METER BILL DRAWS MUCH DISCUSSION

Measure Calling For Inspection of Gas
And Electric Meters
Before Solons

Reflector Bureau
Sir Walter Hotel

Raleigh, April 23.—There is actually much more interest than has been publicly shown in the proposed bill to provide for inspection of meters through which consumers buy electricity, gas and water. E. L. Sanford, secretary treasurer of the North Carolina State Federation of Labor, said today in commenting on House bill 814, which is being considered by a subcommittee of House Judiciary committee No. 1.

"When you go to a butcher shop to buy a pound of steak, you can read the scales (which have been tested by a state agency) and see for yourself that you are getting a pound of steak and you are satisfied. When you go to the post office to buy a number of stamps, you may count the number of stamps you receive, and be certain you get your money's worth, and no questions asked. When you go to a bank to get some change, you may count your change for yourself and again be certain that you get all that is coming to you, and again are absolutely satisfied.

"But when you look at your meter unless you have had special instructions, you cannot tell what you are receiving or what you are paying for. The average consumer of service sold through meters doesn't know how to determine his bill from the meter and when for one month he received an electric bill for say $2.34 and the next month, using what appears to him to be an almost identical amount of electricity he receives a bill for $3.88. He feels that there is something sadly wrong with either the meter or the company furnishing the juice. In such cases, whether he is justified in his conclusions or not, he feels that both are wrong and that he is being ripped off, and under present circumstances, he has to take it and like it.

"It is believed that nine out of every ten consumers of electricity, gas and water at some time during a period of a year, feel that there is a discrepancy one way or the other. In the meters now in use and that every month or so they are being overcharged. This is no charge that the public service companies are dishonest, but rather that meters are not dependable for the reason they are mechanical in operation, and because they are required to pay for this service according to the reading of the meters, then they should have some guarantee as to the correctness of the instructions.

"The utility companies claim that their meters are following complaint, tested on instruments owned by the company, in the company's own laboratories, and that this is ample assurance as to the correctness of such meters. If there is a suspicion on the part of the consumer that the measuring instrument (meter) is out of order or inefficient, then there would also be the suspicion that the testing instrument itself could be similarly incorrect. For this reason it is the desire of the consumer that a state agency be charged with the specific duty of testing the instruments in which measure the service dispensed when the consumer wants to know what he is getting and what he pays for and it is more than likely that the demand for this meter inspection service will continue until it is adopted. This bill will assure the consumer accurate meters and provide more adequate testing of all meters.

"Public service companies also point out that the number of consumer requests for meter inspection is extremely small and claim for this reason there is really no demand for meter inspection service. The reason the demand for meter inspection is so small is because the consumer knows the company furnishing the service is the one who will furnish the instruments for and the employee to do the measuring, and under such circumstances any decision as to the correctness or incorrectness of a meter would still be greatly questioned by the consumer.

Rotes Elect New Directors

Last night the Greenville Rotary Club elected the board of directors for the coming year consisting of J. H. Blount, L. A. Stroud, Bill Lee, Labrum Spence, and Gerald Mitchell. Herbert ReBarker, past year's president, automatically becomes a member also. The officers for the coming year will be elected next Monday night.

TOLEDO AUTO WORKERS OUT ON A STRIKE

First Shift at Chevrolet Plant Walkout When Refused Higher Pay

Toledo, April 23.—(AP)—Parts of the first shift of 1,100 men at the Toledo Chevrolet plant went on strike this morning after the company had refused union demands for increased wages and signed contracts.

Fred Schwake, representing the union auto workers, said that 600 men quit their jobs. Workers who refused to quit were sent home by Hugh Dean, in charge of the plant operations. There were no disorders.

Dean announced that the plant would be closed indefinitely. The plant normally employs about 2,500 men.

NEW AIR BILL FACES OKAY

Measure For Creation
Of Federal Department
Certain to Get
Committee Approval

Washington, D. C., April 23.—(AP)—A bill to create a Federal Department of Air was pointed toward almost certain approval today by the House Military Committee over bitter protest of the Army and Navy.

Leading committee Democrats predicted—and a survey of the membership backed them up—that the committee probably will vote two to one for the measure.

Introduced by Chairman M. Swain of South Carolina, the bill would place the Army Air Corp and aviation activity of the Bureau of Air Commerce under a new cabinet officer designated as Secretary of Air.

At the same time it would strengthen the personnel and flying equipment of the Air Corps.

The committee is about ready to close its hearings on the bill and begin working it over in executive session. First though, several army infantry officers are to be heard perhaps this week in opposition to some air corps promotion features.

From generals and admirals down through smaller luminaries the committee had heard the War and Navy Department arguments against the bill. They have contended that the establishment of a separate air department is premature and would complicate the coordination of defense operations and would mean unwarranted expense and inefficiency.

BITTER FIGHT RAGES AROUND AAA PROGRAM

Blow Struck by Two Democratic Senators
Emphasizes Severity
Of Battle

Washington, D. C., April 23.—(AP)—Blows struck by two Democratic Senators emphasized today the controversies raging around legislation wanted by the AAA.

The fight which already has continued for months over proposed amendments to the Agricultural Adjustment Act was intensified by the charge of Senator Byrd, of Virginia, that Congress was being asked to "NRA the farmers of America."

Meanwhile, Senator Bailey, of North Carolina, aimed an amendment at the heart of the billion dollar bill to aid farm tenants which has drawn the support of farm administration officials.

If the Bankhead measure is passed as it now stands, said Bailey, "we might just as well make a clean sweep of it and send for Dr. Townsend to run the government."

The bill would provide $1,000,000,000 for loans to help tenants and share-croppers become independent farm owners. Bailey's amendment would strike out authorization for a billion dollar issue of government bonds to finance the program, leaving only $500,000,000 initial capital to be taken out of the appropriation voted recently for work relief.

RUSH LABOR TO BERRY FIELDS

Relief Officials Take Steps to Meet Demands of Growers in Eastern Carolina

Raleigh, N. C., April 23.—(AP)—State work relief officials today took steps to supply Eastern Carolina growers with laborers in harvesting their crops after reports had reached Raleigh that relief workers have asserted they would rather stay on relief than work in the strawberry fields.

Mrs. Thomas O'Berry, State Administrator, said only a small number of the men who refused to work at Wilmington, were on relief.

She added that "those on relief rolls are often afraid to take temporary jobs for fear of losing their places on relief rolls."

LEGISLATIVE RAMBLINGS

By C. A. PAUL

Clerk hire alone for the Legislature is now, and has been for many weeks, costing the State $562 daily, as long as the session lasts. Not are Sundays deducted in figuring their pay checks. The Senate, the smaller of the legislative bodies by virtue of its membership of 50, has more employees than the House with its 120 members. The Senate employs sixteen clerks and the following may checks add up to $245 daily. There employed are the following number of persons and their daily pay: printed bills department, four at $5 each; principal clerk's office, sixteen at $5 each; engrossing office, ten at $5 each; pages, ten at $2.50 each; sergeant-at-arms department, one at $5; four at $3 each; laborers, eleven at $2 each; committee clerks, nine at $4 each. Total, $245 daily.

The same statistics for the House of Representatives are: secretary to the Speaker, one at $5; principal clerk's office, eight at $5; pages, twelve at $2.50 each; sergeant-at-arms department, one at $5; five at $3 each; laborers, eight at $2 each; engrossing office, sixteen at $5 each; committee clerks, seven at $5 each. Total, $226 daily.

In addition, there are two legislative librarians who receive $5 each daily. Sixteen others employed in the enrolling office at $5 each daily, and the chief enrolling clerk who receives $6 daily. Enrolled bills are those which become law.

These calculations do not take into account other expenses such as printing paper and supplies. Those items of expense vary from time to time, but the clerk hire is a constant factor.

Before the end of the session many employees will have drawn more pay than the Senators and Representatives themselves by reason of the fact that they get paid as long as the session lasts. An employee drawn (Continued on Page Five)

3,045 DEAD IN FORMOSA EARTHQUAKE

About 3,045 persons lost their lives when a violent earthquake shook Formosa, Japanese island off the coast of China. Twelve thousand other persons were injured and property damage was heavy. Hundreds of persons were trapped in flimsy dwellings which crumbled as they slept. Pictured here is a typical village on the island, showing the poorly constructed houses. (Associated Press Photo)

BIG CLIPPER SLOWED DOWN BY HEADWIND

Giant Pan American
Seaplane Making
Slow Time on Return
Trip to Alameda

Alameda, Cal., April 23.—(AP)—Headwinds of near gale force tore at the wings of the giant Pan American clipper as it forced its way steadily toward Alameda today to complete the first round trip flight ever made between California and Hawaii.

Steadily increasing to a velocity of 35 miles an hour the headwind slowed the powerful four-motored seaplane down to a speed of less than 100 miles an hour. Buffeted from her takeoff by cross winds and head winds the clipper did not reach her normal cruising speed of 150 miles an hour during the first 12 hours of the 2,400 mile return trip.

At 6 a. m. a m. (EST) the giant monoplane was flying into a 34 mile headwind 1,477 miles out of Honolulu. She had an altitude of 7,200 feet, 1,200 feet above a solid cloud bank which obscured the sea.

LAKE MICHIGAN GIVES CHICAGO 'DUST STORM'

Chicago, (AP)—It isn't dust in their eyes that's causing Chicago's south siders to complain this spring—it's "dusty" coffee.

And it isn't a thing to do with the dust storms that have been ravaging the west either. The "dust" here is coming from the back ridged waters of Lake Michigan, storm-tossed for weeks.

READY TO GO TO MUSIC MEET

High School Musicians to Leave Tomorrow for Statewide Contest

Musicians of the high school will leave tomorrow for Greensboro to take part in the state wide music contest to be held there during the latter part of the week.

It was said today that approximately 75 youngsters would make the trip and take part in the various contests. They will be headed by J. H. Rose, superintendent of schools, Miss Ona Shindler, director of public school music, and J. A. McDougle, director of the department of instrumental music. Several members of the high school faculty will also attend.

For the past several years Greenville has won considerable recognition in the various contests and similar honors are expected this year.

The youngsters have been preparing for the Greensboro trip for sometime now and plan to offer stiff competition for the scores of towns and cities participating.

The music club showed up to splendid advantage in its initial appearance here several days ago and those who heard the youngsters are expecting them to come off with more laurels than ever this year.

WARNER FREED BY COURT TODAY

John Warner, local theatre operator and sign painter, was this afternoon set free in superior court here of a charge of robbing the safe deposit box of S. T. Hooker in one of the local banks of approximately $8,000 early last year. The theft was discovered by Mr. Hooker on visiting his safe deposit box last April and all the money but $300 was later recovered by local police and returned to Mr. Hooker.

No further action was taken in the case until the grand jury in October returned a true bill against Warner charging him with the theft.

Hearing of the case was begun in court here today and following presentation of evidence by the prosecution, Judge M. V. Barnhill directed a verdict of not guilty on the grounds of insufficient evidence.

EXPECT LEAF CHECKS SOON

Additional Batch For $20,000 Given Final
Okay by Office at Washington

The prospects were today that $20,000 in additional tobacco adjustment checks would be in the hands of local farmers within the next several days.

It was stated at the Farm Department today that 76 of the 132 additional checks due growers of this county had been approved at Washington and probably would be here in the next several days. This information was conveyed to the local office through Raleigh, although the date of the delivery of the checks was not determined.

The Raleigh office, it was understood, had asked Washington to okay the remaining 56 checks and speed them to local growers as soon as possible.

The Farm Office about three weeks ago delivered checks for $465,000 to the growers of this county who took part in the government's tobacco curtailment program. Only two of the checks remain uncalled for. The Farm Department said notices had been mailed out to the owners but they had not been returned.

The rush for the adjustment payments was the greatest ever experienced here. Hundreds of people milled about the office for an entire week awaiting their turn to obtain their payments.

The payments to Pitt County are the largest of any other county in the State by reason of the fact that this county is the largest tobacco-producing region in the world and has more growers engaged in the industry.

E. F. Arnold, director of the local department, said today that notices would be mailed out to farmers immediately upon receipt of the additional batch of checks.

RUSH RELIEF TO FORMOSA QUAKE AREA

Food, Water and Medical Supplies Carried to Stricken Inhabitants

Taihoku, Formosa, April 23.—(AP)—Relief agencies experienced in dealing with earthquake disasters rushed food, water, and medical supplies today to remote sections of northwest Formosa devastated by Sunday's catastrophe.

The problem of supplying water to stricken sufferers became of primary importance as a tropical sun parched the tongues of the stricken inhabitants and added to the hazardous spread of disease. Scarcely a pipe line or reservoir was left undamaged in the entire stricken area.

Hasty repair to the shattered railroad line leading from here to Tainan and the north enabled relief workers and physicians to speed to the interior with welcome stores of water, food and blankets.

The latest official casualty figures which it was believed would be substantially increased as soon as the full extent of the damage is determined, gave the number of dead at 3,152 and a total seriously wounded at 10,406. Damage was estimated at $3,000,000.

Neck Broken In Auto Accident

Goldsboro, April 23.—J. W. Mitchell, 31, of Reidsville, is in the Goldsboro hospital with a broken neck, but is expected to recover.

Mr. Mitchell and three companions were returning from the coast, where they had been on a fishing trip, Sunday night, when their car was in a wreck, the details of which were not learned except that the car was turned over. Mr. Mitchell was brought to the hospital here, accompanied by his companions. Examination showed that the sixth and seventh cervical vertebrae of the neck were fractured. His companions had only slight bruises or abrasions, and did not remain in the hospital.

COMPROMISE: The Veterans of Foreign Wars have been behind the Patman bonus bill which passed the House with such a whoop, singlehandedly among the major veterans' organizations. The American Legion sponsored the defeated Vinson bill and took it on the nose.

All things being equal, and all veterans wanting their bonus money, administration wire-pullers figure Senator Pat Harrison's bill will serve as a final basis of compromise. WARREN RAPS HIGHWAY FUND OPPONENTS OF DWINDLING A S TAX ON COTTON SOLONS DRAW

North Carolinian Says
Campaign for Cheap
Cotton in Speech on House Floor

Washington, D. C., April 23.—(AP)—The House today heard a bristling "no compromise" answer based on statistics furnished by high administration officials to those who would do away with the cotton processing tax.

Bitterly assailing critics of the tax, Representative Warren, of North Carolina, said in a speech on the floor, that the fight being waged by New England interests against the levy was an attempt to "sabotage" the AAA program by "ripping out its most vital parts."

"Stripped of non-essentials," Warren said, "the campaign was a drive for cheap cotton," and he predicted that if it were successful there would be "an uprising of farmers without parallel in this nation's history."

Warren said that Representative Edith Nourse Rogers, of Massachusetts; Treadway, of Massachusetts; Gifford, of Massachusetts; and Martin, of Massachusetts, sought to blame all the ailments of the textile industry on the processing tax."

FRED POWELL IS NOT GUILTY

Carpenter Charged
With Kidnaping and Assault Freed by Criminal Court Jury

Fred Powell, local carpenter, was found not guilty of kidnaping and criminally assaulting Miss Addie Creech, young woman described as under 16 years of age, in the criminal court of Pitt County Superior Court here late yesterday afternoon.

The case, begun yesterday morning, was received by the jury about 4:30 o'clock. The decision was returned about an hour later.

The kidnaping and assault was alleged to have taken place last June. Powell vigorously denied the allegation from the outset. He remained in jail here several days, after being taken into custody, being later released under bond.

Two actions were disposed of during the late afternoon, both involving charges of violation of the prohibition law.

Charlie Jones, colored, of Fountain, charged with selling whiskey, was sentenced to six months on the roads.

Ernest Moore, colored, also of the Fountain community, charged with selling whiskey, was sentenced to eight months on the roads.

Court continued delving into the heavy docket today with indications that tonight would find quite a number of additional cases cleared away.

Poison Fatal To Charlotte Man

Charlotte, N. C., April 23.—(AP)—B. Frank Duncan, 41, president of the Southern Business University here died today from a dose of poison which he took in the office of the company.

Duncan, who had been married four times, faced a charge of bigamy brought by his third wife. His daughter, Miss Gertrude May Duncan, 19, said he had been worried over his forthcoming trial.

when the measure was up in the House.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars, numerically smaller but said to be gaining steadily in membership, are in a key position. They can take credit for the Patman bill, which would pay off at once in greenbacks and therefore they and their Congressional allies are preparing to dictate terms of any compromise between House, Senate and White House.

Most of it presumably has been worked out already or Senator Harrison would not have put in his alternative bill. Harrison saw President Roosevelt a dozen times on the bonus question before putting anything on paper.

$5,290,000 Already
Scooped From Road
Funds by The State Legislature

Reflector Bureau,
Sir Walter Hotel.
By J. C. BASKERVILLE
Raleigh, N. C., April 23.—This General Assembly has already scooped $5,290,000 from the State Highway fund and reduced the amount available for secondary and primary road maintenance by that amount. Chairman Capus M. Waynick of the State Highway and Public Works Commission pointed out today. For if the House concurs in the Senate amendment to the revenue bill to divert $1,790,000 a year to the general fund from highway revenues and the Senate passes the automobile and truck license reduction bill back in the Senate for concurrence, this General Assembly will have either diverted or reduced highway revenues by $5,290,000 a year, or $4,290,000 a year more than is being taken from the highway fund at the present time. This leaves only about $19,000,000 a year of highway revenue in sight with which to meet a highway budget of $25,000,000 a year.

"The reason this General Assembly has been so liberal with the highway revenue either in diverting it to other uses or in giving it back to automobile and truck owners, is because they have been blinded by the so-called highway fund surplus," Waynick said. "This in reality is not a surplus, but merely the amount held back from maintenance by the 1933 General Assembly, but which should have been for maintenance the past two years. Every dollar of this money, which by July 1 will amount to between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000 is now needed to bring the roads, principally the secondary roads, back to a good condition. It is a fact that in 1933, when the General Assembly has decreased the highway revenues by more than $5,000,000 a year, it will be necessary to close all of this credit balance the next two years with which to supplement regular revenue for maintenance, or else continue to let the secondary or country roads go with minimum maintenance and get worse and worse. For every dollar taken from the highway revenue is being taken from highway maintenance, especially secondary road maintenance, since the debt service Federal and and other operating items remain fixed and cannot be reduced."

Youth Killed By Hit-Run Driver

Wilmington, N. C., April 23.—Clinton Hewitt, aged five, son of Alton Hewitt, of Supply, Brunswick County, died this afternoon in a Southport hospital of injuries received this morning when he was struck by an automobile as he watched his playmates board a school bus at a point on the road near Shallotte.

The car, estimated as traveling about 50 miles an hour, did not stop after striking the child. The driver was described as a white man and his car was a dark coupe.

Falls From Window, Instantly Killed

Blount, 55, negro, was instantly killed late last night when he fell from a second-story window at the home of his cousin, Vernon Ward, on the old Hertford road.

The negro lost his balance in throwing a bucket of slop from the window of his relative. He was 4 feet 4 inches tall and somewhat comical in his appearance.

Bandit Gets $65 At Gas Station

Sanford, April 23.—Saturday night about 9 o'clock, an unidentified white man entered the filling station of W. A. Bingham at Trantway, four miles west of Sanford, on Highways 1 and 75, held up Reuben Gunter, an employee, at the point of a pistol, and robbed the cash register of approximately $65 in cash.

Gunter was alone when the man entered upon the pretense of making a small purchase. Drawing his pistol, the man covered the attendant while he rifled the register. He then made a hasty get away across the nearby fields. Officers were summoned and given a description of the robber, and clues now are being investigated.

FLYE APPEALS FOR SUPPORT OF BALL CLUB

Charles R. Flye, secretary-treasurer of the local club of the Coastal Plain League, today made the following appeal in behalf of the club:

No doubt that on the streets, thru the columns of this newspaper, and possibly elsewhere you have seen in print or heard talk of base ball in Greenville. Our board of directors is composed of men who have played base ball, men who have boys now playing ball in our community, and of men that love the other fellow's boys and enjoy seeing them play the old game. These men have arranged to give the fans among us a much higher type of base ball than we have had before. All the clubs in the Coastal League will be stepped up this year which will mean that we will all enjoy base ball better. Of course this means that expenses are going to be higher, the players as the directors have already learned are going to have to be paid more salary than heretofore, and naturally it is going to take more money to do this. We believe the gate receipts will be more this year, but we know that the money taken in at the gate is not going to pay the expenses for the year, therefore we must come to you for contributions. Most people who were asked to help us last year did so willingly and we believe felt like their contribution was justified.

We realize that there are those who would like to make contributions to help us get started, that possibly we will not be able to see personally, and for that reason I am asking that you either call the secretary of the club or any member of the board and your contribution will be called for, or if you care to you may mail check direct to the secretary of the club. We are going to have committees out in the next few days, and in the mean time we want all those who are in sympathy with the movement to be thinking and decide what they can give, also keeping in mind that it is going to take a considerable amount in addition to the expected gate receipts to pay our way this season.

New Players Are Added To League Club

Officials of the local club of the Coastal Plain League announced today the employment of three new players.

They are George Barley, of the pitching staff of Duke University; McCloud and Boozer, outfielders of Alabama University.

Barley is one of the crack hurlers of this season's Duke club, and is expected to make a great showing for Greenville during the coming season. He is considered Duke's ace mound artist, and has already been given the okay by a big league club. McCloud and Boozer will come to Greenville with the recommendation of "Hank" Crisp, formerly of Falkland, but now coach at the Alabama college. "Hank," a former player in this section of the country, advised officials here that both men are of the stellar type of players and should turn in a good record here this season.

It was stated that several other men were under consideration and probably would sign-up during the latter part of the week.

Plans for financing the club this season have already been worked out and the community is being called upon to subscribe liberally. This matter will be taken up more fully at a meeting to be held during the latter part of the week.

Sundown Stories

The Rocking-Horse

By MARY GILHAM BONNER

WILLY NILLY had fixed up his place while the ducks had been away on their trip, and now that they were back and had plenty to do in spring-cleaning their pond and talking about the trip, Willy Nilly thought he would have time to attend to his sticking-out, pointed ears.

The lamb had found a pleasant field in which to play and rest. Top Notch was busy keeping his general store in order and waiting on his bird customers. Christopher Columbus Crow was doing a bit of thinking about fields soon to be planted, and the bears were off on marketing trips every day.

Willy Nilly felt that at last there would really be time for him to see about his ears.

He was just about to start for the next village when Jupiter Bear came running heavily along.

Jupiter was certainly growing up rapidly and getting quite plump. "Willy Nilly, Willy Nilly," he called, "while we were taking a long, long walk around the next village we saw an old dump and in it were some parts of automobiles, and a rocking-horse."

"Oh yes," said Willy Nilly, without paying much attention.

"We don't want the parts of the automobiles, but we'd love to have the rocking-horse. You know how we bears love to play. Won't you get it for us? It has been thrown away, honestly and truly."

Willy Nilly could hardly refuse the bears this pleasure when he had taken the time to build a boat for the ducks. He walked along with Jupiter Bear and saw the rocking horse lying in a dump.

It was quite true that the rocking horse had been thrown away. Willy Nilly picked it up and carried it along, with Jupiter Bear trudging happily by his side.

It was quite hard and quite awkward to carry the rocking-horse and Willy Nilly was tired when he reached home. Blacky Bear, Jelly and Honey Bear, Christopher Columbus Crow, Sweet Face, the lamb, Top Notch, the rooster, and Rip, the dog, had all come along.

"I'll put it out here in front of the house," said Willy Nilly, "and you can all play as much as you like."

The rocking-horse only had one ear. Part of his mane was gone. There were a few cracks in his two front legs and his back legs were almost without paint.

But he was a gay looking horse in spite of these shortcomings, and best of all he could be ridden.

"Let the smallest ones ride first," suggested Willy Nilly, but as the ducks had just had a trip they told Christopher Columbus Crow and Top Notch to have the first rides.

Back and forth they rocked, both sitting on the horse at the same time.

"Get up," cried Christopher. "Get up," cried Top Notch.

Then the ducks had rides, and Sweet Face, the lamb rode, too, but he did not stay on long, for Rip was urging to be allowed to try.

But Rip rocked so hard that he fell off. Then they made Willy Nilly get on. He was a splendid rocking-horseman!

New Pontiac Cuts Glare In Driver's Eyes

Although Pontiac engineers had beauty of design in mind when they adopted the "V"-type windshield and devised the distinctive Silver Streak grille radiator and hood it has been demonstrated by scientific tests that the combination of grille and sloping windshield actually has reduced glare and reflection in the driver's eyes by 50 per cent.

The tests which were made by an independent organization in no way connected with Pontiac or General Motors employed the use of a powerful light and a photo-electric cell or "electric eye." In this way any variable human factor was eliminated.

The "electric eye" was placed inside the front compartment at the approximate position of the driver's eyes. Then a 1,000 watt light, was located above and ahead of the car corresponding to an early morning or late afternoon sun, a position that is most distressing to a driver.

The experiment was conducted with a new 1935 Pontiac and with a car with a plain lacquered hood and straight type windshield.

The light intensity reading on the "electric eye" when the car with the lacquered hood and straight windshield was used was .10 or 1-10 of a foot candle.

The same test applied to the new Pontiac with its chrome grille and 31-degree angle "V" type windshield gave an intensity reading of only .05 or 1-20th of a foot candle, which means 50 per cent less glare than that recorded in the first test.

These scientific demonstrations indicate how fully the glare and reflection have been cut down in the new Pontiac cars. In the opinion of the investigating company the parallel grille bars and the "V" windshield together shatter the glare and diffuse the blinding rays.

Additional protection from glare and reflection has been assured Pontiac owners by setting all side windows at a slight angle and the rear windows of the sedan models at a 31 degree angle.

SMOKE OF WAREHOUSE FIRE OVERCOMES 200

Dense clouds of acrid smoke from a warehouse fire on the Brooklyn waterfront overcame more than 200 persons on both sides of the East river. Service on one subway line between Manhattan and Brooklyn was halted for three hours. Five hundred firemen were called out to battle the blaze which ate its way for hours through stored rubber, creosote and paper. (Associated Press Photo)

This youth movement in tennis seems to be gathering momentum every day. The United States Lawn Tennis Association makes no secret of the figure in the coming Davis Cup matches.

The Eastern Association took a vital step forward when it set aside a sum of money to use in establishing a system of free tennis instruction for promising boys up to fourteen.

Junior players in the East have Valentine Ely, chairman of the Junior and interscholastic committee of the Eastern Lawn Tennis Association, to thank for this help. As the result of Ely's persistent demands the development of Eastern boy players is being placed on a sound basis.

The plan is to give instruction to fifteen of the most promising youngsters twice a week during June and July, at the Somerset Hills Country Club at Bernardsville, N. J., and the Manursing Island Club of Rye, New York.

Likewise commendable is Mercer Beasley's announcement that his protegee, Frankie Parker, would not be a candidate for the United States Davis Cup team because his time would be taken up with his studies.

The Beasley Proposition
It was nine years ago that Beasley took Frankie to his guardianship on the strength of two arguments:

(1) That he'd make a man of him, physically, mentally and socially.
(2) That he'd develop the youth into a world's top ranking tennis player.

Beasley appears to be well on his way to fulfill those promises. Those who know Frankie's home life in the Beasley household realize that he and Beasley enjoy a father-and-son relationship and that Mrs. Beasley treats him as a member of the family. Frankie has studied diligently at Lawrenceville school in New Jersey, where he is a senior.

In tennis the youth has come a long way. Under Beasley's tutelage he returned No. 4 ranking nationally last year. If Parker is of Davis Cup timber he'll have ample time to show it later on.

Parker's case in some ways parallels an incident which occurred at the tryouts for the 1934 Olympic games. Sabin Carr, a youngster attending Hill school, astounded the committee by earning a place on the squad in the role when his mother refused him permission to accompany the team.

The boy was so young, his mother contended, to make the trip abroad. She did not wish to have the youngster's educational program interrupted.

There would be other Olympic games and his chances of winning international honors would materially improve with maturity.

Carr went on to Yale and found time to win about every possible pole vault honor.

Sometimes we lose the proper sense of proportion where international sports competition is concerned. We should take pride in the athletic achievement of our youth and foster their development but not at the expense of wrecking the foundation of a career of useful endeavor by interfering with their schooling.

Ask about the Low Cost of HIGH-POTASH FERTILIZER

Cotton never Rusts WHEN WELL-FED WITH POTASH

WHEN you use sufficient NV POTASH to prevent RUST you usually greatly increase your yields. Yet the cost of the extra potash amounts to only a few extra pounds of seed cotton per acre. Here is what Mr. David T. Pitts, of Clinton, S. C., says: "This year I will use 8-4-6 (PNK) fertilizer since the extra potash in this will cost me only 87 cents more per ton over 8-4-4, or about 17 cents per acre. Then, I will use potash with my nitrogen at top-dressing time. Its extra cost is a small amount to pay for rust insurance and yield assurance."

If you have been using a fertilizer containing only 3 or 4% potash, ask your fertilizer man about the small extra cost of a similar mixture containing 8 to 10% potash. Figure out what it will cost you per acre to use the higher-potash fertilizer. Find out how much extra plant food you are getting at such extremely low cost. This will probably represent the best investment you have ever made.

Select and use the fertilizer that is well-balanced with 8 to 10% NV POTASH. Where RUST was very severe, it will also pay you to top-dress, when you chop out, with 200 pounds of NV High-grade 20% Kainit, or 100 pounds of NV 50% Muriate of Potash per acre. Remember, NV POTASH not only prevents RUST; it also helps control Wilt and produce vigorous, healthy plants, with less shedding, larger bolls that are easier to pick, and better yields of uniform, high-quality lint. NV POTASH PAYS!

When you buy straight potash or potash in mixed fertilizer, it pays to make sure you get genuine NV POTASH—the same potash that has helped Southern farmers to produce better crops for 50 years.

Exposition Report The exposition held in the Harris warehouse, owing to the inclement weather, and the special attractions both by the theatre and other groups was unsuccessful as reported by Capt. Stratford of The Salvation Army today. The exposition suffered a loss of $140 but all bills have been paid by Mr. Roberts owner of the exposition. Everything connected with the exposition was of the best and all acts were better than those shown by the average exposition. Many special features were included in the nightly programs and two of the outstanding ones were the play put on by Miss Dimbergers Dramatic Club over at the college, and several recitations by the high school band. Mr. Roberts stated that "he quite often had the privilege of hearing high school bands play at his expositions but Greenville had the best he had so far come in contact with."

First Church of Christ, Scientist "Doctrine of Atonement" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all churches and societies of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, April 21, 1935.

The Golden Text was from Hebrews 9:28. "Christ was once offered to bear the sins of many; and unto them that look for Him shall He appear the second time without sin unto salvation."

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "And Jesus went about all Galilee, teaching in their synagogues, and preaching the gospel of the kingdom, and healing all manner of sickness and all manner of disease among the people. And his fame went throughout all Syria; and they brought unto Him all sick people that were taken with divers diseases and torments, and those which were possessed with devils, and those which were lunatic, and those that had the palsy; and He healed them. And there followed Him great multitudes of people from Galilee, and from Decapolis, and from Jerusalem and from Judea, and from beyond Jordan." (Matt. 4:23-25).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Jesus taught the way of Life by demonstration, that we may understand how this divine Principle heals the sick, casts out error, and triumphs over death. Jesus presented the ideal of God better than could any man whose origin was less spiritual."

Drifting Gently Down the Tides of Sleep

Here all the sights are veiled by the clouds

That bide the verdure of the sparkling waters.

Hide in the canoe that bobs gently to and fro,

Drifting gently down the tides of sleep.

Hidden in the wind that rocks two lovers

As they drifted gently down the tides of sleep.

Lulled on by the rustling wind, as the canoe,

Dips up at the moon to peep.

Hidden every now and then by clouds, in the moon;

Trying to lift the veil to peer through,

At the jeweled lake that sparkles so mild,

As the boat bobs to the rhythmic touches of the breeze!

Down the water that wends like a blue ribbon

The canoe gently drifts onwards,

Where moonbeams are hidden by sweeping willows,

Where, thou driftest gently down the tides of sleep.

Chamber Offers Essay Prize

Essay writers who are familiar with Eastern Carolina's advantages will have an opportunity to win $750.00 in cash prizes that are being offered by the Eastern Carolina Chamber of Commerce for the best fifty-three essays on "The Advantages of Living in Eastern Carolina," according to a statement made to this paper by Secretary N. G. Bartlett, today. The first prize will be $350.00; second prize $100.00, third prize $50.00 and fifty prizes at $5.00 each. The contest is open to any white person living within the forty-six counties served by the Eastern Carolina Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Bartlett stated that interested parties should communicate with him at Winston, or W. W. (Bill) Lee, Greenville, immediately for full particulars.

High school pupils are especially urged to enter this contest. Secretary Bartlett stated, but the Secretary emphasized the statement that no essays be written until full particulars are learned from the officials of the organization. Entries will close May 15th and all essays must be in by June first. This contest ought to bring out some of the many reasons why Eastern Carolina is a good place to live, in the opinion of the officials.

AWARD JUDGMENT ON CLAIM OF DISABILITY

Goldboro, N. C., April 23.—Ira F. Aycock was awarded in Wayne Superior Court the past week judgment of approximately $1,000 against the Jefferson Standard Life Insurance Company.

The plaintiff held a $5,000 policy with the defendant company, and had been receiving disability compensation for about three years until 1933. He alleged that he was still disabled as a result of a rheumatic condition, and brought the suit to force the company to pay him compensation for the time which had elapsed since the payments stopped.

Washington, D. C.—How far the self-described "spare tire of the government" intends to go in his latest bid for a greater share in the business of legislation is a question only "Cactus Jack" Garner himself can answer.

Garner so characterized the Vice-Presidency when he took it over at the beginning of the present administration.

There are few observers in Washington, however, after watching the activity of the ruddy-faced Texan for the last two years, who will agree that Garner is a "spare tire." Certainly his announcement to the Senate that in the future he expects to "exercise some discretion in the matter of selecting conferees when the Senate authorizes him to make the appointments" belies such a title.

He is the first Vice-President to discover that the rules of the Senate empower him to do more than the duty imposed upon his office by the Constitution—preside over sessions of the Senate and vote in cases of a tie.

Knows Parliamentary Law Insiders credit the conference deadlock on the work-relief bill for Garner's move. Four out of the five Senate conferees on this measure were opposed to the bill. It was to prevent a possible recurrence of this sort of things, they say, which prompted Garner to announce the course he intended to pursue in the future.

It strikes deeper than that, however.

For more than thirty years Garner has been a student of the rules of both House and Senate. In that time he has become a parliamentarian of recognized authority and a keen analyst of inter and intra party political situations.

The result was that he discovered in the Senate leadership authority for active participation in legislation which no preceding Vice-President ever sought to exercise.

Was Leader As Speaker "Cactus Jack" went to the Vice-Presidency from the Speakership where he had in one session of Congress opportunity to put all his parliamentary and political experience into play. As Speaker, Garner wielded more power than any man to hold that position since "Uncle Joe" Cannon prior to his fall in 1909.

As Speaker, he was the actual if not the titular Democratic leader.

Then came his shift to the other side of the Capitol where he found himself merely a parliamentarian deprived of a share in both debate and strategy. It was an unusually distasteful position for a man like Garner.

However, since March 4, 1933, he has silently, almost invisibly, worked himself into the leadership of the administration forces on Capitol Hill to a remarkable degree.

Toady Washington suspects, but does not know definitely, that he is a more influential adviser at the White House on Congressional strategy than any of the other administration leaders on Capitol Hill.

The foreign possessions of Germany swept away by the treaty are: Cameroon colonies, divided between France and the British Empire as mandates; Togoland, which went to Great Britain as mandate; East Africa, to Great Britain and Belgium as mandate; southwest Africa to the Union of South Africa, as mandate; the Marshall Islands which became mandates of Japan; Samoa, mandatory of New Zealand; New Guinea, mandatory of Australia; Neuvin, mandatory of Great Britain; and Kiaochow, a territory in the province of Santung seized by Japan during the war. LETHAL GAS BILL SURE TO BECOME LAW

Author of Measure Recounts How Men Died in Deadly Gas Chamber

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel.

By C. A. PAUL.

Raleigh, April 23.—Twenty-three murderers and rapists now awaiting death on North Carolina's Central Prison's famed death row would have been free—free to have walked the streets of their home towns—if someone had not discovered a technical error in the lethal gas bill which would replace the state's electric chair with a lethal gas chamber. The bill has already passed the lower house and appeared in the senate where it has no opposition. It was placed on the calendar after being reported favorably by the senate penal institutions committee. Just before it was reached Senator Arthur Corey, of Pitt, discovered that the bill would go in effect immediately after being passed, leaving no provision whatever for the 23 condemned men on death row, because the lethal gas law would have outlawed the electric chair.

All 23 men now awaiting death were sentenced to die in the electric chair. Thus, had the lethal gas bill become law the state would have had no option, would have been forced to unlock their cells, let them go free. Now being drawn by the penal institutions committee of the senate, to which committee the bill was re-referred, are a series of amendments which will provide that the 23 men now on death row must die in the electric chair. After that, of course, the lethal gas chamber will be used. The bill is assured of passage by the senate. There was only one vote against it in the lower house.

North Carolina's electric chair, in which 150 men have gone to their deaths, is 25 years old. It was in 1909 that the legislature replaced the hangman's noose with the then-modern chair. That same chair has been in use ever since. Worn and outmoded, the state would have to purchase a new chair unless the chair is outlawed. Spectators and newspaper men who witness electrocutions have for some time complained of the stifling stench of burnt human flesh which accompanies the coursing of 2200 volts of direct-current electricity through the victim's bodies. The reason for the stench is that the chair is ancient and, as a result, the process is slowed. South Carolina's official executioner recently declared after witnessing an electrocution in Central Prison's cubbyhole of death that he kills condemned men twice as rapidly with his modern chair.

According to Dr. Charles Peterson, house member from Mitchell county, and who is an M. D., death in his lethal gas chamber will be instantaneous. He is the author of the bill, and came to the legislature for the sole purpose of introducing his measure after making an extensive study of methods of administering capital punishment. He is opposed to capital punishment, but believes that the most humane method should be employed if it is retained as a weapon by the state. According to Dr. Peterson this is what will happen after his bill becomes law:

A chamber, preferably of brick or stone, about eight feet square will be constructed at Central Prison. In the center of the chamber will be placed a chair (perhaps the old electric chair) where men condemned to death will be strapped. Under the chair will be placed an earthen jar large enough to hold about one gallon. When a condemned man is led to the chair he is securely strapped. In the jar is placed three pints of ordinary water and three pints of sulphuric acid. The mixture is allowed to stand for ten minutes to heat. While it is getting hot, which it does because of chemical reaction to the air and water, prison attendants will leave the room, seal the door. The chamber is then virtually air-tight. After the ten minutes have elapsed the executioner will pull a lever which will be outside the chamber. By that act he will cause, by means of a simple mechanism, 15 one-ounce cyanide eggs to be dropped into the mixture in the jar. Instantly a gas known as hydrocyanic acid gas is generated. Lighter than air and the most deadly gas now known to man, the invisible gas rises to the nostrils of the condemned man. With the very first whiff comes unconsciousness and sudden death, caused by complete paralysis of the nerve centers of the respiratory organs and the heart.

The general machinery act, which sets forth the manner in which the various taxpayers, especially the corporations, must make their returns and list their taxes both to the counties and the State, is now before the Senate Finance Committee having been referred there after it was passed by the House as amended. The House adopted the amendment by Representative McDonald of Forsyth, re-inserting in the act Section 603, omitted from the new act, which provides for the allocation of corporate excess back to the counties by the State Board of Assessment.

In this section is left out of the act, it is estimated that the counties, cities and towns will lose between $50,000,000 and $100,000,000 from their tax books within the next year or two, although it will not mean that the State government will lose any revenue, since the State levies no property taxes. For under this section, every domestic corporation is required to submit a detailed financial statement to the State Board of Assessment, which the board checks carefully with the amounts listed by the corporations in the various local units. If the amount listed does not accord with the amount which the board thinks these corporations should have listed, they instruct the local tax officials to increase the valuations listed to correspond with the board's figures.

For the past five or six legislative sessions the larger corporations, especially the textile and power interests, have been trying to get this section removed from the machinery act, but have never succeeded. The House Finance Committee left the section out entirely, but the House caught the omission and adopted the McDonald amendment, putting the section back in the bill, knowing that if it was left out and local tax rates would have to be increased to make up the difference. It is expected that the Senate Finance Committee, under pressure from the corporations, will remove the McDonald amendment and seek to get the bill passed without this section in it. But the Senators from the non-industrial and rural counties are expected to insist that the section be put back into the bill in order to prevent a shrinkage in corporate property valuations.

Not even the most optimistic of the Republican doctors expect their medicine to accomplish a party recovery overnight.

It is not that they believe anti-administration sentiment is lacking among the voters. Many of them—though not all—are convinced the country is turning definitely away from Mr. Roosevelt. The problem which worries them is how to capitalize that defection.

The conferences now being held and those soon to be held are of two kinds—both looking to the long future.

Some of these meetings have behind them a well-concealed plan to promote the candidacy of one or another of the Republican Presidential aspirants.

Others represent a more disinterested effort to find out what is wrong with the party and what can be done to accomplish something resembling unity in 1936.

It would be a mistake to suppose that any of the "how-to-be" held at any time within the next few months will be at all conclusive. They are not so intended. It is too early for that.

Inevitably, at every gathering, two principal issues arise. The No. 1 bothersome question is, almost universally, just how conservative the G. O. P. can afford to be in next year's campaign.

Should the party continue to play the role of constitutional conservatism, attack all that Mr. Roosevelt has done as visionary, unsound and socialist, and kiss the western Republican radicals goodbye? Or should it rely on compromise measures, and try to be conservative enough to carry the East but liberal enough to have a chance also in the West?

No. 2 question has to do with Mr. Hoover, who recently has undertaken to reassert his party leadership. Should he be encouraged, or would it be better if the party divorced itself very definitely from the memory of the Hoover regime and from any prospect of carrying a Hoover label in 1936?

It will surprise many Republicans if either one of these questions is answered with any degree of finality for months to come.

Possible Candidates

The same can be said of Presidential candidates. The field is so large and confused, and the nomination date so far away, that few experienced politicians will even predict who the three or four leaders will be by the time the convention meets in June, 1936.

Whatever list is made up today must be on the basis of present activity only, not on the basis of known prospects.

On such a list, for the time being at least, must be placed Mr. Hoover himself. It is well understood he would accept if urged, and that his friends are feeling out sentiment in his behalf.

There is a noticeable activity on behalf of Col. Frank Knox, the Chicago publisher, particularly in the South and Mid-West. In fact, at this stage, the campaign for him seems as well organized as any He disavows connection with it.

Many Republicans believe the Hoover strength, whatever it amounts to, will go eventually to Ogden Mills of New York, who was Mr. Hoover's Secretary of the Treasury.

Many others believe a compromise inevitable, and are talking of Senator Arthur Vandenberg, of Michigan, as the most likely beneficiary.

Wait and See

The work being done on behalf of others is less noticeable, but that need not mean that they can be disregarded. Often the final weeks of the pre-convention campaign, or even the convention period itself produces the winner.

In spite of all the talk, the whole party situation inevitably must remain very much matter of wait-and-see.

By relieving constipation before serious illness develops, Theodor's Black-Draught enables thousands of men and women to keep at work, or to enjoy recreation. It tends to establish regularity of bowel movements.

BELIEVE ACCUSED MAN NEEDS MENTAL TREATMENT

Washington, April 23.—(AP)—The case of Thomas A. Pope, charged with the theft of an automobile, was continued late today by Judge L. M. Mackins in Federal Court here.

after the district attorney concurred in a defense petition that the defendant be allowed to make arrangements to seek mental treatment. The district attorney said he felt Pope was more in need of treatment than punishment.

HANG- OVER NO. 4—OVER WORK

"That is a laugh, these days of short hours and little work" say some. But over work is common even now. As one weakens, toxic conditions begin. Nature tries to throw off this waste but without the proper strength is unable to do so. 7-Up with its quick burning inverted sugar gives power to the muscles. The cleansing, purifying effect of CO2 loosens the toxic waste, the water sluices away. Workers need 7-Up, but be sure it is 7-Up. 7-Up sold wherever Bottled Drinks are sold. Order a case today from your grocer.

New York Cotton

New York, April 22.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady, unchanged to five points lower on disappointing Liverpool cables which were offset by trade and commission house buying.

Prices in the first hour pointed to below yesterday's closing quotations with July selling at 11.58.

At midday July was selling at around 11.45 with active months showing net losses of three to five points.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, April 23.—(AP)—The stock market burden shifted to the shoulders of the metals and rails today and the new leaders apparently had settled quietly in breaking the trail to future higher levels.

At the same time a number of the recent sharp gainers took a rest as others were subjected to a little profit taking which shaded prices moderately.

Bullish sentiment still predominated and realizing was well absorbed.

The activity was not quiet so pronounced as in the morning session.

Equities received no help from commodities, wheat and corn sagging on rain news. Bond edged forward quietly.

Far Eastern currencies were strong but others did virtually nothing.

The late tone was slightly irregular. Transfers were 1,200,000 shares.

Late News Flashes

ferences were to meet late this afternoon to consider amendments or the naming of conferees.

Friday the house had voted to send the measure to conference if it arrived during the Easter recess.

Exempt Nine Food Articles

Raleigh, April 23.—(AP)—The senate this afternoon again reversed its position on the sales tax article of the biennial revenue bill and voted to exempt nine basic articles of food from the three per cent retail levy.

The action was taken on a 22 to 18 vote not counting two pairs.

The nine exemptions were written into the bill by the senate administration wishes that the list but cut to five last night. The nine articles are lard, flour, meal, milk, molasses, salt, sugar, coffee and meat.

New Liquor Bill Reported

Raleigh, N. C., April 23.—(AP)—A substitute liquor bill proposing State-wide referendum on the establishment of a State-wide system of whiskey stores if twelve of more counties vote wet, was favorably reported to the House today by its Finance Committee.

The liquor bill came as a surprise its drafting having been kept a secret, and was to replace the Day measure which had proposed a three way referendum with voters expressing first and second choice on retention of prohibition, a State store for selling liquor, a licensing of liquor dealers.

In the meantime the Hill liquor store bill already debated at length reposed on the Senate calendar with a prejudice label from the Senate Finance Committee.

The original bill called for a State-wide referendum, but its proponents are also offering the alternative of county elections with twelve counties voting before it may be set up.

Warned of New Taxes

Washington, April 23.—(AP)—Congress was warned frankly today that if any bonus bill is passed the treasury will recommend a new federal inheritance tax to raise from $200,000,000 to $6,000,000 a year.

This notice came from Secretary Morgenthau, who appeared before the senate finance committee and said that any sending bonus proposal would call for additional taxes.

He testified after American Legion representatives and rejected a compromise and demanded full cash payment.

The senate refused again today to recommit the Bankhead farm tenant aid bill. The bill survived three attempts to emasculate it with defeat of the move to strike out its billion dollar bond authorization. Three amendments proposed by Senator Bailey of North Carolina were rejected 45 to 29.

With Easter visitors still thronging the capital the house met at the noon recess today to receive from its appropriations committee one of the largest peacetime bills in history—calling for an expenditure of $459,523,761 in the 1936 fiscal year.

Processing Tax Attacked in Court

Boston, April 23.—(AP)—The constitutionality of the Agricultural Adjustment act was attacked today before the full bench of the United States Circuit court of Appeals by the receivers of the Hoosac Mills Incorporated.

Bennet Sanderson and Edward R. Hale, counsel for the receivers, claimed in the arguments that the act on which the federal government is depending for a million dollar in revenue which to control commodity production confer a power that could not be delegated constitutionally to an administration officer.

In presenting his arguments before Judge Scott Wilson, of Portland, George B. Graham, of Manchester and E. V. Morris, Hale said this was the first court of appeals test of the much discussed cotton processing tax.
