ed Hits

Detroit, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Before 50,000 fans that overflowed Navin field here the Chicago Cubs this afternoon defeated the Detroit Tigers in the first game of the 1935 World championship baseball series. The final score was three to nothing. Warneke pitched the Cub team to victory, allowing only four scattered hits while "Schoolboy" Rowe, on the mound for Detroit, allowed but seven hits.

Chicago put the game on ice in the first inning when a two base hit, a batter hit by a pitched ball, a single and an error netted two runs. From the first until the ninth Rowe held the Cubs scoreless but in the ninth frame a home run by Demaree counted the third Cub score.

The Tigers threatened in the fifth when Rowe following one out got a two bagger, only to be left on third base following two more outs.

CALL FOR BIDS
FOR MARKERS
ON HIGHWAYSState to Mark Places
Of Historic Interest
Along The High-
waysReflector Bureau,
Sir Walter Hoel

Raleigh, Oct. 2.—Bids on the first 50 historic markers to be erected along North Carolina highways pointing spots of historic interest, will be received by the Division of Purchase and Contract October 10 together with an option on 100 additional markers at the same price. It was announced today by Director A. S. Brower of the division. Bids had previously been called for on these markers by the Department of Conservation and Development and the State Historical Commission before it was realized that in order to be binding the bids had to be let through the purchase and contract division.

These markers will be of cast aluminum, will be about three feet deep and four feet wide and will be mounted on three inch pipe posts along the highways at or near the historic spots they will call attention to. The lettering will be black against a white or aluminum background so that the markers may be easily read from a distance.

The move to erect these markers was started several years ago by the Department of Conservation and Development, but failed to make any headway until the 1935 general assembly passed a special act requiring the State Highway and Public Works Commission to set aside $10,000 a year of its maintenance funds to be used for these markers. The Historical Commission has also been cooperating with the Conservation Department in selecting the places to be marked. A

PRESIDENT TO BEGIN CRUISE
LATE TONIGHTChief Executive Receives Greatest Ovation at Los Angeles
Yesterday

San Diego, Calif., Oct. 2.—(AP)—President Roosevelt paused on this southwestern tip of the nation today after his transcontinental tour for an address before embarking on his long deferred cruise of the Pacific to the Panama canal.

The twinkling beams of blinker messages among the United States fleet flashed beyond his hotel window throughout the night here preparatory to today's naval demonstration.

Mr. Roosevelt reached here to attend the California-Pacific exposition obviously thrilled by the smiling faces and cheers of a million or more people who have greeted him on his way to the coast. The further west he traveled the greater the crowds and the climax came yesterday at Los Angeles where he received perhaps the greatest reception and one seldom equaled for any man. Throughout the 56 mile tour of the city including the public work projects, the president was met at every corner and along every street by citizens.

Before between 60,000 and 75,000 gathered in the Olympic stadium he called for unification of liberal forces and was cheered heartily.

Intimates of the president were inclined to place significance on today's talk to be delivered over a national hookup at 2 p. m. EST.

Ending his 3,500 mile trip across the country here last night the president had a private dinner with Mrs. Roosevelt who accompanied him. Late today after visiting the exposition and talking to folk there and throughout the nation he will board the cruiser Houston to go to sea.

THE NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG
News Behind The News

Washington
By RAY TUCKER

BUYER: Uncle Sam is rapidly becoming the world's greatest owner of land. He held title to many broad acres before but the New Deal has opened up the biggest land office in history since the Alaska and Louisiana purchases. It pictures the expansion of the federal government's activities, more graphically than any other development.

You haven't heard much about it because the real estate activity has just begun to boom in earnest. The land office of the Department of Justice is clearing 500 titles a week. Except where the courts or Comptroller General McCarl have held up the deals, the government is buying large portions of cities and states from coast to coast for housing, game refuges, rural settlement, soil erosion, flowage rights from dam projects, withdrawal from production.

The figures aren't forthcoming yet but Uncle Sam bought 20,000,000 acres for $26,000,000 in the 1935 fiscal year; it will be 40,000,000 in 1936. Those 60,000,000 acres represent an area almost twice as large as England. You could drop the six New England states in it and have room for another Maine. It is almost twice as large as New York State, more than twice the size of Ohio, and Minnesota would nest comfortably there.

HOLD-UP: There's a hidden reason—and maneuver—behind the flourishes and ruffles with which the administration announced abandonment of its slum clearance program. It is not the custom for New Dealers to broadcast failure of

OVER TWENTY
CASES HEARD
ON YESTERDAYCounty Court Continues Session Today
To Clear Its Heavy
Docket

More than 20 cases were disposed of in county court yesterday and the court continued its sessions today in an effort to clear up its docket. Because of no sessions last week while Superior Court was sitting, the county court was faced by a docket of around 60 cases when Judge Dink James opened court yesterday morning. Yesterday's hearings included a number of cases of drunken driving and in each case the drivers were fined and had their licenses revoked with road sentences if they fail to pay the fines and abide by the revocation order. The slot machine case against L. B. McCormick and Green Scott growing out of the seizure of alleged gambling machines by city police sometime ago, was transferred to Superior Court for hearing.

Cases disposed of yesterday were as follows:

Tom Ange (white) charged with drunkenness and assault was sentenced to 90 days on the roads. Appeal to superior court was noted.

Willie Dudley, negro, was given an additional 90 days on the roads for escaping from the chain gang in this county.

Norwood Bradshaw faces charges of assault with a deadly weapon and possession of liquor for sale. He was adjudged not guilty in each case.

Randolph Parker, negro, charged with drunken driving drew $50 fine and six months revocation of license with a 90 days road term for failure to comply with other terms of judgment.

Kelly Leggett, white, on a drunken driving charged drew $50 with six months revocation of license and 60 days on roads for failure to comply.

Grover Harris and Walter Harris, white, faced charges of drunkenness and disorderly conduct. Each was adjudged guilty and Walter Harris was fined $25. Judgment; as to Grover was withheld until the October 15 session of the court.

Fessie Des Highsmith, negro, drew 60 days on a charge of trespassing.

Daniel Lockamy, white, drew 90 days on the roads for having liquor for sale. Appeal to Superior court was noted.

Benjamin Williams, negro, was found not guilty of a charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

Katie Green, negro, charged with the possession of illegal liquor had judgment suspended if she would leave town immediately.

John Eberhart, white, drew $50 fine and had his license revoked for six months for drunken driving.

Dallas Stocks, white, charged with refusing to support a child, was sentenced to six months on the roads sentence to be suspended if he would pay $500 into the court funds to go to the support of the child. The payment was to be in monthly installments over a period of three years.

Clifford Evans, white, drew a fine of $50 and six months revocation of license on a drunken drivers charge. The judgment carried a 90 days road sentence if defendant did not comply with other terms of the order.

A. A. Ruffin, white, charged with reckless and careless driving plead guilty. (Continued on Page Six)

Be Holding Up Well
On Local Market

Leaf prices continued to hold their own here yesterday despite a large carry-over from Monday's sales together with the appearance of some rehandled tobacco as is usually the case on Tuesdays. Prices yesterday averaged $21.17 per hundred.

Yesterday's sales brought the season's sales to more than 27,000,000 pounds at an average price of above 19 cents a pound.

Warehousemen continued to express the belief that October is the best month for selling the better grades of leaf and urged growers to prepare to market their good tobacco now.

PESSIMISM
IN GENEVAItalian Minister Orders All Italians In Ethiopia to Leave
Country; British and French Join Hands

Paris, Oct. 2.—(AP)—The Addis Ababa correspondent of the newspaper "Paris" reported today fighting between Italian and Ethiopian troops had broken out in the Addis Ababa region of Ethiopia and it was reported there had been casualties. (Previous reports from Addis Ababa said there were no Ethiopian troops in the Addis Ababa vicinity.)

The newspaper said three advancing columns of Italian troops, numbering 25,000 men, had battled with irregular Van-addi tribal warriors and that they had not yet engaged the Ethiopian regulars.

Addis Ababa, Oct. 2.—(AP)—High authority said tonight that Emperor Haile Selassie will proclaim his general mobilization of the Ethiopian forces at 9 a. m. (1 a. m. EST) tomorrow.

(By Associated Press)

Emperor Haile Selassie today protested directly to the League of Nations over reports of invasion of Ethiopia by Italian forces at the juncture of British and French Somaliland. Simultaneously, when the dispatch of his note to protest to Geneva the Italian government summoned citizens of Italy to a last mobilization at which it was estimated ten million men and women would hear a message direct from the lips of Premier Mussolini.

Although the Italian government denied troop movements had taken place in East Africa it continued to dispatch fighting men toward the Ethiopian frontier.

In Geneva where pessimism was pronounced it was reported League of Nations officials speculated as to whether Great Britain would request France to join in an air blockade of Italy if sanctions are imposed against Italy.

All Italians in Ethiopia were ordered by the Ethiopian minister to be out of the country by November 5. It was the first time that a definite date for activities in connection with the Italo-Ethiopian crisis had been set and observers in Addis Ababa regarded it as a definite sign of war.

The French continued negotiations with the British toward a definition of solid ground of co-operation between the two nations in the present international situation.

King George, of England, is understood to be taking a direct part in the Italo-Ethiopian situation as it affects Great Britain by calling in his foreign secretary and minister of war for a conference. The British cabinet met simultaneously with further reports on additional concentration of British ships in the Suez canal area.

At Geneva the hope of averting armed conflict was abandoned apparently by the majority of international experts. The more optimistic among them said they believed whatever fighting occurred might be limited to Ethiopia but there are many who still feared the fighting might spread into Europe.

Rome, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Benito Mussolini, premier of Italy and fascist leader today pled with his nation to meet force with force and bear economic sanctions with discipline.

Mussolini told his followers that a "solemn hour is about to break its history." He made this declaration to multitudes of Italians assembled in all their cities and villages, faint upon rank around loud speakers. (Continued on Page Six)

SAYS BAILEY WAS PRESENT TOBACCO MEET

Senator Denies That
He Was on Fishing
Trip as Has Been Reported

Reflector Bureau,
St. Walter Hotel.

Raleigh, Oct. 1.—Senator Josiah William Bailey was in attendance on the mass meeting of tobacco farmers held here in Raleigh in September, 1933, and was not fishing off Morehead City, as has been reported both orally and in print, he informed this bureau today. Nor did he come rushing back from a fishing trip in Morehead City some ten days ago to attend the two tobacco mass meetings within the past ten days. And while he did not go to Washington with the committee appointed by the mass meeting in 1933, the reason he was not named a member of the committee and hence was not invited to go, Senator Bailey said.

"Any statement to the effect that I did not attend the mass meeting of tobacco farmers in Raleigh in 1933, as well as any statement to the effect that I was fishing at that time, is not true," Senator Bailey said. "I was present at the meeting and addressed the meeting upon the invitation of the chairman, giving all present, and assurance of my interest in their cause and of my willingness to serve them to the utmost. I may add that this meeting resolved that they wished this movement to be a farmers' movement, distinctly and that they wished no public men to be active in it. I took them at their word, as it was my duty to do. This is the only reason I did not go to Washington with the committee. I would have been happy to have done so, but felt that their wishes, publicly expressed, should be respected."

With regard to the recent mass meeting of tobacco farmers held here September 21 and the report that Senator Bailey rushed back from Morehead City in order to attend this meeting, Senator Bailey said:

The report that I came rushing back from Morehead City to attend this mass meeting is not true. When I left Morehead the meeting had not been spoken of, so far as I knew. I left Morehead, September 17, according to plans made when we rented the house in which we stayed. I came to Raleigh, and after my arrival here the mass meeting was called. I attended the meeting and renewed the assurances I had made two years before. This time, I was put on the committee, along with other public servants."

Senator Bailey was also present at the impromptu mass meeting of about 300 tobacco farmers in the Capitol here the morning of Sept. 19, when it was decided to call the larger mass meeting on Sept. 21.

Only Lamb Lags As Meat Prices Seek '30 Levels

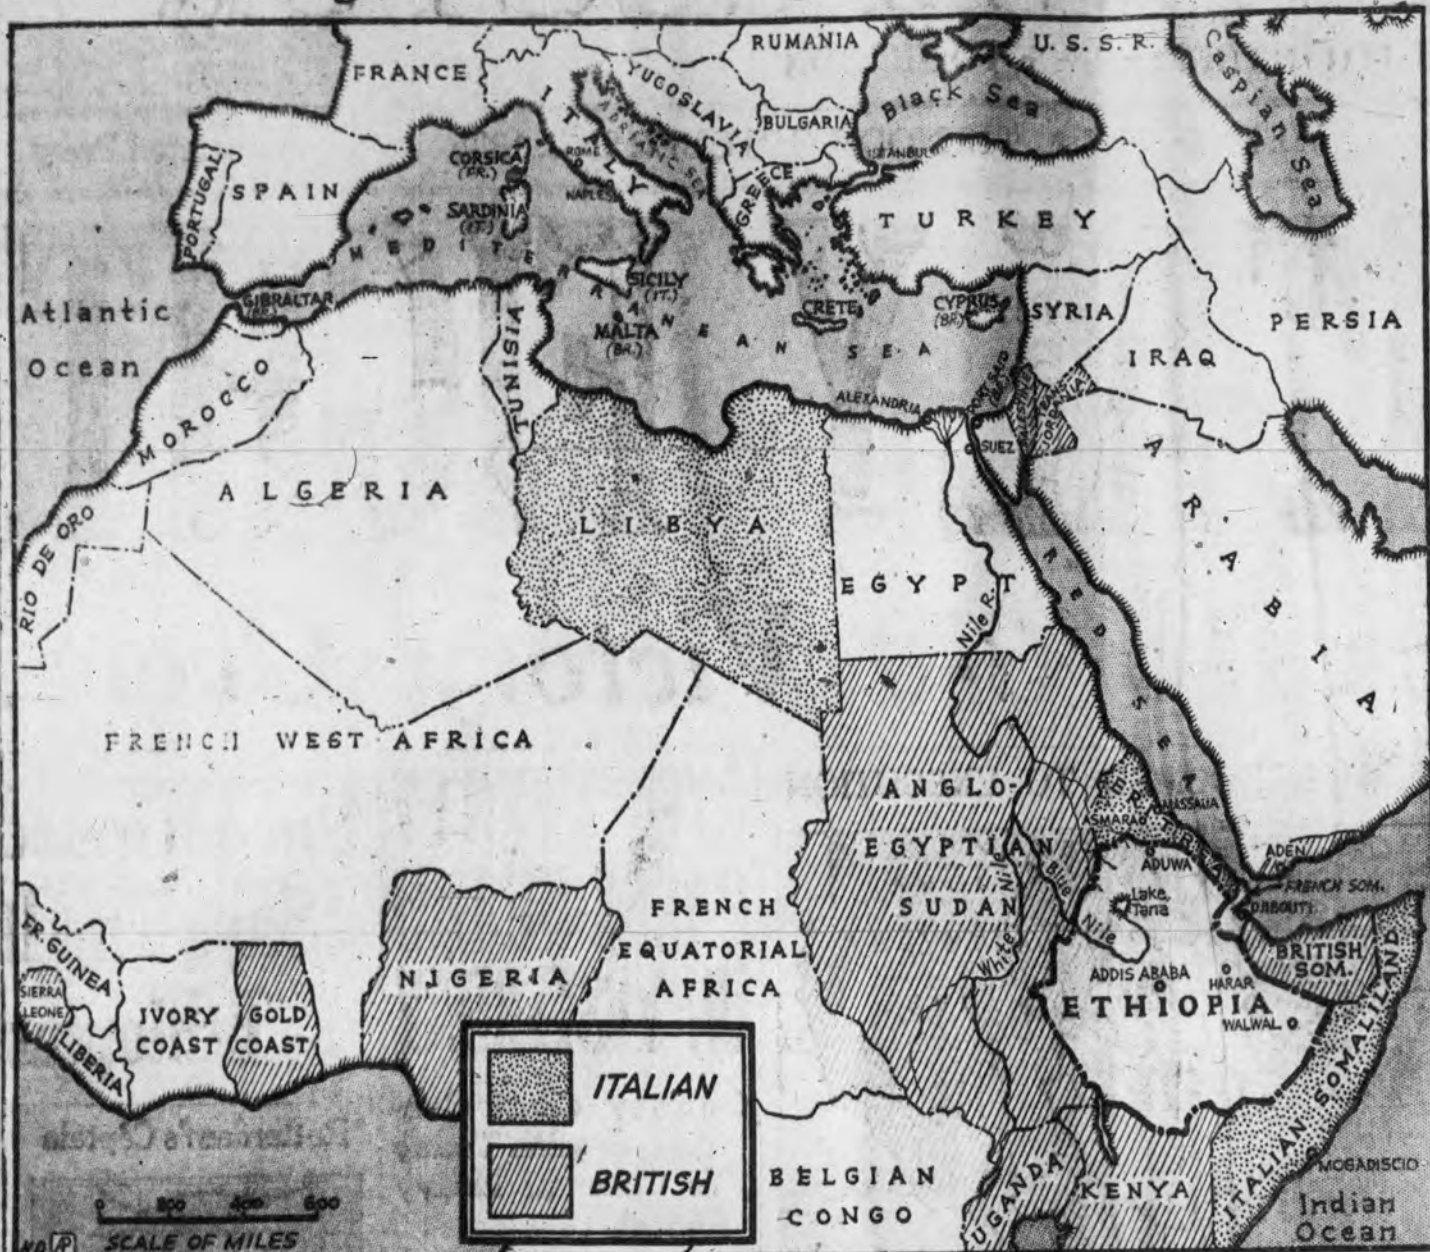

Washington (AP)—Lamb seems to have remained the good little child of the meat family, considered from the viewpoint of the housewife who watches the budget closely.

Prices for lamb still are farther below the 1930 prices than any of the other meats, although they are up from a year ago.

Pork chops and sliced bacon, on the other hand, not only have equaled their 1930 prices, but passed them.

Food prices generally, during the two weeks ending August 27, increased six-tenths of one per cent. They are 14.9 per cent higher than the same month two years ago, the bureau of labor statistics finds, but they are still 14.4 per cent below the level of five years ago. The most marked increases, the last year, says the bureau, came in the prices of eggs, meats, fats and oils. At the same time the prices were slipping downward for cereals, dairy products, fruits and vegetables.

Attention Centers On The Mediterranean As England And Italy "Take Precautions"

Housewives are afforded a guide to economical buying by the indices issued by the bureau. They show that all meats are higher priced than they were a year ago, but that some prices have increased much less than others.

There were only five foods tabulated by the bureau which cost more on August 27 than they did the same month five years ago. They were wheat flour, sliced bacon, pork chops, canned peas, and pure lard.

Flour was 11.1 per cent higher; sliced bacon, 9 per cent higher; pork chops, 7.6 per cent higher; canned peas, 5.6 per cent higher; and pure lard, 32.1 per cent higher. Oranges, of all the foods, is the lowest priced when compared with five years ago, and lard the highest. Navy beans and white potatoes have remained almost as far behind the price advance as oranges.

Hollywood — There is nothing official about a studio's "bureau of missing persons." Realists, in fact, would not call it that at all. They would say, if they noticed it, that it was just a letter rack containing a pigeon-hole for each letter of the alphabet.

The rack has stood in the casting office at Paramount studios so long that even the old-timers don't remember when it first began collecting its transient daily burden of tragic untold tales.

"Success" Many of these letters, if opened, would tell the same story of parents or friends "back home" pleased and proud over the "success" that has come in Hollywood to their son, daughter, or pal.

Unopened and unclaimed, as most of them are, the letters are even more eloquent. The "missing persons" to whom they are addressed have not appeared to claim them. "This one," a casting assistant selected one at random from the rack and explained, "is addressed to a girl with Gary Cooper in 'Peter Ibbotson'." It is undoubtedly for a girl who left her home town with high aspirations to become a movie star. This is one of the commonest stories of all.

"She probably failed from the outset, perhaps couldn't even get a job as an extra. But she couldn't let the folks at home know about it. Instead, she would write glowing letters of prospects in store for her, and keep on trying. When things would look absolutely hopeless, pride would not allow her to confess it and ask for money for fare home. Instead, she would concoct stories of success, saying she was so busy working it would be best to address her in care of the star and picture."

Some Land Jobs "Some of them even orally 'land jobs as extras, and then they call for their mail. Others take courage and apply here for any mail which they may be awaiting them. It is always andria. Defenses at the vitally important Suez Canal have been augmented by English battleships. It is rumored that Great Britain also is concentrating aerial forces at strategic points in her Mediterranean possessions. Premier Mussolini has divided the Italian naval forces into Adriatic and Mediterranean commands. The latter, according to well-informed sources, has been put in a position to strike in the sea area separating southern Sicily from Tunis. To the south, Ethiopia continues preparations to resist invasion of Italy from Eritrea and Italian Somaliland. England watches the developments with apprehension for the effect such a struggle might have on the Sudan and Egypt and on the natives of her adjacent colonies of Kenya, Uganda and Somaliland.

Johnson. When he quit NRA he thought it would be probably for a long time. Within a few months, however, he was back for a stretch in harness as administrator of WPA in New York at F. D. R.'s urgent request.

James Moffett made his first public appearance in Washington to help administer the oil code. He left after a short while and returned to private business. Mr. Roosevelt sent for him and made him administrator of the Federal Housing Administration.

Pecora Expected Back Then there's Frank Walker. He all but begged the President for permission to quit the national emergency council to rehabilitate the finances of his chain of movie houses. Finally F. D. R. relented and let him go, but within a few weeks he called Walker back for an even more important post in the "new deal."

The youthful John Winant of New Hampshire had much the same experience. The President persuaded him to head the board of inquiry to settle the textile strike. He finished his job and went to Geneva as assistant director of the International Labor Office of the League of Nations. "For the experience," as he put it. He had been there only a short while before Congress enacted the social security bill and President Roosevelt had him not-footing it home to accept the chairmanship of the social security board.

And then there's Ferdinand Pecora who resigned from the securities commission to "return to the peace and quiet of the Supreme bench in New York. Washington expects him back almost any day now to take charge of the proposed investigation of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company.

How He Stands Joe Kennedy, the "fighting Irishman," may get his wish, but the odds are against him. His achievement as chairman of SEC has been outstanding. Characterized upon his arrival in the capital as the "Wolf of Wall Street" within a week he had the commission functioning as one of the most harmonious agencies of the "new deal."

The fact that he left office on the most intimate terms with the President and recommended James K. Landis, a brain-truster, as his successor is eloquent testimony of how he stands with the administration and its advisers.

The programs have been arranged to embrace the subject "Travel," and a splendid paper was given by Mrs. C. M. Warren, having as her topic "World Roamers—Past and Present." This she vividly presented by contrasting the voyage of Columbus to the new world, with the aerial flight of Amelia Earhart, crossing the Pacific in a few hours.

And Magellan who circled the globe in just less than three years, she compared with Wiley Post who found a few days plenty of time.

This splendid paper was followed by a discussion of timely topics by everyone.

The meeting was concluded by a delightful social hour during which the hostess served a salad course with coffee.

Entertainments At College.
La Argentina, the greatest dancer in the world since the days of Pavlova, who will give one of her marvelous dance programs at East Carolina Teachers College on the evening of October 21, is the first in a series of great entertainments scheduled for the coming season. This brilliant, captivating Spanish dancer brings back the romance and beauty of her picturesque country not only by her dancing, but by her rich, magnificent costumes.

Cornelia Otis Skinner, who was recently awarded the radio prize, will give one of her great, unique, dramatic programs on November 13.

Amelia Earhart will be here in January as a flight as scheduled for the earlier date first announced.

Others already contracted for will appear later in the season, dates to be announced. The Siberian Singers considered one of the greatest attractions from Europe now available, will be here late in the winter. The reputation of the Hedgerow Players can be judged by a recent article in the New York Times praising their excellent acting. As good marionette shows have proved to be favorites, and Greenville grown people as well as children have shown their appreciation of them, a place was made in the year's program for one of the best of these, Sue Hastings' Marionettes.

Contracts for all of the above have been signed. As the fund is increased by the proceeds from each entertainment, other attractions will be added.

Regular movies for the students every Saturday night, but to which the public is not admitted, are under the direction of the entertainment committee.

The committee is composed of the following members: Miss Katherine Holtzclaw, chairman; Miss Rose and M. L. Wright of the faculty, and of student members, Miss Ellen Jenkins, James Carr, Misses Polly Melvin, Elizabeth Ferguson, Louise Davis and Janet Palmer.

In 1928 Turkish citizens were forbidden to wear the fez under severe penalties.

Drivers License Law Mailed To All Car Owners

Reflector Bureau.
Sir Walter Hotel.

Raleigh, Oct. 2.—A summary of the new state drivers' license law, as well as a copy of the drivers' license application blanks, has been mailed to every one of the almost half a million registered car owners in the state, Commissioner of Revenue A. J. Maxwell said today.

But since a great many of these car owners have already sent in their drivers' license applications, those who have sent them in are being asked to turn over the application blanks they receive by mail to some other driver who has not yet sent in an application.

"We wish to caution all car owners who have already filled in and signed their drivers' license application blanks, not to send in a duplicate, but instead to hand the application blank to some person who has not yet filled one out," Commissioner Maxwell said. "This will help us avoid duplication. But those who have not yet sent in their applications are urged to do so just as soon as possible, since the law goes into effect November 1. And in order to be sure to get their drivers' licenses before that date, all applications should be sent in before October 15."

More than 600,000 applications for drivers' licenses have already been received and approved and the photographic machines are now turning out the actual drivers' licenses, by photographing a portion of the application, at the rate of from 16,000 to 20,000 a day. These descriptive cards, bearing the name, description and signature of the licensee, will be mailed out to every applicant who gets his or her application in soon enough before November 1. After that date, any one who drives a car without a drivers' license will be subject to arrest.

The response to the new drivers' license law on the part of the public has been much better than was expected, in that more people have already applied for licenses than had been anticipated, according to Commissioner Maxwell. Indications now are that drivers' licenses will be issued to at least a million drivers in North Carolina.

When Sluggishness Causes Distress After Meals Take BLACK-DRAUGHT

The good that Black-Draught does in the relief of constipation makes it one of the most popular laxatives of its kind. Thousands of men and women keep it in their homes for prompt use at the first sign of intestinal sluggishness.

"I take Black-Draught for constipation that causes a disagreeable feeling after meals, bloating, and taste and excessive gas," writes Mrs. Eugene West of Dothan, Ala. "I can cleanse my system and regulate my bowels with Black-Draught; and I do not have this trouble. I find Black-Draught to be splendid. I recommend it to others. My husband takes Black-Draught and it helps him."

Black-Draught is purely vegetable. Sold in 25-cent packages.

CUT DOWN SPEED TO PREVENT ACCIDENTS

The chief cause of the fatal automobile accidents today can be found in the human element. There are rare cases in which an accident might be termed unavoidable but in most every accident a careful study will reveal that somebody is at fault and but for that there would have been no accident. The chief fault today is that the human element apparently is not fit as a whole to be entrusted with an automobile on the public highways.

Automobile manufacturers have made every effort to make cars more substantial and more safe for operation, yet the large death toll continues to climb mostly because of too much speed. Strict enforcement of the traffic laws should have some effect upon cutting down the accident toll but it seems that the majority of human beings are of the belief that the laws are made for the other fellow and that the dangers of the highway await the other fellow and not themselves. In view of the apparent lack of intelligence on the part of the driving public there is but one way left in which to cut down the accidents. If law enforcement does not do it, then the next step is a nation-wide law that would force manufacturers to put governing devices on every car manufactured to limit the speed of the car to a point of sane driving.

It has been sane judgment on the part of parents to keep dangerous toys from the hands of small children and it looks as if the government must do the same thing for the driving public by seeing to it that the automobiles they are permitted to drive are so built that they will not run excessive speeds.

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

Observance of Fire Prevention Week—from October 6 to 12—should be regarded both as a duty and a privilege by every citizen and property owner.

During the week, which has been an annual event for many years, the public will be offered an unparalleled opportunity to learn of the hazards of fire and how they may be avoided and eliminated—as well as what course to pursue once a fire has started. Fire marshals and chiefs, insurance representatives, and public and private organizations will cooperate to the fullest extent to make the Week the success it deserves to be.

Thousands of lives—that are lost each year through fire can be saved—as can hundreds of millions of dollars worth of property that goes up in smoke. Past Fire Prevention Weeks have done much to keep the fire loss, unnecessarily great as it is,
from growing larger. Now everyone should contribute, as never before, time and interest that will make this week the most successful and productive of all.

any experiment, and especially of one so dear to President and Mrs.
Roosevelt.

What happened is that many owners of land wanted by the government rushed into court to be-wall invasion of their property rights. When several district courts held that the government could not condemn land for this purpose the actions piled up everywhere. A single case in the center of a large area could delay operations over a block area. Many litigants told federal lawyers privately that they didn't want to win but hoped to hold up the government for more money.
Secretary Ickes paid their higher price for the sake of speed but got tired of it.

Now the gentlemen with itchy palms have nothing for their pains but lawyers' fees. The announcement of no more slum eradication may induce them to accept the offer of price. If that trick doesn't work there is still the possibility of a Supreme Court decision upholding the government's implied right of condemnation.

ORUMBLE: A friend of the President recently drafted a coordinate federal construction activities called his first regional conference a few days ago. He sat down with local representatives of numerous agencies—HOLC, PHA, RFC, etc.—to develop a system which would speed up the machinery.
They talked about machinery, too, but it was political machinery. He heard that a group of local politicians were holding the government up for a tidy profit on land they knew it wanted for a certain project. Some speakers quarreled with the men and methods used by their superiors at Washington. In language of the hustings, they avowed they "could not carry the state for Roosevelt" unless things were changed. They grumbled because "too many Republicans are using their federal jobs to defeat the administration." The newcomer left without explaining that he was a Republican, too.

The incident illustrates the difficulty of managing complicated operations from Washington. But there seems to be no other method.
When Rex Fugwell tried to decentralize his rural resettlement system by establishing local corporations Controlled General McCarl ruled it out.

LIQUOR: Headaches plenty greeted Franklin Hoar when he took over the job of administering the new law regulating brewers, distillers and retailers. The liquor interdict fell into their pre-prohibition tricks during the four months since the Supreme Court knocked out all regulation.

The distillers have launched cut-throat campaigns against each other—not all but some. They are under-cutting prices and threatening retailers with a boycott if they buy from competitors. Their behavior worries insiders because they acted like nice people under the codes. The brewers are lobbying to repeal state regulatory laws, for the federal statutes are enforceable only in states which have similar provisions on the books. They must anticipate success, as some have taken options on desirable locations for saloons. The federal laws prohibit a tieup between brewery and retail joint.

This pell-mell scramble for profits has had repercussions already. The Rockefeller-Ford plea for temperance was one reaction. And that barometer of prohibition sentiment
—the treasures of dry organizations —is responding. Collections are picking up. Carrie Nation's children will be on the warpath soon.

New York

By JAMES McMULLIN

DIVIDE: There was some fifty stage management behind the American Legion's resolution for immediate payment of the bonus under the complicated by monetary issues and the boeing of Congressman Batman when he tried to present his views.

New York leaders learn that FDR's contact men did some skillful missionary work among Legion leaders in advance. The administration is reconciled to passage of the bonus early next year—the one controversy now being to frame the amendment in the form least objectionable to the President. This means a bill free of inflationary riders. Such an outcome is now practically assured as a result of the Legion's action—because the Legion is the veterans' organization to which Congressmen pay most attention.

Of course the Veterans of Foreign Wars will continue its fight for an inflation bonus. This outfit is growing stronger all the time—but the Legion still weighs more politically. Meanwhile it does Mr. Roosevelt no harm to have the two big groups of veterans at odds on this

MORNING STAR

— BY MARIAN SIMS —

Chapter 43 BIG NEWS

JUDITH burst precipitately into Emily's room at seven o'clock on a February morning. Her hair was on end and her dressing gown waved behind her.

"I can't stand it any longer or I'll explode like a steam boiler!"

Emily blinked and sat up in sudden alarm. She was accustomed to Judith's effervescence but this was different; this was Vesuvius in eruption. She thought wildly of Frances and Jeffrey, then of Aubrey and Davey.

"Judith, is it—?"

Judith made a flying leap and landed in the middle of the great wain bed.

"I was going to keep it for a surprise, but the pressure's gotten too dangerous. David's coming home!"

David. She sat very still for a moment, then she forced herself to whisper:

"When?"

"This afternoon. The ship just came. He's landing this morning and flying to Montgomery. She hugs her arms wide. "What is the sweetest thing you ever heard of?"

In spite of the turmoil of her thoughts Emily laughed. "It's the greatest thing I ever heard of, Jude, darling, I'm as thrilled for you as you are for yourself."

Judith sat up. "How about being a little thrilled on your own account?"

"Because I don't figure in it." She eyed Judith in sudden terror. "Did you tell him I was here?"

Judith shook her head. "That was another of my surprises."

She sighed with relief. "Thank heaven for that!"

"Why?"

"Because I'm going home."

Judith stared at her in consternation. "You're doing nothing of the sort! Why do you think all this was engineered?"

"But don't you see," she spread her hands in a hopeless little gesture, "that being here now would be nothing on earth but throwing myself at him."

"It wouldn't," Judith's voice was rough with conviction. "David knows you too well, even now, ever to think that. And if you think that David would marry anybody on earth from a sense of duty you're all wet. He's too much of a Carroll for that; they don't know the meaning of the word. Now will you stay here and take your chances, or will you run like a scared rabbit?"

Emily's eyes were on the cover-
let. "I'll stay."

Judith hung both arms about her neck. "I knew you would! Now hurry and get dressed; we've got things to do."

PRECISELY, the plane was on time, or Judith would have demoralized the entire airport. She pushed past a uniformed official, was snatched by a greasy mechanic from a horrible death in the propeller and flung herself upon the first male passenger who descended, knowing instinctively that David would be the first man to alight.

In the car, David found the ton-neau light and switched it on. "I want a good look at you," he explained as the car moved away.

They were holding hands unashamedly now; still smiling a little tremulously at each other. Judith said tragically:

"You look like Zeus or somebody, but I'm sure I've aged terribly!"

"Terribly," David agreed gravely, and they both burst out laughing.

She looked about the car for something to hup and David said persuasively. "Not on my first day at home, please. Sit back and tell me about Aubrey and my nephew."

She leaned back and he put an arm about her shoulders. For half an hour she talked steadily.

Aubrey and Davey, who had watched for the headlights as they turned in the driveway, were waiting on the steps. Emily, Judith observed, was not visible. The two men gripped hands, smilingly and almost wordlessly, and Judith caught up her bag.

They went inside the house and David stopped for a moment in the hall, in his eyes the expression of a pilgrim returning to a well-remembered shrine. He had known Morton Hall well in the past.

"Oh, Jude," he turned swiftly to her and his voice broke a little. "If you knew what it means to be back!"

His eyes swept the living room with the same hungry glance, as if he had only this moment to imprint its appearance upon his memory.
Forever. Then he smiled at her.

"Quite the chatelaine, aren't you?"

"Quite." Her ears attuned to the floor above had heard Emily leave her room and begin to descend the stairs.

From his position near the archway David saw her first, and recognized her instantly. He whirled on Judith, his voice a shaken, angry whisper.

"If this is 'our idea of a joke, it's damned poor taste!'"

Judith's heart was singing. She whispered back: "It's not a joke, you idiot! Do you think she'd be here if everything weren't all right?"

THERE was no time for more.
Emily was coming in and David had crossed the room to meet her.
David took her hands and smiled
down at her. "If this isn't a perfect

David took her hands, and smiled.

climax to a perfect homecoming."

But his voice, Judith noted, was gay and not shaken; was friendly without being intimate. She held her breath, praying that Emily wouldn't betray herself.

Emily did not. Her smile was as gay as David's, and her voice as carefully controlled. "I thought I was beyond being surprised by the Carroll's, but I'm not, David, it's wonderful to see you!"

"If I tried to say how good it is to see you I'd be guilty of understatement."

She laughed quietly, and crossed the room to the others. To cover the pause Judith said quickly:

"Why can't we have our cocktails now? Then David can go up and array himself afterwards if he chooses."

David grinned. "I think I can bear it." He handed a glass to Emily and, as Judith re-entered the room, another to her. Then he lifted his own, as Judith had done six weeks before.

"For Auld Lang Syne." Over the rim of his glass his eyes sought Emily's for a second, then passed quickly on to the others.

"And the years ahead!" Judith said quickly.

They drank, almost solemnly, and started as a crash shattered the stillness. Judith had spun her glass against the hearth.

David startled and unnerved, laughed roughly. "The same old Bernhardt!" he teased her.

"I'm not!" she defended herself hotly. "But that's the sort of toast that requires a broken glass."

CAUTION: Utility men find indications that the Securities Exchange Commission is beginning to be acutely aware of the tremendous responsibilities in administering the holding company bill. About 2000 corporations come within the scope of the law and should be registered by December 1st. An Atlas might well shudder at the prospect of carrying such a load.

Probably most companies will register—especially the big fellows—on the theory that the law must of course be contested but why not let somebody else stick his neck out first? However, there's no doubt that there will be refusals to register which will afford ample opportunity for a showdown in the courts on this point.

A top-rank utility leader expres-es the private opinion that the law
—with the exception of Section Eleven—is workable without undue detriment to the "good" companies if wisely and restrainedly administered. Chances are that it will be.

The Commission evidently intends to move very cautiously for at least a year—devoting its attention to fact finding and not trying to issue many orders until it finds out what's what. As for Section Eleven —the last minute substitute for the "death sentence"—its exact meaning is a mystery to all concerned, including some of New York's brightest legal lights and the SEC itself.
Its ultimate interpretation will be up to the courts—not the Commission.

GLORY: Power leaders gladly admit one thing in Jim Landis' favor—he isn't a headline hunter. He is expected to avoid rather than cour publicity in connection with his holding company chore. He has no intention of putting himself on the spot by going off half-cocked.

But utility men also predict that the Federal Power Commission, Senator Black's lobby inquiry and other federal agencies will more than make up for the SEC's reticense. They prophesy that each will strive to outdo the others in grabbing glory and newspaper space.
At the moment Senator Black is in the lead—but the Power Commission is said to be hoarding some nifties with which to catch the news at an opportune moment.

If Senator Black is in earnest about serving summons on all utility companies that decline to answer his questionnaire he is in for a busy winter. Few of those who have received his latest inquiry form will pay the slightest attention to it. Recalcitrants won't refuse—they just won't answer. They claim they can't possibly comply with his request except at heavy extra expense—and they'll be darned if they're going to spend their dough just to oblige him.

QUESTION: The railroad brotherhoods are not opposed to government ownership—at least in theory. But it's doubtful whether they will support the Wheeler bill if it comes to a showdown. Some of their members have pointed out that there would be little incentive to pay dues if the government takes over. A union can't bargain with the state as it can with a private employer. And if there were no dues there would be no jobs for union officials.

Brotherhood leaders have tried to answer the allegation that they would be no more than roller skates to a rhinoceros under government ownership by citing the case of Canadian National. But that isn't really a valid argument.
The public-owned Canadian National competes with the privately owned Canadian Pacific—which isn't, at all the same thing as having all roads belong to the government as the Wheeler bill provides.

Meanwhile the brotherhoods have another chance to test their teeth and prove their value to their members by trying to block Coordinator Eastman's plan for pooling terminal facilities. The unions are dead right in claiming this move would erase a lot of jobs. But the question remains whether they can do anything about it.

Common Sense about HEADACHE

Usually a headache is due to high nerve tension. At such times all you need is a little Capudine. This remedy is very effective because it quickly soothes tense nerves and eases pain.

Of course headache may come from more serious sources. Sometimes it may be an abscessed tooth, or some underlying cause which only your family physician can discover. Meanwhile, avoid suffering as much as you can by using Capudine.

Capudine contains no narcotics. It acts quickly and gently. Ask for either Capudine Liquid or Capudine Brand Tablets.

hard winter?

SKIP COLD-WEATHER RISK...MAKE SURE YOUR ENGINE

stays oiled

Conoco is not the only oil refined by modern methods. But notice what all the usual processes are said to take out. Then notice what the exclusive Germ Process—fully patented—PUTS IN.

Nothing vague about this process.

It tops off everything else known to Refinery Science, by putting in the Hidden Quart which makes your engine stay oiled.

You can park your car for hours in blizzards; stand for days in a cold garage. But you cannot make a dragging, expensive, engine-eating start.

Unlike other oil, no matter how free-flowing, Conoco Germ Processed Oil needn't wait for your starter or oil pump. The Hidden Quart is up on guard in advance. It hasn't drained down because it can't. The Germ Process has let it "marry" into the inner surfaces of your engine for good... a strange though natural "affinity" well known to scientists.

Even the new copper-lead, high-lead and cadmium-alloy bearings, as well as conventional babbitt bearings, are far better protected by Conoco Germ Processed Oil than by plain mineral oils. Scientific tests have proved this.

But millions whose only laboratory is under the hood, can tell you a lot about the Hidden Quart and Germ Processing. They'll tell you the battery stays up, the oil level stays up, the old winter worry and ex-

Many Tar Heels To Accompany Team To Tenn.

Chapel Hill, N. C., Oct. 2.—"Hark the Sound of Tar Heel Voices" will be not only the Alma Mater song for the University of North Carolina Saturday in Knoxville. It will be the exclamation from many of the Tennesseans when they hear the Tar Heel cheers.

Thousands of loyal Carolina supporters will accompany the Blue and White team to the land of the Vol gridders. By train, by bus, by car and by air, the Tar Heels will pour into Knoxville for the all-important Carolina-Tennessee game. It will be one of the largest delegations ever to accompany a Carolina team outside the State.

The local athletic office, according to announcement by G. E. Shepard, assistant athletic director, has in sale tickets for the game in Knoxville.

While many Tar Heel followers have a feeling of victory in their veins, they all feel that a hard battle is in the making. Tennessee is powerful, both offensively and defensively. The Vols can never be reckoned with lightly, with Major Britton using the old Army system with a series of tricks which have baffled the best coaches in the country.

Expect, therefore, Carolina an outside chance of beating the Vols. This chance grew slimmer Monday when Tom Ewins, veteran tackle, was hurt during a scrimmage. He is of the starting lineup, and although he may get in the game he will be slowed down considerably. That throws Coach Snavely's hopes on two schemers, who will be put into play at the most critical time of the year. Letterman John Trimpey will be moved to Ewins' right tackle and Henry Bartos placed a left tackle. Ed Palmer will be used to sub at both places.

After working overtime against Tennessee passes as employed by a fourth team, the Tar Heel first string still looks weak in this department. Vol pass receivers are very deceptive and numerous times catch the enemy secondary completely napping.

Coach Snavely Rated Among First Ten On All-Time Record

CHAPEL HILL, Oct. 2.—Carl G. Snavely, head football coach at the University of North Carolina and formerly of Bucknell, ranks among the first ten coaches in the nation in games won-and-lost, according to records of all major coaches compiled by Norman L. Sper, who conducted the annual poll for Liberty's 25th Player All-America football team and writes for this magazine and for a newspaper syndicate.

In his eight years of major college coaching Mr. Snavely has developed teams which have won 50 games, lost 17, and tied 8 for an average of 77.4 per cent, ranking 8th in the nation according to figures compiled by Mr. Sper after reviewing records of all the country's main coaches.

Harry Strubbe, one of Knute Rockne's Four Horsemen, now coaching at Villanova, leads the national parade with a percentage of 87.5 per cent. He is followed by Faurot of Missouri, Little of Columbia, Bierman of Minnesota, Jones of Oklahoma, Norton of Texas A. and M., Armstrong of Utah, Snavely of North Carolina, Waldorf of Northwestern and Madigan of St. Mary's.

Snavely's fine record made last year with the Tar Heels rates him 6th place in the nation among head coaching records while with the college now identified with The Tar Heels won 7, lost 1 and tied 1 for a percentage of 88.9.

Crisler's potential eleven at Princeton the past several years give him top ranking in this respect. He has a percentage of 91.4. Following in order are Kerr of Columbia, Kitts of Rice, Thomas of Alabama, Hamilton of Navy, Snavely of North Carolina, Strubbe of Villanova, Schmidt of Ohio State, Bierman of Minnesota and Thornhill of Stanford.

PALMER'S PUNTING BRINGS REMORIES OF DODD, FEATHER

Knoxville, Tenn., Oct. 2.—Shades of Bobbie Dodd and Battle Feather Tennessee followers thought they had seen the old stars themselves in last Saturday's game when Captain Toby Palmer of the Vols put his toe into a punt and sailed it for 61 yards, out of bounds on Southwest's 6-yard line. That was Palmer's first kick of the year. He kept up the fast pace to average 43.3 yards for the game. North Carolina is said to have an excellent punter in Don Jackson, who gave Duke's renowned Ace Parkey such a scrap last year. When Palmer matches kicks with Jackson here Saturday a great duel will be in progress.

Knoxville, Tenn., Oct. 2.—Sophomore Red Sharpe made a very conspicuous debut into intercollegiate football circles last Saturday. The first time he had his hands on the ball he scampered off tackle for 48 yards and a touchdown. To top that he led all the highly touted Vol backs in net yards gained. Sharpe gained a net of 57 yards, followed by Captain Toby Palmer with 47. Ealen with 34 and Harp with 20. All three backs, three of whom are reserves, will be ready for the Tar Heels Saturday.

State In Better Condition For South Carolina

College Station, Raleigh, Oct. 2.—State College's blocking and pass defense will probably be better Saturday at Columbia than it was against Davidson Saturday night at Greensboro.

The Techs began polishing their aerial defense and blocking in Monday afternoon's drill. They did similar work Tuesday and according to Coach Hank Anderson, like work will appear on every practice scheduled for the week.

A regulation scrimmage game is scheduled for today. The first stringers will try their plays, their blocking, and their aerial defense against another club using South Carolina plays.

"Today's scrimmage ought to give us some idea of how we have improved since Monday on our Coach Anderson said.

Coach Anderson has cautioned the Techs time and time again about not taking the South Carolina game seriously because the Gamecocks were routed by Duke's mighty Blue Devils. Anderson pointed out to the Techs that South Carolina was a team that started slow, but ended fast.

"In their game with Erskine, the Gamecocks didn't score until the second period. That period they got one touchdown. But look what they did in the last two—13 points in each. Last Saturday against the Blue Devils, Duke scored 32 points in the first half, but after intermission the Gamecocks held them to 15 points," Anderson told the Techs.

Anderson also has told the Techs that South Carolina has a fine back in Wilburn Clary and a fine end in Craig. "These are the men you will have to stop Saturday if you expect to win this ball game."

State Gets Ready For South Carolina Clash Saturday

College Station, Raleigh, Oct. 1.—Cowboy Robinson and Eddie Berlinski, State College's sensational punting backs who came through last Saturday's game with Davidson with flying colors, will seek to cut-run and out-shine Wilburn Clary and Jack Derrinbacker when State meets South Carolina on Saturday at Columbia.

Clary and Derrinbacker are South Carolina's star backs. They were held in check Saturday by Duke, but they will be playing before the "home folks" this week and hope to have a better afternoon than they did against Duke's mighty Blue Devils.

Robinson and Berlinski did just what had been expected of them as State defeated Davidson. Robinson scored State's first touchdown on a beautiful 13 yard dash around end, and Berlinski caught two passes to lead the second touchdown drive. Berlinski also did his share of ground gaining from scrimmage.

The youngsters will lead State's backfield forces against the Gamecocks. They will be ably assisted by Joe Schwerdt, the "Packs big and heady quarterback," "Jumping" Joe Ryneka, spinning fullback who looks to be among the best line cracker in the Southern Conference, and Howard Barnes, Eddie Entwistle, Jake Mahoney, and Charlie Gadd, other State backs who can do things in the backfield. Coach Hank Anderson saw Duke beat South Carolina, 47-0, Saturday, but still thinks State will have its hands full this week-end. The State coach fears most of all that his players, because of Duke's one-sided win over the Gamecocks, will become over-confident and will let down in their play.

SPORT SLANTS

The Chicago Cubs riding into the World Series on the crest of a wave of consecutive victories second only to the march of 26 games made by the New York Giants in 1916, are going to be hard to stop when they trot on the field for the opening game of the fall classic against the Detroit Tigers. The same sort of impetus carried the St. Louis Cardinals to victory over the surprised Tigers last fall.

On July 4 this year, the Cubs were ten games behind the league-leading Giants and to all outward appearances, out of the running for the pennant. Their amazing drive is comparable to the spurt made by the Boston Braves in 1914, even though the Cubs were by no means as far down the standings as were the lads from Boston. The Braves were in the neighborhood of last place that year when they suddenly came to life and overtook the leaders to win the pennant and the World Series. It was confidence gained by the uphill fight which inspired the Braves to conquer the Athletics with their famous $100,000 infield—Melins, Collins, Barry and Baker—and the piling staff which boasted Bender, Plank and Combs.

Forcing The Breaks
There are no super-stars in the Cubs line-up—just a team of good ball players who found themselves in the heat of the pennant race and suddenly saw that they were getting the "breaks" that usually go to a winning team. It is the team which forces the breaks and then is able to make the most of its opportunities just as Chicago has been doing since early July that apparently can do no wrong.

The pitching staff has come its share but no more so than the rest of the team, which has been "clicking" despite the fact that most of the experts did not believe the Cubs had the stuff to carry the pace they cut out to the finish. Yet here they are, ready to carry the same force into the American league championship.

The Techs again coasted into the American league championship just as they did a year ago. Last fall the Techs before they were called on to battle the St. Louis Cardinals did them no good. The "Gas-House Gang" swept them off their feet with the same sort of drive which carried them to their eleven-hour victory in the National league pennant race. It is a question just how much the Techs will profit by their experience of a year ago. The Detroit team is the same as lined up against the Cardinals except for the fact that its members are now World Series veterans.

The Hurlers
In Bridges, Auker, Rowe and Crowder the Detroiters have a capable staff of moundmen. Bridges the first of the group to turn in 10 victories this season has a terrific fast ball and one of the best curves in the game. He seems to have overcome his tendency to lose control, with the result that he is seldom forced to grope them as he so often did in the past. Auker is one of the most improved pitchers in the big show. The submarine ball thrower has ranked as one of the league's leading hurlers this season because his underhand offerings, which appear merely to float up to the plate, are difficult to hit squarely. Rowe is not the sensation he was a year ago but he is steeper and one of the hardest right-handed workers in his league. Alven (General) Crowder, the veteran, the crafty member of the staff, is credited with knowing the weakness of every batter in the circuit. He has a habit of coming through with a win when it is most needed. Lucky Coach-

Tar Heels And Vols In Mystery Team Clash

Chapel Hill, N. C., Oct. 1.—North Carolina is making ready to invade the land of the Tennessee Vols Saturday when what some of the experts are calling the "two mystery teams of the South" will lock horns in the outstanding gridiron contest scheduled for the South that day.

Accompanied by hundreds of loyal supporters, including bands of students and alumni and their 60-piece band, the Tar Heel team will leave here Friday night, and arrive in Knoxville early the next morning. The Tar Heel rooters will go aboard a special train, sections of which will be made up in all parts of the State.

The Tar Heels are ranked near the top in predictions on the winners of the Southern Conference, while the Vols are rated tops in the Southeastern and among the leaders in the nation.

The term, "mystery teams," is quite appropriate, both clubs are strong and powerful without a doubt. But just how potential is the mystery. Both have played one game each to date but little was shown from their bag of tricks.

Carolina topped Wake Forest 14-0 and Tennessee vaulted Southwestern by 20-0. In winning both used straight football, much to the dismay of numerous visiting southerners from the enemy camps. The defeat of the two winners showed up right and nearly unrecognizable and the offense clicked at times just enough to push over the scores.

Scouts George James and Walter Skidmore returned to the Tar Heel camp with nothing but praise for the Vols. Tennessee was indeed impressive in its easy victory despite the fact that its big game were completely silenced. Although the first string started the game, the reserves did most of the playing and did as well as the varsity. Last year the Vol reserves won the factor, which beat Carolina and this fall the same strong reserve power seems to be possessed by Tennessee.

Carolina's reserves likewise played a large part of the Deacon game and voiced the warning that they will push the first stringers for honors. Although lacking the necessary offensive drive, they provided nearly everything which could be asked for on defense.

Dick Dashiell was the star of the reserves showing in Kenan Stadium last Saturday. His running brought the crowd to its feet several times, especially on a 44-yard jaunt to a Johnnie Branch.

'You Don't Leave This House Until I've Searched Those Bags!'

—Charlotte Farnsworth stormed. "And don't 'Aunt Charlotte' me," she snapped at Anne. "I'm not your aunt."

Charlotte not her aunt? Who, then, was Anne... Anne, who had lived in the Farnsworth house, known to everyone as the daughter of the big man who owned the Farnsworth Fisheries?

Bravely the troubled girl sets out to solve the mystery behind the Farnsworth will, a document which had made her the prey of grasping relatives.

How she discovers the secret, how, befriended by simple fisher folk, she regains her position and sees justice done to them at the fisheries—how in so doing she finds a man worthy of her love—This is the story of

Registrations
In Reemployment
Officers Increase

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel, Raleigh, Oct. 2.—Placements by the various offices of the National Reemployment Service in the state are increasing each week, as well as registrations, the weekly reports from the various district offices show. Mrs. May Thompson Evans, state director of the RES, said today. For the week ending September 21, the last for which complete figures are available, the district which has its principal office in Winston lead all the other districts in the number of placements with 268, of which 196 were tobacco workers. This district is composed of Lenoir, Greene, Pitt, Beaufort, Hyde, Pamlico, Carteret, Onslow, Jones, Wayne and Craven counties. Total placements for this week amounted to 1,364, while there were 4,002 new registrations, 1,644 re-registrations and 1,727 renewals. The total unplaced balance of registered unemployed was 184,363, of which it is estimated more than 100,000 are former relief cases. All former relief clients must now register with the RES in order to be eligible for work on WPA projects. If they do not register they will be cut off from all relief November 1. The district served by the Durham office, including Durham, Orange, Person, Granville and Vance counties, placed 68 during this week while the Rocky Mount office, serving Edgecombe, Halifax, Nash and Wilson counties placed 55 workers. The Morganton office, serving Burke, Caldwell, Caswell, Rutherford, Polk, McDowell, Vance, Mitchell and Avery counties, placed 61 reinstatees in jobs, of which 23 were relief placements, the rest in private industry. The Winston-Salem district office, including Forsyth, Surry, Yadkin and Stokes counties, reported 65 placements and 523 new registrations, all of the placements being in private industry. The Greensboro district, including Guilford, Rockingham, Caswell, Chatham, Alamance and Randolph counties, reported 319 placements and 442 registrations. The Charlotte office reported 113 placements, the majority being in private business. This office includes Mecklenburg, Anson, Lincoln, Union, Gaston and Cleveland.

FARMER IS FOUND
LIFELESS IN CREEK

Rocky Mount, Oct. 1.—Pedro H. Hall, 34, of Rocky Mount Township, was drowned early today in a creek near his home as he was en route to his work on a nearby farm. Mr. Hall, leaving after breakfast for the A. T. Griffin farm, was found several hours later when Mr.

Griffin went over the route Hall ordinarily took to work. His body was lying in a small creek and M. C. Guiley, Nash County coroner of Nashville, indicated he found no evidence of foul play. Drowning was given as the cause for death. Funeral rites will be conducted Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the home, with interment in Mill Branch cemetery near here. The Rev. Bunn Ferrell, Free Will Baptist minister, will officiate. Mrs. Ethel Hall, his wife, and three daughters, Emma, 9, Mabel, 4, and Mamie M., 2, survive him.

Winners of the three prizes recently offered by Quinn-Miller Company for owners of the oldest major rangers in use in this territory were announced today by the store as follows: The first prize, a $7.50 metal stand floor lamp, went to Annie Stafford whose range was 32 years old. Second prize, a $5.00 coffee table was won by Mrs. Abe Savage whose range had been in use for 30 years. The third prize, a 6x9 Gold Seal Congoleum rug was won by Gertrude Whitfield whose range had been in use for 28 years.

PITT TO START
AMATEUR NIGHTS

Beginning next Saturday night the Pitt Theatre will have a series of amateur nights. Each week there will be five acts and five prizes. The audience will decide the winners of all prizes. The winner of the first prize each week will be selected for a grand final event to be presented by the Pitt Theatre, at which time grand prizes will be awarded to the winners, according to the decision of the audience. Contestants from neighboring towns and communities are eligible to enter. Auditions will be held between the hours of eleven and twelve o'clock in the morning on the day of the night performance. Those who wish to register to take part in these amateur night programs are asked to register during this hour of auditions. If you sing, dance, recite, play musical instruments, impersonate, screen or stage stars, or do anything which would lend novelty to these programs, come on down and register at the designated hour.

CALL FOR BIDS FOR MARKERS

(Continued From Page One) A special committee, composed of the heads of the history departments of the various universities and colleges, is also assisting in developing the historical data needed. The location of the first four markers to be erected has already been decided upon. One of these will mark the birthplace of Senator-Governor Zeb Vance in Buncombe county. Another will mark the Green Hill place in Franklin county, the meeting place of the first Methodist assembly in the United States. A third will mark the site of the Fort Raleigh colony on Roanoke Island, settled in 1585, while a fourth will mark the birthplace of John Penn, a signer of the Declaration of Independence, in Granville county.

which converted the leaders words to expectant throngs—a few hours before Il Duce began his speech Emperor Haile Selassie protested to the League of Nations that Italian troops had already crossed his frontiers.

Virtually the entire population of Italy had gathered in general mobilization at the call of Mussolini to bear their leaders words. Although the call had been expected for some time it was not flashed out, today until only three hours before Mussolini began to speak.

"Black Shirt men and women of Italy," Mussolini said, "I speak to twenty million men and women." For several minutes the swell of the chorus of voices drowned all other sounds. These massed voices flared through the loud speakers in the 7,329 communities where loyal fascists gathered. Their own voices answered the cue from Rome. The Il Duce declared, "not only our army marches toward its goal but 44 million Italians march with the army." He said Italy would respond to war with war. He declared he did not believe that the real French associate themselves with sanctions against Italy.

Mussolini said that the League instead of recognizing Italy's rights had talked only sanctions. As he spoke of "the real threat" he said, "I refuse to believe that the genuine Britons will associate themselves with sanctions to protect a barbarous people."
