U. S. Takes Central Role In East African Trouble

NATION SAYS KELLOGG PACT STILL HOLDS

Secretary Hull Declares Nations Will Be Expected to Abide by Treaty; Italy Declares She Has Not Violated Pact; Military Preparations Pushed Forward Rapidly

(By Associated Press)
The United States took a central role in the Italo-Ethiopian quarrel today with a statement by Secretary Hull in support of the Briand-Kellogg pact outlawing war.

He mentioned neither Italy or Ethiopia by name but said Washington expected nations to live up to the treaty.

Rome quarters hastened unofficially to assert that Italy had not violated the treaty but was the victim of hostile Ethiopian acts.

Military preparations went forward at a rapid pace.

London is reported to be wondering whether Hull's statement held the possibility that the United States might join England in a determined effort to avert the threatened war.

Reports in Istanbul said Emperor Haile Selassie had ordered crown jewels and precious religious relics, reputedly including the tablets of the Ten Commandments and the Ark of the Covenant from Ethiopia's holy city Axum to a safer interior point.

THREE INJURED AS CARS CRASH

Man, Wife and Occupant of Another Car Hurt in Collision Before Noon

Three persons were injured, not seriously, when two cars collided at the corner of Ninth and Washington streets shortly before noon today. Jim Williams and wife, who reside several miles from Greenville, and Henry Clay Edwards, local young man, received treatment for slight cuts and bruises before being carried to their homes in an ambulance. Mr. and Mrs. Williams were carried to the home of a relative, it was understood, before being removed to their home near the city. Police said a warrant would be issued for Edwards on a charge of driving while under the influence of whiskey. Chief of Police George Clark said Patrolman Wooten investigated the crash and informed him young Edwards had been drinking.

Details of the accident were not available but it was understood Edwards would be charged with responsibility for the crash.

The occupants of both cars suffered severely from shock as well as cuts and bruises about the face, head and other parts of the body. They were at first thought to have been seriously injured, but examination showed the cuts to be largely of a superficial nature.

It was considered short of a miracle how they escaped without more serious injuries as both machines were badly wrecked by the force of the impact.

CLEAR SALISBURY MAN IN DEATH OF WOMAN

Salisbury, July 13.—Coroner Tatum's jury last night inquired into the death of Mrs. John Koeber Wednesday and exonerated George Conrad, whose car struck her as she was leaving a street car on North Main street, declaring the accident was unavoidable on the part of Mr. Conrad.

Governor Refuses To Give Luke Lea Pardon

Raleigh, July 13.—(AP)—Governor E. B. Ehringhaus today announced he had declined the petition of Luke Lea, former United States senator from Tennessee, for a pardon.

Lea was sentenced in Asheville after his conviction on charges of conspiracy to defraud the Central Bank & Trust Company there. He fought his conviction through every court at his command and entered prison on May 9, 1934, to serve his term of 6 to 10 years although he had been convicted in August, 1931.

Luke Lea, Jr., was convicted with his father and entered prison at the same time, but was released last year on parole due to his physical condition.

Wallace B. Davis, president of the Central Bank & Trust Co., was convicted in the same case and after a plea for clemency was denied in his case he was freed under parole several weeks ago.

Usually in refusing a petition, the governor merely announces he had declined the application but due to "the widespread publicity given in the Lea application," he issued a 600-word statement setting forth his position.

Parole Commissioner Edwin M. Gill handed the statement to the press at 10:40.

"Laborious and thoughtful study," the governor said, "has convinced me that not only has every point presented in the clemency application (of new evidence) been previously advanced but that in most instances they had been actually considered by the courts at some stage or other in connection with some of the many motions made in the slow progress of this case toward its final conclusion."

TROUBLE SEEN IF HAPSBURGS ARE RESTORED

Automatic Mobilization Little Threatened After Conference

Bucharest, July 13.—(AP)—Foreign Minister Nicholas Titulescu announced today after a conference with Prince Paul, regent of Yugoslavia that if the proposed restoration of the Hapsburg dynasty in Austria were carried out it would mean the automatic mobilization of the Little Entente army.

"The Little Entente policies with respect to the Hapsburg restoration have been settled on a positive basis and mobilization would follow as a matter of course if the dynasty is reestablished in Vienna," the foreign minister said.

He added that a formal statement probably would be issued in the course of the day outlining the Rumanian and Entente attitude toward the government.

NAB NEGRO ON THEFT CHARGE

William Pitts Returned to Farmville to Face Trial After Arrest Here

William Pitts, colored, wanted in Farmville on a charge of larceny, was arrested by police here last night and returned to Farmville today to face preliminary hearing. The negro is alleged to have stolen $20 from a filling station about a year ago and made good his escape in spite of the fact that Farmville police instituted a lengthy investigation.

The negro was visiting relatives on Ford street here when officers got wind of his presence, and he was taken into custody a short time afterward.

It was understood he was identified by Farmville officers when they arrived here.

SEARCH FOR STOLEN FLOUR, FIND LIQUOR

New Bern, July 13.—As the result of a police search for stolen flour Wednesday night that turned unexpectedly into a liquor hunt, Allen Dixon, 50, negro, was jailed after assaulting officers in a desperate fight for freedom. He was jailed in default of $500 bond for a charge of assaulting Patrolman W. A. Godley with a knife; $250 bond for alleged possession of 50 gallons of whiskey for the purpose of sale; and $250 bond for allegedly receiving and buying stolen flour.

CHANCELLOR'S WIFE KILLED IN AUSTRIA

Mme. Schuffnigg Dies In Automobile Accident as Car Crashes Into Tree

Vienna, July 13.—(AP)—Mme. Schuffnigg, wife of the Austrian chancellor, was killed and her son badly injured in an automobile accident near Linz today.

The chancellor was reported uninjured but was in a hospital at Linz. An official communication said that the chancellor and his wife were enroute to their summer home in Elsborg near Linz when the chauffeur suddenly became ill and lost control of the car. It crashed into a tree. The chancellor was thrown free of the car and a preliminary examination by surgeons later conducted at Linz indicated that he was uninjured except for slight bruises and nervous shocks.

It was also said at the hospital that the son, at first reported seriously injured, was only slightly hurt and neither he nor his father was put to bed. The chauffeur was seriously injured.

PRESBYTERY TO MEET HERE

Mid-Summer Meeting Of Albermarle Body To Be Held at Presbyterian Church

The mid-summer meeting of Albermarle Presbytery will be held in the First Presbyterian church, Greenville, Monday morning at 11 o'clock, with the Rev. Norman Johnson, of the First Presbyterian church, Rocky Mount, presiding as Moderator.

As this is an adjourned meeting, any business can properly be considered. The highlight of the docket, however, will be the examination for licensure of Candidate S. W. DuBose, who will preach his trial sermon before the Presbytery at the noon hour. Members of the congregation and others interested are invited to sit in for this part of the session.

Delegates from the host church will be Rev. R. C. Grady, minister, B. W. Moseley, regular and W. C. Dresbach, alternate representing the session of the local church.

THE NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

News Behind The News.

Washington. By RAY TUCKER. OCTOBER: The White House has lighted a backfire against the Glass banking bill. Although professing satisfaction with the revised measure, it is scheming to reframe major sections on the Senate floor.

President Roosevelt is definitely set again the re-underwriting field. But he is even more bitter against permitting each bank partner to sit on the board of another corporation.

Both provisions run counter to his attitude toward the banking fraternity's in his opinion they endorse abuses he seeks to abolish.

WILL SELECT PUSH DRIVE ON LIQUOR STORE VIOLATORS OF SITES MONDAY TRAFFIC LAWS

Board of Control To Make Known Locations of Stores Here And at Farmville

With only one week having elapsed since Pitt county people voted for legalization of whiskey, the opening of liquor stores was one step nearer today following two sessions of the Beverage Control Board here yesterday morning and afternoon.

Although locations for the stores have not been selected, C. O. H. Horne, chairman of the control board, said today this probably would be done Monday. He said two or three locations were under consideration in Greenville and Farmville and that his board was merely awaiting answers from the owners regarding renovations and improvements before action is taken.

Some difficulty was incurred in obtaining the kind of buildings desired, and owners were requested to visit towns having liquor stores to see what kind of changes would be necessary for the buildings here and then submit their bids to the control board.

In spite of this delay, it was indicated work would be completed and stores opened earlier than at first thought, but the definite date cannot be set until building improvements have been made and stock and fixtures arrive. Mr. Horne expressed belief this would be accomplished in the next ten days or two weeks.

The board is also giving some consideration to the management of the two stores, and it is probable announcement in this connection will be made following the meeting Monday.

Methods of procedure, locations and employees were discussed yesterday morning but policies of the organization, created by the Board of County Commissioners in session here Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, were explained yesterday afternoon. A number of citizens prominent in the life of the various communities of the county were on hand and pledged the control board their co-operation in the establishment of stores and conducting them on the high plane desired.

F. C. Harding, chairman of the Board of Elections, and prominent attorney, outlined the policies of the board to the visitors, and urged them to do their bit toward carrying out the aims and objectives of the new board as far as is humanely possible.

While Greenville and Farmville will get the first two stores, it is probable stores will be established in other sections of the county. It will be necessary for other sections desiring stores to present their requests to the board and immediate action will be taken to meet the demands, it was understood.

Voters of the county went to the poll last Saturday and voted three to one in favor of establishment of control stores in the county as authorized at the closing sessions of the last General Assembly. Stores already have been opened in several surrounding counties, but court orders are holding up the openings in one or two counties although the voters have already approved the act.

Vance Baise, chief highway engineer of the State Highway and Public Works Commission announced today. The Nash county project is concrete surfacing and widening in Rocky Mount of alternate Route 90.

WOMAN KILLED IN RIOT AT IRISH CELEBRATION. Belfast, Northern Ireland, July 13.—(AP)—Ulster's otherwise quiet celebration of the 245th anniversary of the battle of the Boyne exploded into rioting last night and one woman was shot and killed. Gunfire and stones left 19 other persons injured.

A record number of Orangemen in full regalia, their loyalist districts ablaze with bunting, participated in commemorations of the historic battle which made Protestantism secure as the official religion of Great Britain.

Huey's Foe Quits

Another obstacle to Senator Huey P. Long's supremacy in Louisiana was removed when District Attorney Eugene Stanley (above), bitter enemy of the "Kingfish," resigned. That left Mayor T. Semmes Walmsley of New Orleans fighting a one-man war against the senator after the mayor's supporters deserted him in a body. (Associated Press Photo)

SOLDIERS TO MOVE TO CAMP EARLY SUNDAY

Local Military Unit to Begin Moving to Fort Bragg by Truck Sunday at 5:30 a. m.

Artillerymen of the national guards unit here were turning their attention today to final preparations for moving to annual encampment at Fort Bragg Sunday.

Equipment left the city early yesterday morning and today and will be in place when the personnel of the battery reaches camp sometime tomorrow. In previous years they have gone to camp by train, but this year sufficient trucks have been provided each unit for the movement of equipment and men within short notice.

With new uniforms and trucks the artillerymen are expected to make a much better showing this year than previously, although for the past three or four years they have won considerable recognition from ranking officers.

The military and athletic programs are much more ambitious this year than formerly. Captain Herbert Waldrop, said in announcing encampment plans the first of the week, and the entire contingent was looking forward to activities with more or less interest.

The battery will go to Fort Bragg full strength as usual. This included four officers and 65 men, who have been put through several training periods weekly for the last month or so, and were described as in the best condition of years.

NEGOTIATIONS COMPLETED AT MOSCOW TODAY

Agreement Follows Exchange of Notes Between American Ambassador Bullitt and Maxim Litvinoff; U. S. to Receive $30,000,000 Annually in Soviet Trade; Russia Given Benefits of New Trade Treaty

Moscow, July 13.—(AP)—Russian-American negotiations at Washington have come to a successful conclusion in the form of a Soviet-American trade agreement, it was officially stated here today.

Details of the agreement were expected to be made known this afternoon. An exchange of notes between Foreign Minister Maxim Litvinoff and the American Ambassador William C. Bullitt today culminated in the negotiations. They are understood to provide for a temporary agreement and the granting to the USSR the most favored nations treatment.

Washington, July 13.—(AP)—The United States and Soviet Russia today signed a trade agreement, expected by officials of both governments to treble the value of trade between the two countries.

That action ended 18 years of commercial relations which were considered unsatisfactory.

The State Department said the trade agreement concluded in Moscow through an exchange of notes between William C. Bullitt, the American ambassador, and Maxim Litvinoff, the Soviet commissar of foreign affairs, pledges the Soviet government to make purchases of $30,000,000 in the United States during the next 12 months. In return the United States has granted Russia all benefits contained in the trade agreement already concluded with Belgium, Haiti and Sweden and will extend all benefits accruing from trade acts.

LIGHT DOCKET IN CITY COURT

Two Charges of Violation Traffic Laws Held Spotlight of Session Today

Two persons charged with violation of traffic laws held the spotlight in the regular Saturday morning session of City court here this morning.

Theron Cox, charged with driving while drunk, was bound over to the next session of County court under bond of $100.

Robert Belcher, colored, paid a fine of $5 and cost after police arrested him on a charge of speeding.

Jim Reeves and Bonnie Bell Minor, both colored, appeared on a charge of disorderly conduct, the woman being fined $10 and cost and Reeves $5 and cost. In event of failure to pay fines, they are to be sent to the roads for 30 days.

City court docket has been light throughout the week in spite of the fact that the Saturday morning session last week was postponed on account of the city hall being used as a balloting place in the liquor control election. Chief of Police George Clark said violations had been fewer here the past week than in months.

GIRL BABY IS BORN TO YOUTHFUL MOTHER

Wilson, July 13.—They marry young in Wilson county. A seven-year-old girl was born to 16-year-old Mrs. Luby Evans, of Elm City, at a local hospital late last night.

Both mother and baby were reported as doing nicely.

Mrs. Evans married when she was 14.

India's Women Pass Up Vote. Simla, India.—(AP)—Women of the Punjab, given the right to vote by the new Indian constitution, have shown such apathy about registering that it seems likely that not more than 1,000 of the 500,000 enfranchised will exercise the privilege.

dare not antagonize the fiery

EASING: Transfer of Dr. John Dickinson from Commerce to Justice marks a major shift in the administration's attitude toward business and industry. It was made after the White House had long deliberated the dilemma produced by the NRA crack-up.

Mr. Dickinson is an economist as well as a legal shark. He helped to frame the National Recovery Act and was in completely sympathy with its aims. He takes a broad view of the anti-trust laws which he will administer and has often said that they hampered legal cooperation within industry. Sometimes, in his belief, they provoked the worst kind of competition by restricting the small producer and aiding larger units.

In the past the D of J has been hard-boiled with respect to the scope and meaning of the antitrust statutes. It has taken a literal view of things. President Roosevelt subscribed to this viewpoint immediately after the Supreme Court's decision. But the Dickinson transfer forecasts a more reasonable attitude as negotiation of voluntary agreements begins. Namely, no sanction of ruthless restraint of trade but a trend toward "rational competition."

BORE: Admiral Christian Joy
Peoples is a bear for punishment.
Comptroller General McCarl has just scolded him hard and now the Treasury Procurement Officer shows his chin out for another smack.

Admiral Peoples has notified his field staff that they must buy supplies directly from the manufacturers and not through building supply companies. His idea is to save money. But the building interests have flooded Capitol Hill with telegrams asking the reason for this attempt to destroy small industries.
They had the strange suspicion that it was big industries which the administration wanted to break up.

Now both manufacturers and jobbers are sore. For the order which McCarl ruled out demanded that in all government contracts private corporations agree to code hours and wages enacted by Congress "in the future."

BOSS: Federal Judge Grubb of Alabama has hamstringed TVA—the President's pet experiment—almost as effectively as the Supreme Court smashed the NRA. The TVA would have shown an operating profit of more than $1,000,000 for the 1935 fiscal year if Judge Grubb had not held that it could not sell electricity to municipalities.

Almost a score of municipal contracts have been tabled by TVA's directors since the Grubb decision.
Neither side dare enter into an agreement until the question is settled, and a final decision by the Supreme Court will not be handed down until next winter. Meanwhile, Judge Grubb requires that cities and towns wanting TVA power must first obtain his approval. He has ruled in one instance that TVA cannot sell power to a community even though private interests refuse to serve.

Certain Senators are irate at the judge's attitude. They would demand an investigation if they thought they could muster a majority for it. But Congress is showing great respect for the courts these days.

READY MADE WIFE

BY CORALIE STANTON

SYNOPSIS: Rex and Laurie Moore are only pretending to be married so that each may hold his job with Mark Albery, airplane manufacturer. Now Laurie has discovered that her employer is in love with her, just when Rex is on his way home from a successful flight over Africa. Laurie's sister Gladys also has her problem—she is in love with Jimmy Dallas, although she knows Jimmy led to her when they first met, calling himself Jimmy Smith.

Chapter 22

REX RETURNS

ALBERY'S smooth voice was a command. Laurie accepted it as business. Perhaps he wanted to make corrections in the report.

"I will go and telephone my sister," she said.

When Albery came into her office, he said:

"Mrs. Moore, I didn't mention it on Sunday, but this fact that we are working on is a secret. I suppose Moore has not told you about it?"

"Oh, no," she said warmly.

"I knew he hadn't. But I would just like you to know. It is a very important discovery. It will give us a great advantage in the air when we get it right. That is one of the reasons why I am glad to have you doing my private correspondence."

ment asking himself questions that would have amazed her.

"How can I get her? What is there under her skin? What is it that I want in her? What is she really like? Or is there dust in my eyes?
Is she a Sphinx without a secret?
Why does she send me mad? Why can't I live without her? Can I buy her? Does she care for money? Is she in love with Moore? If she is, I'll get rid of him. I'll risk hell to get her."

Mad, delicious, chaotic thoughts behind that impassive face that Laurie glanced at now and then in profile from her seat in the big car.
But, on the surface, only an elegant man of the world, an appreciative employer, helping his efficient secretary out of his car in front of a restaurant in the Strand.

ABOUT an hour later, Rex Moore rang the bell of the flat in Chelsea, and the porter deposited his light luggage in the hall when Gladys opened the door.

"Oh!" exclaimed the girl, who knew him at once from his photos in the papers, but was rather overcome by his size and vitality and his out-landish clothes. "It's Rex Moore, isn't it? I say, Laurie isn't in."

"Isn't she? And you're Gladys?" He wrung her hand, and she was

On the surface, only an elegant man of the world.

"Of course, I should not mention it to anybody," Laurie said, and added in a slightly stiff voice: "Rex does not talk to me about his profession."

"You must be excited about his return. He will be a greater hero than ever. I thought I would mention about the fuel being a secret, but I am sure you are the soul of discretion." Then, with his flashing smile, he added, "When we get the fuel right, perhaps we'll call it after you.
Laurie! Prettier than B. P. or Pratt's, or Mex, or Ethyl, isn't it?"

She laughed in natural amusement, but grew apprehensive again,
as he said quietly:

"I hope you have quite forgiven me for what I said the other day. It has been painful to me to remember that I lost my self-control. I wanted to speak of it at Fen Gretton on Sunday, but I hadn't the pluck."

Her discomfort was swallowed in a swift rush of pity. Why should this man be apologizing to her so humbly?
This man who had done every thing for her, given her a place in the world, an interest in life, self-support and self-respect. Of course, some brain crisis must have overcome him when he had told her that he loved her, when he had tried to take her in his arms.

"PLEASE, Mr. Albery, don't say anything more about it. I shall never think of it again."

"There is one way in which I don't want you really to forget, Mrs.
Moore," he persisted, with that sad little smile that made his face so old and so inscrutable. "I only want you to forgive me. But I don't want you to forget that if ever you need a friend, I am here. And I am not ashamed of your knowledge that it has made me unhappy that you have come too late into my life."

Laurie looked at him with an embarrassed but grateful smile. She could not help feeling flattered and honored.

Behind his impassive Oriental mask Mark Albery was at that moment quick to feel the pulsing life of that grip, like an electric shock.

She stared at him.
"She wasn't expecting you. She rang up a little while ago to say she was late at the office and was having dinner with Mr. Albery. She said she wouldn't be late home."

Late at the office. The good old man's excuse—now in the mouths of women! Rex Moore gave an angry little laugh that Gladys didn't understand, but thought thrilling and frightfully strong. She was actually "thrilled to the bone" by his personality, as she told her sister she would be.

"I'm afraid there's nothing to eat," she told Rex. "And Mrs. Budd has gone."

"That's all right. I had something at Croydon, and if I want anything more I can go out."

He was hurt at Laurie being out.
How ridiculous! And dining with Albery. Why shouldn't she? It could be no business of his. He had seen that Albery was keen on her. And he hadn't advised her of his arrival.
He hadn't sent a single word since he left. As a matter of fact, he hadn't intended to start until tomorrow, but Wilmer Jones had taken a sudden turn for the better and was out of danger.

But he was in a bad mood. News of his arrival had got through and there had been quite a crowd at Croydon, although it was nearly dark, and the newspaper men had rattled him no end.

He was not cut out for a hero, and they tried to make him one. He didn't deserve all this kudos. Wilmer Jones had just as much right to
it. Only, poor Jones was ill in Marseilles. And being sensitive as a woman in some ways, which nobody guessed, and hating himself for it, he was in a very nasty temper.

"So you are Gladys!" he said, with his surprising smile, like a bright light behind his eyes. But it was an absent recognition.

Rex gets a phone call from a woman, Monday.

In the break in the metal last week was deliberately incited by speculators who wanted to smoke out our government and force it to declare its policy. Apparently they succeeded when the Treasury went in to buy silver in quantity and thus averted a complete collapse of the world market.

But the important point—which nearly all commentators have mis-sessed—was that Mr. Morgenthau outwardly made the gamblers and thereby made intervention profitable. Informed sources understand that the 30 to 40 million ounces we purchased actually cost about 61 cents an ounce—although the open market price never got that low. Most of the speculators who sold it to us had paid much more—and it's a cinch the price will go no lower.

The criticism that we were forced to shell out from 20 to 27 million dollars to "save silver" is distinctly irrelevant, in view of the bargain we obtained.

SHREWD: It's well to consider the political implications whenever things happen to silver. The administration has a mandate from Congress to buy the metal until one of two objectives is reached—either silver is acquired in a quantity equal to one-fourth of our total monetary reserves or the price rises to $1.29 an ounce. But method and timing in operating are left to its unfettered discretion.

The silver bloc in the Senate is all in favor of getting the price up to the specified maximum as fast as possible. That would help their constituents more and the alternative goal is obviously far away. But the chief beneficiaries of such a policy would unquestionably be foreign speculators—who would be tremendously enriched at no risk to themselves. This was abundantly proved in the spectacular April rise —when they apparently had our government where they wanted it.

Secretary Morgenthau simply is not playing the game their way. His strategy now is to keep them guessing—to make his policy a day-today affair which they can't be sure about—and incidentally to pick up the silver he must buy as cheaply as possible. Naturally it would be unwise to let the market drop through the cellar—but short of that he can come pretty close to calling his shots his own way.

The silver Senators crave swifter action—hence their constant pressure on the Treasury to step on the gas and force prices up. But the silverites are in no position to enforce their demands as a matter of repaying a political debt. They haven't been so darned loyal to the New Deal. Moreover their silver-producing constituents still get 77 cents an ounce regardless of the world markets—and it's pretty hard to claim they're being gyped when world prices are more than ten cents below that figure. Impartial New Yorkers concede that the Secretary has handled his cards shrewdly.

CRUX: Financial sources learn that the President's appeal to the House Committee to pass the Gul-fey coal bill who her constitutional or not didn't register so well. In fact it almost got the bill killed in committee—there was a heated inside debate on the question of shelving it entirely. I will now be reported out—but the Committee has extensively rewritten it in an earnest effort to forestall Supreme Court objections. Its essential provisions remain the same as before but the language is changed.

Once the bill gets through the House it will pass the Senate without difficulty. John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers privately claims to have more than half the Senators definitely lined up to vote aye.

The point which puzzles Congressmen and coal operators alike is whether coal is subject to interstate commerce control because most of it is consumed by railroads or outside the state in which it is mined—or whether it is purely an intrastate product because 90 per cent of it is sold F. O. B. the mine of origin. This question is the crux of the measure's constitutionality.

SUSPICIOUS: If President Roosevelt wants even worse headaches than he has yet encountered just let him try naming Leo Wolman as chairman of the National Labor Relations Board created by the Wagner bill.

Reports are current that he may do so as a reassuring gesture to business. The auto industry thinks a lot of Wolman even if the A. F. of L. doesn't. He certainly refused to kowtow to the Federation when he was head of the Automobile Labor Board.

His appointment would be pouring castor oil on organized labor's nice fresh dish of ice cream. No move FDR could make would embellish the Federation more—or do more to encourage the radical laborites who want a new deal of their own. Union leaders are terribly suspicious—especially since the President was apparently glad to accept the resignation of Francis Biddle, chairman of the former Labor Board. Biddle was sympathetic to the Federation viewpoint. Labor liked and trusted him and hoped he would be continued as head of the new setup.

POLITICS at random

By BYRON PRICE
(Chief of Bureau, The Associated Press, Washington)

A re-deal of Roosevelt cabinet appointments would not surprise Washington politicians who usually are in the know.

It is expected generally that Postmaster General Farley will get out after Congress quits, devoting himself to organizing the Democratic party for next year's campaign, but that is only part of the story.

The approach of another presidential year, coupled with the development of real opposition on capitol hill, has brought home the comparative weakness of the present cabinet lineup from the standpoint of practical political influence.

Former presidents frequently have brought into their cabinets political leaders who could control almost beyond question certain blocs of votes in Congress and in political conventions. For instance the ten cabinet members sometimes virtually have had in their pockets the 20 Senate votes from their own states.

Nothing like that exists today.
Of the ten in the Roosevelt cabinet, only six came into office with what might have been called an outstanding political background, and only four of these six had recently been anything like a political boss of his own state.

Farley is one of the six, but even in his case one of the two New York senators—Coffey—often has been off the new deal reservation.
Nor can Farley control Tammany.

Another is Secretary Swanson, but many thought he had completely lost the control he once held over the Virginia Democratic organization, and was on the verge of becoming a lame duck when he was elevated to the navy appointment.

A third is Attorney General Cummings. However, in spite of the power he once wielded in Connecticut, he was in the minority faction of the delegation at the 1932 national convention.

The fourth is Secretary Hull who,
like Cummings, is a former Democratic national chairman. Of late years, on the other hand, his control over Tennessee politics has been of doubtful force.

When the administration came to its big test on the work relief bill, cabinet members made a check-up.
They found almost every senator from every home state of a cabinet member voting against the President.
And they admitted there was nothing
they could do about it.

One report heard on capitol hill—

July Offers Another Shadow Show

Eclipse Of Moon Visible In U. S.

This diagram shows what will happen during the total eclipse of the moon on the night of July 15-16. Because of light rays bent by the atmosphere at the earth's edge, the moon will be slightly visible even in total shadow unless clouds interfere

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
(Associated Press Science Editor)

New York (AP)—The western hemisphere sees a total eclipse of the moon on the night of July 15-16.
For the United States the eclipse begins at 9:14 p. m., eastern standard time, and ends at 2:43 a. m.

The real total eclipse lasts from 11:09 p. m. until 12:49 a. m.—an hour and 40 minutes.

Moon May Be Visible
During this time it may be possible to see the moon faintly where the sky is very clear. The faint illumination then will come from rays of the sun which are bent—that is,
refracted—inward as they pass through the earth's atmosphere in the sunrise and sunset belts that border the night.

It will be sunset over Russia and sunrise over Hawaii during the total eclipse. If those parts of the world happen to be cloudy, the refracted rays will be interfered with and the moon may be completely obscured during mid-totally, when it is in the center of the earth's shadow.

This shadow is double. It is an inner well of total lack of sunlight, the umbra, surrounded by the pen-umbra, a concentric ring of partial earth shadow.

The umbra is almost exactly three times the diameter of the moon.
The penumbra is an outer shadow ring about the moon's diameter.

Like A Bronze Disc
The moon will touch the penumbra first at 9:14 p. m. and be completely in it at 10:12. At that time it should be a bronze disc. Again at 1:46 a. m. it will be completely in the penumbra after passing out of the total shadow.

In this eclipse the moon passes very nearly through the center of the umbra. Its course is slightly north of the dead center of blackness.

On March 4, 1933, Mr. Roosevelt assumed his new duties with a stroke of bold leadership which won him international admiration. In the words of the prize ring (used here because none other is quite so expressive) he came out of his corner fighting. The recognized courage and confidence of his dealing with the bank crisis changed the whole national atmosphere overnight.

Since then, however, many things have happened.

Opposition Dawns
It is unnecessary to review the story in detail in order to realize that since that first experience the administration has relied heavily on the power of swift, intrepid attack.
Momentum has been reckoned a prime factor in the "new deal" and the momentum from each success has been taken advantage of to help get the next succeeding venture under way.

There was no denying that for months this fast-moving assault had Mr. Roosevelt's political adversaries groggy and disheartened, and hanging on the ropes.

There was a time when even the most partisan republican, speaking of his decision.

was that this situation was discus-
ed at a cabinet meeting.

Anyway, some of those who have heard the cabinet line-up talked over in very high quarters, believe some of the present cabinet members are headed for "promotions" to the diplomatic service and elsewhere, to make room for successors who will be listened to by a larger segment of Congress.

All such suggestions are denied at the White House, where it is insisted that if any changes take place they will be just in the natural course. Nevertheless, the politicians are watching for—and expecting developments.

There are growing signs that, from the standpoint of political strategy alone, the Roosevelt administration has arrived at a decisive moment.

The missing boy is W. R. Norris, Jr., only son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Norris. He has light hair, blue eyes, with a small birth-mark in one of them, and weight about 115 pounds. He left on a bicycle and had on a pair of overalls. He was wearing a baseball cap.

An acquaintance saw him about noon yesterday on the Benson-Coats highway about three miles from Benson. He had a box on the back of his bicycle. As some of his clothes are missing, it is supposed he took them in his box.

Summer Sleds in Nazi Resort.
Einsiedel, Germany.—(AP)—Bob-sledding in bathing suits at temperatures well above 90 has become a favorite summer sport in this mountain town.

"Why not winter sports in summer?" asked the Einsiedel Mountaineering Association. There being no negative, a track was constructed on which the sleds roll on rubber-tired wheels.

Enthusiasts of this sport need not trail uphill under their own power. Double seated coasters driven by electricity, provide means of ascent.

By ETHEL NICE, H. D. A.

August Picnic Postponed.
The county-wide picnic for home demonstration families which was scheduled for August 8, has been postponed until a later date, because of the ban on group meetings. This picnic will probably be held during September.

August Meetings.
Several clubs are making arrangements for holding local meetings in August since the picnic meeting had to be cancelled. Red Banks will go to Simpson Aug. 21, where Mrs. J. B. Spilman will be the speaker.

"Things Worth While" will be her subject. Mrs. Spilman will also go to Stokes August 8 where the same subject will be used.

Stokes Meeting.
The Stokes H. D. Club met Thursday afternoon. "Citizenship" was the subject. This club has secured benches and painted them in order that open air meetings may be held during the summer months. They are working to get Home Economics taught in the school.

Red Banks Meetings.
The Red Banks H. D. Club met Friday afternoon with Mrs. E. H. Boyd and Miss Mary Hoover Boyd. "Citizenship" was the subject. They are expecting to have a club picnic on the L. S. Hardee lawn soon. During the next month surprise packages will be presented to the club members. The person receiving the package will deposit the amount she feels her package worth in a miniature bank and send a package and the bank to another member.

Canneries.
The canneries at Greenville and Farmville will operate for a few months in order to can non-acid vegetables which require a pressure cooker. Vegetables and fruits which can be canned with the water bath will not be accepted at the canneries.

Fall Gardens.
Don't get so busy with your tobacco that the fall garden is neglected. The garden is still important and time should be arranged to plant and cultivate it. Now is the time to plant snap beans, field peas, and cabbage. Between July 15 and 31 plant Irish potatoes, collards and rutabagas.

Dixie Relish.
You will like the following recipe. 1 qt. chopped or ground cabbage; 1 pint chopped or ground white onions; 1 pint chopped or ground sweet green pepper; 1 pint chopped or ground sweet red pepper.

Distribute 1-2 cup salt over these chopped ingredients and let each stand in separate bowl for 4 hours. Squeeze in muslin bag until they are free from juice. Place all ingredients in porcelain lined kettle with—

4 tbs. mustard seed; 2 tbs. celery seed; 1 qt. vinegar; 1 1/2 lbs. granulated sugar; 1 tbs. salt; 1 tbs. all-spice unground; 1 tbs. cloves, unground; 1 stick cinnamon.

Spices should be tied in bag. Boil mixture for 10 minutes. Pour into jars, seal while hot.

Club Schedule For Next Week.
Winterville H. D. Club—Tuesday, 3 p. m., July 16, at the home of Mrs. D. C. Buck.

Chicod H. D. Club—Wednesday, 3 p. m., at the home of Mrs. Herman Stokes.

Pierce H. D. Club—Thursday, 3 p. m., at the club building.

St. John's H. D. Club—Friday, 3 p. m., at the church.

You are invited.

Indian women on the Crow Creek reservation, South Dakota, wave green willow branches into wire fencing to make the rip-rap for dams built under the local conservation program.

MARTINS DOWN GREENIES TUNE OF 42

Williamston, July 13.—Slim Gardner personally conducted the Martins to a 4-2 victory over Greenville yesterday.

The elongated Williamston pitcher let the visitors down with six hits, fanned 10, allowed no earned runs and topped off his performance by batting in all the locals' runs.

Slim's contribution to the local nine-hit attack consisted of a single, a double and a triple for four runs. Hantz hit a single and a double, and Marable hit a pair of singles. No Greenville made more than one hit.

Gardner's triple sent in two runs in the second. It scored McCready who had walked with two away and Gillespie who had reached first on an error by Farley.

Leary opened the sixth by drawing a walk. Hantz doubled to put Leary on third. Gardner once more did a base-clearing act, this time with a double.

Greenville's runs came in the last two innings. Farley singled to open the eighth. Wade was safe on an error by Leary, and Bostic doubled—that produced the first. Gardner started the ninth by fanning Ty Wagner and Ace Parker, but Johnson singled and scored when Gardner couldn't hang to Dean's long fly to left field. Gardner fanned Farley to end the game.

TATE BLANKS BRUINS

New Bern, July 12.—Tate, Goldsboro hurler, received excellent support on a rain-slowed field yesterday afternoon and handed New Bern its first shutout of the season. The Bugs won 7-0.

Tate appeared far from impressive at times, but the Bruins could not cash in on scoring opportunities.

Joe Webb, former New Bern player who now wears a Goldsboro uniform, proved the old adage about castoffs by starting against his former mates. His homer in the first, after Rand had walked, provided enough runs for victory. He doubled in the seventh to keep in practice.

Michael also homered, his blow coming in the midst of a three-run ninth inning.

Sewell cracked two singles to lead the Bears. Eason, Norwood and Van Horn got the locals' other hits, all singles.

In the ninth inning Tate pulled just about the dirtiest stunt ever seen here. He hit a clean single to left, ran out the hit, and then walked back to the dugout. He was thrown out, Cleary to Sewell to Van Horn.

TARBORO UPS AND WINS

Ayden, July 13.—Tarboro's cellarites mixed two singles and two doubles with an error and a long fly to score four runs in the seventh inning and defeat Ayden 7-5, here yesterday.

The loss crowded Ayden out of the first division, as Williamston and Snow Hill both won and now share third and fourth places.

Male hit a double to start Tarboro on its big inning. Knobe lofted to right but Knowles erred, and Knobe moved to second. Bassin then singled to send in two tallies. After McArthur had popped out Bryant singled and his blow was the signal for Kermit Smith to yield the pitching chores to Doug Johnson. McArthur chafed to right, Bassin scoring. Short then doubled to count Bryant. Guam filed out to end the stanza.

Short hit two doubles and a triple to feature for the victorious Tarboro outfit. Male was next with two singles and a double. Atkins hit a homer and a double to share Ayden's leadership with Knowles, who made three singles. Collins hit two doubles.

SNOW HILL WINS

Snow Hill, July 13.—The seventh inning proved a "lucky seventh" for Snow Hill yesterday, and the locals pushed across five tallies in that chucker to defeat Kingston 7-3.

All the scoring in the big inning came after two were out although Pette opened with a double and Cheek followed by drawing a walk.

The next two men went out, and then Crump singled score Pette. Neuman doubled to send Cheek home, and Parrish singled to tally Crump and Neuman. Parrish moved to second on the vain play at the plate for Neuman, and he scored when Perry singled.

Taylor hit safely on three of five trips to lead the losing Eagles. Charlie Keller hit for the circuit in the fifth to account for his second homer in as many games. Farmer had two for three.

Crump and Neuman, each with two for three, had the best average among Snow Hill batters. However, Pette hit a double and a single in five turns, and Williams hit a double and a single in a similar number of efforts.

Greenville and Williamston In Double Bill Today

Greenville baseball lovers had a double bill on tap today between Greenville and Williamston, the first game to begin at 2:00 o'clock and the second to be played immediately afterward.

One of the games is a playoff of a game rained out here last week. Williamston trimmed the league leading Greenville club to the tune of 4 to 2 at Williamston yesterday, but the leaders were determined the story would be a different one today.

Tomorrow the locals will travel to Ayden for a scheduled Sunday afternoon performance which is expected to draw a large crowd from both places.

Durham to Play Legion Outfit Here on Tuesday

The American Legion junior baseball team of Durham will come to Greenville Tuesday to play the Pitt County Post of the American Legion in the state-wide championship series. The game will be played at Third street school park at three o'clock.

Greenville will go to Durham for the second game of the three-game series Thursday, and the third game will be decided on when the managers of the two clubs meet here Tuesday, providing a play-off is necessary to determine the winner of the series.

The Pitt County Post last week won two games from Manteo, eliminating that team from the championship battle, and qualifying the local boys to meet Durham which also vanquished its rivals.

The public and league players were urged to attend the game and see the two clubs clash.

SCHOOL JOB DECLINED BY SON OF CHAIRMAN

Fayetteville, July 13.—H. S. Averitt, chairman of the Cumberland County Board of Education, announced today that his son, Franklin Averitt, had positively declined to accept the position of assistant superintendent of public instruction to which the board elected him on July 1, after ousting Laurence Thornton. The announcement stated the young man declined the place "on account of continuing his study of law at Wake Forest College."

Widespread disapproval was expressed when the board dismissed Thornton, though there was no dissatisfaction with his work, and elected the chairman's son with a 20 per cent increase in salary. The action was the subject of editorial criticism in several state papers. The county commissioners refused to approve the salary increase for an inexperienced man.

No action toward reinstating Thornton was taken by the school board today. Thornton in the meantime, has been offered seven other positions.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, July 13.—(AP)—The stock market ended the week today in a fairly optimistic frame of mind.

While there was no buying rush during the brief session the rails picked up a friendly following and a number of new highs for the year were registered in other divisions.

The close was steady. Transfers were 550,000 shares.

Although motor and electrical equipment equities were in demand prices changes generally were narrow. Important stimulus seemed to be lacking for the list as a whole.

The customary week-end evening operations were also in evidence. Wheat was in a selling position.

Secondary rails bond rallied. The leading gold currencies improved in terms of the dollar.

CRACKER BARREL CHAT STARTS MINERS' PROJECT

Bismark, N. D., (AP)—Over a cracker barrel little more than a year ago came an idea which has blossomed into a project in the northern part of North Dakota which will give more than 40 miners and their families new, modern homes and a new future.

Robert Oliver, Burlington coal miner broached the idea as he talked with a storekeeper over a barrel of crackers. His thought was to provide his fellow-miners with work which would sustain them when the mines were shut down.

From the conversation eventually came the Burlington subsistence project, backed by the rural rehabilitation corporation and built with the aid of the FERA.

When it is completed the project will contain 40 homes, each surrounded by eight acres of land, and purchased on a 20-to-30 year payment plan.

WPA SET-UP BELIEVED TO BE POLITICAL

Unemployment Relief Thought to Be Secondary Consideration of Measure

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel.

Raleigh, July 13.—Does WPA stand for Works Progress Administration or Works Politics Administration? Does this new Federal organization, whose running gear has just been revealed through the announcement of the eight district directors and their assistants in North Carolina, have the relief of the unemployed in the state as its basic objective, or the relief of the relief workers and the re-election of members of Congress as its principal aim? Is the WPA the answer to the supplications of the patronage seekers and the politicians?

There is no doubt, among most observers here that regardless of what style of body may later be mounted on the new WPA chassis, that this chassis is undoubtedly of the latest 1935 political model, constructed with a very definite view to assisting in the re-election of the present members of Congress. Many of the parts and appliances tried out in the old CWA and ERA machines have been incorporated into this new model WPA machine, to make it more effective. It is also agreed. It is also believed that the new WPA is going to take over as many of the old ERA employees as will prove politically helpful in guiding the destinies of the new organization.

Not that there has not been any politics or political significance to the old North Carolina Emergency Relief Administration machine and the former CWA organization, most observers agree. The principal difference is that the politics in the old CWA and NCERA was state and county politics, while the dominant note in the new set up is being sounded by the Senators and Congressmen, who are generally conceded to have had very little to say about the running of the old CWA and NCERA. Most observers see in the new WPA set-up a relegation of Governor J. C. B. Ehringhaus and Mrs. Thomas O'Berry, state ERA administrator, into the background as far as any say-so in the future expenditure of Federal money in North Carolina is concerned, and the transfer of this authority to the WPA officials who owe their appointments to the influence of Senator Josiah W. Bailey, the state's eleven Congressmen, and perhaps to Senator Robert R. Reynolds, although very few here are able to see much trace of any Reynolds influence. Some think that this may be due to the fact that Senator Reynolds does not come up for renomination and re-election until 1938, while Senator Bailey and all the Congressmen come up for renomination and re-election next year.

On Week-End Fishing Trip.

Washington, July 13.—(AP)—Capital attention today turned to the journey of President Roosevelt, Vice President Garner, Postmaster General Farley and other Democratic leaders to the Chesapeake Bay fishing grounds of the Jefferson Club, an organization of Senate Democrats.

The White House said emphatically the President went merely for a week-end of outdoor recreation but so many prominent party members were invited that observers agreed some of them at least would talk of 1936 prospects and strategy.

Both the Senate and House were in recess but important committees of both were at work. Before the House ways and means and a Senate committee the Chamber of Commerce of the United States renewed its attack on the Roosevelt tax program. A spokesman for the business organization said the government should cut expenses of $300,000,000 or $400,000,000 instead of trying to raise that much in new revenue.

Chairman Black of the Senate lobby committee, sent a questionnaire to all power companies asking how much they spent fighting the utility holding companies bill.

An increase of $69,000,000 in farmers cash receipts from sales of principal farm products in May of this year, compared with May, 1934, was reported by the agriculture department.

Hold Strike Conference.

Fayetteville, July 13.—(AP)—Strikers and the management of the Lacy Manufacturing Co., a venerable concern, held a conference this morning but were unable to reach an agreement. Another conference was set for this afternoon at four o'clock. The management expressed a willingness to adopt any form of compensation which would not result in an operating loss.

Cotton Consumption Off.

Washington, July 13.—(AP)—Cotton consumed during June was reported today by the Census Bureau to have totalled 385,946 bales of lint and 61,905 bales of linters compared with 469,250 and 65,000 during May of this year, and 236,252 and 54,587 during June last year.

Imports for June totalled 6,403 bales compared with 10,423 for May of this year and 9,751 for June last year.

Exports for June totalled 344,955 bales of lint and 19,006 of linters compared with 278,977 and 21,910 for May this year and 459,226 and 14,263 for June last year.

Cotton spindles active in June numbered 22,790,20 compared with 23,027,780 during May this year and 24,621,334 during June last year.
