STATE TO GET
FINEST
DEATH HOUSE

New Gas-Electric Chamber to be Most De Luxe in the United States

Reflector Bureau,
Sir Walter Hotel.

By J. C. BASKERVILL

Raleigh, Aug. 5.—North Carolina will have one of the most DeLuxe execution chambers in the United States when the new combination gas-electric death house, now being designed by the engineers of the State Highway and Public Works Commission, is installed in the Central Prison here, according to the engineers who are now designing it. Actual construction of the new death chamber, which will be equipped so that it may be used either for electrocutions or lethal gas, will not be started for about 60 days yet owing to certain details which have not yet been worked out by the electrical engineers. But indications are that it will be installed and ready for its micable business by the first of October, which will probably be a month or so before the first gas execution is expected to take place.

Three men are already under sentence of death in the lethal gas chamber, but 20 more must first be executed in the electric chair. The first prisoner to be sentenced to die in the gas chamber was Ed Hester, 19 year old white boy from Gastonia recently convicted of the first degree murder of a fellow prisoner at the Camp Folk prison farm near here. Hester had previously been convicted of the second degree murder of his brother-in-law. He grinned nonchalantly when the Judge pronounced his sentence. The others sentenced to die by lethal gas are two negroes recently convicted in Forsyth county, Lawrence Dingle and Gerrie Williams. All three now have appeals pending before the state Supreme Court and decisions are not expected until late fall.

The new combination gas-electric death chamber will be constructed inside the present octagonal death chamber which now contains the electric chair, and this same chamber will be used for both the gas and electric executions. The new chamber will be about 16 feet long and nine feet wide and will conform to the general contour of the present death house, with a panel about nine feet long and three feet high in the front of double, shatter-proof plate glass, through which the witnesses may watch the dying agonies of the death cubic's victims. The interior of the death chamber will be of bolted and welded steel plates, three-sixteenths of an inch in thickness, while the exterior will be covered with masonry of terracotta tile, with the exception of the openings for the glass observation windows. It will be about seven feet high.

Baltimore Minister Delivers Sermon at The Memorial Baptist Church

Rev. H. Frederick Jones, of Baltimore, former pastor of Memorial Baptist church, spoke at the local church yesterday morning on the subject, "Foundations."

Mr. Jones is spending several days in Greenville at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Vance Perkins. In addition to greeting hundreds of friends, he found time for a fox hunt this morning. He is one of the most ardent followers of this sport, and when he lived here several years ago, foxes of this section found life rather perilous.

Mr. Jones spoke yesterday morning in the place of Rev. J. R. Potts, who was scheduled to begin supplying for Rev. A. W. Fleischmann, pastor of the church, who is on a month's vacation at Atlantic Beach. Mr. Potts, however, will deliver the sermon next Sunday and preceding Sundays until the pastor returns.

Mr. Jones declared people possessed things in life they didn't realize they possessed.

In other words he attempted to show that each individual possesses latent powers which discovered would play an important part in life.

He urged his hearers to accept the teachings of Christ as a foundation upon which to build their lives, declaring this was the only source of eternal life.

Reappearance of Venizelos Causes Outbreak in Crete Territory

Athens, Aug. 5.—(AP)—Thirty persons, including five policemen, were reported wounded today as a rebellion broke out in Candia, Crete. Martial law was declared and the government dispatched two destroyers and soldiers to restore order.

The rebellion originated from a labor strike which turned into rioting. The government claimed the disorders are inspired by appearance of former premier Eleutherios Venizelos, who led an unsuccessful rebellion in Crete and Macedonia last spring.

A squadron on bombing planes was dispatched by the government to assist local authorities who were augmented by troops.

WASHINGTON
HELD IN ROBBERY

Raleigh, Aug. 5.—Accused of the brutal beating and robbery of A. S. Worth, farmer who lives near Raleigh, Donald P. Devers 30, of Washington, D. C., was arrested yesterday by county officers and is being held in jail.

Hidden underneath a blanket at a house on the Taylor farm, Millburn Road, which was occupied by Mrs. Nell Winther, Devers was found by Deputies Sheriff W. G. Maddrey and R. M. Saunders.

The officers had been seeking the man for several days on a charge of threatening to kill Samuel Morton, stationery store operator of Greenville and former husband of Mrs. Winther.

Morton reported that Devers came to his store several days ago and threatened to kill him unless he paid $50 a week to Mrs. Winther, stated Deputy Maddrey. Only last week Morton secured custody of his three children, who were living here with their mother, through habeas corpus proceedings, said the deputy.

But now President Roosevelt and Secretary Morgenthau have new allies in resisting the silverites' pressure. Almost 20,000 silversmiths and retailers have launched a campaign against price rises which, they say, ruining their trade. The highest price they can stand is sixty cents an ounce. They make the point that a higher figure will cause wide unemployment.

Senator Walsh of Massachusetts has become their spokesman. He is quietly assembling an anti-silver block which may exceed the silver-

OLIVE PLEADS
FOR PENSION
FOR OLD AGE

American Legion Commander Addresses Convention at Fayetteville

Fayetteville, Aug. 5.—(AP)—The North Carolina Department of the American Legion today was called upon by its Commander Hubert E. Olive of Lexington, to lend wholehearted support to legislation enabling North Carolina to co-operate with the federal government in relation to an old age pension fund in this state.

Addressing the seventh annual department convention here Olive pointed out, such a law would do away with county pool funds and asserted "If our state does not enact old age pension laws then the dependents within the borders of our state will be denied the help of the federal government which at the same time will be extended to other states which have passed law conforming to the federal law."

"I hope the American Legion in North Carolina will demand enactment of a law to conform to the federal law which will take care not only of the aged but the crippled and inform from the cradle to the grave."

The address of the state commander was the high light of the forenoon session with a well day ahead of the delegates attending the convention.

This afternoon the legion and auxiliary were scheduled to visit Fort Bragg.

CHILD KILLED
IN CAR WRECK

William Dunn, 8, of Elm City, Fatally Injured In Accident Near City

William Hinton Dunn, eight year old son of Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Dunn of Elm City, was fatally injured in an automobile accident on the Greenville-Farmville road, about six miles from Greenville, Sunday morning about five o'clock, succumbing to his injuries about an hour later in the Pitt Community hospital where he was taken immediately following the accident.

Young Dunn was riding with Mr. and Mrs. Ricks and their eight-year-old son of Elm City who were en route to Washington. North Carolina to visit young Dunn's uncle, Mrs. Ricks was driving the car at the time of the accident and the car got out of control, turning over several times, pinning young Dunn underneath.

Coroner A. A. Ellwanger, who investigated the accident, said that Mrs. Ricks evidently dropped off to sleep during the early morning drive and was therefore not held responsible for the accident. All the other occupants of the car received minor scratches.

Young Dunn will be buried this afternoon at his home in Elm City. He is survived by his father, stepmother, two half brothers and one sister.

THREE STATES
TO GO TO POLLS
DURING WEEK

Kentucky Voted Saturday and Began Counting Ballots This Morning

(By Associated Press)
Kentucky counted ballots today and voters in three other states—Virginia, Mississippi and Rhode Island—got ready to test strength tomorrow.

The vote in Kentucky was cast Saturday in a bitter primary contest, for state offices, marked by minor violence. Kentucky law forbids any count on the day of balloting.

The chief interest of Mississippi voters in tomorrow's primary is the contest for the gubernatorial Democratic nomination which has five participants—Dr. E. A. Copeland, Lester B. Franklin, Paul P. Johnson, J. Kenneth Murphree and Hugh L. White. Another 8,000 persons seek 2,500 of the other minor offices.

Virginia will choose state senators and representatives. Rhode Island's special congressional election tomorrow is expected to test the new deal as an issue.

Mrs. Skinner of Winterville Dies Kinston Hospital

Mrs. Pearl Elizabeth Skinner, age 47, died in General Memorial Hospital Sunday night at Kinston at nine o'clock, following an operation. She had been in declining health for the past several months.

Mrs. Skinner was reared in Pitt County, near Ayden. She was the daughter of the late J. R. and Jemima Cox Suggs. She was a member of the Christian church at Farmville and manifested much interest in the work of the denomination as long as she was able to attend.

Funeral services will be held this afternoon at four o'clock at her late home near Winterville with Rev. C. B. Marshall, pastor of the Christian church of Farmville officiating. Burial will be in the Farmville cemetery.

She is survived by her husband, B. D. Skinner, two daughters—Miss Helen and Miss Berline Skinner, and one son, Aubrey, all of the home place; also four brothers—R. S. Sugg, Washington, D. C.; Isaac, Leonard, and Alton of Ayden; two sisters, Mrs. Florence Worthington, Ayden, Mrs. Julian Rawls of Oak City.

Pearlie Moore Bound Over to County Court After Police Hearing

Pearlie Moore, colored, charged with possession of whiskey for the purpose of sale, was bound over to county court under bond of $100 following hearing in police court here this morning.

The woman was nabbed by police in a raid of her home on First street Saturday night. They said they found about three gallons of bottled-in-bond whiskey and some bootleg corn.

Chief George Clark described the place as a "regular barroom" where whiskey was sold by the drink and also in quantity.

Three other actions were given hearing this morning.

Henry Barnes, colored, who whipped his wife, was sentenced to 30 days on the roads.

Two drunks, Calvin Haddock and Eugene Williams, were allowed to go on payment of cost.

The pocket was light for Monday morning and work was completed in less than an hour.

RECORD HEAT
HERE SUNDAY

Mercury Soared to 100 Yesterday With Reading Still High Today

Greenville residents continued to swelter under uncomfortable temperatures today after hanging up a record for the summer yesterday.

B. T. Clark, government weather observer here, said this morning the mercury actually hit the century mark yesterday, although the official reading was given as 99 degrees.

The temperature at 11 o'clock this morning was 93 with indications the mercury would near the 100 mark in the afternoon.

The city found some relief from a thundershower yesterday afternoon about 5 o'clock, but the sun came out bright and clear this morning and the heat renewed its attack on the country-side.

The humidity was as depressing today as Saturday, although a stiff breeze did much to relieve the severity of the heat.

Friday and Saturday saw the thermometer reach 98, until then the highest temperature of the summer.

With continued fair weather predicted, it was possible the heat wave would continue a great part of the week with readings probably exceeding that of yesterday.

Citizens yesterday were reminded of the hot days last summer when the mercury went above the hundred mark, and summer before last when it mounted to 102 two or three days.

The coolest spots in town have been hot the past week and had it not been for cooling breezes each day it is impossible to say what the toll would have been to human life.

No prostrations have been reported from the heat, but scores have come very near the dropping out point.

Four Mills Resume
Work At Pelver, N. C.

Pelver, S. C., Aug. 5.—(AP)—Workers passed through the barricaded military zone into the Pelver mills today as they reopened for a fourth week under strike conditions with an executive proclamation declaring a "state of insurrection" in effect.

Four plants of the Pelver Manufacturing Company resumed operations on schedule without disorders. Local opinion was to the effect that Governor Olin Johnson's action in ordering a state of insurrection with military precautions effective yesterday differed but there were no statements or outward indications that it brought the labor dispute nearer an end.

Union spokesmen charged that the provisions laid down by the governor had been interpreted and enforced in effect to permit the free passage of strike breakers from outside Pelver.

Small H. Ross, president of the United Textile Workers local union, which went on strike July 15 said he was asking Johnson for a further declaration clarifying the status here.

Accidental Discharge of Rifle Also Brings Death to Youth at Elkin

Charlotte, Aug. 5.—(AP)—Four persons were killed in automobile accidents on North Carolina highways yesterday while the accidental discharge of a rifle brought death to a 14-year-old boy at Elkin.

Near Wake Forest two youths, Raymond Wilson and George Kelly, were killed when their car collided with another car in which a number of negroes were riding.

Henry Wetherford, 17, was killed in an automobile accident near Greensboro. Several of his companions escaped with minor injuries. James Brown, driver of the car which left the highway and hit a tree today was held on charges of manslaughter and reckless driving.

Injuries received Saturday in a wreck in which Bennie Owen of Asheville was killed proved fatal some hours later to William Mangum of Charlotte.

Ray Stokes Held For Auto Theft

Ray Stokes, young white man of the Ayden community, who several days ago was sentenced to the county home for six months on a charge of larceny, stole an automobile from Flanagan Buggy Company here Saturday and was arrested at the county home last night.

He was returned to Greenville and lodged in jail to face trial in county court on the new charge.

SON-IN-LAW

E. J. Peaden Faces Sanity Hearing After Slaying Bennie Smith Last Night

E. J. Peaden, 63-year-old Falkland township farmer, was held in the county jail without bond today, charged with the slaying of his son-in-law, Bennie Smith, 38, in an altercation at a tobacco barn Sunday night.

Peaden was taken into custody by county officers shortly after he fired a bullet into Smith's heart, producing instant death. Two other bullets from the .38 calibre pistol missed the mark.

Coroner A. A. Ellwanger said this morning an inquest was conducted immediately after the shooting and that the jury ordered Peaden held without bond pending an investigation of his mental condition by a Superior Court judge or some other person with such authority.

Peaden, believed to have been mentally deranged from a stroke of paralysis suffered about two years ago, was said to have been mad with Smith because he did not go to the tobacco barn Sunday. When Smith appeared that night about 11:30, Peaden allegedly cursed him out and then opened fire with the pistol.

Coroner Ellwanger said the prisoner had become violent on a number of occasions since the stroke and was reported to "have lost his head" completely when angered.

Ellwanger said he would press for a sanity hearing as soon as possible—some time this week. Funeral services will be held for Smith at the home Tuesday afternoon at three o'clock with Rev. J. C. Moye, Free Will Baptist minister of Snow Hill, officiating. Burial will be in the family graveyard near the home.

He is survived by his wife and two small children; one brother, Arthur, of the U. S. Army; three sisters, Mrs. Hubert Gaylord of Martin county; Mrs. Lonnie Amos of Martin county, and Mrs. Mattie Mercer of Craven county.

POTTS SPEAKS
AT UNION MEET

Union Services to Close The Latter Part of Month or First of September

Rev. J. R. Potts delivered his sermon at the union service at the theatre last night and a special musical program, featured by an anthem, was rendered by the choir of the Methodist church.

Mr. Potts' sermon was centered about love of Christ and was heard by a fairly large crowd.

The services will continue the remainder of August, and persons who have not been attending are urged by the Ministerial Association, sponsors, to be present during the remainder of the series.

Fairly large attendance has been reported each Sunday evening in spite of the hot weather, and it was believed crowds would be even larger the remainder of the series.

Mr. Potts preached in the place of Dr. G. R. Combs, pastor of the Methodist church, who was out of the city.

The service last night was the seventh of the series which began nearly two months ago. Special sermons and music feature each service in an effort to make the series as interesting to the general public as possible.

UNIDENTIFIED BODY FOUND
BESIDE RAILROAD TRACK

Greensboro, August 5.—(AP)—The body of an unidentified white man, apparently about 45 or 50 years old, was found lying along the Southern Railway Company tracks just north of the East Market street underpass here this morning about 9 o'clock. The discovery was made by two negro boys.

The body, badly decomposed, was found with the head against a brick wall a few feet from the tracks, and a subsequent investigation by County Coroner W. W. Harvey disclosed that the man's neck had been broken. He evidently had been dead four or five days.

Further information obtained from police officers indicated that the man had fallen or jumped from a train and was killed when his head struck the wall.

for the President. Senator Copeland insisted that New York would fall into the Republican column.
Pennsylvania was handed over to the GOP, despite Farley-Guffey wool. Senator Tydings offered no hope of saving Maryland, and Senator Neely said the same of West Virginia. Gov. Moore didn't give the President a chance in New Jersey. And Delaware went for Herbert Hoover in the 1932 landslide.
This Democratic estimate exceeds the expectations of the most enthusiastic Republicans. It is not given as authentic gospel, for most of these Democrats are anti-Roosevelt at heart. Other Democrats challenge their prognostications. But nobody at Democratic headquarters laughs off this bad news.

SUPERMAN: President Roosevelt is quietly reorganizing the Department of Justice, which needs winning lawyers as flowers need the sunshine. The D of J has won only one important suit—the gold case—
and that was a setup.

Solicitor General Stanley Reed
was the first addition, taking the place of J. Crawford Biggs after the Supreme Court openly expressed its doubt of the latter's legal talents.
Next Mr. Roosevelt charged the able John Dickinson in place of the anti-trust division. Now the President wants to draft J. Barrett Pretymann, a tax expert, to defend the government against processors' actions for recovery of processing taxes.

The post of Assistant to the Attorney General is still vacant. A first-class lawyer there would round out the legal force which must try to save the New Deal before the high court next year. It has been given to a political lawyer in the past, and the duties have largely concerned patronage matters. But now the President is looking for a legal superman.

STOPPED: Senator Bankhead of Alabama has repaid Henry Wallace
for all the favors the Cabinet member has done him. Originally hostile to the Bankhead cotton act, Mr.
Wallace accepted it after the Senator demonstrated that the growers favored it. In other ways the D of A has given the Alabama man a lift.

Mr. Wallace needs friends in the Senate. Harold Ickes has his eyes on several bureaus in the Department of Agriculture. He wants them shifted to his department. Despite AAA-ers' protests, he succeeded in piloting his bill through the Public Lands Committee, which reported unanimously in favor of it. It got as far as the Senate calendar without any adverse publicity.

The Senate was drowsing along
when it was called up for passage.
Most of the bills under consideration that day were private affairs, and Senators were letting them go through without opposition. "Senatorial courtesy" was the spirit of the hour. But when the Ickes bill was called Mr. Bankhead rose up and prevented its passage. That probably killed it for this session.

EXACT: Herr Hitler would have got an inside tip on the Roosevelt administration's real attitude toward his purges and persecutions if he had been present at a comical ceremony recently staged at Washington.

Fresh from his refusal to license
a German masseur because of Nazi attacks on the Jews, Mayor La-Guardia of New York entered the office of an extremely high official here. The Mayor stopped dead on the threshold, clicked his heels and raised his arm in the Hitler salute.
"Heil!" he shouted. The extremely high official shook with laughter.
The State Department is trying to duck formal action on the German government's complaints. It will express "regrets" over the Bremen incident, but that will be a concession to diplomatic courtesy. In official quarters there is no sympathy for Hitler's conduct. There is no desire to alienate a vast portion of the electorate by knowing to him.

READY MADE WIFE

BY CORALIE STANTON

SYNOPSIS: Laurie is to marry her employer, Mark Moore, because she has been in love with him since
she was a girl. Her mother, Mrs.
Moore, has been in love with him since
she was a girl. Her mother, Mrs.
Moore, has been in love with him since
she was a girl.

Chapter 41 DECEIT

WHEN she got back to her little flat, Laurie's anxious mind was suddenly illumined by memory,
which put the finishing touch to her misery.

That edifying anonymous letter had said that Gladys was going about with a "swell young man," and going to his rooms at night. That would fit young Dallas.

And another flash of memory—
the first time Laurie had spoken to her about the gold cigarette case, Glad had said the young man's name was Jimmy Smith. And later on she had said that the young man of the anonymous letter was the same one.

Then it must be Jimmy Dallas! It had been all the time. And now people were saying that he was carrying on with a chorus girl. His father had heard it. He would make enquiries, and Glad's name would be dragged in the mud.

It was intolerable.
Gladys was still away. The troupe had gone further afield than Guild-ford. Next week they were going to rest, but the following week they were booked up again, and there was no chance of seeing Glad.

And then came the climax.
Unable to put her mind to anything, wanting nothing to eat, Laurie walked about the little flat
like a caged animal.

She tried to divert her thoughts.
That arm-chair cover was getting very shabby. She must make a new one. She examined the cover, and then began to pull it off. It was faded and beginning to tear at the arms,
not worth mending.

A little handkerchief, rolled up in a ball, was between the seat and the back of the chair, Gladys' no doubt.
She was terribly untidy and forgetful.

It cracked, as Laurie shook it out,
and a piece of paper fell out. A crumpled up envelope.

Laurie read an address with startling eyes.

J. Dallas, Esq.,
2, Belmont Place,
St. James',
S.W.1.

Glad's handwriting!
Laurie's fears were now a certainty. It was true. Great tears fell down her cheeks. Glad was meeting young Dallas secretly, writing to him. This envelope had not been posted. She had probably been disturbed while writing, and had hidden it away in her handkerchief, and then forgotten
all about it, or thought she had lost it.

Perhaps Glad was unhappy under her careless brightness. If she was deeply in love with Jimmy Dallas, she must be unhappy. Perhaps she wept when she was alone, and suffered cruelly. Laurie felt that Dallas was the kind of man who would inevitably make women suffer if they loved him.

Glad didn't know. Glad was so very young.

Laurie acted on one of her impulses. They had always been inexplicable at the moment, but they had shaped her life, and no power on earth could have prevented them.
She knew that subconsciously.

She looked at the clock. It was seven. A young man about town might be in his rooms at that hour,
before he went out to spend the evening.

She put her hat on and hurried out of the house, and hailed the first taxi
she saw, giving the driver Jimmy Dallas's address.

It was a big, old-fashioned building, facing a narrow passage that led into the Green Park. A set of apartments with service, much used by wealthy visitors to London. Mostly foreigners.

In the marble-floored vestibule she found nobody. But there was a board with the names of the tenants inscribed on it. Jimmy Dallas lived on the fourth floor.

Laurie ignored the lift, and walked up. She rang the bell of a handsome mahogany door, and a moment later
the young man himself opened it.

"Cheerio, Dick!" he exclaimed,
and then, seeing Laurie, looked none too pleased. He wore a many-colored silk dressing gown over his evening trousers and shirt. There was no recognition on his face.

"Mr. Dallas, I want to speak to you for a few minutes," Laurie said breathlessly. "I am Mrs. Rex Moore."

"I met you at Fen Gretton a little while ago."

"Please come in!" he invited, with his provoking, fawn-like smile. "This is rather puzzling. I can't quite remember—"

"I am also Mr. Albery's secretary,"
she added, as he rather unwillingly showed her into his ultra-modern living room, which was perfectly hideous in her eyes. "My sister and I were spending the week end."

"Oh, yes!" His light voice was vague. "Is there anything I can do for you, Mrs. Moore?"

"There is." She faced him, looking straight into his eyes, so alluring to most women. "Mr. Dallas, you have been meeting my sister secretly. I want to ask you not to do it any more."

"Your sister, Mrs. Moore? There must be some mistake." Jimmy was evidently prepared.

"No, Mr. Dallas. I saw you with Gladys in a taxi in Piccadilly Circus
—on Sunday night a week ago. My sister denied it, but I saw you, and I know that she writes to you. And that you met her first in Manchester and Liverpool, and have given her expensive presents. My sister will deny everything, I know. I suppose you have told her to. But I want to ask you—are you going to ask her to marry you? And, if not, will you leave her alone?"

"I am sorry," said Jimmy Dallas
in his cool, derisive voice, "but really
I don't quite understand!"

Laurie's passionate earnestness would have moved a heart of stone, as she pleaded:

"Don't play with me! Don't lie to me! You must understand. Do you mean to tell me that you have never met my sister since we were at Fen Gretton weeks ago?"

Jimmy Dallas had to make a nimble decision. He was decidedly uneasy. This young woman was a nuisance. He had known she was a petulant school marm from the beginning. And after all the trouble they had taken, she had evidently found out something.

But Gladys hadn't given him away.
That was clear. Mrs. Moore didn't really know anything. But she had seen them in that taxicab. What confounded luck! He was sure she was not a fool.

"As a matter of fact, I have seen your sister once or twice," Mrs.
Moore, he said in his most winning way. "She told me she was on the stage, and I have been to see her dence. And we met with a party of friends on the river."

"Do you mean to marry her?" she asked.

"I haven't thought of marrying anybody," Mrs. Moore, he lied, but his voice was frankness itself. "I am making my way in my father's business. I have a whole lot to learn. I like your sister very much, and I admire her dancing tremendously. I hope I may see her friends."

No good. Laurie turned towards the door.

"I want you to leave my sister alone, or to meet her openly. Why won't she tell me of your meetings?
Why does she deny that she was in the taxi with you when I saw you myself? I feel she is unhappy. In some way you are doing her a wrong."

Mr. Dallas.

"Oh, no, Mrs. Moore. I assure you, you are exaggerating a slight and very pleasant friendship. Your sister must have some reason for not telling you that we have met once or twice. And you have found it out and made too much of it. I think that must be the way of it, Mrs. Moore."

She looked at him wearily. He was too much for her.

"I hope you will not worry your sister about it," he added. "I should feel so badly, if you did."

"I shall not mention to her that I have been here."

Jimmy Dallas opened the hall door for Laurie and stepped out on to the landing, smiling, and saying in his caressing voice—"I am so awfully glad you came. I am quite happy because now we understand each other."

Just then, the door of one of the other flats on the landing opened,
and a manservant showed a lady out.
Laurie did not stop to look. So she did not see that it was Wanda Steele who had come out of the other flat and heard Jimmy Dallas's words.

New York

By JAMES McMULLIN
STRATEGY: Big business is developing a new technique in dealing with strikes. The stunt is to retal-iate—when a plant is closed by a walkout—by shutting down a whole city at a time—or at least that part of the city engaged in the affected industry.

The technique has been tried recently. It was used in Des Moines, Iowa, where some plants whose employees weren't even unionized—let alone striking—locked them out. It was also used in a Cleveland strike of wholesale bakers. It didn't pan out in that instance because retail bakers plucked the gap.
The general idea of this strategy is to frighten the unions so they won't dare call strikes by showing them what a kickback there is when employers get together. Informed New York observers prophesy it will prove more spectacular than effective. They figure the unions have too much to gain and too little to lose to scare that easy.

TURIN: Well informed sources say the public doesn't begin to realize how big a chip labor has on its shoulder. It takes an industry-wide strike to get into the national news
—or something as dramatic as the Terre Haute general walkout. There have been literally hundreds of localized strikes that no one has heard about except the people directly involved. Taken singly, these are unimportant. Few of them reach a stage of violence that attracts attention. But taken collectively, they are significant of a militant attitude

that is likely to have far-reaching effects.

Critics of the Wagner Labor Act are correct from one angle at least when they claim that the law will encourage strikes. It removes one of the chief barriers to walkout decisions—fear of the loss of jobs. If the law stands up in court workers can strike with complete assurance that they can't be fired for it.

Some shrewd conservative disapprove of the policy favored by nearly all big industrialists of thwarting and suppressing organized labor in every possible way. They foresee that the unions—if not allowed to function constructively along exist- ing lines—will be forced to turn to aggressive political action as the only means of achieving their aims. That might be just too bad for the employers.

TEST: Wage and hour standards set up by NRA are surviving remarkably well on the whole. Busi- ness has been too good to give much of an excuse for cuts. But several industries are now beginning to nibble at these standards indi- rectly.

Over-time practice where employers can get away with it. Piece work remuneration has been reduced in some lines, etc. etc.

Everything points to a gradual and steady reduction of labor costs. This will be brought about more often by lengthening of hours than by direct wage slashes. The unions won't find it any cinch to maintain their present position—let alone im- prove it. So far few labor disputes trace to this nibbling process—but it's a cinch that bitter ones will develop later.

Insiders understand that the au- tomobile industry is planning to lengthen hours soon—keeping wage rates the same. The industry is confident that the workers won't kick because individual pay en- velopes will be fatter—although there will be fewer of them. This will be a vital test of labor's devotion to the shorter week principle as a cure for unemployment. If the motor companies put their plan a.s.s without too much trouble other in- dustries are sure to follow suit.

PURGE: One of the most impor- tant aspects of General Hugh John- son's relief administration job in New York hasn't been mentioned publicly. He has the ticklish task of showing other administrators how to eliminate chiselers from relief rolls with a minimum of dis- turbance.

Federal authorities are understood to have decided at last that people who won't accept private jobs when offered must be separated from Uncle Sam's bounty as a matter of policy. There would be a hefty squawk if this were done too ob- viously and Johnson has been in- structed to evolve a smooth tech- nique.

Washington is said to be finally convinced that the continued ex- pansion of relief expenditures dur- ing a period of business improve- ment indicates there is something wrong somewhere. There's a neat political twist to the selection of New York City as a laboratory for the purging process. It's expected that many of the boys and girls to be confronted with the painful al- ternative of going to work—or else—will be Tammany proteges. That will minimize any possible boomer- ang effect—because Tammany is so sore at the President already

KING'S SCHOOL ANNOUNCES THIRTY-FIFTH TERM

The King's system of schools, op- erating units at Raleigh, Charlotte and Greensboro, was organized in July, 1901, by J. H. King. In 1920 the schools were sold to E. L. Lay- field, the former manager of the Massey Business College at Rich- mond, Va. Under Mr. Layfield's management the unit schools have constantly grown in size and ef- fectiveness, and are now considered the leading commercial training in- stitutions of the state.

The thirty-fifth fall term in each school will open Sept. 2 and 9. The registrations are now being made for the new term, and President Layfield announces the present ad- vanced enrollment is considerably larger than during previous years. Mr. Layfield also announces an en- largement and improvement of the school quarters, equipment and fac- ulty, and every effort and expense have been made to furnish up-to- date and thorough, practical course.

Each King's school, by invitation, holds membership in the National Association of Accredited Commer- cial Schools, which organization is composed of 200 leading business schools of America.

In each school an active employ- ment bureau is maintained for the exclusive use and benefit of King's graduates. This bureau has been quite active and helpful during the past year, having placed all of its graduates in satisfactory positions. With the upturn of business, Mr. Layfield reports an increased num- ber of calls for stenographers, book- keepers and trained office clerks. The school issues a handsomely illustrated booklet, "Planning Your Future," and high school and col- lege graduates who are inclined to- ward business careers are invited to write the nearest school for a copy.

ALTAR MARCH STILL SLOW

Only Seven Persons Apply For Licenses To Wed Here During Past Week

The march to the altar continued slow in Pitt county during the past week with records in the office of the register of deeds today reveal- ing only seven marriages for the period.

Only one of the couples was white, the remainder being colored. The list was similar to that of the preceding week. The situation is expected to remain sluggish during the remainder of the summer but is expected to show a pronounced pick-up with the coming of the holidays.

Last year saw the greatest num- ber of people go to the altar of any other year in history. The pilgrim- age was the greatest from Thanks- giving to Christmas, many a girl giving herself to some swain as a Christmas present.

Those applying for licenses to wed during the past week follow:

LeRoy Ange to Miss Ruby Har- ris, Greenville.

Colored

Andrew Brown to Eva Bryant, both of the Swift Creek community.

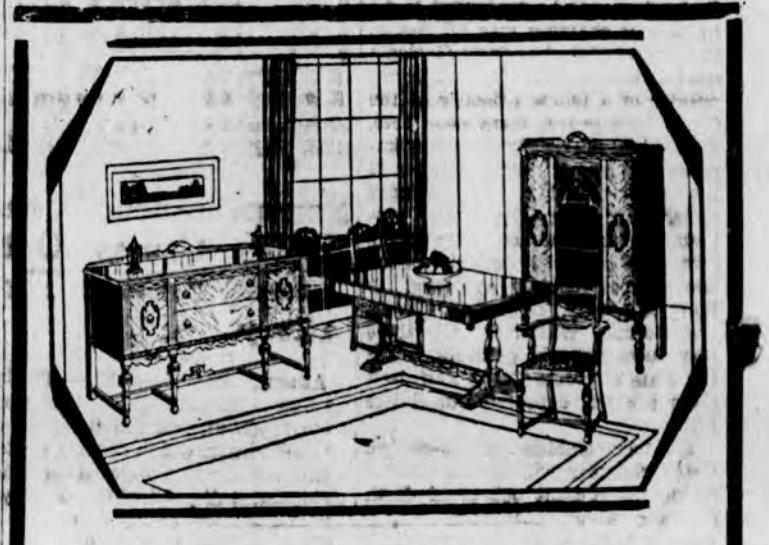

Edgar Dunn to Virginia Brick- house, both of Bethel.

John Knight to Susie Bynum, both of Bethel.

Joe Blow to Dollie Fields, Green- ville.

Laurie Cooper to Letha Moore, Greenville.

Amos Harris to Lottie Taft, both of Greenville.

Students Return From Tour.

The second party of students who have taken advantage of the series of educational tours sponsored by the college returned to Greenville last night, rejoicing because no mishap or serious illness had marred the pleasure of the 101 persons who in 18 days traveled more than 3,000 miles and studied many points of interest in the New England states and Canada.

The students have gone to their homes to complete the parallel reading and the writing of reports that must be submitted by August 23, the last day of the second term of the summer school. Their travel and study courses in geography, history and literature offer three elective credits each.

The instructors who accompanied this second party and taught the respective subjects are Dr. Beecher Flanagan, Miss Elizabeth Hyman and Miss Deanie Boone Haskett.

The travelers report a delightful and instructive trip. Several improvements in the managing of details resulted from the experiences of the first tour. More homes of literary importance were visited, and topics of history and geography were better anticipated. Moreover, three special busses instead of two and fewer automobiles than on the former tour were used. Thus, the party could be more easily handled and could more nearly reach the appointed hotels by the hours agreed upon.

A third tour will leave Greenville August 24. It will offer credits in sociology and government.

SEEKING TO RETURN TO GREEK THRONE.

Athens, Aug. 5.—(AP)—The Newspaper Anexartitis said yesterday former King George of Greece, disappointed at not being able to return to the throne under present conditions, is seeking a reconciliation with former Premier Eleutherios Venizelos, now in exile under a death sentence.

George proposes that the leader of last March's revolt form a government to replace that of Premier Tsaldaris, the newspaper asserted.

The paper said the former King has requested Prince Paul, regent of Yugoslavia, to intercede with the governments of Rumania and France on behalf of reconciliation.

Under George's plan, it was said, he would agree: To grant an amnesty to all those condemned or accused in connection with the revolt; dissolve immediately the newly-elected national assembly and hold elections to parliament on a basis of proportionate representation; restore officers ousted following the collapse of the revolt; and finally if the Liberals obtain a majority George would ask Venizelos to form a government.

AVIATOR IS ACCUSED OF DANGEROUS FLYING

Winston Salem, Aug. 5.—Charged with dangerous flying in an airplane, Albert Pratt was arrested by Deputy Sheriff A. C. Bivender and faces a hearing before a local magistrate next Wednesday.

The youthful flier was taken into custody on complaint of citizens in the Friendship community on the Old Lexington Road who said he engaged in acrobatic flying at such a low level as to endanger persons on the ground.

Identity of Pratt was established when officers checked the plane number taken by complaining citizens with airport officials here.

One man is said to have left home in fear of the plane crashing into his residence.

Pratt, however, is said to have denied that he was ever less than 300 feet to the ground when the alleged act was committed.

GREENIES WIN COUPLE OVER THE WEEK END

The Greenies today had five straight victories to their credit after successful conquest of Ayden and Tarboro over the week-end.

Ayden fell before the league leaders' smashing attack Saturday afternoon by the score of 5 to 2, and Tarboro lost yesterday afternoon by the score of 1 to 0.

The game with Tarboro yesterday was called at the end of the sixth inning on account of rain.

Wade allowed the visitors only two hits as his teammates were pounding out a total of six off Rhymer. Only two of the bingles, however, actually counted in the scoring.

Greenville scored the winning run in the fourth when Bo Farley set the pace for his proteges by hitting for three bases. He scored when Andy Johnson singled.

Tarboro played errorless ball, but the league leaders had one bobble chalked up against them.

The game was largely attended despite the heat wave which has held the community in grip the last several days and rooting at times was pronounced.

Greenville made a clean sweep of the series with Ayden by taking the performance Saturday afternoon. It was a hard blow to the Aydenites in view of the fact that they had sent to Washington City to get Walter Beal, former Greenville pitcher in the Eastern Carolina League 15 years ago, who was pitted against George Barley, Duke hurler, who has had a remarkably successful season with the locals.

Beal, considered one of the finest pitchers in the old league, looked as if he planned to hand the league leaders a sound thrashing, but he was pulled in favor of Brownlee during the latter part of the game.

Acce Parker found himself the cynosure of all eyes when he cracked the ball over the fence in the eighth with three on, to give Greenville a definite lead over Ayden which had scored one in the fifth and another in the seventh.

Parker's powerful wallop came after free passes to Stine and Dean with a hit by Andy Johnson, leading the bases. The blow enabled George Barley to hang up his 11th victory for the season without defeat. His baffling "fireball" worked to perfection and only five Aydenites succeeded in connecting for side blows. Big Jim Tatum hit for the circuit in the seventh after Ayden had tallied in the first on a series of errors and without a hit. Wade homered for Greenville in the eighth to grab honors along with Parker.

Also taking an important part in Greenville's eight hit rally were Chubby Dean, who hit a triple and single, and Billy Hulskamp, who accounted for two singles.

Ayden had four errors chalked up against them, although they figured only in a minor way in the scoring.

Today found Greenville playing in Tarboro and indications were the league leaders would win another, unless Tarboro pulls a fast one as they have been known to do several times this season, and walk off with the bacon.

Dave Smith Given His Release Here

Dave Smith, former Whiteville high school pitcher, who joined the Greenville club last season, was released yesterday.

Smith, it was reported, went from here to Smithfield to join a club there.

Smith was one of the leading hurlers here last season, but had not been going any too good this year. He had a great record as a high school pitcher.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Aug. 5.—(AP)—Buying of the oils and utilities gave the stock market another forward tilt today despite profit taking flurries which dented some of the recent leaders.

The trading pace while not quiet up to Saturday's final hour was faster than usual, the news generally appeared to the liking of the financial sector although the plethora of idle funds and high hopes for fall and winter business was seen as the main market influence.

A rally in wheat encouraged recovery proponents, Cotton and other commodities were inclined to moderate firmness.

U. S. government securities were easier but the majority of corporate bonds more than held their own. Bond exchanges were quiet and narrow.

The late stock tone was somewhat irregular. Transfers were 1,650,000 shares.

New York Cotton

New York, Aug. 5.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened steady one lower to one higher with trade light pending developments in Washington.

The Liverpool market was closed but there was some foreign selling at the opening and perhaps a little hedging.

The offerings were light and the market steadied up after the call.

At midday October was ruling round 1145 and May 1112 or about 5 higher to two points net lower.

Futures closed steady, 3 higher to 7 lower.

Producers having excess tobacco Hutson said, will pay 4 cents per pound to producers whose allotments are bought, except in cases where individual producers agree on different rates. All allotment cards will be issued at the county office in the name of the producer who makes the purchase.

A producer may sell his unused allotment but must agree to divide the money received with any share tenants and share croppers on the farm in the same proportion that the 1935 adjustment payments will be distributed.

Three Killed in Auto Wreck

Durham, Aug. 5.—(AP)—Three people were killed and a fourth was injured on the Oxford highway near here early today when an automobile crashed into a high tension wire pole and burned.

The dead are:

Garvey Gatchet, 36, of Portland, Oregon, his wife, Mrs. Myrtle Gatchet, and a daughter, Barbara, 3. All were electrocuted.

Gatchet clutched the electric wire as he attempted to extricate his wife and daughter.

Lou Archer, of New York, sustained arm injuries. Bobby Gatchet, 10, and Neva Cashin, of New York, escaped injury.

The party was enroute to Greensboro from Henderson where it gave a vaudeville performance at midnight. A front tire blew out causing the car to skid a distance of 60 feet, and crash into the pole.

About 10 minutes following the crash the car became enveloped in flames but it is believed Mrs. Gatchet and the girl died soon after the crash.

When Gatchet reached them he was knocked some distance by the force of the shock.

Administration Tax Bill Passed by House

Washington, Aug. 5.—(AP)—The $270,000,000 tax bill which congressional leaders have called the key to adjournment sailed through the house today and headed into a doubtful senate reception.

As passed 282 to 96 the bill carries increased surtaxes on individual incomes over $50,000, new levies on gifts and inheritances and a graduated tax on net corporation incomes.

It differs in several particulars from the president's recommendation, notably allowing corporations to deduct charitable gifts in figuring the taxable incomes.

Settlement of one of the remaining controversies between the house and senate was predicted by Senator Smith, of South Carolina. He said an agreement would be reached before night on the administration bill to broaden the power of the Agricultural Adjustment administration and protect it against suits in the courts.

WILL DETERMINE COST OF MAKING BRIDGE SAFE

Kinston, Aug. 5.—An engineer is trying to determine how much it would cost to eliminate a danger spot on the Central highway near here. "Ork bridge," in reality a steel bridge, has been the scene of many accidents. Motor vehicles approaching it over long causeways have to slow down to 10 or 15 miles to negotiate the bridge, which crosses Neuse river at a sharp angle. Many strangers have run into trouble on the approaches.

The cost will be heavy if the bridge is "straightened out" or a new one constructed. One estimate places it at $180,000. Traffic is heavy however. It is said 1,500 vehicles in through traffic cross the bridge daily.

The engineer was sent by the State Highway and Public Works Commission.
