FIVE CASES OF PARALYSIS IN THIS COUNTY

One Case in Greenville, Others in Fountain, Falkland and Belvoir Section

The number of cases of infantile paralysis in Pitt County was increased to five the reporting yesterday of a case in Falkland township and one in Belvoir township, according to announcement made by Dr. N. Thomas Ennet, county health officer this morning. The cases reported yesterday were both in colored children making the total of two white and three colored cases. The five cases are among children ranging in age from seven months to four years and in each case only one limb is affected. Dr. Ennet stated that careful epidemiological study throws no light on the origin of the cases as there were no evidences of contact of any of the parties.

One of the cases in that of Luther Nichols, on Broad street, in this city.

The other cases are one white and one colored in Fountain township, one colored in Falkland township, one colored in Belvoir township.

The local health office has already sent out a letter to every physician in the county bringing the situation to their attention and urging that they give immediate study to any indefinite cases of illness among children and report immediately any symptoms of the disease. He likewise urged that parents of small children who have indefinite illness, contact their physicians immediately and ascertain whether or not there are symptoms of the disease.

"While I am not an alarmist," said Dr. Ennet, "I do consider the situation a serious one and urge everyone to take every precaution against the spread of the disease." He also warned parents against letting their children visit in homes and neighborhoods where there is illness until the cases had been definitely diagnosed.

The present five cases of infantile paralysis in this county is the largest number of cases in any single year during the past five years. Health department records since 1930 show the following cases: 1930, two cases; 1931, none; 1932, one; 1933, two; 1934, one; 1935, to date, five.

TO CONTINUE BONUS FIGHT

Senators Believe Compromise is Only Possibility at This Session

Washington, May 24.—(AP)—Cash bonus forces, somewhat discouraged and disorganized by the size of the Senate vote in sustaining President Roosevelt's veto of the Patman bill, continued strong majorities in both houses today for eventual victory. The decisive defeat even by a minority vote took wind out of the bonus movement temporarily at least.

Several new proposals were advanced immediately but leaders waited to get their breath before plunging into a new drive. Confident predictions were issued but the veteran chiefs that the bonus would be paid but there was a noticeable drop in enthusiasm among legislators over prospects of achieving it at this session of Congress.

Several Senators who voted for and against the bonus took the view that the Senate vote yesterday sustaining the president's veto killed prospects for full cash payment at this session. The 54 to 40 vote in favor of the Patman bill was nine short of the two-thirds necessary to override a veto. Several Senators predicted there would be no bonus legislation at this session unless the veteran forces were willing to accept something like the Harrison compromise. On the other hand the Patman forces pointed out that even in the face of President Roosevelt's unprecedented personal appearance against it, the bill had mustered a majority of 14 votes in the Senate and more than a three to one vote in the House and contended that such majorities could not be blocked for long.

To Hold Health Contest
New Bern, May 24.—Dr. J. R. Ham, local physician, will have charge of the medical examinations and physical scores for the district health contest Saturday morning at the courthouse. The kings and queens of health in the five counties of this district will be in the competition, the district winners to be crowned at the district meeting June 20 at Atlantic Beach.

Min Assails Bonus Bill Veto

Speaking at a meeting called to organize a New York unit of his National Union for Social Justice, the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin attacked President Roosevelt for refusing to approve the Patman bonus bill. "I'm afraid it wasn't the soldiers alone who were vetoed. It was the American people," the radio priest said. Late News Flashes

To Vote On Liquor
Williamston, May 24.—(AP)—The Martin County board of commissioners today called an election on county liquor control for July 6. The date is the same as set at a previous meeting after which the commissioners decided to issue another formal call for a meeting to consider the matter because six days' notice had not been given prior to the first meeting.

New Bern, May 24.—(AP)—Residents of New Bern and Craven county will vote on county liquor control on July 6. That is the date fixed by the county commissioners this afternoon after voting unanimously to call the election. The action followed a strong appeal by dry forces that no election be called.

Henderson, May 24.—(AP)—Vance county commissioners by a vote of four to one today ordered an election June 29 on the question of county control of liquor. The action was taken after a hearing at which J. H. Bridges, local prohibition leader and county dry candidate in the North Carolina vote on ratification of the 18th amendment, presented a brief contending that the election would be illegal.

TWO HURT IN TRUCK WRECK YESTERDAY

Edward Pollard and Shirley Allen Carried to Hospital for Treatment

Edward Pollard and Shirley Allen, both of this city, were seriously injured late yesterday when the truck driven by Pollard went over a high embankment near Greenwood cemetery and pinned both the men beneath it. The truck belonged to Baker and Davis Hardware Company and the men were on their way to the overflow well just east of this city when the accident occurred.

As the truck rounded the cemetery curve a tire blew out causing the driver to lose control. The vehicle swerved from the left side of the road, struck the brick wall of the cemetery and then recrossed the highway and plunged over a 20-foot embankment near the branch.

J. L. Williams who was working in the cemetery witnessed the crash and rushed to the scene to pull the men from beneath the truck. The men were taken to the hospital for medical aid. Pollard suffered cuts on the head and back and bruises but his condition this morning was such that he could leave the hospital. Allen received cuts on the face and head in addition to severe bruises and an injured leg. He was still confined in the hospital today.

GREEN URGES CONTINUANCE RECOVERY ACT

Predicts Nationwide Strikes if Congress Fails To Vote Extension

Washington, May 24.—(AP)—Condemning NRA opponents as short-sighted, reactionary and anti-social, William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor today asked the House Ways and Means committee to continue the recovery act for two years.

"If the NRA be killed," he testified, "unemployment will increase by leaps and bounds, wages will sink, sweat shops will spring up again all over the country. Children will again go to work in factories and mills in greater numbers and under shameful conditions. Ruthless and bitter competition will reappear, many of its effects falling on the worker who is helpless to protect himself."

Reading from a prepared statement the labor chief insisted that the nine and a half months' extension voted by the Senate would in reality destroy the NRA more completely and more dangerously than would be the refusal to continue it in any form. It would, he contended, be better to end the NRA than to continue it in a form which is doomed to failure, which is certain to bring discredit not only on itself but upon the entire administration, which makes a part of our attempt to instigate changes we recognize as imperative.

The committee also invited General Hugh S. Johnson, former recovery administration, to give his views.

In New York last night Green said there would be a nationwide strike unless Congress extends the NRA two years and passes other legislation.

BRITISH YOUTH ANSWERS CALL

Offer For Enlistment In Recently Announced Increased Air Force

London, May 24.—(AP)—The youth of Great Britain is responding enthusiastically to the government's appeal for recruits for the suddenly expanded Royal Air Force. Recruiting stations here and at other parts of the islands from Plymouth to Glasgow and Belfast rushed their applications for the 22,500 posts created under the new aerial program designed to give Great Britain parity in the air with every other European power.

Of the additional personnel some 2,500 will be pilots and the others skilled and unskilled workers. When the expansion program is completed in March 1937 Great Britain may have 6,000 military airplanes of all types. The air ministry has placed its entire energies behind the program.

IL DUCE SAYS ITALY READY FOR ANY TRIAL

Premier Mussolini Addresses Throngs at Anniversary Celebration

Rome, May 24.—(AP)—Premier Benito Mussolini told massed thousands of soldiers and civilians today "Italy is ready for any trial." His declaration came in the course of the celebration of the 20th anniversary of Italy's entrance into the world war, a celebration which included presentation of battle flags to regiments which replaced the units assigned to the East African frontier.

The thousands listening in the packed square in front of his office heard him say:

"These words of an unknown Italian soldier scrawled upon the wall of a house that was demolished by a shell. It is better to live one day as a lion than 100 days as a lamb are not only in order—they are gospel for us. We plan to respect this sacred injunction everywhere and in spite of anybody."

OFFICIALS ARE LOOKING INTO BOND MARKET

Governor and Treasurer Studying Outlook for Selling State Bonds

Raleigh, May 24.—Governor J. C. B. Ehringhaus and State Treasurer Charles M. Johnson are in New York City today conferring with bankers there with regard to the condition of the bond market and the outlook for selling North Carolina bonds and notes authorized by the recent general assembly.

For while the state has no notes to renew at this time and no refunding bonds to sell, the general assembly authorized the issuance of state bonds for a new tubercular hospital, amounting to $250,000 and for permanent improvements at the various state hospitals for the insane amounting to $500,000. It also authorized the Governor and Council of State to issue up to $1,000,000 of state short term notes for the establishment of a state-wide rental textbook plan.

No date was set by the general assembly for the issuance of any of these bonds or notes. But it is regarded as good business for the state to keep in close touch with the New York banks and the bond market there at all times and not offer any bonds or notes for sale unless the market conditions are favorable. As a result, Governor Ehringhaus and State Treasurer Johnson usually go to New York about twice a year to confer with the bankers who are large holders of North Carolina bonds and who usually purchase North Carolina bonds whenever they are offered for sale.

It is expected that Governor Ehringhaus and Treasurer Johnson will tell these New York bankers about what the recent general assembly did that it raised enough revenue to assure a balance budget and that the outlook for the state the next two years is better than it has been in a long time. They will also point out that the state balanced its operating budget last year and the indications are it will complete this fiscal year on June 30 not only with its budget balanced but with a slight surplus on hand.

As a result, it is expected that when the Governor and Council of State decide to issue these bonds and offer them for sale, that they will be able to get unusually good prices for them.

Start Revival Here Tonight

Dr. J. C. Sinclair, travel-lecturer, will start a series of lectures in the Universalist Church here tonight. Dr. Sinclair has traveled to all parts of the world and is said to be a most interesting speaker. Lectures will continue each evening at eight o'clock for a period of three weeks.

The United States department of agriculture expects the low point in the cycle of horse and mule production in this country to be reached about 1938 or 1939.

HUNDREDS HOMELESS IN LOUISIANA FLOOD

Refugees estimated by the Red Cross at 1,300 have been driven from their homes in northern Louisiana by flood waters of the Red river which inundated lowlands and threatened levees. At the top are shown oil wells under eight to 10 feet of water near Caddo Lake. The lower view shows the raging tide tearing away a levee five miles south of Shreveport. Levee engineers and crews redoubled their efforts to prevent destruction of the dikes. (Associated Press Photo)

THE NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

News Behind The News.

Washington
By RAY TUCKER
LOSING: One should never bet on Supreme Court results. But some New Dealers wise in the law are down-hearted as they await the court's decision on the NRA and Frazier-Lemke farm bill. Several intra-court gestures meaningless to outsiders forebode 5-4 decisions against these industrial and agricultural experiments.

Two jurists who have taken no part in writing or delivering recent opinions are Chief Justice Hughes and Justice Brandeis—two New Deal "liberals." Their failure to participate actively indicates that they are working on other important cases which require all their time and thought.

Legal speculation may be all wrong in this instance. But the time for summer recess is near and a minority opinion can be written only after the majority decision has been prepared and submitted to dissenters. So court lawyers figure that Justice Hughes and Brandeis are engaged in setting forth the objections of the liberal minority in these two appeals. Inside tipoffs like this are borne out nine times out of ten. This may be the tenth time, but the jurists' behavior has been decidedly barish.

CREDIT: The administration is playing its cards close to its chest in the monetary and banking game. But certain involuntary players—the bankers—think they discern a definite trend toward a system more revolutionary than the central bank which Secretary Morgenthau and President Roosevelt so belatedly endorsed.

Nobody expects the White House to clutter up the pending banking measure with an amendment for government purchase of Federal Reserve Banks' stock. Secretary Morgenthau tossed off that idea too casually to convince anybody he meant it. It missed fire entirely. Instead of appealing the Louis Coughlin-Thomas crowd it has led them to demand immediate establishment of a central institution. It did not frighten Carter Glass or the bankers.

What far-sighted bankers fear is the kind of system which Henry Ford advocated at the time of the 1933 crisis. Under it depositors would pay a small interest charge to bankers for servicing their accounts, and the banks would be expected to lend a low rate to short-term borrowers. The government would handle—or control—credit necessary for long-term and large-scale undertakings. There is plentiful talk of such a system in high-up circles.

IRRITATION: Senate Leaders Robinson and Harrison proposing only a 10-month extension for NRA, thought they had White House assurances. Their plan was supposed to be as satisfactory as the two-year reprieve demanded by Don Richberg and the House.

paratively unimportant factor. But the Senate resolution forbids NRA control of all intra-state business—a sweeping prohibition of power. The House measure gives NRA authority over business "substantially" affecting inter-state commerce—a comprehensive grant. Under the Senate proposal the court's could easily clip the Blue Eagle's wings, whereas the House plan may afford it flying space in the sun.

Lawyer Richberg has sold this idea to the White House and sold the Senate bosses down the river, in their opinion. They can't mention the NRA chief without growing purple in the face. The mix-up has revived the ancient feud over prestige between House and Senate and precipitated wholly irrelevant issues. Pat Harrison still mutters that Richberg and the House must back down—or the bird will die."

REVELATIONS: If the Roosevelt administration has an Achilles heel it is its loquacity. Its speeches, its press conferences, its radio addresses, its letters, its memos, its reports suggest that he is spilling many secrets of PWA's early days. He describes conflict within the official household—liberals versus conservatives on spending. He tells of the pressure directed against him by lawyers and lobbyists once rebuked by Mr. Roosevelt but still doing business at the same old stand.

He may describe projects which he turned down but which now await action—and possibly favorable action—by the new Allotment Board. Passamaquoddy is one and the high dam at Grand Coulee may be another. If Mr. Ickes tells all he knows his book should make good reading—for the Republicans.

BONUS: Whispers that "Jack" Garner may be shelved as FDR's running-mate next year echo down Congressional corridors. They gain in volume because of the report that he suggested passage of the bonus over a presidential veto as a wise move. Although admittedly a smart suggestion it placed the President in an embarrassing position. The strategy of personal reading of the bonus veto resulted.

Sidetracking Mr. Garner would not be easy and it is doubtful if the idea appeals to the President. "Jack" has been the most active and helpful No. 2 man in years. His political shrewdness has dissolved many a jam on Capitol Hill. He knows Congressional psychology from long service on the House side, and he has prevented enthusiastic New Dealers from leading the President astray many a time.

Eventually Mr. Garner's plan will undoubtedly prevail. Despite the anti-bonus demonstration by all hands the veterans will probably get their money—or its equivalent—before this session ends.

WILL RUSH STATEWORK RELIEF JOBS

Planning Board to Push Projects to Provide Work Quickly as Possible

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel.

By J. C. BASKERVILLE

Raleigh, May 24.—The State Planning Board, which is seeking to coordinate all the projects in North Carolina which might be included in the Federal emergency spending program already has approximately $300,000,000 worth of projects ready to submit to Washington. Chairman Capus M. Waynick, of the State Highway and Public Works Commission, who is also chairman of the planning board, said today, "Just as soon as the money is allotted to this state and as rapidly as the projects are approved, actual construction can be started and additional employment provided." Waynick said. He believes that North Carolina should get at least $100,000,000 from the $400,000,000 Federal relief fund, since this has approximately one-fourth of the population of the entire United States.

"We have every reason to believe that North Carolina will be allotted at least $100,000,000 of this Federal public works appropriation and feel that at least one-third of the $300,000,000 worth of projects which we have already developed for presentation to Washington for approval there will be approved," Waynick said. "We are going to be ready to call for bids and award contracts just as soon as Washington approves the projects and releases the money for them."

A meeting of the State Planning Board will be held within the next few days at which additional projects will be developed and further plans discussed, Waynick said. Comprehensive programs are now in process of development dealing with soil erosion control, rural electrification and the conservation of water and forest resources. It is also developing a state-wide program for the construction of new school buildings with Federal funds, probably with the aid of long-time Federal loans from relief funds, in sections where new school buildings are badly needed. It is expected that the Government will continue to give an outright grant to cover 40 per cent of the entire cost, just as it has in the past, so that the local communities will have to borrow or issue bonds for only 70 per cent of the total cost.

The State Planning Board is interested in developing all sorts of public projects for counties, cities and towns as well as state-wide projects. Waynick pointed out. He also pointed out that out of the $100,000,000 which it is hoped will be allotted to North Carolina, less than 10 per cent has been allotted for highway work and that the total is not likely to exceed 15 per cent, all of the remainder going for other types of public works projects.

While official notification has not yet been received, it is understood that 90 per cent of those employed on highway and underpass projects to be built with the new emergency PWA funds must be taken from rural rolls in the counties in which the projects are located or from adjacent counties. Waynick said.

Nothing has yet been received from Washington with regard to the wage scale to be paid, but the prevailing belief is that the wage scale will be very similar to the present rather wage scale paid in the various counties and that it will differ in the counties, just as the present rather wage scale differs. It is also expected that the new wage scale will be based upon the prevailing wages paid in the various counties for specific types of work, but will be slightly lower than the prevailing wages paid by private employers. In fact, President Roosevelt has already indicated that this will be the case, in spite of vigorous objections from the American Federation of Labor, which from the first has wanted the relief wage scale to be based upon the prevailing wage scale paid in each community.

Under the old PWA regulations, the minimum wage for common labor on highway construction projects has been 30 cents an hour and on other PWA projects has been 40 cents an hour, running up to as high as $1.25 an hour for the more highly skilled labor. It is expected that the wage scale will start at about 30 cents an hour for common labor, although nothing definite is yet known about the wage scales, except that they will undoubtedly be determined locally, probably for each county. The average monthly wage for the group of states in which North Carolina is included, as announced by the President several days ago, will range from $19 to $29 a month.

AIR ARMADA ON WAY BACK TO HAWAII

Squadron of Huge Naval Planes Returns From Maneuvers at Midway Island

Aboard the battleship Pennsylvania, enroute to Hawaii, May 24.—(AP)—40 navy patrol planes of the epoch Pacific flight sped toward Hawaii today on a return trip from Midway Island where tragedy overtook the huge armada in a crash that killed six fliers. The huge squadron was expected to land at Pearl Harbor tonight after its two day 1,200 mile flight, broken by an overnight stop 500 miles west of Honolulu.

The return completes an unprecedented operation of naval armaments marking the first transit to Midway Islands and return by any plane and aggregating thousands of miles of flying in the huge patrol craft in 16 days away from Pearl Harbor. The flight back to Hawaii was ordered after a fruitless search for the victims of the 677 which crashed in the sea Tuesday night while circling a sister ship that had been forced down. A destroyer later took the disabled plane in tow.

Dog Clinic To Be Held Here On Saturday

Pitt County's first dog clinic will be held at the court house here tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock when inspectors from every part of the county will receive information as to the provisions of the recently enacted antirabies law and witness demonstrations of vaccinating the animals against the disease.

The meeting will be presided over by Dr. Smith, Farmville veterinarian, who will also address the meeting. Around a dozen dogs of different ages will be vaccinated at the clinic for demonstration purposes.

The meeting will also set a definite date by which time all dog owners in the county must comply with the law as to vaccinating their dogs. Inspectors from every township in the county will be here for the meeting.

Then they were to return to discus-

ALISON'S heart sank.

"But suppose there's something

I want to tell you," she protested.

"Ring me. My number's under

Dundas, Dr. Noel Dundas. He's a friend of mine and I'm staying with him. Any time between nine and twelve, or after seven, you can catch me there."

"Thanks, Dundas. All right. But—there's just one thing. You haven't forgotten what I asked? About my getting a job?" she appealed. "I may need it."

"I haven't forgotten," he returned.

"Let me know if anything else, anything funny, happens."

They had stopped at the corner and were standing on the pavement.

He took her hand, held it tight, and for a moment Alison thought that he was going to say more. Then, abruptly, he dropped her hand, and jumped back into the car and drove off quickly without looking back.

Alison walked slowly along towards No. 712 Chester Square.

He had been very mysterious she thought. First the mere mention of Daphne had upset him, then, all through their long conversation he had given her the impression that he was intensely excited, almost nervous over her news.

His questions about it all, particularly his question about her father's wedding, his statement that Daphne

Summers might be someone that he knew all fitted in with the idea that what he knew of Daphne was not to her credit.

But if that was the truth, why did he not come and meet her straight away or suggest that he might find some chance to see her when she came to Chester Square? Surely he would know her if he saw her again.

"It's funny," thought Alison. "It's almost as if he was afraid of her."

Yet she could not doubt Guy.

Whatever his reasons were for keeping back what he knew, she felt that he himself was clean and straight.

When she had told him that she trusted him, she had meant it completely. She trusted him now.

Only her curiosity was roused and she found herself trying to think of possible reasons why he should want that ten days silence.

Why was he so anxious that she should not tell Daphne of their meeting? What was he going to do?

Hating lies, Alison would have hesitated to give her promise but for one thing—her feeling that

Daphne on her side was deliberately making mischief. And she had argued with herself that after all her lunch with Guy was no business of Daphne's anyway. If she chose to ask questions about a matter that did not concern her, she must expect evasive answers, that was all!

At the time, with Guy waiting for her answer, she had not hesi-tated, had felt that to refuse would sound as if she did not trust him at all, so she had given the promise at once. But now, alone and back on the familiar steps of her own home, she found herself hoping that neither her father nor Daphne would ask any questions, that she would not be forced to lie.

And she comforted herself with the thought "If he knows something

Conley, County Supt.; K. T. Futrell, Supt. of County Relief; W. H. Highsmith, unit chairman, have been untiring in their efforts to give only information that would be helpful to us, and ever ready to recommend worthy applicants that come under their supervision, and from these stamped approvals we have as a result twenty-seven teachers doing work under Project 2, Literary classes; Project 5, General Adult Education; Project 6, Nursery Schools.

Our head case workers, Mrs. F. O. Purser, Mr. William Perkins, and an able corps of assistants have daily from her great storehouse of inexpensive material information, but the countries of Europe, Asia, South Africa, South America and islands of the sea as well. These listed departments and countries are a scant few of the contributing forces that are giving unlimited supplies for the educational uplift of their fellowman. Therefore, how can we refrain from doing our part in the work entrusted to us. If we pause for a moment and view the numberless avenues open to us from which come so much needed and helpful material to be used in helping to blot out illiteracy and making concrete basic principles for general education; there have been no bulwarks in this onward stride for general educational uplift. The doors of the colored high school auditorium stand open for our reception, and the faithful, deserving untiring principal, C. M. Epps, has been a sourceful inspirational counsellor at all times when called upon; with proffered hands and a willing heart has done his bit. The air is teeming in silence from voices reverberating over and over from great men and women.

In science, literature and art that we may never see nor hear, but it borne to us, from time to time over one of the greatest inventions of the age—Radio—saying "Go ahead, we will help you."

"Let us then be up and doing, with a heart forever fate, still achieving, still pursuing, learn to labor and to wait."

As a contributing phase of our work, realizing as I do in the sense of this poem:

"That man may last, but never live, Who all receives and never give, Creation blot, creation blank, Whom none can olive, whom none can thank."

I offered a project in the first meeting of the month of March that we secure lots and cultivate gardens in our leisure hours, and when the produce matured, can and place them in the hands of the E. R. Administration for welfare purposes; meet with ready response, we secured about four acres. These gardens cared for by teachers are now in a beautiful state of cultivation and when necessary, with hoe and rake in hand, they are seen winding their way to the gardens to destroy the grass and weeds that would choke out the life of the tender plants, that would be productive and mean so much to the less fortunate in time of need.

Our garden at Ayden deserves to be especially mentioned, because of the keen oversight given it by Mrs. Nina Green and students on one and a half acres of land on the colored high school campus. This is only a beginning of what we hope to accomplish if work continues and we are permitted to help carry on this educational blessing and long-felt need.

ELIZABETH KEARNEY, President Colored Teachers Association of FERA, County of Pitt, North Carolina.

Constipation Troubles

Theodore's Black-Draught is made of the dried, ground-up leaves and roots of plants that act on the bowels when they are sluggish or constipated. For refreshing relief when you need a laxative, take this dependable, purely vegetable medicine. "I was almost down; was bloated and had gas pains until I was in a bad fix," writes Mr. J. W. Dillard of Jonesboro, Ark. "I had heard so much about Black-Draught, I wanted to try it. I began taking small doses after meals. I found it was helping me. I have regulated my bowels."

Neale-Barker.

Mr. and Mrs. John Richard Barker announce the marriage of their daughter

Loula May

to

Mr. Russell Glenn Neale

Thursday, the twenty-third of May

Nineteen hundred and thirty-five

Greenville, North Carolina

A wedding witnessed by relatives and a few intimate friends took place Thursday afternoon at four o'clock, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Richard Barker when their daughter, Loula May, became the bride of Russell Glenn Neale of New York.

The home was decorated with palms, mountain laurel and a profusion of Dorothy Perkins roses. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. D. Young, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church in Trenton, N. C.

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. J. H. Waldrop sang "O Day of Golden Promise," by Hamden. She wore a beautiful afternoon dress of peach chiffon and her flowers were a shoulderette of sweet peas in pastel shades. Miss Mary Shaw Robeson, gowned in powder blue crepe and wearing a shoulderette of sweet peas, accompanied Mrs. Waldrop and played a part of the Wedding March from Lohengrin, for the entrance of the bride and groom who were unaccompanied. They played "To A Wild Rose" softly during the ceremony.

The bride wore a pale pink lace afternoon dress with a jacket of the same material. Her flowers were pink roses and blue gypsophylla arranged in a long shoulder corsage.

After the ceremony an informal reception was held, during which refreshments were served and the wedding cake cut.

The bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Richard Barker, received her education in the public schools and is a graduate of East Carolina Teachers College with an A.B. degree. She has taught for the past year in Stokes.

Mr. Neale is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Neale of Homer City, Pennsylvania, and holds a position with the Capper Publishing Co. in New York. He is well known in Greenville, having visited here at the home of Mrs. Wiley Brown several times.

The couple left by motor for New York, where they will make their home in Floral Park, Long Island.

Mrs. Lee Club Hostess.

Mrs. W. W. Lee delightedly entertained members of her bridge club on Wednesday afternoon at her home on Greene street.

A number of spirited games of contract were enjoyed and at the conclusion Mrs. D. M. Clark was awarded an attractive pillow for high score. Mrs. Frank Bendall assisted the hostess in serving delicious refreshments. Tables were placed in a setting of yellow daisies and purple larkspur.

Buy Poppies Saturday.

Plans are complete, poppies have been distributed and everything is in readiness for the annual Poppy Sale to begin early tomorrow morning.

Mrs. K. B. Pace, chairman, members of the Auxiliary and volunteer workers will visit every home and business house in the city. Mrs. Pace announced today that the prize for the best Poppy Day poster was won by Mrs. Corey's grade of the Third Street school.

Prizes will be given for the two making the best sale.

Headquarters for the Poppy Sale will be in Charles Horne Drug store.

Miss Winslow Honored.

Miss Louise Winslow, bride-elect of June, was paid a pretty compliment yesterday afternoon when Misses Patsy and Mary Wise Davenport were charming hostesses at bridge.

The home on Fifth street was beautifully decorated, poppies, roses and larkspur making an attractive background for the bridge tables.

Mrs. W. L. Harrington, scoring high, was awarded silk hose. Miss Winslow was presented silver candlesticks, Mrs. Roy McCless, a recent bride, guest towels, and Miss Ruth Pickelsimer, guest of Miss Huldah Nobles, a dainty handkerchief.

Mrs. Hogan Gaskins, Mrs. Henry West and Miss Sidney Davenport assisted in serving a tempting salad course with iced tea.

Mrs. J. E. Winslow joined the other guests for the tea hour.

Dr. and Mrs. Meadows Honored.

A reception in honor of President and Mrs. L. R. Meadows was given by the students of East Carolina Teachers College last night. The garden party planned was swiftly changed into an indoor affair and moved to the Campus Building auditorium. Everything ran so smoothly, the guests could not realize that rapid adjustments had to be made.

Invitations were sent out some time ago for a lawn party and three times it was postponed because of rain.

The front campus has been strung with lights for the past ten days and yesterday Japanese lanterns added a festive touch. Just an hour before the time for the party the rain drops began to fall. Girls and boys rushed out and saved the lanterns and moved the party indoors.

The same general plan remained the same. In the receiving line were Miss Lucy LeRoy, chairman of the Social committee, Dr. and Mrs. L. R. Meadows, Miss Dora Coates, faculty representative from the committee, Misses Frances Newcome and Ellen Jenkins, representatives from the Women's Student Government Association and Robert Dowd and Durwood Stowe, from the Men's Student Government Association.

The college orchestra, directed by Miss Eugenia Thomas, furnished the music.

Miss Elizabeth Wagner was chairman of the lighting committee; Miss Juanita Arthur, chairman of the campus committee; Miss Janie Outland, had charge of the refreshments, and Miss Effie Lee Watson, of the invitations.

Orchestra Here Tomorrow

Enoch Light and his International Orchestra who will give a concert at East Carolina Teachers College tomorrow night has been called the "preferred orchestra of the smart set" on both sides of the Atlantic. They have set a style of dance music which is distinctive for its delicate yet compelling rhythms and sophisticated appeal.

Ease and smoothness characterize all of Light's music, and he strives particularly for musical shadings which will create a mood in his listeners. Enoch Light himself sings vocal solos. He likes to intersperse his regular numbers with sparkling orchestral and vocal pieces which he picked up on the other side. The orchestra specializes in tangos and rhythms, which are played strictly in the native manner.

Mary Danis, featured vocalist of the orchestra, is a graduate of the American Academy of Dramatic Arts in New York, and formerly appeared in her own single act as soloist on the Keith and Loew circuits. She was singing at one of the Loew theatres in 1930 when Enoch, appearing on the same bill as guest-conductor, first heard her voice and was impressed by it. As soon as her theatre contract expired, Light promptly signed her to vocalize with his orchestra. In the intervening years, Miss Danis has won much praise for her distinctive types of "cute" personality numbers.

The concert will be given in the Campus Building at eight-thirty o'clock.

Tomorrow Is Poppy Day

Saturday is Poppy Day. This is the Saturday before Memorial Day. On Saturday the members of the Pitt County Chapter of the American Legion Auxiliary will offer the Poppies for sale on the streets of Greenville, Ayden, Farmville, Bethel and other towns of the county. The proceeds from the sale of the Poppies will be used to aid the disabled veterans, their widows and children. There are thousands of veterans in hospitals throughout America, hopelessly sick and slowly dying. The vast majority of these men are penniless and have no money at all for the extras which are necessary to bring a bit of cheer. Such things as radios, magazines, cigarettes, candy and other items are furnished from the proceeds of the sale of these Poppies. Also there is a growing list of widows and fatherless children whom someone has to take notice of and help. These people are also helped from the monies provided by the sale of the Poppies.

The American Legion Auxiliary through its president Mrs. W. A. Darden and the American Legion through its Commander Junius H. Rose are both appealing to the people of Pitt County to be liberal in their purchases of these Poppies Saturday. Pitt County has always done well in this matter and a large sale is expected again this year.

On Sunday the American Legion Auxiliary and the American Legion will decorate the graves of all the deceased veterans in this county. Plans have already been completed for this.

Remember, Saturday, tomorrow, is "POPPY DAY."

Will Use Radio For Forest Fire Control In State

Reflector Bureau.

Sir Walter Hotel.

Raleigh, May 24.—Technique of forest fire fighting in North Carolina will take a step forward with the first actual use of radio for this purpose scheduled shortly. W. C. McCormick, assistant State forester in charge of forest fire control, announced today.

Two short wave sets, the first known to be employed by a State in this part of the country for forest fire control, have recently been received for use on the Waccamaw Protective Association in Bladen and Columbus Counties. This organization was formed through the co-operation of the Department of conservation and Development and private landowners.

These sets, carrying their own generating mechanism, are to be employed in the State "forest fire alarm system." One is to be installed on a lookout tower in the protected area and the other in the automobile of a warden. The sets have both sending and receiving equipment, enabling constant communication between the two officials.

From this point of vantage on the tower, the lookout will be able to spot forest fires within a range of several miles and will report the location immediately to the warden in the automobile. This warden will immediately, from the description radioed from the tower, go to the fire and begin suppression. He will gather help on the way or, if the flames have gained such headway as to demand help, he can notify the towerman who can by telephone connection with nearby wardens, summons additional help.

NO OPINION YET WRITTEN ON WINE BILL

Seawell Expects to Have Opinion Prepared by Early Next Week

Reflector Bureau,
Sir Walter Hotel.
Raleigh, May 24.—Attorney General A. A. F. Seawell has not yet written an opinion on the new wine law enacted by the general assembly, but expects to have it prepared by Monday or Tuesday, he said today. The opinion was requested by Commissioner of Agriculture W. A.
Graham, who together with the Governor, will be in charge of administering the wine law. Commissioner Graham has been out of town
all this week attending a convention in some other state but is expected back Monday.

"I have been reading and studying the new wine law and hope to be able to transmit my opinion and the answers to questions propound-ed by Commissioner Graham either Monday or Tuesday," Attorney General Seawell said. He declined to intimate as to how he expected to rule on the law, especially on the section which provides that the only wines which can be sold in North Carolina are those manufactured in the state from fruit juices from fruits and berries grown in the state. One of the questions Commissioner Graham wants cleared up is it understood, is whether this will prohibit the importation of all wines, even of wines made from North Carolina fruit juices processed in the state but shipped to other states for fermentation.

One large wine manufacturing concern is understood to be ready to ship several carloads of wine, made from fruit juices pressed and processed from North Carolina grown grapes and berries but fermented in another state, if the Attorney General rules that this wine
can be brought back into the state and sold. It is also understood that this same winery has already contracted for as many tons of dew-berries as the growers in the eastern part of the state can supply if they can continue to process these berries in its Wilmington plant and then ship the processed juice to its
New York plant for fermentation.

New York Cotton

New York, May 24.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened fairly steady unchanged to four lower with trade buying of old month positions and foreign selling of late positions. Initial pressure was slight and after yielding two to six points in the first half few minutes the market steadied. At the end of the first half hour prices were three points net higher to one lower. Net gains of one to five points were shown by most positions later in the morning.
The last sale in May was 1198 when trading in that position ended at noon. Futures closed steady one to four higher. Spots higher.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, May 24.—(AP)—The stock market developed divergent trends today but on the whole the grip of the bullish forces did not seem to have relaxed to any great extent. General opinion was that the bonus bill veto had faded as a market influence and traders and investors sought other stimulus.

Business and industry came in for a closer study. Firmer rails after a long dependency pleased optimists. Commodity demands and scattered specialties also illustrated
the extreme selectivity of the dealings.

Grains were subjected to profit
taking along with various stocks.
Bonds improved. Sterling advanced against the dollar in foreign exchange dealings. The late tone was steady. Transfers approximated
1,150,000 shares.

Not shown in the picture is the football gridiron and bleachers. The building is complete in every detail, containing dressing rooms, shower baths, two large club rooms and kitchen. The building is used as a lunch room for the Third Street School, and is also used as a meeting place for the American Legion and other community organizations. This whole project was built with old materials from the old Model School, old residences and other sources and the labor was furnished under C. W. A. and F. E. R. A. projects. The total cost of the project was approximately fifteen thousand dollars with a cost to the community of less than five hundred dollars. This is another achievement which the Board of Trustees of the Greenville City Schools points to with pride.

To Extend NRA.
Washington, May 24.—(AP)—President Roosevelt and House and Senate leaders agreed tentatively today on a 21-2 months extension of NRA and giving the recovery agency jurisdiction over businesses substantially affected by interstate commerce. Price fixing would be barred. They reached that understanding at the White House conference even as William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, was insisting before the House ways and means committee upon a two years extension and describing as "short-sighted, reactionary and anti-social" those who opposed that.

Suicide
Las Vegas, N. M., May 24.—(AP)—Mrs. Emily Whitfield, former wife of William K. Vanderbilt, who recently sued for divorce from Raoul Whitfield, the author, was found dead of a bullet wound today at the Whitfield ranch about 25 miles from here. Mrs. Whitfield's body, with a bullet wound through the heart was found by a ranch hand who went into the house to start the fires about 7:30 this morning. Sheriff Francisco Delgado, of San Miguel county, who went to the ranch to investigate said Mrs. Whitfield apparently had taken her own life and that the fatal shot had been fired about midnight. Mrs. Whitfield returned here last week from New York.

Extend Bankhead Law.
Washington, May 24.—(AP)—Extension of the Bankhead compulsory cotton production control bill for another year was agreed upon today at a White House conference.
Members of the Senate and House agriculture committees who conferred with President Roosevelt reported a unanimous agreement.
Senator Bankhead, Democrat of Alabama, author of the legislation, said the administration will give another year of 12 cents a pound on this year's cotton crop if the extension of the bill is enacted.
It was said there was some sentiment at the White House for two years continuance of the plan but unanimous agreement was reached for the shorter term.
