Taxi Cab Operators Strike In Washington Ceremonial

CAPITAL IS NOW FACING TRAFFIC TIE-UP

Hundreds Quit Work As Result of Alleged "Insult" by Charges of Excessive Rates; Transportation Facilities Threatened by Situation

Washington, June 10.—(AP)—Declaring they had been "insulted," hundreds of tax cab drivers went on strike today in the midst of the national convocation of Shriners which taxed the transportation facilities of the capital to the utmost.

Leaders said the drivers were protesting against insults flung at them in connection with the handling of the Shrine traffic. They expressed resentment at a published statement by William A. Roberts, people's counsel for the District of Columbia, informing Shrine delegates that taxi drivers could not charge them more than regular zone rates.

The drivers declared that Roberts' statement made it appear they had been trying to "kiss" the visitors while they had no intention of doing so.

Some visitors to the city reported on the other hand that some of the drivers charged them more than the regulation rates.

With 100,000 visitors pouring into the city to watch the elaborate ceremonies and festivities of the 61st annual convention of the Ancient Mystical Order of the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine authorities feared a serious situation might develop.

Resentment also was expressed by leaders of the strikers at action they said had been taken by the General Motors Company in connection with the Shrine convocation. They said the company had provided 350 cars to transport Shrine officials about the capital free of charge and that they did not think it fair for them to be used on sight-seeing trips to Arlington National cemetery, Mount Vernon and other outside points.

COUNTY COURT NEW PLATES IS POSTPONED FOR CARS HERE

Tomorrow's Sitting Called off on Account of Chapel Hill Gathering

The regular weekly session of county court scheduled for tomorrow has been postponed to the following week because of the absence of officials and lawyers who are attending the Institute of Government at Chapel Hill.

Announcement of the postponement was made Friday afternoon by Judge Dink James, who said that he and numbers of city and county officials as well as several lawyers planned to attend the Chapel Hill sessions. Judge James also indicated that all jail cases were cleared away last week making the postponement possible without injury to the docket.

It was understood today that numbers of police and county officers would be absent the last part of the week attending the school for officers to be given as a part of the Institute of Government program. Officers from this county attend these sessions each year and it was said by their leaders that much good resulted from contacts with officers from other parts of the county.

Numbers of officials left Greenville today and others are expected to leave tonight and early tomorrow for Chapel Hill to hear the opening speakers of the gathering.

Ex-Convict Ball Star Ruled Out Of Minor League

Albany, June 10.—(AP)—Edward G. Pitts, the Alabama lad who made "Sing Sing" famous on the athletic fields was ruled ineligible today to play ball in the minor leagues because he is an ex-convict.

The decision was made by the head committee of the National Association of Minor Leagues. It means that Kennesaw Mountain Landis probably will have the final say on the legality of Pitts' contract with the Albany club of the International League.

Gorky Plans Bolshevik Eulogy
Moscow (AP)—Soviet writers have been invited by Maxim Gorky to collaborate in writing a book designed to show that socialist development has created a new and happier type of Russian citizen. The book will attempt to prove that under the bolsheviks the average man has achieved more prosperity and "dignity" than ever before in Russian history.

LEGION WILL SPONSOR BALL OUTFIT HERE

Thirty Eight Boys Respond to Call For Practice Over Week-End

Pitt County Post No. 39 American Legion, is sponsoring an American Legion Junior Baseball team. In answer to the call for candidates for the team, 38 boys reported at Third Street Park Saturday morning. Department Athletic Officer Thos. J. Swain, Commander June Rose, and Legionnaire Dave Moore had charge of the boys and explained the department rules and assisted the boys in filling out entry blanks. Immediately following the first practice was held at the college baseball park, the move being necessitated on account of the league team practice at the high school park.

A second practice was held at the college park this morning and most of the boys were back. Bob Eason, former star athlete at Greenville High School and East Carolina Teachers College, and coach at West Edgecombe school the past year, was in charge of candidates at both practices and may become permanent coach for the team.

Although there were a number of boys that looked good in the workouts, Athletic Officer Swain was disappointed in that a number of towns and communities in the county were not represented. Most of the boys were from Greenville, Ayden, Winterville and Stokes.

Bethel, Grimesland, Grifton and Farmville were not represented. The squad was cut down to around 25 after this morning's practice. The next work-out will be held at Third Street School park on Wednesday morning at nine o'clock, and it is hoped that the towns and communities not represented Saturday and today will have some boys on hand to try out for the team.

Legionnaires and others interested in getting boys to try out for the team are requested to bear in mind the fact that no player is eligible who will have attained the age of 17 prior to midnight, June 30th, this year.

The State of North Carolina is divided into 20 districts—1 to 20 inclusive—which districts are the same as set off for all Legion administration. The districts are divided into three divisions which are the same as set off for all Legion administration.

Each district is expected to produce a championship team, and district champions will in turn play for divisional championship, and divisional champions will play for the state title.

MORGENTHAU SWAPS FEDERAL SECURITIES

Washington, June 10.—(AP)—Secretary Morgenthau today confined the Treasury's June financing to a swap of new securities for old.

Without seeking any new money he offered five-year Treasury notes at this quarterly financing period, paying 11-2 per cent annually in exchange for two maturities $416,602,800 in 3 per cent notes falling due June 15 and $353,865,000 of 15-8 per cent notes payable on August 1.

Cash may be demanded for maturing debts which are not turned in for the new securities. But cash subscription for the new notes will not be considered.

New money demands of the Treasury recently have been met by weekly sales of $100,000,000 in short term bills against a weekly maturity of only $75,000,000. Lately this program has been supplemented by offerings of 10-12 year bonds on a "highest bid" basis and to a small degree, by sales of "baby bonds."

BUYS SCREEN RIGHTS TO "GREEN PASTURES"
Hollywood, June 10.—(AP)—Purchase of the screen rights of the famous stage presentation of "The Green Pastures" was announced today by Jack L. Warner of the Warner Brothers studio.

The price of the drama, a negro enactment of Bible stories, was not revealed, but it was reported that Marc Connelly, the author, had at one time demanded $170,000 for the screen rights.

Warner said Max Reinhardt, noted European stage producer now in Hollywood, may have charge of the filming of the play.

OFF FOR MEET AT CHAPEL HILL

City and county officials left today for Chapel Hill to attend the sessions of the Institute of Government which will hold forth there this week.

Acting Mayor H. H. Duncan and Alderman Vernon Parrish were among the officials leaving Greenville around noon and others were expected to trek toward the scene of higher learning this afternoon to be in readiness for the opening sessions of the institute.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Board of Aldermen last Thursday night Acting Mayor Duncan told the solons of the importance of the Chapel Hill sessions, declaring they should be able to obtain considerable information on activities of the last session of the General Assembly and also plans for releasing federal money to the various towns and cities during the next several months.

A school for police officers will be held during the latter part of the week and it was said today that a delegation of law enforcement officers from Greenville and Pitt county headed by Chief of Police George Clark and Sheriff Sam Whitehurst, would attend the sessions.

Numbers of speakers high in the life of the government will speak from day to day and much valuable information is expected to be imparted to the hearers.

This country has more than 160 municipal police radio stations, 34 state police radio stations, and 34 state police radio services in operation.

Chief of Police Clark said the negro confessed entering Jackson's Sutorium on the night of June 1 and making away with several suits of clothes.

Friday night, June 7, he entered a colored restaurant on First street and made away with soft drinks and candies. The following Saturday night he allegedly entered the Crystal Laundry and Home Grocery Store, making away with considerable loot at each place.

The police head said they had been looking for the negro ever since he snatched goods from the car of W. S. Dail and apprehended him while he was apparently making ready to enter the Smith-Hines Co., early Sunday morning.

Chief Clark said the negro had been off the roads two weeks, having served two terms for stealing goods from automobiles parked along streets of the city.

CHINA YIELDS TO DEMAND OF JAP MILITARY

Evacuation of North China Started by Chinese Troops Today, Reported

Tokyo, June 10.—(AP)—Chinese troops were reported in Japanese news dispatches today to have started the evacuation of North China, signaling the messages of China's complete surrender to the demands of Japanese military authority.

The reports said the threat of an occupation by General Jiro Minomura's war machine was sufficient to persuade the Chinese nationalist government to capitulate to the Japanese requirements for establishment of a new regime in North China.

As a consequence the Japanese press said the Japanese troops concentrated in Hopei province, although ready for action, will not be called upon to move south at least for the present. The report indicated that a precedent had been established conceding the Japanese army the right to dictate who shall administer and what troops shall be stationed in Hopei.

This area formed the heart of the old Chinese empire and contains the Chinese capital Peking as well as the last commercial metropolis of North Tientsin.

NEGRO HELD FOR ROBBERY

Joseph Little Charged With Robbing Five Places Here Since June 1

Joseph James Little, 20-year-old negro, who has served two terms on the roads for larceny, was arrested here early yesterday in connection with five robberies here since June 1st.

Give preliminary hearing in city court this morning, the negro was bound over to the next sitting of criminal Superior court under bond of $1,000. He was unable to arrange bail and was transferred from the city jail to the county jail.

Chief of Police Clark said the negro confessed entering Jackson's Sutorium on the night of June 1 and making away with several suits of clothes.

Friday night, June 7, he entered a colored restaurant on First street and made away with soft drinks and candies. The following Saturday night he allegedly entered the Crystal Laundry and Home Grocery Store, making away with considerable loot at each place.

Six Escape From Caledonia.
Raleigh, June 10.—(AP)—Six long term prisoners at the Caledonia prison farm in Halifax county, today knocked a guard in the head and escaped.

Capus M. Waynick, chairman of the Highway and Public Works Commission, which operates the prison division, was notified one of the prisoners who got away had been caught.

Caledonia officials reported that Floyd Johnson, a guard in charge of a group of prisoners in a field early today was struck over the head by one of the men as they escaped. Johnson was sent to the hospital but farm officials said it was not thought he was seriously hurt.

Reveal Plan To Escape.
Woodville, June 10.—(AP)—How their suspicions of one of their number caused nine negro convicts to reveal a plan to escape, was disclosed today by J. M. Tolar, superintendent of the state prison camp here.

Last week Tolar had Benson Jones, negro convict who had complained of being ill, removed from a cell block where a group of unruly prisoners had been confined.

Sunday Jones' former cellmate began beating him in the camp yard. Tolar asked the negroes why they attacked Jones.

"Because he told you about us cutting that window," one replied. The camp superintendent investigated and found the bars of one (Continued on Page Four)

ITALY WARNS GREAT BRITAIN

Premier Mussolini Asks Newspapers to Temper Criticism Against Britons

Rome, June 10.—(AP)—Premier Mussolini ordered Italian newspapers today to moderate the bitterness of their attack on Great Britain in connection with the Italo-Ethiopian dispute.

Although he did not command the press to suspend its anti-British comment entirely, the premier acting through his son-in-law, Count Cella Vico, under-secretary of state for the press and propaganda, enjoined publications to keep the tone of their campaign within certain limitations.

Il Duce is said to have been startled by the extreme degree of antagonism reflected in news articles of the last few days. The torrent of denunciation of Britain's attitude toward the East African crisis was contained on front pages and in editorials of the Fascist daily Ottobro, in which Britain was warned if they wanted war they might have it.

London, June 10.—(AP)—Word that Premier Mussolini has applied the soft pedal to the anti-British campaign in the Italian press served only slightly today to allay the concern with which Britain viewed the Italian-Ethiopian situation.

A. B. Corey Made Legion Speaker
Arthur B. Corey, State Senator and local attorney has been named a member of the National Speakers Committee for the American Legion Convention in St. Louis, September 23-26, it was announced today.

TWO PERSONS ARRESTED IN SALT LAKE CITY

Harmon Waley and Wife Nabbed For Participation in Weyerhaeuser Kidnapping; $15,000 of Kidnap Ransom Money Recovered From Car Abandoned by Man Being Sought

Salt Lake City, June 10.—(AP)—Federal agents were hot on the trail of one suspect in the George Weyerhaeuser case today while two alleged confessed members of the gang were in custody of agents here. The West's greatest manhunt broke wide open last night when J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Department of Justice, announced at Washington, D. C., that Harmon Waley, 29-year-old ex-convict and his 10-year-old wife had been arrested here and had confessed participation in the $200,000 kidnapping of the young Tacoma, Wash., lumber fortune heir.

A widespread search for William Mahan, also an ex-convict, was conducted at Butte, Montana, where he fled yesterday after deserting a motor car in which police discovered $15,000 of the ransom money.

Mahan was recognized by Detective J. E. Moore, but the suspect escaped when the officer was halted abruptly in the pursuit by a bullet.

Members of Mrs. Waley's family disclosed today that Waley was the son of a foreman in one of the Weyerhaeuser lumber mills in the Pacific northwest.

Mrs. Waley who was taken into custody as she allegedly attempted to pass a $5 bill which was identified as a part of the ransom money, is the daughter of George Thulley, member of an old Salt Lake City family. Relatives said she had never been in trouble before and that she married Waley about a year ago against the wishes of her family. They left Tacoma shortly after the wedding.

Waley was picked up at the house where the couple had been living and he also was reported by the Department of Justice to have confessed to the participation of Mahan.

Tacoma, June 10.—(AP)—"The law says death and it is death we will demand." That was the statement and promise of prosecuting attorney Henry H. Johnson of Pierce county today after he received word that two of the alleged kidnapers of the nine-year-old George Weyerhaeuser had been apprehended in Salt Lake City.

He declared the "snatchers" probably would be brought to trial in Tacoma in September, and that the death penalty would be demanded of the principals regardless of sex.

5,000 Canines Are Vaccinated In Pitt
Five thousand dogs were vaccinated in the series of clinics held in this county Friday and Saturday. It was made known today by Sheriff Sam Whitehurst, who is in charge of the campaign to reduce rabies in animals in this county.

Clinics are being conducted in all townships of the county and will be continued from day to day for the remainder of the month, the dates being set by the inspectors.

Sheriff Whitehurst said refusal to have the dogs vaccinated would result in the prosecution of the owners and slaying of the animals involved under court order. Persons who prefer to kill their dogs in preference to vaccinating them may do so if they desire, but those allowed to live must be vaccinated, the sheriff said.

THE NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

News Behind The News.

Washington

By RAY TUCKER

PLANNED. The administration and Big Business face each other like two kids who can't make up their minds whether to fight or be friends. Mr. Roosevelt has deliberately stepped down from the New Deal cab. He has invited private industry to take the throttle. That is the meaning of the confusing maneuvers at Washington.

Dan Roper's Business Advisory Council has split wide open in the face of his presidential debt. Some want to stoke up the "prosperity special" in a big way and shunt the Roosevelt train off the track for good. They are begging their colleagues to seize this opportunity to discredit NRA. They urge use of cash reserves to stimulate production and employment—even if it means temporary losses.

But politics and economics clash here. Anti-Roosevelt factions fear that he has outmaneuvered them—that he stands to win either way. Recovery without the NRA may prove their point. The voters may not be interested in academic arguments if good times return. Should NRA-less efforts fail, Mr. Roosevelt will be quick to exhort: "I told you so." Back to the Blue Eagle!

IRRITANT. The President neatly anticipated this dilemma. In fact, he welcomes it as an escape from his present predicament. Privately and publicly he has said, in effect, that Big Business is now on trial. He is willing to "let it stew in its own juice," as one adviser puts it.

Mr. Roosevelt shifted strategy suddenly. At first he decided to champion the people against the (Continued on Page Two)

Supreme Court. It seemed like a popular and dramatic issue. Then he beat a retreat which amazed some New Dealers. He complied scrupulously with the letter of Supreme Court law. He bowed himself out, and handed the baton to the NRA's critics—temporarily.
Other considerations directed the apparent retreat, though the White House does not emphasize them. Wall Street reacted bearishly to his call for a crusade against "horse-and-buggy" dicta. Even Democratic politicians sold short on Capitol Hill. Official promulgation of the codes' death was not handed to White House satisfaction. It irritated officialdom.

COUNSEL: Behind the scenes there has occurred a revision of the New Deal cast which may be more important than the drama on the stage. In mapping his future moves Mr. Roosevelt has turned from the "radicals" to the "conservatives" in his official family. Although he has not entirely abandoned the theorists he has temporarily dropped their theories and technique.
Those two NRA feudists—Don Richberg and Hugh Johnson—agree for once. They want the President to rush through another NRA measure as if the Supreme Court had not held up a red light of warning. Prof. Felix Frankfurter of Harvard advised him to go ahead as if nothing had happened to jolt him out of his tracks.
But his Cabinet advisers, who don't relish these outside volunteers, rebelled. Attorney General Cummings and Solicitor General Stanley Reed advanced legal and political realities. Secretary Morgenthau also bespoke caution. The stop-and-listen boys are now in high humor and standing.

LEAPING: New Deal economists barely stifled a groan when Mr. Roosevelt minimized application of NRA codes to government contracts grants and loans. What shocked them was his estimate that Federal expenditures for supplies amounted to only 1 per cent of the annual volume of production.
Republicans will seize on this admission. For two years the administration has contended that these expenditures of billions were designed to "prime the recovery pump." They were justified on no other basis. The federal government was supposed to be spending its way to general industrial activity. But 1 per cent is a paltry sum. It won't take us very far toward good times.

It may be a mistake to leap on this estimate, however. The President is to be understood. He predicted a Treasury deficit for the 1934-35 fiscal year of $2,000,000,000 more than the actual figure that will show on the books at the end of this month.

FLUID Washington looks, for Don Richberg to join the growing legion of Roosevelt's "forgotten men." It now numbers such luminaries as Dean Acheson, Lewis Douglas, Prof. Rogers, Prof. Warren, Hugh Johnson, Adolf Berle and Jimmie Moffett. But the fall of the Chicago lawyer is the most flaming of all the New Deal descents. So is the unknown reason for his apparent failure.

It is a typical New Deal romance. Mr. Richberg happens to be a fine artist as well as a brilliant lawyer. He composes operettas and theme songs, plays the violin, writes novels and tracks dashes off delightful bedtime verses, converses in Addisonian style. He has the temperance and breadth of mind of a virtuoso. He has been a lion of lions in capital salons.
But a poet and musician must have a certain fluidity of character. He must be able to see both sides—all sides—of any movement. Emotion rather than logic is his instrument. Mr. Richberg could not get rid of this dual or universal viewpoint. He never mastered the first lesson of politics, which is that a statesman should see and stand on one side of an issue. Thus he un-

STRANGE STORY
GUY peeled off his white overall and vanished.
Alison, sitting on a low chair, laughed again. All the way down in the Underground, she had wondered what their meeting would be like. But wherever her thoughts had wandered they had pictured nothing like this!
She had heard the sound of a car starting and in a minute he was back.
"There. Fats? Come on."
The shabby dark blue Rover was outside. As they came out into the main road, he looked down at her and asked, "You believed my letter, then?"
"I didn't even get it. You see, my stepmother burned it. And I've run away from home."
His reply was the last thing that she expected.

"And I've run away from home!" said Alison.
"Thank God for that!" he said. "If you hadn't come this morning, I was going to the police!"
"To the police?"
"Yes. He answered her amazed look with a nod. "But never mind that now. Tell me what happened."
Alison told him briefly of her interview in the theatre and what followed. His face grew white and set as he heard, and he muttered, "Good Lord!" and almost admiringly, "You know, she's clever! A clever devil!"
"Isn't she?" agreed Alison. "So you see, I didn't get your letter. Only I felt that if she could go to those lengths, tearing up my letters, and lying about me, she must be lying about you, too," she wound up breathlessly. "And—and I thought I'd come and ask you myself. I just want to know the truth."
He said contritely, "It's all my fault! I've been a complete fool not to trust you from the beginning."
"You mean, telling me—"
"That story. Yes. I realized last night, when you—wouldn't listen to me, what an abject, utter ass I'd been. If you knew how I've worried all night! I tell you, I was on the point of going to the police."
"But why?"
"It's rather a long tale. Let's find somewhere where we can talk."
They found a little basement cafe with bright copper covered tables.
It was 12:15. The place was just beginning to fill up but they chose a table, out of range of listening ears. Even after the waitress had taken their order, they sat for a moment, just looking at each other. Oddly satisfying, just to sit and look at him and smile!
"I'll have to go right back to the beginning, to just over a year ago," he warned Alison. "For you won't understand why I didn't tell the truth. It was silly of me—idiotic—I ought to have known that you couldn't have anything to do with it, but I'd been having a devil of a time

Whiteman At Atlantic Beach.
Atlantic Beach, June 10.—The largest throngs in the history of the beach are expected for the week-end when Paul Whiteman, "King of Jazz," and his world famous orchestra will play for a dance Saturday night at the beach casino and on the following Sunday afternoon will give a two-hour afternoon concert, from 3:15 to 5:15, in the casino.

Forty-five musicians and artists will accompany Whiteman for his programs here, every one of them an outstanding star in his or her own right. It is said to be the highest paid band in the country, this being Mr. Whiteman's way of getting the best talent.

Among the group, for instance, are Roy Barry, star pianist, who had a band of his own until seven years ago when he joined the Whiteman organization because he "admired Whiteman so much;" Ramona, who can play the piano as well as she can sing; Johnnie Hauer, the crooning baritone drummer; Bob Lawrence, the handsome baritone who aims eventually for grand opera; Jack Teagarden, who has been playing a sliding trombone since he was seven years old; Mike Pingatore, noted banjoist and guitar player; Frank Trumbauer, talented saxophonist and pianist; and the diminutive Durrell, five-foot singer and dancer from Texas, who is Whiteman's latest find as an addition to his entertainers.

The Whiteman orchestra made a big hit in East Carolina on the first visit here two summers ago, and Manager Robert W. Gordon of Atlantic Beach, considers the section very fortunate in having another opportunity so early to hear again this "Dean of Modern American Music."

If all the batons in the world were suddenly removed, Mr. Whiteman could still lead his band, for he has always had an odd, characteristic way of conducting with a movement of his right knee-cap. A second idiosyncrasy is that he must have for every program a large red carnation in his buttonhole. And a third peculiarity is that continuously he wears a gold good luck ring with a very known symbol of good fortune engraved on it from a four-leaf clover to a rabbit's foot. Perhaps that may help to account for his phenomenal success.

Last November's election brought out only 41 per cent of the qualified and authorized voters in this country.

TIGHTENING UP OF SALES TAX IN OFFING

Wholesalers Are Going to Find Regulations Restricted in New Changes

Reflector Bureau.
Sir Walter Hotel.

By J. C. BASKERVILLE

Raleigh, June 10.—Many changes are being made in the new sales tax rules and regulations being formulated by the Department of Revenue, and which will go into effect July 1 and supersede the present rules and regulations. It was learned from an authoritative source today.

The regulations governing wholesale merchants and wholesale sales are especially going to be tightened up, it was learned, so that merchants will no longer be able to sell goods in large lots to contractors, mills, factories, office buildings, and so forth, at wholesale prices, without charging the 3 per cent sales tax. The law expressly specifies that wholesale sales are those made for the purpose of re-sale only. Consequently all other sales must be retail sales, regardless of the quantity sold.

Another rather drastic change is going to be in the ruling applying to contractual services, which will not be subject to the sales tax. Thus no sales tax can be charged on the filling of prescriptions at drug stores, on garage bills at garages, charges made by contractors, plumbers or electricians—nor on the materials used by any of these in performing contractual services. Thus garages can no longer charge the sales tax on parts used in doing a repair job on automobiles, since the parts are included in the price charged for the entire repair job as part of the service performed. Nor can contractors or electricians or plumbers charge the sales tax on lumber, doors, windows, hardware, electric fixtures or appliances or plumbing fixtures installed under a contract.

"If an individual goes into an electrical store and buys several electric appliances, such as a refrigerator, washing machine and water heater, he must of course pay the sales tax," an official of the Department of Revenue pointed out. "But if he signs a contract with an individual or corporation for the construction of a house, to include such equipment as electrical appliances and plumbing and heating fixtures, the contractor cannot charge the sales tax to his client on these articles, since they are furnished as a part of the contractual service."

If a contractor, however, wishes to buy a keg of nails, 50 gallons of paint, bathroom fixtures and electrical fixtures for the construction of a house, he must either buy these direct from the manufacturer or else pay the 3 per cent retail sales tax, it was pointed out, since none of these articles are bought for re-sale but to be used in the rendering of a contractual service.

"We are going to rule that any sale that is not made for re-sale is a retail transaction and hence subject to the 3 per cent retail sales tax," this same official of the Department of Revenue continued. "As a result, if a contractor buys several kegs of nails or a mill buys an order of hardware from a local hardware store, they will have to pay the 3 per cent retail sales tax, instead of the wholesale tax, since it is impossible to construe such sales as being for re-sale. However, a carpenter or contractor or mill or office building can purchase materials needed from the manufacturer without having to pay either the wholesale tax or the retail sales tax."

"Thus a plumber can agree to install the plumbing and bathroom fixtures in a house, purchase the pipe and fixtures direct from the manufacturer and not have to pay any sales tax or charge any to the person for whom he is installing it under contract—for his selling his services as well as the materials. But if he should sell a bath tub and some pipe to a home owner and the home owner should install the pipe and bath tub himself, then the plumber would have to collect the retail sales tax, from the home owner."

During the past two years the rules and regulations have permitted merchants to sell large quantities of goods at wholesale prices and at the wholesale tax rate, regardless of whether the goods were sold for re-sale or not, it was pointed out. But the new rules and regulations are going to be much more strict, it was indicated. It is also believed they will bring in much additional revenue.

FISH WOULD REVIVE McNARY-HAUGEN BILL

Washington, June 10.—(AP)—Charging that the New Deal administration had "all but wiped out the export of American farm products," Representative Fish (R-N. Y.) announced today he would introduce a copy of the McNary-Haugen surplus control bill tomorrow.

Fish said the bill, passed by Congress and voted in 1928 would "offer a practical solution to the ruinous loss of our foreign markets for our farm exports." The New York

In The Salad

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

"QUACK-QUACK, how-do-you-do, quack-quack, how-do-you-do."

The guests were all greeting Mrs. Quacko and she was smiling her sweetest party smile and was a happy duck to be having such a lovely party.

"Such handsome invitations," some of the guests said. "How well you're looking, my dear duck," others remarked. "What a lovely place you have here," said some.

"Doesn't the food look simply delicious. It makes our duck beaks water, thinking that soon we'll have some of it."

"You must eat all you can. That's what it's here for," answered Mrs. Duck.

Mrs. Quacko was still feeling annoyed. She spoke to some of the little ducks.

"Was it true that you had Indians visiting Puddle Muddle?" And they told her all about their guests.

When one of them showed her Mrs. Quacko's painted feather which had been given to her by the Indians, it was all Mrs. Quacko could do to keep from becoming very angry.

The little ducks continued passing the food around on leafy trays which were fastened on supporting twigs. But the sight of the fine painted feather the little duckling was showing Mrs. Quacko, together with his description of what the Indian chief had said to Mrs. Quacko, proved too much for her. She meant to faint away so she would receive attention. Instead she fell right back into the big pond lily dish of salad that had not yet been touched.

"Oh dear, oh dear, what have I done?" quacked Mrs. Quacko miserably.

The sight of Mrs. Quacko in the salad was a most absurd one. She no longer had any dignity or grandeur. She looked messy, she was ashamed, and she was a very humble duck.

Mrs. Quacko, as such a good hostess, had plenty of extra salad. The lot into which Mrs. Quacko had fallen was as much for "show" purposes as anything else. Nor was Mrs. Quacko the kind of hostess to be disturbed by a little upset.

But now she was really pleased by this one. At last it was Mrs. Quacko who would really and truly have to apologize to her. Not only that—Mrs. Quacko would be ashamed of this for days and weeks to come. Mrs. Quacko had been awkward and that she never wanted to be.

She was receiving attention of a kind she did not like. The little ducks were giggling, holding their wings before their beaks to try to hide the amusement they felt, and the older ducks were looking surprised and all admiring the way Mrs. Quacko was behaving.

"There there," said Mrs. Quacko, "that's quite all right, Mrs. Quacko. I have plenty more. I do hope your feathers haven't been hurt in any way. Good pond water will quickly take out all the stains, I know."

Mrs. Quacko was grateful to Mrs. Quacko for behaving in this way, but her pride was dreadfully hurt.

She left a little after this swimming slowly and sadly down the pond.

"Don't let it worry you," shrieked Mrs. Quacko at the top of her duck voice.

DELEGATIONS TO ASK ROADS

State Highway Commission to be Organized by Request at Meeting Tuesday

Reflector Bureau.
Sir Walter Hotel.

Raleigh, June 10.—A large number of delegations will appear before the meeting of the State Highway and Public Works Commission here Tuesday to ask that numerous new roads be built. Chairman Capus M. Waynick said today.

An unusually large delegation is expected from Mecklenburg, Lincoln and Catawba counties to ask the commission to build a new highway from Charlotte to Newton by way of Denver, which would run across Lincoln county into Catawba. This route is now designated as N. C. Route 271 and at present is only a topsoil and gravel road. It would provide a more direct route from Charlotte to Newton and would make it unnecessary to go through Lincoln by Routes 27 and 16, as at present.

Another large delegation is expected from Dare county to ask the commission to build two new bridges, one across the Alligator river, to connect Tyrrell county with Dare, instead of the present ferry from Fort Landing over the East Lake, and a second bridge across Croatan Sound from the mainland to Roanoke Island, on which Manteo, the county seat, is located. These two bridges would greatly reduce the driving distance to Manteo, Nags

Head and Kill Devil Hill from inland points by at least 75 miles. At present it is necessary to go northeast from Williamston by way of Edenton, Elizabeth City and Currituck and then drive some 50 miles down "the banks" to get to Manteo and Oregon Inlet. But if these two new bridges should be built across the Alligator river and Croatan sound it would be possible to follow Route 90 straight on east from Williamston through Plymouth and Columbia on to Roanoke Island and Manteo.

Still another delegation from Dare county is expected to come here to confer with the highway commission with regard to plans for the removal of the tolls from the Dare county toll bridge connecting Nags Head with Roanoke Island, since the general assembly passed a bill authorizing such negotiations for the removal of the tolls from this bridge.

FRENCH ALSO HAVE MONSTER AIR LINER

Paris, June 10.—(AP)—France will send a giant new transatlantic air liner, called the world's largest seaplane, out to meet the Normandie at sea Wednesday morning.

The meeting in the ocean of the largest liner afloat and the huge flying boat is to symbolize France's hopes of ocean air and transport supremacy. The Normandie is returning from New York on her maiden voyage.

The new airliner, built to carry 76 passengers with speed and luxury across the ocean, recently underwent its first tests. The seaplane is propelled by six motors and is named "Lieutenant De Valseur Paris," after a distinguished French aviator.

It is 104 feet long, has a wingspread of 162 feet and is 30 feet high. Three years in the building, the plane cost $1,650,000. It has a cruising speed of 145 miles an hour.

LOCALS HAVE FINE RECORD IN THE FIELD

Nine members of the Greenville club of the Coastal Plain League have gone through the first five games of the season with perfect records in the field, it was indicated today by official fielding averages compiled by R. O. Moye, official scorekeeper.

The majority of the 1000 players comprise the "first string" contingent and includes no other than Skipper "Bo" Farley, who has taken over the task of holding down the peppy third corner.

The record is considered a very good one especially in view of the fact that the remainder of the roster are in the 800 field, very close to the perfect mark.

The club has been clicking like a well polished machine the last several days and, while it had chalked up three wins out of five games, it is expected a much better showing will be made this week now that the team has learned one another's idiosyncrasies and knows what to expect.

The fielding averages follow:

Three Players Released Here

Three members of the Greenville baseball club were given their release by Manager Farley yesterday. Those given their release were: Cheek, first baseman, Swails, pitcher and Traylor, pitcher. Paynic, a pitcher, left the squad the first of last week when he asked for his release.

With these four players gone that leaves a total of fourteen players on the roster. Each team is allowed to carry fifteen players.

Two Hurlers Lead Bat Race

Reynolds, May and "Fireball" Barley, both ace pitchers of Duke University, are leading the local club of the Coastal Plain League with the bat, according to official figures compiled today by R. O. Moye, official scorekeeper.

The two hurlers who have already played an important part in the five games the local club has played, appeared at the bat four times each and are credited with two hits apiece. The percentage is 500.

Taking a close second place is Billy Huskamp, right fielder from Duke University, who has a percentage of 400. Billy has been to the plate 20 times, obtained a total of 8 safeties, some of which were for extra bases. He has appeared in all five games played by the local club. Billy was one of the mainstays with the bat last season, especially in the championship series with Kingston, and his return to his old tricks has been greeted with interest by his many followers here.

Sullivan came next to Huskamp with eight hits out of 23 times at bat. He also has taken part in five games.

Here's the way all of the boys hit:

SALISBURY MAN IS BLAMED FOR DEATH OF PASSENGER

Salisbury, June 9.—Delma B. Austin, young white man of Salisbury, who was driving the automobile that turned over at Coolemele Friday afternoon and killed W. G. Harrison, 27, of Salisbury, was held by the Davis County authorities on a charge of manslaughter, reckless driving and driving while drunk. Funeral services for Mr. Harrison were held Sunday afternoon at Unity Presbyterian Church, at Woodleaf.

Harrison and Austin were both mill operatives but Austin states he did not know Harrison before the latter offered to pay for the gas if he would drive him to Coolemele. He states further that Harrison grabbed the steering wheel just before the car turned over.

AYDEN PLAYS GREENIES TO SIX-ALL TIE

Greenville and Ayden battled for ten minutes here yesterday afternoon in an exhibition game to a 6-all tie when the game was called due to rain; that all games must be called by six o'clock.

AUSTRIAN SALT SMUGGLED INTO AUSTRIA FOR PROFIT

Vienna.—(AP)—The complications of internal commerce when protected by tariff schedules and regulated by government monopolies have made even the smuggler's life more complicated.

This was strikingly illustrated on the Austro-Yugoslav border when the arrest of a gang of smugglers revealed that they were engaged in smuggling Austrian salt into Austria. The salt was produced in the government salt works near Salzburg and from there exported to Yugoslavia.

Swears He Lived With Redfern

New York Cotton

New York, June 10.—(AP)—Cotton opened easy 9 to 11 lower under moderate liquidation and a slow demand with foreign markets closed. Latter months eased and by the of the first hour the general market was 10 to 12 net lower at that time. Scattered selling backed October off to 11 1/2 and about 16 to 19 points on the more active positions. By midday the market had rallied about 2 to 4 from the lows. Futures closed steady 9 to 14 lower. Spots quiet.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, June 10.—(AP)—Speculators continued to absorb what little attention traders gave today's stock market.

Gains and losses generally were held to restricted limits with definite trends failing to appear. The NRA stop-gap dispute in the Senate may have held back some buyers, although this was quite feeble. Trade news on the whole was not unsatisfactory.

Cotton and grains did not move very far in any direction. Bonds were fairly steady. Foreign exchanges did little in view of the closing of leading European markets for the Whitehall holiday.

The late stock tone was irregular. Transfers were 550,000 shares.

Duke Estate Valued at $7,000,000
New York, June 10.—(AP)—A net estate of $7,496,447 was left by Benjamin M. Duke who died January 8, 1929, according to a transfer of tax appraisal filed today. Twenty-two charitable and religious institutions get bequests totaling $1,163,000 and the principal beneficiary is a daughter, Mary Duke Biddle, of New York.

The bulk of the estate was in securities valued at $6,144,287. Duke was a member of the family which made million in the tobacco industry.

The Anginer B. Duke Memorial, Inc., was bequeathed $300,000. The widow, Mrs. Sarah P. Duke of New York City was left real estate and personal effects totaling $583,283 and in contemplation of death it was also shown she received $63,121 in gifts.

Similarly, the daughter gets $1,000,000 and also the residuary share of $4,921,867.

Thirty-five personal beneficiaries received bequests of more than $600,000.

Public bequests included the North Carolina Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, Winston-Salem; Western North Carolina Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, Charlotte; and the Children's Home, Inc., of Winston-Salem, $50,000 each; I. O. O. F. Home, Goldsboro and Pythian Home Clayton, $5,000 each.

Shriners Meet In Washington.
Washington, June 10.—(AP)—The Shriners convention dominated Washington today. Red fezzes were seen everywhere, giving colors to the Senate and House galleries.

Amendments to the public utilities bill were considered by the Senate. The House moved steadily along with its work and debated District of Columbia legislation.

Democratic leaders were eager to dispose of the utilities measure in the Senate as soon as possible so as to take up the skeletonized NRA extension bill.

High Prices And A Big Demand Promised Alaska Farm Colony

By WILBUR SANDERS
"Alaska (AP)—Markets which pay prices considerably higher than those in the states are awaiting the first crops from the Matanuska agricultural project. Alaskan officials in charge of the colonization of the valley are positive a great demand will be made for fresh eggs, dairy products and vegetables if they are properly graded and systematically distributed. Don Irwin, colonization director for the Alaska Rural Rehabilitation corporation, believes the cooperative marketing and sales organization planned for the development here will prevent the financial failures suffered by many Alaska home steers.

Eggs: 50 Cents And Up
In the past, farm produce grown in the valley has been sold haphazardly with the result that consumers along the Alaska railroad belt have been unable to depend upon a steady supply and have been forced to rely upon imports.

Fresh egg prices at Anchorage, 40 miles from here, vary from 50 cents to one dollar a dozen with no fresh eggs available in the winter. Conservative estimates place the production of the cooperative poultry farm planned for the settlers at an average of 85 dozen a day.

Fresh milk and cream prices are about twice as high as in the states and butter is always a few cents more a pound. A calf prepared for market and weighing about 200 pounds has been selling for $50. Pork prices are considerably higher than outside.

$240,000 Annual Demand Seen
Pola sees bring $250 a hundred, with fresh and canned peas netting producers here at least seven cents a pound. Lettuce and string beans are always wanted by stores and restaurants.

O. F. Olson, general manager of the Alaska Railroad, estimates towns along the system from Seward to Fairbanks will consume at least $240,000 of foods from the Matanuska region annually with additional seasonal demand from military railroad maintenance crews and fishermen.

About six acres of the 40-acre tracts are expected to be cleared and ready for cultivation on each farm next year but in another season the project should be almost in full swing.

Crepe Print Latest Edict From Paris

By ADELAIDE KERR
Paris (AP)—New gauds mark the latest edition of printed crepe ensembles which Paris has voted "ace high" in chic and practicality for hot weather wear in town.

Sleeves are shorter, fastenings larger and new cuts appear in the wraps.

"Show at east part of your arm," seems to be the latest word on hot weather outfits, for short-sleeved jackets and sleeveless coats are much used to top the printed frocks, themselves designed with half or five-eighth length sleeves.

Colored Linings Popular
Big silver leaves, gold clovers and metal disks chained together clip the neck and waistlines of the frocks and their lightweight wraps. The fastenings have grown so large that only one or two can be used on one model.

The wraps, nearly always made of the same printed fabric as the frock, run all the way from a short cape to a long coat. There are very loose backed three-quarter length coats with scarf waistcoats in front, loose five-eighth length jackets and hemlength coats, sometimes lined with a contrasting color. That lining of contrasting hue is a favorite touch this year. One of the smartest black and white print ensembles has a sleeveless jacket lined in grass green to match the belt of the dress.

New Fabrics 'Quieter'
Dresses themselves are quite simple in design. Their necklines may be either high or low, their sleeves are almost always comparatively short, their skirts fairly full with most of that fullness concentrated in front.

The newest fabrics of which the outfits are made have grown a little quieter in tone than the brilliant flower prints which appeared in earlier spring shows, though a number of these are still shown. Two-toned shadow plaids, basket weave patterns, circular scrolls and dots are a bit more favored, however. Dark red and white, brown and shell pink, and green and cream are among the newer combinations, but the "old faithfuls," navy and white, black and white and beige and brown are still favorites.
