson, and Robert Earle Clark; also the soprano soloist, Mildred Clark; also soloist, Helen Phelps, and piano soloist, Frances Rock. Also coming in for commendation was the bass solo Robert Earle Clark; the baritone soloist, Edward Conway, and the girls' trio, composed of Mable Beaman, Eoline Sawyer, and Helen Foley.

The High School Band, under the direction of Mr. McDougle, performed most creditably, especially in view of the fact that the band was not in existence last year, and had to start from the beginning this year. These groups will all go to Greensboro Wednesday week to participate in the State Music Contest where the Greenville High School has always won the highest honors.

The meeting this morning was presided over by J. H. Rose, chairman of this district.

GREAT RICHES

by Mabel Howe Farnham

SYNOPSIS: The marriage of James and Jane Stimson was almost on the rocks when the birth of twins changed everything—for a moment. But one twin died, and Jane suddenly withdrew into a curious world of her own, and took the child with her. She even named it for her father, whom James intensely disliked. James feels a stranger in his own home, thanks to Jane and her mother. And the surviving baby is not well.

Chapter 31 WINDFALL

THE baby, for all his care, continued an unhappy, wailing morsel of humanity. It never laughed and seemed to resent being brought even for a time into this world.

Doctor White said afterwards that he had always known the child would never live. James felt so sorry for the little fellow that he was almost glad when he died, aged five months and seven days, from lack of vitality.

It grieved James inexpressibly that his son had not lived long enough to learn how truly his father loved him or what friends they might have been. Jane tried to keep her grief her own as she had tried to keep her child all to herself.

street one dark evening with their arms about each other.

It was decided thereupon by Miss Julia and others that all of the troubles of James and Jane had been due to that difficult process known as "adjusting" themselves to each other and that now that this was successfully accomplished they would live happily ever after, quite as New Concord had expected from the first.

Miss Julia, however, had been in possession of this comforting belief only a few months when she began, like Nappy, in spite of herself to "suspect" that something was again wrong with James.

He passed her house daily going to and returning from his office. She noticed first that his shoulders were beginning to droop like those of an old man. Later it seemed to her that his eyes and manner lacked their old time assurance and there was no doubt that when she saw him to talk to he had, after the greetings, little or nothing to say.

THIS from James, who had always been bubbling over with conversation, was enough to cause Miss Julia many a sleepless hour. Not long after, she noticed with growing uneasiness that the Judge seemed worried and unhappy. A little later it was impossible to ignore the dis-things went wrong between them in spite of all his efforts.

"No man could understand," said Jane quite truthfully. James was fated never to understand.

For some reason James was made to feel vaguely guilty about the children's deaths. Mrs. Northrup hinted openly in his presence as elsewhere that the twins had inherited their lack of constitution from their grandmother on the Stimson side—Dr. Jim's beloved Molly. No matter what happened in the family, it seemed to James Mrs. Northrup managed sooner or later to lay the blame on him.

IN THE winter following little Norris' death, James had a windfall of five thousand dollars from a case he had taken on a contingency fee out of sheer weakness and kind-heartedness and never expected to win.

That five thousand dollars coming all in a lump did a great deal to restore James' waning self-respect—that and his ability to pay back to Mr. Northrup the money he had borrowed from him. Mr. Northrup, to be sure, took most of the wind out of his sails by promptly making the check over to Jane, but even so James could again hold his head up and not feel guiltily conscious every time he looked his father-in-law in the eye.

James felt so elated over his unexpected ability to make money that he took Jane East on a seven weeks' trip and spent much of what he had left in the bank—to Mr. Northrup's unmitigated disgust.

The trip, however, proved a great success and Jane came back looking and feeling like her old self, with her confidence somewhat re-established in her husband. They seemed to have ironed out most of their differences in the weeks they were away.

James was once more happy and buoyant; Jane again pretty and entertaining and willing to talk about something other than her health. Jennie Crowell reported that Jane had spoken of their trip as a second honeymoon. Miss Julia came upon the two Stimsons walking up a side-quieting fact that the old man had stopped bragging about "his boy."

In fact the Judge changed the subject more than once when Miss Julia talked of James and this latter upon Miss Julia more than anything else. He avoided her more or less for some months but one evening he came in to see her soon after supper and she knew in a moment that he was in a towering rage.

He sat for a long time twitching about uncomfortably in his chair and growling at his unhappy hostess who rocked impatiently back and forth and elaborately made conversation, while she speculated uneasily on whatever ailed the man. The Judge meanwhile listened not at all to what Miss Julia was saying and plunged into his grievances in the very midst of one of her sentences.

"That woman's ruining my boy and you know it," he burst out finally without any pretense at preliminaries.

"What woman?" asked Miss Julia a bit belligerently.

"Who else but your precious Jane who was supposed to be the only person in New Concord fit to marry him. I don't dare say a word to anyone but you, for all the fool women in this town tell each other all they know faster than they know it."

"But I tell you that that wife of James already has smashed to pieces all I worked so many years to build up. She's so afraid of spoiling him by praise that she never praises him. No matter what he does she acts like it wasn't such a much, that if she had been there she would have done a better job."

"I tried to tell her once that that wasn't the way to treat the boy but she shut her lips like a bear trap and told me in so many words to mind my own business."

"But she seems so fond of him," said Miss Julia meekly. "She takes such good care of him and runs his house so nicely. I see him coming and going to his meals like clock work. She seems to know how to manage him better than his aunt did."

COURAGE: Senator Dickinson of Iowa leads off with the new Republican plan for direct attack upon President Roosevelt. Dickinson says it's high time to quit praising Roosevelt and then condemning his acts. "If the President is responsible, why not say so?"

Of course when any Republican dares to hit FDR directly it's taken as a sign that said Republican is a candidate for President. So Dickinson is listed.

The Iowa Senator has some qualities of eligibility—the right section, a regular record, suitable age etc. His leadership qualities, however, are yet to be demonstrated. He is a plain talker, without eloquence or vivacity, and usually he comes off second best in wit-combats with New Dealers in the Senate. However, he shows courage in tackling FDR personally and holding him personally responsible for flops in New Deal legislation—and courage in Republicans is a shining jewel just now.

LEAK: Interstate Commerce Commissioners think it important that somebody somewhere is tipping off ICC stuff to Wall Street. The leak on the N. Y. Central and B. O. loans could have occurred in ICC offices or in the RFC, to which the ICC message was sent.

Orders pass through many hands to be copied, mimeographed, etc. George McGinty, secretary of ICC since the year 1 A. D., is cumbering over the office personnel, and similar action has been taken at RFC.

The ICC managed to keep secrets its order granting increased freight rates until ready to spring it. Now, unless the leak is plugged, Wall Street will know what before Senators and Representatives. That would make trouble.

FAILURE: Silver inflationists don't seem to be getting together on a coordinated program. Not so much as it was argued that the United States took the initiative in a program involving monetary use of silver coin. Freedom made would be substantially served with silver-using economies.

But recently Senator McCarran (D-Nev.) and a group of leading silver advocates, proposed repeal of the nationalization law, and taxing sections of the Silver Purchase Act of 1904. He contended the program had failed to do any of the things it was supposed to do.

Legislative Rambling

from his home, 260 miles away. Mr. Bowers on that occasion was wearing on his back a sign which proclaimed that he was thumbing as a protest against high-priced license tags for cars.

court clerks where village snoopers may read—and tell.

Following up his interest in the public schools Dr. Ralph McDonald, co-leader of the house anti-sales tax bloc, has introduced two bills which would, if passed, permit increases in the public school funds.

The first bill, an amendment to the school machinery act, would provide that county and city school boards shall use for school purposes only moneys received from fines, forfeitures, penalties, dog and poll taxes. The moneys would be used under the supervision of the State school commission. The McDonald bill provide that such funds shall be used for school purposes, and be allotted to the following purposes in the order named: General control, instructional service, operation of plants, and auxiliary agencies.

Under present law such funds are now, under a section of the State constitution, allocated for school purposes. A great deal of such funds are, says Dr. McDonald, not used directly for the schools. His bill, if enacted into law, would guarantee the use of such funds for supplemental purposes.

The second McDonald bill would permit school districts which are a part of county school districts to vote special levies for the supplementing of school funds. Under present law cities and towns or entire counties may vote school supplements, but rural districts may not.

While the first of the two bills is important in that it would provide some additional funds for schools the second measure would be far-reaching because it would be approved by the legislature, re-established as a policy the levying of ad valorem property taxes for the support of the public schools, insofar as individual districts are concerned. The State has carefully refrained from re-entering the field of property taxation since it assumed support of the eight-months school term.

Many observers of State affairs have held for some time that local supplements for school purposes will in the near future be an accepted policy in North Carolina instead of, as at present, the exception.

KIDDING: Democratic leaders of the Senate may be still wondering what interlarded mildly with their deep-laid plans on the day the $4-880,000 bill came up for a final vote. If so, they can turn an accusing eye over to the Republican side of the floor where Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan sits.

The Democratic high command was afraid a point of order was going to be raised against the bill. Vice President Garner, Floor Leader Robinson and the parliamentarian went into a huddle in the cloakroom and mapped out a plan to override every conceivable point of order. Vandenberg got wind of what they were doing.

Garner was presiding. An important emergency called him elsewhere. He sent for Senator Key Pittman (D-Nev.), carefully outlined all rulings to meet all contingencies and turned the gavel over to him.

At this point Vandenberg sent a note to Senator Bennett Clark (D-Missouri) who used to be a parliamentarian. "Dear Bennett," it read: "Will you take the chair for a few minutes?" (Signed) Key.

Clark immediately went up to the chair. Pittman was a bit puzzled but thought Garner or Robinson had sent the Missourian. So Pittman carefully turned over all the signals and the gavel to Clark. On his way out through the clock-

Social and Personal

Social Calendar

Mrs. A. H. Taft left this morning for New York to visit her daughter, Miss Frances Taft. Mr. Taft accompanied her as far as Washington, D. C.

Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Overton, Jr., and Miss Lillian Haselden of Andrews, S. C., are week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Overton.

Bridge Shower for Mrs. Tripp
On Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. D. M. Clark on Holly street, Mrs. Clark and Mrs. David J. Whichard, Jr., were charming hostesses at bridge, complimenting Mrs. Harvey Tripp, who was married last month.

A profusion of iris, tulips, weigela and spirea, with a predominating color note of pink and green, made an effective and colorful background for the bridge tables. Places were marked with Easter tallies, bearing advice to the bride, which were later collected and presented to the honor guest.

At the conclusion of the games Mrs. L. H. Bowling was given North Carolina pottery for making high score and Miss Ada James a piece of china for second high. Mrs. F. B. Haar, a recent bride was remembered with North Carolina pottery. Mrs. Tripp's gift was a vase. For each cut at each table, Mrs. Dink James, Mrs. S. L. Bridges, Mrs. W. L. Whedbee, Miss Ruth Faison, Mrs. J. L. Winstead, Mrs. J. C. Lannier and Mrs. W. S. Tyson were given bridge scores.

The hostess served a tempting salad course with tea and decorated cakes, carrying out the pink and green color note.

The surprise of the afternoon for Mrs. Tripp came, when Masters David Clark, Jr., David III, and Jack Whichard and little Miss Ellen Fort presented her with a huge nest of Easter chickens and rabbits, containing a shower of lovely miscellaneous gifts from the guests. In presenting the shower to Mrs. Tripp, Master Jack Whichard announced that there was something the "Bunny Rabbit" had found for her. Mrs. Tripp in her usual gracious manner accepted the gifts.

Miss Barr at Home
Friends of Miss Eleanor Barr will be glad to learn that she is very much improved and returned to her home from the hospital today.

Presbyterian Auxiliary
The Woman's Auxiliary of the Presbyterian Church will meet Monday afternoon at 3:30 with Mrs. Bloxton in Jarvis Hall at the College.

Miss Ruth Hillhouse will make talk on "The Place of the Christian College in the American Home."

Returns From Hospital
Friends of Miss Margaret Welch will be glad to learn that she is very much improved and has returned from Memorial General Hospital, Winston, where she underwent an appendix operation.

College Junior-Senior Banquet
The Junior-Senior Banquet, the most brilliant social event of the College year will be given tonight at the Campus Building of the College. The committees have been busy for days making arrangements and the auditorium is decorated.

In addition to the young men students and others in town, a great many young men from out of town will be here. The number expected, including members of the two classes and guests who have accepted invitations, is approximately three hundred and fifty, with about the same number of young men as young ladies.

Wins State-Wide Debate
Powell Bland, son of Judge and Mrs. D. H. Bland, of Goldsboro, was winner in the championship finals of the twenty-third state-wide debating contest held in Greensboro last night.

The Goldsboro team was composed of Powell Bland and Maurice Edwards. The question argued was whether the United States should adopt the policy extending federal aid to general public education. Young Bland is the grandson of W. M. Moore of this city and has visited him and other relatives here frequently.

Easter Cantata
The choir of Memorial Baptist Church will present to the church congregation and the public, an Easter Cantata, "From Death Unto Life," by Carrie B. Adams. The theme of the Cantata is developed as follows:

"Hail to the Lord's Anointed" is the title of the opening chorus which directed the attention of the hearers to the majesty and glory of the reigning Christ. From this picture the eye of the soul is focused upon the Cross through two selections, "On the Cross Lifted" and "O Jesus, Crucified for Man." With heart touched with the revelation of God's great provision in Christ for man, attention is then directed to the great keystone of the Christian faith, as the audience is told of the events of that First Day of the Week through the selections, "Up on the First Day of the Week," "Welcome, Happy Morning!" "A Vision of Angels," "Easter Flowers are Blooming," and "The Lord is Risen!" Thrilled with the realization of a new and abiding hope, a deeper appreciation of its glory is presented through the remaining numbers, "Behold, What Manner of Love," "Christ is Thy Strength," and "Crown Him!"

The members of the choir and its director have striven to prepare the best they can offer, and feel sure the service they will render will be conducive of spiritual uplift.

The membership of the church is expected to loyally support this special Easter Service.

Honorable J. H. Clark at College
Hon. James H. Clark, of Elizabethtown, who has served on both the Budget Committee and the Highway Commission, was the guest speaker at the Assembly hour of the College yesterday morning. He is a friend and former student of R. C. Deal. His interest in college students as the future citizens of the commonwealth and his belief that the future of America depends upon our schools and colleges, he said were the interests that brought him here to speak to college students. His talk was largely inspirational and filled with idealism and sound advice.

"Wherever there's life, there is a testing of life," he said, and he believes one cannot avoid temptations, but by meeting them and knocking them out one lives up to his best. He expressed great faith in the youth of today and their ability to meet temptations and difficulties, and he believes they are earnestly trying to seek out truth. Choosing and thinking he gave as two of the main things in life, and he urged the young men and women before him to choose wisely and think honestly. He furthermore warned them against an inferiority complex, saying they should think well of themselves, but should make themselves worthy of their own good opinion. Sometimes people rely too much on human guidance, leadership while they should also seek divine guidance leadership. His closing advice was to honor God, subscribe to the truth, be gentlemen and ladies, stick up for the right, always consider honor, be loyal, true and human.

Birthday Party
Master Clayton Harris entertained a number of friends Wednesday afternoon, celebrating his eighth birthday.

The dining table was centered with a beautifully decorated cake, on which was placed eight candles. It was surrounded by pink and white dogwood, which were flanked with green and white tapers. Music and games were enjoyed, then the guests assembled in the dining room where they were served delicious ice cream, cake and candy. Those forming the party included: Ann Cox, Joyce Birley, Virginia Bingham, Gladys Regan, Bratha Regan, Gladys Tyndall, Virginia Stocks, Betty Low Sand, Elizabeth Crawford, Edna Bean, D. L. Carson, W. C. Stocks, Mary Elizabeth Ross, John Bunch, Howard Harris and Donald Harris.

Drama Study Group To Meet
Miss Mary H. Greene of the English Department at the College, will read Men in White, by Sidney Kingsley, before the Drama Study Group at Ragsdale Hall on Monday evening, at 7:30. This play, in nine intensely moving scenes, presents the inside life of a hospital. Every lover of the drama is invited to hear the reading, the last of the series of Pulitzer prize plays given by the Drama Group.

Leaves for Indianapolis and Boston
Dr. W. M. B. Brown left this morning for Indianapolis Indiana to attend the Indiana University School of Medicine for a two weeks' intensive Anatomical and Clinical course in Otorhinolaryngology under Dr. John F. Barnhill and the members of the staff of the Indiana University school of Medicine. From there he will go to Chicago to attend the Asthma Clinic of Dr. Burton Haseltine.

Winner in Poetry Contest
Contests in the writing and poetry, one-act plays and short stories were held in connection with the Community Fine Arts Festival held here the past two days.

On Thursday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock Mrs. Selma Carson Moore, in charge of the poetry contest announced that a number of admirable poems had been submitted to her and to Mrs. Leo Burks in this contest and that after careful consideration, the judges, Misses Emma Hooper and Lucile Turner of the English Department of the College had given first place to Eva Berry Harris, (Mrs. W. C. Harris) for her poem "Finality" and that Sara Pickett Johnson's (Mrs. B. McK. Johnson's) poem "The Tack" had won second place.

Mrs. Harris happily responded that while she neither wrote for competition nor for critics, it was very gratifying to her to have won first place in the poetry contest but, as she herself was giving the prize she, of course, could not accept it, therefore, it gave her pleasure to present the beautiful volume of American Lyric Poetry to Mrs. Johnson with the hope that she would continue her love for poetry and her interest in writing it. Mrs. Johnson expressed surprise and delight in accepting the prize. The winning poems were then read.

Mrs. K. T. Futrell, chairman of the one-act play committee, announced she had received only two plays "College Comrades" by Luna Wothington, of Ayden, and "The Family Album," by Augusta Wray, of Charlotte. The latter was a very fine one-act play, technically correct and charming, quite worthy of being produced on any stage, but while read with interest and delight, could not be considered for competition because of distance, the contest being confined to Greenville and Pitt County. The judges ruled the former was not in reality a one-act but a four-act play and while the writer showed talent and promise and deserved encouragement, no prize could be given for the reason stated above.

Mrs. R. L. Powell, chairman of the short-story contest announced that three stories only had been submitted, "The Green Witch" by Anne Gaskins, Greenville; "Silver Angel," by Florence Dudley, Potosius, and "A Trip to Mars," by Luna Wothington, of Ayden. These were considered fine stories for such youthful writers and the committee wished to thank each of them for their interest and their submissions but, as the purpose of these contests was to discover true talent and to develop skill and artistic expressions in each of these literary fields, the judges deemed none of these stories quite worthy of a prize. It is hoped these young ladies, each of whom show talent, will work hard and will be ready to submit stories next year which will show more skill and development in the writing of a true short-story.

The Round Table
Bethel, April 13.—An interesting meeting of The Round Table was Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. B. Bunting, with a large number of members and visitors present.

The president, Mrs. J. A. Staton, presided over the meeting. After a short business session, interesting current events were given.

Rev. F. L. Loftin of Duke University was guest speaker. He gave a very inspiring talk on music, after which he sang, "Pal of My Dreams," accompanied by Mrs. Henry Staton. Special guests were: Rev. O. H. Long, Mrs. M. K. Blount, of Greenville; Rev. L. D. Haymon, of Nashville, and Rev. F. L. Loftin, of Durham.

Mrs. Bunting was assisted by her little daughter, Mary Wells and Mrs. L. F. Andrews, Jr., in serving dainty refreshments.

Winterville P. T. A. Meets
Winterville, N. C., April 13.—The regular monthly meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association was held April 9th at 8 o'clock in the school auditorium.

After the usual devotionals the minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary.

Mrs. S. C. Carroll, Mrs. M. T. Speers and Mrs. McCoy Tripp were elected officers for the coming year. A beautiful solo: Just a Wearying for You and I've Done My Work, were rendered by Rev. R. F. Pittman of Ayden. Supt. Ward presented Rev. W. A. Ryan, pastor of Christian Church of Greenville, who made an interesting talk.

The prize cake was won by a member of the faculty, Miss Jessie Roland Brewer.

City Pre-School Clinics
The Pitt County Health Officer, Doctor Ennett, following a conference with Mr. J. H. Rose, Superintendent of City Schools, has decided to hold pre-school clinics in the white schools of Greenville according to the following schedule:

Third Street School—10:00 a. m. Monday, April 15th.

West Greenville School—1:30 p. m. Monday, April 15th.

Training School—10:00 a. m. Tuesday, April 16th.

Tuesday, April 16th.

The pre-school children will be given a physical examination by the health officer and will be vaccinated against smallpox.

The parents will be notified of such defects as need correction, and it is the hope of both the health officer and the superintendent of schools that the parents will have these defects corrected before the child enters school, otherwise the child may lose much time from school and have to repeat the grade.

At the time of the clinics, babies from six months to three years of age will be vaccinated against diphtheria. The health officer urges all those who can afford it to have the vaccinations done privately.

HANG-OVER NO. 2—SPIRITUOUS DRINKS
Raw liquor actually sears the stomach linings, pickles the stomach. The system cannot function normally with such a condition. Hang-overs and other punishment follows. It is better to avoid this pickling by mixing the liquor with plenty of 7-Up, or using 7-Up on the side. Failing to do this, drink a glass or two of 7-Up the "morning after." The acid is neutralized—stomach is purified and nature restores harmony. 7-Up is not just another soda. There is no substitute for 7-Up.

7-Up sold wherever Bottled Drinks are sold. Order a case today from your grocer.

Court Rules Against Keer-Smith Act
Louisville, Ky., April 13.—(AP)—Federal Judge Charles I. Dawson today held unconstitutional the Keer-Smith act regulating tobacco crop production.

The action was on the suit of Penn Brothers, Fayette county growers to enjoin United States District Attorney Mack Swinford and internal revenue collector Seldon R. Gleen from enforcing the law.

The tax was the first test of the law heard by any court.
Holding a temporary injunction unnecessary, Dawson ordered $7,000 in taxes impounded by the pending litigation to be returned to the Penn Brothers.

The law imposed a tax of 25 per cent on the sale price of the 1934 crop on all tobacco growers without contract with the Secretary of Agriculture and 33 1-2 per cent on the uncontracted portion of the 1934 crop.

Last year the government collected $3,000,000 in Keer-Smith taxes half of which came from Kentucky.
"It is impossible for anyone who has any respect for constitutional limitations to contemplate this law with complacency," Judge Dawson wrote.

"It is the plainest kind of an attempt to accomplish an unconstitutional proposal to pretend to exercise constitutional powers. The farce used to hide the named unconstitutionalities of the act was fabricated from the taxation and commerce clause of the constitution but neither Congress' reputation of purpose of declarations of policy nor the formal draft of statute is conclusive in the court."

Judge Dawson declared the legislation must be condemned when plainly on its face it showed that admitted constitutional powers were invoked for the "primary purpose of regulating matter beyond the control of Congress."

He said that neither the title of the act nor in the declaration of purpose is there a word about taxation. He added that its terms disclosed beyond question that what is sought to be regulated and controlled through taxation is the production of tobacco.
Congress had not authority to control production, he added, as this is intra-state business.

Washington, April 13.—Agricultural officials said today they would continue with the program for 1935 under the compulsory tobacco control measure pending an immediate appeal from the Louisville federal court ruling holding the Keer-Smith act unconstitutional.

Department of Justice attorneys said no official decision to appeal the case had been made by legal experts in the Department of Agriculture and asserted they would urge that it be appealed to the Circuit Court of Appeals. It is the first test of the Keer-Smith act.

RAIN BREAKS UP KIWANIS-BETHEL BASEBALL GAME

With the score standing 12 to 12 a torrential downpour of rain came along in the sixth inning and broke up the baseball game between the Greenville Kiwanis Club and Bethel High School at Bethel yesterday afternoon. Both teams were going strong with the willow when Jup Pluvius stepped in and called the tray off.

Jimmy Barrett had a perfect day at the bat, cracking out three singles out of three trips to the plate. Wilson Davis also came in for part of the batting honors with an average of .667. He also was credited with fielding honors of the day by making a running one-hand stab of a drive labeled for the circuit.

"Twist" Matthews, flashy Kiwanis shortstop, had a day off at bat, but redeemed himself by several brilliant plays, one or two of which resulted in runs.
Donald Conley pitched steady ball for the clubmen, but was handicapped by damp, cold weather and adverse decisions.

Troop 30 Holds Weekly Meeting

The Boy Scouts of Troop 30 held their weekly meeting at the Rotary Building on May 12, at 7:30 o'clock.
The meeting consists of the following things: Announcements by Pollard, secretary's report, treasurer's report, and patrol meetings. Captain Teel introduced by Thornton Ryne, told us some stories about boat trips. Then we had wrestling between Pollard and Bracy for the troop championship won by Pollard, who also holds the boxing championship. We had a game called slap the duck directed by Alton Johnson, won by A. T. Denton, and a rock throwing contest won by the Ravens. The meeting ended with the repeating of the scout oath and law.

The baseball standings are:
Eagles 1 0 1000
Hawks 1 0 1000
Fox 0 1 0
Raven 0 1 0
CLIFTON EVANS, Troop Scribe.

Approximately ninety women hold licenses as amateur radio operators in this country.

New York Cotton

New York, April 13.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened firm, nine to eleven points advance in response to higher Liverpool cables and on trade buying.
Advances of twelve to thirteen points which carried prices into net high ground for the movement met considerable realizing and there were reactions of a few points with the market steady at the end of the first half hour.

Futures closed very steady, fifteen to eighteen points higher.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, April 13.—(AP)—Wall Street's baby boom showed further signs of growing today as the utilities stepped up in the sack market to vie with the metals for leadership. Other sections of the list also moved ahead at a more sedate pace and the activity broadened. The closing was firm.

Transfers approximated 725,000 shares.

Speculative sentiment experienced considerable overnight improvement and the news was generally considered constructive. There were minor profit-taking flurries in the brief session, but these had little other effect than to turn the market down.

Most stocks ended around the top for the day. It was one of the liveliest sessions since last December.

After some hesitancy at the start, wheat rallied to a new high for the season of around $1.02 a bushel. After some hesitancy at the start due to realizing new high for the season of around $1.02 a bushel were registered by wheat in the morning. Cotton also pointed upward. Other commodities were better. Bonds were rather steady. Foreign exchanges were unexciting, although gold currencies eased.

Public Wedding Crowning Feature Exposition Tonight

Plans are all set for the double wedding tonight at the Exposition which will be the crowning feature of the week. Rehearsal was held today for both couples, and everything is ready for the big event.

The stage will be beautifully decorated with all kinds of flowers and an orchestra will be used for the grand wedding march which will start between 8 and 9 o'clock.

One of the couples are from this city and the other happy couple lives on Route 2, Greenville. After the weddings and acts, a big dance will be held in the ball-room, starting at 10 p. m. and lasting until 12 o'clock midnight, sponsored by sixteen young ladies and using a Greenville orchestra. The dance will feature both of the happy couples.

Louisburg To Play Teachers Here Monday

On Monday the Trojans of Louisburg College will play the Pirates of East Carolina Teachers College here. This game was originally scheduled to be played last week, but due to a wet field, the game was postponed. So far this season the locals have won three games, tied one and lost two. In a double-header this week the locals were victorious in both games over William and Mary College of Norfolk.

Eithed Stowe or Dunn will pitch for the Pirates in the contest Monday. Avers will complete the battery. Weldon, the ace of the Louisburg team, will do the pitching for them.

The Pirates, under the coaching of Doc Mathis, have shown much improvement since the beginning of the season. The game will be played at the college field at 3:30 o'clock. This promises to be a real ball game.
