Mrs. Misheimer on Stand in Alienation Of Affections Suit at Charlotte

Charlotte, N. C., May 9.—(AP)—Ann Cannon Reynolds Smith today was quoted in her former husband's alienation of affections suit against her father, Joseph F. Cannon, as asking friends fifteen minutes before her marriage. "Why am I doing this?"

The witness, quoting the textile fortune heiress as asking this question shortly before her marriage to F. Brandon Smith, Charlotte real estate broker, was Mrs. E. H. Misheimer, wife of a Concord physician and old friend of Ann and her father, a Concord business man.

Mrs. Misheimer, pretty young blonde, said that prior to the marriage Smith had said he and Ann had agreed on the relation of his small income to hers, and he asked: "Don't you think we can make a go of it?"

"I certainly hope so," she said she replied.

She said Brandon then remarked:

"Well, if we don't there's Reno for her, but there won't be any million dollars this time."

The reference was to the $1,000,000 settled on Ann and her small daughter by Smith Reynolds, Winston-Salem cigarette fortune heir, and her first husband when they were divorced.

Testimony earlier in the trial brought out that Smith himself had about $200 a month and Ann $600 a month when they married.

LAUD NURSERY
SCHOOLS HERE

State and Federal Relief Supervisors Inspect Work in Local Institutions

Nursery schools conducted with federal funds in connection with the local school system were given high praise by state and federal relief officials who were the guests here yesterday of J. H. Rose, superintendent of schools.

In addition to inspecting the work of the schools and improvement program to buildings, the visitors were guests of Mr. Rose at lunch at the high school cafeteria at noon.

The visitors were Dr. Grace Langdon, of Washington, D. C., supervisor of nursery schools of the federal government; Miss Mamie Scarborough, state supervisor of nurseries; Dr. J. Henry Highsmith, director of instruction of the State Department of Education; E. C. McIntosh, in charge of relief education, and Miss Carrie Wilson, of Nashville, N. C., district supervisor of nurseries.

Two nursery schools are conducted in Greenville, one at West Greenville school and the other in the colored schools. They employ a total of 25 teachers, 8 white and 17 colored.

After going through the West Greenville school which is located in a wing recently constructed with relief funds, Dr. Langdon expressed opinion, it was said, that the school was one of the best she had seen. Others expressed approval of the fine type of work being accomplished under the direction of Mrs. Elliott.

Mr. McIntosh confined his attention largely to the inspection of new school construction accomplished with CWA and FERA funds. The total amount of work done here was said to have cost approximately $25,000.

In addition to the out-of-town visitors enjoying lunch with Mr. Rose there were Dr. L. R. Meadows, president of East Carolina Teachers College, and Wyatt Highsmith, unit chairman of relief teachers of Greenville.

Mr. Rose expressed appreciation today of the favorable comments made by the visitors. He said much good was being accomplished through the nursery schools and urged the hearty support of the community in its success.

ARREST NEGRO
IN FAG CASE

John Dunbar, Wanted In Robbery of Freight Car, Arrested in Belhaven

John Dunbar, colored, was held in jail here today in connection with the alleged theft of twelve cases of cigarettes from a freight car of the Norfolk Southern railroad about a month ago.

The negro was arrested in Belhaven Tuesday night and was returned to Greenville yesterday to await trial.

A true bill was returned against the prisoner in a previous term of Superior court.

Boston McNeil, colored, held in connection with the same case, was given hearing in the last term of criminal court here and was sentenced to four years on the roads.

Seven cases of the stolen cigarettes were recovered by police but the remainder were believed to have been disposed of by the negroes in other sections of the country.

Dunbar probably will go on trial at the next session of criminal court. He is charged with breaking and entering and robbery.

Walter McKeel Arrested For Theft of Auto

Walter McKeel, local young man, was arrested in Elizabeth City early today on a charge of stealing an automobile and will be returned to Greenville sometime today to face preliminary hearing.

Police said the young man, about 20 years of age, stole an automobile here last night belonging to W. W. Lee and immediately left for Elizabeth City. He was picked up there about daybreak and officers here were immediately notified.

Officers said the youth was arrested here about four years ago on a charge of starting a fire in Gorman's warehouse, but he was not convicted of the charge. He later was arrested in Wilson for allegedly entering a cafe, but was released and returned to Greenville.

FOREIGN. A private report prepared by Department of Commerce statisticians will afford no comfort to apostles of scarcity when they scan it. It reveals graphically what the crop-and-cattle curtailment has meant in terms of increasing imports. Despite Hawley-Smootish tariffs several nations are profiting handsomely from our domestic shortages and high prices for foodstuffs.

The report contrasts imports for the first quarter of 1934 and 1935. Meat products, fresh and canned, leaped from 11,029,000 pounds in 1934 to 24,618,000 in 1935. Tallow from 162,000 pounds to 8,538,000. Grains, raw and processed, jumped from $3,212,000 worth to $16,572,000 to measure it another way. Wheat by-product feeds increased from 17,950 to 86,851 tons. Cottonseed oil due to the short cotton crop, was imported to the extent of 47,574,000 pounds. In the same period in 1934 we did not buy a drop abroad.

But Secretary Wallace can say: "Tomatoes." The figures on that vegetable show that the drought was partially responsible for these foreign purchases. Although there was no tomato curtailment program we imported 49,882,000 pounds as compared with 28,824,000 in 1934.

PROFITS. Oddly enough, the three countries which profited richly from this shift in world trade—Great Britain, Argentina and Mexico—have inaugurated New Deals of their own. But they haven't tried to improve upon nature.

Canada and Mexico sent us all the cattle we had to import. Canada Mexico and Argentina supplied our emergency needs for wheat, corn and barley. The farmers of far-off Poland and Danzig, Rumania and Latvia ought to feel kindly toward Secretary Wallace. They sent us great gobs of barley and rye.

Britain's possessions profited heaviest from shipping us cotton, now a threatening political issue in both raw and manufactured form. Egypt and the British Indies can

Francis J. Gorman Outlines Plan to Special Cabinet Committee on Capital

Washington, D. C., May 9.—(AP)—Francis J. Gorman, organization director of the United Textile Workers, suggested today that the government give temporary relief to the mills.

Meanwhile, Secretary Roper, chairman of the cabinet committee which is inquiring into demands of the manufacturers that the processing tax be removed and Japanese imports restricted, announced that international trade would be watched closely.

"The proper appraisal of our international credit system," he said "leads to the inference that the present foreign trade policy of the government is sound, that every effort should be made for the further promotion of reciprocal trade treaties and destructive merchandising policies."

"Mills left the East to exploit labor in the South," he said, "finding no resistance in their attack on wages, they went into the market and practiced the most vicious cut-throat methods. When they destroyed the wage structure in the industry they automatically ruined the price structure and there was no limit to this vicious cycle."

"Finally they threw up their hands hopefully and appealed in their desperation to the administration and the President to lift them out of the economic pit they dug for themselves."

Gorman said the administration did not supply assistance at a time the mills showed profits.

Commissioners of Agriculture of 13 States Plan Recommendations to Roosevelt

Birmingham, Ala., May 9.—(AP)—Agreement on a plan to recommend to President Roosevelt and Secretary Wallace for continuation of the new deal cotton program was the announced purpose today of a meeting here of commissioners of agriculture from the thirteen cotton States and cotton growers and shippers.

The plan of the meeting was set forth by Robert Goode, commissioner of agriculture in the industry in Alabama. It was a continuation of the Jackson, Miss., meeting which went on record several weeks ago in favor of the processing tax attacked by the textile manufacturers.

Goode said the Jackson meeting added to its program the continuation of the processing tax or some other suitable means to provide earnings for the farmer to overbalance the tariff on products they purchase. He added the sessions today and tomorrow were to reach plans for recommendations to the President and Secretary Wallace.

The action was taken after the court determined that allegations of the plaintiff were not sufficient to sustain his pleadings. He was given thirty days in which to file new pleadings.

The case was begun yesterday shortly after court reconvened from lunch and the plaintiff completed presentation of evidence about 11 o'clock this morning.

The plaintiff contends he did not receive credit for all he paid on the land, but Dr. Nobles insists that the negro not only received credit, but owed considerably more than he ever paid.

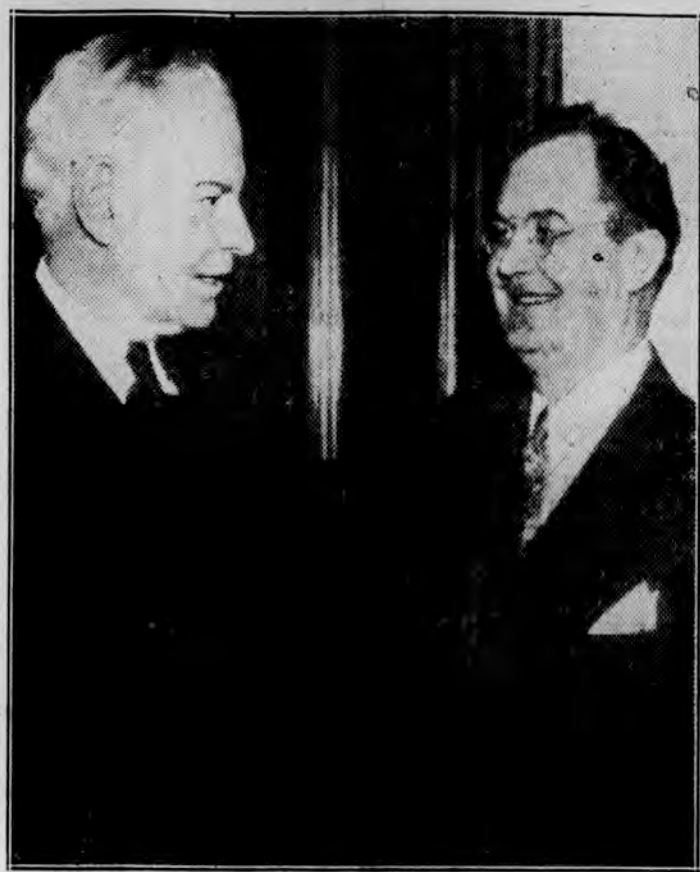

Argument was begun shortly after completion of testimony this morning. All of yesterday afternoon and part of the morning was consumed in the taking of testimony.

Court convened here Monday with their 9-o'clock cases on its calendar, with indications that the major portion would be completed by the end of the week. Three or four cases described as "snags" have already been cleared from the calendar in addition to several compromises.

The session is scheduled to end tomorrow afternoon.

It will become law on ratification. The measure sets no limit to the alcoholic content but the fermentation must be natural action of fruit juices.

Senate vote on the measure was 28 to 13 and the house approved it with a second reading test vote showing 45 for the bill and 38 against. Both branches gave loud favorable vote on third reading.

B. J. Lewis Given 30 Days in Which to File New Pleadings in Civil Case Here

The jury was withdrawn and mistrial ordered today in the case of B. J. Wooten, colored, against Dr. J. E. Nobles, of Greenville, in which the plaintiff sought to recover land which the defendant sold under mortgage about ten years ago.

The action was taken after the court determined that allegations of the plaintiff were not sufficient to sustain his pleadings. He was given thirty days in which to file new pleadings.

Technical Causes of Wreck of PWA Airliner in Missouri Asked by Coroner Jury

Macon, Mo., May 9.—(AP)—The extended inquiry of a small town corner's jury into the crash of the PWA airliner today brought the demand from the body that the Department of Commerce make a "full and complete investigation of the probable technical cause of the accident which resulted in the loss of five lives."

While the Federal agency made ready to open its inquiry, physicians abandoned hope for the life of Paul Wing, Hollywood, one of the survivors.

Wing, the father of Toby Wing, the actress, suffered severe chest injuries when the "sky chief" crashed near here Monday morning. All the others were reported improving.

The jury after questioning twenty witnesses found that "the pilot was flying his plane close to the ground without turning on his landing lights which said plane was equipped."

His report also showed that the association paid out $41,000 in dividends during the year 1934 and that the association's earnings were 7.11 per cent, which was the highest earning for the past several years.

The Home Building and Loan Association at the present time has approximately a million and one-half shares in force.

National Guardsmen To Fire Salute Over Graves of Confederate Dead

Preparations virtually had been completed today for the observance here tomorrow of Confederate Memorial Day.

J. C. Lanier, Code Administrator of the loose leaf tobacco warehouse industry, will deliver the principal address at exercises to be held at East Carolina Teachers College.

The exercises are sponsored by the George B. Singletary Chapter of United Daughters of the Confederacy and members of that organization, the High School band and two squads of the local unit of North Carolina National Guardsmen will take part in a parade that will proceed to Cherry Hill Cemetery where the Guardsmen will fire an eight-gun salute over the graves of stalwart sons of the Confederacy.

The program will begin with the gathering of chapter members and any Confederate veterans at the High School shortly before 11 o'clock. Promptly at 11 o'clock the parade will move to Cherry Hill Cemetery where the salute will be fired after graves of the departed heroes have been decorated with a profusion of flowers.

Leaving the cemetery, the parade will move to the college where the address of Mr. Lanier will take place. He will be presented by J. H. Rose, commander of the Pitt County Post of the American Legion. The program will open with the singing of the song, "Old North State," salute to the United States flag, and song by the High School Glee Club. After the address, the exercises will close with the singing of "America."

Any persons who have flowers they wish to be used in decorating the graves of the veterans have been requested to send them to Mrs. Charles Laughinghouse by Thursday afternoon.

Along with observance of Memorial Day, the George B. Singletary Chapter will observe Flag Day. The Daughters are asking everybody to wear a little flag on that day as a tribute to those who fought well and bravely in the War Between the States and who have passed on to their reward. Money derived from the sales will go to the nurses' field at the old ladies' home at Fayetteville and the T. B. Sanatorium.

All business houses of the city have been asked to display their Confederate flags in honor of the occasion.

There will be no veterans to sit around the camp fires of J. Bryan Grimes' Camp of the Confederacy which years ago preceded the formal exercises, because all have vanished. The last known Confederate veteran residing in this county died about six months ago, and the last of those active in the annual celebration here joined the ranks of the dead three years ago.

LEGISLATIVE RAMBLINGS
By C. A. PAUL

Some member of the House of Representatives has taken a shower bath without first having removed his clothing. A phony bill was offered in the Lower House to compel all legislators to remove their clothing before so much as turning a faucet or spigot attached to a shower.

Before House clerks knew what the bill contained they had dignified it with a number, but Principal Clerk Thad, Eure turned the numbering device back a notch, scratched the number off the joker bill. Representative Cherry, of Gaston, moved that the bill be deferred so that he could offer an amendment, but Speaker Johnson referred the measure to the health committee, minus a number.

P. S.—It was not learned just who has been taking a shower bath with his clothes on.

The municipal swimming pool will be thrown open to the public tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock and will remain open until 6 o'clock. It was decided today by the swimming pool committee.

This schedule will be followed daily until further notice, it was stated.

The committee was to have selected a manager and life guards today but this matter was left open for several days.

For the time being, it was stated, the pool will be in charge of the following personnel:

Mrs. W. W. Phelps, Mrs. S. W. Lamb, Belmont Kittrell and James Johnston.

The committee met the first of the week and decided to throw the huge bowl open today, but left the selection of the opening hour and other matters open until today.

No formalities will mark the opening as last year, but a good crowd of youngsters and grownups are expected to be on hand to see the first to take a plunge.

Water was being run into the big bowl today and Chief of Police George Clark, who has been in charge of preparations for the opening, said everything would be in readiness long before the hour set for the opening.

Although the temperature was rather cool today for swimming the weather man held forth promise of improved conditions tomorrow and scores are expected to be on hand to be among the first to take a plunge in the cooling waters.

London, May 9.—(AP)—Authoritative quarters said today the Union of South Africa is ready and willing to have Southwest Africa, formerly Germany's, return to the Reich.

ARMS ACTION

Italy Files Diplomatic Protest With Nations Furnishing Arms to Africans

Rome, May 9.—(AP)—The authoritative newspaper, Firnosale D'Italia, today stated that Italy had filed diplomatic protest with nations furnishing arms to Ethiopia.

Without naming the nations, the newspaper said:

"We do not doubt this action will be sufficient. The friendship of Italy depends on the attitude which every country is taking in regards to this furnishing of war materials to Ethiopia."

The semi-official publication, Le Forze Armate (Armed Forces) yesterday said Spanish, Swedish, German and Bulgarian factories were shipping war materials to the Ethiopians.

An official communique two days ago announcing mobilization of approximately 10,000 troops to join the 100,000 troops already in East Africa, sighted shipments of arms and ammunition to Ethiopia by European factories which "we have definitely identified as one of the reasons for the new military measure."

NUMBERS GET SALARY BOOST

State Officials Have Climbed Aboard Salary-Raising Gravy Train

Reflector Bureau
Sr. Walter Hotel

Raleigh, May 9.—Most of the elected and some of the appointed state officials have already climbed aboard the salary-raising gravy train which this general assembly has turned out to be and managed to get through bills increasing their salaries while the assembly was still in the notion. Only two of these bills now remain to be used, the one increasing the salary of the State Superintendent of Public Instruction from $5,000 to $6,000 a year and the one increasing the salary of the State Auditor from $4,500 to $6,000 a year. The bills to increase these salaries are now on the calendar in the senate and are expected to be passed without opposition.

When these two bills are passed, as they are certain to be since all the others have been passed, the increases made in the salaries of the principal elective and appointive state officials will have been as follows:

Secretary of State, from $4,500 to $6,000 a year.
State Treasurer, from $4,500 to $6,000 a year.
State Auditor, from $4,500 to $6,000 a year.
State Superintendent of Public Instruction, from $5,000 to $6,000 a year.

Utilities Commissioners, from $4,500 to $6,000 a year.
Adjutant General from $4,050 to $4,500 a year.

Commissioner of Insurance, from $3,835 to $4,500 a year.
Commissioner of Agriculture from $3,825 to $4,500 a year.

Commissioner of Labor from $3,825 to $4,500 a year.
Commissioner of Poles, from $3,800 to $4,500 a year.

The highest paid elective state official, aside from the Governor, is the Attorney General, whose salary was fixed at $7,500 a year by the 1931 general assembly and has been left at that figure by this one. The salaries of all the other state officials are regulated either by the boards or commissions in charge of their departments or by the Budget Bureau.

Most of the salary increases made by this assembly have been merely to restore the salaries to the same figures they were prior to 1933.

THREE TIMES

There is an old saying that what happens twice, happens three times and if the ex-soldiers get their money as a result of action of the present session of Congress apparently it will be over a presidential veto, the third in connection with the adjusted service compensation.

Despite the fact that everybody who had any connection with the world war as well as those who remained in government service during the war, have already received bonuses in cash, as adjusted compensation for their war time services, it has taken the overriding of two presidential vetoes so far to get the government to acknowledge its debt to the ex-soldiers and to pay them half of the debt. Now that congress has passed legislation that would pay off this long overdue debt to the veterans, President Roosevelt has served notice that he will veto the measure immediately it is received by him.

In this case, if the veterans are to get their money it must be over the third veto, but those who are in favor of the veterans being paid now are hoping that the old adage will hold good and what has happened in the case of this adjusted compensation legislation twice already will happen the third time by Congress overriding President Roosevelt's veto as it did those of President Harding and President Coolidge.

ENEMY'S KISS by Evelyn M. Winch

SYNOPSIS: Last night Allison rode back through her father's failure to meet her at Croft House, Sussex, a tragedy. She had been terribly disappointed, but when she was told by Guy Westrum, and had about the night with Guy's help to find her father, she was not alone. Allison is now in the front of her father's house, and she is not alone. She is now in the front of her father's house, and she is not alone.

GAFFE AGAIN

"BUT if father's just taken the house," asked Allison. "Down here in the country?" Guy laughed. "Good Lord, yes! Every one'd know. They're frightfully inquisitive in all these little places. No, I've another idea. There may be two Warleys. Croft House isn't an uncommon name, you know."

"The telegram I got said Warley, Sussex," insisted Allison.

"Even then. There are three Woodfords and several Stokes in England—the foreign telegraph office may've got the county wrong."

"They might do that," admitted Allison. "It certainly sounds more likely."

"I don't want to hurry you," he looked at Allison's emptying plate, "but if we've both made a mistake, the sooner we're out of this the better. We don't want anybody to turn up."

"I'm done," Allison hurriedly drank her tea and finished a bit of toast. "Half past nine! I'd no idea it was so late."

"I didn't want to wake you. You were so dead tired. If you're really done, I'll go and start the car."

"What about all this?" Allison looked doubtfully at the remains of the meal.

"Shouldn't worry," he advised. "We can't afford to be found here. And they'll find a new teapot and kettle in return for washing up!"

She laughed. "All right, I'll run and get my luggage if you'll start the car. Can you run me into Warley?"

"I thought if you'd care to I could run you up to London. You did say London?" His tone was still casual, but now he certainly avoided Allison's eyes.

"You're sure it's not too much trouble?" Her own voice was studiously careless; she did not look at him.

"Not a bit. Good! I'll go and start the car."

Not a single word that any third person could object to, yet Allison stood rather still while his light, quick footsteps went down the long passage to the hall. She felt most reasonably glad that he had asked if he might take her up to London and her eyes had a starry light in them as they rested on Gaffe.

After all, if there had been anything funny, would he deliberately choose to take her to her father's house? So easy to part at the station, so easy to leave things there.

There was a small, demure smile on Allison's lips as she went up the stairs to collect her suitcase.

"Ready? Let me have that, is this all?" He took the case from her hands.

"That and my trunk in the porch. I'll just see I've left nothing about."

YET as she ran back through the house, Allison was not looking for any possession; she wanted to imprint freshly on her mind the picture of that house. To glance by daylight at the pantry where they had met in such a queer fashion, to peep into the drawing room where the desk stood with its broken drawers half open; to run back into the kitchen where they had sat at breakfast, seeing him again smiling at her with the frying pan in his hand.

She did not admit it to herself, made excuses even in her own mind. "I'll just see that all the lights are off."

With Gaffe at her heels, she went down the seven stone steps that led to the cellar; how grisly it had felt last night, with the stable lantern casting its dull yellowish beam down those steps!

Turning the key, she peeped in and saw all the lights inside were still on, blazing, but the cellar held no horror for her now. She ran through and turned the main switch down, half ashamed of her own terrors, and lost in the picture of the two of them exploring.

She was on her way back when a low, unpleasant growl behind her made her stop.

"Gaffe! Come on, Gaffe!"

The old dog did not answer. He was standing a few feet away staring intently back into the darkness, all four feet rigid, tall bristling, ears pricked and teeth bared.

"Gaffe!" Allison stamped her foot.

year they may be hugging him as their hero.

The man who was supposed to be so weak and spineless in getting things done in the House. With only a few changes, he has pushed through several major administration measures. He has done no fudging or fudging, and imposed no gas rules, but he has kept in order a body that was counted on to be unruly and mutinous. If the rest of the President's must-bills bog down will be in the Senate.

Such a outcome would be almost perfect, politically. In 1936 the administration could claim that it got its "liberal" program through the House, but that it was killed by Senate "reactionaries" on both sides of the aisle. The neat feature is that Senate Boss Garner was the one who warned the White House not to try to give the Speakership to Sam Rayburn instead of Byrns.

even 53, there was a nice profit in counterfeiting its monetary form. But silver at 77.57 leaves them only a few cents profit, for they have to pay a percentage to the "passers."

The artists who make counterfeit money rarely stoop to distribute it into commercial channels.

Should they turn to inferior metals, as expected, their counterfeiters will be easily detected. If Mr. Morgenthau raises the price much higher they will be forced again to make the bogus stuff out of plaster of paris, which few housewives fall for.

Legislative Rambling

the government. Upon being told there were none your correspondent, as is his custom, fell to talking of minor things. He wondered aloud why legislators' wives did so much knitting—they sit about in hotel lobbies and in the lobbies of the House and Senate knitting, knitting.

The Governor, recalling a bit of history, mentioned the fact that many women sat around the guillotine during the French revolution, and calmly knitted as heads were lopped off.

While Governor Ehringhaus smilingly disclaimed the intention to paint an analogy, your correspondent was quick to observe that heads (politically speaking) are being lopped off here in the State Capitol. Meanwhile, legislative wives are still knitting knitting—the heads are plopping softly into the basket of discarded political hope, but not so softly that the plopping cannot be heard above the clicking of the needles in the hands of placid political wives.

Just whose heads are being lopped off is another story, to be told later—when the shouting and the tumult of the 1935 Legislature shall have died.

Everyone who went, and almost heart of the barbecue country, Cousin Willie Clark's junket to Tarboro to the Edgecombe County barbecue appeared to have a swell time. Six buses, chartered for the occasion by Cousin Willie, carried just about every legislator, several State Department heads, legislative employees, and even newspapermen to the very heart of the barbecue country. Cousin Willie is a candidate for the lieutenant-governorship. He has a sizable lead piled up if everyone on the trip supports him. In the party was, however, at least one other formidable candidate for the same post, Senator Paul Gray, president pro tem of the Senate.

Down in Nash County they reckon distances by rural route mail boxes. When the Clark cavalcade, en route to Tarboro, paused in Spring House your correspondent asked a girl of thirteen or thereabouts to tell him where lives Representative Claude Abernathy, she replied: "He lives four mail boxes out of town."

In the files of the Senate Calendar Committee is the House resolution to adjourn sine die tomorrow afternoon at 5 o'clock. At the same time the House adopted a resolution

HANG-OVER NO. 6-- UNDER DRINKING

A man can go without eating 30 days or more. Three days is the limit if he goes without water. To lose 5 per cent body water brings hang-overs, makes one irritable and grouchy. To lose 20 per cent is fatal. So drink more and more water. The CO2 in 7-UP helps purify the body linings and the copious water sluices away the waste. The distress after eating will vanish. You need plenty of good pure water like you have in 7-UP.

7-Up sold wherever Bottled Drinks are sold. Order a case today from your grocer.

Next is Hang-Over No. 7-- Mental Lassitude.

to permit no bills to be offered. The latter resolution becomes effective today. The Senate Calendar Committee will announce its decision on Friday adjournment resolution today. Although many believe the Legislature will remain in session until Tuesday, perhaps Wednesday there is a growing belief that adjournment will take place tomorrow, or at the very latest, Saturday.

TO MY MOTHER
I love you, Mother, on this day
So all my work seems more like play.

I love to sweep and clean the floor,
And help you always more and more.
Mother, I love you all the year—
Your gentle voice I love to hear;
You are certainly good to me,
Better than you should ever be.

Dear Mother, I will work this day,
And I will not go out to play.
I will sweep, I will dust and sew,
Upon your errands I will go.

I will rock dear baby to sleep,
Then I'll get you something to eat;
And I will make the fire so bright
To bake the bread so nice and light.

My Mother dear, so sweet and true
I love your lovely eyes of blue.
Your cheeks are like the roses red
With dark brown curls upon your head.

When I am sick and need a friend
Your loving care you always lend;
May God bless you and help me pay
The debt I owe to Mother's Day.

My Mother is my dearest friend,
For her my love will never end.
She answers every call and call;
Mother is the best of all.

She is always so very kind,
A truer pal I'll never find.
There will never be another
Like my own sweet lovely Mother.

reports. Mrs. S. J. Everett gave the

was the last general paper of the year,

advance which women have made in many lines, particularly in the professions.

Valuable Gift For Library

A special feature of recent meeting of the Round Table was the examination of a set of Dickens works. This is a twenty volume set, an exact reprint of the famous English National Edition. The text was corrected by the author, and all the original prefaces were restored to their proper places. One hundred and thirty articles were printed in book form for the first time in this English National edition.

The plays and poems gathered from every source were included.
To this complete collection of his writings was added a large collection of letters edited by Miss Hogarth, the famous correspondence with Miss Collins edited by Lawrence Hutton, and the Life of Dickens written by John Forster. The type is large on good quality paper, bound in smoke gray buckram, with black and gold lettering. The Round Table members liked the books, decided to purchase them for Shepard Memorial Library. The regular library book plate with "Round Table Collections" as the special lettering will be placed in the books at once.

Junior "Y" Cabinet Meets

The Junior "Y" Cabinet of the College entertained both last year's and next year's senior cabinets at a wienie roast last night at Rock Spring. The party opened with a treasure hunt. Divided into two groups, they followed the Robinson Cruise and Lionel Boone trails, finding a treasure at the end. This and several other picnic games furnished the entertainment for the evening. The guests enjoyed greatly toasting the wienie and marshmallows. These and lemonade were the refreshments.

The guests included both the former president, Miss Melba O'- Brien, and the 1935-1936 president, Miss Hattie Pearl Mallard, and their cabinets. Miss Ida Kay Hairr, chairman of the Junior "Y" cabinet, which is composed of Freshmen, was in charge of the picnic.

Dr. Knight To Speak

The Education program under the auspices of the A. A. U. W., at which Dr. Edgar W. Knight will be the chief speaker, will be at eight o'clock in the Greenville High School auditorium. The president of the North Carolina Education Association, Mrs. T. W. Guthrie, of Kinston, will be a guest of honor and will be introduced to the Greenville public. J. H. Rose, superintendent of the Greenville schools and D. H. Conley, superintendent of Pitt County schools, have been invited to take part in the program. Mrs. J. H. Rose, chairman of the Education Committee of the A. A. U. W., will have charge of the program. Dr. L. R. Meadows will introduce Dr. Knight.

Representatives from educational, civic, literary and professional organizations and members of the A.
A. U. W. will have dinner in the College dining hall at the regular dinner hour, 6:00 o'clock.

Dr. Edgar W. Knight, who is a profound thinker, one not satisfied to accept conditions just because they exist or theories merely because they are plausibly presented, will perhaps analyze the present school situation in North Carolina, bringing out its good points and its dangers and probably offering suggestions in the light of his broad acquaintance with what has been done and is being done in this and other countries.

He is a fearless critic, a keen analyst, and a speaker of force and vigor who challenges the best thought of his listeners.

He is a Northampton County man, with degrees from Trinity College and Columbia University, and is Professor of Education in the University of North Carolina.
He is a member of Kappa Alpha,
honor education society, a lecturer of note, and author of a long list of books on education past and present, and numberless articles in the field of education in the state.

Those who are to be guests at dinner will meet just before six o'clock at the entrance to the new dining room. The dinner will be informal and at the same time with the students. Plans for the dinner have been in the hands of Dr. Lucile Turner, ex-president of the A.
A. U. W. and a member of the Education Committee.

Mrs. Harris Hostess

Mrs. W. C. Harris was hostess on Tuesday afternoon to members of the Literature Department of the Woman's Club and a few additional guests at her home on Fourth Street. The rooms en suite were beautifully decorated with roses and other colorful spring flowers.

Mrs. Charles Horne, chairman, presided. After the formal opening, including the usual response to roll call with current events, Mrs. Leo Burks introduced Rev. W. A. Ryan, guest speaker for the afternoon.

Mr. Ryan, always a delightful speaker, gave a most interesting, informal talk on Kirby Page whom he knows personally. His talk was particularly pleasing because of this fact.

Kirby Page is editor, preacher, author, lecturer and traveler. He is editor of "The World Tomorrow."
Recent Gains in American Civilization," and of "A New Economic Order." He is a frequent contributor to magazines, is a member of the Commission on International Justice and Goodwill of Federal Council of Churches and has made many trips to Europe and Asia to study international and economic problems.

Kirby Page collaborated with Sherwood Eddy in the writing of two important books: "The Abolition of War" and "An American Peace Policy." In addition to these, he is author of a dozen books, of his own. They are: "Something More," "The Sword of the Cross,"
"Christianity and Economic Problems," "War—Its Causes, Consequences and Cure," "Imperialism and Nationalism," "Makers of Freedom," "Dollars and World Peace," "Jesus or Christianity," "National Defense," "Living Creatively," "The Personality of Jesus," and "Individualism and Socialism." Mr. Ryan recommended the reading of any, or all of these books,
because, he said, in his opinion,

Kirby Page never wrote a word that was not well worth the time of the reader.

At the close of this delightful program, the hostess, assisted by her daughter, Geraldine, and by Mrs. Horne, served a most delectable congealed salad course with iced tea which was garnished with fresh green sprigs of mint.

Besides the members who attended, the club was glad to welcome
Mrs. B. McK Johnson, Mrs. D. D.
Overton, Mrs. Casper Lamb and Mrs. Henry Ballance, of Elizabeth City, as special guests for the occasion.

The last meeting of the year for this department will be held May 21st with Mrs. W. A. Ryan. The subject will be Albert Schweitzer.

WATCH KIDNEYS SAME AS BOWELS

Wash Out Your 79,200 Feet of Kidney Tubes

Your bowels contain only 27 feet of intestine, yet the kidneys contain nearly 19 million tiny tubes or filters which would measure 79,200 feet if laid end to end. Therefore, it is just as important to watch the kidneys as the bowels. Kidneys are working all the time and are one of Nature's chief ways of taking the acids and poisonous waste out of the blood.

Healthy persons pass thru the bladder 3 pints a day and get rid of more than 3 pounds of waste matter.
If you pass less than this, your 79,200 feet of kidney tubes may be clogged with poisonous waste. This is a danger signal and may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swollen feet and ankles, rheumatic pains and dizziness.

Kidneys should be watched closely and need cleaning out the same as bowels. Ask your druggist for DOAN'S PILLS, an old prescription, which has been used by millions of kidney sufferers for over 40 years.
They give happy relief and will help ney tubes. Get Doan's Pills at your numbers. One song thrills the heart with tender romance. Another sets the feet to tingling and the pulse to pounding.

Astaire and Miss Rogers talk with their feet in the "I'll Be Hard to Handle" number, a red-hot taps routine. In another sequence they sway and swirl with incredible grace to the lovely strains of "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes." There is an amazingly compelling episode demonstrating the sensational "I Won't Dance" routine. A number of other sparkling novelties have been devised for hilarious surprises.

gagement at the Pitt Saturday.

Pains That Cardui Helps

For monthly discomfort, tired nerves, run-down women ought to try Cardui. So many who build up with the help of purely vegetable Cardui overcome periodic pains. "At times, I would cramp and feel mighty bad," writes Mrs. M. L. Brady of Swansea, S. C. "I knew that I needed something to help me. My mother had taken Cardui and had told me about it. It helped me. I find it a very good tonic as well as a help for pain and nervous condition."

Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.

New York Cotton

New York, May 9.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened very steady four to ten higher under commission house and foreign buying on the statement that the producers pool will sell spot cotton and buy futures.

July eased from 11.93 to 11.87 while October rallied from 11.55 to 11.62 and toward the end of the first hour the market was one point net lower to 11 higher.

Somewhat more active Wall Street buying and commission house buying of new crop positions carried them up to net gains of slightly more than $1 a bale by midday.

Trade support of the old months partially absorbed liquidation but but the advance in May and July was limited to 4 to 10 points. By midday prices reacted a few points from the best by the general market was 3 to 18 points net higher with July ruling at 11.90 after advancing to 11.95.

Futures closed very steady, spots steady.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, May 9.—(AP)—The rails took over the leadership of the stock market today and thereby brought cheer to those analysts who have been waiting for carrier transformation of the recent general upturn.

Early profit taking in the sharp gains of yesterday was absorbed without great difficulty. The carriers and scattered specialties attracted following from the start and sellers gave more time as the session progressed. While there was no special news development to spur the railroad equities the selling seemed to be that this group had been subjected to enough punishment.

Cotton futures developed strength but grains were rather narrow. Bonds were slightly mixed. Foreign exchanges were quiet.

The late tone was steady. Transfers were 1,700,000 shares.

Late News Flashes

The Senate became involved in lengthy debate over the Cooper measure passed by the House to exempt New Hanover County from provisions of the Turlington Act, the State bone dry law, but approved on second reading a substitute bill by Senator Newman providing for dispensaries and a board of control.

An amendment to require ratification by New Hanover voters for an election to be called by the County Board of Elections offered by Senator Gravelly of Nash was added as the bill received second reading, approval of 28 to 18, not including four pairs.

Immediate third reading consideration met with objections. Senator Spence offered a bill to allow the transportation, manufacture and sale of wines and brandies in Moore County and the Senate gave it immediate consideration and passage on second reading, 22 to 17.

There was objection to third reading and an effort to overcome it failed because a 2-3 majority was required.

The house gave final approval and sent to the senate a measure to exempt Pasquotank county from provisions of the Turlington act and set up a liquor control board there. The bill was similar to the New Hanover measure and is identical with the Day liquor act killed by the senate except that it provides for the control board.

The senate adopted the conference report on reduction of the cost of automobile license tags providing 45 per cent hundredweight for passenger cars instead of the present 55 cent levy. The report also set a ten cents per hundredweight reduction on trucks. The house is expected to act on the matter today.

The house concurred in a senate amendment to set up an advisory parole commission to be approved by the governor and providing a parole system for the state. It will become law upon ratification.

Final approval was given the act to provide the teaching in school of the effects of alcohol and narcotics.

No Compromise on Bonus

Washington, May 9.—(AP)—While President Roosevelt called in his financial advisers to discuss the bonus situation senate supporters of the Patman bill announced there would be no compromise and that they would submit the inflationary measure to the president as it passed the senate yesterday.

Mr. Roosevelt summoned Secretary Morgenthau and Frank T. Hines, veterans administrator, for a mid afternoon conference to go over the Patman measure preparatory to a veto.

Senators who led the fight for the Patman measure providing for the payment of the bonus with two billion dollars of new currency said they had rejected proposals for a compromise to make the money issue favorable to the President.

This had been proposed by Senator Slark, of Missouri, and Governor Oklahoma, as a means of gaining more votes in the effort to pass the bill over the President's veto.

Patman bill supporters decided to stand on the present measure. At the same time Senator Thomas of Oklahoma, leader of the Patman bill forces, entered a motion that would permit him to change his mind and asked for later consideration of the vote. He said he was making the move as a precautionary step only and had no intention at the present time of going through with it.

HIGH GRABS FINAL HOME GAME 5 TO 4

By W. W. MORGAN

It took eleven breath-taking innings of baseball yesterday afternoon before the Greens were able to defeat Tarboro by the close score of 5 to 4. This was the thirteenth win out of fourteen games played this season.

The local team continued to demonstrate that they are never licked until the last man is out. It was truly an up-hill battle that they waged most of the way. Dowling started on the hill for Greenville and was placed under a two-run handicap right in the very first inning. In the fifth the visitors scored two more, making the score read, Tarboro 4, Greenville 0. At this point Dick started that long journey from the pitching mound to the showers.

L. G. Hamilton turned over his catching duties to Hal Forbes and went on the mound and proceeded to show the fine arts of pitching. The Tarboro team was completely helpless before his slants. He gave up only two scattered hits while he was on the mound. The outstanding job of pitching was not all that he did. In the eighth, he reached third when Pulley, Tarboro left fielder, made an error on his hard-hit single. He later scored on a wild pitch to tie the score at four-all. In the eleventh, his sacrifice sent Joe Hatem across with the winning run.

For eight innings it looked like Tarboro was going to turn the trick that only Morehead has been able to do this spring. It was a game that kept the fans right on their toes for the entire eleven innings. It was eleven innings of as good baseball as one is likely to see put up by any high school teams, or even faster teams, for that matter.

Pulley, left fielder for Tarboro, certainly did his share toward helping Greenville win. He made three errors on balls hit to his field that led directly to three scores. All of them should have been easy outs. Lewis, the visitors' pitcher, worked a beautiful game and would have won his game had his teammates given him anything like normal support. He gave up twelve hits in the eleven innings that he pitched, but struck out only three. Hamilton started pitching for Greenville in the fifth and held Tarboro to two scattered hits, struck out ten of their batters, and did not allow a single run to be scored.
