WAYNICK IS QUIET OVER
ROADS TRIP

Head of State Highway Commission Non-Committal On Return to Capital

Reflector Bureau.
Sir Walter Hotel.
Raleigh, Aug. 3.—Chairman Capus M. Waynick of the State Highway and Public Works Commission was non-committal today as to the chances for new roads and bridges in the eastern part of the state, knowing his return from a four-day trip through some ten or twelve eastern counties inspecting areas where millions of dollars worth of new highways and bridges have been requested. He was accompanied by several other members of the highway commission.

"There is no doubt that a good many of these roads especially are badly needed and the commission is going to try to build some of the ones that are most needed," Chairman Waynick said. "But it would require five times as much money as we have available to build all the new roads or surface all the old ones that have been requested. As a result, we must first consider the amount of money which is available and then make our highway construction plans fit the amount of money we can spend. We also have to take into consideration the need and urgency, since with the money now available we will be able to build only the most needed projects."

Pointing out that no action would be taken with regard to any of the many proposed highway and bridge projects inspected in the course of his trip until they had all been discussed and considered by the entire highway commission, Waynick declined to comment on any particular projects. He said that he and his party had gone over numerous proposed projects in Wayne, Duplin, Pender, Lenoir, Craven, Carteret, Pamlico, Beaufort, Washington, Tyrrell, Hyde and Dare counties, as well as in some others and that as a result they had gained an excellent first-hand knowledge of conditions and of what was desired.

He and four other members of the commission also inspected the proposed sites for the two new bridges requested to link Tyrrell and Dare counties, one across the Alligator river and one across Croatan sound from the Dare county mainland to Roanoke Island. But Waynick declined to say what he thought the chances were for getting either one or both of these bridges.

DRUNK DRAWS
THIRTY DAYS

Police Court Disposes of Light Docket Today and Hunts Cooler Territory

Drunks held the spotlight in the regular Saturday morning session of police court this morning, and one of them found his way to the roads for thirty days as the court took vigorous action to halt a practice which has been gaining proportion for the last several months.

Bill Barnes, colored, was found guilty of being drunk, and was sentenced to the roads for a month. Dave Johnson was found guilty of a similar charge, and was given the choice of a month on the roads or $10 and cost. Needless to say he chose the latter.

The cases were heard in a stifling courtroom, despite the use of electric fans, and court officials and attaches finished their work and sought a cooler spot, providing one could be found anywhere in the city.

One other case was scheduled for consideration but was continued until Monday morning.

MERCURY STILL SOARING HERE

Temperature Stood Near 98 at 1 p. m., With Higher Reading Expected

The heat wave continued to grip this community with fierish delight today with the mercury at 1 o'clock standing near 98, the same as yesterday.

B. T. Clark, government weather observer here, said he expected the reading to go above the 98 mark during the afternoon, say about 3 o'clock, when the maximum temperature of the day is generally recorded.

A cooling breeze continued to sweep over the community during the morning and early afternoon, bringing some relief to thousands of people who for the last two days have sweated under the uncomfortable temperatures.

About a month ago the mercury soared to 99 degrees, the hottest day of the summer, and it is expected to reach that mark before the present sear abates.

With continued fair weather predicted for tonight and tomorrow, the city probably will get little relief before some time next week.

Last night was described by many residents as the hottest of the summer. At least, it appeared from reports today that more discomfort prevailed than any other night of the summer.

BURNING OF BARNS

Whiteville, Aug. 3.—Farmers of Columbus county have suffered heavy losses among their tobacco barns during the past seven days. No less than six barns full of tobacco and one packhouse have gone up in flames.

MRS. SPILMAN
SPEAKS HERE

Tells Kiwanians of Movement Looking To Opening Tar River to Navigation

The benefits which this community would derive from the movement looking to opening Tar river to navigation were outlined in an interesting way last night by Mrs. J. B. Spilman, speaking at the regular twice-a-month meeting of the Kiwanis club at the Woman's club building.

Mrs. Spilman was among a delegation of Greenville and Pitt county residents who went to Washington, D. C., several weeks ago to ask for another survey of the stream with a view to deepening the channel and to make it possible for seagoing vessels to ply to and from Greenville with their cargoes.

Introduced by J. Ficklen Arthur, who was in charge of the program, Mrs. Spilman declared the community would save thousands of dollars annually because of lower freight rates, and said another meeting was to be held at Norfolk at an early date to further consider the project.

The campaign to obtain a 12-foot channel from Greenville to Washington has been under way for several years, but not until about two years ago did the Eastern Carolina Association, sponsors of the movement, obtain any definite action. With the government showing more interest than ever before, Mrs. Spilman expressed the hope the program would be carried through to a successful conclusion.

Two J. Knott Proctor appeared in Mrs. Spilman's program, accompanied by the piano by Mrs. Ray Tyson, to highlight the musical program.

President Dink James called attention to the "Farmers' Night" program to be staged by the club two weeks hence. A similar program was sponsored by the club with the Rotarians last year, but it had not been determined last night whether the Rotarians would take part this year. The meeting will be in the nature of a boost for the Greenville tobacco market, and even high in the life of the industry will speak in addition to prominent planters who also will be guests of the club.

D. C. Moore, Jr., called attention to the divisional meeting of Kiwanis to be held at Wrightsville Beach August 23 at 7 o'clock and urged that the local club send a large representation. He read a letter from Bill Montgomery, former district governor, who outlined the program and urged Greenville to send a large delegation.

The attendance prize, given by Charles Wilkerson, was won by Fred M. Stokes.

Guests of the club were Rev. J. R. Potts, Dr. Marion Dixon, a recent acquisition to the staff of Pitt Community hospital, and Louis Skinner, young lawyer who recently hung out his shingle here.

Soviet Fliers Begin
Daring Flight to U. S.

Moscow, Aug. 3.—(AP)—The Soviet trans-Polar plane carrying three daring airmen on a non-stop flight across the world toward San Francisco headed out across Bearing Sea at 2:35 p. m. (6:25 EST.)

The Plane USSR 25 radioed at that time that it was heading out over the 2391 miles stretch of water and polar ice into the zone of continuous polar daylight.

On last reports Sigmund Lavensky was averaging about 110 miles and hour.

"We will continue to hold the necessary altitude of 500 meters 'about 1,640 feet' in order to prevent ice forming on the wings," the fliers radioed.

"We have every possibility for successful completion of the flight." The three fliers completed the first stage of their journey from Moscow to the Bearing Sea in 8 hours and 22 minutes for approximately 900 miles.

The old Buckner place contains 176 acres and is located on both sides of state highway No. 10.

STABS NEGRO
WITH ICE PICK

Inez Mosley Behind Bars For Attack on Another Negro Yesterday

Inez Mosley, colored, went on a rampage with an ice pick at a tobacco factory yesterday afternoon, stabbed another negro, Annie Forbes, in the arm and landed behind jail bars. She will be given preliminary hearing in police court next Monday morning.

The two women engaged in an argument in the factory and were summarily ejected from the building. The argument was resumed on the street with the Mosley woman bringing the ice pick into play. She jabbed it into the arm of the other, inflicting painful, but not serious wounds.

Police had not determined what the argument was over, but expressed belief it was the same old cause—a man.

Wednesday night a dog severely bit Jimmy Brooks, local youth. He was given treatment by local physicians.

It has not been determined whether or not the canine was mad.

Late News Flashes

Heavy Offerings In Georgia.
Valdosta, Ga., Aug. 3.—(AP)—Sales of tobacco at average prices of more than 20 cents a pound on the first few days of auctions in the Georgia bright leaf belt were shown in unofficial figures from various markets today.

Swamped with usually heavy offerings at the opening of the season August 1, sales on the first two days were reported large at all of the markets.

In some of the 15 market centers tobacco from the first two days reported remained unsold as markets closed for the usual Saturday holiday.

The Nashville, Ga., Herald, said sales there the first two days totaled 1,458,997 pounds at an average of 25.47 cents a pound. The Tifton Daily Gazette said total sales there for the same period were 1,430,566 pounds at an average of 22.60 cents.

The Tobacco Board of Trade in Valdosta advised the Valdosta Times that opening week's sales there were 1,364,034 pounds at an average of 20.31.

League Adopts Resolutions

Geneva, Aug. 3.—(AP)—The League of Nations council in public session tonight adopted resolutions resuming arbitration of the Uaual incident in the Italo-Ethiopia struggle calling a session for Sept. 4 for discussing the dispute in all its aspects.

The arbitrations resolution went sailing through by unanimous vote. The second resolution was unanimously with the exception of Italy which had abstained from voting in accordance with the previous declaration of Baron Tometo Asois, the chief envoy.

The whirlwind session followed long hours of strenuous negotiations behind the scenes of the council between Anthony Eden, Great Britain, (Continued on Page Four)

CASES: Jim Farley will step out as Postmaster General soon after he reports to President Roosevelt on his present scouting trip, as the cards lie today.

The National Chairman hadn't intended to cut loose from the P. O. until early next year, but his going will be hastened by rumblings of organization discontent. He has discovered widespread professional soreness on his cross-country tour. Theboys who round up the votes are losing their 1932 pep because patronage pickings have been thin. He has told friends that he expects it's time for him to take to the road, much as he hates it.

IN GEORGIA

Reported Average Around 18 and 23 Cents a Pound; Offerings Heavy

Valdosta, Ga., Aug. 3.—(AP)—Warehouse floors over the Georgia bright leaf belt still bore evidence of heavy receipts today as warehousemen and buyers worked hard to handle the offerings. Prices generally were reported unofficially as holding up satisfactorily.

J. R. POTTS TO SPEAK SUNDAY

Minister to Deliver Sermon at Pitt Theatre Sunday Evening At 8 o'clock

Rev. J. R. Potts will deliver the sermon at the union service at Pitt theatre tomorrow night at 8 o'clock, it was announced today. He will take the place of Dr. G. R. Combs, pastor of the Methodist church, who was scheduled to deliver the sermon, but who will be out of the city during the evening.

Music will be provided by the Methodist choir.

With the services scheduled to come to an end the last of this month or the first of September, the public was urged to attend the service in large numbers and hear Mr. Potts, considered one of the most eloquent speakers of the community.

The services, sponsored by the Ministerial Association, are participated in by all denominations of the city, and crowds throughout the summer have been fairly large. Ministers of the various churches have delivered a number of special sermons and inspirational music has been provided from time to time by choirs representing all of the churches.

Mr. Potts, who is directing Sunday school activities at Immanuel Baptist church, came to Greenville about two years ago to do supply work at the Presbyterian church. He has been making his home here ever since, and due to his eloquence and ability as a speaker, has appeared in virtually all churches of the city from time to time.

In view of the fact that the summer schedule is rapidly drawing to a close members of all churches as well as the public generally, have been asked to attend the remainder of the services in large numbers, and in that way support the movement looking to a closer co-operation of the various denominations.

"I know several bootleggers in Mecklenburg and surrounding counties who are already out at work for Hoy because he is dry and for the retention of the prohibition law while Graham is for liquor control and state liquor stores," a well known Charlotte attorney said here today. "These bootleggers are now making a comfortable living from their business, they pay no taxes either on the liquor they sell or the income they earn and they have plenty of business. But if the state should set up state liquor stores and state liquor control their business would be greatly reduced or they would be forced out of business entirely. So it is already evident that the bootleggers, as well as the drys and church people, are for Hoy."

Jones to Speak
Here Tomorrow

Rev. H. Frederick Jones, of Baltimore, former pastor of Memorial Baptist church, will deliver the sermon at the local church tomorrow morning, it was announced today.

Rev. J. R. Potts, it was also stated, will fill the pulpit the remainder of the month owing to the absence of Rev. A. W. Fleischmann, pastor, who with his family, is vacationing at Atlantic Beach.

HOEY GAINS
IN THE WEST

Graham Strong Both in East and West in the Race for Governor

Reflector Bureau.
Sir Walter Hotel.

Raleigh, Aug. 3.—Clyde R. Hoey of Shelby, the long haired, frock-coated orator from Cleveland counted orator from Cleveland candidates for the Democratic nomination for Governor, is making excellent progress in the Piedmont and many of the western counties, according to reports reaching here, especially the counties which are still politically dry. Present predictions are that Hoey will carry many of these counties by large majorities in the June primary next spring.

Reports from most of the eastern counties and from a good many of the far western ones, however, are to the effect that Lieutenant Governor A. H. (Sandy) Graham, conceded to be the favorite in most of the eastern counties, is not only holding what strength he has had but is gaining ground.

Most political observers here are inclined to concede that at the present time Hoey has the edge on Graham because of his conceded greater support in the more populous Piedmont counties and because the prevailing opinion is that most of these counties are still predominantly for state-wide prohibition and a perpetuation of the bootlegging system of dispensing liquor than for state liquor control and its legal sale in liquor stores. The bootleggers, who are faced with the loss of their business and unemployment in the event a state liquor stores and control plan should be adopted, are already joining forces with the drys to keep the Piedmont and western counties at least politically dry, according to reports reaching here.

"I know several bootleggers in Mecklenburg and surrounding counties who are already out at work for Hoy because he is dry and for the retention of the prohibition law while Graham is for liquor control and state liquor stores," a well known Charlotte attorney said here today. "These bootleggers are now making a comfortable living from their business, they pay no taxes either on the liquor they sell or the income they earn and they have plenty of business. Erwin, August 3.—Erwin citizens may well point with pride to the fact that this small bustling city of nearly 6,000 souls does not have its beauty marred with an unsightly jail.

The reason why Erwin has no jail is apparent in the fact that Erwin citizens are a quiet law-abiding bunch of people who attend strictly to their own business. Very few people are ever arrested by Claude Avery, who is the local officer, and these few are usually law breakers here. Assisting Mr. Avery is Colon C. McLean who helps enforce law and order by patrolling the business district at night in the capacity of night officer.

RUMPUS OVER
BUDGET BODY
VERY SIMPLE

Matter of Checking Up On Surplus Not Considered Complicated at Raleigh

Reflector Bureau.
Sir Walter Hotel.

By J. C. BASKERVILLE

Raleigh, Aug. 3.—The rumpus which Dr. Ralph W. McDonald has been raising over the state's surplus, in which he has charged that the budget bureau is either inefficient or deliberately falsified its estimates of the surplus during the general assembly, is not getting any one much steamed up here where the operation of the budget bureau is better understood than out over the state. Nor is Dr. McDonald's charge that the surplus as shown by the books of the State Auditor is $1,708,355.16 instead of $712,253.27 as shown by the budget bureau causing much excitement, for the reason that all those familiar with the state's fiscal operations know that the figures on the State Auditor's books show merely receipts for the year and do not indicate whether any portion of these receipts belong in a preceding year or not.

The turning point in the entire argument between Dr. McDonald and the budget bureau is an item of $1,352,723.88 which has been paid into the state treasury during the year 1933-34 and which consequently shows on the books of the State Auditor as cash receipts for that year. But the budget bureau insists that this $1,352,723.88 was due during the fiscal year 1932-33 that it was credited to that year, even though the actual cash was not paid in until the following year. It was even borrowed against and expended in the preceding year and consisted of $1,198,385.90 of collections from the old 10 cents state-wide levy for schools and of $154,337.98.

The State Auditor's books show this $1,352,723.88 as cash receipts for the year 1933-34 for the reason that it was not paid into the state treasury until that year. But the books of the budget bureau show that this amount was regarded as cash receipts for the previous year and borrowed against as such, with the result that when it was collected, the budget bureau charged it back to the previous fiscal year of 1932-33. This $1,352,723.88 subtracted from the credit balance on the auditor's books of $1,708,355.16, gives a cash surplus of $355,631.28 in the general fund as of June 30, 1935 as reported by the budget bureau. To this the budget bureau added $365,621.99 of deferred income tax payments and other deferred collections which it regards as cash but which have not yet been collected, to get its total of $712,253.27.

Thus the entire difference between the figures used by Dr. McDonald, which he obtained from the books of the State Auditor, and the figures of the budget bureau, which were also obtained from the books of the State Auditor but which include uncollected income taxes as well as collected cash items, is whether the $1,352,723.88 which was spent by the state during the fiscal year 1932-33 but not collected until the fiscal year 1933-34 shall be regarded as a cash asset for the year 1933-34 or be charged back to the year 1932-33 in which it was expended.

communism doctrine. Navy Intelligence resorted to this back-stage move to get through the navy-backed McCormick-Tydings bill making it a crime to stir up disaffection in the army and navy.

The Clement document was mailed to a carefully selected list under the official frank of Admiral William H. Standley, Chief of Naval Operations. It fell into the hands of Rep. Maury Maverick of Texas
by accident. His quiet investigation convinced him that Secretary Swanson and Admiral Standley okayed
or winked at Clement's strategy.

GLUTTONS: The scandal brewing over the memo may earn a rebuke for Swanson and defeat the navy measure, although it has passed the Senate and been favorably reported by the House Military Affairs committee.

Groups which "give aid and comfort to the communists movement and party," according to Commend-er Clement, are the American Civil Liberties Union, the Federal Council of Churches, the National Council for the Prevention of War, the Woman's International League for Peace and Freedom. His "long string of communist-minded intellectuals" include Roger Baldwin, Clarence Darrow, Sherwood Eddy
and Jane Addams. (Miss Addams dies several months ago).

Mrs. Ickes gets in as an official of the anti-war council. So do Justice Brandeis' wife, Carrie Chapman Catt, Bishop McConnell and William Allen White. Two of Mrs.
Roosevelt's pet organizations—the National Woman's Trade Union League and the National Consumers' League—are also enmeshed in the navy's "red web." That's formidable opposition for navy sleuths
to take on—even privately and patriotically.

SPOTTING: Father Coughlin's alliance during consideration of banking, utility, tax and social security legislation puzzles Washington. The wise boys think that it means the administration has negotiated a neat deal with the radio
clerk in Detroit.

The utilities are pickers in mobilizing the telegraphic and literary lobby by comparison with the Priest of the Air. He was responsible for President Roosevelt's defeat on the World Court and his near-defeat on the bonus. But hardly any Coughlin inspired wires or letters have been received on the issue
which the padre placed paramount to all others—a central bank. Senator Nye put up only a perfunctory
fight for it in the Senate.

A Coughlin adherent in the House
(Martin Sweeney of Cleveland) passed word that the National Union of Justice decided to lay off
the central bank bill at this session and make it the big issue on the eve of the presidential election. The game appears to be to put both major parties, especially President Roosevelt, on the spot. Mr. Roosevelt may not object to that.

CAUTION: Young Mariner S.
Eccles is still furious at Carter Glass. He has pestered Democratic Senate leaders with demands that they reply to the Senator's charge
that he is "the biggest inflationist
of them all."

But older heads have told the Governor of the Federal Reserve Board to "keep his shirt on," as they phrase it rather intelligently.
So far this almost unprecedented denunciation of a reserve head has gone unchallenged by administration spokesmen. None of them care to antagonize the sharp-tongued Virginian.

But the real reason lies far deeper. Under the banking bill's reorganization of the reserve board and system, all members must be reappointed and confirmed. Mr.
Glass pulled his punches when Mr.
Eccles' name came up before. He made no move to press his charges that the Utah man was disqualified
because of his bank connections.
But he may make trouble if Mr.
Eccles insists upon an oratorical me you can do nothing wrong. As I've told you before, I always think a

It was touching. She showed her adoration of him with a simple pathos that put him to a kind of fiery shame, and left his heart cold. It was as if he must do something to please her, to show that he was not so crassly ungrateful as he seemed.

He owed her everything; his life,
his eyesight. For the millionth time he repeated it to himself. He knew

"Wanda," he said abruptly, "you have been so incredibly good to me.
I am not worth it. But, if you would care, when all this is settled, to be my wife, I should be deeply honored."

A lame proposal. But the woman's face became transfigured, as she rose from her chair and came towards him, swaying slightly.

"Oh, Rex, my darling, you shall never regret it!" she murmured, as she fell into his arms.

"YOU have apparently been very foolish, Laurie," said Albery, in his London office the next morning, as she came in as usual to do his work. "You have been seen with Rex Moore since you left him. The porter at the Chelsea flat told me you had been there alone with Moore the other day. Surely you're not such a fool as to think you can sue for a divorce from him and be seen with him at the same time?"

"I didn't know he was there," Laurie answered. "I went to the flat to fetch some books I had left behind."

"Well, be more careful in future," Albery spoke angrily. His raging jealousy never gave him any peace.

"It might spoil everything. I am just finishing up this particular business with Brazil, and then you and I will get away and get married and leave

Wanda had seen the whole of the world.

that she would not change, even if he were to go blind again.

He looked at her, sitting there in her soft ivory robe, with the precious old lace frills for sleeves,
and the racy cream pearls on her
white neck, with her long, pale face,
powdered with faint golden freckles;
with her smiling lips, and dark eyes glowing with love.

She was attractive enough in her sophisticated elegance. She knew all about life and men, and how to treat them and make them comfortable.
She had the charm of experience. She had seen the whole of the world.

She was intelligent, and artistic,
and spent her money without ostentation or extravagance. She had no glaring faults. She was older than he, but not much. She was, in fact, supremely a woman of the world.

But she was just not the woman
for him. And that said everything.

It was to his pity that she appealed. Against him she was defenceless. Her lonely heart was reaching out to him as the only thing she asked of life.

Well, did it matter what became
of him now?

HE had done with the emotional side of life. Romance did not exist. Love and human passion were de-lusions. Laurie had trembled in his arms, had clung to him, had denied with her lips that she loved him, while the whole of the rest of her being told him that she did.

What mattered that? She had chosen. She was going to marry Mark Albery at once. She wanted money and position. She was false and hard and mercenary. She had not only made a fool of him, but lowered him in his own sight.

This woman gave him back his self-respect with her flattering eyes, her caressing words. Wanda Steele was making nothing of him. Only wanting to give him everything.

He got up and walked to the window, with a curious instinct, putting a greater distance between them.

England, and you certainly won't come back until Moore has started for South America. The only thing for you to do is to disappear for a time. You're quite clever enough to understand how difficult this job is going to be and how carefully it has to be done."

"I do understand. I don't know how you're going to do it!" blurted out Laurie in a miserable voice.

"You can leave that to me. Do your own bit, my dear girl. And that is never to see or speak to Moore
again."

Later on, when he came back from lunch, he told her a piece of news that caused her a fresh pang of anxiety.

"I lunched with Dagenbury. He's in a terrible stew over that boy of his. I've mentioned Jimmy Dallas, you met him at Fen Grotto. I asked him over to amuse your sister.
There's evidently been a dust up in the family. Jimmy is a bad lad, and it's got to his father's ears that he's been carrying on with some chorus girl up here. Of course, to his father that means going straight to hell.
He's so out-of-date in his ideas about young people."

Some chorus girl? Laurie was terrified. Could it be Glad? Glad, who had been with him in a taxi that Sunday night, and had brazenly lied
about it?

"What did you think of Jimmy?"
asked Albery curiously.

"I didn't much like him," she said.
"But, of course, I only saw him once."
"Personally, I believe he's a real bad lot."

Laurie was more perturbed than ever. What could she do? Whatever she said, Glad would go on lying. She was sure of that. Lying to her. It hurt her so much that it was a physical pain.

Such pain that she felt nothing,
not even disgust, when Albery took her in his arms and covered her face with kisses.

NEW YORK

By James McMullin

SUBTLE. There hasn't been much inflation talk in Wall Street lately. Such favorite hedges against inflation as the gold stocks have made a bout the poorest showing of any group in the market rise of several inflationary influences and predict that they will have a wide effect in time.

One is the steady increase in "in-public debt. Additional funds are being raised in comparatively small amounts and with so little fuss as to be hardly noticeable. But with all the talk of budget balancing the fact is that the Treasury's total obligations have been rising by about $100,000,000 a week in recent weeks.
This has been going on long enough to make it look like a definite policy.
The excess reserves of the commercial banks are ample to absorb all such Treasury offerings for a long time to come—especially when they are fed out in small doses.

And if private banks should ever balk, the new banking bill would virtually compel the Federal Reserve banks to swallow all the securities the federal government cares to authorize.

Insiders interpret this policy as evidence that the administration intends to bring on its own credit inflation—since the banks have done nothing with the reserves designed to make them loan and invest more freely—but to do it so gently and gradually that no one will be alarmed. No one is—yet. But there are plenty of conservatives convinced that this road is just as dangerous as the printing press trail—perhaps more so because it's subtler.

INFLATION: Then there are the AAA amendments. These are rated inflationary because of the extraordinary powers granted the Secretary of Agriculture to monopolize the supply of primary commodities. Whether or not he is also authorized to fix prices is irrelevant from this angle.

A practical government monopoly of spot cotton is in effect now. It is certain to be perpetuated for at least another year by continuance of the crop loan system. Under the new amendments the administration could acquire a similar monopoly of wheat or potatoes or any other product named in the bill.

Such monopolies could be used effectively to raise prices by restricting supply. That's his apparent intention—which should certainly please farmers if not urban consumers. The LaFollette amendment to establish quota control of agricultural imports would strengthen the government's grip still more.
Higher commodity prices are "in sight—and that's inflation. The method isn't obvious—as it would be in the case of monetary maneuvering—but the results are the same in the long run.

FORCED: Still another element
of potential inflation that has right-wingers uneasy is the foreign monetary picture. No one can foretell exactly what would happen if Holland and or France ditch the gold standard—except that there would be plenty of excitement for a while.
But it's a fairly safe bet that the administration would not permit the U. S. to be placed at a disadvantage in foreign exchange. To avoid this FDR might feel obliged to resort to further devaluation. New York observers admit he shows no appetite for such a move but believe it may be forced upon him.

That would spill the inflationary beans for fair.

NEEDS: Father Coughlin has gone into an eclipse in more ways than one. His abstention from the radio may be merely seasonal. But summer doesn't explain abandonment of his Washington bureau—of which he was so proud—with Congress still in session. Nor does it account for the transfer of "legislative agent" Louis Wood to fields
far away from the capital.

Informed sources say that Coughlin now realizes he stubbed his toe at the first Detroit meeting of the National Union for Social Justice and that he has been slipping ever since. He is said to be lying doggo for the present in the hope that people will forget his mistaken venture into politics and permit him to recapture the prestige he gained when he stuck strictly to editorializing on the air.

Insiders are not at all surprised at the word that Coughlin has "gone back to Roosevelt." They remark that this was clearly his only chance of redeeming his National Union blunders. But they scoff at reports that FDR has promised him some legislative quid pro quo. "Why should he? Coughlin is in no position to demand terms. He needs Roosevelt much more than the President needs him."

SWEET: New Yorkers get a

'MISERY CHISELER' SENTENCED

Called a "miser chiseler" because he tried to extort huge sums from the families of kidnap victims, although he knew no more about the abductions than what he read in the newspapers, Alfred Otton Wagner pleaded guilty at his trial in Brooklyn, N. Y., and was sentenced to 20 years in prison. He is shown (center) as officers led him into court. Alfred E. Distihurst of Nashville, Tenn., whose daughter Dorothy Ann was found slain, was among those Wagner sought to victimize. (Associated Press Photo)

EXPECT 'SPIRITS' TO FIND SON

Practically minded officers and neighbors searched the community for Bobby Rush, 2, who vanished from his home at Coeur D'Alene, Idaho, more than a week ago, but his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Rush (above), sat calmly by and clung to their belief that "spirits," speaking through a medium, would guide the child laugh out of the efforts of the State of Texas to cope with the hot oil problem. Texas has a formula supposed to discourage illegal producers. It consists of confiscating their oil and re-selling it at auction.

The hitch is that oil producers buy
in their own output
very cheap. Then they have acquired it legally and can sell it at any price they wish without hindrance. There's a gentlemen's agreement among them not to bid for each other's oil and the big companies so far have refrained from butting in—feeling that it would somehow taint them to dicker for a bootleg product. So the purchasers don't have to worry about competition at the auctions.
What could be sweeter?

Comment runs that hot oilers
who haven't "suffered" confiscation are thinking about complaining to the authorities about lax enforcement and discrimination.

Delinquent Tax Notice

At the request of the Board of County Commissioners the members of the 1935 Legislature, from this county, secured the passage of an Act, the terms of which applied to Pitt County only, which provided that real estate, on which taxes were delinquent, be advertised for sale on the first Monday in October and sold the first Monday in November.

Subsequent to the passage of this Act, the Legislature passed a State-Wide Act providing for the advertisement of taxes on the first Monday in August.

The Attorney-General has advised the County Attorney that in his opinion the local Act providing for advertisement on the first Monday in October is in violation of Section 29, Article 11 of the Constitution and therefore unconstitutional. He further advises that the Tax Collector should proceed to sell lands for the non-payment of 1934 taxes under Chapter 234, Public Laws of 1935 (The State-Wide Act), that is, real estate upon which taxes have not been paid for 1934 should be advertised on the first Monday in August and sold on the first Monday in September.

Accordingly list of Unpaid Real Estate Taxes for 1934 Will be delivered to the County Papers August 7th.

She pointed out the life of Dwight L. Moody as an example of what any one who is willing can accomplish. Moody was first inspired by an English preacher who said that any one who was willing could be of service to God.

Although Moody had neither education nor money, he decided that he would make service his aim; and through his willingness, he succeeded in "rocking" two continents, America and Europe, toward God.

Miss Townsend closed her talk by reading a poem that stressed the power of willingness to do.

Stokes 4-H Club Canning. Eleven 4-H girls of Stokes were visited Friday morning. These girls have canned 300-1-4 quarts of vegetables and fruits since visited three weeks ago. What they have canned is keeping well. This is not all—they're busy in tobacco, too.

To Seal a Jar. In their efforts to take every possible precaution in canning, some women make the fatal mistake of trying to tighten jar lids after they have cooled. Don't do this as you break the seal. Tighten it while hot and the heat helps to make the seal.

Red Banks Picnic. The Red Banks H. D. Club had their annual club family picnic at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Hardee and Miss Janice Gold Hardee Friday night. Around fifty enjoyed the evening and "helped solve the trunk mystery." Hawaiian music was furnished by Mr. Moore of Washington, D. C., and Mr. Pickles, an Hawaiian. A watermelon cutting contest was the close of the party.

Wanted—4-H Club Leaders. Each 4-H group in the county wants to find four or five leaders for this fall. We are anxious to locate older girls who are not tied down with home duties and who enjoy working with girls from 10 to 18 years of age. Let the Home Agent know if you are interested in helping. Both leaders and girls are to be divided into groups according to what type of work they enjoy most.

A Washington Daybook

By HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington—(AP)—The former senator from Washington, Clarence C. Dill, who retired voluntarily last year after a period of service in both houses dating back to 1915, has hit upon an idea for "cashing in" on the lessons he learned as a member of Congress.

A school teacher before he turned to politics, an important part of his strategy in campaigning for public office was centered around school children. His theory was, if you "get the kids interested in you, the votes of mamma and papa likely will come your way." He rarely missed an opportunity while campaigning to visit the schools in the towns he happened to be in.

"Almost invariably," he says, "the first question asked me was how does Congress pass a bill?—and strangely enough it was about the most difficult to answer I encountered."

It started him to thinking after he decided to quit politics and he hit upon the idea of writing a book to be used as a textbook for schools as an information to older persons who are not familiar with the principles and the working of the government.

He has gone about the task in quite unorthodox fashion. When completed it probably will be one of the most unusual text books ever published.

Starting with the premise that the subject of government at best is one of the most uninteresting and dryest of questions, one of the first things he did was to employ a cartoonist. He had him make some 30 or 40 cartoons depicting the intricate and tedious parliamentary practices used to pass, delay and kill bills in Congress.

For example, just before Congress meets on January 3rd of each year he has a cartoon labeled "To the Capitol! To the Capitol!" The cartoonist has pictured the representatives and senators rushing to Washington by every means of transportation carrying loads of bills to the capitol for introduction.

A pictorial journey of the bill from the time it is introduced until it is signed by the President is set forth in graphic fashion. It is an attempt to teach government by a new method.

Dill is not sure how his attempt will be received. He has gone to considerable pains to find out from teachers and others in the field of education whether they think his scheme is practical.

Regardless of whether he makes a go of it, Dill is having a lot of fun with the idea. High atop an office building in downtown Washington he's putting in ten or twelve hours a day at it.

Not even the complex political situation in the capital is able to distract his attention. Efforts to draw him out on politics even for "off the record" consumption are useless.

"I can't remember," he says, "when I didn't want to be a senator. Strangely enough years ago I made up my mind that I didn't want to keep on being one and now that I am out I am sure I never want to be one again."

LOCALS GRAB GAME OUT OF FIRE, 4 TO 3

Greenville staged one of those spectacular rallies for which they have become famous and won a ten inning encounter from Ayden at Third Street school athletic field yesterday afternoon by the score of 4 to 3.

Billy Hulskamp, illiputian center-fielder of the Greenville club, was the man who helped the locals grab the game from the fire when he hit a smashing two-bagger to center field in the tense tenth inning to score Ace Parker, who previously had singled, ahead of him.

The act was the climax of a long, hard, grueling battle—one of the kind that keeps fans in a highly neurotic condition every inning, and Hulskamp, long the idol of the local club, was given a deafening ovation at the conclusion.

Reynolds May, Duke pitcher, pitted his dazzling speed and curves against Brownlee, Smith and Upchurch, and came out with another victory to his credit after silencing the powerful bats of the visitors on the slightest kind of a hit would have meant defeat.

May was at his best against Ayden one of the most difficult clubs of the league for Greenville to handle, and although allowing ten hits, one for an extra base, he proved himself after the seventh and positively refused to let Ayden chalk up another tally.

Greenville was to meet Ayden at Ayden this afternoon in what is generally considered will be one of the hardest fought contests of the season and the outcome was watched with interest from all parts of the league, especially from Kinston where the Eagles, in second place, are striving hard to unseat the league-leading Greenies.

Knowles and Tatum, with two hits each lead the visitors' attack attack while Hulskamp with a triple and double paced the Greenies.

Bo Forley, manager of the Greenville club, was soled by Tatum. Ayden rather well eluding home about the halfway stage, and was forced to retire from the game. This caused considerable switching around in the lineup of the locals but failed to check the enthusiasm which they had injected into the game in early stages.

Although painfully hurt, it was thought probable Parlee would be able to appear in the lineup again this afternoon as the locals seek to make it two straight over the recalcitrant Aydenites.

Brownlee started on the mound for Ayden but was sent to the showers in the seventh after allowing a total of five hits and three runs. Smith, who relieved him, pitched to only two men before he was snatched in favor of Upchurch who went the remainder of the route with four hits and the winning run chalked against him.

Although fans have been treated to many a breath-taking performance on the local diamond this season, it is probable the Ayden game will take place among the most thrilling. It was a sensational battle and both clubs played spectacular ball.

Greenville scored in the first on hits by Stine and Ambler, Johnson's sacrifice, and an infield out. Ayden tied it in the third when Wall singled, Douglas walked, and Knowles singled.

The Greenies went in front again in the sixth. Two runs counted on triples by Wagner and Hulskamp topped off by Chubby Dean's fly to deep center. The Aces came back in the seventh to knot the count. Brownlee singled, Wall was safe on an error, and two tallies counted when Pitcher May threw wild to third after checking Patrick's hard grounder.

Tarboro To Play Greenies Sunday

The Tarboro cellarites are scheduled to meet Greenville at Third Street school athletic field Sunday afternoon in the playoff of a game rained out here Monday, July 15. It was announced by the management of the local club yesterday.

The game will begin at 3:30, the time set for all Sunday performances, and a large crowd was expected to be on hand to see the league-leaders attempt to annex another victory and boost their lead in the standing of clubs.

Tarboro has shown decidedly more fire recently and the game is expected to provide plenty of hair-raising moments.

WALTER BEAL TO PITCH FOR AYDEN TODAY

Age and cunning will be pitted against youth and enthusiasm at Ayden this afternoon when Walter Beal, former pitcher for Greenville in the old Eastern Carolina league, is scheduled to pitch for Ayden against George Barley, of Duke University, who will do mound work for the Greenies.

It was announced from Ayden yesterday afternoon that the veteran Beal, considered one of the finest pitchers ever to hit the old Eastern circuit, had been obtained by the Ayden club, and it was probable hundreds of Greenville people would go to the thriving Pitt county town this afternoon to see Beal use his skill and cunning against Barley's "fireball," which has chalked up ten wins for the youngster this season.

Beal was in Greenville last night, shaking hands with former friends and acquaintances. Although fifteen years have passed over his head since his exploits for Greenville, Beal evidently had been touched lightly by time, and looked just as he did when he wore a Greenville uniform in the old days and his dazzling curves and speed enabled Greenville to forge into the championship series with New Bern.

Beal, it was understood, has been playing ball around Washington, D. C. in past years and was in fine physical trim to go into battle this afternoon.

The youthful Barley was the favorite of hundreds of Greenville fans as he prepared to match his youthful skill and fire against the speed and science of Beal, and the outcome of the game was being watched interestedly from all parts of the league where the skill of the former Eastern Carolina league hurler is remembered. Several of the towns taking part in play now were members of the old league.

KINSTON WINS

Kinston, Aug. 3.—The Eagles were four runs behind when they came to bat in the ninth inning of yesterday's game in New Bern, but they staged one of those smashing rallies for which they have become famous and won, 8-7.

Taylor's homer with two on was the big blow of the rally and put the locals into a tie.

The Eagles got four of their ninth-inning runs—enough to tie—before a single man had been retired. Strathorn, Farmer (a pinch-hitter), and Greenberg singled in succession to produce one run. Greenberg was trapped when he sought to stretch his blow into a double, and Garner, running for Farmer, headed home.

The Bear infielders gave up their chase of Greenberg and threw home but Garner beat the throw. Greenberg returned to first. Taylor then drove the ball over the fence.

The next two batters were retired, but the Eagles got a new chance when Keller reached first on an error. He stole second. Patton was handed an intentional pass, but strategy didn't work—Stonebraker hit over second to score Keller.

SNOW HILL WINS IN 12TH
Tarboro, Aug. 3.—Snow Hill scored three runs in the ninth to knot the score and then pushed over a singleton in the 12th to defeat Tarboro, 7-6, yesterday.

Perry's single scored Parmelee from second with the deciding run. Parmelee had singled and stolen second as Mitchell wound up.

Manager Peabody Walker's outfit made three timely hits do the work in their ninth-inning rally. Roy singled. Williams was safe on an error after Briggs had popped up. Cheek's single scored Roy. Pettie fanned and Griffin walked, and then Neuman hit a single to drive in two runs.

Tarboro's big inning was the third, in which three runs were made. Physioc tripled to open. Chumbris singled him home. Male filed out. Bryan singled. Bassin singled, and two tallies counted when the throw home to catch Chumbris went bad.

Roy, former Snow Hill regular, did the catching for the Walkers yesterday after a sojourn in the Central Carolina League. Millard Parrish, Snow Hill No. 1 receiver, is on the list of injured—he suffered a fracture of a finger in Thursday's game with Goldsboro.

MARTINS GET 6-2 WIN
Goldsboro, Aug. 3.—Williamston bunched six hits in the eighth inning to score four runs and defeat Goldsboro, 6-2.

E. Webb, Bugs' starting hurler, had held the visitors to a lone run and a lone hit until the eighth. Casse, new Williamston hurler, tossed three-hit ball for the route. Goldsboro's runs, made in the fourth, came as a result of an error. Doyt Morris singled, advanced on Rand's sacrifice. Lambeth drew a walk. Dalrymple grounded out, but E. Webb was safe on an error. Morris and Lambeth tallying.

Cheek's single to right batted in a Martin run in the sixth. Pitcher Casse started Williamston's eighth-inning rally by hitting a triple to right. The next five batters—Gaylord, Cheek, House, Leary and Doyle—hit singles. Four runs resulted.

Tom Morris homered in the ninth to conclude the Martins' tallying. Cheek and Gaylord made two hits apiece to pace Williamston. D. Morris, Rand, and Dalrymple made Goldsboro's hits.

Score:
Williamston ... 000 001 040-6 9 1
Goldsboro ... 000 200 000-2 3 2
Casse and Doyle; E. Webb, O'Leary and Sutcliffe.

"Specs" Garbee Signs Up With The Greenies

It was reported today that "Specs" Garbee, former Greenville pitcher in the Eastern Carolina league, has signed up with the local club and will appear here next week ready for business.

Garbee was with the Greenville club in 1929 and was considered one of the best flingers in the league. His acquisition by the local club is expected to play an important part in holding the top of the standing of clubs the remainder of the season.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Aug. 3.—(AP)—A brisk rally in the utilities to new highs for the year or longer today brought the stock market back to its advancing trend.

Scattered profit taking dried up quickly following a steady opening and higher prices ruled throughout the remainder of the proceedings. The close was firm. Transfers were 1,000,000 shares.

The pick up in the power group did much to revive the lagging spirit of brokerage circles. The upturn was attributed to further gains in power consumption and there were several illustrations in car-ings statements that part of the increase in gross revenue of major companies is being narrowed down despite higher taxes and lower rates. The market started with a steady undertone but a rather slow pace. The activity was greatest in the final half hour.

Ikkes Signs Contract.
Washington, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Secretary Ikkes today signed a contract under which North Carolina would turn over to the federal government plans for the first link of the scenic parkway between Shenandoah National Park in Virginia and the Great Smoky Mountains National Park in North Carolina.

Approval was given as Ikkes conferred with Charles Ross, North Carolina counsel and Nathan Margold, interior department solicitor. The contract was agreed to yesterday by Roosevelt and Margold.

On Flight To America.
Moscow, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Climbing the roof of the world, three Soviet airmen whirled over the icy Arctic ocean today in the first projected non-stop flight from Moscow to America. Their radio "sputtered" frequent assurances of "all is well" as Pilot Sigmund Lavensessky and his two companions sped over the trackless sea.

Five Killed.
Camden, S. C., Aug. 3.—(AP)—At least five persons were reported killed near here today and an undetermined number injured when a Seaboard passenger train struck a truck load of farmers en route to Camden.

Details of the accident were meager but first reports said it occurred at a crossing on the outskirts of the city, known as Justy bend. The injured were carried to a hospital here but their names were not immediately available. Several were said to be women and children. Two of the party were reported killed instantly and three others died soon after reaching the hospital.

One of those killed instantly was said to be Dan Baker, owner of the truck. Mrs. Dan Baker, wife of Mr. Baker was reported to have died on the way to the hospital. The others were not identified immediately.

Persons who reached the scene of the wreck shortly after it happened declared the vehicle was a mass of twisted metal with human arms and legs protruding from the machine. Additional hospital facilities were ordered from Columbia to care for the injured. Ambulances and physicians set out for Camden.

New Tax Legislation Speed in House
Washington, Aug. 3.—(AP)—New tax legislation sped through the house today in a form which varied materially from that suggested by President Roosevelt.

After agreeing to increase the surtax rates on individual income over $50,000 the preponderantly democratic chamber proceeded to vote against the president on a number of important parts.

It decided to permit corporations to make tax free donations to charity, narrowed the proposed graduated tax on corporation income and turned down the idea of levying a new tax on dividends paid by one corporation to another.

House leaders hoped to see the 270 million dollar measure sent to the senate Monday.

Investigators for the senate lobby committee were busy with new leads. Mr. Roosevelt left the capital for the week-end for a vacation with Senator Wheeler of Montana, and administration leaders in the long struggle over the utility holding company bill.

At the state department secretary Ikkes returned from a vacation to say he was more convinced than ever of the soundness of the president's recovery program.

Knowing the prisoner well, having brought him to this city from Philadelphia after extradition hearing there, the sheriff had expected Simmons to escape and had warned the State Highway and Public Works officials to that effect. WOMAN'S DEATH LAID TO ATTACK ON CHILD

Farmville, August 3.—A stroke, which resulted in the death of her mother, was said to have been caused by a disturbance between Estella Deans, neevess, and Mack Kennedy, who is alleged to have beaten the girl Tuesday night, and returned Wednesday morning in a drunken state and quarrelsome mood. Police were notified upon the negro's return to the Deans house, the mother suffering a stroke and dying a few hours afterwards. Kennedy is being held in the local jail.
