FLIER KILLED IN RACE FOR BENDIX AIR TROPHY

DEATH STALKS BENDIX TROPHY RACE

Cecil Allen, left, was killed shortly after his take off from Burbank, Calif., early today in a cross-country flight to Cleveland and New York in the annual 12,600 mile Bendix Trophy race. The others, reading from left to right are: Roy Hunt, Jacqueline Cochran and Royal Leonard, who piloted Miss Cochran's plane. (Associated Press Photo.)

CECIL ALLEN DIES IN CRASH NEAR BURBANK

Eight Other Planes Take Off At Union Air Terminal In Dense Fog; Amelia Earhart Flying To New York But Not For Trophy Money

Union Air Terminal, Burbank, Calif., Aug. 30.—(AP)—Death claimed Cecil Allen early today as he followed eight other planes roaring toward Cleveland and New York in the annual $12,600 Bendix trophy race. Allen, 33-year-old former Trans-Pacific flier, was killed when his Cessna plane crashed a mile away from the terminal apparently never having gained altitude after racing down the fog-bound runway.

Meanwhile the eight other fliers including such prominent aviation figures as Amelia Earhart, Colonel Roscoe Turner, sped eastward, unaware of the tragedy.

The airplane driven by Miss Earhart sped away into the foggy sky before daybreak today with Cleveland and New York as their goal.

Miss Earhart, accompanied by Paul Mantz, got away at 12:52 a. m. (EST) before the fog closed in and she announced before departure they were merely "out for a ride" and had no intention of competing for the Bendix aviation money.

Fairly good weather conditions were promised the pilots after they once cleared the mantle of fog here and it was predicted that a time of close to nine hours for the trip of the "Continental" New York would be expected, which would shatter Colonel Roscoe Turner's cross country record of 10 hours and two minutes.

The take-off was made without mishap except to Allen although Miss Jacqueline Cochran, carrying 57 gallons of gasoline, missed the runway by 300 feet at the tail end and came perilously near falling to clear the field.

BIG PLANS FOR SCHOOL MUSIC

Public Schools Here Plan One Of The Greatest Seasons In Recent Years

The music department of the Greenville City Schools is planning great things for the coming school year. Miss Eva Hodges will again have charge of piano instruction. Miss Oona Shindler will supervise all the Public School Music work in the lower grades, and the Glee Club and choruses in the High School. Mr. McDougall will again be in charge of the band and orchestra. At the present time the high school band is with Mr. McDougall on a week's camping trip at Camp Leach, where they are getting in some mighty good work. Mr. McDougall has been doing band work all during the summer months, with the result that the band organization has a better start for this school year than it has ever had.

The school will purchase some more instruments this year and is hoped to have a fifty-piece band functioning by Christmas time. The orchestra work will also be emphasized and prospects are good for a thirty-piece orchestra. Miss Shindler has been teaching at East Carolina Teachers College during the summer. She has already planned a Light Opera to be given by the High School clubs during the month of November. Also during the month of March the children of the elementary grades of all the city schools are going to put on one of the largest musical productions ever attempted by the schools. In addition to this, Miss Hodges and Miss Shindler and Mr. McDougall have already made their plans for the Greensboro State Music Contest, in which contest the Greenville schools have been so successful in the past.

REACH COMPROMISE IN CHURCH DISPUTE

Hickory, Aug. 30.—A compromise settlement in the justice of the peace court here served to placate two colored church denominations of the Hickory negro settlement, which have been staging a legal fight for the possession of 14 church buildings.

Body Of Missing Farmer Found

Morganton, Aug. 30.—The body of I. M. "Bud" McKinney, Jonas Ridge farmer, who had been reported as missing since August 4, was found early yesterday in a shallow grave a short distance from his home. The man who lived with him, John Richardson, who, about two weeks ago, had reported his disappearance, has been in jail here since Monday in default of a $1,000 bond on the technical charge of forgery. McKinney's name having been signed to two checks totaling $75.

Recent searching parties had been organized under the direction of a brother of the missing man, S. C. McKinney, of West Virginia, and it was one of these parties that discovered the body.

Just before leaving last night for the isolated mountain farm, 25 miles from Morganton, Sheriff F. W. Ross, who was accompanied by other officers and Coroner R. E. Green, said that Richardson would be held without bail pending further investigation.

NEW BRIDAL VEIL LIKE CALIFORNIA POPPY

London, (AP)—A new bridal veil worn here recently made the head-dress look like a large California poppy with transparent petals. The puffed edge curve in four scallops was chin-length, the veil being attached to a taffeta "scull cap" by a bow in the center.

Failure To Provide Money For Social Legislation Halts Work In Nation

(By Associated Press)
Brand new old age pension plans were snarled in many states by congress's failure to appropriate money to make the social legislation effective.

An Associated Press survey brought reports from 31 states and the District of Columbia: "We cannot start without federal aid."

"We can go ahead only on a crippled basis until congress provides federal funds in January."

LAVAL SEEKS SETTLEMENT OF WAR ISSUE

Premier Laval of France with a "free hand" authorized by his cabinet went to the quiet of the country to make up his mind as to whether France should support Italy or Great Britain in their opposing stand on the Ethiopian question.

The League of Nations council will meet next week on the subject. Italy wants the other nations to keep hands off. Britain wants a showdown to prevent armed invasion of Ethiopia.

The Italians frankly prepared for war and artillery threw barrages of steel shells over the head of the soldiers manuevering in north Italy in order that they might become accustomed to the sound of flying steel.

The British, French and Greek legations in Addis Ababa were reported to have assured their national allies that they would have lengthy notice in event hostilities broke out.

In London the Ethiopian legation posed a notice it "gratefully received all contributions to the Ethiopian cause."

British statesmen meanwhile prepared a program to be presented to the league of nations.

The application for the building program will be filed with the PWA and that for ground improvements with the WPA according to regulations provided by each organization. Both funds will be in the nature of a loan and grant and will be payable over a period of thirty years.

New buildings contemplated are a gymnasium, teachers' dormitory, garage capable of housing 24 cars, addition to the training school and laundry. Plans have already been drafted by Eric G. Flanagan, Henderson architect, and call for the most modern type of construction.

Dr. Meadows said the new structures would fill a long felt need of the college and enable the institution to meet the demands of young men and women to a greater extent than in the history of the college.

He said a number of improvements are already under way at the college at this time. The old infirmary has been converted into a home economics department to be used as a home of students taking up this type of work. The building has been completely gone over and presents quite an attractive appearance, it was said.

Improvements are being made to the dining room and a dormitory is being provided for young men who are attending the college each session in increasing numbers.

COLLEGE SEEKS FEDERAL FUNDS FOR BUILDINGS

Approximately $420,000 to be Sought by Institution for Improvements

Officials of East Carolina Teachers college announced today they would make application to government agencies for funds with which to inaugurate an ambitious building program at the college.

Dr. L. R. Meadows, president of the institution, said applications would be filed immediately with the PWA and WPA for approximately $300,000 for the erection of five new buildings, renovations and additions to others and improvement of grounds.

He said an architect had been here for sometime drafting plans for the projects and that these would accompany the applications expected to be sent to Raleigh during this week or the first of next.

Dr. Meadows said the college committee had been working rapidly for sometime preparing data required by the government agencies and that this would be submitted in time for the conference with the governor the early part of next week at which time projects from all sections of the state are to be received.

$300,000 of the proposed sum, Dr. Meadows said, will be used for the construction program and $20,000 will be devoted to beautification of the college grounds, converting them into the most beautiful probably of any school in this part of the country.

The application for the building program will be filed with the PWA and that for ground improvements with the WPA according to regulations provided by each organization. Both funds will be in the nature of a loan and grant and will be payable over a period of thirty years.

MEDIUM LEAF STRONGER ON LOCAL MART

Around 750,000 Lbs. Tobacco Expected To Be Cleared Here During Day

Sales continued comparatively light on the local tobacco market today with prices on common and medium tobacco, particularly the medium, reflecting an improvement over yesterday.

It was estimated there was around 750,000 pounds of leaf on the floors of the ten warehouses with indications sales would be completed during the late afternoon so warehouse floors could be cleared up in preparation for heavier offerings Monday morning, always one of the largest sales days of the week.

Sales today probably would have been one of the heaviest of the week had it not been for rain sweeping over the sections of the state yesterday and day before. The weather stalled the day grading of tobacco on many farms and cut deeply into the amount of leaf which had been expected to roll in to market today.

Official figures of sales for yesterday were issued this morning. They showed the market sold 667,830 pounds of tobacco for a total of $119,602.28 with an average of $17.91 a hundred pounds.

It was indicated common grades which have held sway throughout the week continued to predominate with a sprinkling of fair tobacco found now and then on the ten warehouse floors.

It was said growers are receiving good prices in face of the common grades and the price situation on the better grades showed probably some improvement over the first of the week.

Observers said the demand for all grades apparently was more pronounced during the morning hours with indications the market average would move up perceptibly during the afternoon.

Although common tobacco was being purchased at a slight advance over the beginning of the week, it was believed demand was about the best of the season for medium grades. Some observers expressed opinion that there would be a greater change in prices when farmers begin moving improved qualities to market.

The crop control committee of this county today inaugurated a movement to get farmers to refrain from selling excess tobacco under 12 cents a pound, in the belief this would prove a decided stimulus to the price situation. In fact, the growers were urged to destroy the common grades so they would not have to exceed government allotments and forfeit benefit payments.

GRAND JURY LIGHT SALES MARK BRIGHT LEAF MARTS

Prices On Common Grades Of Tobacco Appear Somewhat Improved Today

Raleigh, Aug. 30.—(AP)—The last day of the sales week found heavier offerings on the tobacco markets of the new bright leaf.

Rains yesterday and the day before kept receipts at a minimum but prices remained firm with some markets reporting better prices for inferior grades.

Yesterday's sales included: Kinston 900,000 pounds at $19.25. Wilson 807,472 pounds at $20.32. Williamston 74,936 at $18.37. Robersonville 68,394 pounds at $20.37. Asheoke 46,914 pounds at $19.13.

Kinston, August 30.—Police today held Earl Sheppard, Nathaniel Williams, Raymond Brown, Richard Sheppard, Johnny Barfield and George Harris, negroes, 12 to 14 or 15 years of age, on highway robbery charges.

Mr. Eccles and Secretary Morgenthau are not so friendly as they used to be. The banking community is suspicious of his radical ideas as embodied in his personal draft of the banking bill. Powerful Carter Glass has warned the President to censor Eccles' pronouncements, and the Governor was noticeably quiescent during the final stages of the banking bill battle.

Now Mr. Eccles has taken on new enemies. Elderly associates on the board brand him as a czar. For seven weeks he did not call a board meeting, although weekly gatherings have always been customary. He also served notice that he would make all appointments in the future.

Word of this internal dissension has reached the Treasury and the White House.

Mr. Glass is fortified with information to the effect that Mr. Eccles has not disposed of his banking interests, as required by law. Senatorial associates promised to support him if he placed substantial evidence on this score in the official record. But his informants, mostly western bankers, had asked him to keep their names out of it and he complied. He may try to introduce this date by other means the next time. The Senate has been touchy on this point since the days of Andrew W. Mellon.

The Senator maintains that he vanquished Eccles in the revision of the banking bill.

Belgium Pays Final Tribute To Beautiful Queen Astrid

LITTLE NATION MOURNS DEATH OF FIRST LADY

Body Taken To Brussels Today as Silent Thousands Look On; Entire City Dressed In Black; Funeral Set For Next Tuesday At Palace Chapel

Brussels, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Long lines of Belgians entered the royal palace today in sorrow paying their last homage to Queen Astrid who was killed yesterday in an automobile accident in Switzerland.

It was 18 months ago that the same folk came to view the mortal remains of King Albert, who also died by accident.

Funeral services are to be held next Tuesday, probably at 11 a. m. The dead Queen Astrid came back to the capital to the muffled roll of drums and to the sound of bugles playing Au Champs—the call usually sounded at funerals.

Flanked by white flowers and veiled by six large candles, the simple coffin was placed in the palace chapel. The special train bore the body from Switzerland as it drew into a downtown station at 8:40 a. m., 2:40 a. m. (EST), to find the city deep in mourning.

Sorrowing crowds wept openly in streets and behind the doors were draped with black crepe and shop windows were shuttered. A death-like hush fell over the crowd outside the station as the queen's body was lifted from the coach in which it made the overnight journey from Lucerne.

Sobs from the bereaved crowd broke the deep silence as attendants placed the casket in the motor hearse outside the draped station and stepped back to await the start of the drive to the palace.

The new six months grand jury selected at the opening of criminal court here last Monday today had nothing but praise for the various county departments and institutions.

The jurors made a regular inspection tour of county properties yesterday morning, filed its report with Judge Walter Small yesterday afternoon, and were dismissed until the next term of court.

"We visited all the county offices," the report stated, "and found all records kept in a neat, orderly and business-like manner and we wish to heartily commend the officers and assistants in charge."

Inspection of the county convict camp and county home also resulted in a favorable report as did the regular visit to the jail.

The highly commended the management of the county home, referring especially to Mr. Harris, the manager, and declared "we believe the management is doing the best it can under the present budget."

The report carried the signature of A. D. McLawhorn, foreman, and was presented to Judge Small during the mid-afternoon.

The jury completed work on all bills early yesterday morning and immediately turned to the task of visiting the various departments and institutions with a view to making any recommendations its members considered advisable. But recommendations, such as have featured many jury reports in recent years, were not considered advisable in view of the fact that everything seemed to be working to the satisfaction of everybody.

The report in detail follows:

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA, PITT COUNTY.

To His Honor Walter L. Small, Judge Presiding at the August term of court, we respectfully submit our actions, investigations, and recommendations in the following report:

We have acted on all bills of indictment coming before us, and have passed on same in accordance to the evidence.

We visited all the county offices, namely, Clerk of the Court, Register of Deeds, Sheriff, Board of Education, Treasurer, Tax Collector, Board of Health, Welfare Department and the Auditor. We found

EMPLOYMENT SLUMP NOTED IN THIS STATE

While Manufacturing Industries Show Loss
Substantial Gain
Shown In Others

Reflector Bureau.
By J. C. BASKERVILLE.
Raleigh, Aug. 29.—While employment has slumped in most of the manufacturing industries during the past six months in North Carolina, there has been a substantial gain in employment in other industries, so that the total decrease in employment for all industries is only 15 per cent, according to figures obtained today from the State Department of Labor. The biggest slump in employment is recorded in the textile industry, with a drop of 5.8 per cent in the number of persons employed the past six months as compared with the previous six months, based on reports from 68 textile mills. An increase of employment of 25.6 per cent is reported by 43 laundries, however, while the lumber industry shows a gain of employment of 12.7 per cent.
Employment in mercantile establishments shows an increase of 4.4 per cent while the hosiery industry shows an increase of four-tenths of one per cent for the past six months over the previous six months.

Another encouraging factor, according to Major A. L. Fletcher, Commissioner of Labor, is that almost without exception the textile and other manufacturers are continuing to hold to the old NRA schedules of working hours by textile and other manufacturing plants, but there has been virtually no chiseling on the part of manufacturers on hours, according to Chief Inspector F. H. Shuford, who was formerly NRA Compliance Officer in the state.

"While we have not yet compiled any figures dealing with NRA compliance as to hours, our inspections show that the textile, furniture, hosiery, and other industries are adhering to the old NRA schedule of hours almost 100 per cent in North Carolina," Shuford said. "We have no authority to go into the matter of wages and hence do not know how well the manufacturing industries are adhering to the old NRA wage schedules, although judging from reports many of them are still paying the NRA wage schedules."

There has been a tendency the past few months to increase hours beyond the old NRA schedule in the mercantile field, especially in department stores, grocery stores, and so forth, Shuford said. But there has also been an increase in employment in the mercantile group of 4.4 per cent during the past six months, the figures show.

There has been no increase in child labor in North Carolina since the death of the NRA, just as there was virtually no child labor in the state before the NRA went into effect, chiefly because manufacturers in North Carolina learned several years ago that child labor does not pay and is not economical. Commissioner Fletcher pointed out. Employment of any person under 16 years of age, except with very few exceptions, has been prohibited by state law in North Carolina for a good many years, so that the death of the NRA did not affect the application of this law. Only children who have no means of support or who have widowed mothers dependent upon them may work between the ages of 14 and 16, and then only when their cases have been thoroughly investigated and approved by the Department of Labor.
Fletcher pointed out. There are very few of these cases. The figures on child labor for the past month have not yet been compiled, but show on virtually no variation from previous months, Fletcher said.

THREE SENT TO ROADS HERE

Colored Men Given Short Terms In Criminal Court During Yesterday

Herbert Coward, colored, charged with breaking and entering, was sentenced to six months on the roads by Judge Walter Small, of Elizabeth City, presiding over yesterday's session of the criminal term of Superior court which convened here last Monday morning.

He was charged with breaking into another negro's home, being later arrested by county officers and placed in jail to await hearing.

Willie Howard Daniel, colored, who staged a brick attack on another negro during a church service in this county sometime ago, was sentenced to five months on the roads. The negro was said to have entered the church with a brick in his pocket and hit the other mar-over the head during the service.

Claude Brown, Farmville negro, charged with the theft of an automobile, was given five months on the roads.

After disposing of these cases court began work on the receiving stolen goods charge against Alton J. Honeycutt and Garvey Ray, of Raleigh. Three negroes, Immanuel Crump, alias "Ship of Zion," John Dunbar and William Newton, colored, arrested several months ago on a charge of robbery of freight cars in connection with the same case, plead guilty and were used as witnesses by the state against Honeycutt and Ray.

The case was started yesterday afternoon shortly after court recessed from lunch and was expected to consume the major part of today's session. The action is being hard fought and a considerable amount of testimony remained to be heard when court reconvened this morning.

Honeycutt and Ray, who operate filling stations and stores on the countryside of Raleigh, are alleged to have been the ringleaders of a cigarette heft gang, and were taken into custody on information provided by the negroes after their capture.

The state alleges Honeycutt and his son-in-law Ray, received the goods after they were stolen by the negroes.

The colored men were taken into custody following the theft of several cases of cigarettes from freight cars here several months ago. The latter stole several cases between Greenville and Marsden. Returning on another train they were taken into custody at Farmville early next morning.

FAIL TO GET TRUE BILL IN CASTELLOE KILLING

Windsor, Aug. 30.—The case of Edgar Nooney, of Columbia, indicted for manslaughter, was thrown out of Superior Court here this week when the grand jury failed to find a true bill against him.

Mr. Nooney was driving the truck and trailer on Monday night, August 19, which struck and killed A.
T. Castelloe, of Aulander, when he stepped out on the road from behind his parked car.

At the coroner's inquest which followed, the jury exonerated Mr.

Nooney of all blame.

Dr. Cola Castelloe, of Windsor, then indicted Mr. Nooney for manslaughter, and when he was tried in magistrate's court he was bound over to Superior court.

CHILDREN SELL 'STOCK' TO OPEN SODA STAND

Knoxville, Tenn. (AP)—The three

Pylant children—Elvie, 11; Thomas, Earl, 9, and Hugh, 5—wanted to open a soda pop stand, but didn't have enough money.

So they sold stock to the children of the neighborhood and incorporated the stand, four feet long, four feet wide, at a capital stock of 57 cans.

The "Little Red Stock" grossed $2 the first two days.

Attention Tobacco Farmers

Watch your sales, or you may suffer unnecessary loss!

There is still a way by which you may receive a fair price for this crop, without making a sacrifice!

Destroy Your Excess and Take Your Adjustment Payment!

Farmers who produce tobacco in excess of 85 per cent of their base allotment, but not to exceed the poundage on their allotment cards should sell no excess tobacco for less than 12 cents per pound.

Figure your own contract and see how this applies to you.

AN EXAMPLE

A producer whose card is made out for 9,000 pounds may sell that amount by sacrificing his adjustment payment of 6 1-4 per cent on the price it brings up to 21 cents per pound. If he sells only 8,000 pounds, which is 85 per cent of the base from which this card was made, he will receive an adjustment payment of $105. It will, therefore, cost him $105, plus cost of grading and delivery to warehouse to sell this additional 1,000 pounds—a gross cost of about 12 cents per pound.

Then why sell any excess tobacco for less than 12 cents, when to do so will mean a loss to you and depression of the market by this additional poundage of cheap tobacco?

If the present price is unsatisfactory, the answer is to be found in your excess poundage. Then why not destroy your excess of low grade tobacco, accept your government adjustment payment, and thereby improve the price of the 85 per cent which you do sell?

Mrs. Starling Honored

Complimenting Mrs. G. B. Starling, Jr., Mrs. T. H. Boykin and Miss Jane Hadley, were charming hostesses Thursday afternoon at the home of Miss Hadley on Evans street.

The house was tastefully decorated with vari-colored cut flowers, making an attractive background for the hostesses.

At the conclusion of the game, the hostesses assisted by Mrs. Howard Moyer served a delicious salad course with an iced drink.

As reminders of this delightful affair, Mrs. Starling presented a French etching, Mrs. Joseph Tait and Mrs. Burke Stancill, brides of June, Mrs. Charles Whedbee, bride of August, and Miss Gladys Duval, bride-elect, were remembered with Japanese pottery.

Miss Sonora Moore was winner of a lovely flower bowl for high score prize. The floating prize, a theatre ticket, was won by Miss Gladys Duval.

Joining the other guests for refreshments were Mrs. J. S. Norman, Mrs. J. H. Rose, Mrs. Herbert Waldrop and Mrs. R. D. Post. Mrs. Post cutting high was presented a dozen dahlias.

Revival Interest Shows Growth

Interest in the revival meeting at Mt. Pleasant Christian church is growing. The meeting is conducted by Rev. J. M. Perry, of Robesonville, N. C. A number of accessions to the church already, and the meeting fairly beginning. Audiences growing despite the rain. The minister spoke last night on "The Loss of Soul Hunger." Tonight he will preach on the theme: "On the Mountain Tops With God."

Meetings will run through Sunday and Sunday night, and perhaps close Monday or Tuesday night.

Misses Nannie Rose and Willie May Suggs are visiting their sister, Mrs. Moses Tyson.

Mrs. Clarence Little and Mrs. Larry Worthington visited Mrs. Moses Tyson Saturday night.

Friends of little William Harold Crawford will be glad to know that he has returned home from Pitt Community Hospital, where he has been suffering from an automobile accident.

Miss Seba Flanagan spent last week-end with her sister, Miss Thelma Flanagan.

Miss Martha Wooten of Walsworth, and Mrs. Ed Sutton visited Mrs. O. L. Tyson Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Flanagan visited Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Tyson last week.

Mrs. Mary Worthington and Mrs. Chester Worthington visited Mrs. Mamie Ruth Holloway Tuesday.

Mr. Mack Ross and family had a nice barbecue supper with ice cream Friday night. We suppose they were celebrating their finish of housing tobacco.

'Drinky' Husband Given Suspended Sentence In Court

Smithfield, Aug. 30.—Erastus Price, of Wilders township, who was in court Wednesday on charge of assaulting his wife, was given a suspended sentence of six months on the roads on condition that he pay the cost and not drink any alcoholic liquor, not even wine, for a period of two years. His wife testified that when he was not "drinky" he was as good a man as she could ask him to be, that at one time he did not drink for six months and "then," she said, "we were the happiest people." In mentioning wine and other mild alcoholic drinks, the judge reminded him that a drink of that kind might call for more and stronger.

CAPTURE TWO MEN IN DISTILLERY RAID

Tarboro, August 30.—Deputy Sheriff S. T. Anderson, accompanied by Chief of Police Joe Powell and Dick Woodruff, made a raid Tuesday on a still on the Dunbar farm in No. 7 township and arrested Zeno Price, negro, the still was of 40 gallon capacity and four barrels of beer were seized. The officers concealed themselves in the bushes and awaited the arrival of the operators. The men were given a preliminary trial before Justice of the Peace Harry Moore of Whitakers and are now in jail here awaiting trial before Judge W. Stamps Howard in Recorder's Court Monday.

GOOD ADVICE TO TOBACCO GROWERS

The advice of the Pitt County Tobacco Control Board to farmers to destroy their surplus tobacco and sell only their contracted acreage and take their government benefits unless the surplus can be sold at a profit, is certainly good advice and the growers will do well to heed it.

The Agriculture Department this year permitted growers to produce within certain limits an amount of tobacco above their specified allotments but with the understanding that by selling this tobacco they would not receive their government benefits and if the production exceeded the marketing card poundage the grower must pay four cents a pound for the privilege of selling above his allotment.

The control board is now urging growers not to sell any of their overage, even that permitted by their allotment card, unless same can be sold at 12 cents a pound or better, for under this figure the grower will lose money through the loss of his government benefits on his entire crop. If the growers will sell up to 85 per cent of their base acreage as per their government contract, selling of course their good tobacco, and then destroy all of the surplus that will not bring 12 cents a pound, they will get more money than if they sell all their crop and lose their government benefits. It is also pointed out that if growers will adhere to the 85 per cent figure the reduction in poundage offered will have a tendency to increase the price on all tobacco sold.
Before disposing of any more of his common grades of tobacco every grower should figure carefully to see just what it means to him in dollars and cents.

THE NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

The Reserve system. He feels that he knocked out the Governor's two principal ideas—central control and use of the banking agency as an instrument for economic planning.
Bankers and other students agree.

JURORS: The eyes of twelve good men and true popped wide open when they read that Edward L. Doherty was foreclosing on the ranch occupied by Albert B. Fall, former Secretary of the Interior.
It was a decade ago that these twelve men freed Doherty of the government charge that he had bribe Fall into turning over naval oil reserves to the Californian.
Whirligig's correspondent, who covered the trial, was sufficiently curious to ask the jurors what lay behind their surprising verdict. They explained that they had believed the defense argument that Doherty's loan to Fall was inspired by their youthful friendship in prospecting days, and not by the oil transaction. It was a loan for old times sake and not a bribe, in their minds.

Ironically, hard luck had dogged most of those jurors. They have lost jobs and properties. They want to forget. Though shocked at this new sidelight, they are too worried over their own troubles to bother about those ten years ago.

DARK: The administration has not heard the last of its silver critics. The Senate committee empowered to investigate silver purchases may turn up some facts politically damaging to the Treasury.

On the surface it appears that the way has been paved for a white wash of Secretary Morgenthau's program of buying when silver is falling and refusing to push the price to the $1.29 peak desired by the silverites. The inquiry proposed by Senator Thomas of Oklahoma was given to the investigation asked by Senator Pittman of Nevada.
An administration spokesman, Senate leaders took care that a friend rather than a foe should head the inquirers.

But Senate leaders placed some critical comrades on his committee —Thomas, King, Borah and Mc-Nary. Messrs. Thomas, Borah and McNary may gang up against the they may set themselves against the Morgenthau program. Administrationites don't see any silver lining in this dark cloud.

PRECARIOUS: Although the rumblings lie deep beneath the surface, some Progressives in the New Deal family are growing restless.
Troubled insiders hear that Messrs.
Ickes and Wallace are sufficiently dissatisfied to toy with the thought of stepping out. The mere suggestion carries amazing significance.
Mr. Ickes is supposed to have threatened resignation unless the White House sided with him in his defense of the Pearson regime in the Virgin Islands. Mr. Wallace reportedly made the same threat in the dispute over the cotton loan, insisting that his 9-cent figure be accepted. Neither was called on to make good, for their ideas were not rejected. Although Gov. Pearson was displaced he was given an equally lucrative position. And Wallace two-thirds of his battle.

Mr. Roosevelt's political advisers dread a break in the Progressive ranks. While they rarely act in concert—quite the contrary—the departure of one would make it easier for some of the others to quit.
And the administration needs to maintain its western, liberal contacts in the next election.

FACTS: Whenever people denounce boon-doggling as a waste of federal money Harry Hopkins pulls the record on them. He silences many critics that way.

An analysis of the relief rolls discloses that only 44 per cent of those needing jobs have had any experience in heavy industries or construction. Some never had a pick-or shovel in their hands. Even when all who are qualified for this kind of labor are placed there will remain about 2,000,000 people on the jobless list.

More than 2,000,000 once earned their living as household servants, clerks, salesmen, preachers, teachers, writers, lawyers, doctors, dentists etc. Only a very few know one end of a machine from another.
Many are not physically fit for manual labor. "Look over that list," says Harry, "and you may have a different idea about this so-called boon-doggling!"

New York
By JAMES McMULLIN
ARMOR: There's an important factor behind this year's unseasonal summer recovery that hasn't been mentioned in public. When the NRA went on the rocks and the administration was predicting chaos because of its demise, a number of leading industrialists informally but definitely agreed to show up the White House as a bum prophet. To that end they set out to place all the forward buying orders and ac-cure the all plant renovation, etc. they could possibly justify. That's one of the main reasons why business indices for August have held up so remarkably. The hope is that the nation will realize NRA was unnecessary bunk.

The "show up" campaign was planned to last until December 1—by which time it was figured enough momentum would be attained to keep things moving with no special effort through 1936. The conservative argument would of course be that real improvement had dated from the death of regimentation.
The men behind the plan also doped it that a good healthy level of industrial activity—but not too darned good—would be the best possible armor against further reform proposals.

T. N. T.: But now complications have arisen to gum up the program.
One of them is the report that the President intends to turn towards the right this Fall and "ride the recovery train." If he does you can expect to see key indices taper off almost immediately. Big business hates Roosevelt so much it would rather forego profits than allow him to be right.

This doesn't mean that all buying would dry up or all plant renovation come to a halt. But the hidden push would be abandoned and nature permitted to take its course.
In theory this would help defeat FDR next year by discrediting his claims of progress.

But keen New York observers believe this face-splitting act might boomerang badly—on the premise that any relapse from now on would make votes for Roosevelt instead of the opposite. Granted that industry has proved it can show progress "despite the New Deal"—how could it now sell the public that the President is to blame for the reversal that may develop? Moreover such sabotage—however camouflaged—would be certain to drive the administration back to the left again.
Informed comment runs that the right wingers who are so determined to make Mr. Roosevelt look foolish had better wake up to the fact that they are toying with T. N. T.

SUSPICIOUS: Wise financial sources say that Vice President John Nance Garner is the man who is really behind FDR's decision to make fresh overtures to business.
They add that Mr. Garner's stock as an administration adviser has risen sharply in recent weeks and that he will be increasingly important in White House councils from now on.

The significance of this is that Garner—as a political realist—is convinced of the necessity of recapturing the good will of business in order to prevent the complete defection of the industrial East. One astute New Yorker puts it: "Garner is smart enough to realize that it's all very well to please the folks in Wyoming—but electoral votes are what count. New York, Pennsylvania and Massachusetts have exactly 100 of these. That makes them as smoothed over to date—but latent hostility continues to smolder, to the detriment of reemployment. Some of the President's counselors are urging him to get rid of both so there can't be any charges of favoritism.

Insiders insist that "Honest Har-old's" super-scrupulousness has done a lot to slow up the parade. "It's O. K. to be honest—but there's such a thing as carrying it to extremes. Too much honesty is interfering with recovery. After all, no large sum of public money was ever spent without some of it going to the wrong places."

Frank Walker is aces at the White House and might draw the supreme command of work relief—but again he might not. Word is that FDR is so determined to put it over he is willing to consider appointment of a business man opposed to his policies if that appears to be the best assurance of success.

CORRECTION: We recently pub-

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

RAIN STILL BLOCKS PLAY OF SEMIFINALS

We would like to be able to predict when Greenville and Ayden will resume the post season semifinals, but feel a disinclination to attempt, to do so in view of the way Jupiter Pluvius has acted the past two days.

Not content with washing out play two days in a row, it appeared this morning that the rain god planned to keep his flood gates open the remainder of the day, making play impossible again this afternoon.

The two clubs are chafing under the delay just like Kinston and Snow Hill, similarly affected, are doing. The loss of two days in succession means a whole lot to the college boys in view of the fact that they have to pack up their "duds" and make their annual trek back to college campuses around September 1. If Jup doesn't let up in a day or so, not even the mogus themselves know what will happen to the various clubs.

Kinston probably is the most seriously affected of all. In an issue of the morning paper the first of the week the players issued an appeal to the public to help boost their finances. They were three weeks behind in pay and had only $10 during the period. They made it plain they were expecting the money to pay their way through college and hoped to get it right away.

They weren't nasty about it at all. In fact, they exhibited lots more tolerance than some others would have done, playing the same brand of ball Kinston has been playing and with all chances in the world of entering the championships early after capturing two straight games from Snow Hill in the semifinals.

Some of the other participating clubs may be in as bad fix as Kinston financially, but apparently they aren't saying much about it. But, if the rain continues to interfere, more of the players will join Kinston's SOS plan of attack.

Greenville evidently is "hitting pretty," to indulge in a large parlance of the bleachers, but old Man Gloom is preparing to enter all camps soon if Jup doesn't cut out his foolishness and permit resumption of hostilities.

We would like to say definitely that play will be resumed this afternoon but not being able to determine the trend of mind of the ruler of nature's sluice gates, it would be futile on the part of any earthly creature to say exactly what is going to happen, even the man in charge of the weather apparatus, whose wife contends he hasn't hit it right in six months.

But, barring rain and other adverse conditions, we'll meet you at the scene of battle one afternoon pretty soon, we hope, and have the argument about who is to play in the championship series over with the humiliation of some and the general satisfaction of others.

The above photograph shows Crown Prince Leopold and Princess Astrid of Sweden as they were married ten years ago. The Queen was killed almost instantly yesterday in an automobile accident, while the King was only slightly injured. The picture at bottom shows the Queen and her two children, Princess Josephine, 7, and Prince Baudoin, 4-4 years old. Astrid, 29, was considered the most beautiful Queen in Europe. YOUTH AGENCY PLANS TO HELP HIGH STUDENTS

Persons In College to Also Receive Aid from Administration in This State

Reflector Bureau.

Raleigh, Aug. 23.—Not only will the North Carolina Youth Administration assist some 2,500 boys and girls in the state to go to college or to stay there by giving them financial assistance, but it will also extend aid to about the same number of high school pupils over 16 years of age if they will continue on in school. C. E. McIntosh, director of the N. C. Youth Administration, said today. Since this aid to students of sub-college grade will be limited to 7 per cent of those between the ages of 16 and 25 whose families were on relief in May, 1935, it is estimated that approximately 2,500 students will be found eligible to receive up to $6 a month.

Those who will receive this aid will be determined locally by the local city or county superintendents and principals. McIntosh pointed out, since each county and city school system will be given its quota. In no case may the amount given any pupil exceed $6 a month and this may be scaled down to less, so that more pupils may be aided. This aid is designed to assist children whose families are unable to provide them with carfare, lunch money and money for textbooks. But where it is found that a pupil does not need more than $3 a month for luncheon, and has no carfare to pay, the amount can be reduced.

"Here in North Carolina, most of the high schools are within walking distance of children and many have rental textbook systems, so that children in these schools do not have as much expense as in others," McIntosh said. "Accordingly, the local school officials will have the authority to hold the monthly payments down to whatever figure they believe is adequate for the needs of the recipient."

These payments to high school pupils or those of sub-college grade, will be made entirely on the basis of need and very largely to those whose families are or have been on relief, McIntosh said. The Government believes it is better to keep these boys and girls in school than to have them at home doing nothing or working at relief jobs that would keep them employed only part of the time. For with additional schooling, many can later find permanent employment, it is believed.

Final Rites Held For Ferd Barnhill

Funeral services for Fred E. Barnhill, aged Greenville negro, who died at his home here Monday, were conducted from Sycamore Hill Baptist church, Wednesday afternoon by Rev. J. A. Nimo, pastor of the church, officiating.

Final rites for the esteemed 72-year-old colored man were largely attended, and interment was made in the local colored cemetery.

He is survived by seven children, four boys and three girls, thirteen grandchildren and one brother.

Barnhill was probably one of the best known colored men of the community because of his long residence here and his part in public life. He was employed as man-of-all-work at the post office for several years, being retired a few years ago with pension. He was a leader in colored church affairs, having taken a prominent part in the founding of the building of the church where funeral services were held. He was also active in fire-fighting. He was one of the organizers of the Rough and Ready company.

"Bo" Farley To Coach Local High

Roland "Bo" Farley, who has accepted a position as teacher in the city school system, will also have charge of the athletic department of the high schools, it has been made known by J. H. Rose, superintendent.

Farley has managed the Greenville baseball club with pronounced success this season after having played a short time with the club the first of last year.

He is a former coach of athletics at the Danville, Va., high school and has a record of much success with building up winning aggregations among high school boys.

Announcement some time ago that Farley would become a member of the high school faculty was received with interest here, and the additional announcement that he will head the athletic department will be a matter of gratification among those who follow developments in this field of high school activities.

Farley has converted the Greenville league club into one of the most powerful aggregations of the circuit, and is deserving of much credit for the achievement. He has received the best of co-operation from all members of the club, and had it not been for injury of several players during the latter part of the season the club would have finished play with a much greater lead at the top of the standing of clubs.

Greenville high is expected to place extra good aggregations in the field next year as result of Farley's coaching, and fans who have been following the activities of this department for several years will have the opportunity of seeing some of the best playing probably in years.

NEGRO HELD FOR MURDER IS SET FREE

Action Against Claud Clemmons of Stokes Dismissed in Criminal Court

Claud Clemmons, Stokes negro, who for the last year or so has held the limelight of criminal court here because of charges of arson and murder growing out of the burning of a negro house near Stokes in which three negro children were burned to death, today found himself a free man.

Judge Walter Small, presiding at this session of criminal court, dismissed the murder action against the negro by reason of former jeopardy following a motion presented by the negro's attorney, W. J. Bundy.

Clemmons was acquitted of a charge of arson by a jury in a former session of criminal court. The case later went to the supreme court at Raleigh and was returned.

Bundy argued that his client could not be guilty of murder when he had been acquitted of the arson charge with practically the same evidence in both cases.

When he asked for dismissal of the case yesterday on the grounds of former jeopardy, Judge Small immediately granted the motion.

Clemmons just recently served a sentence of four months on the road for assault on a female, but today found himself a free man to return to his duties on the farm.

He was arrested nearly two years ago after the house of a negro near Stokes had been destroyed by fire with the loss of life of three of her children. Tracks, claimed to have been those of Clemmons, were found leading from his house to the woman's home.

Clemmons previously had had some trouble with his wife, and it was contended she had gone to the home of the other woman for shelter. Clemmons' resentment over this act, it was claimed, resulted in the house being fired.

GRAND JURY PRAISES PITT INSTRUCTIONS

All records kept in a neat, orderly and business-like manner, and we wish to heartily commend the officers and assistants in charge.

We visited the Clerk of the Court's office, and found all records and securities in excellent condition.

We visited the county convict camp and found the premises in neat and sanitary condition. The prisoners were well-cared for, and provided with wholesome and nutritious food, as appropriations will permit. We were favorably impressed with our findings, and commend the Superintendent and his assistants. Mr. Jacobs is proving very efficient.

We visited the County Home and found everything in satisfactory condition. We believe the management is doing as well as is possible under the present budget. The inmates appeared to be well content. We want to commend highly the management, Mr. Harris and his assistants, in caring for the county's interest. We want to especially commend those in charge for the activity in canning. We found at the Home 1154 two-pound cans of food.

We want to commend His Honor W. L. Small, Presiding Judge, Solicitor D. M. Clark, and all other court officials for their efficiency and rapid disposal of all matters coming before them.

Respectfully submitted, this the 29th day of August, 1935.

A. D. McLAUGHORN,

MEDIUM LEAF STRONGER ON LOCAL MARKET

paige inaugurated in this section today against the marketing of the types that have flooded the market since the opening Monday, it was believed an improvement in both quality and prices would be in evidence Monday.

New York Cotton

New York, Aug. 30. (AP)—Cotton futures opened barely steady one to two lower with steadier Liverpool cables offset by foreign and southern selling. Trade buying and covering absorbed initial offerings and gave the market steadier tone after the call.

The buying sounded encouragement in overnight reports of large business in print cloth yesterday.

At the end of the first half hour the market was quiet at net advance 2 to 5 points.

The market was quiet and steady late in the morning. Comparatively little selling pressure was in evidence. At midday October was selling around 10 1/2 and May 10 1/2 or about 6 to 10 points net higher.

Futures closed steady 4 lower to 8 higher.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Aug. 30. (AP)—The stock market was steady to mildly today as many traders desisted from the street for an early start on the labor holiday.

A few specialties forged ahead. Commodities were as sleepy as share grains and cotton hugging a narrow groove.

Bonds also backed and listlessly. The dollar was firmer in leading foreign exchanges. The Washington scene and European war rumblings apparently failed to stir either buyers or sellers to expand commitment.

by the Supreme court decision. I, puts the new administration in the treasury and in charge of codes forbidding false advertising, misrepresentation of labels and other practices considered unfair.

The bill bars the sale of liquor in and from barrels. This provision was the center of considerable controversy in congress.

Largely at the insistence of Rep. Fuller, Democrat of Arkansas, and Duncan, Democrat of Missouri, the House voted originally to permit such sales.

GOP Sees Big Fight For President
Washington, Aug. 30. (AP)—Seeking to discern the dim and uncertain outline of 1936, some Republican leaders figured today that there may be a memorable contest between Colonel Frank Knox, Chicago publisher, and Senator Borah, of Idaho, for the party presidential nomination. They agreed it is too soon to make definite predictions; that such must happen to change the picture again and again before decisive events occur.

Nevertheless, the leaders are loth to talk publicly. They are discussing a Borah struggle as among the many possibilities. Some of them even have it all figured out that the Borah-Knox fight would result in a deadlock which would bring the nomination of a compromise candidate such as Senator Vandenberg, of Michigan, or Governor Landon of Kansas, or some "dark horse."

Council Studying State Needs.
Raleigh, Aug. 30. (AP)—The Council of State after a three hour session this morning had not completed its study of applications presented by the heads of charitable institutions with a view to ascertaining the necessity for proposed construction with state and federal funds and will resume consideration of projects at 3:30 today.

Governor Ehringhaus announced after the meeting, which was executive, "we have reached no decision on the matter and have no announcement with regard to allocation of funds to eleemosynary institutions."

The council yesterday approved the issuance of $1,093,000 in state bonds for the construction of new buildings at educational institutions, and a new laboratory for the Department of Hygiene of the State Board of Health.

The total cost of these new buildings was estimated at $1,986,636.

Roosevelt Signs Coal Bill.
Washington, Aug. 30. (AP)—President Roosevelt concentrated today on a stack of bills he must sign or veto to clear his desk.

He chose to sign the Guffey bituminous coal stabilization bill first and then to act on other measures which he had been studying. He also planned last minute conferences with his aides on domestic and foreign matters.

Mr. Roosevelt hopes to leave Saturday night for his Hyde Park home.

Smith & Sugg opening sale averaged $19.46 for everything sold, including 50 baskets damaged tobacco and a large quantity "trashy" primings. Let us urge that you be not misled by the usual wild reports of estimated averages from various markets which are sent out for advertising, but really are of no benefit to growers. You are beginning to market your tobacco and entrust your entire year's labor to the care of some tobacco warehouseman. Smith & Sugg, with 23 years of seasoned experience offer to each grower, large and small, a superior service, which we believe will result in profit to everyone.

We suggest selling first and second primings, then your tips.
