FLORIDA'S STORM DEATH TOLL MOUNTS TO 1,000

30-MILE RAIN SQUALLS HIT MANTEO AREA

Winds Expected To Increase On Carolina Coast During The Day; Wilmington Looks For Heavy Gales Tonight; 40-Mile Winds Seen At Charleston; Wind And Rain Predicted For Eastern Part Of State

Charlotte, Sept. 5.—(AP)—Weather bureau officials said the Carolinas could expect rain today and tomorrow in the interior and "rains and high winds" on the coast as the tropical hurricane which swept upward from Florida seemed to be blowing itself out to sea again through Georgia. Meteorologists added they saw no reason for more than ordinary precautions and that while high winds were expected on the coast they were not expected to be serious.

Among the resorts on the barrier Sea Island of South Carolina and the North Carolina sound country residents moved inland as a precaution and small craft sought shelter in harbors and coastal rivers.

Southeast winds of a 40-mile velocity were predicted for Charleston early today but weather bureau officials said there was no reason for alarm.

Farther north at Wilmington, N. C., Paul Hess, weather observer, said winds of gale proportions would be felt there tonight if the storm continues its present course. He said there was no prospect of the winds reaching any great velocity.

Still farther north at Manteo, N. C., 30-mile rain squalls were reported during the night and tides swept across the sound brakes. Winds are expected to increase during the day Manteo reports said, but weather observers did not look for much of a blow.

NEGRO SHOTS WIFE; JAILED

James Ellison, Of Grifton, Lodged In Jail; Wife In Critical Condition

James Ellison, Grifton section negro, was held in the county jail today on a charge of shooting and seriously injuring his wife at their home last night.

The negro was taken into custody by Sheriff Sam Whitehurst shortly after the shooting and confined in the county jail to await developments in his wife's condition before being given preliminary hearing.

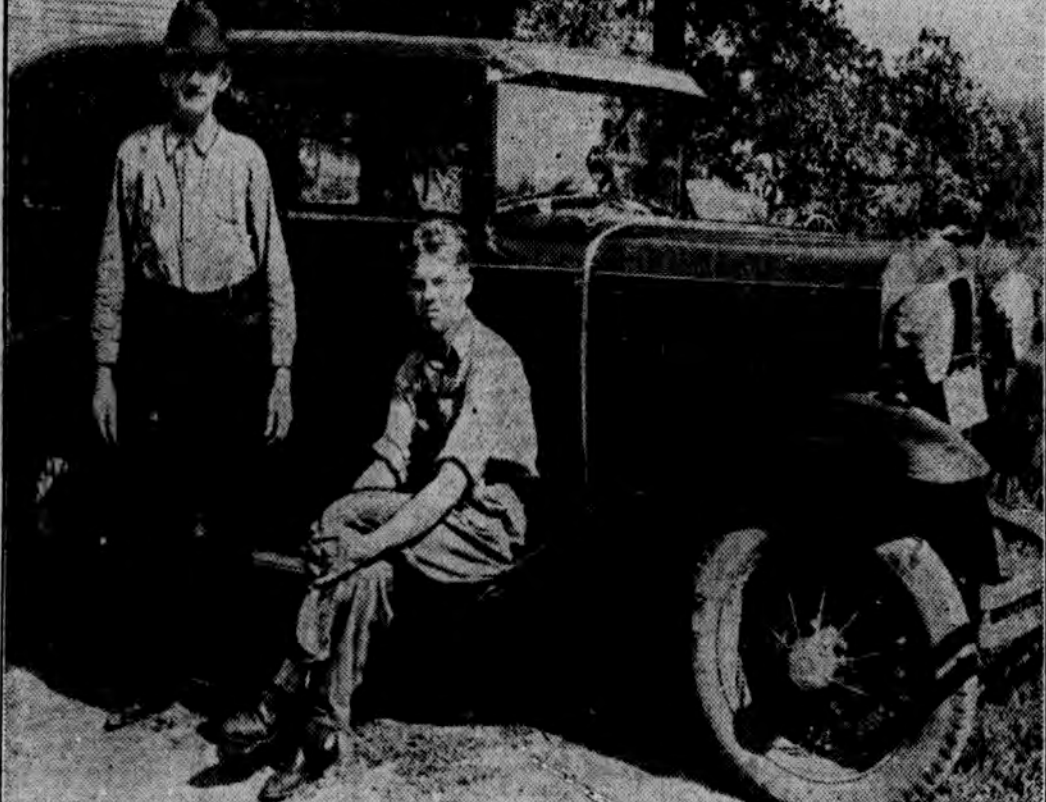

The woman, suffering from gunshot wounds in the face, was brought to the local hospital where it was said she was in a serious condition and not expected to live. A portion of shot from a single charge from the shotgun took effect in the face. She was in an unconscious condition when rushed here for medical aid.

Ellison, about 23-year-old, told the sheriff his 20-year-old wife had been paying too much attention to other men. The shooting, it was said, followed an argument over the question.

LEAF SALES SHOW PICKUP HERE TODAY

Around One Million Pounds Of Tobacco Offered On Local Warehouse Floors

In spite of intermittent showers which have visited this community the last several days, tobacco sales showed a pronounced pickup on the Greenville market today with an indicated strengthening of prices.

It was estimated there was something like a million pounds on floors of the ten warehouses today, with indications that sales would be completed during the late afternoon.

Protests Low 'Leaf' Prices In This Belt

Washington, Sept. 5.—(AP)—Rep. Frank W. Hancock of Oxford, N. C., today protested to Secretary of Agriculture Wallace what he described as "unjustifiably" low average prices for flue-cured tobacco on North Carolina markets.

In a telegram sent the secretary from Winston-Salem and made public at the Representative's office here, Hancock said growers were looking to Wallace "for protection by the proper exercise of powers Congress gave you."

He urged that the matter be placed before J. B. Hutson, Agricultural Adjustment Administration tobacco chief.

Latest figures available at the Agriculture Department showed an average price this season for flue cured tobacco of 20 cents a pound.

SHOTS WIFE AND ESCAPES

Officers Seeking Bill Hines After Shooting At Ballard's Last Night

Officers today were seeking Bill Hines, colored, of Ballard's Cross Roads after he allegedly shot his estranged wife, Beulah, in an altercation at their home last night.

Immediately after the shooting, Hines escaped, and officers had been unable to obtain no clues as to his whereabouts this morning.

The woman, suffering from a bullet wound in the side was rushed to the local hospital for medical aid. Although painfully wounded, it was not thought her injuries were serious.

Hines, who had been separated from his wife for sometime, called on her for a brief talk last night, and in a few minutes flashed a gun and fired three shots at her, with only one bullet taking effect.

Probably thinking he had killed her, the negro escaped, and in investigation last night failed to reveal his whereabouts.

The cause of the shooting was not determined, but it was thought the negro wanted the woman to return to him and shot her upon being refused.

TRADE UNION MAY ATTEMPT TO BLOCK WAR

Relationship Of Italy And Ethiopia In League Causing Worry At Geneva

Indications that the International Federation of trade unions through its executive committee might take up the possibility of blocking an Italo-Ethiopian war were seen at Geneva today. Just what the relationship of Italy and Ethiopia may be in the League of Nations caused anxiety in Geneva.

Italy has indicated she will not remain in the league on a basis of equal footing with Ethiopia, and she accuses of being outside the pale of civilization. The Ethiopians on the other hand accuse Italy of unwillingness to follow civilized procedure.

BOMB: High American Legion officials have just waked up to the fact that the program for their national convention at St. Louis late this month includes a slap in the face at the Roosevelt administration. It has caused consternation in inner circles.

Durham, Sept. 5.—Julia Osborne, alias Julie Lewis and Ray Crocker, alias Ray Lewis, both charged with the larceny of $135 worth of clothing from a room at the Washington Duke hotel and a $500 cash register from a parked truck, were tried in superior court Tuesday.

The girl was acquitted of both charges while her companion was sentenced to serve from seven to nine years in the State's prison.

Last Group Of Passengers Rescued From Leaking Ship On Florida Keys Death Trap

CAPTAIN STAYS WITH DIXIE IN SALVAGE PLAN

220 Persons—143 Passengers And 77 Members Of Crew Aboard When Transfer Began Today; Cutters Advised No Longer Necessary To Stand By; Hurricane Spends Its Force

Miami, Sept. 5.—(AP)—Swiftly and uneventfully the last group of passengers was removed today from the stranded and battered Dixie, their perilous prison since last Monday night.

In less than three hours the last of the 143 marooned passengers was transferred.

The life boat shuttled over placid waters, the howling hurricane that crippled the Dixie and ground her against the talons of French Reef, death trap of the Florida Keys, having spent its force.

Aboard the Dixie still pinioned to the reef remained Capt. E. W. Sundstrom and a skeleton crew. Capt. Sundstrom who thinks there has been no decadence among sea-faring men—thinks that masters of modern vessels are just as cool and efficient as the skippers of the old time sailing ships—stayed with his ship that the Morgan line might keep possession of her.

The task of transferring the passengers was completed while the rescued persons unfolded a saga of courage. The master of the ship advised the coast guard it was no longer necessary for its cutters to stand by the disabled boat.

When the transferring was resumed this morning 220 persons—143 passengers and 77 members of the crew—were on the Dixie.

GETS 7 TO 10 YEARS FOR MANSLAUGHTER

Wilson, Sept. 5.—Jesse Jones, alias Duck Jones, Wilson County negro, was sentenced to from 7 to 10 years in the State Prison by Judge E. H. Cramer in Superior Court here Tuesday afternoon after he had been found guilty of manslaughter in the killing of the Humphries, in Oldfields township a month or so ago.

Jones is said to have borrowed Humphries gun to go on a shooting expedition after another negro, and thinking a rustle in back of him was his quarry turned and shot, and killed Humphries instead.

Invitation to Mr. Colby. Now they wish they had, for it's too late to withdraw the bid without making matters worse. The Legion always registers its devotion to the Constitution Mr. Roosevelt is charged with attacking, and the setting furnishes a perfect stage for anti-administration oratory.

BONUS: The incident comes at a particularly embarrassing time. Congressional leaders have made the bonus important business for the January session. In a re-election year it stands a good chance of passage even over another veto.

But the issue hangs by a thread. Although the President will veto again he can let it slide through simply by keeping hands off. Some conservative interests formerly opposed to full payment think it (Continued on Page Four)

COUNTY COURT ENDS WORK ON HEAVY DOCKET

Around Fifty Charges Disposed Of During Sitting Of The Past Two Days

After considering about fifty cases, one of the largest dockets in months, county court completed work late yesterday afternoon. The final day sitting witnessed the disposition of two or three more charges of driving drunk. Nine cases of this nature were completed the day before with the defendants either being sent to the roads or released on payment of fines; after having their driver's license revoked.

J. T. Pope, farmer residing several miles from Greenville, grabbed the court spotlight yesterday when he appeared before the tribunal in a drunken condition and was fined $25 for contempt of court and ordered confined in jail until he sobers up. He was to have been tried on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon but the case was postponed on account of his condition.

The major part of the actions given hearing yesterday consisted of charges of driving drunk and assault with a deadly weapon. The majority of the defendants either were released on payment of fines or found their way to the roads for varying terms.

Judge Dink James presided and rushed work along rapidly. Several of the defendants were found not guilty and a few actions were continued until the next session.

Cases given hearing yesterday follow:

Hassell Atkinson, colored, assault with deadly weapon, 60 days on the roads.

Alonzo Boyd, assault with a deadly weapon, judgment suspended on condition that he pay one-half cost.

Pearlie Moore, colored, whiskey for sale; judgment suspended on payment of cost.

Garvin Hilliard, colored, careless and reckless driving; license revoked for four months, but judgment was suspended on payment of cost.

Willie Dudley, colored, larceny, 60 days' sentence to the roads suspended on payment of cost and good behavior.

Cleveland Cannon, assault with a deadly weapon; judgment suspended on payment of cost.

John Barrett and Jack Reeves, colored, larceny; Barrett, no guilty; Reeves judgment suspended on payment of cost.

Vance Williams, colored, assault; 6-months suspended sentence to the roads on condition that he pay Dr. Mewborn $40 and court cost.

Jesse Hall, colored, abandonment, $10 now and pay $1 a week into the office of the welfare department over a period of 12 months.

Jesse Rollins, colored, careless and reckless driving; $25 and cost and license revoked for 18 months or 90 days on the roads. Revocation of license to be terminated if he pays W. L. Allen $54.

Chesterfield Peyton, colored, assault; judgment suspended on payment of cost.

G. C. Harris and Joe Ross, driving drunk; $50 each and one-half cost; licenses revoked for 90 days.

Willie Hines, colored, assault with a deadly weapon; judgment suspended on payment of cost.

NEGRO GETS EXCUSED FROM JURY SERVICE

LOSS OF LIFE GROWS WITH NEW REPORTS

Relief Work Started As Hurricane Winds Diminish; Storms Moving Out To Sea Through Georgia; Carolina Coast Battered; Situation In Florida Described As Too "Horrible For Words"

Miami, Sept. 5.—(AP)—Florida counted its dead and rushed relief work today as the tropical hurricane, its devastating power diminishing moved north through Georgia.

W. P. Moody, personal representative of Governor Dave Scholls in the hurricane area, advised the chief executive today fatalities from the storm "may reach 1,000."

"Words cannot describe horrible disaster," Moody said in a telegram to the governor.

"Every one as far south as Cuba colony has been moved out, injured first. Now moving dead, fifty so far. Rebuilding bridges to Cuba Snake creek."

Other estimates of the dead ranged from 200 to 500.

Fifty-one bodies—very few identifiable—lay in a morgue here as the difficult mission of bringing aid to the injured and marooned victims was speeded to the coastal regions where the storm was now active.

Homeless injured were reported thrown through the Keys, battered and torn through almost four days of swirling winds and rains.

The storm curled into Georgia with drenching rains and still winds but damage in towns was mostly confined to trees and signs.

Extensive damage to peanuts and pecan crops was reported in some localities.

Weather bureau at Thomasville and Quitman reported wind velocity at between 35 and 45 miles an hour. The storm was expected to veer toward Macon and then swirl across the Savannah, the Carolinas and out to sea.

CIVIL COURT HERE MONDAY

A Second Session Of Superior Court Is Scheduled For The County Sept. 23

Pitt county has two weeks of civil Superior Court scheduled for this month, it was made known today at the office of J. F. Harrington, clerk of court.

The first term will convene next Monday morning with Judge Walter Small of Elizabeth City, presiding. It will be for a period of one week. The second term will begin September 23 and will also continue for one week.

The calendar for the term to open next Monday morning was completed by the Bar Association this week and will be off the press sometime tomorrow, Mr. Harrington said. It contains something like 40 cases as does the calendar for the term scheduled to begin Sept. 23.

Judge Small last Saturday completed a two weeks mixed term of court in Greenville, which resulted in the disposition of over a hundred criminal and civil cases. It was the first appearance of Judge Small here for the last five years, and he was given a cordial welcome by members of the bar and court officials.

Pitt county is destined to have several court terms between now and the Christmas holidays and scores of cases now awaiting consideration are expected to be completed as well as numbers to develop between now and then.

NEW PLANS TO SPEED STATE HIGHWAY WORK

Late Regulations Expected To Play Big Part In Several State Projects

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel.

Raleigh, Sept. 5.—The WPA Relief highway construction program and the grade crossing elimination program have been entirely separated into two distinct programs as the result of new instructions and regulations just received from Washington, according to Chief Highway Engineer W. Vance Baise, in charge of these projects for the State Highway and Public Works Commission. Regulations have also been changed somewhat, especially as they apply to the grade crossing elimination program. Approximately $4,720,000 has already been allotted to the state for each of these projects, or $9,440,000 in all.

"While the original requirements with regard to the highway program still stand, in that 40 per cent of the cost will have to go for labor and 60 per cent of the labor will have to come from the relief rolls, the regulations with regard to the grade crossing separation program have been considerably changed and modified," Baise said. "For according to the new regulations just received for the grade crossing elimination program, we will be required only to use as much relief labor as we can use efficiently, with no fixed percentage, as is the case in the highway construction program. Also, if the type of labor needed is not available from the relief registrants, we may take any other labor that is registered with the National Reemployment Service, as in the past."

The highway department has also been permitted to transfer 1,200,000 of its allotted man-hours of relief labor to its regular Federal Aid highway building program, which is entirely separate from its Public Works-Relief projects. The result is that it will now have to provide only 3,700,000 man-hours of relief employment on its WPA-Relief highway building program instead of 4,900,000 man-hours as originally scheduled, so that a large proportion of the $4,720,000 can be expended for materials and less for labor than had been expected under the original rules and regulations. This is going to make it possible to build better and longer-lasting types of roads.

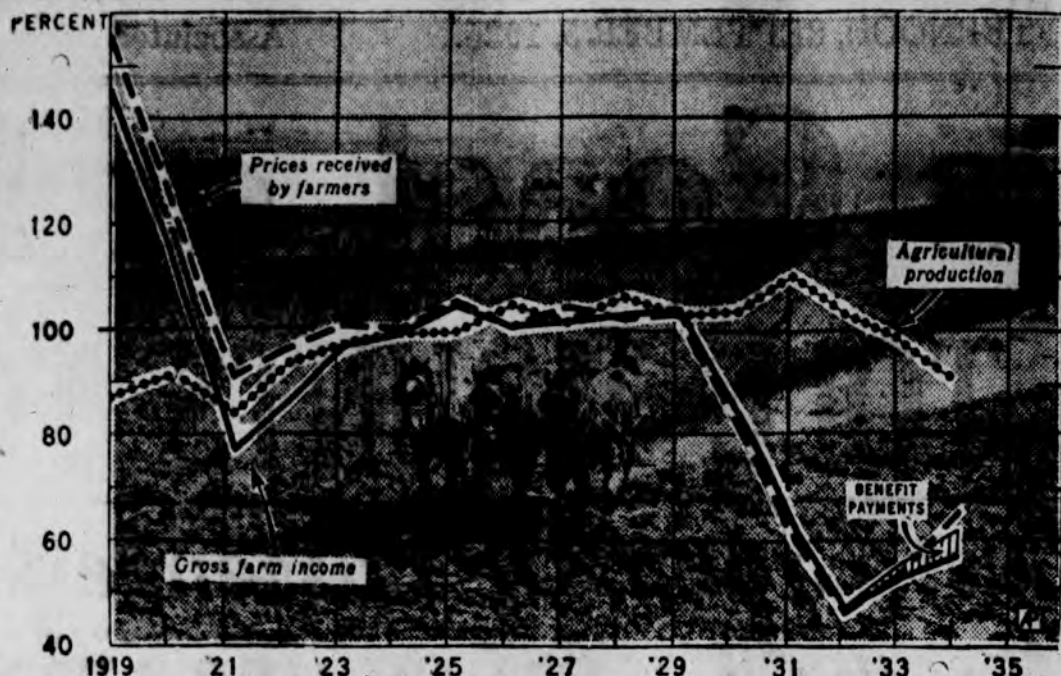

REPORT THAT BANDIT BOUGHT SPEAKEASY

Durham, Sept. 5.—A sum of money that was seized in the $10,000 robbery on the Chapel Hill highway August 16 went for the purchase of a speakeasy at New Bern by one of the suspects before he was caught and put in jail, it is announced. It is reported that the suspect visited the speakeasy some time after the robbery, and due to disorderly conduct, was ordered out of the place and rather than get out he bought the house. The holdup by a car of bandits forced R. D. Herndon, Chapel Hill bank cashier, to the side of the road where he was robbed of $10,500 which was being taken from the Fidelity Bank in Durham to the Bank of Chapel Hill in Chapel Hill. Louis M. Rigbee, who was arrested by Duncan, Ariz., officers Monday night is believed, according to Sheriff Belvin, to have been the driver of the bandit car.

PENALTIES IMPOSED FOR DRUNKEN DRIVING

Winston Salem, Sept. 5.—E. B. Harris and M. R. Buchanan, both of High Point, drew heavy fines and were given suspended sentences by Judge J. A. Rousseau in Forsyth County Superior Court yesterday on charges of operating an automobile under the influence of liquor. They were fined $150 each, taxed with the costs, given a suspended sentence of four months on the roads, and directed not to operate automobiles for a period of 12 months.

Farmers' Income On The Upgrade, But Still Short Of 'Good Old Days'

This chart shows the agricultural production, prices received by farmers and incomes for the years 1919 to 1934 inclusive. It will be noted that since the low point for the price and income indexes of 1921, the improvement has been steady with agricultural production gradually declining. Increasing benefit payments in the last two years have added to the income. The payments shown are for adjustment contracts during the calendar year.

By WILLIAM S. WHITE

Washington (AP)—The farmer, Uncle Sam asserts after his latest inventory, is climbing slowly out of the depression—but his income in the crop year just checked was still some $9,000,000,000 short of what it was in the best of the "good old days."

Closing the books after a country-wide estimate on the money made by agriculture in the 1934 season, the bureau of agricultural economics says gross income was $384,000,000 ahead of 1933—$7,300,000,000 against $6,406,000,000. But the biggest money year in more than a generation—the great crop that came off as the World War ended—was more than double today's figure, nearly $17,000,000,000.

Reducing the current figures to terms of the individual, it was found that the 6,288,548 farms in this country had an average income of $997 each against $860 the year before—but that sum does not include cost of production, wages, interest, rent and taxes. In percentage, farm prices were found to have advanced 44 from their low point in 1921. All this came about the bureau says, amid the smallest production in 13 years.

Cotton Income Up. As income marched ahead, the south's great crop—cotton—again jumped ahead in the parade, after playing second fiddle, either to vegetables or grain, for four years. The farmer's "take" from cotton and cottonseed in the 1934 season was $723,000,000 against $688,000,000 for the season before. But the biggest factor, the bureau says, in helping the farmer to keep out of the red was the better price for livestock and livestock products, due principally to drought and government buying. Income from that source was $3,629,000,000 compared with $3,096,000,000 for the year before, and bigger by $500,000,000 than that from all other crops.

What farmers are doing with this extra money was not found in detail by the bureau, but it does report that they spent 70 per cent more than for machinery, automobiles and trucks than in the year before.

Paid More In Wages.

Too, they paid in cash wages $377,000,000, or $25,000,000 more than in the year before. The income available, after various deductions, for operators' labor, capital and management was figured by the bureau's experts at $3,468,000,000, and the farm operator's net capital at nearly $1,500,000,000. Production, the bureau says, was in an "abnormal situation" with that of grain only about two-thirds of the unusually short crop of the year before and that of cotton the shortest since 1921.

FLUSH OUT 15 MILES OF KIDNEY TUBES

Medical authorities agree that you kidneys contain 15 MILES of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. If you have trouble with too frequent bladder passages with scanty amount causing burning and discomfort, the 15 MILES of kidney tubes may need flushing out. This danger signal may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes and dizziness. If kidneys don't empty 3 pints a day and so get rid of more than 4 pounds of waste, poisonous matter may develop, causing serious trouble. Don't wait. Ask your druggist for DOAN'S PILLS, which have been used successfully by millions of people for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help to flush out the 15 MILES of kidney tubes. ADJUSTMENT OF FARM DEBT TO CONTINUE

Expansion Of Activities Expected To Feature Allocation From Relief Funds

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel.

Raleigh, Sept. 5.—Continuance and expansion of activities of volunteer farm debt adjustment committees in North Carolina had been allocated from the Works Relief Funds for debt adjustment efforts throughout the nation.

The debt adjustment program, inaugurated in 1935 by the Farm Credit Administration, has been transferred by President Roosevelt to the Resettlement Administration. The program to date has resulted in the scaling down of debts in 150,000 cases. Volunteer committees operating in 2,767 counties have guided the negotiations which resulted in new, more equitable agreements between debtors and creditors. It is estimated that this work, by preventing bankruptcy or foreclosure, has kept half a million people off relief rolls.

Homer H. B. Mask, Regional Director of Rural Resettlement, Resettlement Administration, will have direct supervision of the expanded debt adjustment work in North Carolina.

Mr. Mask, in a statement from the Raleigh regional headquarters, said debt adjustment committees are now functioning in 87 of North Carolina's 100 counties. Steps will be taken shortly, he said, to organize debt adjustment committees in those counties that do not now have them. A state debt adjustment com-

"Members of the county committees," Mr. Mask said, "have received no compensation and have even paid their own expenses when, as was often the case, their duty called for travel. The allocation made for this work, is to be used to defray expenses of the volunteer committees and for supervisory services."

Miss Frances Rock has returned from a visit in Charlotte.

Bancroft Moseley returned to Davidson College today to resume his studies.

Miss Rose May Jones and Miss Lillian Dunler of Baltimore, are guests of Mrs. Vance Perkins.

Mr. and Mrs. George B. Lay and little daughter, Ann, who have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. White, returned home today.

Mrs. J. M. Cutchen and children of Whitakers, and Mrs. J. L. Perkins and Miss Condelia Perkins of Stokes, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Vance Perkins today.

Mrs. Turner Bright and Mrs. T. A. Ricks, of Durham, returned home today after spending several days with Mrs. Ricks' parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Mangum.

Mrs. Paul E. Jones, Miss Vernice Lang Jones, Mrs. J. Y. Monk and Miss Hazel Monk of Farmville, were here today.

Hostess to Bridge Club.

Mrs. R. L. Carr of Collinston, Louisiana, was honor guest yesterday afternoon when Miss Hennie Whichard was hostess to her bridge club and a few other guests, at the home of Mrs. E. B. Ferguson on West Fourth street.

Tables were placed in the drawing room and sun room in a setting of late summer flowers.

At the conclusion of the game a tempting salad course with tea and cakes was served.

Mrs. B. S. Warren and Mrs. J. S. Ficklen were given prizes for high scores. Mrs. Carr, Mrs. Harold Johnston of Buffalo, N. Y., Mrs. George Lay of Raleigh, Mrs. Ralph Freeman, of Glendale, California, and Miss Louise Fleming, who is at home from Seattle, Washington, were remembered with small gifts.

Mrs. Mangum Entertains.

Mrs. D. L. Mangum was a gracious hostess last evening at her home on East Fifth street, complimenting her house guest, Mrs. Turner Bright of Durham.

Early fall flowers with a predominating color note of yellow, made an attractive setting for the bridge tables.

Mrs. G. B. Starling, winner of high score, was given pottery, and Mrs. Bright was given a similar prize for low score. Mrs. Bright was also presented pottery for guest prize.

The hostess assisted by her daughter, Mrs. T. A. Ricks, served delicious refreshments.

Those playing were Mrs. Bright, Mrs. C. W. Shuff, Mrs. Harvey Clayton, Mrs. B. S. Warren, Mrs. W. H. Taft, Mrs. G. B. Starling, Mrs. R. C. Merritt and Miss Jane Hadley.

Dr. and Mrs. Johnston Honored.

A very attractive and enjoyable affair of the week was yesterday, when Dr. and Mrs. S. M. Crisp were hosts at luncheon honoring Dr. and Mrs. Harold Johnston of Buffalo, New York, house guests of Dr. and Mrs. K. B. Pace.

The home throughout was beautifully decorated. The luncheon table was especially pretty, covered with an imported cloth of lace and centered with a basket of white roses and dahlias.

Mrs. R. S. Neal, Mrs. W. I. Wooten and Mrs. E. J. Garrett assisted the hostess in serving the delectable luncheon.

Notice to Parents and Pupils.

All children who intend to enter the Greenville city schools this year for the first time must report to their respective buildings tomorrow morning, Sept. 6, between the hours of nine and twelve. This applies to all first grade children also with the exception of those who registered in the pre-school clinic held last May.

The books to be used this year are exactly the same as those used last year. Parents may, therefore, make arrangements to buy second-hand books. New books may be purchased at the same store which sold them last year.

IN MEMORIAM

It is with great sympathy and sorrow I attempt to write the death of my uncle, James Madison Stokes, son of H. J. Stokes (oldest man known of living in Pitt county) and the late Nancy Holland Stokes of Greenville, North Carolina, R. F. D. 3; who died Monday night, August 12th at ten o'clock, of heart trouble and low blood at the age of 65 years.

It looked as if the doctors did all that could be done for him, but there was no cure, so at this dreadful hour of the night the death angel came into the home and called him after three months of suffering and pain.

The deceased is survived by a wife who before marriage July 9, 1891, was Miss Beatrice Williams, daughter of the late Stephen and Julia Nobles Williams, one daughter, Mrs. O. W. Williams, Greenville, N. C.; two sons, John B. and C. P. Stokes, Greenville, R. F. D. 3. His aged father, as mentioned above; one sister, Mrs. S. A. Bright, Greenville, R. F. D. 3; four brothers, J. F. Stokes, Kingston; J. T. Stokes, Norfolk, Va.; N. T. and H. M. Stokes, Greenville, R. F. D. 3. Also eight grandchildren and a host of relatives and friends to mourn.

Pythians To Consider Home For Their Aged

A special called meeting of the grand lodge of Knights of Pythians will be held at the King Cotton hotel in Greensboro September 17, it was announced here today.

Among other things to be considered during the session, is the proposal for the creation of a home for old members of the organization and their wives not able to work and take care of themselves. The question has been uppermost in the minds of the Pythians for sometime and definite action is expected at the meeting.

BLACK WIDOW AND CHILDREN ESCAPE DEATH

Her Majesty, the Black Widow, condemned to die at the hands of an assassin, along with several of her children, had been rescued from the jaws of death today by a telephone message from the Science Department of East Carolina Teachers college revealing the institution wanted the widow and her family for museum use.

The widow, one of the most dangerous species of the spider family, was to have been taken from her glass enclosure in the business office of the Daily Reflector early this morning and put to death by Jesse Fringle, official executioner of the newspaper, when the college telephone message halted execution activities.

Brought to the Reflector office yesterday morning by a youth who failed to leave his name, the spider has attracted no little interest. She has been declared a genuine "black widow," and to prove her identity observers pointed nervously at a red mark on the lower part of her body—an infallible index to the family of this kind of spider.

Dr. R. J. Slay, head of the college Science department, is always looking for something to put in his recently-created museum and said he was glad to add Her Majesty, the Black Widow, to his collection.

jar, Her Majesty inaugurated an ambitious building program, constructing a web over a large portion of her new home. And into that web she has deposited scores of baby spiders who one day may become vigorous "merry widows" also if given proper treatment by college scientists.

SCHOOL BODY SEEKS BETTER COUNTY ROADS

Commission Expected To Ask Highway Department For Improvements Now

Reflector Bureau.

Sir Walter Hotel.

By J. C. BASKERVILLE
Raleigh, Sept. 5.—The State School Commission may tell the State highway commission what it thinks of it following its session here today and will urge the highway department to do something about the many miles of secondary and county roads over which school buses should operate, but over which it is now impossible for them to operate, it was learned from an authoritative source this afternoon.

The School Commission has just completed a survey of the school bus routes in the various counties comprising some 150,000 miles of roads, most of them secondary and county roads. The results of this survey have been anything but satisfactory and show that in many counties the roads travelled by school buses—or supposed to be travelled by them—are in worse condition than they were last fall. Some of the roads are in such bad shape that it will be impossible for school buses to use them this winter unless a lot of maintenance work is done on them and done real soon, those who made the bus route surveys have reported.

"By making these surveys of the roads travelled by school buses, we had hoped to reduce the mileage by using other roads and shorter routes than at present and had expected to reduce the operating cost of the school buses almost $100,000 a year," LeRoy Martin, secretary of the commission, who is completing his last week in this post, before entering private business in Winston-Salem, said today. "But the 15 men who made the surveys of the bus routes for the commission have submitted such unfavorable reports that we do not know now what we will be able to do, because of the condition of many of the roads. For according to their reports, many of the roads we had wanted to use for bus routes are in such bad condition that we cannot use them, while almost all of the roads are in sad shape. So the outlook is not at all bright."

In the course of its meeting here this afternoon, the School Commission is expected to go into the report covering the bus route survey in considerable detail. It is also expected to draft a resolution calling on the Highway Commission to do something about these roads and to do it as soon as possible before winter weather makes them entirely impassable.

"These county roads, both the ones used by the school buses and the others as well, have been setting in worse and worse condition for the past three years now," a member of the School Commission said today. "But we knew that the highway department was just about as hard up for money as were the schools so we tried to make the best of it."

"But there is no longer any excuse for the secondary roads being in the bad condition they are now. The 1935 general assembly gave the Highway Commission an emergency appropriation of $3,000,000 to be used at once in maintenance work on the roads, especially the secondary roads, before the regular appropriation should become available July 1. It also approved the appropriation of $10,000,000 a year for maintenance, which was $4,000,000 a year more than it had gotten the two years before. But so far there is nothing to indicate that any of this $13,000,000 a year for maintenance has been spent on any of the county roads or school bus routes. But we are going to do our best to see if we can't get some of it spent on these school buses, as well as on some of the other county roads, for they are all in bad shape."

Wilson, Sept. 5.—Paul Campbell, Wilson County negro, charged with hit-and-run and manslaughter in connection with an automobile wreck last January in which Mrs. Nellie Hayes, of Saratoga was killed, was sentenced to 10 years in the State Prison Tuesday in Superior Court here by Judge E. H. Cranmer of Southport.

The negro was captured only a few weeks ago in Fairmont after he had been at large since the accident. He was also charged with the extra offense of stealing the car that he was driving at the time of the accident.

A new farm project has been begun by J. C. Adcock of Wake county, N. C. He will raise bullfrogs, and supply nearby markets with frog legs.

MORNING STAR
— ST. MARIAN SIMS —
SYNOPSIS: By a happy, but not unkindly, chance Emily Barnes has run away from her husband on their wedding night and landed in Lookout Sanatorium, under the care of Dr. Christopher Ward. Emily had been forced into the marriage by parental kindness. Edwin Barnes' perseverance, and lack of anything better to do. But she is on the verge of a nervous breakdown, and Dr. Ward plans to keep her at least a couple of weeks in the sanatorium. He asks where she will go when she leaves.
Chapter 20
SHOCK FOR EDWIN
"I HAVEN'T gotten that far," Emily confessed.
"Of course not. There hasn't been time. We have to take one problem at a time."
It was heavenly, she thought suddenly, to have someone discuss your future without mentioning duty or responsibility. To have someone ask you, as if it were the simplest thing in the world, what you wanted to do next.
"I'd like to get a job somewhere. And be independent for a while." His eyes twinkled sympathetically. "Then we'll get a job," he assured her stoutly. "Any special sort of job in any special place?"
"I have a friend in the advertising department of a big Birmingham store. I wanted to go there, once." "Do you still want to go there?"
"Yes," she said faintly with relief. Dr. Ward must be the Rock of Gibraltar.
"There's one slight drawback." He was thinking of the quality of Emily's clothes and luggage. "Beginners get starvation wages in that line."
She remembered with a surge of gratitude the few stocks her father had given her from time to time. They had never seemed particularly important until now.
"I could manage until I was earning more. I have a little money."
"Then it looks to me," he said cheerfully, "as if we were all set. Suppose you write the friend today, and by the time you're ready to leave, we can have it all arranged."
He was glad the job was in Birmingham because he knew several people of importance there. He knew people of importance in a great many places.
"You think I ought to stay here a while?" she hoped he would say yes. This place had come to be sanctuary, and she didn't want to relinquish the Rock of Gibraltar until she had Charlotte, again.
"I do," he said promptly. "For about two weeks." He didn't tell her how close she had come to mental and physical disaster. He hoped she would never find out.
She smiled her relief and he grinned the comfortable, companionable grin. Then he rose.
"It would be a good idea for you to get outside for a couple of hours. We've got a gorgeous porch and a more gorgeous view, and in case that fails I'll see that you have something to read." And with another comforting grin he left her.
IN HIS office once more Dr. Ward sent for Edwin, who was waiting as he had waited for most of two days. Edwin sat down and listened, like a condemned man, to the verdict.
"She's very much better," Dr. Ward said kindly, "but it's been a pretty close shave."
"Could I see her?"
Dr. Ward's heart ached for him. He sometimes wished that he didn't take his cases so much to heart, and yet that was the reason, perhaps, why he had gotten so far at the age of thirty-six.
"I don't believe it's wise." And then, as gently as he could, he told Edwin how things stood.
"Your best chance," he said at last, "is not to crowd her. I think the reason she has rebelled now is because she feels that she has been over-persuaded. When she's perfectly well again she may feel differently about it. Let her go to Birmingham and don't beg her to come back to you. That is," he added experimentally, "if you still want her to."
"I do," Edwin confessed soberly. "I guess I'm a fool, but I can't help it. I've always wanted her, and I suppose I always will."
"Then write her how you feel and let it go at that. All you can do is to hope that this experiment won't be all she expects it to be."
"And what about her mother and father?" Edwin asked wretchedly.
"I'll attend to that." He was looking forward with an almost unholily joy to attending to Frances Felton.
As Edwin rose Dr. Ward eyed him keenly, arrested by a certain suspicion. "Is this your first experience with women?"

ALRED: Senator Hugo Black of Alabama has started something he may find hard to finish with his shipping contracts investigation.

Informed New Yorkers say that the Senator isn't as popular in administration circles as he might be. For one thing he played Senator Wheeler's game rather than Mr. Roosevelt's in his conduct of the utility lobbying inquiry. The President got the compromise he wanted on the holding company bill — but Black's activities didn't simply matters any and the soreness lingers on. Even more resentment has been aroused by the promiscuous way in which Black has dragged names into the shipping inquiry without taking the trouble to find out whether the charges against the people mentioned rested on a firm enough foundation to justify publicity — and also without bothering to ascertain whether the witnesses who bandied names so freely were properly qualified to do so.

Watch for some White House-inspired move to "teach Black a lesson." It might take the form of revealing the Senator's connections with certain organizations for which the average citizen has something less than profound admiration. Sentiment among administration advisers seems to be that one of the leading alibis of other people's mistakes should be given an airing himself.

TWO GIVEN SENTENCES FOR ROBBERY ATTEMPT

Winston-Salem, Sept. 5.—The attempt of three young white men on August 3 to take three watches from the A. Cohn jewelry store here, resulted in two of the alleged robbers receiving sentences in Forsyth superior court Tuesday morning. The other member of the trio escaped and has not been captured.

Bernard Ball who, according to the evidence, was the leader of the trio, was sentenced by Judge J. A. Rousseau to serve from four to five years in state's prison. Thomas Martin was sentenced to serve from 18 months to three years.

WHAT WILL THEY BE?
The season for fairs is now with us and in view of past experience in this section when so-called fairs turned out to be nothing more than carnivals and gambling devices operating under the name of a fair to escape taxes, the following editorial from the Goldsboro News-Argus is most timely.

The News-Argus says:
Pick up most any weekly or daily paper in Eastern North Carolina now, and you will find items about shaping plans for city or county fairs.

Will they be fairs or will they be carnivals, peep shows, and gambling concessions, parading and protected by the law under the name of fairs? Conditions at some of the so-called fairs in this half of the state became last season that they drew outspoken disapproval. We recall an indignant editorial in the Elizabeth City Independent regarding the "fair" staged there, and another in the Winston Free Press regarding the "fair" staged there.

Return of a measure of prosperity to our people is so much added inducement to the fair, the shyster, the gambler to head this way, to spread his "come on" bait and garner in some of our hard earned money. Such gentry always flock where the pickings are easy and good.

Fairs offer them a great opportunity. Too bad when the fairs harbor and give protection to such.

This year the fairs of Eastern North Carolina have banded together and pledged that they will "clean up" conditions. That pledge was given back in the summer.

It is well to recall it at this time and for the public to demand its enforcement.

LET'S HAVE ONE HERE, TOO

Greenville has the opportunity to get a $25,000 armory and community building if a suitable site for the building is donated by the community. The Greenville armory building has been listed as one of 44 proposed structures to be built in this state and now it is up to our community if we want to get the building. Already the commissioners of Wilson county have voted an appropriation to cover half the cost of the site for the building in that county and the city of Greenville contemplates making an appropriation to cover the other half of the cost of the site. Beaufort and other counties have taken similar action and unless this community takes steps to procure one of the buildings we are going to find ourselves without one, while other cities and counties are getting the benefit of theirs.

We would like to see some definite steps taken here to provide a suitable site for the proposed building.

THE NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG
might be a good idea to remove it from politics once and for all. Others feel it might be advisable to put more money in circulation. Against these considerations is the administration's unadvised insistence on cutting expenditures more sharply than most people realize.

A Legion-sponsored blast by Mr. Colby may blow the bonus out of the 1936 political picture. Moreover, the legionnaires and the Veterans of Foreign Wars have renewed their warfare over what kind of measure should pass. With their ranks divided it looks as if the ex-soldiers are running into an anti-bonus barrage laid down by their political generals.

BARKIS: Close friends insist that Senator Borah will angle for the Republican presidential nomination.

Before he left for home the Idahoan defined the kind of man the GOP must nominate against President Roosevelt — and the definition now, fitting nobody but the Senator himself. He said: "If my party nominates the right kind of man, if they nominate somebody in whom the people have confidence as free from the control of the interests, he will be elected. They won't care whether he is a Republican, Democrat or Progressive, and there will be the greatest smashing of party lines in American political history."

There are even more subtle signs that the Senator is willing — at last. Although the leading sponsor of Russian recognition he has not whispered against the administration's threat to cut off relations. He supported inflation measures which, according to his private polls, are popular in the West. And since he cast his first vote for Bryan in 1896 he has always been a sound money man. Watch Mr. Borah!

BUGGY: The government will spring several surprises when the famous New River power litigation is argued before the Supreme court at the next term. Attorney General Cummings' representatives will summon Chief Justice John Marshall as their chief witness against a host of private utility lawyers headed by Newton D. Baker.

Mr. Baker's clients want to utilize water from New River in Virginia for a private power plant. The government opposes the grant of a water-power license on the ground that the stream is navigable and therefore out of bound for private utility exploitation. So the question boils down to the actual navigability of the river. Government counsel have dug up records showing that a Virginia Commission surveyed the stream in colonial days and concluded that it was navigable. The head of the commission was Mr. Marshall.

Here enters the "horse and buggy" motif. The river was navigable to small ships in use at the time of Marshall's exploration, although modern vessels cannot traverse it. But the Supreme Court has held that subsequent changes do not invalidate the original conclusion — once navigable, always navigable. So in this instance the court's "horse and buggy" philosophy may work to Mr. Roosevelt's advantage.

BUDGET: Secretary Morgenthau is quietly stepping out as something more than the President's messenger boy. The administration's decision to play up economy moves is a belated concession to the Secretary of the Treasury and his unobtrusive financial side. Under Secretary Thomas Jefferson Coolidge.

Mr. Morgenthau has pleaded for a curtailment of expenditures behind the scenes of every Cabinet and Council meeting. Mr. Coolidge, a conservative Bostonian, has reinforced these arguments at daily staff meetings at the Treasury. Although loyal Rooseveltians, both have been appalled at the mounting deficits and the increase in the national debt.

Nobody puts much stock in predictions that the budget will be balanced in any specific year. Insiders expect that it will be the middle forties before revenue will match the total outgo, no matter who becomes President in 1936 or 1940. But Messrs. Morgan and Coolidge rile many New Dealers with their demand that they make a start

New York
By JAMES McMULLIN
FANCY: The absence of coherent Republican leadership to date fails to disturb backstage party circles in New York. They have figured out that the absence of an outstanding candidate for '36 and of a definite platform is more helpful than otherwise at present. This state of affairs leaves the Democrats without a target for counter-attack when GOP spokesmen blast away at the New Deal.

If these backstagers have their way the various booms for Knox, Borah, Vandenberg, Landon and others will all be encouraged to flourish between now and next summer — so that no one candidate piles up too big a lead over his competitors and comes into the '36 convention with a clear majority of delegates. A free-for-all of that type would create a situation favorable to hand-picking a safe and sane candidate (like Harding in 1920) in order to break a deadlock.

This would also prevent the Democrats from focussing their fire (all the last possible minute. As one GOP strategist puts it: "It would take a mighty fancy aim to hit both Borah and Knox with the same shot."

INFLATION: There hasn't been much talk about inflation lately — but keen financial sources are confident it is coming next year — though probably not in any such obvious form as further devaluation or the printing press.

The prophecy is based on political exigencies. Administration leaders in Congress — in order to prevent a revival of veterans' bonus agitation from making a worse snarl of the closing days of the recent session — had to agree to give the bonus a clear track to a vote at the session beginning next January. Insiders also understand that a similar agreement was a factor in inducing what and cotton Senators to call off their last-minute fight for 90-cent and 12-cent loans.

This means that both these issues will hit the headlines again in January. Both will grow in popularity among Congressmen between now and then and will have the added impetus of election year to help push them through. Astute observers doubt that a veto can stop either of them. Together they represent an abrupt addition of more than three billion dollars to the public debt. This takes no account of further relief appropriations that will probably be needed. Put these together and you have strong indications of forthcoming inflation to the nth degree — whether the President wills it or no.

KINDER: Railroad men take gloomy stock of the legacy dumped in their laps by the recent session of Congress and wonder how the back teeth are ever supposed to get back on their feet. They figure that the Guffey coal bill, railway pension act and social security law will cost them $212,000,000 more a year in addition to the burdens that already have them hanging on the ropes.

The Guffey bill is the biggest factor. It is estimated to add $150 a ton to the price of rail fuel. With the consumption of 90 million tons that makes $135,000,000. The pension act will tack on $80,000,000 more. The 1 per cent payroll tax for social security comes to the comparatively modest sum of $17,000,000 — but this is due to be increased later.

Of course all three of these laws will take a thorough court test. The

KINSTON WINS FIRST GAME FROM AYDEN

Kinston, Sept. 5.—Long John Humphries' three-hit pitching, plus his mates' great fielding and handiwork with the bat, gave Kinston a 4-1 victory over Ayden yesterday in the first game of the Coastal Plain League championship series.

Cletus Atkins hit a homer in the fifth for Ayden's lone run. Ayden's other hits, both singles, went to Patrick and Royal.

How Eagles Scored

The game started out as a pitchers' duel between Humphries and Walter Beall, an old-timer. However, the Eagles clawed Beall for one run in the fourth—a homer by Jim Morgan over the left field fence—and two in the fifth. Strayhorn's circuit rap counted the first fifth-inning tally. The other was made rather easily. Humphries got left on an error, moved to second on Greenberg's infield hit, advanced to third when Taylor hit into a double play, and scored when Keller's grounder was error by Morris.

Kinston's other tally was counted in the seventh. Williams drew two-base lift on an error. Keller singled deep center to score him.

Patterson Hitters

The only player on either club to make more than one hit was Patterson. Kinston first-sacker. He hit two singles. The Eagles made eight hits.

Ralph Williams, borrowed from Snow Hill, played shortstop for the Eagles and handled five chances in perfect style. He was filling in for Tommy Irwin, who was supposed to be at his home in Pennsylvania, with local fans offering various theories as to why he was there.

Humphries walked two. Beall walked three. The lanky Kinston hurler struck out eight, twice as many as his opponent fanned.

The second game of the series will be played in Ayden this afternoon. The championship will go to the club winning four games.

TATUM SLATED FOR RIGHT END ON WOLFPACK

College Station, Raleigh, Sept. 5.—A blond-headed South Carolinian, answering to the name of Jess Tatum, is going to play the right end position on State College's football team unless the experts don't know what they are talking about.

Of course, Tatum, whose home is at McCall, hasn't captured the position for a certainty, but Coach Hunk Anderson is using him there now and Tatum is the type of young man who likes to "stay put" as long as it's at the top.

Tatum sat on the bench last season waiting, until the winter drills to break loose with some of the best individual play of the off-season practice. He didn't play much as a freshman either, but that's all past history. It's the future that he's thinking about.

Tatum, a cousin of Jim Tatum who did some fine work as a Carolina linebacker, is a big fellow and one of the most likeable men on the State squad. He stands six feet one inch and will weigh 195 pounds by the time of the opening game with Davidson on September 28.

You'd have to look a long while to find a nicer coat of tan than the one Tatum is sporting. How did he get it? There were frequent visits to the beach, baseball games, and many hours on an ice truck.

No one is saying that Tatum is the best right end in the State, but he is good enough to play under Anderson and that means he is a good flankman. In fact he's got to be good to stay on the first team because there are other men wanting to play that particular position.

For instance, there is Roger Mass who alternated last season with Kenneth Stephens. Then there is Russell Nicholson, lanky Raleigh youngster who made his monogram two years ago. Another is Tony Farfala, a sophomore who makes a specialty of catching passes even though he is one of the smallest men on the squad.

Daredevils To Appear At Fair

Thousands of fair goers, who missed "Thrill Day" last year will get their chance to see the attraction that drew one of the largest crowds and sent more people home satisfied than any show in years, when B. Ward Beam's new 1935 Edition Congress of Daredevils plays a return engagement at the North Carolina State Fair, Raleigh, Tuesday afternoon only, October 12th.

Most of the features of the thrill congress will be new, during the winter months Beam has scoured the whole country for new features and promises nine new events on the afternoon's program. In addition to the many new sensational acts, the outstanding thrillers of last year will be brought back again, for this one afternoon only. Among the latter will be the Head-on Collision between two speeding automobiles, auto polo and other features that the crowds liked so well.

There will be fifteen different stunts on the program and the fair management promises that this year's thrill day will be far ahead of last year not only in sensational stunts but in attendance as well.

RICHARDSON IS HELD IN BURKE KILLING

Morganton, Sept. 5.—John Richardson, 40 year old Jonas Ridge township farmer, was ordered held without bond for the murder of I. N. McKinney in Burke county's latest mountain mystery at a preliminary hearing yesterday before Magistrate V. V. Hallman. Trial was set for the December term of Superior Court.

Probable cause of guilt was found after Miss O. Schaefer, local hospital technician, testified that tests showed that stains on planks removed from the McKinney home and barn, and on an iron wrecking bar and lod sled were human blood.

THREE-YEAR-OLD GIRL KILLED IN COLLISION

Wilmington, Sept. 5.—Mary Inez Willetts, 3-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Willetts of Wimbrow, was killed instantly yesterday when a truck on which she was riding with her parents and five other persons overturned after colliding with an oil truck at Jackies creek on state route 30 in Brunswick county about 5 miles from Wilmington.

TO MAKE CUT FLOWERS LAST LONGER WATER FIRST

If you have been given flowers to wear, or are plucking some from your garden with which to adorn your person always let them remain in water for a little while first. This also applies if you are taking flowers to anyone, and is imperative if you are sending flowers by mail. An over-night spent in water will make the flowers stand the journey much better than otherwise. And of course mailed flowers should be wrapped in wet cotton wool—a few stalks to each piece of cotton and covered with wet, glazed paper.

PASSING 2 1-2 YEAR MARK

Palo Alto, Calif. (AP)—Two and a half years ago today, Maurice McLaughlin, whose brilliant play back in 1907 to 1915 earned him that title, is grooming his 16-year-old son, Maurice, Jr., for a court future.

"He has definite championship possibilities," said McLaughlin with pride. "What he needs most from now on is some good stiff competition."

Tall and red-haired like his father was when his name drew international attention, Maurice, Jr., will be a senior in high school this year. He has grown so rapidly—the lad is 6 feet tall—that his father has been prone to let him take the game as he pleases, but not allowing him to work too hard.

"Sonny should start playing tournament tennis soon," added the 43-year-old former Davis cup star. "He should meet better players than himself. That would give him a chance to pick up some valuable pointers."

Not that he hasn't received them from his illustrious father, Maurice, sr., admits he still can defeat his son but feels that he has lost much of that style which made him great. Anyway, McLaughlin's chief interest in sports these days is golf. He shoots a consistent game in the 70s. "I just have Sonny buffaloe," he says. "Now he should play someone else."

McLaughlin, A '70' Golfer, Tutors Son For Court Wars

Remember the "California comet" of the tennis courts, Maurice McLaughlin. Now 45, he takes time off from his golf game, which is consistently in the 70s, to show 16-year-old Maurice, Jr., the court tactics, that made him the ace of the pre-Tilden era. His daughter, Jean, also gets some pointers.

Pasadena, Calif. (AP)—The "California Comet" may flash across the tennis horizon again one of these days.

Washington Daybook

By HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington — Some of Huey Long's choicest barbs on the floor of the senate in the congress just closed were reserved for the five members of the house of representatives from Louisiana outside of his political camp.

Recently the five—Montet, Sandlin, Wilson, Sanders and Dear—issued a joint statement from New Orleans in which they pledged their efforts to rid the state of the influence of Long in the coming elections. Their action irked the "Kingfish" considerably.

On several occasions he made reference to the fact in speeches before the senate.

Huey's Threat

"I come before the electorate in Louisiana in four months," he shouted. "I challenge the whole damned gummied kit and barrel of the Democratic party to come down and beat me."

"And I want to tell you," he would add "you'll not see the faces of these members of the house here in the next congress."

Unconsciously perhaps the White House just before congress was adjourned placed in the hands of the "kingfish" what may prove to be a powerful weapon in making good this threat.

Representative Wilson, one of the five who have decreed Long must go, as chairman of the house flood control committee, succeeded after long effort in getting through the 163 congress a flood control measure of vital interest to Louisiana.

It provided for reimbursement to the amount of several million dollars losses sustained by property owners who surrendered lands that levees on the Mississippi river might be straightened.

President Roosevelt vetoed the measure two days before congress adjourned.

Stamp Talk

From a political standpoint, the veto is important because it plays right into Long's hands as far as these congressmen are concerned. At least that is what they say privately. Here is what they fear:

When Long opens his campaign for reelection and their defeat he will make much of this veto on the stump. He'll call the voters attention to the fact that Representative Wilson, for example, chairman of an important committee, author of the measure and a friend of the President, was unable to get White House approval of a proposition important to Louisiana. That, Huey will say, is proof of Wilson's influence in Washington.

Then he'll turn around, they declare, and point out that this is evidence of how President Roosevelt and the "new dealers" double-cross their friends—a favorite theme of his.

THIS AREA TO FEEL EFFECTS OF HURRICANE

Rain And Probably Wind to Accompany Tropical Disturbance Up N.C. Coast

Although effects of the hurricane which recently swept over Florida with such disastrous consequences is scheduled to be felt on the Carolina coast today, it is not believed any damage will be caused in this immediate territory.

Abnormally warm temperatures, accompanied by intermittent rains for the past two days, have been attributed to the hurricane, which was reported moving up the coast to Georgia where it is expected to go out to sea.

Weather observers have warned coastal areas to be on the lookout for gales and rain tonight, but danger of much damage was averted. Manteo last night felt gales of 30 miles velocity and Wilmington apparently was in for a stiff blow during the day and probably tonight.

With clouds hanging over this community today, it was indicated this section might be in for considerable rainfall, accompanied by strong winds. The wind, however, is not expected to assume proportions as forecast for coastal territories.

Reports received here today from Florida indicated the loss of life from the storm might reach 1,000 with heavy damage to property also being reported.

Moving into Georgia early today, the tropical disturbance is expected to cause considerable loss to crops and probably to buildings near the Florida line.

Two years ago this community experienced high winds and rain from a similar storm moving up from Florida and coastal regions suffered irreparable loss of property. The river bridge at New Bern was washed away with streets of that city being flooded for two days or longer.

ALDERMEN TO MEET TONIGHT

Routine Business Expected To Consume Major Part Of To-Night's Session

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Aldermen will be held at the city hall tonight at 8 o'clock with routine business expected to consume most of the session.

However, the aldermen are expected to give some attention to the application recently filed by the city with the WPA for funds to carry on paving operations in the eastern section of the city. The application, calling for a number of blocks of pavement as well as curbing and gutter, was filed following a special session of the board the first of the week. The total amount asked for has not been announced.

A survey of the districts seeking pavement has been made by the city engineer during the last several weeks. Mayor R. C. Flanagan is expected to make a report of the progress of the paving program during tonight's session.

The WPA required that it be furnished with all information in connection with the project and this was included in the application along with the total amount of payment asked for by citizens in petitions filed with the board over a period of several months. The board placed a time limit on the filing period and when this was up the survey was begun.

The major portion of the program is in College View and Chatham Circle but reaches into several surrounding sections. Citizens have been pressing for the paving a long time prior to the decision to ask the WPA for sufficient funds to put the whole program over at one time.

The board always has plenty of routine business to occupy its time and about two hours probably will be required to complete tonight's session.

SPEECHES BY ROOSEVELT, SNELL, SEEN AS THE OPENING GUNS IN 1936 PRESIDENTIAL BATTLE

By BYRON PRICE
(Chief of Bureau, The Associated Press, Washington)

Although election day still is some 14 months away, the disposition of political leaders now is to speak of the 1936 campaign in the present, rather than the future tense.

Various unusually early party activities have contributed to this, but the culminating event—widely regarded as a sort of curtain raiser—was the exchange of speeches between President Roosevelt and Republican House Leader Snell.

Mr. Roosevelt disclaimed political intent, but he spoke over the air to a Democratic party gathering, and he dealt almost exclusively with topics which are surrounded by the most active political dispute.

Mr. Snell hardly alluded at all to political affiliations, but his address to the nation was delivered under the auspices of the Republican National Committee, and his appeal for votes against the New Deal was frank and open.

Motives, whether partisan or not, usually weigh far less than results when politics is involved. What the politicians think of is the political effect, and most of them are thinking that these two speeches really opened a political campaign.

President Spoke To Youth. This being true, it is well worth while to examine the speeches and the surrounding circumstances in some detail. The following facts are set down for whatever they may be worth as indicating what is to come hereafter.

From among many invitations the President chose to deliver his message to a gathering of young people, among whom the bent upward liberalism is commonly supposed to be far stronger than it is among their elders.

From among many available orators, a speaker commonly regarded as a staunch conservative was selected to make the Republican reply.

Both addresses were couched largely in general terms, with little specific mention of concrete governmental problems or individual legislative proposals.

The one specific measure to which Mr. Snell devoted considerable space was the bill increasing the tax on wealth, which he condemned as designed to "confiscate property."

The special points advanced by Mr. Roosevelt were in relation to regulation of banking and industry, which he spoke of as necessary to save the economic structure.

Background Shadows. Easily discernible in the background of the discussion lay the shadow of the constitutional issue; but its outlines remained almost as nebulous afterward as they were before the two speeches were delivered.

Mr. Roosevelt talked of challenging "the methods of the old order," but he did not say what, if any, constitutional amendment he favored.

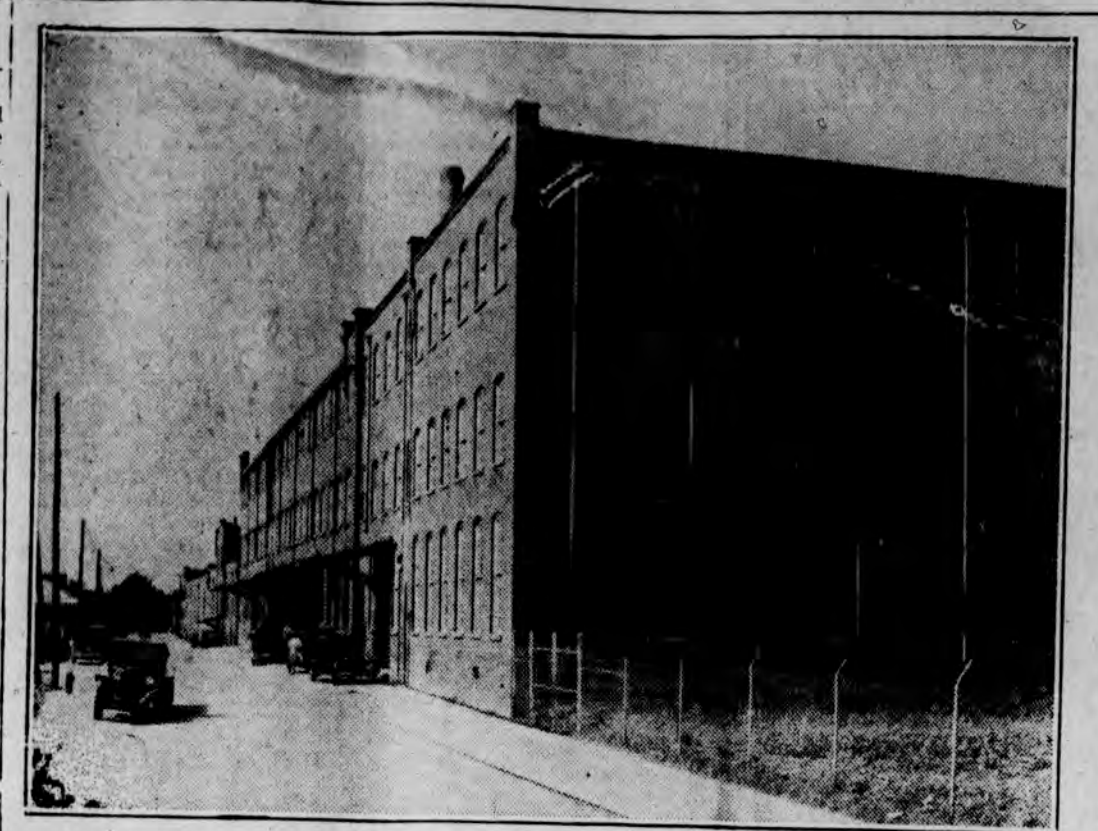

Mr. Snell rejoined by protesting against any new order which would require "that our federal constitution must be wholly rewritten."

The disparity in terms between these two utterances is obvious. Whether Mr. Roosevelt's mind and Mr. Snell's mind met in a clear-cut constitutional issue remains a mystery; certainly their words did not.

Nor is there any real assurance that this issue will be more clearly defined before election day—that is, that the Democrats will say directly that they favor any constitutional change, or that the Republicans will say directly they oppose all constitutional change.

Such issues have a way of getting tangled up in inconclusive language when the platform committees of political parties come into possession of them. That is, as it might happen to this issue next year.

However clear the issues may become in next year's presidential contest, a certain amount of legibility is forecast for many of the individual campaigns of senators and representatives running for reelection.

These members must run on their own records, and in many instances, the records are confusing as to party allegiance. Many of Mr. Roosevelt's favorite proposals failed to command anything like solid Democratic support in the recent session, but several of them did attract appreciable blocks of Republican votes.

Those who changed over, in either direction, must make their own campaigns in their own way. That means that in some congressional districts the Democratic congressional man will be found standing with the President on some issues and against him on others, and the same will be true of many Republicans.

It makes a rather scrambled outlook for the central congressional campaign committees of the two parties.

It is apparent that the Democrats made some approach to solidarity on the social security bill, the Wagner labor relations bill, the AAA amendments, and the big works relief appropriation.

The first three of these, however, would seem to be removed from political dispute in many congressional districts because the Republicans also voted preponderantly in favor of them.

The figures on the Guffey bill are inconclusive, and it is impossible to arrive at definite conclusions from the bonus roll call, since both parties strongly supported the bonus (against the desires of the President) and the whole battle is to be fought over again in January.

That leaves three issues on which a rather widespread battle is indicated in the congressional wars of 1936.

One is the works relief program, favored by Democrats almost 2 to 1, and opposed by Republicans about 2 to 1. A second is the wealth taxes, supported by Democrats 10 to 1, and opposed by Republicans 3 to 1. A third is the utilities holding company "death sentence"—the issue on which the Democrats are the widest and on which the Republicans showed greatest solidarity.

When you come down to the records of individuals, the case is even more confusing.

There will be only a small number of senators and representatives who can go before the electorate on a platform of complete support for all of the President's policies, and only a small number who can claim to have stood completely against him.

So in these local elections, it will have to be pretty much every man for himself. That will not make the job of the presidential nominees or their managers any easier.
