Growers Seek Aid From Government To Raise Tobacco Prices

ADOPT SIX POINT PLAN

Governor Declares Farmers Want Help, Not Alibis: Farmers Shout For "Living" Prices, Not "Parity" Prices

Raleigh, Sept. 21.—(AP)—Tobacco growers of eastern North Carolina today voted to send a committee of representatives to Washington to seek some solution to the situation brought about in this state by low prices. Around 2,000 growers in memorial hall approved a six point program outlined by a subcommittee as well as four auxiliary proposals.

- The auxiliary proposals included the question of:
1. Regardless of prices previously paid last week were below parity; specific recommendations to farmers not to sell tobacco for less than six cents a pound, naming a committee to go to Washington for conference; possible closing of the warehouses three to five days for a whirlwind sign campaign for control contracts.
  2. The subcommittee's letter addressed to Secretary of Agriculture Wallace and J. B. Hutson AAA tobacco chief, was read and discussed before being approved.
  3. It recommended:

1. Immediately complete contract sign-up for continued control.
2. Improve acreage allotment plan.
3. Consider the viewpoint of the growers and protect them against excess due to weather conditions, etc.
4. Immediately have a conference between growers and manufacturers seeking co-operation.
5. Make definite announcement now that the 1936 crop will be cut 25 to 30 per cent on the basis established in the contracts.
6. Set up a fair system of estimating parity prices and promptly inform the growers what they can expect as parity.
7. Adopt some method by which contract growers can more readily express themselves and present their problems to the AAA for consideration.

Mr. Hutson took the letter and went through each recommendation saying he had come here to listen and learn and some of the proposed points would involve major departures from the policies so there was little he could say about them without study. He said the first time he saw the letter was yesterday.

The administrator said contracts were now available in most counties for growers and until the sign-up was completed it would be unsafe and unfair to make definite announcement of cuts for next year. He explained how parity is reached under the AAA laws. Present parity for this season is indicated at 19 cents or a little more, he said. Hutson said. He said parity last week was only 16 cents plus.

Farmers in the auditorium spoke out to say that they wanted "living" prices, not "parity" prices.

With the tobacco going to market in record time, Hutson said $10,774,000 pounds of the 1934 crop had been sold for an average of $19.72 per hundred. He pointed out that the value of the crop in 1931 was $56,000,000, in 1932 it was $44,000,000, in 1933 it was $125,000,000 and in 1934 it was $150,000,000. Already this year the income exceeds the total crop returns from 1931 or 1932.

Governor Ehringhaus was introduced after Hutson finished his discussion.

What bothers me now after listening to Mr. Hutson, Governor Ehringhaus said in a friendly spirit, "is that we are still absolutely in the dark about what can or what will be done to help us now. We want assistance, not alibis."

Hutson had attempted to answer questions from the floor after finishing his discussion but cries of "we want Ehringhaus" interrupted him and the governor spoke.

The chief executive said the farmers were thankful for a decent livelihood in the past but wanted something done for the present. "Because we have benefited in the past is no reason why we should be backward in making criticism nor should our motives be questioned by those in high authority," the governor said.

"I am interested in decent prices for tobacco for the farmers and if the present prices are due to the law of parity then God knows the law ought to be changed. Growers

Mrs. G. W. Horton Died Last Night

Mrs. G. W. Horton, age 53, died last night at seven o'clock in the local hospital, following several weeks' critical illness. Funeral services will be held from Wilkerson's Funeral Home at one-thirty Sunday afternoon. Rev. R. P. Pittman, pastor of the Free Will Baptist church of Ayden, will conduct the services. Interment will be in the Elizabeth City cemetery.

Mrs. Horton was a faithful member of the Free Will Baptist church. She has been living in Greenville for the past twenty-two years and has a wide circle of friends.

Surviving are her husband, a half sister, Mrs. N. E. Fitzwater, and a half brother, George Butler, of Perquimans county.

IMMENSE LONDON DOCKS GIVE SIX HUNDRED JOBS

London, (AP)—Work is proceeding rapidly on the new five-year $8,550,000 development scheme to widen and deepen the Thames at the London docks.

Steady work will be given 600 men for five years on the project, which is designed to make the facilities at Royal Victoria and Royal Albert docks the most modern in the world.

The depth of water in the basin will be increased from 28 to 31 feet, and electric cranes installed to replace the present steam ones.

Particular interest attaches to the Royal Victoria dock, whose famous old jetties, built in 1855 are being replaced by 6,000 feet of new quayage. Able at one time to accommodate the largest ships afloat, these piers now barely berth vessels of 20,000 tons.

Royal Albert dock will have new quays totaling 5,350 feet.

The Grand Coulee dam in Washington will be twice as high as Niagara Falls when completed.

More Than 100,000 Prisoners In Four Years

Reflector Bureau.
Sir Walter Hotel.

Raleigh, Sept. 21.—A total of more than 64,000 prisoners have been committed to and served time in the various prison camps in the state since September 1, 1931, when the prison division started keeping its present system of records, not including the long-term prisoners which have been sentenced to the Central prison for felonies. It was pointed out today by Oscar Pitts, acting director of the prison division of the State Highway and Public Works Commission. The number of long term prisoners sentenced to longer terms in the Central Prison has averaged about 1,200 to 1,500 a month, the records show. This means that more than 100,000 short term and long term prisoners have passed through the prison systems in the past four years since the state took over all the county prisoners.

"The 64,000 short term prisoners were all misdemeanants convicted of misdemeanors and sentenced for short terms on the roads," Pitts

FLIER BEGINS OCEAN FLIGHT EARLY TODAY

Young Wisconsin Airman Attempting Solo Flight To Lithuania

New York, Sept. 21.—(AP)—Felix Wartkus, 28, years old Kohler, Wisconsin, flier, took off from Floyd Bennett airport today on a solo non-stop flight to Kaunas, Lithuania, a distance of around 4,500 miles.

The plane lifted from the field at 5:45 a. m. (EST) and soared into the air after a northeast run of 3,000 feet in a dead calm. A dolly, a small four wheeled truck, supported the plane's tail as the run was made. Two fire trucks, a police emergency crew and an ambulance stood by.

North Carolina Has Many Mines

Reflector Bureau.
Sir Walter Hotel.

Raleigh, Sept. 21.—Mining is a major industry in North Carolina, which has 129 registered mines, located in 28 different counties and producing minerals all the way from gold to coal and road-building materials, it was pointed out here today by Commissioner of Labor A. L. Fletcher who has just returned from a trip during which he inspected most of these mines. For one of the duties of the Commissioner of Labor is the inspection of all mines in the state to see that the operators conform to the various mining laws. Fifteen of these 129 mines now in operation in the state are gold mines, ranging from mere "prospects" to large mines which are making regular shipments of gold-bearing ore. The largest gold mine in the Rudisill Mine in the city of Charlotte.

"With the exception of this Rudisill mine, there is not much in the 'gold fields' to get excited about," Commissioner Fletcher said. But this mine in Charlotte appears to be operating in a thoroughly businesslike manner and there is every reason to believe it will prove profitable. The present operating company has spent about $70,000 in pumping water out of the old shafts and in re-limbering them and so far has produced about $25,000 worth of ore. The mine was in regular operation prior to 1883 and produced much gold. While many of the richer veins have already been worked, it is believed that it is still capable of producing much rich ore.

The inspection trip made by Commissioner Fletcher, Murray M. Grier safety engineer and mine inspector for the Department of Labor and Frank E. Cash, district engineer of the U. S. Bureau of Mines, started with the coal mines in Lee and Moore counties, then to the gold mines in Stanley, Montgomery and Mecklenburg counties and thence on over the tale, mica and feldspar mines in the mountains, especially in Mitchell and Yancey counties.

The party also visited the Fontana copper mines in Swain county, where the main shaft has reached a depth of 2,600 feet. This is the most extensive mining operation now in progress in the state and has been in constant operation for three years.

Rubano (left) and Captain W. W. Houghton (right) are inspecting the bogus bills and equipments in the customs house. (Associated Press Photos)

Rum Runner Is Turned Over To Federal Agents

Fred Williams, negro, arrested by local police officers here early yesterday for having two cases of moonshine liquor in his automobile, was turned over to federal officers last night and taken to Washington where he will face trial in federal court. When Williams was picked up by officers here he was in possession of two cases of the moonshine in half gallon containers.

BEEES IN ATTIC DEPOSIT 100 POUNDS OF HONEY

Berkeley, Calif., (AP)—One hundred pounds of honey, accumulated by thousands of bees over a period of eight years, were removed from the attic of the home here of Dr. Kenneth Saunders.

Seepage of honey through the plaster of an attic room led to removal of both bees and honey. Portions of the roof had to be torn away during the job, and the comb extracted measured 12 feet long, two feet wide and six inches thick.

After Repeal—The Deluge

Owensboro, Ky., (AP)—The number of licensed whisky dispensers and beer dealers here now is two and a half times as great as two decades ago. Before prohibition there were 33 saloons, and no real beer dealers. Since repeal there are 21 liquor retailers and 61 beer dealers.

Argentina Buys More Autos

Buenos Aires (AP)—Argentina, with improved economic conditions, imported 8,231 automobiles and 3,942 trucks in the first half of this year compared with 5,608 cars and 3,647 trucks in the same period of 1934. Most of the machines came from the United States.

News Behind The News

Washington
By RAY TUCKER

NO! The inside story of Louisiana politicians' dickering with the Roosevelt administration illustrates how panic has paralyzed the Long ring. It is now every man for himself—or goldfish for himself.

When the deluge of disaster descended on his lieutenants stood under indictment for income tax evasions, including such intimates as Seymour Weiss and Abe Shushan. The financial dealings of many others were under investigation and developments point to additional indictments. While Huey lived his men pretended to seel at the government's concern over their pocket money.

But with his death—before he was buried—certain followers approached the Treasury men. They offered to make peace with Washington if pending investigations were called off. They agreed to wipe out anti-New Deal legislation and to support the President next year. They promised to carry Louisiana back into the union and the Democratic party. The offer was curtly rejected.

MELTING: The secret negotiations reveal that Long's chiefs are falling out fast. The faction which asked for mercy showed amazing unconcern for the fate of their political associates under the Long dictatorship.

Although the seven under indictment number some of Long's most faithful aides, Louisiana negotiators did not bargain for dismissal of pending indictments. They were perfectly willing that Messrs. Weiss, Shushan etc take the rap if the evidence warrants it. All they sought was assurance that the long hand of the federal government would not strike them down in future proceedings.

The Kingfish held his gang together with threats of reprisal. It is understood that when a certain lieutenant wanted to turn state's evidence, the late Senator warned him it would be more comfortable in Atlanta than in a state pen. Now Washington hears several may plead guilty if they can obtain assurance of mild penalties. They can't. This behind-the-scenes drama seems to prove that the danger of political trouble from this source will have disappeared by 1936.

EMBARGO: Members of the "Senate munitions bloc" are nudging Gerald Nye into an investigation of the abortive Ethiopian concession to American oil interests. They understand that Standard Oil was only a front for an official European group which withdrew from the picture when Washington turned on the heat.

ITALY TURNS DOWN RECOMMENDATIONS OF LEAGUE OF NATIONS

LEAF PRICES MOVED HIGHER YESTERDAY

Day's Average Was $20.05; Season's Sales Near 20 Million Pounds Mark

Tobacco prices on the Greenville market continued to move upward yesterday with the day's sales topping the 20c per pound average. Some grades were reported more in demand than heretofore with prices on them reaching 45 cents a pound. Warehousemen look for heavier sales next week and better prices than heretofore are anticipated.

Official figures for yesterday's sales were 1,219,860 pounds for $243,934.58 an average price of $20.05 per hundred pounds.

Yesterday's sales brought the season's totals to 19,625,708 pounds for $3,618,262.45, an average price of $18.44 per hundred.

Employment Shows Gains In All But Two Industries

Raleigh, Sept. 21.—Employment in all but two industries in North Carolina showed a decided gain in August as compared with six months previous, according to figures released today by Commissioner of Labor A. L. Fletcher based on the inspection of 884 firms and including more than 69,000 employees. The only two industries in which a decrease in employment was evident were the tobacco and hosiery industries with a decrease of 11.3 per cent in tobacco employment and a slump of 1.8 per cent in hosiery.

The largest gain in employment during the past six months has been in the lumber industry, with an increase of 19.7 per cent, the figures show. A total of 843 persons were employed in 33 lumber industries inspected in August as compared with only 704 employed in the same 33 organizations six months ago. The next largest gain in employment has been in laundries, with a gain of 16.7 per cent in 57 laundries inspected. Six months ago 1,243 persons were employed in these laundries while in August the number had increased to 1,451.

The manufacturing industries showed the next largest gain in employment with an increase of 11.9 per cent; in 92 industries inspected in August and which had 2,605 employees as compared with 2,329 six months ago. A group of miscellaneous industries, including 140 different firms, showed an increase in employment of 12.2 per cent.

The textile industry, which heretofore has showed a slight decrease in employment, showed a slight increase in August over the six months period with a gain of three-tenths of one per cent, with a total of 25,766 employees in 102 plants inspected in August as compared with a total of 25,690 in the same 102 plants six months ago. The furniture industry showed an increase of 5.2 per cent, while both the mercantile and baking industries showed an increase of employment of 1.2 per cent for the six months period.

Lindbergh Stops At Richmond, Va.

Richmond, Va., Sept. 21.—(AP)—Dropping down at Byrd airport at 8:15 o'clock this morning Col. Charles A. Lindbergh picked up his friend, Harry Gegenheim, former Ambassador to Cuba, and took off again toward the north.

The famous flier did not even get out of the cockpit of his plane.

BODY OF DROWNED YOUTH FOUND AFTER DYNAMITING

Windsor, Sept. 21.—The body of Pete Davidson, 7-year-old son of Mrs. Josephine Davidson, who was drowned in the Cashie river at the County Farm on Sunday afternoon was recovered on Wednesday morning after dynamiting the river.

Perennial Beans Grown

Seattle, (AP)—The bean, generally considered an annual plant, grows perennially in the gardens of David Rubin, 66-year-old retired real estate man. The unusual plants developed from Rubin's experiments with hybrid beans. He noticed the roots in the fall were too heavy for the usual plants at that time of year and left them in the ground. They grew again in the spring, and have continued growing. Their seeds also have produced perennial plants.

The body was taken to the old home at Kelford and burial took place at the family burying ground on Wednesday afternoon.

Growers Hope To Get Definite Statement

By J. C. BASKERVILL

Raleigh, Sept. 21.—It is too early to tell whether the mass meeting of tobacco farmers held here this morning, in protest against the present low prices being paid for tobacco, will accomplish anything. But all those interested in the tobacco price situation, from Governor J. C. B. Ehringhaus on down, are hoping that it may succeed at least in getting a definite statement from Washington as to what the Department of Agriculture and the AAA plan to do next year, at least, especially with regard to acreage reduction and parity prices.

"If the meeting succeeds in getting a definite statement from Secretary of Agriculture Wallace and from J. B. Hutson, chief of the tobacco division of the AAA as to the definite percentage of acreage reduction they will demand next year, the meeting will have been worth while," Governor Ehringhaus said this afternoon. "Or if it succeeds in getting a statement from Washington as to what the parity price is this year and what it will be next year, it will also be worth while. The trouble is that the tobacco farmers do not know where they will be this time next year.

"What if it would be like to see, of course, would be to have the AAA and the Department of Agriculture do something right now to help the present situation and boost prices right now. And many of us believe it could do something this year. But if it feels it cannot do anything this year, it might at least make a definite statement of its plans and policies for next year. We are hoping, at least, that the meeting proves successful in getting the AAA and the Department of Agriculture to make a definite statement as to its plans for acreage reduction and parity prices for next year."

Most of those who attended the meeting here today felt that the present tobacco price situation could be improved immediately if the AAA and Department of Agriculture

LANGUAGE FRIENDLY

Officials Believe Door Open For Further Negotiations; Preparations For Hostilities In East Continue

(By Associated Press)

Italy's Duce dominated cabinet today turned down the League of Nations peace plan. But its rejection was couched in language so friendly that many believed the door was open for further negotiations.

The rejection was made on the grounds that the Geneva proposals "do not offer a minimum basis sufficient for conclusive realization which finally and effectively would take into account Italy's vital rights and interests."

League officials said the next step of the peace forces would be to bring the report of the five-power committee which made the suggestions, before the League council. It would be up to the council then to make the report its own or to declare the conciliation phase ended and draw a new series of recommendations. The new series, it was said, could include provisions for sanctions and give Ethiopia and Italy the last say to accept or reject them.

Before the Italian decision was announced high officials throughout Europe had predicted that barring a sudden reversal of Italy's policies, hostilities would break out in East Africa sometime during the first fortnight in October. The Italian press continued its attack upon the British Empire. It declared "Britain had already adopted sanctions against Italy" adding that the beginning of Italian military operations in Ethiopia might easily mean the beginning of hostilities with Great Britain.

Great Britain was frankly pessimistic that Il Duce would have a change of heart on his announced program of "marching straight ahead" and continued its own march ahead with warships into the Mediterranean.

An authoritative source in London frankly described the concentration of British warships in the Mediterranean and Red Seas as "defensive." Heretofore the moves in official quarters had been described variously as "routine," "previously planned" and "precautionary."

The report that Great Britain and Spain had come to a secret understanding was taken as evidence that the British Empire was preparing for the possible conflict by every means. These beliefs were strengthened by Spanish troop movements to points of strategic points along Spain's Mediterranean coast line.

European capitals had feared that a blout "NO" from Mussolini to the League of Nations five power committee recommendations would call forth sanctions which diplomats feared might result in a general European war.

Great Britain made it clear that no ship will be withdrawn from the Mediterranean until the East African dispute is well on its way to settlement. France too, continued to reinforce her troops in French Somaliland bordering Italian Somaliland and Ethiopia. The French cabinet was called to consider its future course.

Emperor Haile Selassie, of Ethiopia, studied the recommendations of the League committee and is understood to have asked for the exact meaning of certain recommendations.

During 1933 and 1934, more than 2,000,000 Americans moved from the city to the country.

WHAT ABOUT OUR ARMORY?

Already the Federal Government has approved a project for the erection of 47 national guard armories in this state and Greenville is scheduled to get one of these $25,000 buildings if we act quickly, but the slowness with which things are moving here now in connection with procuring a site for the proposed building may mean that we will lose out altogether. Wilson, Washington and New Bern and other cities around us, in cooperation with their county boards have already purchased sites and the buildings for those places have been assured and work is to start in the near future.

About two weeks ago the matter of procuring a site here was placed before the local Board of Aldermen and committees were appointed to confer with Dr.
L. R. Meadows, president of East Carolina Teachers College, in regard to procuring the old Model school site for the armory structure. The committee called upon Dr.
Meadows but found that to procure this site would be a long drawn out proposition having to go through the board of college trustees, that would not meet until late this fall, and then get final approval of the State Board of Education. In view of these obstacles procuring the site on the college property appeared not to be feasible and the committees were urged to endeavor to procure another suitable site for the building. So far nothing definite has come of the project, but it is now up to Greenville to do something quick if we are to get the building.

Local persons interested in the project have been advised by state authorities that the officials would visit the various towns to approve the sites within the next ten days and on all sites accepted the construction of the buildings would begin at once. With no site here yet in prospect, within less than 10 days Greenville must pick out a site, have blue prints made, procure title to the property and have a deed drawn to the State of North Carolina for same, ready to be handed over if the site is suitable for the building.
While it is possible that an extension of time may be granted, there is no assurance that we will get a building here unless we are ready when the state committee calls.

The armory buildings are designated for use as community buildings as well as for use by the guardsmen and will prove a great asset to any community that gets one. They are to be constructed at a cost of $25,000 by the Federal Government but at no cost to the community other than to furnish the site. Greenville's need for such a community center should make the proposition all the more appealing to us and it is to be hoped that somebody will get busy and see to it that a suitable site for the building here is procured at once.

Growers Hope to Get Definite Statement

would put this year's parity price back up to 21 or 22 cents, the prices which the farmers had been told would represent parity this year.
Instead of 18 and 19 cents, which Secretary Wallace now says is the parity price. They also agreed that if Chief Hutton of the tobacco division of the AAA would announce a cut of at least 35 per cent in the tobacco acreage next year, that price would immediately improve.
But while wire reports from Washington indicate that Hutton and the AAA "may" decide to reduce the acreage for next year, there has been no definite statement yet to the effect that the acreage would be reduced any definite amount.
And until such a statement is forthcoming, prices cannot be expected to improve, most observers here agree.

There was much approval here today of the plan suggested by Sena or Josiah W. Bailey before the meeting of several hundred tobacco farmers here Thursday and repeated again today, under which the President would be asked to set aside $40,000,000 from his emergency fund to be used as a loan fund with which to retire at least 1,000,000 pounds of tobacco of this year's crop from the market. He suggested that the cotton loans are made, with the parity price probably being the loan price and with the farmers getting more when the tobacco was finally sold if the selling price was greater than the loan price. The plan would also require the AAA to reduce the tobacco acreage for next year sufficient to compensate for this carry-over of 1,000,000 pounds from this year, in addition to any other reduction in acreage made.
While most of those here who have studied the plan agreed that it would undoubtedly boost prices, just as the cotton loan plan has boosted the price of cotton, the main trouble with the Bailey plan is that it would take too much time to put it into operation, even if the President would agree to set aside the $40,000,000 loan fund. As a result, the bulk of the settlement here today seemed to favor the Ehringhaus plan to get a definite commitment on the parity price and on the acreage reduction for next year, as the quickest way to remedy existing conditions.

THE NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

Mr. Nye says he has not enough funds for this move. The Senate investigators have been skimped on money and order to wind up their inquiry—a development which escaped attention in the last minute rush on Capitol Hill. The investigators got only $25,000 instead of $45-000 and were ordered to "complete their work." Only $15,000 is left, with numerous domestic interests—bankers, steel-makers, chemical producers—still to be examined.

Progressive Senators insist that the inquiry continue, especially if war breaks out. The embargo act leaves the President with more discretionary power than the public realizes. He must decide whether an embargo levied against a warring Italy and Ethiopia should be extended to League nations which resort to military demonstrations against Mussolini. The Senate is not strong for presidential discretion in such a crisis and it may assign the committee to check on the State Department's enforcement of the embargo act.

LAWYER: Preliminary perusal of A. T. & T. records at the New York office has reached the stage where choice of a counsel for this $750-000 inquiry becomes vital. Official accountants and engineers have been mulled through the telephone company's sheets for months.

President Roosevelt showed his interest in the investigation by taking over the task of choosing a chief investigator. So far he has got nothing but decisions. The delay is beginning to chafe some of the sponsors of the inquiry. From experience they know that any inquiry suffers if it is not headed by

MORNING STAR

— BY MARIAN SIMS —

Chapter 21
JOHN JEFFREY

Jeffrey looked up with a delighted smile as she entered, but the smile faded quickly at the sight of her stricken face. He rose quickly to meet her, took the milk coat that had been his present to her.

"Emily, child, you're shivering!" Sit here in front of the fire while I tell Nora to bring you some tea."

She leaned back in the chair and closed her eyes while he went to give the order for tea. It was good to be here; to be taken care of again. She was glad of a respite from speech, even for a moment.

Jeffrey came back and stood looking down at her from the hearth.

"My way didn't work either, Dad." waiting in silent dread for her to speak. There was no use in manufacturing pleasanties, he saw; she was beyond that. And so he stood and looked at her, his love in his eyes.

At last she began. "My way didn't work either, Dad. It's just gone on the rocks gloriously—the whole thing."

He stood quite still for a moment, absorbing the shock. "That's bad, Mick. Do you feel like telling me about it?"

She told him, almost word for word, because the whole scene was seared upon her mind. When she had finished Jeffrey was silent for a long time, while the fire crackled and the clock on the mantel ticked.

"Dad," she cried suddenly,
"haven't I paid my debt?"

"Yes," he said slowly, "I think you have. In full."

"And you'll stand by me now?" He had promised that he would, but it wouldn't be fair to remind him of it now.

HE thought reluctantly of his own share in bringing this about; of his failure to help her when she had been, he realized now, so desperately in need of help.

He had tried since then to save his conscience with the assurance that he hadn't asked her to marry Edwin; hadn't advised her to marry Edwin; and found no comfort in the assurance. This would be his atonement, no matter what it cost him.

"Don't you know I will, dearest child?"

Peace descended miraculously upon her, but she was weak and shaken. She said unsteadily, "I think I'll have to cry awhile."

He took her in his arms and she cried luxuriously against his shoulder.
When she was quiet again he said casually:

"Let's talk about this a little more.
Do you feel like it?"

"Yes, I hadn't really finished."
"All right. What's next?"

She sat up, and there was something in her face that he had never seen there before: something relentless and determined.

But it has been found that few states can qualify under present laws. Even some of the thirty-five which have old age pension legislation now cannot benefit until their laws are revised. They do not comply with federal regulations.

Enactment of new legislation and revision of old statutes will take until early spring in many instances, and by that time Congress will have appropriated funds.

Board members warn that states should hop to it, however. They can get no federal aid until every "a" and "u" in their laws is dotted and crossed in accord with federal provisions. Many states have sent legal representatives to Washington to learn what to do and how to do it.
That's a good tip for others.

"All my life I've been trying to do the thing that was expected of me. To consider other people first." She laughed shortly. "This is one of the results. Now I'm going to try to please myself: I'm going to reach out with both hands and take—whatever I can get!"

He said soberly, "I can't say I blame you. What are you going to do?"

"First of all, if you don't mind, I'm going to move over here. And after that—I don't know; I'll have to get my bearings. I'm going to get a divorce as soon as I can, and I think I'll leave Elston for a while.
Living—like a tenement worker in some city," she smiled dimly at Frances's phrase, "has its compensations."

Whatever the charges brought against her generation, Jeffrey thought, a lack of courage was certainly not one of them. He wouldn't dictate to her; he'd let her work it out alone, and help her in any way he could. Surely she could do no worse than this for herself! He said quietly:

"You know I'll see that you don't live—like that."

SHE smiled at him, in her eyes the love that she didn't trust herself to put into words. "Bless you! If I come out on top after this it will Bert Sloan, one of the world's greatest tight wire artists, is pictured above on his slender steel thread as he will be seen here with the big Sparks managed Downie Bros. Circus when it comes to this city for matinee and night performances on the fairgrounds, Thursday. Sloan now on his first American tour has been electrifying circus audiences with his blinding speed and uncanny skill as he slips and slides through an all new and thrilling routine on the slender steel wire many feet above the sawdust covered rings.

An all-star cast makes up the 1935 presentation which is all new and considerably larger than ever before. Such stars as the Hanneford family of English bareback riders starring George, the riding clown, the Flying Brooks, a daring aerial group who perform on the high flying trapeze at the very top of the big tent, the famed Frisco's performing seals, a group of clever denizens from the Pacific in an all new and entertaining novelty, Ruby Hughes and her world champion high jumping stallions, three groups of high schooled and liberty horses, two herds of performing elephants, hundreds of acrobats, gymnasts, aerialists and equestrians and an army of the world's funniest clowns keep the two hour program moving at a lively pace without a dull second.

The street parade over a mile in length will leave the grounds as an added attraction at 11:30 a. m.

New York.
By JAMES McMULLIN RESULTS: It isn't likely that the U. S. will become directly involved in any European war. FDR will certainly do his best to prevent it and even his New York foes concede that he should be able to avoid the diplomatic pitfalls that tripped us in 1914-17. But all the same a major war might be instrumental in bringing about important changes in our governmental setup.

The need for a strong and single-minded national policy to avoid entanglements would go far to offset objections to concentration of power in the President's hands. Informed New Yorkers understand that administration advisers have this in mind in planning future New Deal strategy. Some of them are said to feel that there's no sense in forcing the issue of greater federal authority at present when circumstances may result in making it a natural development with a minimum of resistance a little later. This viewpoint is one reason why the "breathing spell" will be an actuality for some months at least.

Another result of war would be to stimulate American arms expenditures tremendously. It's a safe bet that a much larger share of both regular and emergency budgets would be given to the military to spend once hostilities break out in earnest.

NOISE: New Yorkers with first-rate foreign contacts learn that fear of communism is the most powerful deterrent to a general European brawl. No nation over there can be positive about how its armies are going to act once the lid is off. There is so much latent discontent—especially in France, Italy and Germany—that putting loaded guns in young men's hands is like smoking in a powder factory. There isn't much chance of Italian troops in Africa running amuck—but Italian troops ordered to a European front might be something else again.

Insiders are convinced that Laval's grand gesture supporting the British idea of invoking League of Nations' sanctions against an aggressor Italy was so much diplomatic hot air. Comment runs that Mussolini must have caught the French premier's wink in his direction as Laval went through those eloquent motions.

France doesn't give two hoots in a hurricane about what happens to Ethiopia. She does care—vitally—about the German menace. So her play is to make a big noise about peace—and about united action with Great Britain to preserve it—in order to regain a rapprochement with England and offset the Anglo-German naval treaty. At the same time she will be darned careful to do nothing which might really upset Mussolini and drive him into Hitler's arms.

CHARGES: The New York Clearing House banks are preparing to take joint action to stiffen money rates in the near future. The recent weakness in government bonds—denoting a demand for higher yields all along the line—sets the stage. The rates that have pre-valled for so long have failed to stimulate an appetite for bank credit among desirable borrowers.
Now the banks—desperately in need of increased earnings—have decided to try a different formula. Past experience shows that—paradoxically—people are often more eager to borrow when rates go up and it costs them more.

This isn't the first time the New York institutions have planned to hike rates. They were on the verge of it a few months ago. But on that occasion two or three dissenters gummed the works by refusing to go along—which would have given them a competitive advantage against those that raised the price of money. There won't be any hold-outs this time. All the local banks now realize that shrinking earnings and higher costs demand communal action.

The Clearing House banks are also trying to figure out a new scale of service charges—including collection charges—to which they can all subscribe. They know such a move would be unpopular—but something just has to be done to meet those doggone deposit insurance premiums.

Flowers Trim Fur Toques.
Paris—(AP)—Paris is trimming fur toques with flowers this year.
Grace Moore, American movie actress, took home with her a black astrakhan one trimmed with a bunch of violets. It is to be worn with a black astrakhan cape and black wool frock.

Juvenile Crime Plagues Turkey.
Istanbul—(AP)—Sukru Saracog-lu, minister of justice, has announced that juvenile courts will be opened in all the chief cities of Turkey to deal with child criminals. It is estimated that in Istanbul alone the police arrest 5,000 vagrabond boys and girls a year.

Federal agents seized 1,027 illegal liquor distilleries in North Carolina during the year ending July 31, 1935.

NOTICE OF SALE OF LAND

the original tract which was conveyed to D. M. Clark by B. F. Tyson and later conveyed to T. H. Tyson by D. M. Clark, see deeds recorded in Books Q-14, page 49 and W-17, page 143 of the Pitt County Registry. The interest and right to be sold is all of the right and interest which Levy Tyson has therein and being the land which was conveyed to Levy Tyson by Hattie Tyson and which deed is dated May 17th, 1934, and recorded in the Pitt County Registry, and it being all of the right and interest in the above described tract of land which Hattie Tyson inherited from her father, B. F. Tyson.

Terms of sale cash, and sale made to satisfy said deed of trust.

This the 20th day of Sept., 1935.

Social and Personal

Miss Lucille Woolard who is teaching in Vanceboro, is spending the day with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Woolard.

W. E. Padgett, George Hadley and Sidney Skinner are spending the week-end at Litchfield camp near Aurora.

N. H. Whitehurst is home from South Carolina for the week-end. S. S. Williams of Newport News, Va., is here on the tobacco market. Mrs. Cordon Davis who has been the guest of Mrs. Larry M. James, has returned to her home in Winston-Salem.

Mrs. J. H. Boyd, Jr. Entertains
On Friday afternoon from four to six, Mrs. J. H. Boyd, Jr., delightfully entertained about a hundred friends, at a pretty tea, complimenting her sister-in-law, Mrs. Walter F. Taylor, of Dallas, Texas, and having as another honor guest, Mrs. E. F. McCulloch, of Elizabethtown.

The home on Seventh street was attractively decorated with early fall flowers with yellow predominating. The home was lighted throughout with burning yellow tapers.

As the guests arrived Mrs. Hugh Reynolds greeted them at the door. Mrs. S. T. White introduced them to the receiving line. In the receiving line in the living room were the hosts, Mrs. Walter F. Taylor, of Dallas, Texas, Mrs. E. F. McCulloch, of Elizabethtown, Mrs. James Brown, Jr., of Baltimore, and Mrs. A. E. Shackelford, of East Orange, N. J. From the receiving line Mrs. W. L. Best showed the guests to the dining room, where they were received by Mrs. Jesse Smith.

The dining table was especially pretty with a lace cover, centered with yellow tapers. Seated at either end of the table, pouring tea, were Mrs. A. W. Fleischmann and Mrs. Horne Mays. Mrs. Ernestine Hobgood, Mary Hoover Boyd, Mattie Mays Gaylord, and Betty Fleischmann, assisted in passing tea, sandwiches, macaroons, mints and salted pecans.

Mrs. A. E. Bobgood received the guests in the reception hall and bade them adieu.

American Legion Auxiliary.

The first meeting of the new year of the American Legion Auxiliary will be held in the home of Mrs. W. J. Bundy on Eastern street, Monday afternoon at 3:30. Assisting hostesses will be Miss Grace Smith, Mrs. J. S. Elliott, Mrs. George Forrest and Mrs. C. W. Williams. All members and all wishing to become members are urged to attend.

Immanuel Baptist Church.

On Monday, September 23rd, Circles of the Woman's Missionary Society of Immanuel Baptist Church will meet at 3:30 in the church.

Immediately following the circle meetings the annual State Mission program will be conducted by Mrs. S. J. Everett. A special offering for State Missions will be taken. Every lady of the church is extended a cordial invitation to attend.

To Teach In Erwin.

Miss Louise Briley left yesterday for Erwin where she will teach and coach basketball this winter. Miss Briley won the athletic cup for women at E. C. T. C. in the spring.

Guests Of Mrs. Harris.

Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Berry of Chicago, who have been honeymooning in Bermuda, arrived in Greenville Thursday at noon for a brief visit with Mr. Berry's sister, Mrs. W. C. Harris at her home on West Fourth street. They were accompanied to Greenville by Mrs. A. P. Midgett and little son, Robert Parker Midgett, and Miss Martha Berry, of Elizabeth City, sisters and nephew of Mrs. Harris.

Mr. Berry, being at present a member of Kay Kayser's orchestra, one of the best in the United States, is a radio musician of note. Not only has he played in all of the states, including an eighteen months engagement on Broadway, a two-year engagement at Santa Monica, Calif., and a three-year engagement in Chicago, where the orchestra has broadcasted daily, he has played on ocean-going vessels, in all the leading European countries, South America, Hawaii and the Orient.

Mr. Berry is a graduate of the University of North Carolina and a member of one of its social fraternities. While a student there, he appeared with the glee club in a concert at East Carolina Teachers College.

Mrs. Berry, before her marriage in Denver, Colorado, Tuesday, Sept. 3rd, was Miss Emily Patti, member of a prominent Bohemian family of Chicago. She is a graduate of the University of Chicago and is a very charming young woman of cultural tastes and artistic temperament.

Mr. and Mrs. Berry left North Carolina yesterday morning by motor for Chicago where the orchestra will be engaged for several days before making phonograph records.

Beginning October 1st they will play in Pittsburgh, Pa., for twelve weeks, broadcasting daily.

Mr. Berry has visited his sister here on several occasions and will be accompanied by friends and acquaintances of former years.

Final Notice.

Final notice for vocational commercial class—if others are interested in vocational commercial class at the high school please enter this week as the classes will be completely organized.

Mrs. J. S. Porter Entertains.

Mrs. J. S. Porter entertained in her most gracious and charming manner Wednesday evening, honoring Miss Alberta Oakley, bride-elect. The home was very beautifully decorated, using cut flowers and potted plants.

The guests were assembled in the living room and upon the arrival of the honoree she was met at the front door by Mrs. Leonard Tripp and ushered into the dining room, where she and Miss Mildred Porter, who had been invited to dinner. While they were still chatting, Miss Irene Bateman, followed by the guests, came in with a parasol filled with gifts and quoting, "Things to be used by the bride and by," showered them over the table. Miss Oakley in her own pleasing way, opened and commented on each and every gift.

On leaving the dining room they were served with punch and cake by Mesdames S. T. and M. K. Porter. They then returned to the living room where the fortunes of the bride and groom elect were read by the hostess. This created a great deal of fun.

Those enjoying the hospitality of the hostess, were: Mrs. G. S. Porter, Mrs. Leonard Tripp, Mrs. Lewis Elks, Mrs. M. K. Porter, Mrs. S. T. Porter, Misses Irene Bateman, Mildred Porter, Alberta Oakley, Marie Porter, Eunice Porter and Sally Brown.

Family Reunion.

Bell Arthur, Sept. 20—On Sunday, September 12, a family reunion of the descendants of the late Nelson Nichols was held at the old homestead near Bell Arthur.

Buick Announces

Display Of New Models Next Week

Flint, Mich., Sept.—Announcement was made today by Harlow H. Curtice, president of the Buick Motor Company, that the company's four lines of 1936 models will be given nationwide public announcement next Saturday in displays in dealers' showrooms throughout the country and in a comprehensive advertising campaign through newspapers, and other media.

At the same time, he disclosed that a night shift has been put on in the company's final assembly plant with the result that Buick daily production now is at the highest average rate since 1929.

Production will average between 600 and 700 cars a day during the remainder of this month and will continue at an accelerated rate in October, he said. Meanwhile, substantial stocks already are in the hands of dealers with approximately 10,000 cars shipped from the factory since the 1936 models were entered in production.

The executive said that rapid increases in schedules had been made to furnish dealers with an adequate supply of cars for the announcement date and to insure immediate delivery of retail orders. A total of approximately 14,000 new cars will be in the field at that time, he said. Advance orders already are being received in large numbers by Buick dealers.

Reception of the new product by the Buick dealer organization, which this week completed a 10-day sales convention in Flint, indicates a full season of unprecedented activity, according to Mr. Curtice, in which Buick production and sales will break all records of recent years. The 1936 sales program, he said, aims at a volume of 135,000 cars.

Mr. Curtice said that one of the objectives of the program set up nearly two years ago was the return to mid-year announcement of new models. He indicated that Buick hereafter will bring out its new cars in the fall, a practice followed by the company consistently until 1930 when Buick joined other motor car producers in a plan for January 1 announcements.

New York Cotton

New York, Sept. 21.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened barely steady 3 to 5 lower under active hedge selling which more than offset higher Liverpool cables and rejection of the League of Nations peace proposal by Italy. Hedging was more active than recently and prices went off to 10.54 for December and 10.72 for May after the call, taking net losses of five to seven points. Future closed barely steady 6 to 11 points lower; spots quiet; middling 10.80.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Sept. 21.—(AP)—A mild rallying tendency appeared in today's brief stock market session but there was still sufficient selling to keep the list off balance. Traders appeared to have recovered partially from their war fright of yesterday. The close moderately irregular. Transfers approximated 60,000 shares. Despite rejection by Mussolini's cabinet of the League of Nations' peace proposal in Italy-Ethiopian controversy, Wall Street saw hope of a compromise and some short covering was based on this feeling. In addition a few bargain center offers appeared with the idea of shoving a profit at least from the temporary technical rebound. Commodities run up on prospects of hostilities starting soon were inclined to backup. Wheat and corn slipped during the day along with cotton. Secondary bonds developed a little better tone and foreign exchanges generally were a bit firmer in terms of the dollar.

Picture here are Coach Carl Snavely and some of the outstanding veterans on the Carolina football squad which will open the 1935 season with Wake Forest in Kenan Stadium at Chapel Hill next Saturday, September 28. Co-Captains Snyder and Montgomery, and Evans, Daniels, Jacksons are seniors, and the other are juniors. The game with Wake Forest will give football fans their first opportunity to get a line on Carolina's prospect this season. On the following Saturday, October 5, the Tar Heels will meet the vaunted Tennessee Vols in Knoxville and after that they meet Maryland and Davidson away from home before returning to Chapel Hill for their home-coming game with George Tech October 26.

members had approached the children who were tending cows and told them they soon would be German again. When the children protested they wanted to remain French the attack took place. The German boys quickly recrossed the frontier into Germany.

State Players Will Look Over Davidson Today

College Station, Raleigh, Sept. 21.—Football drills were suspended at State College this afternoon while Coach Hunk Anderson and his staff viewed the Davidson-Elon game at Davidson. State opens with Davidson at Greensboro on Saturday night of next week and Coach Anderson figured it might be to the Wolfpack's advantage if the Wildcats were scouted today.

The Wolves welcomed today's breathing spell as they have been practicing since September 3. Some celebrated by journeying over to Greensboro where they plan to watch the Duke-Wake Forest game tonight.

The usual Saturday afternoon scrimmage was held yesterday, Coach Bob Warren's freshmen forming the opposition. Practice will be resumed early Monday afternoon. Coach Anderson indicated that next week's drills Greensboro, N. C., Sept. 21.—With the arrival here today of the football squads of Duke university and Wake Forest college, the stage was set for the opening Big Five game of 1935 between the Blue Devils and the Demon Deacons in World War Memorial stadium here tonight. The game will start at eight o'clock. The largest crowd ever to see an opener in this state is expected tonight to see what promises to be one of the best curtain-raisers North Carolina has ever seen. Advance sale of tickets has broken all records for an early contest. Headed by Governor J. C. B. Ehringhaus and the presidents of the two institutions, W. P. Pew of Duke and Thurman D. Kitchin of Wake Forest, a large group of notables will be present. Kitchin's son is quarterback and star member of the Deacon grid outfit. Wake Forest will outweigh the Blue Devils by a good margin. They hold their weight advantage in the line with the backfields about even. Plenty of thrills are expected both in line play and in backfield fire. The squads were in good condition with all members ready for action. Duke's Joe Cardwell, 215-pound letterman tackle, whom Duke had counted this season, was announced several days ago to be out for the season.
