With War Imminent, Italy Pushes Troops To Africa

MUSSOLINI ORDERS NEW FORCES OUT

Another Regular Division and Creation of Additional Black-shirt Militia Ordered By Italian Leader As Clash With Ethiopia Grows Increasingly Inevitable; Italy Wants More Concessions

Rome, July 15.—(AP)—With war between Italy and Ethiopia increasingly regarded as inevitable, Premier Benito Mussolini today ordered the mobilization of another regular army division and the creation of an additional division of black-shirt militia.

Il Duce also ordered the immediate construction of ten new submarines.

An official communique which announced the new preparations for possible hostilities in East Africa said:

"The accelerated rhythm of military preparations by Ethiopia forces us to proceed with additional measures of a military character."

Today's order brings the number of regular army divisions destined for East Africa to five. Five black-shirt divisions also have been created. This means that Italy will have at least 250,000 men for service against Ethiopia should war begin.

The communique said Il Duce called out specialists and technical experts of the classes of 1909, 1910 and 1912 and summoned new quotas of pilots and specialists for the air force.

Earlier the opinion was expressed that was certain following Emperor Haile Selassie's statement that Ethiopia would not accept the Italian statement of influence of construction of a railroad through Ethiopia.

Authoritative sources pointed out that Italy wants much more than these concessions—namely a total protectorate—but that if the emperor refuses small concessions only he would also reject the large one.

NEGRESS HELD FOR STABBING

Middle Bell Johnson Jailed After Attacking Estelle Jones With Ice Pick

Charged with stabbing another negress with an ice pick, Middle Bell Johnson, was bound over to county court following preliminary hearing in police court this morning. She was unable to give bond of $200 and was remanded to jail to await trial tomorrow.

The negress was arrested by police on New Higgs street yesterday afternoon after she allegedly stabbed Estelle Jones in the shoulder with the ice pick. No cause for the stabbing was given by police, except that the Johnson woman was drinking and appeared on the streets seeking trouble. The Jones woman, a stranger, was the first person she saw, police said, so she attacked her, inflicting a painful but not serious injury in the back of the shoulder.

Chief of Police George Clark said the Johnson woman had been in trouble several times in recent years and recently completed a term on the roads for assault.

M. J. Thomas, Syrian, was fined $5 and cost after police said he parked his automobile across a sidewalk Saturday night during the rain.

Two or three cases of drunkenness also were disposed of this morning, each of the defendants being required to pay light fines.

'SWAMP SLAYING' SOLVED

Chicago police say a confession attributed to Mrs. Blanch Dunkell (left) has solved the mystery surrounding the death of her son-in-law, Ervin Lang, whose legless body was found in a swamp near Hammond, Ind. Officers quoted her as admitting she hired assassins to kill him in revenge because of her belief he was responsible for her daughter's death. Josephine McKinley (right), Lang's sweetheart, identified his body and told police Mrs. Dunkell had threatened him. (Associated Press Photos)

Legion To Meet Near Winterville Tuesday Evening

The Pitt County Post of the American Legion will be entertained at a barbecue and Brunswick stew supper by Ayden and Winterville members of the organization Tuesday evening at 6 o'clock on the Herman J. McLawhorn farm, on the highway between Winterville and Ayden, about a half mile from Winterville.

The post accepted the invitation to hold the next meeting there at a previous session and members were looking forward to the gathering with more or less interest, especially those whose gastronomic capacity is always unlimited and who have a peculiar weakness for barbecue and Brunswick stew.

All members were urged to attend and take advantage of the hospitality of the former service men residing in the two communities.

Late News Flashes

Prepare to Set Up Snow Hill Store
Snow Hill, July 15.—(AP)—Judge J. Paul Frizzelle having modified his original injunction permitting Greene county to open liquor control stores, the Board of County Commissioners was scheduled to meet there this afternoon at 4 o'clock to complete plans for operation of a dispensary.

Whiskey Sales Begin In Vance
Henderson, July 15.—(AP)—Whiskey went on sale here today legally for the first time in 26 years as Vance county liquor control store opened for business.

The county voted wet recently under a law passed by the last legislature legalizing liquor in a number of eastern cities if those counties voted wet.

W. C. Clark who helped condition the store here last week, bought the first pint as a large crowd waited to see and to buy. Two policemen directed the pedestrian traffic.

In 40 minutes sales stopped momentarily and at that time 56 customers had spent $58.70.

News Behind The News.

Washington
By RAY TUCKER
INNOCUOUS: The creaking of the Federal Trade Commission's machinery can be heard as far away as the White House these days. It will take several months before this neglected agency will be ready to negotiate and supervise voluntary agreements designed to supplant NRA codes.

Preliminary negotiations offer small hope that it can ghost for the NRA. Although 100 industries have sought information since the Blue Eagle edict, only 25 have expressed a readiness to negotiate agreements. Only six of these have offered to preserve code hours and wages. All the commission can do under the circumstances is frame a document setting forth a few pious precepts.

The commission executed only one agreement during the life of the NRA. When the wholesale druggists got in a jam with Hugh Johnson over hours and wages, they

PLAN TO PICK LIQUOR STORE SITES TODAY

Liquor Control Board Meets to Complete Plans For Setting up Stores

The Pitt County Liquor Control Board met at the court house this afternoon to consider locations for stores at Greenville, Farmville and Ayden, and C. O. H. Horne, chairman of the organization, said they hoped to have something definite to offer the Board of County Commissioners following the meeting.

It was understood that several sites were being considered in the three towns which have made applications for stores, and the board hoped to definitely complete this phase of its work this afternoon. It is quite probable also the board may take up the question of managers.

Mr. Horne said this afternoon the Board of Commissioners had given permission for his board to open an office in the court house where all business in connection with the liquor stores will be handled. The office is located in the judge's room back of the court room on the second floor and was thrown open today. Anybody having business to transact with the control board has been asked by Mr. Horne to visit the office.

The control board has also made application to the Commissioners for loan of the services of Russell Barnhill, employee of the Tax department, to assist in plans looking to opening of the liquor stores. Mr. Barnhill will be in charge of the office and will act in the capacity of supervisor, the chairman said, if the change is approved by the commissioners.

Although Mr. Horne said it was impossible at this time to say when the organization was doing everything possible to throw all stores open as soon as possible. It may be a week, he said, or it may be longer, but this cannot be definitely determined until locations have been okayed by the commissioners.

It was understood that orders for the first consignment of whiskey have already been made but will not be released until locations have been settled. Although plans have not been worked out it was said all whiskey would be stored in Greenville and distributed to other sections of the county upon demand. At least a carload will be required in the first shipment.

It was announced the latter part of last week that stores would be established in Greenville and Farmville at first, but since that time it is understood that Ayden has filed application, making it likely all stores will be opened at about the same time.

Work is being pushed forward as fast as possible, Mr. Horne said, and the citizens of all towns have been called upon to do what they can to make the work of the board successful and satisfactory as possible.

COUPLE HELD FOR SLAYING

Man and Woman Arrested at Rockford as Suspects in Death of Erwin Lang

Rockford, Ill., July 15.—(AP)—A Chinese man and woman were in custody here today on suspicion of being Harry Jung, Chicago laundryman, and his wife, Mrs. Evelyn Smith, sought in connection with the butcher murder of Erwin Lang, Chicago grocery clerk.

The two were seen riding through Rockford last night by Rockford policemen who notified detectives. A detective squad set out in pursuit and overtook the couple on highway north of the city. Taken to the Rockford police station, the occupants of the car, police said, denied they were Jung and Mrs. Smith and gave their address at Madison, Wis.

Their car, a convertible coupe, bore a Wisconsin license plate.

Records show the average growth of a live oak tree in a seven-year period is 173 inches in circumference.

MAN HELD FOR ASSAULT UPON YOUNG WOMAN

Bill McFayden Jailed At Fayetteville After Criminal Attack Last Night

Fayetteville, July 15.—(AP)—Bill McFayden was held in jail here today without bond following charges of criminal assault lodged against him last night by Dorothy Hudson, 15.

The girl said that McFayden, a truck driver for a construction company, got her at a cafe last night and was accompanying her home. She said that as they passed an alley he suddenly dragged her into it, took her to an adjacent cornfield and there assaulted her.

Then, she said, he took her to the home of one of his relatives, told her to wash and said he would get her some clean clothes. The girl said she jumped out of a window and went home.

McFayden made no statement when officers later placed him in jail.

TWO NEGROES ARE LYNCHED BY MISS. MOB

Victims Hanged From Tree After Attempt to Attack Two White Women

Columbus, Miss., July 15.—(AP)—Two negroes identified as Bert Moore and Dooley Morton were lynched today eight miles from Columbus by a mob of infuriated white citizens.

The victims of the lynching were accused of two attempted attacks on white women in this section during the last two weeks.

They were taken from the sheriff while he was seeking to spirit them away from Columbus to Aberdeen and were hanged to a tree behind a church on a country road.

MOON TO STAGE SHOW TONIGHT

Total Eclipse to Be Visible Tonight and Tomorrow Night, Science Says

Greenville people will have the opportunity to view something out of the ordinary in the way of celestial phenomenon tonight and tomorrow night when the moon stages an entire eclipse.

The eclipse begins at 9:14 (EST) ends at 2:43 a. m. The real total eclipse, scientists say, lasts from 11:09 p. m. until 12:49 a. m.—and hour and 40 minutes.

During this time it may be possible to see the moon only faintly where the sky is very clear. The faint illumination then will come from the refracted rays of the sun.

The umbra through which the moon will pass during the eclipse is almost three times the diameter of the moon, and the penumbra is an outer shadow ring about the moon's diameter.

The moon is scheduled to touch the penumbra first at 9:14 p. m., and be completely in it 10:12. At this time it should be a bronze disc. The penumbra will also be reached by the moon at 1:46 a. m. after passing out of the total shadow.

Science says that in this eclipse the moon will pass nearly through the center of the umbra.

Heads of Industry At Blue Ridge For Double Conference

Blue Ridge, N. C., July 15.—(AP)—Industrial leaders from throughout the nation arrived here today for the beginning of the Southern Industrial Executive conference Wednesday.

The development of security in industry will be the general theme of the two conferences, according to E. F. Wilson, of Atlanta, Ga., executive secretary, and a corps of outstanding industrial leaders will appear on the program of the two conferences.

COMBS SPEAKS AT UNION MEET

Pastor of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church Tells of Value of Religion

A fairly large crowd attended the union service at Pitt theatre last night in spite of rain which came down in torrents during the night.

It was the first service held in the theatre since the series began four weeks ago and the worshippers thoroughly enjoyed the comfortable accommodation. Services previously had been held at Memorial Baptist church and Jarvis Memorial Methodist church, the usual plan of holding them on the court house square having been abandoned.

Members of the Ministerial Association, sponsors of the services, said arrangements had been made for continuing worship at the theatre during the remainder of the summer.

The sermon last night was delivered by Dr. G. R. Combs, pastor of the Methodist church, who discussed the value of religion to the general public. He showed what an important part the teachings of Christ have played in the lives of former generations and declared they would prove just as effective in this age when there are so many different influences claiming attention.

Rev. J. A. McIver, pastor of Emmanuel Baptist church, is scheduled to deliver the sermon next Sunday evening, and the choir of his church will have charge of the special musical program always a feature of the services. The Methodist choir was in charge of the musical program last night with an anthem featuring the song services.

With only about six more services on schedule, members of the Ministerial Association urged the public to attend the remainder of the series in large numbers, and enjoy the special sermons and music provided by various ministers and churches of the city. Virtually all churches are co-operating in the movement to make the gatherings of as much interest as possible to the general public and hope was expressed the remainder of the summer would see increasingly large crowds on hand.

Paralysis May Delay Opening of Schools

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel, By J. C. BASKERVILL

Raleigh, July 15.—It would be exceedingly unwise for the schools which are scheduled to open between now and August to open until the present infantile paralysis epidemic is definitely under control and on the down grade, according to both the health and school authorities here. The fact that there has been a definite decrease in the number of new cases of infantile paralysis during the past week is attributed by Dr. Carl V. Reynolds, State Health Officer, to the excellent cooperation on the part of the public in observing the advice of the State Board of Health against the holding of any meetings and to the cooperation of parents in keeping their children out of crowds and places where numbers of people congregate. Consequently it would be very foolish to open any schools now until it is evident that the paralysis is definitely under control and on the wane. Dr. Reynolds believes.

"We feel convinced that whatever improvement has taken place in the infantile paralysis situation has been due to the splendid cooperation of the public and of mothers and fathers in observing our advice to keep children at home and segregate as much as possible to prevent contact with possible paralysis carriers," Dr. Reynolds said. "We cannot urge too strongly that this cooperation be continued unabated, and that mothers and fathers continue to keep their children at home and away from crowds and crowded places, even though there is a noticeable decrease in the spread of paralysis. Otherwise we may suffer a relapse and the epidemic become renewed with greater vigor than before. This is only one of several reasons why we feel it would be very unwise for any of the schools to open any time within the next three weeks, or until we know that we have the paralysis epidemic under definite control."

The State School Commission is in complete agreement with Dr. Reynolds and the State Board of Health and has passed resolutions advising against the opening of any of the schools which are scheduled to open this week and on up to

TOTAL ECLIPSE OF THE MOON IS ON FOR TONIGHT

New York, July 15.—(AP)—The United States has the main seat tonight for a total eclipse of the moon—the first for the whole country since 1927.

No one will have to stay up all night and most folks won't have to be out late to see the eclipse.

The circling edge of the earth's black shadow will cut into the side of the moon at 10:12 p. m. (EST)

That is the moment when the moon touches the black cone, the earth's shadow which extends about 860,000 miles out into space. The moon will enter this cone at a point about 226,000 miles out.

It will take the moon about 57 minutes to pass completely into this black cone.

FIVE KILLED IN DISORDER AT BELFAST

Troops Called Out In Effort to Prevent Further Rioting On City's Streets

Belfast, Northern Ireland, July 15.—(AP)—Steel-helmeted troops with fixed bayonets patrolled the streets today alert for new outbreaks of the disturbances which resulted in five deaths and the wounding of 73 persons.

Comparative quiet prevailed during the early hours after a series of religious riots which originated with last Friday's celebration by the protesting Orangemen of the 245th anniversary of the battle of the Boyne.

The latest casualty was 7 year old Kathleen Stewart, who was shot down by snipers from behind a chimney last night when she was playing on a street. She was taken to a hospital with a bullet in her shoulder. A search for arms was pressed today. Police took elaborate precautions to prevent further bloodshed.

ACTION IN LEA CASE VIEWED WITH FAVOR

Governor's Refusal to Grant Pardon to Former Banker Wins Approval

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel, By J. C. BASKERVILL

Raleigh, July 15.—The reaction here to the refusal of Governor J. C. B. Ehringhaus to grant a full pardon to Colonel Luke Lea, Tennessee politician and former newspaper publisher convicted of conspiracy in connection with the failure of the Central Bank & Trust Co. of Asheville and serving a sentence of from 6 to 10 years in the State Prison here, has for the most been favorable, according to expressions heard here today. It was also in line with what had been expected and predicted by newspaper men generally, despite the fact that friends of Colonel Lea and his attorneys who had been using every means known to politicians and high-powered lawyers to sway the Governor, seemed confident to the last that the pardon would be granted. But those here who have been following the Lea case for years who either heard the trial or had read the voluminous records, were long ago convinced that the "new evidence" in which Lea's friends put so much faith and upon which they based the application for pardon, would not overbalance the evidence of guilt presented during the trial and his conviction by a jury.

The reaction of the every-day run of people in the street here is that the Governor acted wisely and justly in refusing to grant a parole to Colonel Lea. They also realize that it took a tremendous amount of devotion to duty for him to withstand the terrific pressure to which he was subjected by powerful political influences in both this state, Tennessee and other states. For it is no secret that Governor Ehringhaus and Commissioner of Paroles Edwin M. Gill were probably subjected to more intense pressure in behalf of the pardon petition for Colonel Lea than for any other similar petition in the history of the state. Literally hundreds of letters were received from prominent and influential people in all sections of the country asking clemency for Lea, while hundreds of personal and political friends of Colonel Lea came here in person to plead with Commissioner Gill and the Governor in behalf of the pardon petition. Just a few hours before the statement by Governor Ehringhaus was released, in which he declined to grant a pardon, three "very influential men" conferred with Commissioner Gill, and it is believed with the Governor.

RECORD RAIN VISITS SECTION

Nearly Six Inches of Rain Reported Here Saturday Night and Sunday

Greenville and community had nearly six inches of rainfall Saturday night and Sunday, the greatest precipitation for the period in the history of the local weather department.

B. T. Clark, local weather observer, said rainfall for the month, covering 14 days was 11.58 inches. It was the heaviest fall for the period probably ever recorded, certainly since the establishment of the department several years ago. Seven years ago the weather man said, exactly 15 inches were recorded in July, but with the month just half gone now it is expected the former record will be shattered completely.

Precipitation Saturday night was given as 3.39 inches and yesterday 1.36 inches.

On June 16, 1929, the records show that 4.63 inches of rain fell here and on July 13, 1931, 3.89 inches were recorded. For August the same year precipitation was 2.18 inches.

With clouds still hovering over the community this morning indications pointed to continued rainfall during the day. A heavy rain was reported in the lower end of the county this morning with a regular washout in Beaufort county proper.

Civil airplanes in the United States carried 1,859,031 passengers in the last year, 461,742 traveling on scheduled air lines.

closer cooperation between the tiation of voluntary agreements. But Messrs. Cummings and Dickinson are in a cooperative mood. So the

POLITICS: Political rites mark the burial of NRA.

Personnel officials have furnished senators a list of employees hailing from their states, with the explanation that most must be fired. The senators are asked to check those they would like retained. NRA directions explain they seek this information so as to keep the most worthy, including those with dependents and those who most need work.

But the senators are most interested in politics than economics. So far they haven't got the point. They look upon the lists as a documentation of the patronage allotted to them, and are recommending employees whose retention will bring in the most votes.

PARITAN: Presidential aides resist intimations that they are worried over reports that public sentiment is swinging against the administration. They pooh-pooh suggestions that Mr. Roosevelt and Mr.
Farley are engaged in rebuilding their fences.

Jim insists that his present cross country trip is solely for rest. He says this he wants to get away from politics for a long time. He plans to spend ten days in Hawaii and to bury himself for a week in Yellowstone. The P. G. looks as if he needs a respite. He is worn out physically and his political plans haven't worked out on Capitol Hill.

Mr. Roosevelt assures callers that he will not promote his political reformation if he travels after Congress quits. He may make one "political speech" but the others will be on "national affairs." Republicans say that the President makes a good partisan talk even when he simply rests the alphabet.

SHOW: Tammany braves blame the administration for inspiring the investigation into vice rackets in New York City. They think it is subtly designed to weaken the Wilson for the 1936 presidential and gubernatorial elections. Worse still, they fear it may strengthen Mayor LaGuardia's chances for reelection with Roosevelt support.

These assumptions are logical even though they couldn't be proven in court. Tammany blocked Mr.
Farley's move for legislative reapportionment that would have lessened its influence at Albany and at the next national convention. Its delegation in the House has shown its teeth to the President on many major measures. Rules Chairman O'Connor and Senator Copeland have swung some heavy blows.

Although Tammany was supposed to have reformed under Mr. Farley's urging, the reform didn't take.
One of its most prominent leaders may become the chief target of the racket inquiry. Anticipating a general smearing of the hall, neither the President nor his Postmaster General felt they could afford to hook up with the new leadership.
The show will be worth watching for its effect on the national cast and drama.

READY MADE WIFE

BY CORALIE STANTON

SYNOPSIS: Rex Moore, the orphan, returns from a dangerous fight over Africa to find that his wife is pretending to be his wife in order to save his job with Mark Albery, a lawyer disaster with Albery himself. Love is also employed by Albery. Gladys, Albery's sister, is meeting Rex for the first time, and is appropriately thrilled. She does not know his character to a pretense.

Chapter 23
MRS. STEELE AGAIN

Gladys giggled. She was stirred in her facile emotion. What a funny girl Laurie! Fancy having been married to this man before he left Australia, and never having talked about him at all. Why, he was the most alive thing she had ever come across! She had the most curious feeling herself. It was like being in a room with a bomb and never knowing when it was going off.

The telephone rang.
Moore had a moment of curious panic for a hero. He signed to Gladys.

"Answer it, please! It's a newspaper man, say I'm not here—and leave the receiver off!"

"Hello!" said Gladys's light and clear but very ordinary voice. "Mr.
Rex Moore? I'll see!"

"It's a lady," she said, putting down the receiver. "Mrs. Steele."

Rex went to the telephone with a heave of his shoulders.

"Rex—it's you! Oh, what a relief!" Wanda Steele's high-pitched voice, with the little drawl, and at the moment a throb of emotion.
"I've just seen on the tape-machine in the hotel that you're back. I had to ring up. I wanted to be the first one of your friends to greet you, and to say you hero!"

"Please, cut that out!" Moore gave a shamefaced laugh. "I'm feeling blue because I had to leave my comrade over in France. He did just as much as I did. He's a splendid fellow."

"You're much too modest. How proud your wife must be of you! Do give her my love."

"I will when I see her. She's out to dinner with a friend. You see, I came back unexpectedly."

"Oh, then, you're alone? I suppose you wouldn't come round here, just to have a little chat? It would be such a pleasure."

Why had he said that? He was furious with himself. And yet he found himself accepting Mrs.
Steele's invitation, the last thing he had intended to do.

"Thank you very much, I should like to come for a few minutes. We must have seemed very rude the day we put off our dinner the other way."

He turned to Gladys. It was a relief to get out of the flat. He felt inexplicably shy of this lovely girl, with her great blue-grey eyes that looked at you so queerly, as if she could see right through you. From the first he didn't find her sympathetic. He had an idea that she could be very nasty if she chose. He could not imagine her being Laurie's sister.

"If Laurie comes in before I get back, please tell her that I've gone round to call on Mrs. Steele at Claridge's Hotel," he said.

Gladys gave her little giggling laugh.

"You're one of the boys, aren't you? You don't lose much time."

THE Interview with Wanda Steele was bound to be embarrassing.
When he reached the hotel Moore almost turned back. But he had better get it over. This woman must always have a call on him. He must always feel a worm in her presence.

She looked radiant, all in soft grey, her eager red lips parted in a smile of welcome, her dark eyes devouring his face.

But almost at once she began to reproach him.

"Rex, how could you have sent me money? Crude bank notes—a thousand pounds! It broke my heart. Do you think you could really repay me like that? And with such cold, business-like words? I felt I could never see you again. But when I heard you were back tonight, I was too glad—I couldn't help myself."

She was not actually crying, but she held her face handkerchief to her eyes.

"Wanda, you must try to understand," he said firmly. "I should lose all my self-respect if I did not repay you what I can. Your care and kindness—that is impossible. But the money you spent on me—that I can do. Please don't make me say it again, but if I don't repay it, I am only a beggar and waster you took pity on. It's not fair to me. I don't suppose that was nearly enough.

You must look on it as a first instalment. You must have spent a fortune on me."

Rex Moore did not know women, or he would not have said these things that made Wanda Steele hate him almost as much as she loved him.

"I don't feel I can discuss it with you," she answered, with a kind of magnificent sorrow. "I haven't the slightest idea how much money you spent. We didn't think of money, neither Rex nor I. I gave the money you sent the other day to a hospital. If you insist on sending more, I shall do the same."

"You are unkind and unfair," he said angrily. "No woman is ever just."

She laughed miserably.

"Is a man ever truthful? How could you have kept me in the dark about your marriage—all the time you were with us in California?
How unkind—never to mention that you had a wife! And she must have thought you were dead all the time!"

Rex Moore took fright.

"I behaved shamefully, I know," he said. "At first, I suppose I didn't remember anything about my life.
And afterwards—you know how I felt my blindness. I only wanted to be dead to the world."

"You must be utterly heartless," she said somberly. "I suppose that's why you have such a hold over women, that's why you're still everything in the world to me."

"You will not understand," he said in a frustrated, discouraged voice.

"I WILL understand, Rex!" Her face changed from sorrow to a smile of radiant tenderness. She drew nearer to him on the wide couch, her long, pale golden face alight with attraction, her deep dark eyes caressing him. She was a clever woman, as he would never be a clever man. She was determined to get her way in the end. She knew how to hide her passion and to show him the sympathetic affection that she might show a brother or a friend.

"My dear, I am too fond of you to let you go out of my life. You mean too much to me. I want only to forget the past. All that you said to me I will put out of my mind as the madness of a sick man. But I want to be your friend and your wife's friend, too. I want you to let me into your lives just a little. I want to help you if I can. So tell me that you will forget the past, Rex, as I shall do."

He was touched.

"You are generous," he admitted in a difficult voice. "But you are wrong about forgetting the past. I can never forget what you did for me."

He was thinking, miserably, but in a valiant effort to do the right thing—"After all, I owe this woman my eyesight and my life. She has done nothing against me, only for me. It's not her fault that I'm landed in this stupid mess. She can't understand that if I don't repay her the money she spent on me, I shall be less than a man. If she wants my friendship, she must have it. Things will be easier when Laurie and I don't have to keep up this game any longer. I shan't have to be acting every minute of my life."

Wanda rallied him on his introspection, and made him tell her details of his recent trip into the heart of Africa. Her eyes flattered him; her voice caressed him. She restored him to self-respect.

And then she guided their talk back to Laurie.

"It's too bad your wife was out tonight, but if you didn't let her know, it wasn't her fault, poor girl!
I am looking forward to getting to know her. I telephoned her twice in the first week you were away, but she was out. I didn't like to disturb her at her office."

"I think it's so romantic that she should have been working for Albery all the time. And last Sunday I went to your flat quite early, hoping I could get her to come and spend the day in the country with me, but I found from the woman who was working in the flat that she and her sister had gone down to spend the week end with Mr. Albery."

Tomorrow Rex and Laurie come to a disturbing realization.

tration's gesture to belie distortion charges—leaving the whole problem up to Congress—will react adversely on the White House. They can't see Congress rushing to assume responsibility for the one type of legislation which is always unpopular—assuming that it can be broadened to include others besides the ultra-wealthy.

Anti-New Deal elements will help things along by seeing to it that viewpoints differing widely in detail are presented at Committee hearings and thus contribute to the stirring up of heated arguments among the legislators. The object is to prevent an agreement on any specific program and intensify Congressional impotence and resentment at being kept in Washington.

CREDIT: A few large corporations have borrowed heavily from banks for refunding purposes but business in general remains reluctant to incur new obligations.

Commercial loans by reporting member banks of the Federal Reserve system came very close to the depression low last week. The figure was $4,449,000,000—only $10-000,000 above the record contraction in July a year ago. The peak for such loans since the New Deal came into office was $4,990,000,000 in November of 1933—which shows what little effect various government maneuvers have had on the volume of business credit. The maximum variation in more than two years of the Roosevelt administration is only a trifle more than 10 per cent.

These figures plainly infer that the credit expansion program is a complete flop insofar as it applies to private industry—despite the mountainous excess reserves which Federal Reserve policies have created

Judge Deaf To Appeal To Vacate Liquor Order

Reflector Bureau,
Sir Walter Hotel.

Raleigh, July 14.—Although Superior Court Judge Clawson L. Williams, who granted the permanent injunction preventing the citizens of Franklin county from even voting on liquor control and county liquor stores, continues to turn a deaf ear to all pleas to vacate his order, the belief is growing that Judge J. Paul Fritzelle, who permitted New Hanover and Greene counties to vote but enjoined the opening of liquor stores, may soon vacate his order and thus permit stores to open in those counties. It is being pointed out that the vote by which the people voted for liquor control in New Hanover and Greene counties is now virtually wide open since the injunction prevents the county commissioners from setting up the liquor control system and liquor stores provided for in the new laws.

As a result of this situation, it is understood that a good many drys, as well as those favoring control, have been pointing the situation out to Judge Fritzelle and suggesting that it would be much better to have the county liquor control plans set up than to leave the situation the way it now is, with the bootleggers in complete control. Reports indicate that Judge Fritzelle is being considerably impressed with these arguments. Accordingly it would not cause much surprise if he should decide to vacate his original restraining order and thus permit New Hanover and Greene counties to go ahead and open up their county liquor stores.

There seems to be no hope that Judge Williams will relent and vacate the restraining order which he granted which not only enjoined the Franklin county commissioners from opening liquor stores, but also prohibited them from holding an election. For while Judge Fritzelle enjoined the opening of liquor stores in New Hanover and Greene counties, he did permit the people to vote on the question. But Judge Williams, in his restraining order for Franklin county, refused to even let the people in the county vote on the question, with the result that Franklin is the only one of the 19 counties permitted to vote on the liquor control question by the 1935 general assembly which was denied this privilege by the courts.

It was learned from an authoritative source here today that several days ago a delegation of 15 Franklin county citizens, from both wet and dry groups, came here to Raleigh to confer with Judge Williams and to ask him to vacate his permanent restraining order and to at least permit the people of the county to vote on the liquor question. Not a single attorney was in this group of 15 citizens, for fear Judge Williams might think that one of them had been employed.
The group talked with him and pleaded with him and pointed out that the tobacco markets in Louisburg and Franklinton would suffer tremendously, since all of the surrounding counties would have legal liquor stores. But the conference was entirely unavailing and Judge Williams turned a deaf ear to the pleas presented. As a result, it is now expected that Franklin county will have to wait until the State Supreme Court passes on the new liquor laws before it can even hold an election.

"The people of Franklin county feel that Judge Williams, by his court order restraining both the holding of the election and the setting up of a county liquor control system, has robbed them of their constitutional rights as citizens," a citizen of the county said here today. "They point to the fact that Judge Fritzelle permitted the elections to be held in New Hanover and Greene counties, even if he did enjoin the opening of the county liquor stores. They feel that Judge Williams is greatly exceeding his authority by restoring to government

by injunction to prevent the people from expressing their views in an election, and they do not hesitate to say so."

ROADWORKERS GET PAY BOOST

New Wage Scale Put Into Effect in This State Affects 6,000
State Employees

Reflector Bureau,
Sir Walter Hotel.

Raleigh, July 14.—The new wage scale now in effect for employees of the State Highway and Public Works Commission is giving all employees a substantial increase in pay in all of the various classifications.
Chairman Capus M. Waynick said today. The salary schedules in the various classifications have all been revised and the various employees have all been reclassified. As a result some employees probably will not get a salary increase of 20 per cent while some who have been placed in higher classifications are now getting increases of more than 20 per cent. Waynick pointed out.

"When the general assembly was in session, we prepared salary and wage schedules indicating what we would like to pay to the various groups of workers and which we planned to pay, if it granted the appropriations we asked for," Chairman Waynick said. "There was also a movement under way in the general assembly to enact definite maximum and minimum wage schedules into law. We opposed this movement because such a law would have made the various wage and salary schedules mandatory, regardless of revenue. But we assured the members of the general assembly that if our revenue permitted, we would strive to set up pay schedules as nearly as possible in line with the limits proposed in the bills they suggested. We have now done this, with the exception that in several cases the minimum limits it wanted to enact into law have become the maximum limits, for the time being at least. But in every group and classification we have made increases which we feel sure will greatly assist the more than 6,000 employees of the highway department and make it possible for them to buy more and better food and groceries than they have been able to do for the past two years."

Lists are now being prepared in the auditing division showing the old and new salary or wage schedule for every employee. As soon as completed, these lists will be sent to every division head so that every employee will know just what his or her pay increase amounts to.

EDENTON WILL BUILD WATER STORAGE TANK
Edenton, July 15.—A loan to finance the erection of a 150,000 gallon water storage tank for Edenton appeared probable here today following the failure of the PWA to approve a loan of $25,000, for which application was made several weeks ago.

In refusing to approve the loan the PWA said the loan would require the employment of a larger number of men than would be necessary for the erection of the tank.

CONTRACT

By TOM O'NEIL
The Vanderbilt Coup

When "Mike" Vanderbilt lifts his pipe, let bridge table opponents beware.

Only a few cronies may say "Mike" to Harold S. Vanderbilt, railroad magnate, yachtsman and father of the game of contract.

Some of those friends tell of a mannerism which indicates he has arrived at what usually proves to be a brilliant solution of a problem as to what to bid, lead or play.

If he took as much time at the wheel to decide what to do as he requires at the bridge table he probably would have difficulty winning a yacht race. When a decision as to cards is reached the bowl of his pipe is lifted up a bit by a movement of the lips. If he is not smoking when a situation arises requiring prolonged thought, he usually lights up.

On one hand Oswald Jacoby, Vanderbilt's partner, led the three of hearts against a contract of three no trump. The faced hand had the Jack-10-9 and the nine spot was played. Vanderbilt lit up. Came a tilt. It didn't take very long this time. He played the seven spot.

The declarer took the trick with a singleton ace. Vanderbilt had deduced from the lead, the faced cards and his own holding of a king-queen-7-4 that the declarer had the ace, and the ace only.

The smoking and the tilting came before a card was played in the following hand:

NORTH DEALER		SOUTH DEALER
♠	A 10 10 2	♠	A 10 10 2
♥	Q 10 10 2	♥	Q 10 10 2
♦	K 10 10 2	♦	K 10 10 2
♣	A 10 10 2	♣	A 10 10 2

The dealer bid one no trump and after two passes West offered two hearts. Vanderbilt passed. East went to two no trump. South passed and West bid four hearts.

Vanderbilt passed, assuming that four hearts could be made on the bidding since he had possibilities of taking one spade, a heart, and a club in view of the no trump bid by East.

The pass was without undue deliberation, but the question as to what to lead caused use of the pipe. At the tilt Vanderbilt led the ace of spades. "Jack," as "Mike" calls him, sitting South, played the eight-spot, a come-on card to make West think the queen was South's.

At the second trick Vanderbilt led the spade deuce. The declarer was afraid to let it run to his Jack. He played the king from the East hand. And so Vanderbilt took two spades, as he schemed for; one heart and a club to set the contract.

Vanderbilt plays much rubber bridge. Better able than any of his table associates to afford losses, he says he dislikes high stakes. His favorite game is two cents a point. One has to be a super expert to be in the limited circle and the kick he gets is not in the winnings (the rates among the city's three biggest, consistent winners) but in prolonged analysis of what might have been done in bidding and play.

His drinking is usually confined to one cocktail before dinner. At one bridge session he seemed a bit merrier than his wont. The other players asked him if he had by chance taken a second cocktail. No, he had not, but he confessed to having had one glass of champagne during dinner.

The game broke up at 1:30 a. m. and Vanderbilt accompanied one player home. At this player's door there developed a chat of half an hour over the fine points of hands of the night. Much to the surprise of all the players, Vanderbilt, generally regarded as a confirmed bachelor, was married next day.

In a last-minute effort to persuade Commissioner Gill and Governor Ehringhaus to at least delay action on the Lea pardon petition, it was learned today. In fact, this was virtually admitted by Commissioner Gill although he would not reveal who these men were.

That Governor Ehringhaus had become somewhat wearied by the intensive pressure to which he had been subjected by friends of Colonel Lea was indicated in that portion of his statement in which he said:

"Hundreds of people have called in person upon both the Governor and the Parole Commissioner and urged favorable action, in addition to hundreds of letters from prominent and respected citizens of North Carolina, Tennessee and other states. Every one has been heard patiently and considerably and without thought or suggestion that the numerous appeals might take on the semblance of an effort to din us into a wearied assent. The prisoner has every right to be proud of his friends, though we cannot permit either their prominence or number to influence our action."

The Governor also pointed out that most of the letters received asking clemency did not go into the merits of the case whatever, but were based entirely upon "sympathy and personal regard" for Colonel Lea.

The Kentucky reformatory at Frankfort recently housed 3,000 inmates, although it was built to imprison only half that number.

MILITARY UNIT AT FORT BRAGG

Artillerymen Left Greenville Early Yesterday For Two Weeks Encampment

Members of the local unit of North Carolina National Guards were at Fort Bragg today for a two weeks' period of encampment, expected to be marked by the greatest program of years.

The soldiers left here Sunday morning at 5:30 o'clock after being joined by the unit from Washington. They went first to Kinston where they were joined by Kinston and New Bern units and proceeded directly to Fort Bragg.

Equipment left here Friday and Saturday mornings and everything was in readiness when the personnel arrived yesterday.

The trip this year was made by trucks instead of by train as in recent years. New trucks and uniforms were provided the men several weeks ago and they made a fine appearance when they arrived at Fort Bragg ready to begin two weeks of grueling military and athletic tests.

Captain J. H. Waldrop, in charge of the local artillerymen, said they were in the best trim of years when they left yesterday morning and hoped to be able to win as much recognition this year as two or three previous years when they won considerable praise from high military leaders.

The soldiers were put through a number of drills in preparation for the annual training period and field artillery and other paraphernalia shone bright and clean when it was moved from the armory here in preparation for camp duty.

The company carried four officers and 65 men to camp, full strength, and while some of the men were young at their work, they were described as excellent soldiers and would make a fine showing when the went on the field in full review. They also expected to make an excellent showing in actual military maneuvers.

PILSDUSKI HOPE GUIDES POLAND IN BALTIC AREA

By MARYLA CHRZANOWSKA
Warsaw—(AP)—Political circles believe the late Marshal Pilsudski's efforts will be continued to normalize Polish-Lithuanian relations, severed when Poland took Vilno in 1920.

The statement that "it is necessary to continue endeavors to find a solution for the conflict with Poland," made in a lecture by Foreign Minister Lozoraitis of Lithuania was noted with satisfaction here.

How hard this is, however, is indicated in the public remark of the Lithuanian president, Antanas Smetona, who said:

"We must have Vilno back, as it is the cradle of our culture. The heart buried there (Marshal Pilsudski's) will not paralyze our desire, because the heart of the entire Lithuanian nation also is buried in Vilno."

The liquidation of the quarrel was one of the marshal's greatest concerns in his last year of life, for his foreign policy sought the co-operation of Poland with the Baltic countries and Pilsudski had many personal ties with Lithuania.

Since Alexander Prystor, former premier and Pilsudski's close friend, went to Lithuania a year ago ostensibly on a private visit, newspapers in each country have dropped the quarrelsome tone with which they formerly referred to the other nation.

It is pointed out here, also that Lithuanian and Polish representatives conferred in Geneva and that the Lithuanian government courteously helped Poles to fulfill Pilsudski's wish that his mother's body be moved from Lithuania to Vilno.

Indications, meanwhile, are that Baltic countries are drawing closer to Poland.

PURVIS UNDECIDED AS TO HIS FUTURE

Chicago, July 15.—(AP)—Melvin H. Purvis, former head "G" man of the Federal Bureau of Investigation here, today was yet undecided to announce his future plans.

Asked whether a report (not carried by the Associated Press) that he might become a private detective were true, the man who led the war on the Dillinger gang, replied crisply:

"Nothing to it. I will have no plans to announce for several days."

Purvis resigned from the federal service last week.

SNAKE-BITE OR HOAX?

It looked realistic enough when Bebe de la Fontaine, a dancer, thrust her hands into the jaws of this Florida rattlesnake at a New York health congress to prove a vegetable diet made her immune to snake poison. But the skeptics laughed, said it was a hoax and doubted very much that the snake really bit her. Bebe pooh-poohed their pooh-poohing, bandaged her hands, screamed hysterically and otherwise acted as one is supposed to do when snake-bitten. (Associated Press Photo)

RAIDS STAGED UPON SUSPECTED PLACES

Tarboro, July 15.—Sheriff W. E. Bardin, Deputies Thomas Bardin, Ed Belk, C. Ed Prigden and Police Officer Redden Pittman made a raid Friday on the establishment of alleged dispensers of illegal liquor. They arrested Paul Abrams, who runs a filling station near Pinetops, and found about 15 pints of liquor in his bedroom. Abrams was his required to give a $500 bond for his appearance at court for trial.

"Miss Bessie's Place," near this city, operated by Miss Bessie Harris, was raided and one quart of liquor was found. The Blue Ribbon filling station across the river about a mile beyond Princeville on the Tarboro-Scotland Neck highway was also raided and two bottles of liquor found there.

Hilliard Freeman, negro, of Conee, was arrested on a charge of having in his possession of 2 1-2 gallons of liquor. Freeman was placed in jail to await trial, failing to give bond.

SEEKING DINOSAUR BONES IN ARIZONA

Phoenix, Ariz., July 15.—(AP)—H. J. Slocum, explorer from Charleston, S. C., set out today on one of the strangest hunting trips Arizona has known, seeking traces of dinosaurs that roamed the earth in prehistoric ages.

Slocum, who describes himself as an amateur paleontologist, will go into the little known recesses of Chloride valley, in northwestern Arizona, where he believes he will find tracks of the ancient monsters and perhaps their actual remains in times one formations.

As Slocum left for his base camp at Chloride he announced that if his preliminary investigation proved, such an expedition worth while he would finance an air survey of the region by Dr. Barnum Brown, of the American Museum of Natural History, New York, with whom he worked in excavating dinosaur remains in Wyoming.

Chloride valley some 500,000,000 years ago was covered by a vast sea which receded and changed its outline and extent over a period of countless years. Slocum said scientific studies have revealed.

FREE LABOR URGED BY MINNESOTA SOLON

Washington, July 15.—(AP)—An argument for a "free lobby" was voiced by Senator Schall (D-Minn.) yesterday as Senate investigators sought to determine whether consumers were to pay for the power industry fight against utility holding company abolition.

"Liberty is not at stake in any country where the citizens thereof are welcome guests at the seat of legislation and a free 'lobby' maintains their bill of right," Schall said in a statement.

"Liberty is in danger where an autocratic executive is able to drive away all 'lobbies' of citizens, control the legislative function from the executive throne, administer government through an executive star chamber, as during the Stuart tyranny in England 300 years ago, and as today in the 'New Deals' here and in Rome, Berlin, Moscow and wherever bureaucratic dictatorship is in the government saddle."

SEAPLANE RESCUES TWO BOYS AND GIRL

Miami, Fla., July 15.—(AP)—Two boys and a girl were rescued by a Coast Guard seaplane at 12:30 p. m. (Eastern Standard Time) today after they had clung to an overturned sailboat for 13 1-2 hours in the ocean five miles east of Miami.

The young persons, Joseph R. Hickson, Jr., 19, Miss Joan Graham, 19, and her cousin, Burton W. Graham, 21, all of Naranj, Fla., were treated for exposure at the Coast Guard air base and then taken home.

The three left Homestead, Fla., at 9:00 p. m. yesterday for a moonlight sail in young Hickson's 18-foot boat. A gust of wind capsized the craft at 11:00 p. m. when it was being turned about, and the occupants clung to its sides through the night.

GREENIES TAKE RAINS HALTS SHORT TILT SUNDAY GAMES FROM MARTIN'S

Greenville defeated Wilkesboro, 7-2, Saturday in a ball game which was a doubleheader. The game finally was called after 4 1-2 innings. Twice before play had to be halted because of showers.

The second game of a scheduled doubleheader was postponed.

Greenville scored all its runs in the first inning, when it collected seven hits, including two doubles, of three Williamston flingers. Every member of the team made a hit except Chubby Dean, who fanned, and Billy Hulskamp, who walked.

Dick Cherry started for the Martins, but headed for the bench after allowing three hits and a walk to put on bases the four men who faced him. Gardner, who followed, allowed four hits and three runs while retiring one man. Gaddy finally retired the side.

Abbit took over the pitching duties for the Martins in the second and pitched three-hit no run ball over the rest of the short game.

Williamston's runs came in the third. Two walks and a single by Corbitt filled the bases. One run scored as House hit into a double play, and another counted when Goodman singled.

Ambler, with a double and a single, and Andy Johnson and Wade, each with two singles, led Greenville. Corbitt hit three singles to pace the Martins.

Score:
Williamston 002 00-2 6 2
Greenville 700 0x-7 10 0

Cherry, Gardner, Gaddy, Abbit and Gillespie; Dean and Wagner.

Tarboro, July 13.—Tarboro's Coastal Plain League club today made its debut under a new manager—Olin Peritt—and broke even in a doubleheader with Ayden. The visitors won the opener, 3-0, behind three-hit hurling of Brownlee, but Tarboro took the final 7-3 as Mitchell pitched five-hit ball.

While Peritt is a new pilot, he's a certain figure in Tarboro baseball. He managed a team here in 1933 and last summer he was not in charge of the town's first Coastal Plain club in mid-season. So, history was repeated when Peritt was chosen manager to succeed Burr Shibley, resigned.

Shibley, University of Maryland coach, left a fortnight ago on a scouting trip. Bob Knobe was temporary pilot. In the meantime, Maryland officials suggested to Shibley that they'd like to have him at College Park for the rest of the summer. So he forwarded his resignation here.

THIS WAS A GOOD UN
Goldsboro, July 13.—Goldsboro bunched half its six hit in the sixth inning to tie the count at 3-all and from then until the darkness ended the battle there was no scoring in today's Goldsboro-New Bern game.

Lefty Kennell had held the Rues hitless until the sixth and after that inning he pitched hitless ball. Wilson, Goldsboro righthander, gave 11 hits but kept them well scattered and allowed no runs after the second.

New Bern counted one in the first when Shipp doubled, Sewell sacrificed and Eason singled. They added two in the second. Norwood was safe on an error. Van Horn sacrificed and Tom Burnett hit for the clutch.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, July 15.—(AP)—The stock market today showed a liking for steel, rails, equipment and selective specialties.

Although the list moved widely and the utilities, motors and a number of other so called leaders were neglected, a steady to firm undertone was in evidence from the start.

A rally in wheat at Chicago was seen as a constructive factor but the news generally was rather colorless marketwide.

Secondary loans provided what little attention there was in the bond division.

Foreign exchanges were a shade better.

Commission house noted that investment participation was the bulk of stock although it was not proceedings at the same pace witnessed some weeks ago. There was no suggestion of any undue amount of speculative bond interest existed.

The late tone was fairly firm. Transfers were 850,000 shares.

Morgenthau Defends Legislation

Washington, July 15.—(AP)—The legislation which President Roosevelt want to protect the government from damage suits growing out of the gold payment clause in its contract was defended today by Secretary Morgenthau.

He said in a letter to Chairman Fletcher, of the senate banking committee, that the administration proposal to close the courts against such suits should have no noticeable effect on the government's credit or prices of securities.

Some committee members had expressed fear that the step might tend to impair public faith in government bonds.

A formidable legal threat arose to another new deal policy—public construction of low cost housing.

Secretary Ickes acknowledged that a decision by the Circuit Court of Appeals at Cincinnati barring federal condemnation of land for such purposes would restrict the housing program which PWA had under way in many cities.

He said, however, it would be continued "without the limit set by the decision."

Lobbying for and against the utility holding company bill continued to engage the attention of congressional investigators.

Administration amendments to broaden the power of the AAA and bolster it against court attacks were up for debate in the senate.

The house worked on miscellaneous legislation while its ways and means committee turning temporarily from the Roosevelt tax program discussed a new liquor control bill.

Teachers Salary Doubtful

Raleigh, July 15.—(AP)—The State School commission will have about $16,546,950 to allot for teachers salaries this year, compared with $13,500,000 paid in salaries last year, but even with the $3,000,000 additional each teacher probably will not get a 20 per cent increase.

Leroy Martin, secretary of the commission, said today.

Martin pointed out that a teacher with eight years of experience and a "B" certificate who raises her certificate to "A" this summer will be entitled to a total of 44 per cent salary increase under the present increment and advancement schedule if her old salary is raised 20 per cent.

"There isn't enough money available to give each teacher a 20 per cent increase if increments and certificates advancements are to be allowed on the same basis as now in effect," Martin said.

"Or put it another way, there is not enough money to give every teachers a 20 per cent increase and some of them as high as 44 per cent raise."

Former Prison Camp Official Acquitted

CCharlotte, July 15.—(AP)—Verdicts of acquittal for two of the five former prison camp officials charged with mistreating two negro prisoners were directed by Judge Wallick today when the state closed its case.

Judge Wallick ruled that the state had not introduced evidence sufficient to warrant jury deliberation of the charges against T. E. Borden and J. W. Eudy, former prison guards.

Motions for direct verdict of acquittal for the other defendants Henry Little, former convict boss; Dr. C. S. McLaughlin, former camp physician; and R. C. Brake, former guard, were lodged by defense and argument begun on them.

The state rested its case shortly before noon after a desultory session which added little to support the state contention that Woodrow Shropshire and Robert Barnes, negroes, lost their feet as the result of mistreatment at Little's camp last winter.

The principal witness was Cal Miller, of Statesville, district jury supervisor, who testified for the state highway department regulations for punishment of prisoners by solitary confinement. The department has control of all prison camps in North Carolina.
