BRITAIN REINFORCES VITAL MILITARY POINTS

Italian Spies Are Overrunning Ethiopia

CLOSE WATCH MAINTAINED ON CONSULS

Ethiopian Emperor Offers To Sell Area Of His Country To Avert War; Italy Greatly Increases Its Forces In Ethiopia; Italians Register As Native Soldiers

Addis Ababa, Aug. 23.—(AP)—The Ethiopian government today predicted a close watch over the Italian consulate following complaints from Ethiopian quarters that Italian spies were overrunning the country.

Emperor Haile Selassie was reported to have offered to sell the province of Assua, adjacent to Eritrea to Italy in an effort to save Ethiopia from war.

The Emperor was reported greatly heartened by the statement of Ramsay MacDonald that Great Britain had determined how to act in the present crisis. Hope grew in Ethiopian circles that the powers were prepared to propose a sanction at Geneva if Italy should attack. The government watch for spies was based on complaints that Italian secret agents were reporting in the guise of consuls and merchants. The consulate, according to these charges, has neither competent subjects nor Italian trade to justify their existence.

At Debre Marcos the Italian consulate has eight Italian officers, including a physician and telegrapher. The consul assigned there is Baron Muzzi Salconi, who is under treatment at an Italian hospital for bullet wounds he was said to have suffered accidentally while on his way to the post.

Certain headquarters alleged that Italians have been registering as native former soldiers from Italian colonies of Eritrea and Somaliland and offering them double pay if they joined the Italian forces against Ethiopia.

It is estimated that there are 23,000 of these former soldiers in Godejam province alone.

These same sources assert that groups of these former soldiers recently tried to invade Ethiopia by that they were arrested by government men of Wolaita province and flogged and sent back.

The Ethiopians alleged that although Italian trade scarcely exists in northern Ethiopia that Italy has established a staff of officers at the consulate there with wireless receiving and transmitting equipment and trained operators.

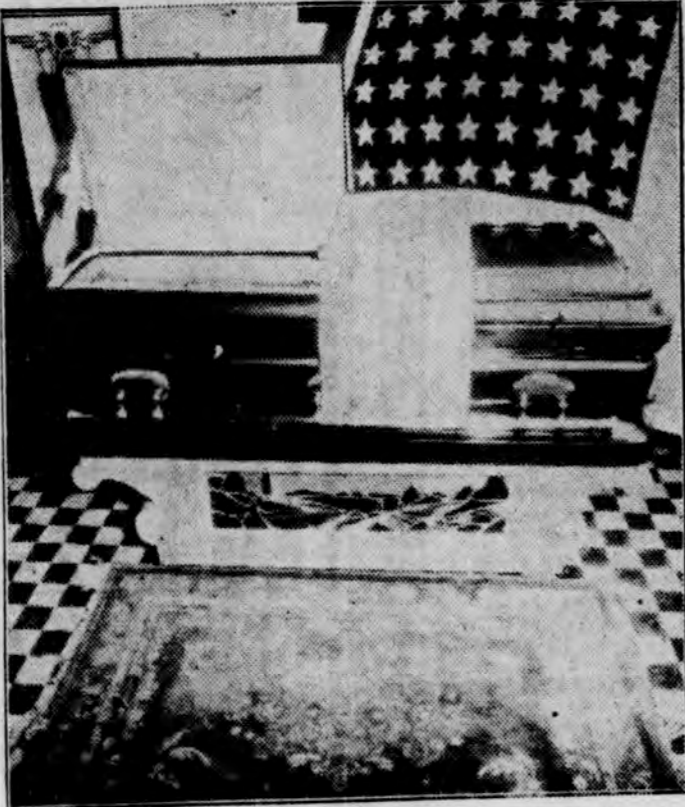

Byrnes Leads Movement To Make Administration Restore 12-cent Cotton Loan

Washington, Aug. 23.—(AP)—King Cotton was the center of a new struggle today as Senator Byrnes, democrat of South Carolina, lead a campaign to force the administration to make a 12-cent a pound loan on the 1935 cotton crop.

Byrnes and others were dissatisfied with the AAA announcement yesterday saying that the loan would be 9 cents this year as against 12 last year but the government would guarantee a total return of 12 cents to growers taking part in the government cotton control plan. The guarantee would be carried out through a direct grant of government funds.

Charlotte, Aug. 23.—Thieves during Tuesday night forced an opening in the skylight to Neiman's jewelry store at 115 South Tryon street, lowered themselves into the store by means of an improvised rope ladder, and left by the same route with 40 watches and other jewelry.

STAR TOBACCO HOUSE OFFERS GREAT SERVICE

Oldest Warehouse Firm In Greenville Ready To Receive 1935 Offerings

The Star Warehouse, one of the largest and best equipped in this bright left tobacco belt, had its doors wide open today ready to receive the offerings of farmers for the opening sales Monday.

A leader on this market for many years, the Star today was in better position than ever to render a high type of service to the thousands of growers who sell on this market which last year established the highest price average of any other market in the world.

The Star is owned and operated by B. H. Sugg and G. V. Smith, two of the best known tobacco men of this section because of their long association with the industry. Both said the first of the week they have made every effort to render greater service to the growers this year than in their 23 years of service at this warehouse.

Smith and Sugg have the distinction of being the oldest warehouse firm in Greenville and they are proud of the record. Much of the progress recorded by the Greenville market the last several years has been largely due to the enterprise of the operators of the Star who have taken the lead in all movements looking to expansion of the industry here.

Smith and Sugg formed a partnership in 1913 and have seen the market develop into one of the largest and best in the world. No firm enjoys a more extensive acquaintance with the farmers than does Smith and Sugg and each year has seen them establish a reputation for fairness in their dealings with the thousands of growers who sell on their floors each season.

The present warehouse is a comparatively new structure, having been built about four years ago after fire destroyed the old house. It is not only one of the most modern in the east, but provides every facility for the comfort and convenience of growers and for the speedy handling of the leaf.

Smith and Sugg give their personal attention to all tobacco sold on their floors and this means that every farmer stands a far better chance of getting the top of the market prices for his offerings than he otherwise would.

Efficient sales forces will be on hand this year as in previous years to take care of the demands of the growers and farmers who bring their offerings to this house are assured of receiving the best the market has to offer.

COLLEGE HERE ENDS SUMMER SESSION TODAY

East Carolina Teachers College Graduates Hear Fine Talk From Meadows

The graduating exercises which this morning closed the Summer School of East Carolina Teachers College, for 1935, were made impressive by the brief and characteristic talk of President Leon R. Meadows. Apt illustrations, drawn from many phases of life, especially from his own boyhood on the farm, enforced his careful analysis on "The Tasks of Teachers," and his natural humor added strength to his earnest plea for four main tasks to be accomplished and to his four brief suggestions for the accomplishments of these tasks.

The four tasks that he outlined are, first, the task of making a living; second, the task of helping to adjust the present generation whom they will teach. Not only to the present but also to the future generation in which the children will live; third, the task of developing character in the people with whom they come in contact, especially the children whom they teach; and fourth the task of accepting responsibility of the community in which they live.

For the realization of these four tasks he named four means. The first is that teachers must keep in touch with the source of inspiration for the duties that are theirs; in other words, they must study, remembering that learning may be accomplished at any age in life. Second, they must work; they must train children to work; they must avoid molly-coddling themselves or others. Third, they must keep in sympathetic touch with mankind, having the democratic spirit that respects every class of human being. Fourth, they must have the patience that will sustain through times when there is no evidence of success in their teaching, and that will make them trust its greatest fruits are the unseen and will be found in the coming generation.

After his address, thirty-four diplomas and thirty-five degrees were delivered to the sixty-nine graduates of this town. The last degree conferred was the Master of Arts, upon Miss Laura Overton of this city.

Mrs. Puss Mooring Dead; Funeral at Stokes Tomorrow

Mrs. Puss Mooring, a former resident of Stokes, died this morning at the home of her son, Ben Mooring, in Rocky Mount, according to information received here today.

Funeral services will be conducted from the home of another son at Stokes tomorrow afternoon at 2:00 o'clock, and burial will be made in the Stokes cemetery.

She was the wife of the late Lawrence Mooring, native of this county.

Movement Of Tobacco Begins To Pick Up Here

The movement of tobacco toward Greenville for the opening of the market Monday gained impetus today with indications that the annual pilgrimage here would reach its height Saturday and Sunday.

Increased movement of the leaf was accompanied by the arrival of tobacco men from other belts to take their places on market floors Monday for one of the greatest seasons the market has ever experienced.

Numbers of members of the industry who have been on the Georgia and border markets arrived here the first of the week and since that time numbers of others have checked in at factories and warehouses in preparation for the opening.

The first load of tobacco arrived in Greenville the latter part of last week. Several additional loads have been reported each day since, but with the opening day only two days away, the movement is expected to gain momentum from now on with Sunday night witnessing the usual jam always in evidence preceding opening day.

With ten warehouses and nine factories to take care of the offerings of the farmers, the Greenville market was in better trim this year to serve the thousands of growers of this great bright leaf area than ever before. Nearly all of the warehouses, some of them among the largest in this section of the country, have been improved either through additions or renovations and offer greater service than any

ITALY TALKS BRITISH MOVE TO REINFORCE

Government Leaders, However, Do Not Think Situation Has Changed Any

Rome, Aug. 23.—(AP)—Reports of British fleet movement in the Mediterranean and near Gibraltar were uppermost in discussion of informed circles today.

A government spokesman, however, said that situation had not changed officially.

He explained that Italy had no received any official word as to yesterday's decision of the British cabinet at London and it was learned that the British embassy had made no move based on the cabinet meeting.

Meanwhile the Italian troop concentration reached its highest level in preparation for the forthcoming war maneuvers in north Italy which Premier Mussolini will command in person.

Unconfirmed reports that Great Britain was moving part of her North Atlantic fleet to Gibraltar and making strong plans for Malta.

Informed Italian quarters were divided regarding the possibilities left open by the reported British cabinet decision to invoke sanction (international penalties) providing such actions were unanimous decision of the league of nations.

One sector of opinion fully expected a British plan to close the Suez canal. Another sector felt that Great Britain desires to approach the question of sanctions through Geneva amounted to a plea for escape from the whole embroiled question.

ATTACKS WOMAN AS SHE SLEEPS
Roanoke Rapids, Aug. 23.—Mrs. J. A. James, wife of an operator of a dry cleaning establishment here was criminally attacked while she slept last night by a prowler who entered, or attempted to enter, eight residences in Roanoke Rapids.

Mr. and Mrs. James were sleeping in the same room, he in one bed and she in another with their 19-month-old baby.

About 4 o'clock James awakened by his wife's screams saw a form moving away from her bed. While he hurried to get his revolver and turn on the lights, the prowler escaped by the back door.

year in the long and colorful history of the market.

The Greenville market last year established the highest price average of any other market in the world—31.41—and tobacco men again had their eyes on the high price goal. The market not only handled more tobacco than any other market with indications this year would also be eclipsed this year in view of increased acreage.

K. W. Cobb, supervisor of sales of this market, said several days ago, Greenville was in position to render a higher type of service to the growers of the thirty or forty counties who sell here than ever before, and urged farmers seeking the top of the market in prices and service to be among those who flock to Greenville opening day.

In view of developments on the Georgia and Border belt markets, the price situation is expected to be favorable here again this year, and farmers who only three years ago saw ruination staring them in the face, will find themselves on the band wagon again this year with Uncle Sam's Eagles dancing merrily in their pockets.

Greenville extends a cordial invitation to farmers in all sections of the state to visit the city opening day or any other time during the season and view the mammoth industry and note the tremendous facilities which have been provided here to take care of millions of pounds of leaf in the same time that ordinary markets handle thousands of pounds.

BEGIN MOVE TO HOLD COTTON FOR 12 CENTS

Senator Bankhead Says Government 9-cent Loan Not Sufficient For Growers

Washington, Aug. 23.—(AP)—Senator Bankhead, of Alabama, said today "an organized program will be started at once to induce the cotton farmers to hold their cotton for a price of 12 cents or better." Taking cognizance of the announced government cotton loans policies the Alabamian said:

"The farmers would rather sell at a fair price than accept a bounty from the government, especially when they are in a position to get the bounty needed to assure the price. By taking advantage of the 9 cent cotton loan they can hold cotton until January 1 and then collect any difference that may exist between the market price and 12 cents.

Mr. Arnold commended the growers for the rapid way they responded to notice mailed out by the department several days ago informing them the cards would be ready for delivery Monday. This spirit of

THE NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

News Behind The News.

Washington
By RAY TUCKER

BATTLE: President Roosevelt's western trip will be a more serious and elaborate venture than he planned originally. Political outsiders, including National Chairman Farley, have advised him to make as many personal appearances and speeches as he can crowd in. They see the need—and the chance—to make political capital of the tour.

Although White House aides keep it quiet, the President may not shove off until about October 1. The postponement is more important than it seems. Non-political economists look for a strong upward movement in the early fall. All signs point to it. By deferring his journey Mr. Roosevelt will be in a better position to exit over recovery and the people will be in a better mood for that kind of talk.

But Mr. Roosevelt's next move will probably deal with his power program and its ramifications. He isn't taking advice that he should discard controversial subjects on this swing.

SOUR: Somebody ought to tip off Jim Farley that certain secretaries in the Post Office Department are getting him in bad—or worse—with "radicalism." Besides disquieting

TRY TO STALL PLAN TO MOVE GOVT. COTTON

Senator Byrnes Begins Campaign To Retain Staple In Government Warehouses

Columbia, S. C., Aug. 23.—(AP)—United States Senator James F. Byrnes informed J. Roy Jones, state commissioner of agriculture, that he was urging the government authorities not to require cotton already stored in warehouses to be moved under a federal concentration plan.

Byrnes wrote Jones that he was advocating that the Commodity Credit Corporation program regarding the storage of all cotton for loans at Greenville, Spartanburg and Columbia should remain in storage.

RUSH FOR LEAF MARKET CARDS STILL ON HERE

Farm Department Says 2,100 of 2,800 Marketing Cards Already Delivered

Movement of marketing cards for farmers who are taking part in the federal tobacco control program indicated rapidly here today with indications that the bulk of the cards would be in the hands of growers by Monday when the markets of this belt are thrown open.

E. F. Arnold said today 2,100 cards were delivered since last Monday when the annual trek to the farm department started, and today only around 700 remained to be delivered.

Mr. Arnold said the rush continued today but at a greatly lessened speed than the past several days when farmers were lined up a good distance from the department building awaiting their turn to sign for their cards. He said he felt confident only a small number of cards would be in his office Monday.

The rush for cards this year has been probably the most pronounced in years. In fact, hundreds of farmers have milled around the farm office every day during the week, and while the situation was not as congested today, the farm office was well filled with late arrivals.

Mr. Arnold commended the growers for the rapid way they responded to notice mailed out by the department several days ago informing them the cards would be ready for delivery Monday. This spirit of

NEW TOBACCO SIGN UP SET FOR SEPT. 1

Farm Department Prepares For New Control Campaign First of Next Month

A new government tobacco crop control sign-up campaign will be launched in Pitt County about September 1, it was announced today from the office of E. F. Arnold, director of the local farm department and also head of the federal crop control program in this county.

The farm head said the new contracts would cover a four-year period, from 1936 through 1939, and would embrace many of the features of this year's contract. However, a number of modifications are in the offing, but they will detract little from the effectiveness of the agreement under which growers have been working.

The new contracts have already been submitted by this office to the Raleigh office and approved, Mr. Arnold said, and everything will be ready to begin the sign-up the first of next month.

In view of the fact that Pitt county has won the enviable reputation of being the first to complete the government sign-up in recent years, the farm director said he felt sure the same spirit of co-operation would be in evidence again this year.

He said farmers knew what co-operation with the government control program had meant to them in the way of general price improvement and would move with equal rapidity in the new sign-up as in former campaigns of the kind.

Late News Flashes

In Congress
Washington, Aug. 23.—(AP)—With neutrality legislation and the Guffey bill for a "little NRA" in the coal industry moving swiftly toward the desk of President Roosevelt, cleared it today after long debate on the banking act.

Senator Ball, democrat of Nevada who forced many changes in the administration bank bill before passage was on and to see the President sign the modified measure. It gives a presidentially appointed Federal Reserve Board majority control over the nation's credit resources.

Congress continued to shape up last minute bills faster than the President could study and sign those already passed.

A final agreement was reached by the house and senate committees appointed to reconcile differences on the Guffey bill. They left it in the Borah amendment finding suspension of the anti-trust law for producers complying with orders of a national soft coal commission.

British Leaders Declare 'United States Can't Possibly Keep Out Of Next War,' Plans To Redistribute English Military Forces Talked At Meeting Of Cabinet Members

London, Aug. 23.—(AP)—Informed quarters said today that the British cabinet committee for imperial defense has approved plans for speeding up the redistribution and reinforcement of military forces at vital points along the British Empire lines of communications.

General Lansbury, leader of the labor opposition in parliament, said the United States "cannot possibly keep out of the next war."

The imperial defense committee met at No. 10 Downing street with acting Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, presiding. At the same time Sir Samuel Hoare, foreign secretary assumed personal charge of a survey of all aspects of the Italo-Ethiopian situation as the cabinet's "watchdog."

Lansbury made his assertion concerning the United States as the British public with mingled feeling of relief and disappointment contemplated yesterday's decision of an emergency cabinet meeting to remain firm and wondered why the session had been called.

Plans for strengthening defense of the British territory adjacent to Ethiopia and for reinforcement of all strategic points along the Mediterranean, the Suez canal and African areas have been under way quietly for two months, it was learned and the decision to speed up the program was regarded as preparedness.

Sir Samuel Hoare, Anthony Eden, minister for the league of nations foreign affairs, and Neville Chamberlain, are remaining of duty, while MacDonald returned to Scotland to resume his vacation which yesterday's cabinet session has interrupted.

LEAF HOUSE MAKES CHANGE

Johnston's To Enter The Season Under Active Management Of H. C. Sugg

One of the most important changes in the warehouse business this year is the change in management of the Johnston Warehouse Co. H. C. Sugg is the active manager of the new organization which will operate the Johnston Warehouse business and as a practical tobacco farmer and the announcement that he will operate the Johnston warehouse is being well received by the tobacco farmers throughout eastern North Carolina. He will be on hand at all times to see that every farmer receives courteous treatment and that every pile of tobacco brings a good price.

Many improvements have been made in the Johnston warehouse. The most important improvement has been the enlargement and remodeling of the warehouse. New scales and other equipment have been bought and the warehouse has been repainted. In fact, everything has been done to put the warehouse in readiness for the opening of the market next Monday.

A first class force has been engaged by Mr. Sugg to operate the house. W. L. Stanfield will be the Sales Manager and Freeman Parish will be the Auctioneer. Both men have had many years of experience on the local market and are well known by the farmers. A capable floor and book force round out the organization.

BUGS AGAIN TAKE LOCALS FOR A 'RIDE'

Goldsboro made it two straight over the Greensies by taking yesterday's encounter here by the score of 5 to 4.

Battling stubbornly in spite of their crippled condition, the Greensies made a brave attempt to overcome the lead of the visitors in later innings but simply couldn't muster enough power with the stick.

Much of the old offensive spirit was missing with Dean and Wagner out of the picture on account of injuries, but the leaders strove mightily but futilely to halt the losing streak of the last several days.

The league leaders went to Ayden today to try their luck but they didn't expect much sympathy from that club with Doc Smith struggling to overcome Snow Hill's slender lead in the third position.

The official curtain of the league will be rung down Saturday but Sunday will find most of the clubs engaged in playoffs of games rained out during the past several days. Greenville will appear at Williamston today to try the Martins. The outcome of none of the games mean much to the leaders who have a "death grip" on first place and will still be perched there when play is over.

Semi-finals will begin Monday to determine the two clubs to play in the championship series. Clubs in first and fourth places and those in second and third places will engage in the series leading up to the championship series. Greenville, of course, is a favorite to again capture the championship after leading the league for several weeks. But in its present crippled condition, the club could hardly be expected to do more than it has done for the last several days—lose. However, with the return of Wagner and Dean and other players on the bench because of injuries, things are expected to pick up pronouncedly with the leaders picking up some of the faculty for winning they lost when the leading hitters were put on the bench.

May and Culler engaged in something of a pitcher's duel here yesterday afternoon on a soggy diamond, but the latter came out winner after the visitors found it possible to bunch their hits at opportune moments.

Doubles by Huiskamp and Wade and a single by Johnston coming in the wake of Ambler's free pass to first gave Greenville three runs in the first stanza.

Goldsboro scored two in the third on Lambeth's triple after Morris had singled and Wilson had walked. Hits by Morris, Rand and Wilson were mixed with an error to send two more home in the ninth. The Bugs put over the winning run in the fifth when J. Webb went from first to third on a wild pitch by May. Sutenfeld's single scored Webb.

Lambeth, Morris and Culler, each with two hits, set the pace for the visitors, while Huiskamp and Johnston with two, lead the Greenville attack.

It was the second time that the Bugs had taken two straight from the leaders and incidentally the only time that any club had been

PARMELLE PITCHES WIN

Snow Hill, Aug. 23.—Channing Parmelee limed Ayden to six hits yesterday and pitched the locals to a 5-2 victory. Lefty Upchurch, seeking his 18th victory, was the losing finger.

The teams reached the seventh in a 2-all tie, but then Snow Hill sewed up the contest as for two were out in the home half. Pette reached second on Patrick's bad throw after fielding a grounder. Griffin doubled to score Pette, and Neuman singled to count Griffin. Those were Snow Hill's only unearned runs. One of Ayden's tallies was of the unearned class.

Of O Patrick, with two hits in three tries, was the only Ayden player to make more than one hit. Williams, Neuman, and Newsome made two hits apiece to pace Snow Hill.

NEW BERN WINS

New Bern, Aug. 23.—Big Lefty Kennel now is a firm believer in the old saying that you can fool some of the people all the time and all the people some of the time.

The New Bern southpaw yesterday fanned eight and kept all Williamston players except Pitcher Dick Cherry hitless, but Cherry made two safeties to spoil Kennel's chances for a no-hit performance. New Bern won 8-1.

Cherry's first hit, a double, came in the fifth inning. He hit a single in the seventh to score Chappell, who had reached the middle bag in Shipp's wild throw of his bounder.

Shipp hit a pair of doubles for the Bruins, and Swamp Norwood drove in four runs with two singles. Norwood batted .667. Eason and Van Horn also accounted for a pair of bingles apiece.

Cherry yielded 10 hits and issued 11 walks. Kennel has the distinction of having finished every game started by him this season.

Tarboro, Aug. 23.—John Humphries, Kinston's star young right-hander pitched four-hit ball yesterday to turn back Tarboro 5-1.

The locals made half of their hits in the sixth inning to count their only run. Bassin and McArthur singled after Male had walked and Cobb had grounded out.

Kinston got two runs, enough to win, in the second verse. Keller singled, and Morgan fanned. Patton grounded to Male, but the second-sacker's toss was erred by Shortstop Chumbris. Stonebraker then singled to count Keller, and Patton scored as Strayhorn went out on an infield tap.

Local Masons Enjoy Outing At Public Landing

The local Masonic Lodge, Greenville, No. 284, A. F. & A. M. held its regular annual picnic at Public Landing below Washington, the past Wednesday afternoon. The picnic was largely attended by the members of the Lodge together with their families. The picknickers began to arrive just after noon time, and continued to roll in up to and past the picnic dinner hour of 6:00 p. m. A sumptuous dinner of fried chicken, barbecue and the other good things that go to make up a complete picnic dinner was served and enjoyed by all. Picnics have almost been relegated to the forgotten past, when neighbors, families, churches and organizations joined in such events at least once each year, but nothing can compare with a picnic to permit the informal social intermingling of friends and good fellows.

Greenville Lodge No. 284 A. F. & A. M., it seems, is going to undertake to keep this annual picnic on its calendar of lodge doings and events.

Blanchard Hurt As Motorcycle And Auto Collide

Ennis Blanchard, local motorcycle enthusiast, was painfully injured this morning when the motorcycle which he was riding crashed into an automobile driven by a Mr. Dunn at the intersection of Fifth and Cotanche street.

Suffering from painful cuts and bruises Blanchard was rushed to the local hospital for medical aid. His condition was later described as painful but not serious.

Police said no cause had been advanced for the wreck. It appeared that neither Blanchard nor Dunn, said to be an employee of the Smith Electric Company, saw one another until it was too late to stop, and the two machines collided. The motorcycle was damaged slightly but damage to the car was of a minor nature.

Rogers Was Favorite Guest At The Capital

By HERBERT PLUMMER
Washington — Despite the fact that Will Rogers was not what the Washington corps of newspaper correspondents designate with a bit of function, a member of the "working press" he always was welcome around when they were at work.

Whether in the press gallery of the senate when Borah was making a speech on international relations or Huey Long was filibustering; or in a press room at one of the government departments when the boys were killing time between stories at a game of cards; or at the White House when there was something as important as going off the gold standard—Will always was welcome.

There was a peculiar bond between Will Rogers and the newspapermen around Washington. The fact that he could get the ear of Presidents, cabinet members and what have you at any time he chose when the "working press" couldn't, made no difference. Will would tell you the news of such "such sessions" anyway.

Of all the stories of his intimate association with the great and near great in Washington, perhaps one of the best is that of Rogers and Pat Hurley.

It was during the Hoover administration Hurley was secretary of war with ambitions that included something in the neighborhood of the White House. Pat and Will both came from Oklahoma. In their younger days they "rode the range" together on Oklahoma plains. Then and until Rogers' death there was a very close friendship.

After Hoover's defeat and Hurley had sunk into political oblivion, Will started chiding Pat for his dejected attitude. In Pat's sumptuous suite of offices in Washington, Will would come every time he was in town to cheer him up.

"Dadgumit," said Pat recently, "he succeeded. No one but Will could have done it. And one of the last things he said to me in my office 'Pat, you blankety-blank, you're the last time he was here, was getting too damn arrogant again.'"

Theatres Here Honor Rogers

Two minutes of silence in honor of Will Rogers, humorist and film star, who died in an Alaskan airplane crash the latter part of last week, was observed by Pitt and State theatres here yesterday afternoon at 6 o'clock. It was made known by T. Y. Walker, general manager of the two motion picture houses.

The period of silence came during the funeral of the famous Oklahoman in California and was also observed by thousands of other theatres in all sections of the country where Rogers was a general favorite.

Rogers and Wiley Post met death during an aerial jaunt near Point Barrow, Alaska, last Thursday night. Their bodies were returned to America by plane, and upon their arrival in America public and private funeral services were held for them.

PLAN ISSUE OF 'MIDGET' COINS IN N. C.

Department Of Revenue Watching Experiments In Other States

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel, Raleigh, Aug. 23.—No "midget coins" or "tokens" will be issued by the State Department of Revenue for fractional parts of a cent in order to help people pay the state sales tax, Commissioner of Revenue A. J. Maxwell said today. Congress refused to mint such coins largely on the theory that if states having sales taxes wanted to issue such coins they could do so, but that the Federal government would not mint them and make them legal tender merely to help a few states that wanted them.

The state of Missouri is now issuing millions of pasteboard "tokens" about the size of bottle caps in denominations of one-half a cent and one mill, which is a tenth of a cent, to assist Missouri sales tax payers in paying the sales tax of one per cent recently imposed there. These pasteboard tokens will be sold to individuals by the state revenue department and used by them in paying the sales tax when it amounts to fractional parts of a cent.

Merchants will then turn in the cardboard tokens and get them redeemed in cash or be given credit for them, as they may desire.

The 1935 Revenue Act, containing the sales tax, gives the Commissioner of Revenue authority to issue tokens for the payment of the sales tax, but does not make it mandatory. So far there has been no demand for the issuance of these tokens in North Carolina and the merchants are known to be bitterly opposed to them. Present indications are that both the public and the merchants prefer the present system under which no sales tax is charged on purchases of less than 10 cents, with a tax of 1 cent on purchases from 10 to 37 cents, 2 cents tax from 37 to 77 cents and 3 cents tax on purchases from 77 cents to $1.05.

"We are going to watch the results of the experiments with tokens in other states very carefully, however, and see how they get along with them," Commissioner Maxwell said. "But we are not considering trying similar experiments in North Carolina, at least now, for the present."

NEGRO PLEADS GUILTY TO ATTEMPTED ATTACK

Goldboro, August 23.—Don Shine, negro youth of Mt. Olive, pleaded guilty to a charge of attempted rape in Wayne Superior Court yesterday and was sentenced by Judge W. A. Devin to serve 10 to 15 years in State's Prison.

Shine was charged with an attempt on Mrs. Charlie Herring, 25, near Mt. Olive June 12. He was arrested at his home in Mt. Olive several hours after the attack, which he later confessed.

Mrs. Herring was accidentally killed less than a month after the attack. She was left highly nervous by the experience and kept a pistol in her house for protection while her husband was away. On July 3, Dean Wiggs, her 17-year-old nephew, came from his home in Warsaw to visit the Herrings. While he was handling the pistol it discharged and killed Mrs. Herring.

material to newspapers, he slips suggestions to writers. For instance, Senator Thomas of Utah returned home some time ago in the belief that his presence at Washington was not essential to the national welfare. Mr. Brown broadcast this to western newspapers and the Senator hooted it back to the Senate.

I's pinpricks like this which de-late parties and politicians, as Charles Michelson demonstrated when John Raskob hired him to undermine Herbert Hoover.

SENETRACK: Senate Democrats have neatly shelved Charley Mc-Nary's bill to fix rates for the distribution of power at the Bonneville dam in Oregon.

It was no ordinary bill, for the President's legal and utility advisers helped to draw it and Mr. Roosevelt wrote a letter asking the Senate to speed its passage. Minority Leader McNary has supported most of the New Deal program, to the disgust of his conservative colleagues, and the Bonneville measure was to be his reward. He faces rejection next year.

But Senators Bone and Schwellenbach of Washington were not consulted about this deal. They talked behind the scenes with members of the Senate Commerce Committee (the chairman is Tammanyite Dr. Copeland) and sidetracked McNary. Roosevelt proposed Messrs. Bone and Schwellenbach pointed out that Bonneville would be completed for two years, so what's the hurry? They also want to make sure that northwestern cities and cooperatives will get a chance to buy some of the juice, and they are not certain that the McNary measure provides for that.

UNTIMELY: An overlooked feature of the present Congressional session is the failure to act on several measures designed to purify politics. There has not even been any consideration of the Black bill to register lobbyists, of Civil Service legislation, of the Stewier measure to bar federal office-holders from national conventions.

The Stewier bill's fate is particularly interesting. It passed the House in 1934 but failed in the Senate. It was called up several times in the Senate at this session, but it was always laid aside on the objection of Democratic spokesmen.
Majority Leader Robinson and Substitute Leader Barkley always arose to protest against its consideration.

Administrators originally favored this kind of legislation. Their changed attitude may be understandable. With reports that conservative Democrats and Huey Longers intend to embarrass Mr. Roosevelt in the convention, it may be a bad time to outlaw federal officeholders as delegates.

PANNING: The susarined bou-quancy of the stock market has Wall Street peering through rose-colored glasses again. The boys still carp at the New Deal—as in duty bound —but somehow it's difficult to work up the old venom with new highs being chalked up nearly every day.
You might think that Washington would be pleased with this evidence of recovery—but apparently not. All sorts of bearish prophecies have been emanating from the capital. It looks like a deliberate campaign to apply the brakes—although the market to date is completely unimpressed.

Some astute observers believe the administration is trying to forestall a runaway rise with a sickening thud at the end. Others ascribe Washington's gloomy attitude to a more personally practical motive.
Many Washingtonians sold their stocks even before the April boom began and have been left staring anxiously at the profits they might have had. Comment runs that they probably wouldn't mind seeing the market bounce back so they could climb aboard again at a point somewhere near where they got cold feet.

The public is beginning to speculate again. The increase in daily volume of trading is one indication.

MORNING STAR

— BY MARIAN SIMS —

SYNOPSIS: Emily Felton just has come home from her first year of Ardmore, Alabama's leading college for girls. She had wanted to go to Bryn Mawr, but in compensation for that disappointment, she has met Judith Carroll, has visited the Carrolls' grand old plantation, and has the comfort of Judith's handsome brother David's love. Emily accepted his proposal at once. Emily cannot help but contrast the principle atmosphere of her own luxurious home with the free and easy gaiety of Carrollton.

Chapter Nine EDWIN AGAIN

EMILY snatched off her hat and was about to drop it on a chair when the beautiful room caught her up. She held it instead in her hand.
"It's good to be here, Mother. How pretty you look!"

Frances's face softened. She was not entirely in sympathy with her personal beauty, but it helped one to accomplish worthy ends. Beauty, like money, was a Great Responsibility.

"Thank you, dear. I can say the same thing of you."

Emily's face was flushed and her hair curled damply about it. But it didn't really matter how she looked, she thought regretfully, since David wasn't here to approve.

"You'd better go and get ready for lunch, now," Frances suggested.
"It will be ready in half an hour."

Emily went slowly, wishing with all her heart that pictures of Carrollton would cease to rise and plague her.

Jeffrey welcomed her with an eagerness that was almost pathetic.
Life with Frances was fine of course, but it was also (he apologized to himself for the hint of disloyalty) a trifle sober. Emily, he hoped, would bring life and gaiety and a great many young people to the house.

"Pleasant trip home, honey?" he asked.

"Very." She smiled at him adoringly, critically. "I can see that you've been positively wasting away."

He chuckled guiltily. "I have put on weight. Needed you to worry about so I wouldn't have such an appetite. By the way," he looked bland, "there was a young man down town asking about you this morning.
I imagine he'll be around before many days."

The inner light went dim. Edwin!
She'd forgotten about him completely: there wasn't room for Edwin in a memory that held David. Mercifully, lunch was announced and her silence went unnoticed.

Edwin came that evening, as slight and immaculate as ever, wearing the little deprecating air that was his worst enemy. He held her hand for a long moment after he had shaken it, and then dropped it apologetically.

"I believe college agrees with you,"
he said haltingly.

After all these years, she thought with a slightly contemptuous pity, he was still shy and a little formal.
He would never get over it, she knew; would never treat her with the camaraderie that Judith—and David—had taught her.

"I'm glad you think so. Whether it agrees with you or not, it changes you. For better or worse," she said lightly.

"Not for worse."

THEY were on the terrace now.
Chaperoned by the same flood of golden light. Could you ever, she wondered, turn the clock back three-quarters of a year, to another existence?

There would be tennis in a moment, and swimming, and details of the wholesale grocery business.
With the insight that love had given her she suddenly saw that Edwin cared a great deal for her and that he was un-ain and unhappy. Unfortunately, the same love made it impossible for her to do anything about it.

When he had gone she went to her room and wrote to Judith—a long, intimate, homesick letter.
"Judith, darling," she ended it, "I'm lost without you. Please, please kiss the family quickly, and come and see me!"

Then, with a long look at the picture of David, which Judith had given her just as they were leaving, she undressed and went to bed.

When Emily came home for the summer she brought with her a determination to widen her field of acquaintances. College had taught her that it was easy to have people like you if you liked them: a great many people had liked her at Ardmore.

With the girls it was easy: they had always felt that all Emily needed was to "get away from her mother's apron strings for a while," and when she sought them out they met her with stretched hands.

But the boys were more difficult.
They agreed among themselves that

The announcement of Dr. Ralph W. McDonald that he will be a candidate for Governor is the first rift in the cloud of gloom and uncertainty that has settled over us politically since we allowed ourselves to be dominated by the policies of wealth and privilege.

Democracy has been defined as "a conscious effort to found society on an ethical basis," that is, "the right of the masses to a participation in all the essential satisfactions of life and the right to control the means and agencies by which such satisfactions are distributed to society."

At the same time contracts awarded for factory construction and modernization by a number of industries for the first seven months of this year also show marked gains as against the same period in 1934.

Such contracts by public utilities have climbed by 5 per cent, for general factories by 116 per cent, for auto factories by 191 per cent, for foundries by 435 per cent and for aircraft factories by 900 per cent.

The lone important exception are refrigerator sales have risen by 17 per cent, oil burner sales by 29 per cent and air conditioning sales by 36 per cent.

When Emily came home for the summer she brought with her a determination to widen her field of acquaintances. College had taught her that it was easy to have people like you if you liked them: a great many people had liked her at Ardmore.

With the girls it was easy: they had always felt that all Emily needed was to "get away from her mother's apron strings for a while," and when she sought them out they met her with stretched hands.

But the boys were more difficult. They agreed among themselves that the railroads, which show a decline in contracts awarded of 74 per cent.

ORDERS: Mussolini is taking no chances on inadequate preparations for Ethiopian hostilities. Italian professional men—especially doctors—have been quietly called home from the United States in the past few months.

NEW: Banking insiders get word that Britain intends to keep the price of gold in terms of sterling substantially where it is at present.

INVOLVED: French Ambassador de Laboulaye is not among the believers in American insulation against European conflicts and entanglements.

CHANCES FOR STATE LIQUOR STORES GONE

If Half Of Revenue Is Given To Counties, Then Approval May Be Favorable

Sir Walter Hotel.
By J. C. BASKERVILLE
Raleigh, Aug. 23.—The chances for the enactment of a state-wide liquor control law, setting up state liquor stores from which the state would get all the revenue, are gone for all time, even if the people of the state should express their approval of such a plan in a referendum, according to most observers here. The reason for this is that the 16 counties which are now operating something like 50 county liquor stores are getting so much revenue from these stores—some of them as much as $300 a day—that they are not going to give up their newly found revenue gold mines without a fight. They are not going to permit the state to take this revenue away from them if they can prevent it. And any one who knows anything about North Carolina politics knows how effectually the "boys back home," especially the county commissioners and local county politicians can put the screws on their members in the general assembly.

But the counties which now have liquor stores are not the only ones which will strive to keep the liquor business in North Carolina on a strictly county option and county control basis. For already scores of other counties which were not able to get under the wire and into one of the two liquor bills passed, are casting longing eyes at the 16 counties that have liquor stores and wishing they had them too, not so much because of the liquor as the revenue which would flow into the county treasuries. For this revenue which the present 16 legally "wet" counties are getting from the sale of liquor has already converted a lot of former "drys," especially among county officials and politicians. They see in it a chance to reduce tax rates and at the same time increase expenditures—as beautiful a possibility as any politician ever dreamed of and one designed to convert many former "bone dries" into enthusiastic advocates of county liquor control and liquor stores. For when it comes to a choice between lower taxes and liquor stores, a good many former personal dries, as well as most of the political dries, are likely to decide that liquor stores are no so bad after all, most observers here agree.

So if the general assembly should meet in special session next week and if almost every county in the state wanted liquor stores, it would not pass a state-wide liquor control and liquor stores law, it is now generally agreed here, unless such a law should provide the counties to retain at least 50 per cent of all the revenue collected from the stores in those counties. A good many think it would be very difficult to get even that much of a concession from the counties, especially those counties which already have liquor stores in operation. But others believe that in order to get a uniform, state-wide liquor control and liquor stores law, and to get better law enforcement over the state as a whole, it might be possible to get a fifty-fifty compromise bill through which would give the state half of the revenue collected. But a lot of the counties would hold out for everything or no thing, it is agreed.

FORMER FEDERAL COURT JUDGE DIES

Greensboro, Aug. 22.—(AP)—U. S. District Judge James Edmund Boyd, dean of Federal officials in North Carolina, died at his home here yesterday after several years of declining health. He was 90 years old.
Judge Boyd was appointed to the Federal bench in 1900 after he had served three years as assistant United States Attorney General. He never retired officially, but for the past ten years had seen no active service.

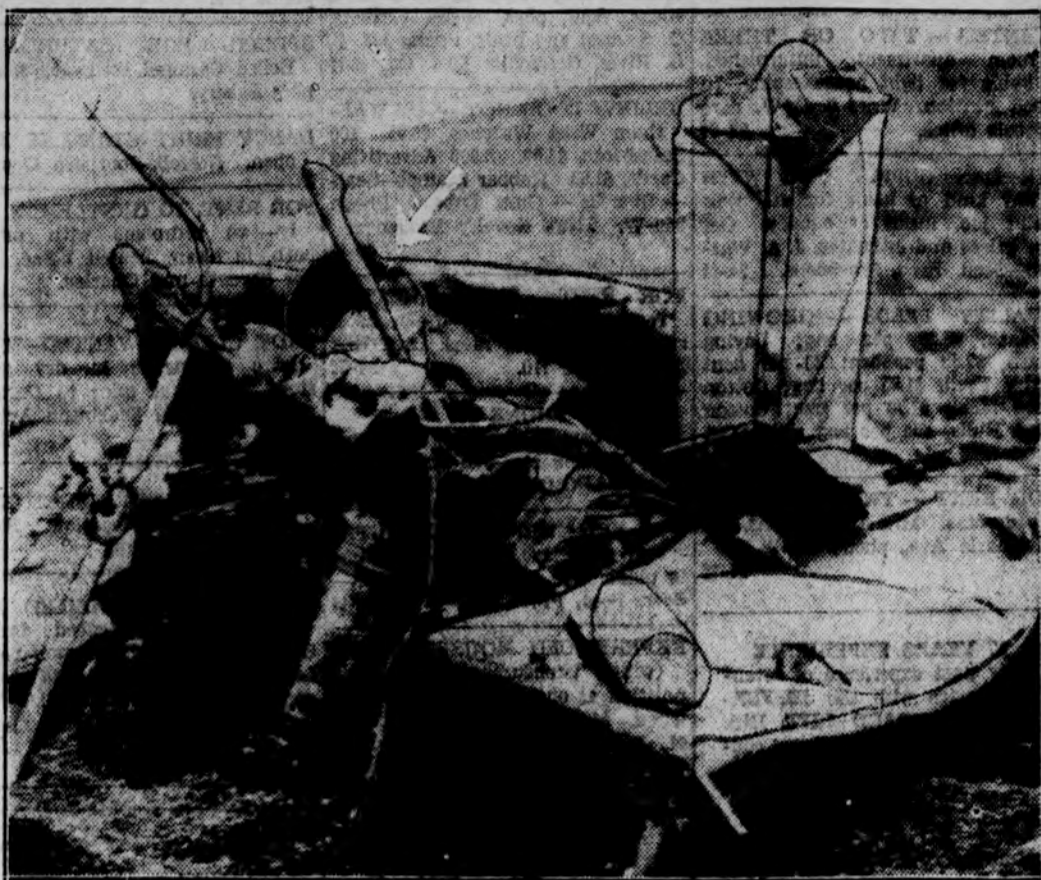

INDIANA TOWN IS HOST TO 500 SETS OF TWINS

Warsaw, Ind.—(AP)—Twins—500 sets of them—will take the field here September 1.
They're coming from all over the middle west and Canada for the fourth annual convention of the National Twins' Association in the city park here.
The association began with a dozen sets of twins four years ago. Last year there were more than 400. It's a non-commercial organization, and twins, triplets and quadruplets are eligible.
A picnic lunch and prizes will feature the day.

TWO STILL SIZES SEIZED

Washington, August 23.—A 200-gallon copper still was captured Wednesday afternoon near Melville's creek by Deputies Marslander and Hoyt. Six hundred gallons of beer was destroyed, but no arrests were made. The plant was not in operation at the time of the raid.
Another still of 40-gallon capacity was captured Thursday morning. The plant was not in operation and had apparently been stored for the time being. No arrests were made. Jailer John Berry and Deputy Marslander made the capture.

END OF THE TRAIL FOR WILL AND WILEY

This debris was all that remained of the trim airplane in which Will Rogers and Wiley Post fell to death in the desolate wasteland a few miles south of Point Barrow, Alaska. The wreckage is shown after white men and natives from Barrow hauled it ashore from a shallow river into which the ship crashed. The round object in the center (arrow) is believed to be the head of Wiley protruding from the splintered mass of steel. It was not noticed until the film was developed following its dispatch to the United States by fast plane. (Associated Press Photo—copyright 1935 by The Associated Press)

SWIMMERS FOR MEET TONIGHT ARE SELECTED

Greenville To Offer Strong Lineup Against Tarboro At 8 O'clock

Local participants in the swimming contest with Tarboro here tonight at 8 o'clock had been selected today with indications that each event will be a spirited one.
It is the first time Greenville has entered a contest of this kind this year, but Tarboro has won several and is considered one of the most formidable aggregations in this part of the state.

H. A. McDougle, manager of the municipal swimming pool, said today each of the participants had been selected for their proficiency in the various fields of activity. Practice has continued at the pool daily and although Tarboro has a great record behind them, the locals are expected to offer them plenty of competition.

- Those taking part in the contest follow:
- Dives—Front Jack, John Lautares and Gus Hill.
- Back Jack—Guss Hill and Richard Gaylord.
- Swan—Fred Carrico, Jr.
- Optional Dive—Wayland Tucker and George Sakas.
- Swimming—Fifty yard, free style, Tom Parrish.
- Fifty yard, back stroke, Richard Gaylord.
- Fifty yard, breast stroke, Howard Hodges.
- 220 yard relay—George Lautares, Wayland Tucker, George Sakas, Jimmy Johnson.
- 100 yard—Tom Parrish.

McDougle said seating accommodations had been provided for those desiring to watch the match and hope was expressed that a large crowd would be on hand to help cheer the locals on to victory.
Persons who witness the exhibition from the pool will be required to buy tickets as usual but when the contest is over they will be allowed the usual hour of swimming if desired. No one will be admitted to the water until the contest is over.

FIGHTING WITH FATHER BRINGS BOY IN COURT

Smithfield, Aug. 23.—Fear that he would have to pay a big fine if he did not appear as a witness in the Beasley kidnaping trial, caused Robert Johnson, 17-year-old son of Ben Johnson, of Cleveland township, to get into a fight with his father and be cited to appear in recorder's court.
Young Johnson had been summoned as a witness and was planning to come to Smithfield with another witness, but was not waked in time to get his morning duties done and get ready before the other man left, so decided to get his grandfather's car out of the garage and make the trip in that. The garage was locked and when his father attempted to keep him from breaking in and getting it, a fight ensued.

After hearing of other altercations with his father, the judge decided that the boy was not altogether to blame and continued prayer for judgment.

Five letters and half a dozen postcards posted several years ago were found recently in a hole in the wall of the Monks Corner, S. C. postoffice and started on their destination.

NON-SUIT IS ORDERED IN CURRY SUIT

Evidence Declared Insufficient in Suit of Syrian Against Insurance Co.

Non-suit was ordered in civil Superior court today in the case of Louis Curry, local Syrian, against the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company in which the plaintiff sought payment of a $500 policy on the life of his father, who died sometime ago.

The case was begun yesterday and was completed during mid-morning after Judge Walter L. Small, of Elizabeth City, presiding, declared the evidence was insufficient to allow the action to go to the jury.

All evidence had been submitted when action of the court was announced.

The insurance company contended they refused to make settlement on the policy because Curry had permitted payments to lapse. Curry denied, this however, and said all payments had been made up to the time of his father's demise.

Immediately after his suit, court began work in the case of Frank Tripp, Pitt county farmer, against his father, R. H. Tripp. The younger Tripp was suing for the recovery of $200 which he claimed his father owed him as his share of government benefit payments.

The case went to the jury shortly before noon recess and a decision was expected during the late afternoon.

Court is scheduled to come to a close this afternoon after convening last Tuesday morning. A one week term of criminal court will convene Monday morning with a charge by Judge Small and selection of a new six months grand jury holding the spotlight. Around two dozen cases have been disposed of in the civil term. The calendar contained forty-odd cases.

(Continued from Page One) cooperation he said enabled his office to have virtually all cards in the hands of contracting growers by the date set for the opening of the great bright leaf belt.

New York Cotton

New York, Aug. 23.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened easy 51 to 82 lower under heavy selling on the new government loan plan but encountered active trade buying on the decline. After the first spurt of liquidation had subsided somewhat the market rallied on trade buying and covering.

A report from Washington that a southern senator was preparing an amendment to the third deficiency appropriation bill which would provide mandatory 12 cent loans to be made out of the bounty provided for in the AAA amendment allocating 20 per cent of the customs receipts to be applied to the stimulation of exports of farm products and other purchases was a factor. October sold up to 1069 and may to 1056 or 14 to 24 points from the low level of the morning with prices holding fairly steady after midday.

Cotton futures closed very steady 40 to 61 lower. Sports quiet middling.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Aug. 23.—(AP)—A break in the utilities shares gave the stock market a nervous attack today but the spasm was brief as buying support appeared for rails and industrials.

Heavy selling in the power group at the start shook quotations of the utilities down 1 to 2 or more points.

The drive followed yesterday's late action of the house in passing the compromised holding company bill.

The market also weathered another shock in the shape of a slump in cotton of $2 to more than $4 a bale which was induced by the news of the government crop loan program announced overnight.

Other commodities were not particularly upset. Grains rallied after an easier tone at the opening. Bonds just about duplicated the movement of equities. European trading seemed to be questionable with Wall influence although leading foreign exchanges reflected the seriousness of the situation by sagging substantially in items of the dollar.

The late stock tone was irregular. Transfers were 800,000 shares.

Adjournment by tomorrow night was predicted by the President by Senator Lewis, democrat, of Illinois, but the outlook was complicated by a drive for legislation requiring the government to lend 12 cents a pound on the 1935 cotton crop.

In response to a request to submit applications projects under the Wyoming relief bill program the Federal reserve board began sounding out banks on the feasibility of a duly scientific study of bank deposits during the 1935 period to be conducted by unemployed bank clerks.

Farm Moratorium Bill Passed Washington, Aug. 23.—(AP)—The senate Frazier-Lemke three-year mortgage moratorium bill was amended and passed by the house today.

The bill would let farmers who claim bankruptcy to go into federal court and get payment on mortgages deferred for as long as three years. Rep. Lemke, republican of Indiana, described it as "simply designed to give the farmer a breathing spell after he goes into bankruptcy."

An amendment of a minor nature was adopted.

Predict Billion Dollar Cotton Crop Washington, Aug. 23.—(AP)—The first billion dollar cotton crop since 1929 was predicted by the AAA today as cotton prices on major markets dripped sharply in response to the loan grant policy announced by the government yesterday.

Chester C. Davis, AAA administrator, vigorously defended the government plan to lend 9 cents a pound on cotton and guarantee—by direct grant—a total return of 12 cents to producers taking part in the crop control program.

Earlier Senator Byrnes of South Carolina, had begun a campaign for immediate enactment of legislation which would compel the administration to lend 12 cents a pound.

Also Senator Bankhead, democrat, of Alabama, had appealed to farmers to hold their crop for 12 cents a pound or better, asserting "they would rather sell at a fair price than to accept a bounty from the government."

Fairmont Tobacco Higher. Fairmont, Aug. 23.—(AP)—Receipts were heavy on the Fairmont tobacco market today with upwards of 1,000,000 pounds on the warehouse floors. Tobacco was higher but little was offered, the majority of receipts being of a non-descriptive type. Official figures for the day's sales were 978,569 pounds at an average of $23.43 per hundred.

Dillon Sales Heavy. Dillon, S. C., Aug. 23.—(AP)—Nearly 200,000 pounds of tobacco were on the floors here today for an average of about $25.50. Many types brought $30 to $35. Nearly 1,900 pounds were on the floors.

Lumberton Average $21.46 Lumberton, Aug. 23.—(AP)—Approximately 100,000 pounds of tobacco were offered for sale here today as official records showed yesterday's sales broke all previous records—684,904 pounds for an average of $21.46.
