Britain Continues Efforts To Avert Crisis In Ethiopia

CONFERENCE CALLED FOR TWO LEADERS

Sir Samuel Hoare, Foreign Secretary, to Meet Joseph A. C. Avenol, Secretary General of League, In Attempt to Reach Settlement; Avenol Also to Confer With Captain Anthony Eden

London, July 12.—(AP)—The British government, persisting in its efforts to head off hostilities between Italy and Ethiopia, sought today another solution to the crisis. Sir Samuel Hoare, foreign secretary, called Joseph A. C. Avenol, secretary general of the League of Nations, to a conference at which informed circles said some new ways out of the impasse might be advanced.

SEEK TO BREAK DAVIDSON WILL

Objectors to Reported Will of Mrs. Elva Statler Davidson File Suit

Carthage, July 12.—(AP)—Objectors to the reported will of Mrs. Elva Statler Davidson, which bequeathed practically her entire estate of more than $500,000 to her husband, H. Bradley Davidson, Jr., today filed a bill of particulars in Moore county superior court.

It alleged Mrs. Davidson was subjected to undue influence, was admittedly ill on the day she signed the will and was subjected to mental depression.

Mrs. Davidson was found dead under mysterious circumstances in her Pinehurst garage in February, 12 days after she drew the will contested and less than two months after she married Davidson who was 20 years her senior. She was a foster daughter of the late W. M. Statler, hotel magnate.

Elsworth Morgan Statler, foster brother of the young heiress, and his foster sister-in-law, Miss Kathryn Statler, as guardian for Joan Statler, foster granddaughter of George Statler, filed the original caveat, and Miss Isabel Baer of Minnesota, a college chum of Mrs. Davidson before her marriage, was later allowed to become a party as she had been bequeathed property and named executor under provisions of the will.

Rabies Clinics Close Saturday

A check-up by the sheriff and the various rabies inspectors of Pitt county is being completed and those dog owners whose dogs have not been vaccinated have been ordered to have their dogs inoculated by tomorrow night. Paul Fitzgerald, Jr., inspector for Greenville township, has announced that he has managed to secure additional dog tags for the benefit of those whose tags have been lost. Owners will have to present their receipts as evidence that their dogs have been vaccinated before they get extra tags. The charge for these tags is 25 cents.

'PORK AND' MAKES HIT IN BULGARIA'S PALACE

Sofia.—(AP)—Boston baked beans has become a favorite dish with King Boris and Queen Giovanna, following recent introduction of the viand by an American friend. Pork and beans or ham and beans appear frequently on the palace menu, both because the king likes the dish and also because the queen who manages the royal kitchen finds it economical, lean days having affected the royal household as well as the peasant's cottage.

Slight Increase Seen In Flue-Cured Tobacco

Washington, July 12.—(AP)—Flue cured tobacco production for 1935 was estimated by the Agriculture Department at 684,248,000 pounds compared with 556,930,000 last year. The 1935 estimate made as of July 1 was below the figure expected by growers as a result of the 30 per cent acreage increase. The acreage increase was expected to result in a 700,000,000 pound crop. Acreage planted in flue cured tobacco this year was placed at 893,000 acres compared with 687,270 harvested last year.

CITY TAX RATE GETS BOOST OF 5 CENTS HERE

The tax rate for Greenville during the new fiscal year which began July 1 will be $1.00 on the $100 valuation.

This decision was reached at a special meeting of the Board of Aldermen at the city hall last night at which several matters dealing with municipal business were considered.

The new rate is 5 cents higher than the 95 cents rate last year, and is the direct result of an extra month of school voted for by the citizenship during the early summer and slight increases in salaries of employees of the various departments of government.

It is the first time the rate has been raised since 1929 when the aldermen began an economy movement that brought the tax rate down from $1.50 which prevailed at that time to the low of 95 cents paid by the citizenship last year.

After struggling from year to year to reduce taxes and give the city the lowest rate of any other municipality of similar size in this section of the state, the board reluctantly turned its attention to the increased rate. But it had the $11,000 to consider for school maintenance this year as against slightly over $4,100 last year in addition to the slight salary increase, and found no other alternative was open to them.

The salary increases which covered members of the fire department, the sanitary inspector and a few other officers, were small, the majority ranging around $5 a month. The salary boosts it was said were governed by what similar employees are receiving in the various towns of the state and in a number of instances did not reach these levels. The rate this year is divided as follows:

General fund, 15; City debt service, 35; School debt service, 35; school maintenance, 15. The rate is based on an estimated valuation of $7,275,000.

A rate of 5 cents was levied for schools last year, and while the 10 cents increase for the purpose this year would have thrown the rate above $100, the aldermen pruned the budget of the various departments until it could hold the rate to the above figure.

FAILS TO FIND YOUTH ACCUSED OF ASSAULT

Hertford, July 12.—Deputy Sheriff L. L. Winslow returned last night from an unsuccessful search in Virginia for Matthews Banks, a 14-year-old negro, who is alleged to have criminally attacked an 8-year-old white girl in the New Hope section of this county. The deputy was accompanied on the trip by Sam Banks, father of the boy, who was arrested by Sheriff J. E. Winslow on the charge of harboring his son, or of having information as to his whereabouts.

FATHER OF ELEVEN DIES BY OWN HAND

Siler City, July 12.—(AP)—John Taylor Harris, 62, well known farmer, killed himself at his home here yesterday, the coroner announcing no inquest was necessary. He is survived by his widow and 11 children.

TWO MEN DIE IN ELECTRIC CHAIR TODAY

Louis Sentell of Cleveland and George Whitfield, Negro, Pay Penalty

Raleigh, July 12.—(AP)—Louis Sentell, white man convicted of murder in Cleveland county, and George Whitfield, negro, sentenced to die in Guilford for criminal assault, were electrocuted at State prison this morning.

Sentell went to his death first and had little to say after entering the death chamber alone, but Whitfield preceded in his walk down the "last mile" by the Rev. George A. Fisher, negro Episcopal minister of Raleigh, prayed aloud until the mask was placed over his face.

Sentell, 39, was convicted of the killing of Mrs. William Brake on the streets of Shelby. He lost an appeal to the Supreme court. Whitfield, 22, was convicted in 1933 of criminal assault on a Guilford county white woman and lost appeals to the State and Federal Supreme courts.

The Cleveland man had asked to be electrocuted first, and had eaten no breakfast. He was very nervous as he walked into the death chamber after kissing R. A. Bridges, the executioner, on the cheek.

Before he went to the chair, Sentell told the Rev. Forest Frezor, Raleigh Baptist minister, that he had no ill will against anybody. "Stop me in and get shed of me," Sentell said. "Tell everyone I don't care."

At 10:28 he was given his first shock of one minute and twelve seconds, but it took three more before he was pronounced dead at 10:38. As he followed the minister into the death chamber, Whitfield said: "May God have mercy on all of you."

HUSBAND IN COURT FOR ASSAULT ON WIFE

Smithfield, July 12.—"He will not work," said Mrs. Fred Weaver, Clayton, Route 1, of her husband, who was in court charged with an assault upon her.

She is a divorced woman, with three boys and married Weaver, she says, through sympathy, more than anything else, but claims that since she has helped him get a home established, he does not treat her right and tries to make life so miserable that she will leave him with the home. After airing their troubles in court for quite a while they go, together at the dinner recess and came to an agreement which caused the judge to continue prayer for judgment until the first Wednesday.

More than 57,000,000 gallons of gasoline and 2,000,000 gallons of oil were consumed by civil and government aircraft in the United States during 1933.

News Behind The News.

Washington By RAY TUCKER

DUD: Formation of a third party for 1936 is now up to Huey Long and Father Coughlin.

Progressives like Mayor LaGuardia, Floyd Olson of Minnesota and Bob La Follette have washed their hands of national insurgency. Their scouts have reported that the third party convention at Chicago was a farce and a political madhouse. It fell under control of a weird galaxy of single taxers, technocrats and parlor pinks. More substantial elements—union labor and the farmers—pulled out on the first day.

What better known liberals urged privately was creation of a flexible organization. They planned to use it as a threat that might keep Mr. Roosevelt siding to the left.

SEEK $994,000 FOR BUILDINGS AT FORT BRAGG

Washington, July 12.—(AP)—The War Department today asked the Work Relief Administrator for $994,000 for new buildings and other improvements at Fort Bragg, near Fayetteville, N. C.

PURVIS QUILTS HIS POST WITH DEPT. JUSTICE

Chicago, July 12.—(AP)—Melvin Purvis, head of the Chicago office of the Department of Justice's bureau of investigation, and the man who directed the successful hunt for John Dillinger, announced today he had resigned from the Justice Department.

Purvis said he was giving up the government job to take over new duties. His plans, he said, were too indefinite to disclose at the present time. His resignation, he said, had been accepted by his chief at Washington, J. Edgar Hoover. He prepared to leave his office today. Purvis said he would remain in Chicago.

Purvis, normally mild-mannered South Carolinian, was the most dangerous nemesis of the desperado. A youthful attorney who turned sleuth, Purvis had directed the relentless search that resulted in the death of Prettyboy Floyd in Ohio and it was his men who shot down John Dillinger in Chicago.

MERCURY UP TO 93 TODAY

Same Temperature Recorded Here Yesterday; Five Degrees Under Record Mark

Yesterday probably felt like the hottest day of the year to Greenville people, but readings at the local government weather bureau indicated the temperature was only 93. Five degrees less than the record temperature of 98 reported about two weeks ago before the daily rainfalls visited the community.

At 2 o'clock this afternoon, B. T. Clark, local weather observer, said the mercury was standing at 93, the same as yesterday. Wednesday the mercury only got up to 90.

The humidity was held responsible for the uncomfortable temperatures the last two days. With over 6 inches of rainfall reported here since July 1 it is due to be humid for several days, in the opinion of the weather man.

With a strong breeze sweeping over the countryside from the northwest today appeared to be considerably cooler than yesterday when the breeze was not quite so pronounced especially in the late afternoon.

Young Connor was the son of Dr. A. W. Connor, member of the South Carolina legislature.

PUSH PLANS FOR OPENING LIQUOR STORES

Board of Control Meets Twice Here Today to Talk Procedure and Policies

Plans looking to the opening of liquor control stores in this county were pushed forward rapidly today as the Board of Control headed by C. O. H. Horne, local druggist, met twice at the courthouse today to formulate plans.

The meeting this morning was confined mainly to discussion of procedure and this afternoon the policies of the organization were explained. Several persons from different sections of the county were on hand to hear the policies presented.

Although no definite date has been set for the opening of the first stores at Greenville and Farmville, it was said the control body was moving along as rapidly as possible and would announce the opening dates as soon as preliminaries have been worked out.

J. H. Coward, county auditor who has been named temporary secretary to the board, visited Wilson and Pinetops yesterday to study the clerical and general setup of the stores, recently opened there and this information will be imparted to the board either this afternoon or tomorrow.

No decision as to locations of the stores here and at Farmville had been reached today, but the board is planning to give close scrutiny to all proffered buildings in an effort to obtain the best location available.

Chairman Horne made it plain yesterday that all persons having buildings to submit and persons seeking jobs with the stores must submit their offers in writing to the Pitt County Liquor Control Board. No other method will be considered as the board members are too busy at this time formulating plans of procedure to grant personal interviews to everybody with buildings to rent and scores of others expected to seek positions.

After establishment of the stores at Greenville and Farmville the board will then consider requests for stores in other sections of the county. Although it has not been determined how many stores will be set up there is every indication at least four will be required to meet the demands of the populous sections of the county.

Mr. Horne made it plain yesterday that operating the system in a way to meet the approval of the public was a tremendous undertaking and called on those attending the meeting this afternoon to give their influence in co-operating with the board's movement for quiet and orderly handling of the beverage in all sections where liquor stores are to be set up.

Legion to Meet Near Winterville

Brunswick stew and barbecue will be served along with accessories and members of the post were looking forward to the gathering with more than usual interest.

Jailed For Slaying In Blackberry Hunt

A blackberry picking, which resulted in the death of Mrs. F. C. Daniel, mother of four, sent Addison Milligan (above) of Decatur, Ala., to jail charged with murder. After several committee meetings in an effort to complete work, the Board of Aldermen last night adopted the tentative budget for 1935-36 with every member of the body in attendance and going thoroughly into each item.

The budget carries a slight increase over that of the previous year due to increased appropriations to the general fund and the city school system for adding a ninth month of school and slight boosts to salaries of various city employees who were cut as sharply when the depression gripped this county as war talk grips Europe.

With Mayor R. C. Flanagan presiding, Mayor Pro-Tem H. H. Duncan, chairman of the finance committee and also in charge of the budget, read each item contained in the new budget. The aldermen discussed appropriations to some departments at considerable length and then placed their official okay on the figures.

City Clerk J. C. Duval said it would be impossible for his department to complete preparation of condensed copies of the budget before the first of next week when they will be placed on display. The budget will remain on display for 20 days according to law when it will be given final scrutiny of the aldermen and adopted.

The budget general fund carries a total amount of $81,137.94 as compared with over $76,000 for the previous year. It also sets aside $28,339.23 for the city debt service, and $27,776.29 for the school debt service. In addition there is slightly over $11,000 provided for school maintenance, including operation of the ninth month of school which the voters went to the polls during the early summer and approved by an overwhelming vote. Although only slightly over $7,000 will be used directly for the extra month of school, it was said the remainder would be devoted to other school obligations.

The board provided slightly over $4,100 for school maintenance last year.

Before taking up the budget the board considered several matters of business, among them being the selection of city employees not acted upon at a previous meeting the first of this month.

Jesse Whitehead was elected assistant chief of police and W. L. Patrick was renamed assistant city clerk. Three employees of the fire department, Gardner, Jones and Summerville were re-employed at slight increase of salaries.

Mayor Flanagan named a committee composed of Vernon Parrish, H. H. Duncan and A. C. Tadlock to secure any funds which the city may derive from the sale of liquor by the liquor control stores to be established here at an early date.

The board also agreed to contribute $15 a month to the local relief cannery to be used as rent.

A page advertisement was also bought in the special edition to be issued soon by the Greenville News-Leader. The price was $60.

Clerk Duval was instructed to collect privilege license taxes under the machinery act until the local ordinance is adopted.

The local unit of North Carolina National Guards had its contribution of $300 annually continued for another year.

A. C. Tadlock, new member of the board, was extended the sympathy of the board in the recent loss of his father. Mayor Flanagan expressed the condolences of the entire board.

Mayor Flanagan read a letter from Col. Albion Dunn, local attorney, notifying the board that Mrs. C. W. Schuff was contemplating filing suit against the city as result of injuries which she allegedly sustained to her ankle when she tripped and fell on broken pavement in front of the library on Evans street. The amount of damages sought was not named, it being merely suggested that the board confer with her attorney before suit was filed. The matter was referred to the insurance committee.

Mayor Flanagan explained efforts of the city to obtain state and federal funds for street improvements here and said a list of the projects soon would be filed with the State Highway and Public Service Commission. The city is also due $5,000 from the commission through action of the last general assembly.

Vernon Parrish reported on the movement part of the city and asked that his committee be continued until negotiations with property owners could be completed.

Petitions for paving on Jarvis and Third streets along with another for curbing on Fifth street were referred to the street committee, which has a number of similar proposals under advisement.

NEW BUDGET ADOPTED BY SOLONS HERE

tion is one of the most fantastic—and romantic—developments in modern politics.

The latest suggestion is to give him a presidential tryout. There is talk of building the Rocky Mountain "grass roots" conference around him. He would make the principal address under this scheme and blast Mr. Roosevelt's alleged defectance of the constitution. Borah would get the build-up and Mr.
Roosevelt the breakdown.

Although 70 years old Mr. Borah takes to joshing suggestions that at last the GOP might nominate him.
He flirts coyly with the idea. He never looked in better physical or political shape. He is more general than he used to be. And the inside report is that Mr. Roosevelt would prefer to run against anybody except the bad boy of the Republican Party. Under certain circumstances a Borah-Roosevelt encounter might be a real scrap.

PAROLES: President Roosevelt's call for an investigation of the federal parole system smacked out a long-standing feud in the Department of Justice. The feudists are Prison Commissioner Sanford Bates and John Edgar Hoover.

Mr. Bates has worked for five years to modernize the federal penal system. Not to pamper prisoners but to return them to society as decent citizens, if possible. He favors a responsible parole system and maintains that 90 per cent of the paroled men go and stay straight.

But the arresting officers call this a "softy" philosophy. Put 'em in and keep 'em in is their idea. The Weberhauser kidnappers, as Mr.
Roosevelt pointed out, had benefited from parole. So have many other bad men. Whether the humanitarian or hard-boiled school will win out depends upon Attorney General Cummings.

AFRICANS: The unwritten story of the Virgin Islands investigation reads like a bizarre novel. Fisticuffs, political intrigue and tropical vendettas make it stranger than fiction.

Hovering in the background is a wealthy Harlem negro who is suspected of inciting and financing the plot against Gov. Paul Pearson.
With vast interests in New York, he hails from the islands and seeks political control for his henchmen there. If he is the angel in the Caribbean woodpile expenses for parading delegations trips to Washington have cost him plenty.

Certain American politicians are vitaly interested. Gov. Pearson's chief foe is ex-Rep. T. Weber Wilson of Mississippi, now a federal judge on the islands. He is accused of seeking the governorship. Unless he gets it he may run against Senator Pat Harrison next year. Pat would like to see him pleasantly and permanently exiled. But Secretary Hicks has made a major issue of Pearson's retention. He won't tolerate any political skullduggery if he can help it, although nobody claims that Mr. Pearson has been an ideal executive.

PITFALLS: No Rooseveltian proposals has struck such a human note, even though it be a minor, as his plan to mobilize the nation's industrial and educational agencies on behalf of youth.

But insiders in charge are worried.
The idea was hurled into the headlines before any details had been thought out. The executives—Josephine Roche and Aubrey Williams —are swamped with other duties.
Organized labor units suspect that the movement may indirectly drive wages down. Some collegiate groups fear that students may be reduced to a state of intellectual pauperism.
The White House has heard these protests.

READY MADE WIFE

BY CORALIE STANTON

SYNOPSIS: While Rex Moore, to whom Laurie is pretending to be married to, is on a trip, she is away on a night, Laurie and her sister Gladys are asked for the week end by Mark Albery, who employs both Rex and Laurie. And Gladys, who dances in a show, meets "Jimmy Smith" at Albery's —the catch being that his name is not Jimmy, but Dallas.

Chapter 21
DINNER DATE

DALLAS had that something that creeps into a girl's mind, into her heart, into her blood. Above all, into her imagination. Jimmy Dallas was glamorous. He could create an atmosphere, a mirage, a light that never was. While it lasted, you saw only him; everything he did was right; there was no other world.

She smiled at him eagerly, as he talked his characteristic love-nonsense to her, and held her at arms' length, admiring her with his strangely shining brown-green eyes, and playfully pretended to bite the tiny velvet forget-me-not wreath through which some of her rich golden curls were threaded over one ear, and said excitedly, "Flowerface, I could eat you, you're so pretty, you delicious little thing!"

He asked her what she was going to do, and was delighted that she was to be in London for a time.

"We'll have lots and lots of fun!
I'm supposed to work at our London offices. We'll have the most glorious secret parties, you and I."

"Secret! What for?"

Jimmy looked at her with mock despair.

"I'll have to be secret. I must make you understand, my father mustn't know that I've got a dear little pal like you. He'd simply go off the deep end. My mother's a pet, but she can't stand up against him. Nor can my sisters, except the married one, and I don't trust her."

"Have I got to keep you dark from my sister?" Gladys asked.

"You said she was Albery's secretary, didn't you?"

Gladys nodded.

"I'm afraid you will, Flowerface —for a time. You see, Albery knows my old man well. I can't take the risk."

"You talk like a cowardly baby!" said Gladys nervously. "Something that she did not understand in her was offended. But she didn't want to let him go."

"You don't know my father, sweet. And I'm absolutely dependent on him. I shouldn't get a shilling, if I rubbed him up the wrong way. I tell you, it's a dog's life, keeping him quiet and managing to have a little fun!"

"But if I'm not to tell Laurie, how shall we meet?" Gladys asked.

"We'll manage, don't worry! I've got your address. It was your sister I sat next to at dinner. I find," he went on, with a half-smothered laugh of amusement, "A bit stand-offish and like a school marm, isn't she? Wouldn't approve of little Jimmy, 'Tut afraid!'"

In that moment, through his light, magnetic temper's voice, the seed of deception was sown in Gladys's frivolous soul. She knew that Laurie wouldn't approve of Jimmy Dallas.
She would have to manage so that her sister didn't know of their meetings.

SHE did not tell him of the incident of Laurie's finding the gold cigarette case, and that she had spoken of him as Jimmy Smith. What a silly old tyrant his father must be!

"Jimmy, do you really love me?" she asked, as they strolled back. A doubt was in her voice. "You know —if we're going to keep it a secret that we know each other, I ought to be sure."

"Flowerface, can you be sure?
Don't you know you're the only girl in the world?"

"Do you think you'll want to marry me?"

"Do I think?" His voice dropped.

It had that soft, sultry note that conveys so much more than words.

"But it couldn't be yet."

"I don't care! She spoke grandly in her ignorance of life. 'I don't want to get married yet, either. I want to see a bit of the world.'"

"We'd better go in," he said.

"Now, you understand, don't you?
And I can trust you not to give the show away?"

"I'm not a fool, thanks."

"Tomorrow morning I'll come and take you out for a spin and we can make the plans how to meet."

"Aren't you rather too daring, Mr.
Dallas?" she mocked. "Supposing Mr. Albery told your father?"

He gave her a playful slap.

SHARE. Financial insiders learn that high government circles have become genuinely concerned about the national debt and are definitely trying to get the budget under better control. The first step is to temper popular approval for free-handed spending without making the reversal of trend too obvious.
That's one of the main reasons for simulating discussion of a tax program—get people to realize that bills no matter how worthy the cause for which they were incurred, must be paid. A more subtle method of making the country debt-conscious is also on the fire.

It might be called a "share-the-debt" program. The plan is to get government obligations out of the hands of the banks and distributed among private citizens. Baby bonds were a faint gesture in this direction—but they haven't been a howling success and the idea of using Liberty Loan tactics has been discarded. This time the government itself will do nothing about it. Instead the banks will be asked to do the redistributing. Some of the big ones have already been sounded out on the idea.

ADVANTAGES: The point is made that the banks are so loaded with federal securities their depositors are in effect underwriting the national debt already. Therefore why not let them do so directly and at the same time bring about a bet-

"Monkey! You're adorable!" he said. "But, in case you don't know it, Albery told me he'd asked me over tonight especially to amuse you."

At which they both laughed merrily, and Gladys raced him to the house, as fleet as Atalanta, a pale blue streak of light under the moon, a thing of exquisite grace.

On the Monday afternoon Laurie and Gladys went back to London.

All Sunday morning Laurie had worked, partly with Mr. Albery, but for a longer period transcribing some important specifications. Albery congratulated her several times, and seemed genuinely surprised at her intelligence.

On the Tuesday she went to the office as usual, expecting her employer to come up from Cambridgeshire. She was told by his right-hand man that he had telephoned early to say that he would not be at the office until the afternoon.

She waited as no further news came, and it was about five o'clock when he turned up.

"You have heard from Moore?" was his first question when she was summoned to his room.

"No."

"I've just had a wireless from Marselles. I couldn't understand what he was doing, not getting back before this, but it seems poor Wilmer Jones went down with fever, and Moore had to bring him to Marselles by easy stages. He says he's coming on as soon as he's settled him in a nursing home there. The missing men are doing as well as possible in hospital on the Coast."

"How long will he be?" asked Laurie.

"He doesn't say. I should think he'd get off today or tomorrow. I thought you would be bound to have heard."

"No," said Laurie again. She felt unaccountably hurt. She had not had a word from him all the time.
He might have kept up appearances, as he had insisted on her doing so.

"I expect you'll find a message when you get home," said Albery consoling, with that note of friendly interest in his voice that he so carefully cultivated. "I'm sorry I'm late, Mrs. Moore, but I was delayed.
There are a few rather important letters. Do you mind staying for a bit?"

"Of course not, if you want me, Mr. Albery," said Laurie. She was always at ease in their purely business relationship.

"You have an exceptionally clear mind," he said to her, after he had asked her a question at the end of dictating several letters. "I should think you could make decisions quickly and wisely."

Laurie was pleased. She knew she was efficient. She had made herself so.

Albery looked at the clock. It was after six.

"Would you mind going on a little longer, Mrs. Moore? There is a report on this fuel that we were working on on Sunday. It has to be typed very carefully because the man has made so many corrections after the last test. It would be a great advantage for me if I can have it tonight."

"Of course, I shall be delighted, Mr. Albery. I'll take it and do it at once."

"Would it be easier if I dictated it?"

Laurie studied the sheets and shook her head.

"No, thank you; I would rather do it myself."

She went away, typed the letters first and took them to Albery, and then became immersed in the tricky work of typing the report. Time passed without her knowing it. Albery opened the door of her office, and told her it was after seven.

"It will do in the morning, Mrs.
Moore."

"Oh, no, I haven't much more to do! Don't you wait Mr. Albery. I'll bring it round to your flat when I've done."

"No, I'll wait," he said.

When Laurie took the finished report to him, he was alone in his office. The great building had gradually fallen into silence.

"Thanks very much," he said.

"And now you must let me give you some dinner."

"Oh, no, Mr. Albery, there'll be some at home!"

"But it's quite late—after eight, and I wanted to read this through.
Please, it would be a pleasure to me.
I will just go through it and then we will drive round to the Savoy."

ter balance in bank investments?

It is suggested that the banks re-market the securities at 3 per cent —paying the difference themselves.
There are plenty of idle security salesmen available to put it over.
Selling could be made easier by providing for payment on the installment plan. Depositors would be urged to swap inactive funds for the bonds—thus getting a return on their money. The banks could promise to loan up to par on the securities since they in turn can re-discount them at par with the Federal Reserve in case of need.

The plan has the advantage of the government of breaking up the concentration of its obligations in financial institutions and of making many more people aware of the Treasury's problems. The bankers for their part are quite intrigued with the idea. The extra cost to them might be well worth while in enabling the mto reduce their top-heavy burden of governments, in eliminating excess deposits which cannot be profitably employed at present and in building up public sentiment against excessive spending. Watch for action along these lines soon, although it will be made to appear that the bankers thought it up for themselves.

CASH: The Italian government is quietly fishing for Wall Street credit—but it's out of luck. For one thing it's in default on its war debt and the Johnson Act forbids advances under those circumstances.
But even if it were paid up the response would still be no. Italy has nothing to offer in the way of collateral which would induce bankers to risk their own money and a public security offering is obviously out of the question.

A shipment of 5000 Fords is on its way to Italy now. They have specially constructed bodies designed to carry nine men. The story behind this order sheds further light on Mussolini's credit rating.

Every effort was made to purchase cars on credit. All the leading auto makers were approached.
The proposition was universally turned down. Even an offer to pay within 90 days proved no lure. It was a case of no cash, no cars—and Ford got the call because buying from him meant the smallest cutlay in coin of the realm.

SUCCESSOR: Informed New Yorkers say that Mussolini's determination to make war on Abyssinia is based on something more than the desire to grab off rich na-doubled its production and sales for the first six months," said Mr. Ralston. "This record is strong evidence that the motoring public is insisting that the modern automobile have everything—that is, every feature which adds to the comfort and safety of the passengers and to the economy and the performance of the car."

"With the introduction of the 1935 cars we announced a policy of engineering all proven features into the new Oldsmobiles. That this policy has met with widespread public approval is best shown by the very remarkable record set up in the first six months of this year."

"We have exceeded in production and sales every record ever made by the factory."

"To meet the increasing demand for our product, work already is well under way at the new plant in Lansing—a plant which will be utilized exclusively to build Oldsmobile bodies by Fisher—and will allow a substantial expansion of our chassis production through the taking over the space now occupied by Fisher in our present plant."

DWELLING RANSACKED, PRESUMABLY BY BOYS

New Bern, July 12.—Police authorities are endeavoring to trace the identity of persons who completely ransacked the residence of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Latta, on National Avenue, this week, during the absence of the family from town.
Discovering of the forcible entrance into the home was made by neighbors who noticed that a window had been broken and a screen raised. Police were notified and during the afternoon they and neighbors went into the residence, finding it completely ransacked.

HIGH COST OF MONOCLES NEW WOE FOR MAYFAIR

London.—(AP)—Englishmen must pay more for their monocles in future, unless they are British made.

A new treasury order raises to 33-1/3 per cent the import duty on spectacles and goggles, eyeglasses and monocles, and "frames and mountings for such articles."

The reason for the increase is the threat to an infant British industry from foreign competition at prices against which home factories are unable to compete.

MAYOR NAMES COMMITTEES ON CITY BOARD

Number of Changes Made in Twelve Aldermanic Bodies Here This Year

Mayor R. C. Flanagan yesterday announced completion of the appointment of a committee of the Board of Aldermen for the new fiscal year, and as the official promised the beginning of the year, there were quite a number of changes from the previous year.

The committees will be charged with the responsibility of looking after the various departments of government, presenting reports to the entire board from time to time regarding their activities.

Mayor Flanagan said he believed the switching of committee members to new fields of activity from the previous year would have a salutary effect on the administration. In calling attention of the aldermen to their new duties, he told them they would be expected to discharge their obligations with the greatest of care, remembering that the success of the city rested upon their efforts.

Twelve committees will have charge of the work this year with the powerful finance committee being headed by Mayor Pro-Tem H. H. Duncan as chairman.

The fire department committee which for several years has been headed by A. E. Hobbgood, is headed this year by Joseph M. Taft, and Mr. Hobbgood was made chairman of the street committee.

A complete right-about-face was made in the committee on parks, playgrounds and swimming pool, with Dr. M. B. Massey being made chairman of this body with an ultimatum from the mayor that the committee would be expected to do the work previously handled by two committees.

The committee on schools, which is another important aldermanic body, is headed by Mrs. J. L. Hassell, the only woman ever to serve on the board. A. E. Hobbgood is generalissimo of the library committee, no other members having been added to the body.

The committees follow:

Finance—H. H. Duncan, chairman; A. E. Hobbgood, Jos. M. Taft, L. B. Fleming, Vernon Parrish.

Streets—A. E. Hobbgood, chairman; Vernon Parrish, Dr. M. B. Massey, Mrs. J. L. Hassell.

Insurance—A. C. Tadlock, chairman; Dr. M. B. Massey, Vernon Parrish.

Cemetery—Vernon Parrish, chairman; Mrs. J. L. Hassell, Jos. M. Taft.

Parks, Playgrounds and Swimming Pool—Dr. M. B. Massey, chairman; Mrs. J. L. Hassell, Vernon Parrish.

No longer will scenes like this be common between Adrienne Ames and Bruce Cabot. The actress and actor, shown here as Cabot greeted his wife not so long ago on her arrival in New York after appearing in a British movie, are headed for the divorce courts now. They were married two years ago, soon after Miss Ames' divorce from Stephen Ames, New York broker. (Associated Press Photo)

FAIL TO ASK EXTRA MEET OF ASSEMBLY

McDonald and Lumpkin Go to Raleigh But Don't Ask For Special Legislature

Reflector Bureau.
By J. C. BASKERVILLE.
Raleigh, July 12.—Dr. Ralph W. McDonald, the youthful pedagogue from Winston-Salem lately turned politician and governmental brain-truster and Willie Lee Lumpkin of Louisville, the likewise youthful Franklin county attorney who has been one of the leaders of the anti-sales tax movement in last two sessions of the general assembly, failed to call upon Governor J. C. B. Ehringhaus here yesterday to ask him to call a special session of the legislature. For while Messrs. McDonald and Lumpkin were here in Raleigh Wednesday night, ostensibly with the purpose of calling upon the Governor to ask him to call a special session of the legislature, no word to that effect has been received from the Governor's office Thursday.

Just who "Dust" and "Lumpkin" the "Gold Dust" and "Lumpkin" tax fight in the recent general assembly and now being prominently mentioned as tandem candidates for Governor and Lieutenant Governor, respectively, on an anti-sales tax ticket, decided not to ask the Governor to call a special session, no one knows for sure. It is known, however, that several to whom they broached the subject of a special session expressed the opinion that they might as well save themselves a hotel bill and the hot walk from the Sir Walter to the Capitol and go back home without talking to the Governor. For the prevailing belief here is that nothing short of a miracle or a catastrophe can persuade the Governor to call a special session of the 1935 general assembly after this fall, this winter, next spring or at any time before the regular 1937 session. For persons sitting on knees of dynamite usually are pretty careful not to drop lighted matches into them. Most observers here believe it would be about as safe for the Governor to drop a lighted match into a keg of dynamite as it would be to call a special session of the present general assembly.

The reason for this belief is that most of the agitation for a special session is coming from the anti-sales tax element over the state and in the general assembly despite the fact that they never mention the sales tax and insist that the special session should be called to pass social security legislation so that state can cooperate with the Federal government, or to pass some state-wide home control legislation. But the political wheelbarrows hereabouts were not born yesterday and are not being fooled by talk of "social security" and "home control" and Little Red Riding Hood stories of that sort. It is plain to take more than that to make them believe that there is not a big bad wolf under the bed clothes, even if it is trying to look like grandma.

The sales tax and nothing but the sales tax would again become the major issue just as soon as the general assembly would convene here, regardless of the purpose for which it might be called, and the anti-sales tax leaders would immediately open a drive to remove, reduce or change the present sales tax, it is believed here. In this effort, the anti-sales taxers would have the benefit of the recent surge of sentiment against the sales tax following its imposition on all the basic foods with the exception of milk, and on all meals in cafes, restaurants and hotels, beginning only a few weeks ago it is agreed. The sales tax on meals went into effect June 1 and on foods July 1. As a result many observers here are inclined to believe that enough additional opposition to the sales tax could be generated in a special session to at least remove it from foods and meals and perhaps reduce the rate, even if insufficient strength could be mustered to remove it entirely.

The result in any event would probably be sufficient to badly upset the present budget and throw it so much out of balance that something akin to financial chaos would be likely to develop, most observers agree. In order to get the budget back into balance the general assembly would either have to levy additional taxes, such as were proposed by McDonald and Lumpkin during the recent session and which would be paid almost entirely by business and industry, including merchants and revise the entire appropriations law downward. This would mean that salaries of all school teachers and state employees would have to be cut again, as well as all the appropriations. As a result, the belief prevails here that there will be no special session, no matter how many want it.

GEO. BARLEY LIMITS AYDEN TO ONE RUN

George Barley gained his eighth consecutive victory for Greenville by pitching a 3-1 victory over Ayden here yesterday. Barley, Duke University athlete, has not been defeated in Coastal Plain League warfare this season.

He yielded seven hits yesterday, the same number his mates made against the flinging of Weldon and Upchurch. However, Ayden's hits were well scattered until the ninth when the visitors bunched three in a row to count their lone run.

All of Greenville's hits and runs came off Weldon, who was relieved by Upchurch after the seventh. Upchurch fanned two while retiring the Greenies in order in the eighth.

For five innings it was a scoreless battle. The Greenies broke the ice in the sixth when Bostic singled, moved up on Ambler's sacrifice and tumbled on Hulskamp's single. Two more were added in the seventh on an error and hits by Farley, Barley and Bostic.

Singles by Chappell, Collins and Tatum produced Ayden's runs.

Ace Parker featured afield for the Greenies. His six putouts included a couple of sac catches.

Bostic, with three singles, led Greenville. Morris hit a double and a single to pace Ayden.

Local Legion Baseball Team To Meet Durham

Tom Swain, athletic officer of the Pitt County Post of the American Legion, announced today he had been advised that the junior baseball team sponsored by the local post in the state-wide baseball championship series would meet Durham in a two out of three game series next week.

It was not announced where the games would be played, but this information will be given out later, Mr. Swain said.

Greenville the first of the week captured two games from the team sponsored by the Manteo Legion post and won the right to advance to higher company. Durham also defeated the team they were matched with in the initial two out of three game series.

The first game with Manteo was played at Manteo and the second and final game here. Had Manteo won the second game the two clubs would have had to play a third game to decide the winner of the series.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, July 12.—(AP)—Stocks market bears were in a less belligerent mood today and steady price tendencies spread throughout the list.

While the activity was not pronounced profit taking of the previous session dried up in early dealings and aviation issues, some of the rails and scattered specialists moved to higher levels. General motors was again a feature opening with a transfer of 3,000 shares and later edging up to a new year's top. Grains and cotton backed and filled indifferently.

Rails were again inclined to slip. The dollar sagged against leading foreign exchanges.

The late stock tone was firm. Transfers were 1,000,000 shares.

With a brief government cross examination of Mrs. Waley finished, John F. Dore, chief defense counsel told the court the defense's testimony was ended.

Owen P. Hughes, assistant U. S. District Attorney immediately began summation of the testimony submitted by the government in its effort to prove Mrs. Waley guilty of kidnaping and conspiring to kidnap George Weyerhaeuser, nine-year-old Tacoma timber fortune heir May 24.

Harmon M. Waley, 24, husband of the defendant who was brought here from the McNeil Island federal prison where he is serving a 45-year term, for his part in the kidnaping was prepared to testify in behalf of his wife, but was not called.

YOUTH IS RECOVERING FROM CRITICAL HURTS

Goldsboro, July 12.—Milton Carroway, Goldsboro young man, is recovering from injuries received three weeks ago when his skull was fractured and jawbone broken, when he fell to the pavement from an automobile.

For nearly a week he was unconscious, and his life was almost despaired of. X-ray pictures showed that small pieces shattered from the skull were resting on and partly embedded in the brain. A delicate operation was performed at the Goldsboro Hospital in removing these pieces. Since that time his recovery has been rapid, and on Wednesday he was able to be taken back to the home of his parents.
