Wild Demonstrations Mark Call To Arms In Ethiopia

TRIBE HEADS PREPARE FOR ITALIAN TILT

Patriotic Societies Organized by Leaders in All Walks of Life; Italy Views Statement by Ethiopian Emperor as Indication of Certain Conflict

Addis Ababa, July 19.—(AP)—Emperor Haile Selassie's militant call to his people to defend Ethiopia "to the death" aroused fervent demonstrations of enthusiasm today.

The cheers and cries of the almost fanatical tribesmen warriors resounded in Menilik square, its sand trodden by the bare feet of provincial soldiers learning the rudiments of modern warfare—where leaders from all classes of life organized a new patriotic society.

Ministers of state, leaders of the clergy, military chieftains and others dignitaries united in sponsoring the society, Amour Pour La Patrie—"Love of the Country"—in response to the emperor's demand.

"Soldiers, traders, peasants, young and old men and women united in coparting for the defense of our country."

The black-bearded king of kings and conquering lion of Judah turned personal attention immediately to his army, announcing the promotion of several officers with whom he had offered to shed his life's blood if need be for independence from Italy.

Rome, July 19.—(AP)—Italian official circles asserted today that Emperor Haile Selassie's exhortation to his people to "fight to the last man" rendered certain an armed settlement of the Italian dispute with Ethiopia.

These sources interpreted the address as an indication of the emperor's determination not to meet Italian demands. No official reaction could be obtained, however, authorities declining to comment formally.

Tokyo, July 19.—(AP)—Ambassador Giacinto Auriti of Italy called on Foreign Minister Hirota today to seek further clarification of Japan's attitude on the Italo-Ethiopian dispute.

NEGRO CONVICT SHOT TO DEATH AT GASTONIA

Jimmie Chalk Slain by Policeman After Attacking Couple of Officers

Gastonia, July 19.—(AP)—Jimmie Chalk, alias Jimmie Johnson, escaped negro convict from York county, S. C., was shot and instantly killed at the entrance of city hall here at 5:25 a. m. today by patrolman J. Ed Armstrong, after the negro had attempted to take Armstrong's gun and had knocked another patrolman, Brooks Parrish, down and was attempting to get the officer's gun.

The local officers had picked Chalk up a few minutes earlier a few blocks from the city hall on advice from York county officials, who said he escaped from the York chain gang yesterday and was a desperate character. Chalk gave no trouble while he was being taken to the city hall. Suddenly he attacked patrolman Armstrong and was shot by the officer's gun out of the holster. When patrolman Parrish jumped from the car to go to Parrish's assistance, Chalk attacked him, knocked him down and was making an effort to get Parrish's gun which was locked in his holster. It was while the negro was about to take Parrish's gun that Armstrong shot him.

ROBBERS TAKE $48,000 FROM CHESTER BANK

Five Men Stage Bold Holdup in Pennsylvania City Early This Morning

Chester, Pa., July 19.—(AP)—Five robbers today held up a branch of the Delaware county national bank and fled with $48,000.

The holdup men, all masked covered employees and patrons with guns, forcing them to lie on the floor.

They scooped up the money from the cashier's cage and fled in an automobile. The branch bank handles the payroll money for several industrial plants here and in nearby Marcus Hook. Police said the holdup was timed to take place just before the money was sent to the plants.

Police said they learned that the sedan in which the robbers fled bore a Delaware license plate and headed north in the direction of Philadelphia.

Greek Cabinet Resigns Over Monarchy Question

Athens, Greece, July 19.—(AP)—The Greek government resigned in a block today.

The cabinet was headed by Premier Karamanlis. Five cabinet ministers who favored General George Kondylis, was minister in support of his project for an early restoration of the monarchy, had appeared to ask the premier for an unequivocal statement of his attitude.

The capital was full of rumors one of which said several members of the army had demanded that the government declare a monarchy immediately. Premier Karamanlis denied the report.

An authority said that Mayor Kostas was enroute to London with a message from the premier to King George, asserting that the movement for a monarchy restoration was finding an unfavorable response in Republican Greece.

SEEK ANOTHER SITE FOR ABC STORE HERE

Higgs Building on Dickinson Avenue Under Consideration by Board Today

A break in the virtually stalled liquor store location negotiations here was expected this afternoon as the ABC board met to consider another site on Dickinson Avenue owned by the Higgs interests.

The building is located close to the store now operated by H. H. Duncan and although the board had not closed negotiations for the building it was understood this was expected to be done during the late afternoon.

With offering of the Higgs' building today, the board turned its attention from consideration of the stores on Evans street and lower end of Dickinson avenue for which they had been negotiating for several days without apparent success.

The board announced yesterday the opening of all stores being held up on account of the unexpected situation in Greenville, and that other stores would have to be opened ahead of the one here if a building were not obtained immediately.

FUNDS SOUGHT FOR DRAINAGE OF FARM LAND

Committees Named at Meeting Yesterday to Ask for WPA Funds

Pitt county health and farm officials today were seeking WPA funds with which to carry on an extensive "farm-health safety" program in this county following a meeting of representatives of both departments in the office of the Department of Education yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock.

Committees from both departments were named to carry out the program. They are composed of:

Farm Board: John T. Thorne, Farmville; M. O. Blount, Bethel; J. P. Davenport, of near Greenville; A. L. Woodard, Stokes and H. M. Kilpatrick, Ayden.

Health board: Dr. N. T. Ennett, Greenville, director of public health, M. T. Frizzelle, Ayden, and Dr. Paul Fitzgerald, Greenville.

J. E. Winslow, head of the farm board, said he was ready to meet with his committee at any time to go over plans for the program, but no definite date was set.

Both committees are expected to meet in the near future to definitely decide on the line of procedure.

E. F. Arnold, director of the farm department, expressed opinion that 600 miles of ditches were needed to take care of the drainage situation in this county, and his statement was endorsed by practically all members of both committees, who are fully familiar with the damage done to crops by flood waters in recent weeks.

Arnold said that if the county had had proper drainage facilities the $1,000,000 damage to the tobacco crop from flood waters, would not have been experienced the last several days.

The board of health is interested because the lack of drainage facilities has produced a threat to public health in all of the communities concerned. In the low-lying sections of the county the situation was described as serious and health authorities are confronted with a serious situation from malaria.

E. T. Cox, chairman of the county commissioners, who also heads the health board, presided over the session, which was well attended by members of both boards.

MISS O'HAGAN LAID TO REST

Final Rites for Beloved Greenville Lady Held From Catholic Church at 10:30

Funeral services for Miss Martha O'Hagan, member of an old and distinguished family who died at her home here yesterday morning, were conducted from St. Peter's Catholic church here this morning at 10:30 o'clock. The final rites were in charge of Father McMillan, head of the local church. Interment was made in Cherry Hill cemetery.

Hundreds of people of this and surrounding communities attended the funeral and a profusion of flowers told in a mute way of the love and esteem in which the deceased was held.

Miss O'Hagan died at her home on Fifth street yesterday morning after having returned from the local hospital several weeks ago.

She was the daughter of the late Dr. Charles James O'Hagan, native of Londonderry, Ireland, for years one of the outstanding members of the medical profession in this state and Mrs. Eliza Forrest O'Hagan. She was born in Greenville and lived here all of her life with exception of the years she spent in school at Emmetsburg, Md.

It's So Wet In Pitt Even Snakes Can't Stay Dry

It's so wet in this community that even snakes can't stay dry, states Mrs. E. H. Boyd, who lives near Greenville, and she is not talking about the liquor situation either.

Mrs. Boyd hung some clothes on the line to dry one day this week. Later she began taking them off the line. Suddenly she heard a thud at her feet and looked down to see a half-stunned blacksnake, which had been curled up in the clothes, looking crazily at her. Mrs. Boyd cast about for some weapon with which to give the reptile an eternal sleep-producing blow, but the snake recovered and darted away.

Mrs. Boyd said the story is "the truth" and certainly there seems to be nothing fishy about it.

PLAN REUNION OF COMPANY OF WORLD WAR

Ambulance Co. 317, of 80 Division To Gather at Fayetteville Aug. 4, 5, 6

Plans were being pushed forward rapidly today for the first reunion of the 317 Ambulance Company of the 80 Division to be held as part of the annual convention of the North Carolina Department of the American Legion at Fayetteville, Aug. 4, 5 and 6.

L. E. Sumner, Jr., of Fayetteville, who with M. W. Beckwith, of the same town, is in charge of preparations for the reunion, was in Greenville yesterday conferring with Pitt county men who saw service with the company during the world war.

Mr. Sumner said this was the first reunion of the company since the World War. It will be held on the roof garden of Prince Charles hotel which has been reserved for the affair. All members of the organization were urged to attend, even if they can't be present longer than Sunday when festivities begin.

The company served about 14 months overseas after training at Camp Lee, Va., and rendered distinguished service in the great conflict against Germany. It was originally organized as Red Cross Ambulance Unit No. 43, being composed mainly of volunteer men from this state.

The original commander was Dr. (Captain) J. T. Spott, of Sanford, who died sometime ago. Other officers, expected to attend the reunion are: Dr. (Capt.) J. M. Barsky, Wilmington, Del.; Dr. (Capt.) S. W. Turnelle, Philadelphia; Dr. (Lt.) Neal Nicholson, and Dr. (Lt.) DeWitt Clark.

A picture of part of this company taken in a shellied church in France was sometime ago selected by General Pershing as being the most typical of the American soldiers. The picture is now on display in the North Carolina State Library at Raleigh.

Part of the company arrived at the church at night and lay down on the floor with several men they thought to be Americans. Next morning they discovered the men were dead Germans. The same morning they were ordered to another sector, and sometime after their departure the church building was wrecked by time bombs which evacuating Germans had planted there.

The members were urged by Sumner to arrive in Fayetteville not later than Sunday noon, and stay at least through the night and take part in initial activities.

Pitt county members of the company are D. J. Whitchard, Jr., Dr. M. B. Massey, J. Shep Morton, Charles Mumford, Dalphen Fleming and Seth Arthur.

POLICE BACK AFTER SEARCH FOR YEGGMEN

Hunt For Three Men Who Shot Policeman Here Yesterday Virtually Abandoned

Greenville and Pitt county officers today had virtually abandoned search for three bandits who made an unsuccessful attempt to rob two stores here early yesterday morning, shot policeman John Mobley, and escaped toward Farmville in an automobile taken from Joe Brown, colored, after binding the negro to a tree with a clothesline, but officers in this and other states had been asked to be on a lookout for the yeggmens.

Chief of Police George Clark and Sheriff Sam Whitehurst, who directed the manhunt, returned to the city late yesterday afternoon, along with several other city and county officers who assisted in the search. They reported losing the bandits' tracks near Rocky Mount and were unable to pick them up again. The trail lead from a dirt road filling station between Fountain and Rocky Mount where the bandits were said to have bought gas about 6 o'clock yesterday morning and was lost a short distance from Rocky Mount.

Chief of Police George Clark said the car abandoned by the bandits here had been identified as belonging to Frank McCambell, of Wilmington, and had been bought by McCambell at Lumberton only a few days before. Police found an envelope in the machine addressed to a motor agency at Lumberton, and immediately conferred with them and obtained the name of the owner.

McCambell and wife came to Greenville yesterday afternoon and identified the machine, which was literally shot to pieces by policemen, who chased the bandits about two miles down the Washington road where Mobley was shot in both arms and a leg. The car was so badly damaged by bullets that McCambell left it here to be inspected by insurance men. The car carried no license tag, as it was stolen from McCambell's garage the night after he bought it.

Chief Clark said the bandits were seen in Washington the day before the robbery was committed here, and were believed to have been responsible for the robbery of an ice plant safe there. The police head also expressed opinion that at least one of the yeggmens was hit by police bullets, scores of which were imbedded in the back and sides of the machine. They were unable to account for one bullet which penetrated the back seat of the car, and believed it entered the body of a bandit.

Mobley, who did most of the gun-fighting with the bandits, received bullet wounds in both arms and a leg, and while his injuries were considered serious, he was not believed to be seriously hurt.

A check-up at Hines-Smith Company, where the bandits blew a safe without reaching the money boxes and at Bilbro Wholesale Company, revealed nothing missing. The safe, however, was so badly damaged by the charge of nitroglycerine that an expert had to be summoned to unlock it.

FALLS ON PAVEMENT, ASKS $20,000 DAMAGE

Wilmington, July 19.—A $20,000 damage action against the Gulf Refining Company growing out of a fall to the pavement has been filed in the office of T. A. Henderson, clerk of New Hanover Superior Court, by Lillian M. Spillman.

The plaintiff alleges that she was seriously injured when she slipped on a pavement in front of the Gulf service station at Third and Chestnut streets last November 6. In addition to being wet, the pavement was covered with an accumulation of grease and soap powder, it is charged.

Injunctions were obtained by the dries in New Hanover and Green counties from Judge J. Paul Frizzelle of Snow Hill, but in these Jud. Frizzelle permitted the elections to be held and in both counties the elections showed a majority for liquor control and liquor stores. Since the elections it has been contended that by voting as they did these counties had already repealed the Turlington Act as it applied to them but that without being permitted to set up liquor control machinery and county liquor stores, the counties were thus at the mercy of the bootleggers. As a result of this argument, Judge Frizzelle vacated the injunction affecting Greene county and is expected to vacate the one applying to New Hanover county in a few days.

At least one delegation of citizens from Franklin county has already called upon Judge Williams and asked him to modify his original order and to at least permit the people of the county to vote, as they have been permitted to do in all the other 18 counties. But Judge Williams has remained adamant and refused to modify his ruling in any way.

It is now being contended, however, that since Franklin county is included in the Pasquotank county bill and that since all of the counties but one which have voted under the bill have voted for liquor stores and liquor control, that the Turlington Act in every one of the 18 counties included under it, whether they held elections or not, although the counties may not set up county liquor control boards until an election is held.

Accordingly it is expected that at least one liquor store will be opened soon in Franklin county—probably in Lenoir—by some private individual, on the grounds that since the Turlington Act has already been repealed as it applies to Franklin county, any private individual has

FRANKLIN MAY OPEN LIQUOR STORES SOON

County Plans to Go Ahead With Opening In Spite of Recent Court Injunction

Reflector Bureau

Sir Walter Hotel

Raleigh, July 18.—At least one liquor store and perhaps several will be opened in Franklin county in the near future, despite the fact that the citizens of Franklin county were denied the right to vote on whether or not a county liquor control system liquor stores would be set up, it was learned here today from a reliable source.

Franklin county is the only one of the 19 counties included in the Pasquotank and New Hanover county liquor bills which was not permitted to hold an election, since Superior Court Judge Clawson L. Williams granted an injunction enjoined the holding of the election authorized in the law as well as the opening of any county liquor stores.

Injunctions were obtained by the dries in New Hanover and Green counties from Judge J. Paul Frizzelle of Snow Hill, but in these Jud. the right to engage in the business of selling liquor. It is understood that the county commissioners will not undertake to set up a liquor store or a county liquor control system. Ten, if action is brought against the proprietor of the store for violation of the injunction, and appealed can be taken to the Supreme Court, bond posted and the store continue to operate, it is contended.

When the car was driven through town this morning everybody on the streets squinted hard at the machine with holes in the windshield to accommodate machine guns or rifles. It is the last word in automobile construction, the kind made for underworld characters, and shows exactly what the big timers of crime can do when they reach the height of fame.

The car is brought to Greenville in connection with the showing today of "Scarface" at State Theatre, a picture dealing with the criminal career of the noted criminal now paying a penalty for his crime behind federal prison bars.

Niagara Prepares For Record Season

OF all the scenic wonders with which nature has endowed this favored land of ours, none is comparable to Niagara. By common consent of travelers from all lands, it is the one spectacle that must be viewed before one can say he has seen America. With vacation time just around the corner, preparations are now being made to receive more guests than ever at this great scenic wonder.

One of the show places preparing for thousands of daily visitors is the famous Shredded Wheat Bakery, second only in importance to the Falls. Each day personally conducted parties will stream through the huge bakery. Almost without exception some member of the party expresses amazement at the spotless surroundings and scientific methods employed in converting pure whole wheat into the delicious golden-brown biscuits, so familiar to millions of American homes.

The wheat is steam-cooked under pressure in big, sealed kettles—just so long, at just the right temperature. Then comes that interesting process of shredding the softened wheat grains and forming the biscuits.

The pans of biscuits on their "Ferris wheel" ride in the ovens are baked at exactly the right temperature, exactly the right number of minutes, and in due time come back to the oven door to be removed—crisp, fragrant, golden-brown and utterly tempting.

CONTROLLING CONTROL

Winston-Salem Journal

The current controversy between S. Clay Williams and the AAA authorities concerning the proposed amendments to the agricultural adjustment act serves to emphasize the confusion which exists with relation to the purposes of the act and the methods projected for obtaining those results.

The intention of the AAA all along, as we have been taught to believe, has been to establish and maintain price parity. That is, the AAA has undertaken to maintain the prices of farm products on a level with the prices of other commodities in order to elevate the purchasing power of the agricultural population.

A parity price doesn't necessarily mean a high price. Whether the prices of raw farm commodities are high depends, under this plan, upon whether the prices of other goods are high. In either case, if the prices move up too high, a loss in consumer buying power would result, and the failure to sell his products at any price would soon put the farmer back where he was during the depression.

So a fair price rather than a "high" price is the reasonable objective of control.
A fair price might be defined as one which would provide the farmer a reasonable profit on his work and invest in his crop and at the same time make it possible for the processor and the ultimate consumer to purchase and make use of his commodities without undue sacrifice.

The outstanding task of those having to do with the administration of AAA, then, seems to be that of controlling "control." Theirs is the knotty problem of finding the happy price medium and maintaining it.
This is no easy task. Congress may be able to help by adopting such measures as would tend to establish proper "controls" for control.
And Mr. Williams, in assuming the role of critic in relation to the proposed amendments, may prove to be one of the best friends of the AAA by pointing out defects that would otherwise be overlooked.

COMPLICATION

I SAID that the time had come when we could make an end of this farce," Laurie managed to control her voice.
"It seems a little soon," Rex replied. "I have only been back six weeks."

"Isn't that time enough for us to find out that we don't get on?"

"I wasn't thinking of that. There are other things."

"What can there be?" Then she put in quickly: "You said before you went to Africa that you owed Mr.
Albery money. Is that it?"

"One of them."

Her eyes were steady and looked hostile.

"I can't see how that can matter."

"Albery might turn against me if he thought I had treated you badly."

READY MADE WIFE

BY CORALIE STANTON

SYNOPSIS: Rex and Laurie Moore had only been pretending to be married, so that Rex might hold his job with Laurie's employer, Mark Albery. But now Rex has returned from a daring flight over Africa, and quite suddenly each realizes that he loves the other. The difficulty is that neither can bring himself to tell the truth, and that Rex knows Albery is in love with Laurie. Laurie is giving a luncheon party.

Chapter 26

MRS. STEELE TALKS

AS a matter of fact, Laurie was just right, a young woman out of thousands in the business world, who suddenly found herself in the reflected limelight of a famous husband, and took her place quietly and with a natural diffidence that was very charming.

Mrs. Steele and Mark Albery sat together in a corner of the living room after luncheon, smoking and drinking their coffee. They had been neighbors at luncheon, and Albery paid the elegant, sophisticated woman the compliment of devoting his attention almost completely to her.
There seemed to be a link between them from the moment they met.

Now, Wanda was speaking of their hostess. They were practically alone. Most of the other guests were still in the dining-room, where Rex Moore had been reluctantly persuaded to give some account of his recent experiences in the African jungle.

"I think Mrs. Moore is a dear little thing," she said. "I've never heard of anything so romantic as that she should have been working for you all this time, Mr. Albery. And now she is your private secretary! She must be very clever."

"Mrs. Moore has an excellent brain," he replied. "I feel sure she would succeed in anything she undertook."

But he did not seem anxious to talk about his hostess, which Wanda Steele did not fail to notice, as she looked at him from under her heavy, lowered lids. It was of Rex Moore he wanted to talk to the woman who had rescued him from death.

"I am more than interested to meet you," he told her when they were introduced. "Moore has told me that he owes his life and his eyesight to you." Now he returned to the subject. "One can get so little out of Moore, Mrs. Steele. He simply hates to talk about himself. But I suppose he had a very bad time."

"The doctors said it was a miracle he lived, Mr. Albery. For a long time we didn't know ourselves who he really was. But it was his blindness that made him seem as if he hated the whole world. My husband and I did all we could. But, as you say, he simply can't talk about himself. Think of it, he never told us even that he had a wife, not when he first recovered consciousness, or afterwards, all the time he was with us in California."

"He was always a curious chap," said Albery. At the time, this secrecy as to his domestic life on Moore's part did not impress him particularly. His thoughts were more taken up with a discovery he had made. Mrs. Steele was in love with Rex Moore. Her husband was dead. And, if she could, she was going to make trouble between the airman and his wife.

BEFORE he left, he made another discovery. Or, at least, he knew for certain a fact that had been open to doubt before.

He caught Laurie looking at her husband from outside the little group that surrounded him. He saw something he had never seen before in her face. She was unaware of anyone else in the room. Her defences were down. A moment of emotional crisis held her in thrall. Her eyes were shining; on her lips was a little trembling smile of infinite sweetness and pathos.

Albery knew once and for all.
Laurie Moore loved her husband, whether she was unhappy or not.
And, beneath his impassive mask, as he bade the airman good-bye, his jealousy passed the first milestone on the road to madness.

Glady's had not attended the luncheon party. She had gone off quite early, looking like a flower-picture in honey-colored muslin, with a little crocheted woolen coat, like a baby's, the very latest summer gager, and a drooping hat with peach-colored velvet ribbons. She was spending the day, she said, with the family of her best girl friend to the troupe who lived in Streatham.

She came in later than usual, and clics. Still another is the social security layout—which contemplates the payment of large insurance reserves to be deposited with the government.

Insiders understand the administration is convinced off the record that private industry will never al-gain be able to absorb all the unemployed and that the government should therefore be prepared to handle a job problem permanently.
New York bank men feel that in future the bulk of private financing will have to be done through government agencies. The breakdown of the credit expansion program accounts for that viewpoint.

Such premises imply that the government must work out a broad scale program of capital investments and must be ready to finance indefinitely public works under taken by state, municipal and other subordinate governments. The logical outcome of moves along these lines would be to make the federal government by far the largest investor in the national wealth.

BANKER: The Federal Reserve
banks and the RFC are again quietly trying to foster direct loans to business. Legitimate borrowers haven't shown much interest—but a campaign is being planned to induce them to make use of the credit available.

Apart from these well-known agencies and those devoted to stimulating mortgage loans, several new ones are in prospect. One such organization would have a hundred million dollars to loan for 20 years at 3 per cent for the construction of power lines. This is in addition to the Electric Farm and Home Authority—designed to facilitate installment purchases of electric equipment. The projected Forest Control Administration—a pet idea of Mr. Roosevelt—would have the right to issue $200,000,000 in guaranteed bonds.

Then there's the new authorization to the Federal Housing Administration to insure loans up to $50,000 for the renovation of industrial plant and equipment. The long-deferred plan to finance the purchase of railway equipment is likely to be put through soon. Financing of a similar type is probable to be taken to make federal credit more available to farmers in various ways—such as the Bankhead plan to finance tenant purchases of farms. With all these irons in the fire it's a safe bet that Uncle Sam has hung up his shingle as a banker for keeps.

DIVISION: Obviously the broadened use of federal credit must mean a further increase in public debt. How does this square with Mr. Morgenthau's concern about balancing the budget?

The paradox will be solved by a permanent division of federal accounts into two categories—normal expenditures and permanent investments. The former can be made to balance with receipts and the latter can be permitted to grow to whatever extent the traffic will bear.

This might lead to inflation—but such a result is by no means certain. Government capital will serve chiefly as a substitute for private capital and it's quite possible that total credit expansion will amount to less than it would if private capital—functioning alone—had no New Deal brakes on its optimism in greeting recovery.
There are no signs that inflation of that careless type will develop —and the deeper the government goes into the financing field the less reason to expect trouble from inflation.

CURTAINED: More than 100 processing tax suits have recently been filed on the basis that an assumed law would preclude refund and credit for any taxes paid and accruing before the adoption of the amendment. Many others are pending.

There have been three different types of processing tax cases. One seeks to enjoy the Internal Revenue Department from collecting the taxes as they come due. Another attempts to recover taxes already paid. The third consists of receivership and similar proceedings to resist tax payments. Meanwhile, prices are kept up to include the tax until the courts take final action. That will make it nice for the processors if the law is held unconstitutional.

June processing tax collections were only 15 per cent below those of May and about the same percentage below those of June a year ago. But revenues from this source will be sharply curtailed next month as a result of numerous exemption proceedings.

REASON: It's worth noting that most of the opposition to the Guffey coal bill is coming from southern operators. Their antaxism traces to the fear that the proposed commission might deprive them of the large wage differential they attempted by state, municipal and other subordinate governments. The logical outcome of moves along

these lines would be to make the federal government by far the largest
investor in the national wealth.

centage below those of June a year
ago. But revenues from this source
will be sharply curtailed next
month as a result of numerous exemption proceedings.

REASON: It's worth noting that
most of the opposition to the Guffey coal bill is coming from southern operators. Their antaxism traces to the fear that the proposed
commission might deprive them of the large wage differential they attempted by state, municipal and other subordinate governments. The logical outcome of moves along

these lines would be to make the federal government by far the largest
investor in the national wealth.

BANKER: The Federal Reserve
banks and the RFC are again quietly trying to foster direct loans to business. Legitimate borrowers haven't shown much interest—but
a campaign is being planned to induce them to make use of the credit available.

Apart from these well-known agencies and those devoted to stimulating mortgage loans, several new ones are in prospect. One such organization would have a hundred million dollars to loan for 20 years
at 3 per cent for the construction of power lines. This is in addition to the Electric Farm and Home Authority—designed to facilitate

installment purchases of electric equipment. The projected Forest
Control Administration—a pet idea of Mr. Roosevelt—would have the right to issue $200,000,000 in guaranteed bonds.

BUGS TAKE GREENIES FOR 4 TO 1 RIDE

Goldsboro, July 19.—Goldsboro batters jumped on Reynolds May, Greenville hurler, for eight hits in the first three innings to score three runs—their margin of victory over the league-leading Greens here today. The score was 4-1.

Both teams played errorless ball, and the game was the fastest of the season on the local field. It was run off in an hour and a half. Wilson pitched five-hit ball for Goldsboro, and those hits were scattered. May went the route for the leaders and proved mighty stingy after the third. He allowed one hit and one run in the locals' last five batting turns. May issued the only walk of the game.

Michael's double, Rand's infield hit, and Webb's single gave Goldsboro a run in the first. Two were counted in the third. Ran singled, Webb doubled, and Mewborn singled to right to send in two runs. Johnson's run came in the eighth. Johnson doubled and completed the circuit on an infield out and Farmer's outfield fly.

A wild pitch by May in the sixth let in Mewborn, who had doubled.

Johnson, with a double and a single led Greenville. Mewborn and Webb, each with two for three led Goldsboro.

Doyt Morris, outfielder, played first for Goldsboro in place of Patton, who requested and received his release.

NEW BERN WINS

New Bern, July 19.—It hadn't been advertised as such, but yesterday was Lefty Kennel Day at the New Bern baseball park.

The husky Mr. Kennel put on a one-man show at the expense of Williamston's Martins. Not only did he do a good pitching job of halting the Robeson County club in check—he drove homers over the right field wall in both the second and seventh innings. The sacks were empty when Kennel hit his homers. New Bern won by a 7-4 score.

Although Mr. Kennel had a very large day, it should be pointed out that he might have done better had he been well. The fans didn't know it, but Kennel had to call on all his courage to finish the pitching—and batting job. The big fellow became ill in the sixth inning but he finished the job. He was feeling better tonight.

Swamp Norwood, with a double and a single, and Sewell, with two singles, raked next to Kennel in the Bruins' attack.

PHYSIC BLANKS KINSTON
 Tarboro, July 19.—Dave Physioc, University of Maryland athlete, held Kinston to four hits after a three-hit first inning and pitched Tarboro to a 2-0 victory here this afternoon.

Poor work on the bases cramped Physioc's scoring chances in the first. Thereafter Physioc didn't give the Eagles opportunity to do any real threatening.

Physioc gained the pitching verdict over Charlie Harris, who fan-

FORTUNE COMES TO LABORER

All his life Abraham Starr, New York foundry worker, had been a poor man who had to count the pennies—but those days are over. He has just inherited $1,000,000 from the $17,000,000 fortune of an uncle he hadn't seen in 35 years. Asked what he intended to do with his wealth, Starr said "I'll give the money to my wife." ned eight and gave nine hits. Tarboro's runs were made in the sixth, and only one hit figured in the tallying. Harry Bassin started it with a single. McArthur hit to Stonebraker, and the second-sacker's throw to catch Bassin was bad. Lane sacrificed, and Bassin continued home when Greenberg's throw to first bounced off Lane's back. McArthur tallied while Short was being retired on an infield roller.

Male, Bassin, and Lane each with two hits in four efforts, led Tarboro. Otto Patrick, with a similar average led Kinston.

DIVIDE DOUBLEHEADER

Ayden, July 19.—The winner made 11 runs in each end of a doubleheader here today, but Ayden and Snow Hill took turns in playing the role of winner.

The locals shellacked three Snow Hill flingers to get an 11-1 verdict in the first contest. Snow Hill returned the compliment by shoving Ayden across seven runs in the opening stanza of the nightcap and going on to an 11-5 decision.

Atkins hit a pair of homers and a single to bat 1,000 and featured for Ayden in the first game. His homers came in the third and fourth innings, and the second emptied filled bases. Atkins' single played a part in the local's four-run first inning. Walk walked to open the verse. Johnson went out, McCusiston doubled, and Knowles singled to account for two runs. Atkins singled and Chappell walked to fill the bases. Newsom relieved Parmelee, and Collins greeted him by hitting a blow good for three bases. However, Collins passed an Ayden runner between second and third and thus was automatically out. He got credit for a double and two runs batted in.

 Elizabeth City, July 19.—Branded by police as Elizabeth City's Public Enemy No. 1, Walter "Slicker" Stokley, former bootlegger and convict, is under $1,500 bond for theft of four cases of cigarettes from a Norfolk Southern box car. He was arrested Tuesday afternoon after nearly a week's work by police and the Norfolk Southern detective, Henry Gregory.

He complained that the officers took along shotguns and tear gas guns to make the arrest, but the officers said they went heavily armed because they realized they had a dangerous character to deal with.

BALL CLUB TO BE FETED HERE

Kiwanians to Entertain Leaguers at Regular Meeting Here Tonight

Members of the Greenville club of the Coastal Plain league will be guests of the local Kiwanis club at the regular meeting of the organization at the Woman's club tonight at 7 o'clock.

The program will be in charge of Herman Duncan and Charlie Fly officials of the club, and the speaker will be the Eastern Carolina Teachers college humorist, Ralph Deal, who on several occasions has made the ice man laugh.

Entertainment of the ball players is an annual event with the club and both players and clubmen always look forward to the occasion with interest.

Greenville has captured two pennants and bids fair to annex the third. The club has been leading the league for sometime now and the way they are playing indicates they are out to keep the flag flying at Third Street school athletic field another year.

"Runt" Bostic, son of Berry Bostic member of the Kiwanis club, has been with the leaguers for three seasons. So has "Chubby" Dean, Duke freshman, and several other members of the club have been here two seasons. Only minor changes was made in the regular lineup this year, the public believing the winning aggregation of last year should be able to repeat this year.

The ball players tonight will be headed by "Ty" Wagner, who several weeks ago was elected manager to succeed "Bo" Farley, who resigned to leave the city, but who since has rejoined the club.

Plans have not been completed for the Kiwanis out-of-town meeting this summer, but members of the committee are casting about and probably will be able to make an announcement soon. The club has met out of town several times in recent years in an effort to bring other sections closer to the capital city, but this will be the first time this year such a meeting has been undertaken.

AGED RANCHER SHOTS TWO

Running wild with a gun, Al Chamberlain, aged rancher and self-styled "two-gun outlaw" of Santa Rosa, Calif., shot a neighbor, J. P. McCabe, in a corral and then hurried to the police station and seriously wounded Police Chief Charles O'Neal (below) to "even the score." Chamberlain (right) is shown in custody of Sheriff Harry Patterson after his arrest in the streets of the town. The rancher, who critically wounded both his victims, once issued cards boasting of himself as an "outlaw." (Associated Press Photos) torney for the Associated Gas and Electric Co., was the witness who expressed this opinion. Previously his company had acknowledged spending $700,000 in an effort to defeat the legislation.

The senate investigators received further evidence of the destruction of records of the utilities fight against the measure and heard that witnesses summoned to testify before them had met at midnight in a hotel to discuss information they would give.

Witnesses asserted, however, they had been advised at this conference to "tell the truth."

The story of another hotel conference unfolded meanwhile for the house military committee which has been investigating sums spent in Washington by Joseph Silverman, Jr., a dealer in surplus army supplies.

Thomas J. Ryan, New York attorney, who had represented Silverman, testified he had heard arrangements for a meeting at a New York hotel between Frank Speicher, once widely sought as a witness in a grand jury investigation, Alexander Williams, a war department official since dismissed from the service, and of former Rep. Goss of New Hampshire, former member of the military committee. Ryan said he believed then and does now that the military committee was obtaining information from Speicher.

He testified that Silverman had provided money for Speicher on several occasions while the Justice Department was seeking him as a witness in the grand jury investigation of war department purchases.

Potato Bill Favorably Reported

Washington, July 19.—(AP)—The Smith bill making potatoes a basic commodity under the Agricultural Adjustment act and levying a processing tax was reported favorably to the senate today by the agricultural committee.

Senator Pope, democrat of Idaho, drew the favorable committee report which asserted that potatoes is the only important crop for which there has not been a federal program.

The Pope report said the bill had been drawn in accordance with a resolution of committee of growers from many states and received endorsement of 33 states.

DOLLAR DAY NEXT MONTH

Stroud, O. P. Mathews, C. P. Earhart and C. Heber Forbes were appointed to go before the City Alderman at their August meeting and ask the city fathers to assist the merchants in setting up a rest room with a colored matron in charge.

The shoulders have been damaged recently due to the heavy rains that have visited this section. The merchants are anxious for the shoulders to be improved before the opening of the tobacco market the latter part of August.

A membership signed by J. B. Lane, Manager of Quality Eastern Oil Co., which will handle Shell petroleum products, was voted upon and accepted for membership.
