Two Die In Storm At New Bern

TERRIFIC GALES CAUSE $100,000 DAMAGE IN PITT

OTHER AREAS OF CAROLINAS HEAVY LOSERS

Three Houses, Fired By Broken Power Line, Burned at New Bern Near Scene Where Two Were Electrocuted; Wharves Battered By Backlash of Hurricane On Coast; Sound Country Virtually Untouched

New Bern, Sept. 6.—(AP)—Two deaths and some property damage was the toll of strong gales that swept through this area last night.

The dead are Mr. and Mrs. David W. Thompson, who were electrocuted shortly after midnight this morning when they came in contact with power lines which had fallen into their yard at Sunnydale, a New Bern suburb.

Three bungalows a block from the scene of the electrocution were burned, and falling from power lines that fell on the building in the strong wind.

Firemen were hampered by the live wires which carried 2,300 volts of current and a heavy downpour of rain.

Gale winds raged through the night reaching a velocity of from 50 to 65 miles an hour about 3 a. m. when the winds shifted from the south to the southwest and later to the west.

It was accompanied by torrential rain, a precipitation of 3.24 inches being reported officially for the night.

There was no threat of high tides at any time and this morning water in the Neuse river was unusually low.

(By Associated Press)

Two persons were electrocuted by falling wires, wharves were battered, a few houses damaged and communications interrupted in the Carolinas last night and early today by the backlash and whipping fringes of the disastrous hurricane that roared up from the Florida Keys.

High waves and high winds along the coast were reported as having done only minor damage.

Mr. and Mrs. David W. Thompson of New Bern, N. C., were electrocuted early today when they came in contact with power lines blown down at their home. Gale winds blew at New Bern and three houses were burned. Heavy rains fell.

The storm was accompanied by scattered tornadoes which seemed to do more damage than the hurricane.

While high waves smashed over seawalls, melted giant sand dunes along the coast, several inland communities were struck by tornadoes which uprooted trees, damaged several houses and hay crops.

Fishing settlements along the North Carolina coast reported virtually no damage from the blast of the hurricane.

Extraordinary precautions were taken along the sound country north of Wilmington which was believed to have felt the center of the storm as a hurricane which visited that area with loss of life and immense property damage two years ago was fresh in the memories of residents.

When morning came the officers quarters at Fort Macon CCC camp was discovered to have been wrecked by wind and tides although no one was hurt.

Telephone communications with the northeastern corner of the state including Elizabeth City and Roanoke Island were cut off today.

Concern however, was diminished by indications that the storm had lost a good deal of its intensity as it moved northward.

Sarsaparilla is prepared from the roots of the smilax, a plant indigenous to Central America from the southern and western coasts of Mexico to Peru.

NO DAMAGE FROM STORM AT MOREHEAD

A private telegraphic communication received by the Daily Reflector from Morehead City this afternoon stated that "no damage at all" was done at Atlantic Beach last night by the backlash of the hurricane which swept up the Carolina coast from Florida.

The message stated "slight storm accompanied by considerable rain" visited the beach, and that weather conditions were "nice" this morning.

Numbers of Greenville people own cottages at the beach, and were fearful of heavy loss until they were advised by the Reflector that damage was negligible.

JUDGE WOOTEN PRESIDENT OF HOSPITAL HERE

Other Officers of Pitt General Hospital, Inc., Are Selected at Meeting Here

Announcement of the change of Pitt Community hospital to Pitt General Hospital several days ago, was followed today by announcement of the officers of the new institution.

They are:

Judge F. M. Wooten, president; J. S. Slay, vice-president and R. C. Stokes, Jr., secretary and treasurer.

Final plans looking to organization of the new institution were completed here last night at a meeting of the board of directors of the old institution and the board of trustees of the new hospital.

The trustees of Pitt General hospital are Judge F. M. Wooten, R. J. Slay and R. C. Stokes, Jr.

It was announced today that the hospital staff would function as formerly with the board of trustees to have charge of the general operation of the institution. The general staff will direct regular hospital activities however.

The new institution has provided a department for patients not able to pay for hospital care through funds from the Duke foundation supplemented by local funds. Persons able to pay will be charged at the regular rate, it was said.

Announcement of the incorporation of the new institution was made from Raleigh several days ago, and several meetings of officials of the old and new institutions have been held recently to perfect plans for future activities.

At the meeting last night it was understood final plans looking to operation were completed.

Additions were recently added to the building to take care of increased patronage from this section of the state, and the perfection of plans for operation of the Pitt General hospital today found the institution in better shape than ever to take care of the demands of the people of this territory.

Three Injured In Clinton Tornado

Clinton, Sept. 6.—Three persons were injured, one perhaps fatally, seven buildings were destroyed and considerable other property damage was suffered near here yesterday afternoon when a tornado struck over a wide area.

On the farm of ex-Sheriff Henry Moore of Sampson County, a mile and a half east of Clinton, two mules were killed when a barn was blown down. A large amount of stored tobacco was damaged as other barns crumpled before the twister on the same farm.

Becky Parker, aged negro woman, sustained critical injuries when her house was demolished. She is not expected to live. Mrs. Mattie Reeves and Ira Barfield, 15-year-old youth who were in a house on the Moore farm, sustained slight injuries as the structure tumbled.

The filling station of Fulton Pope was demolished. Mr. Pope, standing under the shed of the station as the wind struck, escaped injury.

Several hundreds of pounds of tobacco in other barns in the stockpen area were badly damaged. P. H. Rouse lost a barn and considerable tobacco.

MUCH TOBACCO MARKETING ON FLOORS HERE

Million Pounds In Warehouses Here Today, Despite Last Night's Storm

Despite rain and high winds which swept over this part of the state last night and early today, farmers marketed a million pounds of leaf on the floors of the ten warehouses here today. It was indicated sales would be completed during the late afternoon and warehousemen will then turn their attention to clearing floors for heavier sales Monday morning, the beginning of the third week of activity.

Little change was noted in the price situation this morning. As customary the past two weeks, a considerable amount of common and damaged tobacco was offered. Prices apparently remained firm.

The official report of sales made public this morning by K. W. Cobb, supervisor of sales, showed the market yesterday sold a total of 1,036,862 pounds of tobacco. Farmers were paid $190,766.23 and the general market average was $13.40.

With the weekly report period ending yesterday, the supervisor also made public figures for the week and season.

During the week a total of 4,676,720 pounds of tobacco was marketed for which growers received $658,654.86. The average for the period was $13.36.

For the season, the supervisor reported the sale of 7,889,378 pounds for $1,434,685 at an average of $18.11.

Although the market has experienced several million pound days since the opening Monday two weeks ago, it was expected increased offerings would be noted next week, barring unfavorable weather conditions.

The latter part of last week and several days this week have been marked by rain and farmers have been handicapped considerably in the marketing of their crop. Observers believe, however, that with clearing skies the pilgrimage to this great bright leaf center will be more pronounced than ever.

Farmers from far removed localities continue to sell their tobacco in Greenville. Probably the farthest point noted this season was Winston Salem. Two loads from that point were marketed here yesterday. Other areas are expected to be noted on the market in the future.

HOLD RITES FOR YOUTH

Funeral For Floyd Matthews Batchelor Conducted From Methodist Church

Funeral services for Floyd Matthews Batchelor, 6, who died at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Batchelor, here yesterday morning at 10 o'clock, were conducted from Jarvis Memorial Methodist church this afternoon at 3 o'clock by Dr. G. R. Combs, pastor of the church, assisted by Rev. A. W. Fleischmann, pastor of Memorial Baptist church. Interment was made in Greenwood cemetery.

The youth popular among a wide circle of friends, died following three months' illness. His condition became critical recently and little hope was held out for his recovery.

The final rites were largely attended and a large floral tribute was expressive of the high esteem in which he was held.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Batchelor; two brothers, Edward, Jr., and Billie Mae Batchelor and a sister, Olive Lytle Batchelor.

PRES. ROOSEVELT DECLARES U. S. ON ROAD TO RECOVERY

BASIC PLANS OF 'NEW DEAL' FULFILLED

Tells Publisher Of Scripps-Howard Papers 'This Moment Conditions Are Such As To Offer Substantial And Widespread Recovery; Asserts Nation Gaining Confidence In Future

Hyde Park, Sept. 6.—(AP)—President Roosevelt today declared the new deal's basic program had reached "substantial completion" and a "breathing spell" for industry is "here—very decidedly so."

He asserted further "that at this moment conditions are such as to offer substantial and widespread recovery."

The president gave his view in a letter to Roy W. Howard, publisher of the Scripps-Howard newspapers, who reported fears of business men and asserted "there is need to undo the damage that has been done by misinterpretations of the new deal."

In perhaps his most complete exposition of his administration and his ideas for the future, the president said he claimed no "magic wand" but "we do claim that we have helped to restore that public confidence which now offers substantial foundation for our recovery."

"I think," he wrote, "that we are all not merely seeking but getting the recovery of confidence, not merely the confidence of a small group, but that basic confidence on the part of the mass of our population in the economic life and in the earnestness and justness of purpose of its economic rules and methods."

Smashes Window, Steals Jewelry

Tarboro, Sept. 6.—Smashing a window in Bell's jewelry store here at 1 o'clock yesterday morning an unidentified negro got away with two watches, a ring and a bracelet, the lot valued at $62. The noise of the crashing glass brought a policeman to the scene, but he was unable to make an arrest. He could tell that the fleeing figure was that of a negro, but was not close enough to identify him.

THE NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

News Behind The News.

Washington By RAY TUCKER

POLITICS: GOP strategists refuse to subscribe to the theory that the Democrats have a mortgage on the West for 1936. Their private polls lead them to believe that the states beyond the Mississippi are a debatable battleground.

Although glad to accept AAA bounty, the wheat and corn-hog farmers are reported to feel that a more permanent agricultural policy is needed. The legal and political attacks on the bounties and processing taxes warn them that the rest of the country won't stand for this setup forever. Basically Republican and conservative, returning high prices are heading them toward their old moorings.

In the Northwest the Republicans say they find a different feeling. In that country the farmers are supposed to favor inflation as against the temporary AAA program. GOP publicists therefore are spreading word that the inflationary Frazier-Lemke bill was kept from passage only by White House intervention. They blame its defeat on President Roosevelt himself.

SPLITS: But the Republicans have discovered no substitute for the Wallace-Roosevelt program. Although they don't talk about this problem it's in the back of their minds as a party-splitting issue—like the liquor question in 1932.

The Springfield "grass roots" conference denounced agricultural control measures by speeches but not by resolutions. The Young Republicans meeting in Yellowstone Park called vaguely for "something just as good." The Old Guard wants to junk the whole works.

Approves $200,000 For Florida Relief Activity

Washington, Sept. 6.—(AP)—An initial allotment of $200,000 for relief of Florida hurricane victims was approved today by Harry L. Hopkins.

Sending of the fund will be in charge of Governor Dave Scholz who was given full authority to use it for any relief purposes he considered advisable.

Storm Survivors On Way Home Columbia, S. C., Sept. 6.—(AP)—A special train bearing 216 persons nearly all of the passengers of the storm buffeted steamship Dixie passed through here shortly after 2 p. m. today on its way north.

The 13 cars of the train were filled with persons who showed signs of the strain of their ordeal aboard the ship.

Several of the passengers were under the care of physicians aboard the train but none were said to be in a serious condition.

The train was headed for New York by way of Raleigh, N. C., Richmond, Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia and Newark, N. Y.

Begin Relief Work. Miami, Sept. 6.—(AP)—Wearing masks armies of men moved into the hurricane devastated Florida Keys today for the gruesome task of bringing back the dead already totaling 26 according to a Red Cross estimate.

There were conflicting reports as to the exact damage and death dealt by the hurricane which after sweeping through the Keys generated storms in other states to the north.

The Red Cross announced that of 817 war veterans, caught by the hurricane as they were engaged in construction work in the Keys 320 were missing today and 144 bodies have been recovered. 70 civilians were missing throughout Florida.

OVERFLOW OF N. C. RIVERS IS PREDICTED

Raleigh, Sept. 6.—(AP)—Lee A. Denson, weather bureau chief here, said this afternoon he expected "overflow" within the next 24 hours in the Neuse, Tar, Cape Fear and Roanoke rivers in eastern North Carolina due to torrential rains in the state yesterday and last night, as a hurricane moved up the coast.

Rainfall at 3 to 5 inches was reported generally over the state Denson said.

Warnings of the overflows will be issued tonight.

CITY FATHERS PRAISED FOR FINE RECORD

Report On Annual Audit Gives Greenville Best Rating Of Any Town Its Size

The Board of Aldermen, meeting in regular monthly session at the city hall last night heard the city administration highly commended for the splendid way the affairs of the municipality had been handled during the past fiscal year.

The words of praise were contained in the report on the annual audit by the George Scott Company, of Charlotte, and was read by Mr. Bass, representative of the firm who has had charge of the audit here for four years or longer.

Mr. Bass declared the City of Greenville was in the best condition since he began the annual audit in 1931. He complimented the tax, city clerk and water and light departments for the way their work was handled, declaring he found that the books balanced to the cent in each department.

He said the administration had set a fine example for other governments during the last several years, and that the record of the past year was probably the best of any other city of similar size in this section of the country.

After completing consideration of the budget report, the aldermen discussed briefly the effort now on foot to obtain a government loan and grant for inaugurating an ambitious paving program in the eastern and western sections of the city.

Although the board took no definite action, it was indicated they would mark time while awaiting a report on the application from the WPA at Raleigh. The application was filed sometime ago and called for paving (Continued on Page Five)

BOARD STARTS MOVEMENT FOR ARMORY HERE

Committees Begin Work Today to Seek Site For Armory-Community House

A movement to obtain an armory and community house for Greenville was started at the regular meeting of the Board of Aldermen at the city hall last night.

After listening to two speakers present the advantages to be derived from a building to house the local military unit and community house, the board drafted resolutions instructing a committee to cooperate with committees from various clubs of the city and the Chamber of Commerce to obtain a suitable site for the proposed building.

If the city provides the site, the government will make money available for the building, it was stated, and the committee from the aldermen was to meet with other committees at 5 o'clock this afternoon to consider the matter.

The committee from the board is composed of Aldermen Massey, Tait and Duncan.

The need of an armory and community house for the city was presented to the board by Herbert Waldrop, captain of the local unit of the 113th artillery, and J. C. Lanier, former captain of the company. They told of the work of the local military unit and what it meant to the city and declared it should have a home of its own to carry on its activities. The community house, which would be in connection with the same building, was also described as "badly needed" by the city.

The government plans to build the armory if a site is provided was also presented by the speakers, it being pointed out that numbers of other cities in this part of the state as well as in other sections of the country were taking advantage of government offer.

The board listened attentively to the suggestions and then acted immediately to carry out the proposal. No prospective locations were mentioned in the discussions last night.

Ward told officers it was so dark at the time he did not see Spain standing in the road. Spain said the accident occurred at about 6:40. Both cars were damaged.

MANY HOUSES ARE WRECKED BY HIGH WIND

Hundreds of Acres of Tobacco Blown Over Fields As Packhouses Collapse on Several Farms on North Side of River; Two Persons Injured As Homes Collapse Over Heads; Animals Killed

Greenville and community last night experienced winds of gale proportions from the tropical hurricane reported yesterday afternoon to be moving up the coast of Georgia, and today counted two injured, and property damage roughly estimated at above $100,000.

The wind, accompanied by a driving rain during the night, struck a small farming community on the north side of Tar river, about three miles from Greenville, with terrific force, causing injury to Joe Mayo and wife, tenants on the G. V. Smith farm, when their small dwelling collapsed over their heads.

They were rushed to the local hospital early this morning, and while not critically injured, their condition was reported as very painful. They suffered severely from shock as they had to wait until morning to find out what damage which along with sections of the house had been blown into nearby fields.

Several light structures were blown down in Greenville, along with sign boards and trees, and the city was in darkness a portion of the night as poles were felled and wires tangled in several parts of the city. Both telephone and telegraph service were said to have been disrupted by the storm.

The storm struck with terrific force on the farms of G. V. Smith, Clifton Jones, Joe Jenkins, Van Fleming, Zeb Brown and Sam Harris on the north side of the river, wrecking tobacco pack houses, stables and scattering scores of acres of tobacco a mile or two from the barns. A mule and three cows were reported killed on the Zeb Brown farm, and similar damage to other farms is expected as related reports reach the city.

G. V. Smith reported this morning he had four barns and two packhouses moved to the ground by the terrific wind, with 12 acres of tobacco stored in the two packhouses being scattered over the fields a mile or two from the barn sites. He also had a double stable blown down, killing a cow and several pigs.

Mr. Smith estimated his loss at around $5,000 and said the final figures would probably exceed that amount. A complete check of the damage had not been made at the time his loss was estimated.

Joe Mayo and his wife, tenants on the Smith farm, were asleep when their home collapsed around them. They were forced to remain in their night clothes until daylight, when their clothing which had blown far out into the fields with household furniture, was recovered, as soon as Mr. Smith reached the farm this morning, suffering severely from cuts and bruises, and exposure to wind and rain.

Clayton Jones was reported to have lost two tobacco barns, a large packhouse containing about eight acres of tobacco. His dwelling house was also extensively damaged. Hundreds of pounds of bright leaf tobacco which had just recently been housed and prepared for marketing was scattered over fields. His loss was not estimated but it will probably reach $4,000 or $5,000.

The loss sustained by Van Fleming will probably not be known until late in the day when a check has been completed. His packhouse containing around 25 acres of tobacco, was wrecked and the tobacco was blown a considerable distance over the fields. His loss may reach as high as $10,000, if not more.

Zeb Brown's tobacco barns and packhouse were leveled to the ground. A mule and three cows were killed and several acres of tobacco scattered and badly damaged.

FARMER HURT IN CAR WRECK

James Case Suffers Broken Leg And Other Injuries On Farmville Road

James Case, farmer, residing on the Greenville-Farmville highway, several miles from Greenville was in the local hospital today suffering from injuries sustained when an automobile he was helping get started was struck by another machine said to have been driven by W. G. Ward, of Greenville.

Suffering from a broken leg, cuts on the head and severe shock, Case was rushed to Greenville for medical aid. Although seriously hurt, hospital attendants held out strong hope for his recovery.

No charge had been preferred against Ward, who escaped, as did Jack Spain, Greenville automobile salesman, who had been driving the car struck by Ward's machine.

Spain had been to Case's home to talk to him about the purchase of a new machine. Spain got into his car and started back to town. A short distance from the Case house, the car balked and positively refused to run. Seeing Spain's predicament, Case went to the machine to help as Spain got onto the highway to attempt to flag down cars approaching from both directions.

One machine saw the signals and stopped, but Ward, who claimed he did not see Spain, crashed into the rear of the machine, knocking both Case and the car into a ditch on the side of the road.

Ward told officers it was so dark at the time he did not see Spain standing in the road. Spain said the accident occurred at about 6:40. Both cars were damaged.

SAY SPECIAL LEGISLATURE NEEDED IN N. C.

Old Age Pensions and Liquor Legislation Should Be Passed by Assembly

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel.
By J. C. BASKERVILLE

Raleigh, Sept. 6.—A special session of the general assembly is needed just as much as ever in order to pass enabling states laws to cooperate with the Federal government on old age pensions and unemployment insurance and to pass some type of state-wide liquor legislation, according to many here. They maintain that the failure of Congress to pass the deficiency appropriation bill, containing the $75,000,000 for old age pensions, has in no way removed the necessity for North Carolina to pass a state old age pension law and point out that this appropriation will be passed as soon as Congress meets in January. The result will be that those states which have their own old age pension laws in effect by January will be in line to share in the old age pension plan, while those which do not have these laws will be left out in the cold when the Federal appropriation is allotted. For Federal old age pension funds will be allotted only to those states which will match them dollar for dollar from state funds.

There is also a growing need for the enactment of some sort of a statewide liquor control law, since if the liquor situation is left in the muddle in which it now is until the 1937 general assembly meets, it will be impossible to get any kind of a state-wide control law, many observers here are convinced. For if the liquor business is left in the hands of the counties until 1937, it will be impossible to ever get it out of county hands and county politics, a great many are convinced.

"If the state is ever to exercise any control over the liquor business in North Carolina or ever get any revenue from it—even fifty per cent of the revenue—it will have to enact the necessary legislation between now and January," a member of the 1935 senate said here today. "For the counties that now have liquor stores and which are getting all the revenue from the sale of liquor are going to fight harder and harder to retain their hold on all of this revenue and are already lining up other counties to help them in their fight. By 1937 the counties that now have liquor stores will have so many counties lined up with them which want liquor stores on the same basis, that it will be impossible to get any state wide liquor control law or for the state to get any of the revenue from the sale of liquor."

This same view is shared by many others who have been following the course of the muddled liquor legislation enacted by the 1935 general assembly and who think something should be done to untangle the present situation before it becomes too late. A good many frankly regard Governor J. C. B. Ehringhaus as large to blame for the present liquor law muddle because of his refusal to take a hand in it until the last hour of the last day of the 1935 session and think he should now act by calling a special session to undo what was done and work out a state-wide law that will apply to every county in the state that may want liquor stores, instead of only to 16 counties as at present.

It is generally agreed here, however, that Governor Ehringhaus will not call a special session merely to consider enactment of a state-wide liquor law. But some think there may still be a chance that he may call a special session to consider old age pensions and other social security legislation if it becomes apparent that such legislation must be enacted before January 1, 1936.

Black Jack Revival To Begin Soon

The annual series of evangelistic meetings will begin at Black Jack Free Will Baptist church Tuesday evening, September 10th at 7:30 p. m. instead of Monday evening as announced on the last third Sunday.

Owing to the failure of Rev. M. L. Hollis, of Tupelo, Miss., to conduct the meeting, or do the preaching, which failure is due to sickness in his family, the preaching will be by the pastor, Rev. J. C. Griffin, who has been engaged in evangelistic meetings for the past four weeks, and who is closing out a two week series at Union Chapel church, near Chocowinity, Sunday. The Union Chapel meeting is drawing good congregations with conversions. The baptism will be Sunday afternoon.

"The meeting at Black Jack is for the saving of the lost and the building up of the believer, and not merely to get church members," states Rev. Griffin, "and all who would like to have such a meeting are invited to join in and help it to be a reality."

GIVES HEAVY FINES FOR RESELLING RUM
Wilmington, Sept. 6.—Three men convicted of reselling ABC store whiskey from their stand at Carolina Beach after the legal stores had closed were given heavy sentences by Judge Alton A. Lennon in recorder's court Wednesday.

F. A. Jewell, described as operator of the refreshment stand and a Carolina Beach concessionaire, was fined $4,000 and the costs, or two years on the county farm. He noted an appeal to superior court through his attorney, W. L. Farmer, and bond of $500 was fixed.

Stanley Verbal, described as a partner in the refreshment stand venture, was fined $2,000 and the costs, or 15 months on the farm. Judge Lennon told his attorney, L. Clayton Grant, he would take a request for a lightening of his sentence under consideration. No appeal was immediately filed.

The third defendant, Elwood Dobson, 18, who said he came here from Duplin county three weeks ago and had been working in the stand for one week, was fined $200 and the costs, or four months on the farm. His attorney, Cleaves M. Symmes, noted an appeal and bond of $200 was set.

ALLEGED KILLER GOES TO HOSPITAL
Wilson, Sept. 26.—Ed Lamm, 26-year-old Wilson county white man, who has been in jail here since January 14 charged with the early morning murder of Hartley Jones was judged insane by a Superior Court jury here yesterday and was committed to the State Hospital for the Criminal Insane in Raleigh by Judge E. H. Cramer.

A number of Lamm's immediate family and his friends took the stand this afternoon and testified that all through his life the Wilson county man had been addicted to periods when his mind was in such a state that he couldn't tell right from wrong. The insanity plea was introduced by his lawyers, A. O. Dickens and M. S. Strickland of Wilson, this afternoon together with a plea of not guilty of the murder of Jones and a plea of accidental killing. Judge Cramer refused to try Lamm on the not guilty plea until he had been tried for insanity.

The Custom College, founded in 1906 to train young Chinese for the maritime customs service, is being moved to Shanghai. The College of Salt Administration, opened in 1920 to prepare personnel for the government salt monopoly, is being closed.

The schools have four years of technical training.

Third District Congressman Refuses to Express Self On Raleigh Visit

Reflector Bureau.
Sir Walter Hotel.
Raleigh, Sept. 6.—Congressman Graham A. Barden of the Third District, paying his first visit to Raleigh since Congress adjourned, declined to express any opinion concerning a special session of the general assembly to pass cooperative social security laws, the liquor situation or the sales tax, taking the position that since he no longer had any connection with the state government and had been away from the state for so long, that these matters were not in his realm. But as to Congressional matters, he talked freely.

"Whether it was apparent down here or not, Congress tried to enact some constructive and helpful legislation this session from which all the states will benefit. North Carolina among them," Congressman Barden said. "There is no doubt that North Carolina as a whole has benefitted from many of the Roosevelt policies and will benefit still more in the future. It cannot be denied that the cotton farmers, the tobacco farmers and all other farmers have derived great benefit from efforts made by the administration to help agriculture and from the AAA crop control program. Since returning from Washington to my home district, I have found that a majority of the farmers and others are fully aware of what the President and Congress have done to help them and are more solidly back of Mr. Roosevelt than ever before."

When asked what the trouble was with the Public Works Administration and the Works Progress Administration in Washington and their apparent attitude of discrimination towards North Carolina in the approval of projects for this state, Congressman Barden said that if there was any discrimination against the state, he was ready to go to the mat with these agencies in an effort to remove it. But he was inclined to believe that what now appeared to be discrimination was due more to ignorance of conditions here than deliberate intent to deny the state what it was entitled to.

"There are some government officials and employees in Washington who think they know all about conditions in the various states, but who sometimes don't know as much as they think they do," Barden said.

HERBERT PLUMMER
Washington — Those who followed the bitter fight on the utility holding company bill—a fight unparalleled in legislative history—found surface explanations for final agreement on the question inadequate.

Pressure for adjournment of congress, advanced by many as a reason, undoubtedly contributed something toward acceptance of the now famous "Barkley compromise" which broke the deadlock on the "death sentence," but it is agreed generally it was far from the deciding factor.

The truth is, as those on the inside view it, neither proponents of the "death sentence" or those who opposed it so bitterly emerged victorious. And, the utterly vanquished was the utility lobby.

Representative Cooper of Ohio, one of the Republican conferees on the bill, probably came as near voicing the consensus on the "Barkley compromise" as any when he told members of the house:

"Do not think anyone will be deceived by this different shroud of language in which death has been newly wrapped."

By Cohen And Corcoran
The hands of those two bright young braintrusts — Ben Cohen and Tom Corcoran—who wrote the original draft of the bill, were evident to the last. It was Cohen and Corcoran who drafted Section 11, eliminating holding companies, and it was they who rewrote Section 11 and renamed it the "Barkley compromise."

Gossip has it that when the two sat down to draft the compromise they kept constantly before them copies of supreme court decisions in the "hot oil" case and the one which invalidated NRA—each setting forth in unmistakable language just how far congress could go in delegating legislative authority.

What It Means
Stripped of its technical language the compromise means this: It executes a transfer of the burden of proof, as to the public interest served, to the shoulders of the individual holding companies. The senate bill decreed death to them, regardless. The house bill would have required the securities commission to establish on its own motion that a holding company was unnecessary and undesirable from the standpoint of public interest.

The "Barkley compromise" provides that when a holding company is questioned it must prove that it is rendering a public service in order to be eligible for a reprieve at the hands of the securities commission or else be dissolved.

It goes further than that. A holding company, hailed before the commission, may be paroled on good public interest behavior.

Denies Driving Car That Ran Over Pitt Man

Tarboro, Sept. 6.—Arrested on suspicion in connection with the death of Woodrow Wilson Peden, 21, who died in a Greenville hospital after being run over by a hit-and-run driver a short distance this side of the Edgecombe-Pitt county line near Falkland early Sunday morning, Henry Adams, 20, of Falkland, was subjected to intensive questioning in the office of Sheriff W. E. Barden here Wednesday, but strongly denied any knowledge of the crime.

Adams was said by the sheriff to have been accused by Falkland residents of having been the last person seen with Peden, but Adams firmly denied he had been in Peden's company on the night prior to the finding of Peden in a diving condition on the highway in the early morning hours.

The man was jailed pending further investigation.

Stops Jail Break.
Warrenton, Sept. 6.—With a gun in her hands, Mrs. Lee Wilson, wife of the Warren County jailer, forced two prisoners back into their cells as two others escaped here yesterday morning. One of the pair was recaptured.

Mrs. Wilson, discovering Eddie Campbell, 19-year-old negro held on a murder charge, and David Allgood, 17-year-old negro charged with theft of a bicycle, escaping over the wire fence around the jail here, seized a gun in time to prevent others from following.

The two negroes who escaped had forced the lock of their cell with a wooden brace which they had torn from a ladder.

Deal on all fronts.

FRIENDLY: Comptroller General McCarl must be slipping or submitting to the personal charm of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The President called in the hard-boiled financial watchdog when the death of the Third Deficiency bill killed the appropriation for setting up the Social Security Board. As expected, Mr. McCarl ruled that other funds could not be used to pay old age or unemployment allowances. But he resorted to a legal ruse to permit the tapping of other appropriations for establishing administrative agencies.

Mr. McCarl held that members of the board and technical staff could be paid from relief money on the theory that this expenditure provided jobs for needy people. It is, perhaps, the first time in fourteen years that the Comptroller General has let his heart rule his head, although not the first time he has wanted to.

BETTING: The New Deal's major political prophet—Emil Hurja—scoffs at suggestions that President Roosevelt faces a hard reelection campaign. Despite his admitted prejudice Washington listens to him respectfully because his forecasts rang true in 1932 and 1934—uncannily true.

Mr. Hurja backs up his opinions with private bets for dinners and hats. He has wagered that Mr.
Roosevelt will carry any state which has advanced a favorite son for the GOP presidential nomination. He has also bet that the President will sweep Louisiana even against the Kingfish. If he is right, the Democrats will win New York, New Jersey, Michigan, Iowa, Kansas, Oregon, Illinois, Idaho. All these commonwealths have produced Republican hopefuls.

Mr. Hurja offers no complicated reasons for his conclusions. He has not begun to make samples of political sentiment. He simply says:
"The people are for Roosevelt." He also knows—but won't tell—what Democratic field agents have been doing to insure victory.

New York.

By JAMES McMULLIN

PROD: New York conservatives are pining to feature the improvement in the steel industry as proof that government spending is a futile burden on the taxpayer. They will claim—and will offer statistics in support—that steel has made its come-back without assistance from the work relief fund. The argument will be that if steel can do it so can other industries—so what's the sense in squandering federal funds when recovery and reemployment are on the way regardless?

It sounds like beautiful logic—but impartial critics point out a couple of flaws. They remark that the striking increase in building construction—which the steel makers are especially happy about—traces definitely through indirectly to the stimulus of federal encouragement. Without it home-building would still be scraping bottom.
Farmers are buying more agricultural machinery—and Uncle Sam's benefit payments have a lot to do with that. The railroads buy steel equipment only when the government loans them money to do so.

So comment runs that all in all the steel boys are a trifle ungrateful when they assert that New Deal outlays haven't helped them. But the main point is that steel's alleged independence of government assistance in any form will be ballyhooed as the first salvo of a powerfully backed national campaign to make the public budget-consolidation and to prod the average taxpayer into a state of indignation about "costly and futile experiments" so that he will yell for the termination of emergency expenditures.

PATTED: A number of big business leaders have quietly developed a more responsive attitude towards labor's aims and problems in recent months. Not that they have suddenly gone altruist—it's just a case of realizing that the dollars-and-cents motive makes it worth while to keep labor recovery is taking root. You hear a lot of talk in high conservative quarters about stabilizing employment and labor conditions—a topic which most executives would have dismissed with a shrug even a few months ago.

One motive behind plant renovation activities is to keep the workers better satisfied. In the motor industry, for instance, installation of certain new machinery will eliminate bottlenecks of production and helped to smooth out the employment curve over the year. Other industries are using their own men for modernization work during slack periods when they would otherwise be laid off. This altered attitude doesn't mean at all that capital is becoming so labor-minded as to abolish future friction. It does mean that big business would much prefer to postpone labor showdowns until its profit position is more securely entrenched.

Side by side with this development is the growing realization among business chiefs that the Federation of Labor is their stamchest bulwark against the dangerous growth of radicalism among workers. So word has been passed that the Federation should be patted on the back whenever this can be done without weakening industry's position for future controversies.

ANGLING: The textile industry is confronted by a burning problem which is keeping its executives awake nights. It isn't—as you might think—the possibility of another strike nor the wage differential between northern and southern mills nor even the menace of Japanese competition. It's the question of who will get the processing tax money if the AAA is declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court.

Processors and distributors both want that dough and are angling feverishly for contracts which would assure their getting it—in case.
But everybody is so cagy about it that nobody is making much progress.

HOW WOMEN GET TWD-FOLD BENEFIT BY TAKING CARDUI

According to reports from thousands who have taken it, Cardui helps women in a two-fold manner, affording prompt relief of certain functional pains and strengthening the system by increasing the appetite and improving digestion.

"I like Cardui because it helped me," writes Mrs. Obie C. Raffety, of Campbellsville, Ky. "I suffered pain and was nervous and needed strength. I have taken Cardui and have been benefited. I have taken it two or three times. I can tell when I am taking Cardui, that I have a much better appetite."

Before the next monthly upset, begin taking Cardui. Of course, if it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.—(Adv.)

FOUR GROUPS TO BE AIDED IN HOME PLAN

Resettlement Administration Pushing Its Program Forward In This State

Reflector Bureau, Raleigh, Sept. 6.—Four main groups of farm families will be aided by the Resettlement Administration in its work in North Carolina. These families will be advanced funds for the purchase or lease of land, livestock, equipment and sub-secured by mortgages and are repayable within a reasonable period. This detailed explanation of Resettlement work in this state was given by Homer H. B. Mask of Raleigh, regional director of Rural Resettlement for Region IV, which is made up of North Carolina, Virginia, West Virginia, Kentucky and Tennessee.

"There are two phases to the Resettlement program," Mr. Mask said, "rehabilitation, the temporary phase, and resettlement, the permanent phase."

"Rehabilitation," he explained, "was inherited from FERA, which had taken 290,000 families under care during the year ending July 1, 1935. These families had been taken from direct relief, and helped to become in part, at least, self-supporting. A farm and home program had been laid out for each such family. Agricultural extension workers have now assumed joint responsibility with the Rural Resettlement Division for planning and supervising this program, which is being continued as the temporary phase of the Resettlement Administration activities."

"Resettlement deals with four main groups, as follows:

- "1. Farmers living on lands which cannot be cultivated to the advantage of the farm family or the nation. A preliminary survey by the National Resources Board indicates that about 450,000 farms, including 75 million acres of land, should be devoted to uses other than arable farming in order that both the natural and the human resources of the nation may be conserved.
- "2. Those among our 21-2 million tenant farmers who are capable of rehabilitation.
- "3. Young married couples with farm experience.
- "4. The more capable and industrious of the 'rehabilitation' families.

"The purpose of Resettlement is not only to help the farmer himself but to help the nation as a whole by stabilizing that segment of the nation's population which has been shifting back and forth between country and city—comprising in times of depression a large percentage of the total of unemployed."

"A good many rehabilitation and resettlement families will be placed on individual tracts. However, a number of group settlements have also been planned, a few completed and occupied, and others are under construction. Projects begun under FERA and the Department of Interior have been turned over to Resettlement Administration.

"The Resettlement program is an attempt on the part of an agency of government to create new opportunities in rural areas.

"Farmers from these groups who desire to be accepted for this program should apply to the County Agent of the Agricultural Extension Service, or to the County Representative of the Resettlement Administration."

BOARD STARTS MOVEMENT FOR ARMY HERE

night, but it was understood the city plans to 'buy the location' as soon as it is given official okay by the committees representing the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs, the Chamber of Commerce and other organizations.

It was indicated the committee would probably have several sites in view for discussion when they gather this afternoon and something definite is expected to be agreed within the next few days so application for the building may be forwarded to the government as early as possible.

A joint army and community house, it was stated, will provide a long felt need of the city for a public gathering place, and members of the committees said today they planned to put forth every effort to obtain such a building for Greenville.

The wind also struck with fury on the farm of Richard Harris, blowing down the house occupied by Sam Harris, a tenant, in addition to several other buildings on the place. The loss sustained on this farm had not been estimated but will reach into the thousands of dollars also.

The wind followed a path down the river of about five or six miles, ripping up scores of trees, demolishing fences and sign boards, and leveling tightly constructed buildings in its path.

When complete reports of the storm has reached the city, it was expected considerable damage on other farms of that area would be reported.

In Greenville proper, a number of fences were wrecked, telephone and power poles blown down. J. O. Duval, city clerk, reported that a window was blown out at his home in the western section of the city, while his garden fence was leveled. Other residents of that area reported damage of a similar nature.

The storm was the worst that has struck the community in the last two years. During the latter part of August two years ago, a hurricane raced up the coast from Florida, causing widespread damage in this section of the state and washing away a section of the river bridge at New Bern.

Reports reaching the city this morning indicated heavy damage in Craven county and lower down the coast.

of several blocks in Chatham Circle, College View and adjacent residential developments. Curbing and gutter were also included in the survey.

It was indicated that if the city fails to obtain the government funds, steps would be taken immediately to obtain the money from some other source. The demand for paving in the affected areas has been very insistent for some time and the aldermen declared they planned to do everything in their power to carry the proposed program through to a successful conclusion. Board members were confident the money could be obtained from other sources if the government refuses to approve the petition.

The tax collector was instructed to mail out tax notices for 1935, informing tax payers they would be allowed a discount of 1 1/2 percent in September and 1 percent in October. The tax collector informed the board the notices had been prepared and were ready to move immediately.

The tax collector was also instructed to allow 1-2 percent interest payment off on all paying accounts paid in full from now until next January 1. City Clerk J. O. Duval told the aldermen his department collected a total of $12,000 on paying assessments last year and had only $41,000 outstanding at this time, involving all forms of paving and curbing and gutter improvements.

Duval told the aldermen his department planned to collect a big part of the outstanding assessments and believed the plan to drop a part of the interest payment would expedite collections to no little extent.

The board passed a resolution authorizing the city clerk to obtain a loan of $10,000 to take care of the remainder of the debt on the municipal swimming pool. The plan was given approval by the Local Government commission, but the WPA turned down the proposal for a loan on the grounds that the pool was built through PWA funds. The board is seeking to take the pool out of the general fund and create a separate fund for its operation. It is hoped to make the recreation center self-liquidating in the future.

Duval reported the city collected more taxes during the past fiscal year than the total sum involved in the tax levy for that year. The levy was $65,984 and the city collected slightly above the amount. Huge collections of back taxes was advanced as the cause for this good showing by Clerk J. O. Duval.

OFFICIALS FELICITATED FOR DRIVE ON WHISKEY

Fayetteville, Sept. 6.—The local branch of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union have tendered congratulations to Mayor J. Scott St. Hayden and Police Chief Barney McByrde for their "recent drive against the liquor traffic and other crimes."

Mrs. O. N. Goff, president, transmits to the city officials an open letter from W. C. T. U., which says in part:

"Pledging to you our moral support and our prayers in your efforts, we trust that you will continue this good work until we can boast of a clean city."

New York Cotton

New York, Sept. 6.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened barely steady one to five points advance with only a partial response to higher Liverpool cables owing to southern and commission house selling. December sold up to 1042 and was ruling around 1040 at the end of the first half hour with the general list two to five points net higher. At midday December was quoted at 1040 with the general market showing net advances of about 2 to 5 points. Futures closed steady 4 to 5 higher. Spots quiet, middling 1075.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Sept. 6.—(AP)—Wall Street today cheerfully studied President Roosevelt's statement suggesting a "breathing spell" for New Deal business reforms and trade and investors cautiously but confidently bought stocks. While it was no runaway market early strength of the rails gave fresh encouragement to bullish common houses and resulted in further moderate advances in most other divisions. U. S. government securities were none too buoyant. Firming grains and an improvement in cotton helped. The late stock tone was firm. Transfers were 3,000,000 shares.

alleged delay in dispatching a special train into the Keys to evacuate camps housing the veterans. The question which officials sought to answer today was: "Why did the veterans die?" Governor Scholz said great carelessness somewhere was responsible for the tragedy.

New Railroad Head Taken Charge
Raleigh, Sept. 6.—(AP)—Governor Ehringhaus said today he had conferred with H. P. Crowl, recently selected to be general manager of the Atlantic and North Carolina railroad and feels "more than satisfied a very good competent man has been secured." The governor said Crowl "will take charge just as quickly as possible so we can take over operations of the railroad without delay."

Order Troops For Kentucky Election
Frankford, Ky., Sept. 6.—(AP)—On the eve of Kentucky's democratic gubernatorial primary election, governor Ruby Laffoon ordered national guards troops today to proceed to Harlan county immediately. The reason, he said, was "that the lives, constitutional rights and property of Harlan county citizens may be properly safeguarded and protected."

The order came after Thomas S. Rhea, supported by Laffoon for the nomination in tomorrow's runoff primary charged that county attorney Elmon D. Middleton of Harlan county, was assassinated Wednesday because he had evidence of irregularities in the first primary at Harlan August 3.

SWEDISH SAVANT UNEARTHED ROYAL GREEK TREASURES

Stockholm (AP)—A king's tomb of ancient Greece, unplundered and believed to contain valuable relics of Mycenaean culture, has been discovered by a Swedish expedition in the mountains of Argolis, east of Mycenae.

The expedition is headed by Professor Axel W. Persson, who excavated the famous Dendra tomb which yielded gold and silver cups, bronze weapons and other relics dating back to 1350 B. C.

Like the Dendra tomb, the new discovery is of the beehive type. It is located on a small mountain plateau near Berbati, in ancient Proconnesus.

NEWMAN MAY SEEK HOUSE SPEAKER POST

Wilmington Man Is Booked For Post Instead Running For Lieut.-Governor

Reflector Bureau.
Sir Walter Hotel.
Raleigh, Sept. 6.—State Senator Harriss Newman of Wilmington, New Hanover county, is now leveling his sights on the speakership of the 1937 house, rather than on the nomination for Lieutenant Governor in the Democratic primary next June, according to reports heard here today. Senator Newman was here this week and the principal speaker at the installation of the new officers of the Wake County Young Democrats Club. As a result of this visit, the opinion is prevalent in most circles today that Newman will be a candidate for the house from New Hanover county rather than for the senate and that if nominated and elected, he will be a candidate for speaker of the house. Newman has already represented New Hanover county three times in the general assembly—in the house in 1931 and 1933 and in the senate in the 1935 session—so it is not believed that Newman will have a very difficult time in returning to the general assembly in 1937 if he becomes a candidate.

It was also heard here today that W. W. Neal of Marion, McDowell county, is planning to run for the house from that county again next fall and that if elected to the 1937 house, he will be a candidate for speaker. Neal has been a member of the house six times from McDowell county, the last time in 1933, and is well known in all sections of the state, but especially in the western section. He is a hosiery manufacturer in Marion and his friends throughout the state have worn thousands of his socks. If Neal becomes a candidate for speaker, he will undoubtedly get some strong support from the western counties. There are two others already in the running for speaker of the 1937 house, namely R. Gregg Cherry of Gastonia and Victory Bryant of Durham. During the 1935 session Cherry was chairman of the house finance committee and Bryant chairman of the appropriations committee. Both have large followings and are regarded as strong contenders for the speakership.
