To Attend Inauguration
of College
President

One week from today, when Dr. L. R. Meadows will be inaugurated as president of East Carolina Teachers College will be one of the greatest occasions Greenville has ever had and will bring to the town perhaps the most distinguished visitors the town has ever had here at one time.

Hon. Patt M. Neff, who will deliver the address, is a national figure and one of the greatest orators in the country. Twice governor of Texas and now college president, he stands out as a leader in politics, religion, education, and public service. Governor J. C. B. Ehringhaus will introduce him. The oath of office will be administered by Judge George Connor, who will represent the Supreme Court of North Carolina.

Superintendent Clyde Erwin, chairman of the Board of Trustees of the College will introduce Dr. Meadows, whose inaugural address is looked forward to with a great deal of interest by the people of this section.

Dr. J. Y. Joyner, the first chairman of the Board of Trustees, will preside over the exercises.

Dr. R. J. Slay as chairman of the Commencement committee of the faculty will have charge of the exercises.

At the alumnae dinner, the visitors will be guests of honor. The people of Greenville and vicinity and the members of the graduating classes, as well as the visitors from a distance and the alumnae will be guests at the reception to be given in honor of Dr. Meadows Saturday night at their home on Fifth street.

The alumnae will have a business meeting at three o'clock Saturday afternoon, followed by a tea in honor of the reunion classes. Many of the alumnae will come early and stay through the entire commencement, getting here in time for the music recital Friday night, the opening event of the commencement.

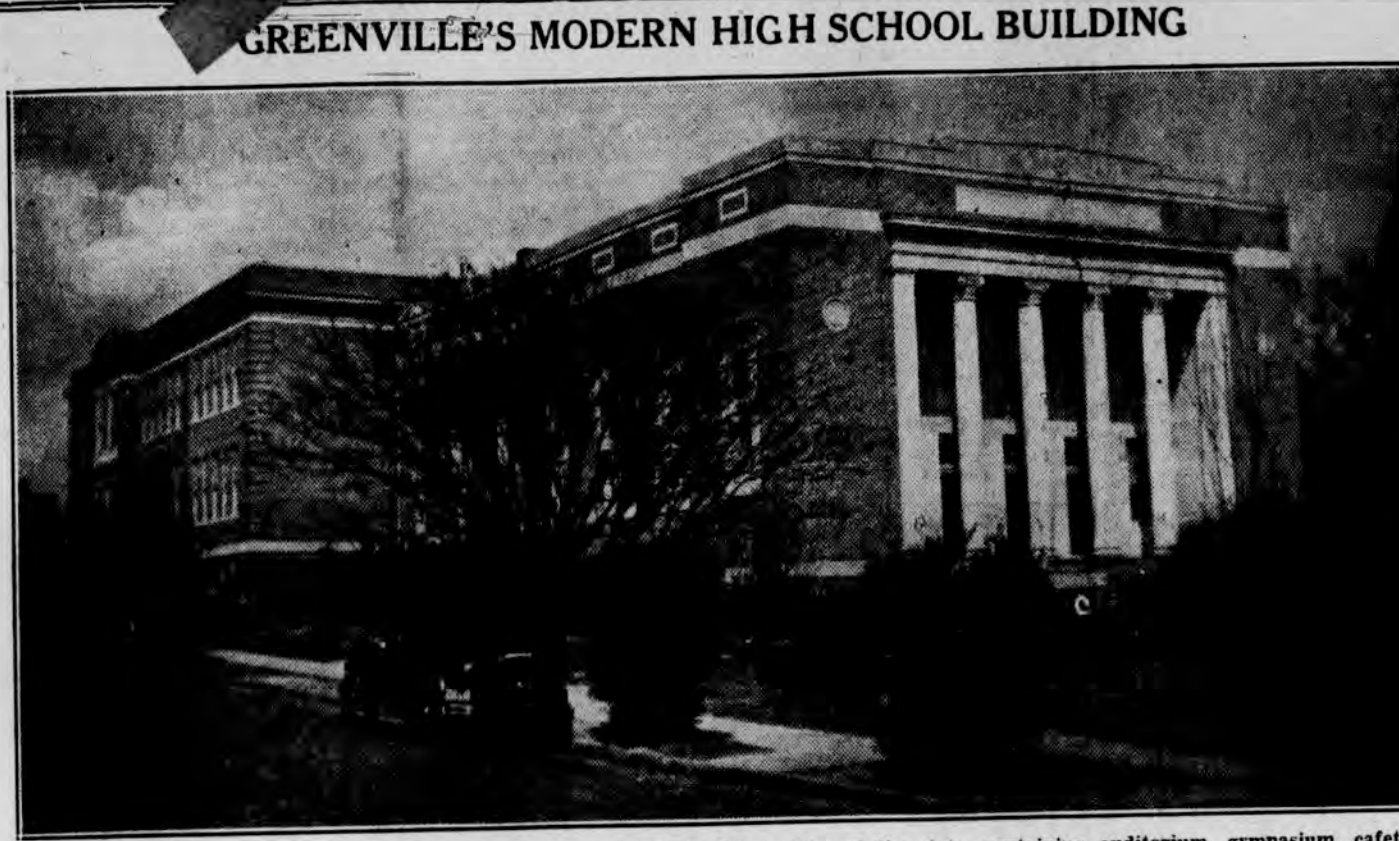

Dr. Oliver J. Hart, rector of St. John's Church, the church of the presidents of Washington City will preach the Baccalaureate sermon on Sunday morning and talk at the Y. W. C. A. vesper services that evening. The graduation exercises will be held on Monday morning, June 3.

COLLEGE GIRLS
PRESENT PLAYKiwanians Treated to Delightful Program
Here on Friday Evening

The Kiwanis Club had one of its best programs of the year last night when Mrs. C. W. Parsons presented a group of College girls in a one-act play which was written, staged and directed by Mrs. Parsons. The play depicted the problem of a modern young mother who tried to raise her baby by modern methods in the face of the insistent interference of busy-body neighbors and a grandmother. Each character was so splendidly portrayed that the Kiwanians were almost persuaded that the scene was real and not mere acting. Those taking part were as follows: Miss Lillian Clark, as Mrs. John Blake, the young mother; Miss Evelyn Turnage as Mrs. Jefferson; Miss Loretta Fort as "Mae" Peabody; Miss Moleine Grant as Miss Elmina Spence; and Josephine Essey, as Grandmother Blake. Greenville, in the opinion of the Kiwanis Club, is to be congratulated on having such splendid local talent as was displayed by Mrs. Parsons and her cast.

In the absence of Pres. Dink James, Jimmy Galloway presided. The attendance prize was given by "Twist" Matthews and won by Frank Harrington.

The Greenville High School, one of the finest and most complete in this section of the state, containing auditorium, gymnasium, cafeteria, complete laboratories for every science in the curriculum, twenty-four classrooms, offices, and a beautiful and commodious library. The library was recently added under C. W. A. and F. E. R. A. supervision. The total cost of building the library was approximately fourteen thousand dollars. The local taxpayers furnished only fifteen hundred of this. The other amount coming from the C. W. A. and F. E. R. A.

The annual sermon to Seniors, numbering 89 this year, will be preached in this building tomorrow night.

Record

Los Angeles, May 25.—(AP)—Laura Ingalls, noted woman pilot, hopped away from the union air terminal at Burbank early today on her second attempt to shatter Amelia Earhart's transcontinental speed record. The tiny aviatix was determined to send her new $40,000 black "mystery ship" over the 2,447 mile route from here to New York in less than 17 hours, 7 minutes and 30 seconds—the time set by Amelia Earhart in the summer of 1932.

She took off at 4:48 a. m. 7:48 (EST), waived good-bye to field attendants who had helped her service her ship with 580 gallons of gasoline.

To Name Director For N. C.
Raleigh, May 25.—(AP)—Mrs. Thomas O'Berry, state relief administrator, said today she understood that the work progress director of the Federal Relief Administration would be named for North Carolina during next week.

Mrs. O'Berry was in Washington yesterday conferring on relief matters but said she found out nothing about the proposed new setup in this state. The state administration, she understood, would still handle relief matters, but the work progress director will have charge of funds to be expended on work relief projects.

PICKER: Agricultural pebbles wish that Congress would pass a law declaring a moratorium on labor-saving inventions. They yearn for the right to outlaw the new cotton-picking machine which their agents have been observing in the Southland. It can disrupt their program for planned economy and result in permanent and larger relief rolls in the Cotton Belt.

Departmental representatives have submitted a black report after watching the exhibition of this modern machine. It passed over a bed of tulips, and it plucked the depth of the flowers without even bruising the cups. It picks cotton with the same care and despatch. It is estimated that it will throw thousands of hand-pickers out of work as soon as it reaches the stage

President To Also Veto
Proposed Bonus 'Rider'

Washington, May 25.—(AP)—Administration leaders were fearful today that President Roosevelt had invited trouble for his legislative program by saying he would veto any measure to which a cash payment bonus rider is attached. With this flat declaration from the White House the President's advisers were apprehensive that opponents of some of the administration's bills would join forces with the bonus bloc to attach a cash payment rider.

The chief executive said he would veto even the most vital administration bill if it was sent to him with a cash payment rider. His comment came at a time when the bonus forces were already planning a move of that kind.

Apparently seeking to make his warning more emphatic, the president stated he would veto the social securities bill which he regarded as the most vital before congress if it came to him with the cash payment amendment.

Congressional leaders of the drive for the Patman inflationary bonus bill were already eyeing the securities measure as a likely vehicle for the bill which they tried to get through as separate legislation.

They were not agreed, however, on plans and were still studying the various strategic moves they might make.

As in past years, the Legionnaires and members of the auxiliary will visit graves of fallen veterans of the great carnage overseas and decorate them with a profusion of flowers and American flags.

This will be the only activity here in connection with Memorial Day next Thursday, and similar exercises are being observed by thousands of posts throughout the nation as well as in foreign countries where American soldiers are buried.

Poppy Day which always falls on Saturday preceding Memorial Day, was being observed here today and hundreds of tiny red flowers emblematic of the sacrifices which veterans of the World War made overseas were sold by the Legion auxiliary in the business district. Bevels of young women representing the auxiliary distributed poppies in all parts of the business district. They were among the early risers and hundreds of the tiny flowers were in by tonholes of business men long before the daily grind was commenced.

Persons desiring to give flowers for the decoration of graves tomorrow were urged to carry or send them to the home of Mrs. L. H. Bowling Summit street, this afternoon. It was hoped the offering would be large so that all graves might be decorated in keeping with the sentiment of the community towards the men who sacrificed their all in behalf of humanity.

Tarboro, May 25.—Jordan Minton is in jail awaiting preliminary trial on a charge of having three and one half cases of liquor following his arrest by Police Officer Wiley Newsome and Deputy Sheriff Charles Pridden of Macesfield. A man who was in the truck with Minton escaped arrest. The officers stated that the truck belonged to Oscar Taylor, who operated a filling station near here, but Taylor was quoted as saying that he knew nothing about the purposes for which the truck was being used.

Laws of the Virginia colony provided a heavy fine for a settler who used profanity.

FIRST WEEK
OF T. B. CLINIC
CLOSES TODAYThirty-six White and Four Colored Patients are Examined
Here

The first week of the Pitt County Tuberculosis Clinic came to a close today.

This clinic is being conducted by Doctor W. F. Thornton, clinician from the Sanatorium, in cooperation with the local health department. Doctor Ennett, local health officer, states that 36 white patients and 4 colored patients have been given a complete chest examination. A tuberculin test, which is a skin test and used chiefly for children, has been given to 15 white children, no colored children so far having been tested.

Clinic examinations have been so much in demand that several days ago Doctor Ennett requested Dr. P. P. McCain, Superintendent of the State Sanatorium, to extend the time of the clinic for Pitt County, which was originally set for two weeks. Doctor McCain replied that the time of all the clinicians had already been signed up to late summer, and therefore he would be unable to extend the time of the Pitt County clinic. However, he suggested that he would be glad to give another week for Pitt County at the earliest possible date.

The schedule for the clinic for next week is as follows: Monday, Farmville; Tuesday, Ayden; Wednesday morning, Bethel; Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Greenville. Friday and Saturday have been reserved for the colored people only.

Doctor Ennett urges that no appointments be broken unless due notice is given the health department, in order that others on the waiting list may be given a chance.

The health officer expresses himself as much gratified with the cooperation of the physicians and the public with the clinic.

MANY DONATE TO BALL CLUBGreenville Club to Play Exhibition
Game Here With Tarboro Thursday

The canvass for funds of the Greenville baseball club of the Coastal Plain League will be completed next Tuesday and Wednesday, it was made known today by members of the board of directors who constitute the soliciting committee.

The drive for funds started Tuesday of last week and has been quite successful, the directors said. In fact, it was said that virtually everybody approached on the subject, donated liberally, declaring they were ready to do their part toward giving Greenville another victorious club this season.

Persons who have not contributed were urged to do so when the canvassers hit the trail again Tuesday and Wednesday.

With the majority of players expected to report for duty by May 28 arrangements have been completed for an exhibition game here with Tarboro, Thursday, May 30. The season will begin June 4 with Greenville playing in Arden and New Bern here the following day.

Although "Bo" Farley, manager of the club will not be able to report for duty before June 2, it was said that workouts would begin with the arrival of the vanguard of players between now and May 28th.

One player, Paynick, who was released by Detroit after playing three games, has already arrived in Greenville, and is in fine trim for the opening game. He is a right-handed pitcher, and is expected to give the opposing seven clubs of the league considerable trouble, it was said.

The whole club will not be on the field before June 7 due to the fact that three or four are to graduate from college this year. They include Reynolds May and "Ty" Wagner, last season's pitcher and catcher, who have rendered outstanding service with Duke again this year.

Enlargement of grandstand and bleachers is already under way at Third Street school grounds where games will be played this season, and these will be completed in ample time for the beginning of play.

Due to the fact that the playing will open with Greenville playing away from home no special exercises are anticipated for the first game here, although the mayor or some other notable will be given the distinction of tossing the first ball out on the diamond.

TACOMA LADNotes Demanding
$200,000 Received
by Parents of Missing
Boy

Tacoma, May 25.—(AP)—A note demanding $200,000 ransom for the return of the missing George Weyerhaeuser, nine-year-old son of the billion dollar timber family, has been delivered to his parents, reliable sources said here today.

These same sources, which refused to be quoted directly said the note threatened death to the lad should the police or the press be notified.

The resources of the Department of Justice were thrown into the search for the lad. Four operators arrived from Portland, employees of the Tacoma airport said, while W. K. Bowling, agent stationed at Seattle was also here.

J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the bureau of investigation in Washington, said agents were working on the case.

Meanwhile an intensive search was being made throughout the city for the boy who dropped out of sight while returning home from lunch yesterday afternoon from the Lowell school.

Authorities indicated their refusal to comment was based on the fear that the boy's life might be endangered if they interfered.

GERMANY ASKS
RECOGNITION
ON MANDATESSays Her Rights to Colonies Must Be Given Tangible
Form by the Allies

London, May 25.—(AP)—Germany has informed Great Britain that her right to hold colonies must be recognized in some tangible form by the former allies before she will return to the League of Nations, well informed British quarters said today.

The German attitude toward colonial possessions and mandates was clarified in an interview yesterday in Berlin by Sir Eric Phipps, British ambassador with Konstantin von Neurath, German foreign minister. It was officially disclosed here that Sir Eric was ordered to contact von Neurath to ask him questions regarding various questions raised by Adolf Hitler's Reichstag speech Tuesday. Britain, it was understood, plans to proceed as quickly as possible with the necessary steps to satisfy Hitler.

Von Neurath, it was understood, said Germany's demand for 35 per cent strength of the British navy would not be altered if she was granted her former colonies and mandates. He made it clear he does not want actual possessions of the colonies or mandates at the present time. Plans for an Anglo-German peace talks which probably will begin within ten days also were believed to have been discussed.

NEW DRIVER'S
PLAN STUDIEDRevenue Department
Officials Give Much
Time to License
Legislation

Reflector Bureau.
Sir Walter Hotel.

Raleigh, May 25.—Officials of the Department of Revenue are spending a good deal of time now studying the new state drivers' license law and working out the various application blanks and forms which must be adopted and printed before any licenses can be issued. Deputy George S. Scott of the Division of Accounts has already drawn up several trial forms for both the application blanks and the actual license forms to be submitted to the Commissioner of Revenue, J. C. Maxwell and Assistant Commissioner of Revenue M. C. S. Noble for their approval.

Several hundred letters have already been received from persons asking for application blanks for drivers' licenses. Scott said that since none of the forms have yet been decided upon yet, these applicants are being told that they will be a month or two before the license will be ready. It was hoped to get the application blanks and license forms ready as soon after July 1 as possible, but it may be August 1 before all of the machinery is ready for the distribution of the new drivers' licenses.

According to present plans, each applicant for a driver's license will have to fill out a form giving a complete history and description of himself or herself, including the color of the eyes and hair, height, weight, age, place of residence and other similar data. This form will have to be filled out in the presence of either a highway patrolman or a notary public, who must attest that the answers given to the various questions are true, in order to prevent falsification of descriptions and other information.

These forms will all be filed in the offices of the Director of Highway Safety here and will bear the same serial number as that portion of the form which is issued to the applicant and which will become his or her driver's license. These various forms will then be indexed and cross indexed both alphabetically and by number, so that whenever a driver is involved in an accident or arrested, this fact will be noted on his or her record card in the central files here. This system is also expected to prevent license change or transfer of drivers' licenses.

TO OUR GRADUATES
On Monday evening 89 young people will receive their diplomas from Greenville High School and we take this opportunity in advance to congratulate these young people upon their achievement in attaining this stage of their education. This year's class is not only one of the largest ever graduated here but is said from a scholastic standpoint to be one of the best classes. Considering the shortened school term together with other handicaps such a graduating class is a distinct credit to the members of the class as well as the school administration and its corps of teachers.

Upon receiving their diplomas some of these young people will next year continue their studies in fields of higher education, while others will probably go forth into the world's daily battle of life. To each of these individuals in their chosen fields of endeavor we extend our best wishes and hope that in years to come their records of achievement will be such that they can look back upon them with the feeling of a task well done.

NEW E. C. T. C. PRESIDENT
(Goldsboro News-Argos)
June 1 will mark a new era in the history of East Carolina Teachers College at Greenville. On that date Dr. Leon Renfro Meadows will be inaugurated as president of the college.

Dr. Meadows has been acting president since the death of that great leader, Dr. R. H. Wright, some months ago. Dr. Meadows has been for a number of years an outstanding member of the faculty. In that capacity and since he has been acting president, he has demonstrated that Dr. Wright's toga has fallen on worthy shoulders. Dr. Meadows has already entered fully into the life of this part of the state—a life on which E. C. T. C. has left a noble imprint since its founding. The manner in which he has "taken hold" of his job already augurs well for a splendid administration of the college under him.

BAD NEWS

"It's so difficult," thought Alison unhappily. "If I told father, he mightn't believe me! And she'd find some way of wringing out of it. After all, I can't prove what I saw; it's going to be my word against hers."

And if it came to that, she felt certain, her father would choose to believe Daphne Sumers.

"She'd only say that I'd made it all up," she thought despairingly. "Anyway, can it be right to tell tales? Is it ever right to do wrong?"

So miserably to know! She might only succeed in hurting her father without doing any good. Perhaps the best way would be to go direct to Daphne herself and tell her that she had been found out!

It was still early when Alison got off the bus at Knightbridge. In any case, her father would not be at home before five. She would finish off her shopping, she decided, try and make up her mind what she must do then.

But she was still uncertain as to what was right when at last she got home.

Sitting in her own chair by the fire, alone with him, pouring out his China tea, poking the big logs on the fire to make them blaze, as she had done hundreds of times before, she found it harder than ever to make up her mind.

She could not listen properly to his description of his day, his lunch with Daphne and two old friends, some gossip he had brought home from the club, the latest political scandal; she assented at random, trying to make up her mind to plunge.

"Father," she drew a deep breath and got as far as that but Robert, still chuckling over his last joke as he lit a cigar, broke in before she could finish.

"By the way, did Daphne tell you about our new plan?"

Alison pulled herself together with a jerk.

"No. As a matter of fact, I missed her this afternoon."

Was he going to ask why? For a second she held her breath.

"Oh? You haven't seen her then?"

"No."

"Oh, we settled everything at lunch!" Robert was pleased to be able to break the news himself, he had rather a childish love of being the first and he did not notice Alison's expression of relief.

"She and I were talking things over," he went on cheerfully, "and we both felt that there's no real reason why we should wait a whole six weeks to get married. I was waiting because your aunt wouldn't be back from India to look after you, but Daphne says that she would much rather that you came with us."

"On your honeymoon?" All Alison's anxious thoughts were scattered by this bombshell. She stared at her father blankly.

"Yes," he laughed rather shyly. "We're not a young couple, my dear, to be romantic about that. She says you'd enjoy it. Daphne thinks it'd be great fun having you with her while I'm playing with my botanical collection. You see we've decided to go to Spain now, the Southern Pyrenees, instead of Madeira, and you'd love that."

"I think I'd feel horribly in the way," Alison could not keep the sheer dismay out of her voice.

"Nonsense! How could you be in the way? We both want you." He patted her shoulder.

"Father, please—honestly, I'd rather not!" It came out with a rush. I'd much rather stay in the house alone, if Aunt Emily isn't back in time!

"I thought you'd be pleased," Robert looked upset and very hurt. "I think it's sweet of you both to want me." She got that out with an effort.

"We do want you. Surely that's enough?" There was a note of annoyance in his voice now.

"But I'd rather stay here." In her despair, Alison plunged. "I want to talk to you about that. You see, I've been thinking things out and I think I want to take up some work."

Pos. master General Farley.
The so-called "G" men have grabbed off most of the glory, due largely to their flair and desire for publicity. Other detective agencies equally clever and sometimes more productive of results think it better to function in obscurity—the Secret Service, Elmer Irey's Internal Revenue agents, the postal inspectors and Louis Glavis' "opp" in the Interior Department. They have jailed some of the nation's worst crooks without any flourishes and ruffles, but the D of J men get the credit.

There may be a showdown soon, although the Cabinetiers involved prefer to avoid it. But Irey's Treasury operatives are getting tired of being called "G" men when they snare a Capone, a Dutch Schultz, a Huey Long satellite or a Murray Humphreys. They like to be known as "Treasury agents." The postal inspectors and the Glavis sleuths who do their work so silently but effectively are fed up too.

RECOGNITION: Senator Joe Guffey isn't advertising it but the Pennsylvania has started an active campaign to land the 1936 Democratic national convention for Philadelphia. He has the arguments and the money, and he is making headway in influential circles.

Political history long ago punctured the myth that the site of a convention effects the vote in nearby territory, but the most practical politicians still succumb to that argument. Recalling the Democrats' surprising victory in the Keys, one State in 1934, Senator Guffey demands this sort of recognition as a reward and as an incentive to future Democratic triumphs.

There are today no serious competitors to Joe's town. If the meeting place here to be chosen tomorrow it would go to the City of Brotherly Love.

GUIDANCE: Close students of the stock market insist there is conclusive evidence of skillful old-fashioned "rigging" ever since the middle of March. Analysis shows that there have been a series of buying drives spaced ten days or two weeks apart and managed in a manner to indicate professional sponsorship.

They contend that these movements have been deftly handled and not overdone. After each lift is run up nature was allowed to take its course for some days until prices began to sag noticeably. Then the performance would start again.

The initiative for these moves has undoubtedly come from traders seeking profits. But it's pointed out that the Securities Commission must have noticed the signs of guidance—though it has made no move to interfere. Insiders figure it is probably keeping hands off because a creeping bull market fits administration wishes. From FDR's viewpoint an advance is certainly preferable to a decline. A runaway boom would be dangerous because of its boomerang possibilities. If one should develop Joe Kennedy would be almost sure to step in. But apparently everything is O. K. as long as the boys are content with stalling their show on a modest scale.

LAURELS: Conservatives have no intention of allowing the social legislation enacted this year in New York State to stand unchallenged. They are especially upset about the unemployment insurance act which they allege will add $100,000,000 to the state treasury and that none is likely to develop for some months. Wall Street has lots of fun supposing what would happen to a corporation which applied to the Securities Commission for permission to sell stock with as vague an idea of what it was going to do with the proceeds as the government has about using its relief appropriation.

Mrs. Raper Bridge Hostess. Complimenting Mrs. Robert Lang and Mrs. G. B. Starling, Jr. recent brides, Mrs. John Raper of Lexington, was a charming bridge hostess yesterday afternoon at the home of her mother, Mrs. O. G. Guiley, on Fifth street.

Vari-colored cut flowers made an artistic background for the attractively appointed bridge tables.

On arrival of the guests the hostesses, assisted by Mrs. Guiley, served a delicious salad course with spiced tea.

As reminders of this delightful affair, Mrs. Lang was presented Madeira linen gillow cases and Mrs. Starling a pitcher in emerald glass. Miss Louise Winslow, bride-elect of June, was presented a brass ash tray and Mrs. Parkhill Jarvis of New Bern, a sapphire glass flower bowl.

Mrs. T. H. Boykin was winner of a lovely vase for high score prize.

Miss Hunter Speaks At College. Miss Loraine Hunter made a delightful talk on "God in the Great Out-of-Doors" at the last meeting of the college science club for the year. Initiation of new members and a social in their honor followed the program.

Miss Hunter in her talk brought out the point that there is a great guiding power in nature which changes chaos to cosmos. Her talk was richly illustrated with the many human-like characteristics of the lower animals, especially the insect. In closing, she held up man, who is 35,000 times larger than many of the small animals, as the supreme creation.

With the aid of a skeleton and a few chemical experiments personally applied, the old members initiated the new members into the club. The meeting closed with a social hour of games and refreshments.

Under the direction and inspiration of Miss Hunter's wise advisorship, the club has had a wonderfully full year.

Noted Orchestra Here Tonight. Enoch Light and His International Orchestra, who will give a concert tonight at East Carolina Teachers College, at 8:30, are due to arrive here this afternoon by special bus, coming directly from New York City, for this one southern engagement, before they open their summer season at the MacAlphin Hotel in New York City.

The members of this group are versatile musicians and will present a program of not only orchestra numbers but of solos. Light himself sings solos and Miss Mary Davis gives both song and dance solos that have been exceedingly well received.

This orchestra has played at the Swankiest resort hotels both in America and Europe. They have made a big reputation on both sides of the Atlantic in dance and concert orchestra programs, and with their radio programs. They are also well known for their Victor records. They are under contract to appear soon in musical shorts for Paramount Pictures.

The concert will be in the Campus building.

Not only those who love popular orchestra music may expect a great treat, but other music lovers will be interested in the splendid program this evening.

TO MOTHER

(Lovingly dedicated to my mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Myers, who slipped away to be with God on May 26th, 1919.)

Seventeen years ago my dearest mother, You left us and slipped away— To live with God and his angels In that land of an endless day.

There is never a moment, dear mother, That we do not miss your smile. Life's burdens seem heavy without you, And we long for you all the while.

In that "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere" With those loved ones you lost for a while We know you are happy together In the sunshine of God's smile.

Some day when our journey is ended, We are coming to be with you. We are trying to live as you taught us— Following your example so true.

Until that day, precious mother, We will work and patiently wait To behold your face in its beauty At the threshold of heaven's gate.

We know you will be there to meet us, And gladly welcome us home. We will live there securely sheltered From all of life's tempests and storms.

(Written by Mrs. Milton White on Mother's Day, 1935.)

Mrs. Ryan Hostess. Mrs. W. A. Ryan was gracious hostess on Tuesday afternoon to the Literature Department of the Woman's Club at her home on Eighth street. Roses and other colorful spring flowers were used to decorate the living room where the members were received.

Mrs. Charles Horne, chairman, presided. After the formal opening including the usual response to roll call with interesting current events, Mrs. Ryan read outlines of two tentative programs arranged by the committee for next year's study, one of which was adopted. The program committee named at a former meeting is composed of Mrs. R. J. Slay, Miss Elizabeth Hyman and Mrs. J. H. B. Moore. But, as the latter will be out of town during the summer months, at this meeting Mrs. Horne appointed Mrs. W. C. Harris a member of the committee to take the place of Mrs. Moore. Mrs. Harris accepted the appointment.

Mrs. W. H. Woolard told of Mrs. Moore's gratitude in accepting the fifty-three cocktail glasses for the club, given by this department, and presented to her with an appropriate bit of verse at a meeting of the Garden Club on Friday afternoon.

It was announced that the same officers would serve another year. These are: Mrs. Charles O. Horne, chairman; Mrs. J. N. Hart, secretary; and Mrs. W. C. Harris, reporter. These officers were given a rising vote of thanks and appreciation for their devoted year's service, and for their gracious consent to accept the work for another year.

Mrs. Horne then turned the meeting over to Mrs. Leo Burks, chairman of the program committee for this year, who introduced Miss Naomi Newell of New Jersey, a student at the college, as guest speaker for the afternoon, the subject of the program, Albert Schweitzer.

Miss Newell has a very pleasing personality, an agreeable voice and a most happy manner in speaking. She based her talk upon Schweitzer's fascinating book "Out of My Life and Thought."

Albert Schweitzer, a man of many gifts and enormous energy, was born in Germany Jan. 14, 1875. He came from a family of able musicians and fine musicians. Coming into the world with the hypersensitive nature of the poet, he dared to express his individuality and to be himself at all times, everywhere. He loved nature and worshipped ever at the shrine of beauty.

After Schweitzer possessed two degrees, was the author of several books and had become a great professor, a great organist and recognized as the greatest living authority on the life of Bach. He realized he had not yet found himself.

When Schweitzer finally came to himself at the age of 30, he began the study of medicine from the ground up, eventually receiving his M. D. degree and going as a medical missionary to Africa.

Albert Schweitzer has been called one of the ten true Christian in the world of today, a man who has solved the ineffable mystery of Jesus in the lives of men. For Schweitzer, Christ has become the Man Somebody Knows.

At the close of Miss Newell's charming talk, the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Horne and Miss Victoria Jackson, served a most attractive and delicious ice course.

This delightful meeting was the last of the club year and the members parted rather reluctantly to meet again in September.

—Reported.

D. A. R. Meets. One of the most delightful meetings of the year was enjoyed by the Colonel Alexander McAllister Chapter D. A. R. Friday afternoon, when Mrs. T. A. Person was hostess. Colorful flowers added charm to the spacious living room and library.

Mrs. W. B. Murphy of Snow Hill, the regent, was in charge, and after the formal opening, including the flag salute and the American's creed, Mrs. Robert Lely of Snow

Hill, rendered the chaplain's service, closing with Kipling's "Recessional."

The several items of business being soon dispensed with, the regent gave some highlights of the conference recently held at Washington.

Mrs. Robert Rouse of Kingston, was then presented, who spoke on the Sir Walter Raleigh of the recent session of the legislature. This address was most instructive and inspiring.

Mrs. C. Felix Harvey of Kingston, was then introduced. Mrs. Harvey, having recently returned from a two months' cruise, chose the "Island of Madeira, its harbor, flora, and mountain scenery," upon which to base her remarks. This proved next to seeing the island ourselves.

Miss Lelia Higgs was next presented and she spoke most instructively on the National Housing Act, leading step by step to the interior of the home, and showing many new designs in paper, and many new fabrics for draperies and upholstery.

Besides the regular members attending, the following guests added pleasure to the occasion: Mrs. Samuel Hinsdale McRae of Fayetteville, Mrs. Robert Rouse, Mrs. Dan Quinley, Mrs. Jack Parrott of Kingston, Mrs. Delia McGee and Miss Lelia Higgs of Greenville.

Mrs. Person assisted by her sister, Mrs. W. B. Tilghman, served a most delectable salad course.—Reported.

Senior Play. Today thirteen young actors are finding it difficult to acknowledge gracefully all the compliments that have come to them for their delightful interpretations in the high school senior play, "Wait For Me," which was given in the high school auditorium last night at eight o'clock. A large and enthusiastic audience approved the play from the opening lines until all complications were settled.

Much of the success of the production is due to Inez Whitman, who played so convincingly the role of a wealthy old maid aunt with a peculiar heart. Mary Agnes Walker, as the innocent, naive, flirtatious member of the cast, instantly won favor with the audience. As heroine of the production, Marian Wilson seemed quite at home on the stage and with utmost ease displayed her charm and poise. Perhaps none of the girls were more genuinely realistic in their roles than Mary Council Horne and Helen McGinnis. Each of these actresses entered into her part with an enthusiasm which is unusual among amateurs. Among the leading female characters were Doris Tucker, who played the young sister of the peculiar aunt, deserves much credit for her sympathetic interpretation of a difficult role, a role which required that her personality be submerged at all times. The minor parts were no less well done than the major ones. Mabel Ruth Williams proved herself quite good in the mysterious stutterm role of the girl who did so much of the waiting. The French maid, who wasn't French at all, was done by Martha Jane Gates, and those who saw her agreed that better maids aren't to be had among high school players.

The boys were equally good in their roles. Much of the complication of the play centered around Carl Langley, a young married man who was on the verge of being married again against his will. This part was effectively done throughout the play, but especially so when he and his wife disagreed. The young doctor, Neal Herring, proved quite a polished actor; and before the play was over found himself in the role of lover, too. Among the most delightful actors should be mentioned Herbert Scoville who seemed perfectly cast for his delightfully humorous role. After having, finally arrived during the third act and settled all complications with utmost smoothness.

Leo Burks, a little man with a big hat and a big cigar, played the detective with real finesse and was thoroughly appreciated by the audience.

The stage committee designed the best set that has been used in any high school production for years. This work was supervised by John Siz. His assistants were Grady Bell, Charles Musselwhite, Charles Wooten, Harding Sugg and Neal Herring.

The business committee was headed by Charles Musselwhite. His assistants were Lane Roberts, Glenn Brooks, Harding Sugg, Helen Foley, Mary Thomas Smith, Doris Clarke, Charles Wooten, Sam Dees and Earle Shuff.

During intermissions the high school band under the direction of H. R. McDougall, furnished music. The director of the play, Mrs. Coleman, deserves much commendation for her excellent cast and superior coaching. The play was indeed a finished production.

They also witnessed actual demonstrations of vaccinating the animals against the disease. Around a dozen dogs of various ages were vaccinated.

Sheriff Whitehurst stated he had ordered 1,000 doses of the anti-rabies serum and that as soon as this arrived he would notify the inspectors of the dates for beginning administering treatment.

LIQUOR ISSUE MUDDLED IN THIS STATE

Counties Along the Virginia Border to Suffer as Result of Assembly Action

Raleigh, May 25.—The people over the state seem to be pretty well satisfied with what this session of the general assembly did with the exception of what it did with regard to the liquor question. Representative R. Gregg Cherry of Gastonia, who was chairman of the house finance committee and is now being prominently spoken of as the leading candidate for speaker of the house in 1937, said while here on legal business Friday.

"There seems to be almost complete agreement everywhere that the legislature made a complete mess of the liquor situation and that it would have been much better if it had enacted some sort of a reasonable state-wide liquor control law instead of the patch-work law it finally passed, permitting only 17 counties and two townships to vote on whether or not they will set up county liquor stores," Cherry said. "Most of the people seem to feel that if any counties should have been permitted to vote on this question, all of them would have been given this right."

Representative Cherry pointed out, however, that under either the Hill liquor store bill or the Day liquor control bill, the people in the various counties would have had the privilege to vote, by counties, on whether or not state liquor stores should be set up in those counties. He also pointed out that it was the refusal of a minority of drys to make any kind of compromise that finally resulted in the enactment of the present patch-work liquor laws under which only 17 counties may vote on establishing liquor stores.

October sold off from 1182 to 1175 but by the end of the first half hour had recovered to 1179 with the general market about 5 to 11 points higher.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, May 25.—(AP)—Europe's gold standard troubles put a damper on stock market bullishness today and prices staged an orderly retreat. A few lists closed easy. Transfers were 550,000 shares. Action of the Bank of France in boosting its discount rate from 3 to 4 per cent—it was raised Thursday from 2 1/2 to 3—tended to confuse traders, many of whom decided to adjourn to the sidelines pending further indications as to whether the gold bloc is nearing collapse. Grains were in a declining mood. Bonds were irregular.

Late News Flashes

Belief that eastern gangsters kidnaped George Weyerhaeuser, 9, son of a wealthy lumber family, and demanded $200,000 within five days for his safe return, was expressed today as the Department of Justice rushed agents here to aid in the search.

After Department of Justice agents arrived here and more were reported on their way in an effort to find the son of the rich timber family of Washington and Minnesota.

United States Marshals A. J. City at Seattle, said he believed eastern gangsters had engineered the kidnapping.

"This looks like a big league job," Chitty said. "There was talk at first that it was done locally but we have assumed now that 'out-aiders' some 'big shot' gangsters from the east may be mixed up in it."

The ransom note, it was learned, demanded an answer by placing an ad in a Tacoma paper and police officials here prepared a reply. But at the request of the Department of Justice agents the ad was not inserted.

Unnumerable hideouts were available for the kidnapers among the wooded and little populated area of the islands of Puget Sound.

The missing boy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Weyerhaeuser, Jr., who came here two years ago from Idaho. The lad was born in Lewiston, Idaho.

Carried With Arson.

Raleigh, May 25.—(AP)—Jack Willard, co-master of the Carolina Pines Riding Academy, today was formally charged with arson and placed under $5,000 bond in connection with the mysterious burning of the Zander Hill Riding Club and seven saddle horses, valued at about $3,000, early Friday morning.

Infantile Paralysis Increases.

Raleigh, May 25.—(AP)—Reports of one new case of infantile paralysis in Wayne county made a total of 19 cases officially reported to the State Board of Health this month, while four others have been listed in Harnett and Sampson counties, according to information here.

The official total of 19 cases thus far for May compared with previous all time high of six for any May in the state, and an indication of the seriousness of the situation when new cases are being reported daily, may be seen in the fact that only 21 reported in the entire United States for the week ending May 4th. This state contributed two of those. Though State Board of Health officials are hesitating about saying the outbreak is an epidemic, Dr. J. C. Knox, epidemiologist, said the centralization of six cases in Wake county and five in Pitt in the last ten days presented "an ominous factor."

Dr. Knox pointed out that the principal cause of worry over the prevalence of the disease in such numbers at this season is that usually the number of cases increases each month during the summer and drops off again in August and September. In 19 weeks this year the entire United States reported only 459 cases of infantile paralysis. Dr. Knox said but the prevalence was accelerating during the week May 4 and May 11.

Convicted of Manslaughter

Wilmington, May 25.—(AP)—J. B. Lewis and Luther Hargrove were convicted of manslaughter here today for the death of Cole G. Pringle, and Judge Paul Frizzelle sentenced them from 10 to 12 years in state prison.

The pair served notice of appeal to supreme court. They were alleged to have thrown Pringle, a linotype operator down a flight of stairs during a brawl at a speakeasy they are accused of operating at the time—last December 23.

Lewis and Hargrove were convicted before noon today after the jury had deliberated since last night. Sentence was delayed while Judge Frizzelle heard arguments on a defense motion that the verdict be set aside which he denied.

Seek to Drown Administration Program

Washington, May 25.—(AP)—Week-end lull settled over congress today but behind the scene were many signs of quiet maneuvering to drown out quickly the administration's legislative program.

Many left the city for a short holiday including President and Mrs. Roosevelt. With a party of friends they motored to nearby Annapolis to see their son Franklin, Jr., row with the Harvard crew.

Important in the minds of the house leaders remaining behind was strategy to force through an NRA extension bill next week and get it to conference with the senate without further delay.

A tentative plan is to prepare a measure extending the recovery agency for 21 1/2 months, jam it through the house and then try to win over the senate which has voted for a nine and one-half months' continuance. Senate leaders have said they would not accept a longer extension and a protracted tussle is in prospect. The present act expires June 16 leaving little time for long argument.

AAA officials kept an eye on the midwest wheat belt today where former balloted on whether the government should continue its efforts to control production.
