Airplane To Fly Rogers And Post To Seattle During Day

JOE CROSSON ARCTIC FLIER, AT CONTROLS

Big Plane Poised At Vancouver Ready For Long Flight To America; Exact Hour Of Arrival At Seattle Guarded To Prevent Crush Of Curious; Provincial Police On Guard At Vancouver

Vancouver, British Columbia, Aug. 19.—(AP)—The funeral plane poised here today for the last lap of its flight from Alaska barrens with the broken forms of Will Rogers and Wiley Post.

Joe Crosson will fly the ship into Seattle sometime today—the exact hour was guarded closely in an effort to ward off a crush of the curious at both airports.

Crosson brought the Pan-American Airways Transport into Vancouver unexpectedly last night after a 1,500 mile flight from Point Barrow, most northerly American outpost where Post and Rogers fell to their death Thursday night while on a leisurely vacation jaunt.

The ship was pushed quickly into a hanger and a provincial police guard was set.

Crosson, long a friend of Post and Rogers, and his two assistants on the arduous journey were little inclined to discuss it or what they saw and experienced in the northern waste land.

They were unable to add to the meager previous reports of the crash which was witnessed only by an Eskimo who ran 15 miles to Point Barrow to tell that the motor had misfired at an altitude of only 50 or 60 feet.

LARGE CROWD HEARS WICKER

Episcopal Minister Delivers Sermon At Pitt Theatre; Potts Final Speaker

Rev. Worth Wicker, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church, delivered the sermon at the Union service at Pitt theatre last night and was heard by one of the largest crowds recorded since the services began about two months ago.

The music was in charge of the choir of the Episcopal church and provided an appropriate setting for the sermon. Congregational singing was also the best of the series.

The services will come to a close next Sunday evening with Rev. J. R. Potts delivering the sermon. The Ministerial Association, sponsors of the services, has asked that the crowd at this service be one of the largest of the year in appreciation of what has been done to bring the members of the various congregations into closer touch with one another during the summer months—the season of small congregations.

Mr. Wicker spoke on the subject, "Prodigal Son," declaring that this is the type of all sinners. He spoke of the humility, repentance and final forgiveness of the prodigal comparing this with the great heart of Christ who stands ready at all times to forgive and forget those who repent of their sins.

The sermon was described today as one of the most forceful and inspirational of the series and the large crowd that risked the prospect of rain was well rewarded for attending.

All churches of the city have taken part in the services and it was said today by members of the Ministerial Association that much good had been realized from the co-operative effort to bring all church members in closer touch with one another.

Planes Hunt Negro For Attack On Girl

Lumberton, Aug. 19.—(AP)—Officers, citizens, members of the state highway patrol and three airplanes searched today for Jim Watson, negro farm hand, accused of attempting to attack criminally a four-year-old girl while a group of citizens reported they had wounded him as he fled this section last night.

A carload of citizens, portion of a group of 300 in the hunt, told officers they fired on the negro with a shotgun and wounded him in the arm on Lovette road near here but were afraid to follow him as he escaped.

The negro fled into the countryside after the child told her father J. B. Bruton, of the alleged attempt. He was said to be armed with a pistol.

Today the child was under care of a physician while Sargeant F. R. Bell, reported as false a report that friends of the negro had taken him to South Carolina.

Immediately after the child told her father of the alleged attack, said to have taken place about four weeks ago, Bruton sent his son, J. B. Jr., to guard the negro. The son, carrying two pistols, fired five shots at Watson as the negro fled but none was believed to have hit him.

Officers hunted the fugitive with bloodhounds throughout the afternoon but lost the trail, and during the night citizens, airplanes and state officials augmented the searching party.

No New Cases Of Paralysis In This State

Raleigh, Aug. 19.—(AP)—No new infantile paralysis cases were reported to the State Department of Health over the week-end.

Only one new typhoid fever sufferer from Durham county was reported.

NEW TOBACCO HOUSE ASSET TO THIS MART

Keel's New Brick House To Greet Visitors Attending The Opening Monday

The opening of the Greenville tobacco mart next Monday will be greeted by a new brick warehouse, one of the most modern in this part of the state.

It is known as Keel's New Warehouse and is located on the lower end of Dickinson Avenue. The building was recently built by R. V. Keel, who has been connected with the market here for a number of years. It contains all of the conveniences and accommodations to be found in a present day structure.

Surrounded by plenty of parking space, the new structure will be able to take care of hundreds of growers daily. The structure is well lighted and scales have been placed at convenient places to take care of the offerings of the farmers speedily and without congestion.

Adequate sleeping quarters have been arranged for the patrons who wish to spend the night there. Ladies' rest rooms have also been provided to take care of the demands of farmers' wives during their stay in the city.

One of the features of the new building is a modernly equipped cafe which will be able to take care of the demands of growers even when sales are the heaviest.

The personnel of the new house was picked by Mr. Keel for their experience in handling bright leaf. D. S. Spain, who for the last 35 years has been prominently identified with the market, will be on hand each day to see the every interest of the patrons is taken care of and that they are made as comfortable as possible while selling their tobacco here.

Gilbert Peel will be in charge of the office as well as assist in the general management of the house. Bill Branch and Alton Rogers are auctioneers. K. S. Woodard, L. L. Stokes and R. S. Tyson will be in charge of the floor and will see that each lot of tobacco is unloaded and given every attention possible.

It was stated by Mr. Keel that several other capable employees would be on hand each day to serve the public, and growers were given a cordial invitation to visit the warehouse and notice its up to date accommodations.

Only Woman On Island

Santa Barbara, Calif., (AP)—Mrs. Herbert S. Lester, former New York librarian, is the only woman residing on wind-swept San Miguel Island off the coast here. She recently made her first visit to the mainland in 10 months by airplane. Mrs. Lester, her husband and their two small daughters are the only inhabitants on the lonely island.

LEAGUE FLAG TO BE RAISED ON TUESDAY

Tomorrow will be a "red letter" day for Greenville and thousands of people are expected to be on hand to help the local club of the Coastal Plain League celebrate "Flag-Raising Day."

The flag captured by this club in the championship play against Kinston last year will be raised as the highlight of the Greenville-Kinston ball game. The two old rivals will square off for one of the greatest games of the season following the exercises. With Kinston in second place and fighting hard to again have the honor of meeting Greenville in the flag series this year, fans are assured of seeing one of the best brands of ball seen here this year.

City officials and heads of the Greenville and Kinston ball clubs will take part in the exercises and members of both clubs will be lined up before the grandstand so fans may be able to take a close peek at the physical beauty of each.

Although preparations for the exercises had not been completed, it was said city officials would be asked to take part with the probability that the first ball will be tossed out by Mayor R. C. Flanagan, or Mayor Pro-Tem Herman Boone.

The program will take place exactly at 3:45 with the Greenville High School Band scheduled to turnish music prior to and after the ceremonies.

Flag raising day was held last year and one of the largest crowds of the season was on hand to see the piece of bunting lifted to the staff in the outfield of Third Street school grounds. Club officials expressed hope another tremendous gathering would be on hand to see last season's champions and this season's leaders match their strength on the eve of the semi-finals to determine the two clubs to participate in the championship race.

The day promises to be one of the greatest of the year and it is a foregone conclusion that players of both clubs will strive to give their supporters a spectacular brand of ball—the kind of ball that has placed them at the head of the circuit again this year.

Geraldine Briley Buried At Tarboro

Geraldine, 4 1/2 months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Briley of 1114 West Fourth street, died in Duke Hospital, Durham, N. C., yesterday morning at five o'clock.

Funeral services were conducted from the late home this afternoon at two o'clock by Rev. J. A. McIver, pastor of the Immanuel Baptist church. Burial followed in Greenwood cemetery, Tarboro, N. C.

Besides the parents, a sister, Mrs. Dorothy, Louise, four brothers, James, Junior, Walter and Billie Briley.

Late News Flashes

Sees No Chance To End War.

Paris, Aug. 19.—(AP)—Baron Pomerehne of Italy declared tonight "I see no basis for further discussion of the Ethiopia situation, and have no hope for Geneva. Italy does not want to leave Geneva but if we are led to the door we will have to leave."

Today In Congress.

Washington, Aug. 19.—(AP)—The House did all its tricks today to grant President Roosevelt's request that the Guffey coal stabilization bill be enacted regardless of doubt—however reasonable—as to its constitutionality. It quickly passed the House measure and sent it to the Senate where leaders have promised a vote before adjournment.

The Guffey bill is designed to set up a little NRA with a tax enforcer code over the soft coal industry. The President has advocated it to obtain a new legal debate of the government's power. The vote was 195 to 168.

While the House thus set the pace for a last minute drive to enact the administration program and send Congress home this week, members of both branches got together in another unsuccessful effort to reconcile differences on the $250,000,000 tax bill.

At the White House it was announced that President Roosevelt would speak by radio Saturday night to the Young Democratic Clubs of America, in Milwaukee. It will be his first national broadcast in several months.

Speculation immediately arose as to whether the President might answer former President Hoover's recent demand for a statement on any (Continued on Page Four)

State Lawyers On Long Cruise In Nova Scotia

Halifax, Nova Scotia, Aug. 19.—(AP)—The North Carolina Bar Association convention cruise reached this northern terminus today as the lawyers and their friends spent the day visiting the Grand Pre in the Evangeline country.

A special later carried the visitors 70 miles through the Annapolis valley, famous orchard country, from Halifax to the Grand Pre.

Members of the Association reported fine weather on the northward trip from Norfolk which they left Saturday morning in the Steamship Reliance of the Hamburg American line.

Seek Stamp As Memorial For Rogers And Post

Oklahoma City, Aug. 19.—(A)—Oklahomans suggested simple memorials today to honor Will Rogers and Wiley Post, the two famous sons of this state who died in an Alaskan plane crash.

The Oklahoma Philatelic society telegraphed President Roosevelt, Postmaster Farley and members of the Oklahoma congressional delegation urging a Rogers-Post commemorative stamp be issued.

TOBACCO MEN RETURN FROM OTHER MARTS

With the Greenville tobacco market scheduled to open one week from today, tobacco men who have been taking part in the leaf industry in Georgia and the border belt have begun returning to the city to be ready to participate in opening day activities here.

Among those already returned is Biggs T. Cannon, who with Will Moore, operates the Dixie Warehouse, Mr. Cannon reported prices high in Georgia, and invited his many friends of this great bright leaf area to meet him at opening sales on the Dixie floor.

Mr. Cannon described the price situation in Georgia as exceptionally good and came back to get his warehouse in fine trim to take care of the great amounts of tobacco expected to be handled here Monday when the cry of auctioneers officially runs up the curtain on the new season.

With the price situation good on both Georgia and border belt markets, there was every indication to expect a similar favorable situation when sales get under way here.

Farmers always take the opening in Georgia and border markets as an index to what will happen in this belt, and they have always found this a safe standard upon which to base their calculations.

Scores of tobacco men from all sections of the county will join Greenville tobacco men in the annual hike toward Greenville the end of the week and when the market opens every big tobacco buying company in the country will be well represented by capable corps of buyers.

This is the season of the year when everybody begins to feel better and the opening will find the public generally in the best of spirits, anticipating the golden harvest which the sale of bright leaf always has to offer.

The city was rapidly getting in shape for handling the tremendous crowds expected to be on hand opening day and everything will be done to make them feel at home and enjoy the time spent here, watching sales and obtaining first-hand information on what the season has to offer the growers.

NEGRO HELD IN CAR WRECK

Herbert Foreman Jailed on Charge Of Driving Drunk After Crash

Herbert Foreman, colored, was held under bond of $200 today on a charge of driving drunk, growing out of running into an automobile and injuring three occupants on highway 43 last night.

The negro was allowed to post bond this morning and was ordered to appear at the September 3 session of county court.

Foreman, sheriff's officers said today, ran his car into the rear of another machine driven by James Moore, also colored, and occupied by Dupree Taylor and Josh Moore, who were knocked from the car by the force of the impact, sustaining severe bruises and minor cuts.

Foreman allegedly "took the air" immediately after the crash, abandoning his car on the highway. He was later taken into custody by Sheriff's officers and brought to Greenville, lodged in jail until he could arrange bond.

The negro was declared to have been drinking excessively at the time of the wreck and hardly knew what he was doing.

The three men were given medical aid at the local hospital but returned home shortly afterward.

SCAN SKIES AT SEATTLE FOR DEATH PLANE

City Awaits Arrival Of Joe Crosson With Bodies Of Rogers And Post

Seattle, Aug. 19.—(AP)—This city scanned the skies today and waited for Pilot Joe Crosson to roar his aerial jump across the border with the bodies of Will Rogers and Wiley Post.

Crosson flew out of the north Canadian wasteland and settled at Vancouver last night.

Both he and his co-pilot were quoted "pretty tired." They abandoned plans to fly on and place the plane with the bodies in the municipal hanger at Vancouver where provincial police established a guard against the curious.

DRUNKS MARK POLICE COURT

Several Fined $10 and Cost For Over-Drinking Over The Week End

Drunks held the limelight in the regular Monday morning session of police court here today after what Police Chief George Clark described as an unusual week-end in from the standpoint of excessive drinking.

The police head said he and his men were kept busy most of Saturday night and Sunday dealing with persons overladen with whiskey regardless of the fact they can buy all the liquor they want now, legal or illegal, and had no need of making gluttons of themselves.

Heretofore drunken defendants have been getting off largely with payment of cost, but with violations increasing each week Mayor R. C. Flanagan this morning raised the ante, placing ten dollars and cost on most of the defendants.

Those charged with drunkenness were:

W. G. Sutton, fined $10; H. W. Stoneham, drunk, $10.

There were two other defendants scheduled to appear before the court on a similar charge, but they failed to show up this morning on account of illness and will be required to appear at a later date.

They were: John Eason and Dave Crech.

Police said some of the other cases given hearing this morning grew out of over-indulgence in whiskey.

Luia Evans, colored, was sentenced to thirty days in jail on a charge of disorderly conduct.

Ida Curtis, colored, charged with assault with a deadly weapon, was bound over to the next sitting of county court.

William Pearsall, charged with disorderly conduct, $10 and cost. Alton Brock, colored, assault, 30 days on the roads.

John Mayo Forbes, parking on the wrong side of the street, paid cost.

SHORTAGE OF TEACHERS BRINGS HURRY CALL

Honolulu, (AP)—It isn't often there's a shortage of teachers, but that happened here.

THE NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

News Behind The News.

WASHINGTON.

By Ray Tucker

SPECTACLE: Political undercurrents are swirling around tumultuous days and carrying waves of water over the Washington dam. They are upsetting personal and political crafts on 1936's high seas.

National navigators are revising their charts, to wit: There will be no coalition between Republicans and Democrats because the GOP is too cocky since little Rhode Island's flop. There will be no well-organized third party because most Progressives will line up with the President. There will be no rumormongering movement because anti-Roosevelt conservatives in North and South will not surrender their party status.

The new and unannounced threat to Mr. Roosevelt will be a turbulent battle within the Democratic convention.

COTTON BODY TO TRANSFER LOAN STAPLE

Two Million Bales To Be Moved At New Orleans To Make Room For New Crop

New Orleans, Aug. 19.—(AP)—The government has given the American Cotton Co-operative Association the job of performing the greatest cotton movement ever attempted, the reconcentration of 2,000,000 bales of the staple before November 1.

Small interior warehouses are bulging with cotton on which the government has lent the growers 12 cents a pound. Meanwhile the new crop is coming along. Room must be made to store it.

The American Cotton Co-operative Association has undertaken the work of moving the loan cotton to large interior points and to huge port warehouses.

Negro Held For Hitting Another With Pop Bottle

Carl Shirley, colored, was held by county officers today under bond of $100, on a charge of assault growing out of hitting another negro named Charlie Knight, on the arm with a soft drink bottle. Although suffering from a painful cut, Knight was said not to have been seriously hurt.

The two negroes were said to have been walking along the road with their girls at Ballard's Cross Roads, when they became engaged in an argument over which girl belonged to which. At the height of the argument—when Knight seemed to be getting the best of the argument, Shirley allegedly picked up a bottle and let Knight have it.

The girls, in the meantime fled, leaving the combatants to fight it out the best way they could.

NEGRO JAILED FOR SHOOTING

Cleveland Cannon Arrested After Painfully Wounding Snode Carney

Cleveland Cannon, negro, was held in the city jail today on a charge of shooting and painfully wounding another negro named Snode Carney, in an altercation growing out of a card game on New Heath street early this morning.

Suffering from several shots contained in a shotgun crash, Carney was rushed to the local hospital for medical aid. Although suffering from painful wounds, described as largely superficial, hospital attendants said the negro would live.

Cannon and Carney with two other negroes whom police did not identify, were engaged in a card game. Cannon, it seemed, won all the money and pulled his stakes in from the board. Cannon demanded him to turn the cash over to him, that the winnings were his.

When Carney refused to do so the negro was said to have gone into another room, obtained a shotgun and returned and opened fire on Carney.

All fled after the shooting except the victim who was rushed to the hospital for medical attention.

Police said Carney was being held for preliminary hearing in the regular Wednesday morning session of police court.

LEAF MARKET HERE READY FOR OPENING

Many Improvements To Greet First Sales Here Monday, August 26

Everything was in readiness today for the opening of the Greenville tobacco market next Monday, August 26, and indications pointed to be one of the best opening days in years.

With a new warehouse, additions to two others and improvements to redrying plants, the Greenville market was in better shape to take care of the offerings of the farmers today than any time in history. K. W. Cobb, supervisors of sales, said everything was humming on the market today as warehouses and factories prepare to take care of the millions of pounds of leaf handled on this market each season, and believed the annual pilgrimage of growers opening day would outstrip all former years.

Due to the many improvements made in recent years, the supervisor said the market this year would have floor space to take care of 2 and 1-4 million pounds of tobacco. The total amount of floor space was given as 16 acres.

The market will also open with five sets of buyers and it was expected records set in previous years as result of speedy sales will be eclipsed this year.

The movement of tobacco to market started the latter part of last week.

Additional loads had been received on the floors of the various warehouses today with indications this end of the week will see the floors literally flooded with the bright leaf, the principal money crop of the great tar territory.

The movement of tobacco will reach its height next Saturday and Sunday night. Vehicles of every description will rumble through the city all night long bringing with them cargoes of leaf for the opening Monday morning. This will be accompanied by the greatest influx of people probably on record as they attempt to obtain first hand information on price trends.

The Greenville market opens this season with the record of having sold more tobacco than any other bright leaf market in the world a long with the highest average—31.41. The market last year paid out a total of $16,000,000 to the growers of this great bright leaf producing section with indications the sum will be surpassed this year.

With prices good on the Georgia and border belt markets this season, farmers of this—the greatest bright leaf producing area in the world—are anticipating a great season, not only from the standpoint of price, but from the point of greater service to the thousands of farmers who have made Greenville their selling center for years, realizing the best to be had is always offered them here.

THE NATIONAL WHIREIGIC
The rural provinces have turned against the President. Tammany hails him and is warm up to his ancient friend and enemy, Alfred E. Smith. And Al is consorting with anti-New Dealers these days.
"I hope you Republicans will nominate a man I can support in 1936," he recently told a group of GOP-ers. "I couldn't back Borah, of course. I couldn't get behind an old-fashioned politician like Dickenson of Iowa. But I like Frank Knox."

COSTS: Morris L. Cooke is the arch-diplomat of the New Deal. As chief of the Rural Electrification Administration he is enlisting the public utilities in his one-man crusade to furnish electricity to the farmers of the United States.
He has convinced the private companies that tapping this market will eventually mean money in their coffers. His engineers are co-operating with the company's men in reducing costs of generation and construction of lines. He has persuaded contractors to standardize electrical supplies of all kinds. Eventually he believes that he can place all the comforts of electricity within reach of the humblest farm-house.

His enthusiasm is contagious. He sublimates the President. Judges, Senators, to talk rural electricity. He asks them to guess the price at which he can provide standard bathroom furnishings under his plan. The President's estimate was 135. Senator Shipstead of Minnesota, who ought to know better, figured it at $300. "You're both wrong," chuckled Mr. Cooke. "It's less than $25."

PROGRAM: President Roosevelt's advisers are having plenty of trouble in drafting preliminary outlines of the public addresses for his western trip. Everybody around the White House realizes that much may depend upon the impression he makes in the Progressive West.
The Frankfurter faction would like for him to emphasize his religious program and dwell upon its supposed benefits for the average citizen. The Harvard professor has usually lived at the White House for the past month. The more practical school believe that Mr. Roosevelt should stress recovery as a factor in the economic charts, and to hold out hope for even greater advances in the fall. Chairman Kennedy of the Security Exchange Commission heads the moderates. A skillful blending of both ideas will be the final product.
Mr. Roosevelt has consulted leading Progressives in preparation for this swing. Senators like Norris, Johnson and LaFollette feel that the West backs him and will be his mainstay in 1936. But there have been signs of dissonant which he will try to smooth down with a re-statement of his underlying aims and current accomplishments.

PUZZLE: The GOP high command is holding indignation meetings over Bob Lucas' one-man poll of county chairmen's Presidential preferences for 1936. They don't like the idea of an outsider butting into their affairs with regular announcements that the boys back home want thirder than man to head the ticket next year. It smacks too much of high-pressure tactics.
House members say that they have not received any of his questionnaires. Moreover, they have checked up on their county chairmen and have not found any who are in communication with Mr. Lucas. They are beginning to think that the Kentucky's pronouncements partake of the oracular, with himself as the oracle.

MORNING STAR
BY MARIAN SIMS

SYNOPSIS: Emily Peyton has found her roommate, Judith Carroll, almost sufficient recompense for having had to go to Ardmore instead of Bryn Mawr. Judith, an even-tempered, friendly, Emily's wandering mother, which is why Emily is at the Carroll plantation, with a new outfit bought under Judith's watchful eye. Talking with Judith's fascinating brother David, David is the opposite of careful, aloof, distant, but is Emily's only other adviser—and so, fortuitously, for many.

Chapter Five
DAVID—SERIOUS
"TO," EMILY suddenly saw that the only way to interest him was to tell him the truth; to throw herself upon his mercy.
"It's just because I look pretty tonight, and that's Judith's fault and not mine. As a rule I'm quite colorless; I don't even know how to enjoy living," her voice was soft and a little plaintive.
David's lips were against her hair, now. They strayed softly down to the cheek that was turned away from him. "I wish," he said very gently, "that I had a chance to teach you."

He slipped a hand beneath her chin and turned her face towards him. His promise of beauty had been fulfilled.
As he bent towards her she thought fleetingly of Edwin and his gentlemanly self-control, and a wraith of a smile lifted the corners of her mouth; thought of her mother's admonition about "holding one's self sacred for one's husband," and knew a moment of pain.
She drew away from him and looked squarely into his eyes.
"I don't even," she told him recklessly, "know how to kiss you. I've never kissed anyone but relatives in my life."

She had expected him to laugh. Or to scoff; because every other girl she knew had kissed someone, anyone. Instead he looked thoughtful.
"I believe you," he said at last. "And you don't know how glad I am that you haven't!"
He kissed her then, very gently at first, and she was surprised that his lips should be so soft when his arms were so hard. She hadn't really thought of it before. She returned the kiss, simply, and felt his lips quicken upon hers.
"You precious, precious child," he muttered.

WHEN the tumult and the shouting died for the evening Judith made her way to David's room and perched herself upon his bed. She was clad in a pair of vivid Chinese pajamas and her eyes were dangerously bright.
"Of course," she began, "you're the apple of my eye and all that sort of thing, but I'll poison you if you break Emily's heart."
David looked squarely at her. "You're a flatterer, beast. In another minute you'll be telling me not to set fire to the state orphan asylum."

Judith helped herself to a cigarette from his bedside table. "Oh, I don't mean that you'd do it deliberately, darling; you never do. It's just that you'll have to hide your fatal light under a bushel. You've already been making love to her, darn you!"
David's look didn't falter. "I'm no St. Francis, you know. If you didn't expect me to fall, why on earth did you bring her down here and push her into my arms?"
"I wish I knew," Judith confessed. "I was so interested in seeing what she'd do to you that I overlooked completely what you might do to her."

"Has it occurred to you that I might be serious?" David demanded. Judith's eyes widened in mock amazement. "No. Why should it?" He scowled at her, then grinned. "Damn your impertinence! Get out before I throw you out."
"Not until you promise to be good!"
His face softened. "I wouldn't hurt her," he said gently, "for anything in the world. At the rate I'm going, I'll be the one who needs protection soon."
Judith got up and laid her hands upon his shoulders. "It's a promise, then?"
He bent and kissed her. "It is."

A NOISE, determined and incessant, dragged Emily from the warm depths of sleep. Someone was pounding on their door. Judith lifted a rumpled head and at that instant David's voice, raised in song, sifted through the door.
"Awake my soul, stretch every nerve—" he sang.
Judith snorted. "Do you have to make that noise?"
"I do," came the voice. "Are you both so carefully buried?"
"You didn't think, did you," Judith

Borah gave New York a smile. Informed circles doubt whether the "old man" will make a try. But he might be a threat should someone who isn't liked by the liberals be too strong.
On the whole the Lucas ballot is regarded as premature. Republicans leaders are waiting to hear what President Roosevelt will say on his western tour. They will also wait for his opening message or address to the Congress that meets next winter. It will be from these talks that the GOP leaders expect to decide who has the best ability to not only meet the problems involved but David turned Emily's face toward him.

I was going to sleep until noon the first day I was at home. Emily might go."
He turned to her. "Will you?"
Already she was learning to take things as they came with this astonishing family. "I'd love it."
He smiled his approval. "Stout fellow!" Then to Judith: "Is this craving for sleep real? Because I really wanted to take you."
Judith's eyes were warm. "You darling. Yes, it's real. Take me this afternoon!"
"Gladly." He turned once more to Emily. "Will you breakfast à la John Bull or Hollywood?"
"Which is which?"
"Oh, kippers and bloaters and the like from the seaboard, or coffee and grapefruit in bed?"
She considered. "Since I haven't ridden in three months, perhaps I'd better begin to practice eating from the seaboard. Besides, I've never eaten a bloater."
David chuckled delightedly. "Neither have I. But if I can find a bicycle pump we'll have them. I'll give you ten minutes," he said, as the door closed behind him.
Riding over Carrollton with David had all the glamor of a voyage of discovery. The sunlight was pure gold and the meadows were green velvet. All the hands stopped to talk, and David's interest was flattering and unflagging.

to add new strength to the party as well.

COMEBACK: The open battle for leadership of the Republican Party in New York is generally considered important. The man named will be at the helm for the two years that take in the campaigns for the offices of Mayor, Governor and President.

It is practically conceded that the present young leader, Chase Mellen, Jr., will lose out. It isn't so much what he has done as to how he has done it. Those active in the party want a leader who is both aggressive and liberal. Several names are being discussed but as yet none has been touched for the job.

side and liberal. Several names are being discussed but as yet none has been touched for the job.
An inside source will tell you that no matter who is named the old leader Samuel Koenig will still pull the strings. In fact, it is probable that he is slated for a comeback via another leader. He is one of the few who knew how to gather in large sums of money for campaign purposes.

LIBERAL: Eastern Republicans are looking for a leader who isn't connected with banking or utility interests. They want a man who isn't being ballyhooed by the press. One who has a clean reputation and is understanding of labor and business conditions. They want one who doesn't make an issue of small matters. To fill these requirements there must practically be unknown. There is a Presidential nomination waiting for him.

Senator Barbour of New Jersey is being closely watched by the liberal element. It is inside dope that should the first place go to a westerner, he will be seriously considered for the vice-presidential nomination. There is even talk of the Senator being a dark horse since the contest will be wide open.
It is also in the cards that Jim Farley will fight Barbour softly should he run for reelection. "There will be practically no Barbour opposition since the man—while a Republican—is liberally inclined. His election is assured." This from a Democrat in the know. The Senator has not as yet announced his intentions.

FOLLOW: The automobile industry is closely watching the Nash Motors' off-season stabilization program. It has been in operation for seven months. The Nash management is building up a bank of gears, shafts and other parts that take time and fine control to prepare. The purpose is to build up enough such parts to take care of the first two months' demand of the season when buying is heavy and orders must be rushed. Assembly works not contemplated because that is a comparatively simple operation and because large storage facilities are required. Thus far progress has been satisfactory.
The automotive trade likes the idea of stabilization. It spreads work over a 12-month period. It gives workmen time to be careful in the manufacture of delicate parts—those that give motorists most trouble. Should the 12-month stabilization plan of Nash prove successful others of the industry will follow suit. The tire industry, too is interested.

COMFORT: Air conditioning has gone over in great style. Hotels, department stores, theatres, office and even apartment buildings are rushing to have the equipment installed. Some investors believe it will backlog property—as did the automobile and to some extent the radio.
Those who work as clerks and salesmen in department stores tell a story that is unfavorable. Clerks with jobs in air-conditioned buildings are unhappy. Even members of the New York Stock Exchange are complaining. It's fine to stand here and feel cool and refreshed. It must be grand to walk into a cool building from the heat outside. But it isn't so good when one has to leave the building and go to his own home and travel in hot transit cars. The majority of us have been suffering from colds ever since the darn apparatus has been installed." This is the view of an employee of the Stock Exchange. The same is to be heard from waiters in air-conditioned restaurants. Seems as if health doesn't respond to comfort.

First Church of Christ, Scientist.
"Soul" was the subject of the lesson sermon in all churches and societies of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, August 18.

The golden text was from Leviticus 26:11, 12. "And I will walk among you, and will be your God, and ye shall be my people."

Among the citations which comprised the lesson sermon was the following from the Bible: "Now we know that what things soever the law saith, it saith to them who are under the law; that every mouth may be stopped, and all the world may become guilty before God." (Romans 3:19).

The lesson sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "We are commonly taught that there is a human soul which sins and is spiritually lost—that soul may be lost, and yet be immortal. If Soul could sin, Spirit, Soul, would be flesh instead of Spirit. It is the belief of the flesh and of material sense which sins. If Soul sinned, Soul would die. Sin is the element of self-destruction, and spiritual death is oblivion. If there was sin in Soul, the annihilation of Spirit would be inevitable."

TRY TO CLAIM CHAIN TAX AT LIQUOR STORES

State Revenue Dept. Trying To Collect Tax From County Whiskey Stores

Reflector Bureau.

Sir W. L. Hotel.

By J. C. BASKERVILLE
Raleigh, Aug. 19.—The State Department of Revenue is attempting to collect the chain store tax, imposed by the 1935 assembly, on the county liquor stores in all counties which are operating more than one store. It was learned from a reliable source today, for while revenue department officials refused to discuss the matter, they also did not deny that an effort was being made to impose this tax in all counties in which more than one liquor store is being operated.

In a few counties, the county commissioners and county liquor control boards are paying the chain store tax without any objections. But in some of the counties the boards of commissioners and control boards are vigorously objecting to the payment of this tax, it is understood.

Under the chain store tax section, as contained in Section 162 of the 1935 Revenue Act, for every store operated in the state in excess of one and for not more than four additional stores—that is, up to five stores, a tax of $50 each is decreed, until the tax amounts to $225 per store for all stores in chains of 50 or more. But since no county is operating more than five liquor stores—New Hanover county will eventually operate five stores—the $50 chain store tax is all that will apply.

Accordingly the Department of

This attendance contest ends and the prizes will be awarded the first week in September. A new contest will begin immediately after the attendance contest ends.

Judge F. C. Harding, chairman of the Court of Honor, has secured a complete list of merit badge examiners.

Scouts! Don't forget to tune in on President Roosevelt's address to you on Wednesday evening at 8:45 o'clock. This address is the one he would have used to open the national jamboree if it had not been called off.

—Clifton Evans, Troop Scribe.

Revenue maintains that if a county is operating as many as three liquor stores, it must pay the state chain store tax of $50 on the second and third stores, or on all in excess of one. Thus Nash county, now operating three liquor stores, would have to pay the Department of Revenue $150 as its chain store tax on all stores operated in addition to one. New Hanover county, when it gets its five stores open, will be expected to pay $200 to the state as its chain store tax of $50 per store on four stores. Counties operating only two stores will have to pay a tax of $50 on only one store.

Those counties which are objecting to the payment of this tax, are maintaining that since the stores are being operated by the counties, which are governmental units, they are hence of a quasi-governmental nature and not subject to the state chain store tax law. The Department of Revenue, however, maintains that under a Supreme Court ruling, any government that engages in any business involving profit and loss becomes the same as any private individual engaged in business and hence subject to the same laws that govern the taxing of private business. Accordingly it is maintaining that the 16 counties in which nearly 50 county liquor stores are now in operation are subject to the chain store tax just the same as if these stores were being operated by private individuals. Indications are that the Revenue Department has the law distinctly on its side, and that regardless of how loudly the counties object to the payment of this tax, they will have to pay it eventually.

By BYRON PRICE
(Chief of Bureau, The Associated Press, Washington)

President Roosevelt's projected swing to the west coast and back is expected universally to provide the chief focus of political interest during the early fall. That he will talk directly to the farmers and the western liberals is taken for granted. He also is being advised to show himself to the public as often as possible along the way, to scotch the "whispering campaign" about his health.

A part of the Democratic strategy now seems to be to give Senator Long so many things to worry about, in Louisiana next year that he will have no time to devote to other states—for instance Arkansas and Mississippi, where Senators Robinson and Harrison, respectively, will be running for reelection. At least the usual amount of under-surface politics is stirring in politically-minded Indiana. Two former Republican senators, James

E. Watson and Arthur Robinson, are being put forward quite earnestly by their respective friends for the presidential nomination in 1936. Whatever that may mean nationally, it forecasts a determined struggle for control of the state Republican organization.

G. O. P. Contributions Up.
Increased personnel and activity around the Washington headquarters of the Republican national committee suggests that party contributions must be stepping up. For a long time the going was particularly hard; many of those who had money refused to contribute unless they were satisfied the party would take the conservative side of the argument in 1936. The conviction is widespread now that such a course is assured—Some western cattlemen are disturbed over reports that the Roosevelt reciprocal tariff bargainers are preparing to let down the tariff barriers against Argentine beef. The actual situation is that Argentina has been seeking to open reciprocal negotiations, but the state department thus far has sidestepped. The warnings from the west have not gone unnoticed in Washington—Gen. Hugh S. Johnson is reported by close friends to be still undecided whether to run for senator in the Oklahoma Democratic primaries next year against Senator Gore. He figures a lot of money will be spent in the primary contest, and is said to be very doubtful whether the prospect would be worth the candle.

MARTINS FALL PREY TO LOCAL STICKS 3 TO 1

After defeating the fifth-place Williamston Martins here yesterday afternoon to the tune of 3 to 1, the Greenville club of the Coastal Plain league, entered the last week of play with almost a definite clutch on first place.

The club was scheduled to go to Kinston today to seek to trim Bunn Hearn's second place club, the outfit the Greenville defeated for the flag last season. With Kinston playing the best brand of ball of the season at this time, it begins to look as if they will be one of the contenders in the semi-finals preceding the championship series. It would be difficult to say just now what clubs will comprise the "big four" to take part in the determining series, but it is a cinch Greenville and Kinston will be among the first.

A large Sunday afternoon crowd yesterday saw George Barley, Greenville fireball flinger, limit the Martins to an even seven well spaced hits to enable him to gain sweet revenge for the licking handed him last Friday by Williamston. In that game the Martins broke Barley's 12 game winning streak and the speed ball artist didn't like it a bit. That's the reason he decided to take the visitors under a definite spanking yesterday under clouds that threatened to put on a prolonged weeping spell at any moment.

Except for the very first frame, Barley had the Martins at his mercy over the rest of the route. A double by Leary, scoring home who had singled ahead of him, was responsible for the Martins' only tally.

Greenville bats got busy in the second, tied the score with a double by Parker who later scored on Wade's long fly to deep center. The locals tallied two more in the fourth on a double by Parker, triple by Huiskamp and wild pitch by Cherry. Ty Wagner was put on the rapidly-growing Greenville casualty list when his finger was split by a pitched ball in the seventh. Dean received a sprained ankle in the opening game with the Martins at Williamston last Friday.

With Wagner unable to continue behind the bat, Larry Wade, local flinger, took up catching duties, and really did a good piece of work behind the mask. Coming here from Oglethorpe, Wade has played in the outfield on several occasions as well as hurling a number of wins for the locals.

Stine and Ambler with two singles and Parker with two doubles lead the willow work for Greenville with Corbett being the only Williamston player to get more than one safety.

LOCAL CLUB HARD HIT BY CASUALTIES

The last week of play preceding the semi-finals in the Coastal Plain league found the Greenville leaders the worst crippled organization on the circuit.

Today found five of the crack players of the aggregation either out of the game on account of illness or sickness with the possibility that Ace Parker, hard-hitting left fielder scheduled to return to Duke University Labor Day to resume football practice.

Ace, whose blows have contributed to a number of Greenville victories this season, is one of the club's mainstays with the bat. He is also a reliable fielder—the kind that gets his ball when he goes after it regardless of how difficult the play may be. Every effort will be made by the club to keep him through the championship series, but the situation looked, in the vernacular of the juvenile fan, "rather billious today."

"Chubby" Dean another member of murderers' row, who has been playing in the outfield the latter part of the season because of his hitting ability, sustained a sprained ankle at Williamston last Friday and probably will be laid up for several days with it being problematical whether he will be able to take part in the series.

To make bad matters worse, Ty Wagner, heavy hitting catcher whose long-range drives contributed largely to Greenville's victory over Kinston in the championship race last year, received a crippled finger in yesterday's affair with the Martins, and may be out of the game for several days. Ty is a power with the bat and will be missed. It is hoped, however, he will be able to appear in the series.

In addition to all of this, Farmer, utility catcher is in bed, sick. Williams has a sprained muscle in his arm and will not be able to pitch for several days. He is one of the leading hurlers of the circuit and his ability to appear on the mound will be felt keenly by the leaders.

The time limit for hiring new players has passed, and the club must battle its way through the final week of play this week and the forthcoming series with its present roster. The club's outlook was mighty dark and forboding today, but game Bo Farley is the kind that never gives up and hopes to enter the semi-finals and win a berth in the championship series to keep the flag, which has flown over the ball park here for two seasons, in the same place another season.

Fans are urged to give the club every bit of encouragement possible this week and inspire them to enter the series to play an inspired brand of ball as they did last season.

Wall. The other tally was added in the sixth when Atkins hit a homer. Atkins also got a single, the only man in the game getting more than one hit.

The Tarboro rally was started by Chambliss, who singled. Male walked. Cobb walked. Bassin scored Chambliss on an infield out, and McArthur's long fly brought in the other.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Aug. 19.—(AP)—The selective demand kept the stock market on a generally firm foundation in today's session.

While active trading pushed some of the aircrafts, steel and coppers up to new highs for the year on longer and various oil funds friends power and light stocks and specialties were rather heavy. The rails at the same time were inclined to hang back.

Grains moved about nervously and cotton was better. Bonds were mixed. Foreign exchanges were quiet and thorough. The late stock tone was irregular. Transfers were 1,700,000 shares.

constitutional changes he has in mind. Congressional leaders predicted that the address would contain an answer to Hoover.

Wilson To Furnish Rural Power.
Raleigh, Aug. 19.—(AP)—Wilson county may have a rural electric system embracing 247 miles of lines, with power to be furnished by the Wilson municipal plant, City Manager W. M. Wiggins has informed Dudley Bagley, chairman of the state rural electrification authority.

Wiggins told Bagley the municipal plant at Wilson now has 146 miles of electric lines outside the city and plans to add 101 miles in various sections of the county.

Wilson said he had been told by banks that money for the project would be available. The town of Wilson, Bagley said, is in good financial condition and also would be able to secure money from the federal government.

To Fly Straight Through
Alameda, Calif., Aug. 19.—(AP)—Pan American Airways officials indicated today that Pilot Joe Crosson, of the Alaska division, would continue straight through to Los Angeles with the bodies of Rogers and Post.

Crosson Reaches Seattle
Seattle, Aug. 19.—(AP)—The curtains of its passenger cabin closely drawn, Pilot Joe Crosson's plane bearing the bodies of Will Rogers and Wiley Post south from the tragic air crash, arrived here at 9:15 a. m. Pacific Standard Time, for Vancouver, today.

The plane landed at Boeing field, the municipal airport, in the southern part of the city. Without stopping its motor after the plane had come to a halt Pilot Crosson taxied into the United Airlines hanger at the side of the field.

The hanger was completely surrounded by state patrolmen, city police and marine corps reservists.

A crowd of persons had remained at the field. Within the hanger Colonel Young, Pacific coast manager of the Pan American Airways, and Amos Carter, of Fort Worth, Tex., personal friends of the Rogers family, were among those awaiting the arrival of the plane.

Earlier three morticians had arrived at the airport and had gone to the hanger.

A group of civil representatives, among them Randolph Bolch, secretary of Mayor Charles Smith were at the field. Mayor Smith was expected to drive a plane back from Kansas City.

Crosson's flight from Vancouver was throughout the early morning haze.

From Alameda, California, a large Douglas transport plane with a crew of five men aboard was reported winging its way north, due here about 11 a. m. to meet Crosson's plane.
