REGISTRATION AT COLLEGE SETS RECORD

Many Improvements Have Been Made In the College Buildings

Registration at the College has so far broken all records, up to noon of the second day of registration, but exact figures will not be available for several days. The bulk of the students will be fully enrolled before classes begin tomorrow morning. Quite a few, however, will not have their schedules completed for various reasons. No student is fully enrolled until his schedule is completed and approved and until certain financial obligations have been met.

Some transfers from other colleges are delayed in completing schedules because of adjustment of credit courses.

The practice-teaching lists are not completed as there is careful check on prerequisites which in some cases, causes some delay. Some few will enter later.

There are 120 students receiving aid under the National Youth Administration, which takes the place of the FERA of last year. These were selected from a list of three hundred.

Repairs and improvements on college buildings have kept workmen busy during the past month. The Home Economics seniors will find their new practice house, which is the old infirmary, renovated, rearranged, painted, papered and made into a bright, attractive house in which under the direction of Mrs. Adelaide Blanton, they can put into practice their knowledge of the Home Arts. Some rearrangement of rooms has been made with a new kitchen and dining room among the chief changes.

The floors in the corridors of the Austin Building now show their original beauty after a thorough scraping, filling, shellacking, varnishing, waxing and polishing. The deep layers of oil and "cleaners" applied throughout the years has made it difficult for one to realize that beautiful maple flooring was underneath with an attractive pattern that included strips of mahogany flooring in the entrance hall. Over the composition floors, on the southern and western sides of the building, a kind of tiling has been used.

The floors in Fleming Hall have been treated in the same way as those in the Austin Building. Needed repairs have been made in Cotten Hall and in other buildings.

The basement of Ragsdale Hall which is, in reality, the ground floor, and which has remained uncompleted for the eleven years, has been completed and cut up into rooms, with plumbing on that floor. There is a special entrance to this section. This is where the boys will stay for the present.

CIVIL COURT ENDS TODAY

Settlement of Bonding Case Only Important Action Yesterday

The term of Superior Court for the trial of civil cases opened here Monday morning with Judge W. C. Harris, of Raleigh, presiding, ended around noon today after the morning had been taken up with the hearing of several motions.

No session of the court was heard yesterday morning, while attorneys worked on the outside to settle a case which the Dudley heirs were suing the Great American Indemnity Company to recover funds from their father's estate. The mother, Mrs. Carrie Dudley Riddick, and been guardian for the children and the bonding company had furnished bond for the guardianship. It was alleged by the heirs that an estate of more than $50,000 had been disposed of by their mother after she re-married and recovery was sought from the bonding company. If the case had gone the full course of court hearing it would have probably taken two days so yesterday morning's session of court was dispensed with while the lawyers sought a settlement. When court convened at two o'clock yesterday it was announced that the bonding company had settled for the full $50,000 and interest making a total of $60,000.

Shortly after the report of settlement of the bonding company case Judge Harris dismissed the jury from further duty and spend the remainder of the afternoon and this morning hearing motions.

For Bonus
Convention Hall, St. Louis, Sept. 26. (AP)—Showing approval the national convention of the American Legion today renewed its demand for immediate cash payment of the soldiers' bonus. Delegates and visiting legionnaires who packed the convention hall roared a unanimous vote favoring a resolution that scorned the vetoed Patman inflationary bill.

Loud but brief discussion preceded action featured by prolonged boos directed at Wright Patman, of Texas, author of the bonus inflation bill vetoed by President Roosevelt. The administration's tobacco chief, told the delegation of North Carolina dissenters it is the department's obligation to maintain prices at parity.

Objections were heard against the determination of parity prices which is based upon a 10-year average price of commodities bought by farmers. The North Carolina delegation suggested the cost of operating tractors was figured in its computation while only miles could be used in harvesting tobacco. The suggestion was made that the basis for figuring parity be regionalized; that is the average price of farm commodities within a certain region be used instead of the national average.

The effect of the processing tax was injected into the conference by S. Clay Williams, of Winston-Salem, R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company board chairman. He said the administration's decision to reduce the levy from 4.2 cents to 1.9 cents a pound instead of removing it entirely might be a factor in the lower prices since the levy decreased the amount of money the manufacturers might put into raw tobacco. This drew from Governor Ehring.

Roosevelt's Trip West Seen As First Lap In 1936 Race

By BYRON PRICE
(Chief of Bureau, The Associated Press, Washington)

President Roosevelt's western trip brings the campaign of 1936 into full stride, long before its time. Whatever the President's intentions, however sincere may be the protestations of Democratic leaders that the swing round the circle is "non-political," practical politics concerns itself with results, rather than intent.

When the Rev. Mr. Burchard made his celebrated remark about "Rum, Romanism and Rebellion" at a Republican rally in 1884, he doubtless meant to add the candidacy of James G. Blaine, the result, as widely recognized, was to make certain the election of Grover Cleveland.

Some of the effects of Mr. Roosevelt's journey into the west are obvious beforehand. He is the leader of his party. He is supposed universally to be a candidate for reelection. His trip comes at a time when both parties are actively preparing for the campaign, and takes him through a part of the country recognized generally as the chief battleground of 1936 politics.

It would not be in human nature for him to fail to take the opportunity to defend his acts and policies, or for the opposition not to bestir itself in response.

LITTLE GAINED FROM MEETING IN WASHINGTON

Hutson Says There Is Little AAA Can Do About Prices This Year

Washington, Sept. 26. (AP)—Farm administration offices where hallelujahs from blue cured tobacco growers echoed last year, today heard cries of dissatisfaction from the same source. A drop of from seven to 10 cents a pound for tobacco aroused the ire of growers but the farm administration says there is little it can do to boost prices.

Last year the AAA officials contended blue cured tobacco brought about eight cents above parity, while this year the weed that goes into the making of cigarettes is around parity. Under the AAA J. B. Hutson, the administration's tobacco chief, told the delegation of North Carolina dissenters it is the department's obligation to maintain prices at parity.

Objections were heard against the determination of parity prices which is based upon a 10-year average price of commodities bought by farmers. The North Carolina delegation suggested the cost of operating tractors was figured in its computation while only miles could be used in harvesting tobacco. The suggestion was made that the basis for figuring parity be regionalized; that is the average price of farm commodities within a certain region be used instead of the national average.

The effect of the processing tax was injected into the conference by S. Clay Williams, of Winston-Salem, R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company board chairman. SAY MOREHEAD PORT PROJECT NOW ASSURED

Money For Work Expected To Be Released Early Next Week

Washington, Sept. 26. (AP)—Senator J. W. Bailey, of North Carolina, said today release within a few days of approximately $2,000,000 in Public Works funds allocated last year for development of port terminals at Morehead City appeared assured.

In a statement the Senator said it was his information from official sources that the formal transfer of $455,000 to the Morehead City Port Commission for building the terminals and of $1,500,000 to the War Department for deepening the channel will take place next Tuesday.

Payment by the State of North Carolina of $57,000 in back taxes and interest on a $301,000 bond issue of the state-controlled Atlantic and North Carolina railroad was said to conclude all the details for release of the money. The state has pledged the assets of the railroad to secure port commission bonds the public works commission has agreed to purchase.

Raleigh, Sept. 26. (AP)—Attorney General A. P. Sewell said today he felt the last technicality barring actual construction of the port terminals at Morehead City with PWA funds had been removed. Mr. Sewell was in Washington yesterday for a conference with PWA officials and said he left with the assurance the only thing now needed to get actual work started was for J. L. Wright, director of railroad transportation division of the PWA to sign the Morehead City papers when he returns to Washington Monday.

Nineteen Arrested In Mooresville Strike Case

Mooresville, Sept. 26. (AP)—19 persons were awaiting trial today as a result of disorders in connection with the strike at Mooresville Cotton Mills where operations continued today behind a cordon of state highway patrolmen, police and special deputies. The charges ranged from simple assault and carrying concealed weapons to the operation of a strike propaganda sound truck with improper licenses. Police headquarters reported an increased working force in the mill today which was met by a counter claim by strike leaders that their lines were holding firm.

Approximately 600 workers, members of the United Textile Workers Union, went on strike Monday morning charging that the mill management had discriminated against UMW members. The mill normally employs between 1,600 and 1,800 workers. Despite the numerous arrests, police said no serious injuries had resulted from the disorders in the clashes between the strikers and those workers desiring to continue at their posts.

News Behind The News

STRENGTH: Huey Long—clown and philosopher, demagogue and statesman, imp and emperor—still figures in Democratic calculations. By a strange sort of irony a canvass of his potential strength reached political GHQ almost simultaneously with his tragic taking off.

These disclosures that the late Senator was stronger in certain Middle Western states than in the South. Political census takers estimated that he might have polled as many as 250,000 votes in Ohio, and that his appeal would have been only slightly below that, numerically, in Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Pennsylvania. He would have taken most toll in urban centers of unres. in the light of this analysis.

Democratic scouts report that it is unlikely this vote will go to any other third party candidate. It was Mr. Long's colorful and dynamic personality as much as his share-the-wealth theories which commended him to the restless. Nobody has arisen to take his place, it appears, and that includes such prospects as Father Coughlin and Dr. Townsend.

MORE COTTON RENT CHECKS ARE RECEIVED

Farmers Notified To Come in And Get Checks Amounting To $29,408.97

According to reports coming from County Agent, E. F. Arnold, he has received for delivery this week, 1,642 second cotton rental checks amounting to $29,408.97. For the past ten days the County Agent's office has been delivering 1935 tobacco rental checks to 2,200 farmers amounting to more than $100,000. In addition to these rental checks, the farmers will be paid adjustment checks on tobacco and parity checks on cotton, which come in after the sale of the crops.

Farmers were mailed notices yesterday, advising them to call at the County Agent's office for their second cotton rental checks. There are still 333 checks that have not been forwarded from the Washington office. The delay of these checks are due to the fact that the compliance sheets on these farms were not ready to go in with the first batch of compliance sheets mailed from this office.

League Of Nations Warns Against Any Hostilities In East Africa Dispute Today

RENTAL PLAN OPERATING IN MOST SCHOOLS

Textbook Rental System Being Used in All But 18 or 20 School Units

Reflector Bureau.

Sir Walter Hotel, Raleigh, Sept. 26.—The state rental textbook system is now in operation in all but 18 or 20 of the 168 school administrative units in North Carolina, including those units which already had their own independent rental of free textbook systems. State Superintendent of Public Instruction Clyde A. Erwin announced today.

"Considering the short length of time which the Rental Textbook Commission has had in which to purchase the books and distribute them to the counties and cities, I think it has done very well," Erwin said. "It has been a tremendous job to purchase all these books and send them out to the various city and county superintendents, who in turn have distributed them to their principals and teachers. But for the excellent cooperation given by the superintendents, principals and teachers, we would not have been able to get the rental system installed in as many schools as we have this year."

M's of the credit for getting the rental system going and for getting the books out as promptly as possible should go to E. N. Peeler, the executive secretary of the Rental Textbook Commission, Erwin said. For the past five or six weeks Mr. Peeler has been shipping books out of Raleigh by the truckload and at the rate of about 50,000 books per day. In all, about 1,000,000 books have been sent out by the rental commission.

Only the basal, state-adopted textbooks are being rented this year with the result that the children must still purchase the supplemental books which are required to have except in school systems which have their own rental systems. As a result the cost of the supplemental books in most cases exceeds the cost of the rental on the rented books. It is being hoped, however, that by next year or the year after the rental system can be extended to include supplemental books and supplies, as well as the basal books.

Authorize Bridge For Snead's Ferry

Washington, Sept. 26. (AP)—Representative Graham Barden, of New Bern, North Carolina, said today works program engineers had approved a proposal for construction of a $90,000 bridge over New River at Snead's Ferry, N. C.

Barden expressed the belief that funds would be allotted soon for the construction of the bridge.

LEAF SALES LIGHT HERE YESTERDAY

736,838 Pounds Sold Wednesday for Average of $20.27 Per Hundred

Tobacco offerings were lighter on the Greenville market yesterday but the price situation was a little stronger than on the previous day. Yesterday's sales averaged 736,838 per hundred pounds. Sales today were a little heavier than yesterday with offerings estimated at around 800,000 pounds. Indications at the noon hour were that all sales would be completed around three o'clock this afternoon.

Official figures on yesterday's sales made public this morning showed 736,838 pounds sold for $149,352.96, an average price of $20.27 per hundred pounds.

ITALY QUITS THE COUNCIL

In Case of Hostilities Now the Aggressor Will Be Guilty of Act of War Against League Members

(By Associated Press)

The League of Nations council acted rapidly today to warn Italy and Ethiopia that any hostilities before December 4 will put the aggressor nation automatically in the status of committing an act of war against all members of the league. The council decided to draft a report and recommendations for peace in East Africa.

After the Italian delegation left the League of Nations secretariat building the council adopted recommendations to proceed under Article XV of the covenant. The Ethiopian delegates accepted the invitation to attend the session.

The recommendation, as drawn, if adopted would mark as an act of war against all the league members any violations leading to sanctions. The council members decided to ask their five power committee to continue to take advantage of any opportunity for the council not passing judgment of the failure on the report of the committee of five.

Enrique Ruiz Guzman, of Argentina, proposed that Article XV be considered as having begun operation September 4. He said the council would not be closed but could be called at any time.

Anthony Eden, of England, told the council Britain was determined to abide by its policy and spokesman for other powers supported his stand.

Italian authorities called off the sailing of some 10,000 troops originally destined to guard the frontiers of Italy's north African possession Libya bordering on Egypt. The action was attributed to eastern tension between Britain and Italy and the general Italian opinion swung an admission of possibility that the league might take some constructive steps toward further discussion of the Italo-Ethiopian crisis.

Great Britain disclosed a program for making her entire Mediterranean fleet in Greek quarters near Italian naval concentrations and also looked to her home defense. A program was advanced for instruction or how to act in event of a bombing attack.

In the capital of the East African center of the controversy Emperor Haile Selassie gave France permission to station troops at Dessalawa to help preserve order and protect the Franco-Ethiopian railway. The eve of the Festival of Maska marking the end of the tropical rainy season brought general rejoicing and a brilliant tropical sun.

In Berlin German officials said the key to their action in event the league applies economic sanctions against Italy would probably rest in Austria and Switzerland. If either nation should continue to sell to Italy they said doubtless Germany would do so too.

Paris, Sept. 26. (AP)—French officials said today sanctions against Italy could not be avoided if Premier Mussolini's forces ever attack Ethiopia. These officials predicted that the League of Nations council will make the aggressor nation in the impending conflict indefinitely liable to sanctions.

Deadlock In Coal Strike

Washington, Sept. 26. (AP)—There was no sign today of a break in the soft coal strike deadlock. Indications were that the strike of the miners might last for several days, at least, before a settlement was reached.

Disputes over wage differentials and working conditions cropped up yesterday to add difficulties in reaching an agreement and ending the strike which was called last Sunday midnight.

Thus far little or no disorders have been reported from the fields.

PUTS CRIMP IN BOWIE'S
POLITICAL DICTATORSHIP

meetings were over, Tain knew he was licked. There was a light in his office in West Jefferson until long after midnight on the night following the precinct meetings as his messengers came in from the various precincts, many of them miles back in the mountains, to report that he had been beaten in almost every meeting according to those who followed the course of events there. The result was that on the day of the county convention, Bowie did not even attend it, and Johnston was reelected county chairman without any opposition. For Tain knew he was licked long before the several hundred lean and gaunt mountaineers started coming into West Jefferson for the county convention.

It was not so much this one law which Bowie succeeded in getting through the general assembly calling a special county convention, but the entire series of laws which he got through that riled the Ashe mountaineers, according to reports. For in the 1935 session he also got through an innocent-sounding law increasing the number of members of the county board of education from three to five. But most Ashe mountaineers agree that the purpose of this law was to give Bowie control of the school board by adding two more members belonging to his county organization for the purpose of removing the former county superintendent and putting in a new superintendent who belonged to his faction. For until this law was passed, Bowie had been unable to get control of the county school board and hence of the county superintendent. At any rate, the enlarged school board did oust the man who had been county superintendent and put in a man considered to be loyal to the Bowie organization. This in turn gave his faction complete control of the selection of all the teachers.

Another bill which Bowie got through the general assembly in 1933 was the one creating a jury commission for Ashe county. This commission was composed of his own followers, it is maintained, with the result that the only one drawn for jury service were three members of the "organization." At any rate, the Ashe county demagogues have put a temporary crimp in Bowie's apparent ambition to become the Huey Long of Ashe county.

In all its entirety the Sparks managed Downie Brothers Circus arrived on the circus grounds of our city early this morning and citizens that never arise before 8 a. m. could be seen strolling around like "kids" looking at the placements of circus paraphernalia — any why not for circus day is "kids" day and as Mark Twain said we are all "kids" on circus day and the age limit of a circus kid is from 6 to 60 and to 100 if we live that long.

Today the circus is the only form of amusement that requires no censor and you can always find in the audience conservative folks that make circus day a holiday—for it is enjoyable—clean amusement—displayed for your amusement without a blush—Charlie Sparks during his circus career of forty years has never given the public any off color amusement and daily looks over m. could be seen strolling around the street parade this noon hour started the day's festivities with a bang of joy for it was over a mile long and contained many novelties with plenty of open dens of roasting wild animals—elephants, camels, ponies and clowns, dainty maidens in performance to see that it is very delightful sight to look at—for "Charlie" knows how to pick good looking girls as well as good horse flesh. Three bands rendered bright catchy music under the direction of Rodney Harris. The manager offered this season is greatly enlarged and "Charlie" is proud of what he calls his juvenile department for it is greatly enjoyed by the children and can also baby elephants, baby leopards, ponies and monkeys. In looking over his program you will find it entirely new offering a big revival of the "Leaps" featuring Stanley White and Tony Sealer the world's greatest leapers as well as Jim Williams the only lady leaper known to the circus world. The Frisco Seals from California is the greatest marine act ever attempted.

If Mr. Roosevelt can abate that complaint, it will be to his advantage. He risks, however, real or suspected involvement in the local political quarrels of Democrats in the states he visits, and possible disappointment and offense to the states he does not visit. That is the disadvantage.

These are some of the reasons why no politician doubts for a moment that the trip will make an important political history, one way or another.

LET KIDNEYS
FLUSH OUT
3 LBS. A DAY

Clean Out 15 Miles of Kidney Tubes
Nature put over 15 miles of tiny tubes and filters in your kidneys to strain the waste matter out of the blood. Kidneys should pass 3 pints a day and so get rid of more than 3 pounds of waste matter.

When the passing of water is scanty, with smarting and burning, the 15 miles of kidney tubes may need flushing out. This danger signal may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes and dizziness.

If kidneys don't empty 3 pints a day and so get rid of more than 3 pounds of waste matter, your body may take up some of these poisons causing serious trouble. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, which have been used successfully by millions of people for over 40 years. They give happy relief and help the kidneys to flush out 3 pounds a day. The Republicans count on the east as their nestegg, and will call on the west to provide the additional strength needed as a majority. The Democrats regard the south as a Democratic nestegg, and will try in the west to get what more is required.

Thus it is over a territory already criss-crossed by preliminary encroachments that Mr. Roosevelt has chosen to travel. That fact focuses public notice very intently on everything he says and does there.

West Greenville P. T. A.
The Parent-Teacher Association of West Greenville school held their initial meeting for this term on Wednesday afternoon of this week.

While no special program had been arranged, the large number present enjoyed a most delightful and enthusiastic business meeting. After a formal opening by the president, Mrs. Hudson, the teachers were personally introduced to the new mothers. The treasurer, Miss Hadley, read a gratifying amount on hand in the treasury. Miss Fullilove displayed a set of books on "Child-Craft" which has been recently purchased for our library, and named playground equipment as our chief objective for this term. A committee consisting of Madam Drival and Duncan were named to work with the president in drawing up plans to raise funds. A mother was named responsible for the program each month with the exception of December and May, at which times the faculty will provide the program.

Past experience has taught that Grade Mothers are not only an inspiration to the children, but they also promote friendship between the parents and teachers, so mothers readily volunteered to serve for the ensuing month.

Miss Hadley's grade won the prize for having the most mothers present.—Reported.

Reynolds Being Criticized For Galavanting Tour

Reflector Bureau.
Criticized at Waller Hotel.
Raleigh, Sept. 26.—Senator Robert R. Reynolds of Asheville is being much criticized here by both friends and opponents for his "galavanting" tour around the country—supposedly on only $100 a person—while there is serious business to be attended to here at home. There is no doubt that he rates little better than zero with the tobacco farmers here in the east because he has been "too busy" clowning around the country to do anything to help them get better prices in Washington although Senator Josiah W. Bailey and Governor J. C. B. Ehringhaus have been devoting a large part of their time for the past several weeks in trying to work out some plan to boost tobacco prices.

Quite a number contend that while "Our Bob" is undoubtedly sincere in thinking he is advertising North Carolina, he is really giving it negative advertising by making the other states laugh up their sleeves at the type of Senators which North Carolina elects.

"The country at large is getting the idea that all a Senator from North Carolina has to do is to be a play-boy and a clown, when there is really plenty of serious work Senator Reynolds could do if he would only stop clowning long enough to do it," one commentator said here today.

The weekly news magazine, Time, last week had a picture of Senator Reynolds holding a frying pan over the small gasoline stove in the automobile trailer in which he and two friends are touring the United States. The story which accompanied the picture said that Senator Reynolds in posing for the picture "hastily wiped out the evidence by using a frying pan" before permitting the photographer to take the picture. It also said that the Senator and his companions deserted their trailer for a hotel one night in New York because the train on the roof kept them awake, but that the Senator vigorously denied this was the case.

The ladies of the Round Table held their first meeting of the year at the home of Mrs. Howard J. McGinnis on Tuesday afternoon.

Fifteen members responded to roll call. Guests of the afternoon were Mrs. Ficklen Arthur and Mrs. James Johnston.

The business session was brief, chairman of Library Committee, reported two books purchased and added to library, "History Shrines of America" and "Literary Shrines of America."

The program for the afternoon was in the hands of Mrs. J. H. Rose and she introduced as guest speaker, Mrs. Ficklen Arthur. In a charming manner, Mrs. Arthur took us to points of historical interest in the Albemarle section of our State, giving the story in authentic account and tradition of the three oldest towns; Manteo, Bath and Edenton, telling of markers and memorials and restorations by the North Carolina Historical Association, giving stories and legends of Nags Head, Kill Devil Hill, the Pirate Blackbeard, and reviewing Mrs. Cotton's poem, "The White Doe."

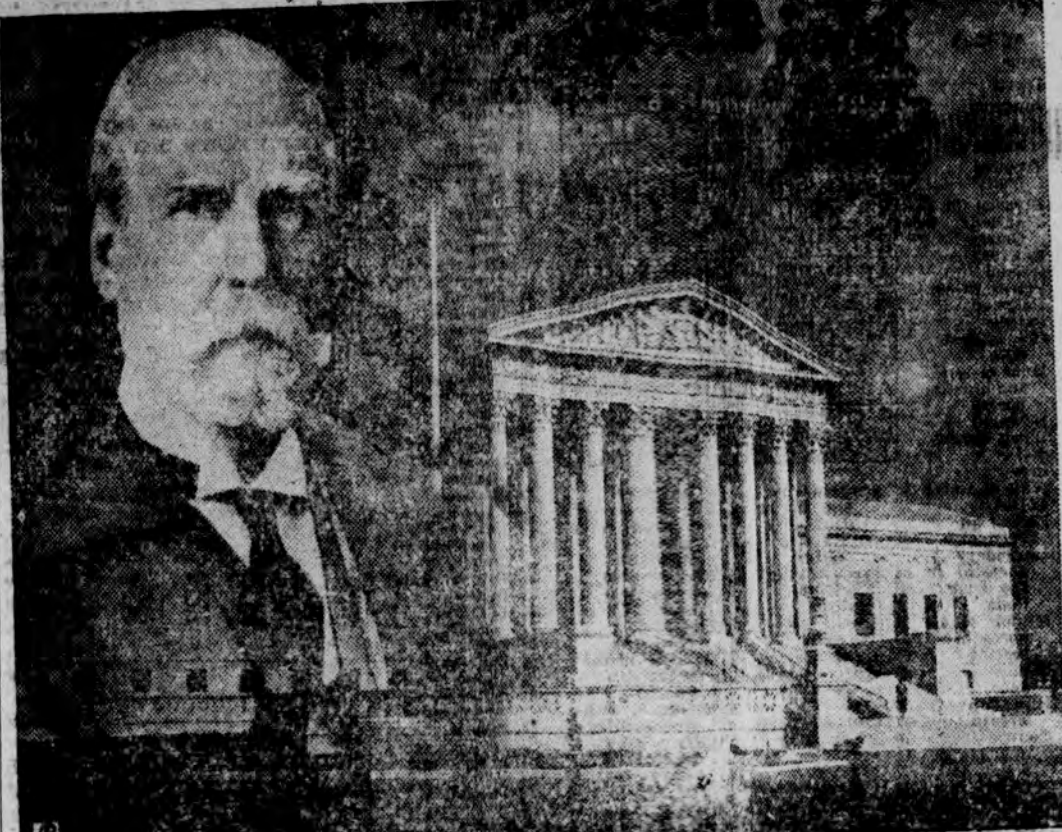

This made a most interesting beginning of our year's study of "Shrines of the United States."

A refreshing ice course was served by the hostess, assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Johnston and Mrs. Rose.—Reported.

SUPREME COURT, IN FIRST REAL HOME, SEEN FACING ITS MOST HISTORIC TASK

Chief Justice Hughes, seen above, will lead the United States Supreme Court to its bench in the court's new "palace" October 7 for what Washington observers predict will be its most historic session. The picture shows the front facade of the new building. (Associated Press Photo.)

By SIGMUND ARNE.
Washington (AP)—The United States supreme court, without case, today moved into its new home, a magnificent new palace of justice, to begin its first session in the new building. The new court building, which is the most magnificent of its kind in the world, is a masterpiece of architecture. It is a building of the future, a building that will stand for centuries to come. The new court building is a masterpiece of architecture. It is a building of the future, a building that will stand for centuries to come.

Between each of the columns, to right and left of the bench, are gleaming bronze gates through which are visible sun-filled courtyards and splashing fountains.

Deep friezes above the columns, carved from large blocks of marble, picture the famous law-givers of the centuries and such allegorical figures as "the power of government," and "the majesty of the law."

Just behind the bench are two open fireplaces which will not be visible to the rest of the room.

In front of the bench are science's latest accommodations.

The huge light which will illuminate the room from the ornate ceiling is designed with a series of fan-like blades to throw a bright light so diffused as to prevent glare in any part of the room.

Decisions on 'New Deal' Due Pneumatic tubes below the press

table will carry off most of the happenings in the room to the press keys on the floor below.

A book lift, which operates like a dumb-waiter, and another pneumatic tube will carry law books and messages rapidly from the court to the justices' private offices and back.

It is in this room that vital "new deal" legislation is due to come before the court immediately, including the agricultural adjustment act, the Bankhead cotton production act, the TVA and the steam-ship act, and the low-cost housing bill.

Ultimately it is expected the court also will have to pass on the life or death of social security, the utility holding company regulations, the Wagner labor bill, and the Gulfley coal bill.

Below the building is a garage and drive which will permit all employees in the building to enter without stepping out into snow and rain.

Library Magnificent
Behind the court chamber are the three-story suites provided for each justice. These are simply paneled in American oak. In the private office of each justice is a dark gray arched fireplace.

There is a central dining-room for the court, adjoining which is a service kitchen where the food, which the justices have sent in, can be kept warm or cold.

One of the most magnificent rooms is the library for attorneys admitted to the bar. It is paneled with carved oak and flanked with a series of arches through which can be seen carved oak book cases. The ceiling is a rich one of ornamental plaster in dull gold, rust and dull blue.

The rest of the building includes all manner of conveniences, such as book stacks, filing rooms, clerk rooms and a public cafeteria; in the hope, as the architects say, "that this will really be a building adequate for the ages."

The opening was not witnessed by the two men most responsible for the building: former Chief Justice Taft, who talked the idea until it became a reality, and Cass Gilbert, the architect. Both have died. The other architects were Cass Gilbert, Jr., and John R. Rockart.

"This is a season of influences. Renaissance Greek, Russian, and Military—"

All of these have crept into the fashion design—and everyone of them is to be found in our magnificent selection of clothes that are delightfully right for Fall. The gorgeous colors of the Renaissance are reproduced in the new rich colors. The draped effects of the Grecian era are expressed in the flowing lines of the new silhouette. Full peasant sleeves and jeweled ornaments belong to the Russian period, while militaristic braidings, frogs, loops, tassels and gold ornaments signify the importance of the Military influence.

WHAT FIRE PREVENTION MEANS TO YOU

The coming of Fire Prevention Week, which will be observed between October 6 and 12, makes it worthwhile to meditate on what fire prevention means to you as an individual, a taxpayer,
a home owner and a worker.

Fire prevention saves lives—yours and your loved ones. Thousands of people are now cremated each year —because someone was careless.

Fire prevention is the friend of the home. Without it, your home may be turned to ashes—and insurance can never replace the many intangible values each home represents. Money cannot compensate for everything.

Fire prevention tends to keep taxes down. Each time a fire destroys taxpaying property, thus removing it from the tax rolls, higher taxes must be paid by all other property within the community.

Fire prevention keeps insurance rates down. Over a period of years, the rate for each locality is based upon fire loss—many fires mean high rates.

Fire prevention is the friend of employment. When a fire destroys a business, jobs are lost, and thousands of dollars in purchasing power is lost with them. Untold privation and misery can result.

Fire prevention means progressive towns and cities.
Cases are on record where a single fire, destroying a town's main industry, has resulted in permanent retrogression, at the expense of property and all other values in the community.

Prevent fire—and save lives and money. Do your part during Fire Prevention Week.

MORNING STAR

— BY MARIAN SIMS —

SYNOPSIS: Emily Barnes is discovering her husband, Edna, is doing everything to keep her from to everybody's joy. Edna is a conceited, self-centered woman who lives with her husband in a small town in Alabama. Emily is a school teacher and her husband is a doctor. And at once she falls into the arms of the household, there is only one small flaw,
which is that Judith's brother,
David, is a constant trouble.
And Judith's father, who is a doctor, is a constant trouble to the household.

JUDITH said slowly, "I'll be longer at Carolina." Aubrey began to nod. He grinned affectionately at his wife.
"Going to play your God, eh?"
"Not at all," Judith said reverently.
"God's not nearly so difficult as His children are."
"But suppose David's got a girl Carrollton? It could be a tragedy
if he hadn't after all these years."
Privately, Aubrey couldn't imagine David's being quite that devoted to an ideal.

"He hasn't," Judith said confidently. "He'll never get over it,
no matter how long he stays away.
It's in his blood, as I've remarked before."
She turned on him. "Can you imagine being happy, or being at home, anywhere else in the world, no matter how long you'd been there?"

"No," he confessed, thinking nevertheless that he and David were different types.

"And so," Judith decided, "I'm going to cable him tomorrow. He'll tell me the truth."

"Suppose he can't swing it?"
"Then we'll have to buy it and let him pay us."

Aubrey grinned again. "Using what for money?"

"We'll have to do some mortgaging ourselves."

He said ruefully, "How many mortgages do you think this roof can support?"

"Anyway," Judith's confidence was boundless, "I'm going to cable."
"What about Emily?" he demanded: "going to mention that?"

"No—ooo, I don't think I shall.
All I can do about that is to watch and pray."

"Particularly pray," Aubrey twinkled. "Where are those old corduroy breeches of mine? I want em for morning."

Judith had said, "Don't worry about breakfast: Aubrey eats at the barbecue house of half-past seven and I have mine later, in bed. Just ring when you're ready and Dorinda will bring yours up."

But Emily couldn't sleep. She felt restless and excited, and at seven she gave up the pretense of sleep and arose.

Aubrey was at breakfast when she came down, wearing the corduroy breeches and a flannel shirt and consuming quantities of hominy and chicken hash. He welcomed her delightedly.

"This is fine! What sort of breakfast do you eat?"

She looked at his plate. "One like yours would do beautifully." She hadn't eaten that much breakfast in years, but it looked delicious.

"With orange juice before and waffles afterwards?"

She agreed. "Especially waffles.
But please go on eating, or I'll never come down this early again."

"I'd be tickled to death. Feel like going today?"

She hesitated. Dr. Proctor had said she might ride now, but that she must take it gradually. "I haven't been very fit, but I'd love
it. Are you going far?"

"No. And if you do get tired you can come back any time. Jude will be dragging you to field trials and fox-hunts before long, and this will be a good way to begin."

She finished breakfast and went up to change clothes, singing softly as she went. This life did get into your blood, if only there were someone to live it with you.

Judith's horse was saddled and waiting when she came down: not Starlight this time, but a sleek little bay with a white blaze and three white socks. Emily caressed the velvety nose and the little horse sniffed her companionably.

Aubrey smiled his approval and gave her a hand into the saddle.
"She racks on the curb," he explained casually, "and canters on the snaffle. Better stick to the rack this time. It's easier."

She laughed. "It certainly is. If she were three-galled I doubt if I'd be equal to her."

Even winter dealt lightly with this southern Alabama country, she concluded a reciprocal tariff, with Rome.

Mr. Hull has urged Mussolini to finish the job several times, but without getting any action. It does not seem so, but the fact is that Italy hasn't enough cash to negotiate a 50-50 tariff treaty. She has had to limit the amount, which exports may ship in payment of goods. She has also ruled that the balance of trade must favor Italy.
Both measures are designed to support Italian exchange. Under such conditions there appears to be scant hope of a reciprocal arrangement between the two countries.

Mr. Hull and Ambassador Rogers went through the motions of negotiating for months, but the European crisis has brought their talks to an end. Mussolini has been too upset to worry about a more liquid exchange of Italian spaghetti for American ingos.

and that's not a healthy condition for an election year. Any inflationary moves would add fuel to the flames.

Insiders accordingly expect FDR to avoid anything that looks like direct inflation if he possibly can.
This would bar any form of printing press money and would also outlaw further devaluation.

Credit inflation in some form is rated inevitable. But that's subtle and might be so handled as not to prime much of a hoist in the price level. Mr. Roosevelt is said to be finally persuaded that a huge reserve of excess reserves is maintained—traces of private borrowing can be stimulated. That's what the comes to—and those who should know say that the President is giv-

MALARIA

Speedy Relief of Chills
and Fever

Don't let Malaria tear you apart with its racking chills and burning fever. Trust to no home-made or mere makeshift remedies. Take the medicine prepared especially for Malaria—Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic.

Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic gives real relief from Malaria because it's a scientific combination of tasteless quinine and tonic iron. The quinine kills the Malarial infection in the blood. The iron builds up the system and helps fortify against further attack. At the first sign of any attack of Malaria take Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic. Better still take it regularly during the Malaria season to ward off the disease. Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic is absolutely harmless and tastes good.

Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic now comes in two sizes, 50c and $1. The $1 size contains 2½ times as much as the 50c size and gives you 25% more for your money. Get bottle today at any drugstore.

Snively Pushes Tar Heels Hard For Deacon Fray

Chapel Hill, N. C., Sept. 26.—Carolina supporters Saturday will get their first, last and only chance to see the Tar Heels in action on their home field until the last week in October, exactly a month away. The Tar Heels clash with the Deacon Deacons in Kenan Stadium at 2:30 o'clock.

Following the Wake Forest encounter the Blue and White will be away for three successive weeks, at Tennessee, Maryland and Davidson in order. Not until October 26 when Georgia Tech comes to the Hill in a Homecoming affair will Carolina play at home again.

And those fans who think that the Tar Heels will not open up Saturday are sadly fooling themselves. Coach Snively is making detailed plans to turn on the heat against the strongly fortified Deacons. To watch the practice sessions of the Tar Heels one would think the Carolina mentor is prepping for either Tennessee or Maryland or Duke. Passing, of course, is holding the biggest attention of the work.

The Carolina scouts who witnessed the Duke-Wake Forest clash brought back reports which set the Tar Heels to honest-to-goodness work. Bert Shore piled up many of the Duke end runs; Captain Perk Reinhardt played bang-up ball at center; Walt Kitchen tied with astounding accuracy with his passes; Tex Edens punted the oval with an average in the forties. Such things as these do not point to an easy victory for Carolina.

Coach Snively is hoping to have the first team intact for the game Saturday, although at the rate injuries have been occurring at the Carolina camp, there is no telling what will happen until game time. Herman Snyder is still slowed up with an old hurt in his right arm. Evins and John Trimpey in nearly the same condition. The rest of the first string, however, appears to be in fair condition. At ends there will likely be Dick Buck and Andy Bershak; at tackles, Evins and Trimpey; at guards, John Sniskar and Emel Joyce; at center, Babe Daniel; in the backfield, Snyder, Harry Montgomery, Don Jackson and Jim Hutchins.

South Carolina To Bring Large Crowd To Durham

Durham, N. C., Sept. 26.—One of the largest out-of-state followings ever to accompany a team are to be with Duke's Blue Devils when they invade this city for their Saturday game with the Wadmen.

Supporters of the Gamecocks, in their belief that their new coach, Don McCalister, "has it" in this, his first year, at the season when he will move on Durham this week-end by all methods of transportation. A special train will be run from Columbia and many others will travel by automobile and bus.

A large block of east side tickets were sent to Columbia last week. They were disposed of Monday after the Gamecocks had opened their campaign with an impressive 33-6 victory over Erskine's first team and another big batch of tickets were requested and sent.

Followers of the South Carolina team are confident that the Gamecocks will defeat the Blue Devils Saturday. They have every reason to believe this as the Birds looked just as impressive, probably more so than the Blue Devils in their opening last week. Erskine brought one of its best teams in years to Columbia and put up a fine game but they could not stop the spirited and smooth-working Gamecocks.

And in addition to this spirit and skill in team play, the Gamecocks have a pair of backs who can "carry" the mail. Those two boys are Jack Derrenbacher and "Colonel" Wilbur Clary. Clary was made a lieutenant colonel by Governor Johnston of South Carolina for scoring the first Gamecock touchdown of the season. He scored two others with runs of 55 and 65 yards. Derrenbacher, sophomore fullback made a 61-yard touchdown run and several other long jaunts. He carried the ball eight times in making his debut for a total of 138 yards. A 17-yard average for a sophomore leather-lugger!

Wolfpack And Wildcats Will Meet Saturday

Greensboro, Sept. 25.—The football game here Saturday night in Memorial stadium between State College and Davidson College will abound in spectacular punting.

Davidson has a fine kicker in Paul Pittman, triple-threat signal caller, who some say can out kick Johnnie Mackorell, the 1934 Davidson star.

State has any number of capable punters the best of whom is Charlie Gadd, Charlotte boy and sophomore quarterback. Gadd's kicking was a big factor in his being named all-Southern high school quarterback at Charlotte for four successive years.

Gadd is rated by some who have seen him put his foot behind a ball as being as good if not better than Ace Parker, Duke's fine quarterback.

If need be, Vince Farrar, left guard, can be pulled out of the line to kick. Farrar kicks left footed. He played fullback and halfback last year.

SPORT SLANTS

Several bold moves transformed the Chicago Cubs into a steam-roller in the late stages of the National league pennant race and at the same time changed Charlie Grimm from a bawdy-playing manager with a booming baritone voice into a master-mind.

Last spring Grimm announced the 19-year-old Phil Cavarretta would take his place at first base so that he could retire to the comparative quiet of the dug-out where he could think the whole thing out calmly. The former high school youth from the sand-lots of Chicago made good from the opening gun and moved Grimm to try several equally drastic changes.

Augie Moves Out
There was Augie Galan. A likely looking ball-player with considerable promise but not in an infield role. His great speed was wasted because of his tendency to fight ground balls and make too many errors. Grimm was anything but satisfied with the way things were going with the outfield, so he set about making an outfielder of erable promise but not in an infield role. A few morning work-outs showed that Galan was a natural flycatcher and needed only experience. Early in July, Grimm decided he was ready for a fling. The regular appearance of Galan in the Cubs' lineup was the signal for the Cubs to start the great drive which was to carry them from third place to the top.

In revamping his outfield, Grimm shifted Frank Demaree from center to right. He put Freddie Lindstrom in center to work alongside of the surprising Galan. Not the greatest garden combination in the National league's history, perhaps, but it proved mighty effective.

Bargain Shopper
Bill Herman, at second, and Bill Jurgens, at short, blossomed out as the leading keystone combination in the National league and together with Stanley Hack, third baseman, took excellent care of the inexperienced Cavarretta at first base. Herman and Jurgens top the league in making double plays this season.

The trades Grimm made with the St. Louis Cardinals and the Pirates made his pitching staff. He gave Bud Tinning and Dick Ward to the Cardinals in exchange for Tex Carleton. Carleton has been no world-beater for the Cubs but he has turned in about a dozen victories and served capably as a relief hurler. That's not bad when you stop and consider this year Carleton added 16 victories to the Cardinals' total while the material he got in exchange for him was of no practical value in the race which developed between the Chicago team and themselves.

Larry French came back to have one of his best seasons after he changed from a Pirate to a Cub uniform and proved to be just the experienced left-hander Grimm was seeking. Grimm had to give up Guy Bush and Jim Weaver to get French and Lindstrom but came out on top on the strength of the results. Weaver pitched about the same brand of ball in Pittsburgh that he did in Chicago but the veteran Bush slipped considerably, and turned in seven fewer victories this season than he did under Grimm in 1935.

Arch Finch of Wilson County, N. C., recently claimed the title of world's champion watermelon grower when he produced a melon weighing 113 1-2 pounds.

HUEY LONG: Success Story Of A Louisiana Plowboy

No. 3

New Orleans was on Huey Long's 'grudge list' a long time. It was the seat of Mayor T. Semmes' Walmsley's anti-Long organization. In the summer of 1934 there was the 'battle of New Orleans' when Walmsley and Long stationed their 'armies' in the streets. On July 4, 1935, Long's legislature passed laws giving him control over expenditures and patronage in New Orleans and all other Louisiana cities. Long's dictatorship was complete. The Walmsley organization was crushed.

Long's fear of death from an assassin seemed to mount as his political activities increased. Once at his office in Washington, a package was opened and found to contain a crude bomb which failed to explode. In August, Huey took the floor of the senate to detail another plot against his life. He read a transcript which he said was made from a dictaphone record, reciting a discussion over drawing straws to see who should have the job of killing the senator.

Huey Long frequently was a disrupting force in senate procedure and although his opponents were exasperated, they respected the craftiness which he was capable of bringing to bear against measures he opposed. Several times during his days in the senate, Long used the filibuster but never more effectively than on closing day of the last session when he 'talked to death' the administration-favored third deficiency bill, tying up funds for much of the social security program.

Relevance, once he had established his direction, Long returned to Baton Rouge after the close of congress with a determination to balk 'new deal' activities in his state. At a special session of the legislature, Long forced a vote of bills designed to make trouble for the national administration program and strengthen his control of the state. One provided jail for government agents who 'violated the constitution' in administering national laws in Louisiana.

A night session of the legislature had just closed. Long walked across the capitol rotunda. His bodyguard walked beside and behind him. Near the office door of his friend, Gov. Allen, quiet, studious Dr. Carl A. Weiss stepped from behind a pillar to send a bullet ripping through Long's abdomen. The youthful physician went down in a clatter of machine-gun fire but it was too late to save Louisiana's dictator. Thirty hours later, death closed the stormiest career of modern politics.

LICENSES TO BE SENT OUT IN FEW DAYS

Applications for More Than 300,000 Driver's Licenses Received

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel.

Raleigh, Sept. 26.—With more than 300,000 applications for driver's licenses already received, the Department of Revenue will start photographing these applications and issuing the actual licenses within the next day or two, according to George G. Scott, who is in charge of the drivers' license work. The two photographic machines, which will make photostatic copies of the top portion of each license application, which will be come the drivers' licenses issued to the applicants, have already been installed and are ready to go to work. They will probably be tested today and put into full operation by Monday at the latest. "These photostatic machines will be able to turn out from 1,000 to 2,000 photostatic copies of the licenses an hour, or from 16,000 to 20,000 licenses a day," Scott said. "We are planning to run the machines in two shifts. If necessary, so that we can issue as many as 40,000 licenses a day by running two eight hour shifts. As a result, we believe we can mail the licenses to all of the 300,000 who have already sent in application blanks by the middle of October and that we can issue about 1,000,000 drivers' permits by November 1, when every driver of an automobile or motor truck will be required to have a license."

Already 1,500,000 application blanks have been printed and distributed to car owners and drivers and indications are that another 500,000 will have to be printed, since there seem to be from two to three persons seeking drivers' permits for each car and truck registered. At the present time almost 500,000 motor vehicles have been registered this year. The response of the public in making applications for the drivers' licenses has been much better than had been expected. Scott said, with the result that more than 75 per cent of the drivers are expected to have their applications in before the law goes into effect November 1. Those who do not file their applications by that date will have to pay a penalty of $1 each for their licenses.

New York Cotton

New York, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened barely steady one higher to one lower on steeper Liverpool cables off; by southern selling. Considerable cotton seemed to be wanted around 10.55 for December at the start but the price later sagged to 10.53 with the general list showing net losses of about one to two points at the end of the first hour.

At midday December was selling around 10.54 and May 10.70 or within a point or two of yesterday's closing quotations.

Futures closed barely steady three to nine lower. Spots quiet; middling 10.85.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Sept. 26.—(AP)—While there were scattered firm spots in today's stock market numerous leaders stepped off into the rear price ranks. Receding tendencies were more encouraged than otherwise and the European outlook was no more disconcerting than it has been for the past several days.

Trading verged on dullness during the greater part of the session. Definite trends in grain, cotton and several other commodities were lacking. Foreign exchanges for the most part were quiet, although the gold again pointed lower. Bonds were irregular in a fractional range. The late stock tone was easy. Transfers approximated 1,000,000 shares.

haus the question as to whether there was any "retaliation" on the part of the manufacturers because of failure of the administration to lift the levy. Williams denied that was the case.

Huston suggested slowing up of marketing explaining more fluently cured had been sold so far this season that ever before, and withdrawal of scrap from warehouse floors.

BROTHERS GET LIFE FOR MURDER OF KIN

Hayesville, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Oscar Shelton and Everett Shelton, brothers, charged with slaying their grandfather, George W. Shelton, last June pleaded guilty to second degree murder in Clay county superior court yesterday and were sentenced to life imprisonment.

The brothers, both in their early twenties, are sons of Thomas Shelton of the Tusquitee section. The state contended they robbed their grandfather of $1,000, killed him and hid his body in Tusquitee Creek where it was found last summer.

Lions Escape.
Addis Ababa, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Palace guards got some unexpected machine-gun practice yesterday as five of Emperor Haile Selassie's lions escaped from their cages at the new palace.

The lions bounded into the stables, killing a boy attendant and two of the emperor's horses before they were brought down, riddled with machine gun slugs.

Haile Selassie has about 20 lions at the new and old palaces.

BIG STILL CAPTURED IN BEAUFORT COUNTY
Washington, N. C., Sept. 26.—One of the largest stills ever taken in Beaufort county was destroyed on the Branch farm in the Chocowinity section yesterday.

Eight thousand gallons of beer was found and destroyed. The still a steam rig outfit, was not in operation at the time, but had been recently. It was of 20,000-gallon capacity, had a boiler of 10-horsepower, and was warm when officers reached it. A train road 500 feet long was used to carry materials to the still and to bring the whisky from it.

FOUR SUFFER INJURIES IN AUTOMOBILE CRASH
Dunn, Sept. 26.—George Johnson, young man of Lillington was badly cut about the head and cheek, Levi McNeil, also of Lillington lost an eye. Mrs. George Johnson had three ribs broken, and Cleson Matthews, of Bulls Creek, received minor injuries when the autos being driven by Johnson and Harry Hardy mixed in a wreck around 2 o'clock Sunday morning about three and one-half miles from Lillington on the highway at what is known as the "triangle."

BOY LOSES HIS FINGER PLAYING 'WILL ROGERS'
Fayetteville, Sept. 26.—Charles Hayes, young son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Hayes, suffered the loss of a finger from an accident which occurred while he was "playing Will Rogers."

Charles and his playmate, Edwin Earnhardt, were imitating Rogers in "Steamboat Round the Bend." First holding up a board for the other lad to cut with a hatchet, Charles then substituted a nail, saying, "See if you can cut that."

The hatchet came down on his finger, practically severing it. His finger was amputated at the Highsmith hospital.
