FIGHT STAGED BY PRINCIPALS AT LABOR MEET

Heads of United Mine Workers and Carpenters Mix

PRESIDENT GREEN BANGS FOR ORDER

Industrial Unions, Soundly Trowned In Vote, Continue to Campaign

Atlantic City, N. J., Oct. 19.—(AP)—A brief riot in the American Federation of Labor convention today was quickly quelled by disinterested parties to the dispute. It started when John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers and chief of the Indiana Union faction of the International Federation, and William Hutcheson, president of the Carpenters Union, and one of the craft union faction leaders, got into a fist fight.

Hundreds of delegates from each faction swarmed around the impromptu ring, pushing, shoving and shouting.

While William Green, the Federation President, banged his gavel for order, friends of each man combatted succeeded in separating them.

Hutcheson was finally led from the hall, his face bleeding. Lewis hit the first blow. Both are hefty men. Each appeared to weigh upward of 200 pounds.

The riot was the climax so far of the bitter personal feelings growing out of the scrap between craft and industrial unionist over how mass production and employees should be organized.

The industrial unions were soundly trowned in the first test vote Wednesday night, but have continued to seek their goal by asking the convention to give unrestricted industrial union charters to specific industries.

It was about of a fight of this kind regarding the rubber industry today's riot came.

Negro is Charged Property Damage

William Andrews Alleged to Have Chopped Piano and Chairs at Mother's Home in Belvoir

William Andrews, Belvoir township negro, was lodged in jail last night to await trial in county court Tuesday, November 5, on charges of drunkenness and destruction of personal property.

The 30-year-old negro was charged at the sheriff's office with going on a rampage, chopping up a piano and chairs with an axe and doing other damage.

Officers who investigated the call said the negro was running amuck and tearing the house up in general. He lived with his mother.

Andrews was lodged in jail in default of $200 bond. Due to Pitt County Superior court here during the next two weeks, the negro will have to wait until the first week in November before he will get his case tried.

City Officers Capture Liquor

Officers Rogerson and House Confiscate Whisky Here

City police officers today were looking for Harvey Moore, negro at whose home officers Rogerson and House early this morning confiscated between six and seven gallons of bootleg liquor.

Chief George Clark said the negro escaped, but the officers were positive in their identity and added they expected to arrest the man, who lives in a negro settlement.

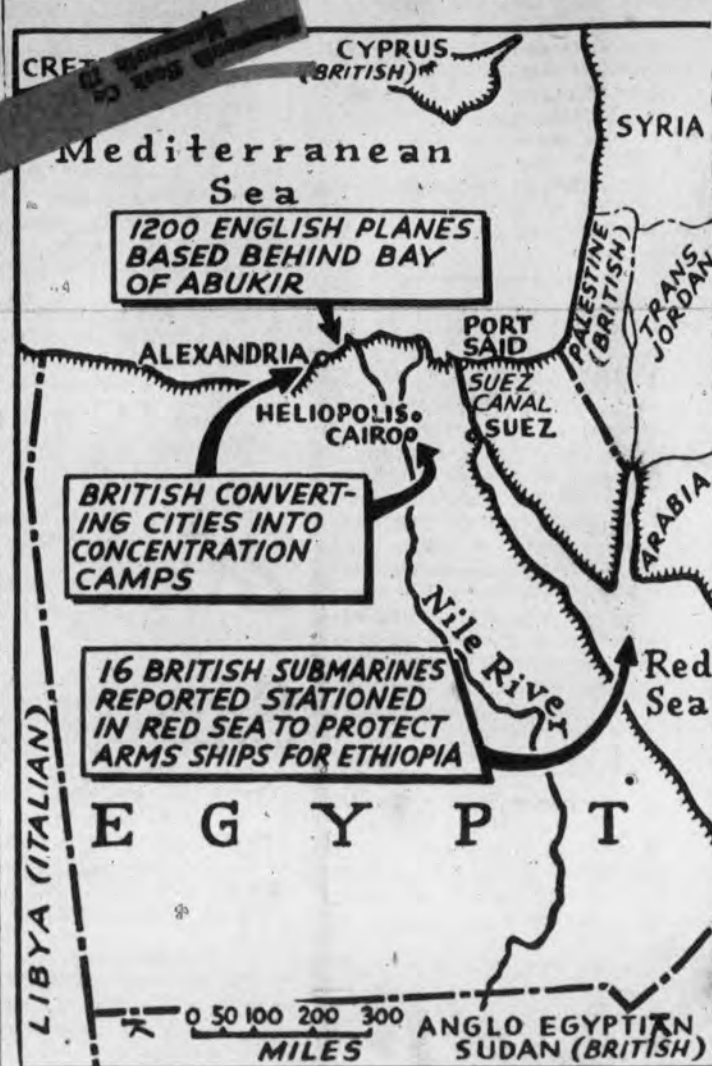

Chief Clark said the confiscation of the liquor was about the only activities of his department as the week-end began.

Few Fires Here During October

Chief George Gardner of the Greenville Fire department said today his department had not been called to answer any alarm of any significance this week and added that the fire toll thus far for the month of October had been of in-consequence.

Weekly Weather

Many Automobile Drivers Have Not Secured License

More Than 500,000 Drivers In This State Without Permits

LICENSE TO COST AFTER NOV. FIRST

So Far Approximately 600,000 Driver's License Applications Have Been Received

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel.

Raleigh, Oct. 19.—There are still more than 500,000 automobile drivers who have not yet even sent in their applications for their drivers' licenses, despite the fact that the new drivers' license law goes into effect November 1, Captain Charles D. Farmer pointed out today. If these drivers do not get their applications in very soon, they are likely not to get their licenses back by November 1, after which date they will not only be required to pay $1 for each license, but will be subject to arrest for not having a license, the highway patrol head pointed out.

So far approximately 600,000 applications have already been received and the licenses have been going out to these applicants at the rate of about 7,000 a day since the last week in September—much slower than had been expected because of inability to get the automatic photographic machines for turning out the licenses. But the automatic machine, capable of turning out 25,000 licenses a day or 50,000 every 24 hours, is expected to arrive today, will be installed Sunday and be ready for operation by Monday. The highway safety division is planning to run this machine as well as the two hand machines 24 hours a day and accordingly should be able to turn out about 65,000 licenses every 24 hours or about 400,000 a week. As a result, it is expected that it will be possible to not only clean up all the remaining applications still on hand but to take care of all the new ones received between now and November 1 as well.

"If we find that all of the drivers' licenses have been sent out by November 1, we intend to enforce the law beginning that date, so that in addition to costing those who do not have licenses $1, those arrested will also be faced with having to pay fines as well," Capt. Farmer said. "Those who have already applied for licenses, but who have not yet received them, will of course not be arrested if they can show they have already sent in their applications."

RECOVERY!
New York, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Statistics of the week provide widespread evidence that the business pendulum is swinging to new high levels along the recovery arc.

The Greenville market sales for the entire season will probably reach the sixty million pounds mark and an average price of 21 to 22 cents a pound is now indicated.

CANDIDATE IN ECONOMY PLEA IN GOVERNMENT

M'Rae, Gubernatorial Candidate, Calls For Less Taxes

BASE CAMPAIGN ON ECONOMY

Candidate Also Opposes Issuance Of State or Local Bonds For Public Purposes

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel.

By J. C. BASKERVILLE
Raleigh, Oct. 19.—Further economy in the operation of the state government, together with a reduction in taxes, are the most immediate needs of the state, John A. McRae of Charlotte, one of the four candidates for the Democratic nomination for Governor, pointed out in a statement issued today—one of the first since he announced his candidacy. The statement is regarded as an indication that McRae will base his platform upon economy in government and lower taxes. The statement is general and does not mention the sales tax, regarded as the most controversial issue in the forthcoming campaign and as the most unpopular tax in the state.

The other three candidates for Governor are Clyde R. Hoxey of Shelby, who as yet has not outlined his platform; Lieutenant Governor A. H. (Sandy) Graham, of Hillsboro, who is already advocating a state-wide liquor law and the use of this revenue to reduce the sales tax or put the food exemptions back in it; and Dr. Ralph W. McDonald of Winston-Salem, who is running on an out-and-out anti-sales tax platform.

In the statement issued today, McRae also came out in opposition to the issuance of any more state or local bonds for public purposes and in opposition to the taxation of Federal and state securities.

"The only sound remedy is to cut out all new bond issues and to pay off the outstanding issues as rapidly as possible," McRae said.

The complete statement issued by McRae is as follows:

"Economy in government is one of the paramount political issues at this time. Exorbitant taxes and the ever increasing tax bill hamper industry, create unemployment, reduce property values and decrease the market for farm products. We cannot expect normal times until there is reasonable employment at fair wages and unless farmers receive a parity price for their products."

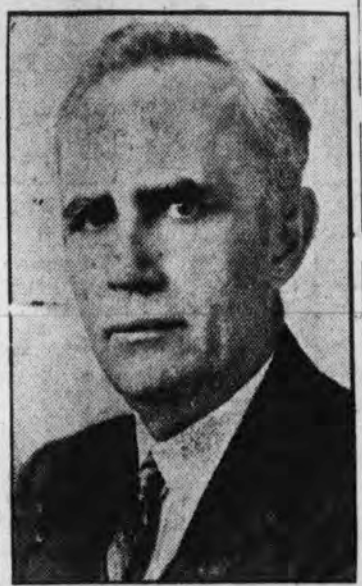

"The issuance of state and local bonds for new enterprises should be discontinued, our present indebtedness curtailed as rapidly as possible and our interest bill reduced."

"The taxation of our Government and a State securities would not prove an effective remedy. As to outstanding tax-free issues, taxation, under our state and Federal constitutions, cannot be imposed. The effect of the issuance of future securities subject to taxation, would be to reduce the market price of the bonds and no beneficial results would follow. The only sound remedy is for us to cut out all issues for new purposes and to pay off outstanding issues as rapidly as possible, consistent with a sound policy of taxation. Unless we stop increasing our public debt, economic slavery is ahead."

"I want to see elected to the 1937 legislature from every section of North Carolina, men and women of sound business judgment, fearless and of good character—not parsimonious men and women who would cripple the essential functions of the state."

WAR THREATS APPLY TO U.S.

Stanley Baldwin of Britain Says U. S. Not Free

Worcester, Eng., Oct. 19.—(AP)—Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin declared today that no nation is secure from war and even America is safe against that peril.

In a speech to his political constituents he warned that the world would find a vast difference if war broke out today from the conditions prevailing in the world war.

"Not one country today, if war broke out," he declared, "could regard itself as secure until that war ended. Even America which has talked of isolation is up against that peril."

The Prime Minister said "it is dangerous to say the object of the British is to overthrow fascist Italy."

"Instead," Baldwin said, "the object we seek is peace and we seek it with the nations composing the League of Nations."

He added: "In no step do we go before them, in no step behind and no step do we take except in full unison with those who are working with us."

"This conflict—if that be the right word to describe it"—said the Prime Minister, "is not between British-Italian conflict, it is a conflict between Italy and the League."

TO CONTINUE SCOUT DRIVE

Goal of $1,500 Not Reached At Latest Tabulation

The annual drive for funds to carry on Boy Scout activities in the city continued today, sufficient funds to carry on the work not having been reported pledged at the last tabulations.

No figures were available since those issued yesterday morning when the campaign was short of its goal of $1,500 by about $500.

A number of additional pledges were secured yesterday, but no accounting of the cash and promises was made this morning, solicitors being occupied with personal business.

It is understood that last final efforts are being made to secure enough funds for the organization to operate during the coming year. This is the second successive year a goal of $1,500 was set. The goal was reached last year in the allotted two days and campaign officials here said they had hopes the amount would be raised this year, even though not as promptly as it was last.

An appeal was made by officials to those who have not contributed make a donation to the cause of scouting in Greenville.

Wrecks Result In Charges Against Two Drivers Here

Accidents on Evans Street Yesterday Cause Property Damage but Little Personal Injuries

Two wrecks on Evans street yesterday resulted in property damage and the arrest of two persons on charges growing out of the accidents.

A man by the name of Haddock, whose first name was not available at police headquarters, was charged with reckless driving. He was scheduled to be tried in city court this morning but did not show up. Chief George Clark said the man would be taken by officers later.

Haddock's car struck one driven by Mrs. W. B. James at the intersection of Tenth and Evans streets. Mrs. James was not injured, but was frightened and jarred considerably. At police headquarters it was said a settlement had been made by Haddock with Mrs. James for damages to her car.

Medie Mizelle of Bertie county was charged with drunken driving following a wreck between his car and one driven by C. W. Brown. The wreck occurred at the intersection of Fourth street with Evans.

Asheville Man Lost In Woods Is Found

Asheville, Oct. 18.—(AP)—W. T. Rowland, Asheville real estate man, was found little the worse today for a night's wandering in a wilderness after he strayed from a hunting party and became lost.

Persons interested should apply at once for information to W. G. Craft, secretary of the U. S. Civil Service Board of Examiners, at the post office in this city.

Late News Flashes

Tied In Woods.
Salisbury, Oct. 19.—(AP)—W. W. Pollock, architectural worker of Ambler, Pa., who had just come to Winston-Salem to work at the Reynolds building, was left tied to a tree in the woods near Woodleaf, about four miles from Salisbury, about 1:30 this morning by two white men, after they held up his car on a Winston-Salem street earlier in the night.

Police told Sheriff Krider of Rowan county this morning that the two men appeared as he was getting in his car on a Winston-Salem street, stuck a gun in his face and forced him to drive out of town. About 10 miles from Winston-Salem the car stopped. Pollock was put out and kept covered by one of the men while the other went for gasoline. He was then driven to Rowan county, relieved of his suit, $38 in cash and left tied to a tree. Police managed to extricate himself from a tree and after wandering around in the vicinity for a couple of hours, was able to arouse a farmer who telephoned the sheriff about daylight.

Jones Relates Driver's Laws For Applicants

Memorandum Points Out Persons Between Ages 16 and 17 Must Have Someone to Sign

A memorandum received today by Lieut. Lester Jones of the state highway patrol with eastern headquarters here, calls attention to the ban on issuing drivers' license to minors.

The memorandum points out: "All persons making application for North Carolina state drivers' license must be as much as 16 years of age at the time of application. Such persons between the ages of 16 and 17 years will be required to have an examination by a member of the highway patrol as they could not have legally driven for one year as required by law. Between the ages of 16 and 18 years the applicant must have a parent, guardian or employer to sign with them."

"All applicants for chauffeur's license must be as much as 18 years of age, and those chauffeurs driving public passenger carrying vehicles must have attained the age of 21 years of age."

The memorandum was signed by Arthur Fulk, state director of highway safety, under whose office the patrol functions.

Ayden Resident Hurt In Wreck

James Cooper of Ayden was slightly injured last night when the truck he was driving and an automobile driven by R. P. Jones of Winterville collided head on in Greenville county.

The truck, belonging to H. G. Mumford of Ayden, and the automobile were badly damaged, but Cooper was the only one to be injured. His hands were cut and he suffered bruises on the head. Highway patrolmen who investigated the wreck said it was caused by dust. It occurred on a dirt road. No arrests were made.

Premier Mussolini Is Determined To Push Drive

BRITISH FORCES CONCENTRATING

First Real Clash Expected to Come Near Makale, Passage Way To Ethiopia

Geneva, Oct. 19.—(AP)—The League of Nations committee of 62 nations tonight voted to drop the ultimatum of the drastic "veto nothing from Italy's" boycott on the date when the league membership will decide just when to let fall this knife, the first of its kind in history. In other words Premier Mussolini has just 11 days left to think things over. If he has not capitulated in that time to the league's demand for peace the league will:

1. Amputate 70 per cent of Italian exports—the percentage normally sold to countries which are members of the league.

2. Extend mutual assistance to league members which are hit by the repercussions resulting from this blockade of trade.

3. Refuse to let Italy receive any key products used for manufacturing war materials from league members.

The boycott devised to a large extent by Anthony Eden, British minister in league of nations affairs is expected by advocates to deal a crushing blow on Italy's economy and seriously cripple that nation's capacity for continuing the war.

Additional sanctions may yet be voted against Italy but it is expected they will be seriously considered until October 31 on which date the league states will announce the request of the league secretariat as to when they can begin the actual enforcement of economic sanctions.

(By Associated Press)
France, albeit, still conciliatory, threw in its lot with Great Britain in the Africa-Ethiopian crisis today, but the efforts of Premier Laval of France had lessened somewhat the tension between Italy and Britain.

There was not the slightest indication that diplomatic conversations of the last few days had changed Dictator Mussolini's intention to push the drive into the interior of Haile Selassie empire.

Highway Member Returns Duties After Injury

W. R. Aycock, Member of State Highway Patrol, Reports to Lieut. Jones to Resume Duties

W. R. Aycock, member of state highway patrol who was injured when he fell from his motorcycle in Kingston September 3, returned to active duty today, reporting to Lieut. Lester Jones, charge of the eastern district headquarters here.

Aycock, one of the recruits recently enlisted in the patrol, suffered a fractured pelvis and his right shoulder knocked out of place. He was taken to Parrott Memorial hospital where he remained for some time while recuperating from his injuries.

Patrolman Aycock was not first of the new patrolmen to suffer injuries, one of the recruits having been hurt while on his way to his new duties.

The officer will remain in Rowan county for a few days, but will be transferred to Jacksonville next Tuesday. His home is in Warrenton.

STILL SHORT

While complete figures were not available today preliminary reports were to the effect that the funds to carry on the Boy Scout program in this city next year were still behind. Considering the value of the Boy Scout work in this community $1,500 is a small amount for the citizens to have to raise and there should be no further delay in completing the drive. If you have not already contributed or pledged to this year's fund do so at once. Call Dr. G. R. Combs, general chairman, or J. H. Waldrop, finance chairman, and they will see to it that someone comes for your contribution or your pledge card. The Boy Scout work here is essential and it is up to the citizens to furnish the necessary financial support for the program.

SPEED FIRST CONSIDERATION

With the announcements of the new model automobiles the first feature pointed out by the dealers and the first questions asked by prospective purchasers is in regard to the speed. Set forth by one of the new models is the claim that the minute the car leaves the show room it can be driven at 60 miles an hour for the first 100 miles and then the car can be stepped up to any desired speed. Of course we realize that such claims are meant to indicate that the motors will stand punishment but no reference is made to the punishment that the driver should receive for operating a car at such speeds or the injuries that might be inflicted to himself or somebody else because of too much speed.

The automobile manufacturers have done many things to make the automobile a safer means of transportation but the high death rate on our highways is proof that motorists are not capable of using common sense and caution in the operation of their almost mechanically perfect cars. Since the motorists continue to disregard all the rules of safety and step on the gas the minute they get on the highways, then the only solution is for the manufacturers to put governors on the cars so that they cannot be driven beyond reasonable rates of speed.

HIGH COURAGE

by Jeanne Bowman

SYNOPSIS: Anne Farnsworth has told her story, Rob Crocker, but she is not to be comforted. Farnsworth, millions—she also is not Anne Farnsworth, but an unknown orphan. Instead of comforting her, Rob seems obviously angry. He drives her to the huge house that is his home, and leaves without a kiss. Now Anne is breaking the drive news to the faithful Farnsworths.

Chapter 13 DITTER REVERY

THEY talked a while longer, then soberly fled out. Mrs. Harney to complete her list, and Buttons to his duties.

"Yvonne, you'd better take the afternoon off. I'm going to want you to pack for me tonight," Anne suggested.

"You'll be all right, alone, Miss Anne."

"Yes, Yvonne, I'm tired; awfully tired. I want to rest undisturbed all afternoon."

And Yvonne left, not to take the afternoon off, but to take her station at the outer door of the suite and with crisp words and flashing eyes to fend off the intruding women who came to try to ferret out Anne's source of information.

Anne followed Yvonne to the door and softly turned the key. Now she had time to herself, time to digest the things Judge Kellogg had told her and to ponder on the disturbing way Rob Crocker had received them.

"Yvonne, you'd better take the afternoon off."

She must go back over her childhood and seek some clue.

Her earliest memories were of the big, old house at Astoria, of Luke and Lucinda, and of Tecla Sorik. Would Tecla know anything? But no, Tecla hadn't come to them until she was nearly a year old. She wouldn't be likely to know any more than Maggie or Mrs. Herney, and yet—

Anne sat up straight. There had been that time she was so ill. Hazy memories, only one dramatic episode remained with her during the passing of the years.

Heat, unbearable heat, covers piled upon her, then Tecla lifting her covers and carrying her to a rocker, bending over her. Anne remembered Tecla's crying. She remembered it because it was the first time she had seen an adult cry. Tecla rocked back and forth crying, saying in a funny sing-song voice, "Nikki, Nikki."

There could have been nothing in the scene but the love of a nurse for a child, only Lucinda had rushed into the room and for her had spoken sharply. She had said something that had frightened Anne, something about "can't have this. If you don't..."

She had told Tecla she must not do something or she would have to find another nurse. That was what had frightened Anne. She wanted Tecla, and Tecla, what had she said in reply? "Better so, better so."

Anne thought of this scene from long ago, then awakened to a new thought.

Luke had wanted to rush back to Portland... was it after talking to Tecla? Why else would he have brought her to the hotel to talk to Lucinda?

"I'll see her first. I'll go there tomorrow," Anne thought.

The trip too, would give Rob time to become accustomed to looking upon her as someone other than Luke Farnsworth's daughter. But she couldn't take him alone. He didn't like Finnish people.

(Copyright, 1935, by Jeanne Bowman)

Anne learns, tomorrow, that she is truly betrayed.

kins' relief work and Ickes' more durable projects. The former will handle undertakings designed to dole out funds and jobs in a hurry, and thereby keep the consumption market active. The latter will dig up projects which will furnish orders for the heavy industries. Mr. Hopkins will have more money, but Mr. Ickes will have enough to furnish a market for steel, machinery, cement, bricks, lumber. There will be a complete separation of "relief" and "recovery" programs.

Messrs. Hopkins and Ickes have agreed to cut out their squabbling. Both fought bitterly for their theories of government spending, but Mr. Roosevelt is understood to have won them to this compromise.

RANKERS: When buck privates salute President Roosevelt, there is an extra snap to their arms. The same applies to salutes tendered by enlisted men of the Navy and Marine corps.

A quiet study of Rooseveltian appointments to West Point and Annapolis reveals that the President has favored the sons of enlisted men as against the sons of officers. In the past only the offspring of a striper had much chance to be recognized by the White House. Consciously or not, Mr. Roosevelt has taken steps to "democratize" the army and navy, which have often been regarded as exclusive clubs.

Mr. Roosevelt doesn't deserve all the credit, however. In recent years enlisted men have been sending their sons to college more frequently than they used to. Both the Army and Navy have established night schools where the soldiers may study for the stiff exams pointing toward West Point and the Naval Academy. As Rex Tugwell said when he sniped at Frances Perkins' criticism of using relief money to build barracks and schools at army posts, the administration has "raised the standard of living in the army."

HERO: Tammany is preparing a gala welcome for ex-Mayor and Night-Clubber "Jimmy" Walker when he returns to New York before the first of the year. Administration scouts don't like the idea at all.

It was FDR's sharp cross-examination of the erstwhile Mayor which forced him to resign, and the Seabury inquiry into his income sent him to Europe. But now the Treasury has officially exonerated him of income tax violations, and the man without a City Hall will soon return. Friends who recently saw him in Dublin say that, like Herbert Hoover, he still craves vindication. It may assume the form of a Mayoralty referendum.

Tammany needs a hero. It has been buffeted by Jim Farley and Gov. Herbert Lehman, two Roosevelt satellites. Ex-Leader John P. Curry has always contended that "Jimmy" fills the hero bill. What administration dreads is an alliance between these two political exiles. Messrs. Curry and Walker, which will lessen Mr. Roosevelt's chance of carrying New York in 1936. New York is night-clubbing again and it may open its arms to the wine-cracking darling of other days.

jan imports on the ground of dumping. While the administration intends to restrict its export embargo to war materials for the present—in the hope that hostilities will soon be over—New York insiders understand it is ready to broaden the embargo list anytime FDR feels that such a step will serve the cause of peace.

COMPETITION: New York stores are privately not at all keen for the timing of this year's automobile show. They feel that motor trade is inherently the most serious rival of retail trade and that a large volume of auto sales as a result of the show will have an adverse effect on Christmas shopping.

Natives in India often carry flash lights for protection while traveling at night, for the sudden flare serves to frighten and blind wild beasts.

Longer Lines in Ford V-8 for 1936

THE LONGER and more graceful lines of the Ford V-8 for 1936 are well illustrated in this view of the popular De Luxe Tudor Sedan. The new longer hood extends gracefully over the attractive new radiator grille. Wide streamlined front fenders, with an imposing flare, shroud the tires and house the horns behind chromium grilles. New design steel wheels with 12 1/2-inch hub caps are handsome and easy to clean. Bucket-type front seats are exceptionally comfortable. This body type, of welded steel like all Ford V-8 bodies, is also available without de luxe appointments at lower cost.

Seeing Through My Windshield

Candied Citron
Several have asked for a recipe for Crystallizing Citron. The following recipe is good for either citron or watermelon rinds:

Peel small citron melons and slice or cut into small pieces. Let soak in weak salt water (2 level T. salt to 1 qt. of water) overnight. In the morning drain and cover with fresh water; add a tiny pinch of alum and simmer until melon is clear. Drain and cool. When cold add 2 cupsful of sugar to every 2 cupsful of melon and sufficient water to moisten the sugar thoroughly. Add ginger if desired. 1 T. of brocked ginger root to 4 pounds of melon when first prepared. Simmer for 2 hours. Drain. Dry in sun away from flies. Pack in sugar and store in containers with tight fitting lids. A tin can or fruit jar will do.

Water melon rind may be used in the place of citron melon in making candied citron.

"PITT COUNTY'S LEADING FURNITURE DEALERS"

Washington Daybook

by HERBERT PLUMMER
Washington — Off the beaten path of the thousands of tourists who daily tramp through the corridors of the capitol is a "hideaway" known only to a handful of people "on the hill," but a spot which for years has exerted an influence on national affairs.

It is located in the senate wing of the capitol just off the private dining room for senators on the first floor.

In this little side room, equipped only with a big round table and a few chairs, there gather shortly after noon every day the senate is in session half a dozen or more senators whose names are familiar to everybody. They have been referred to at various times as "insurgents," "pseudo - Republicans," "progressive Republicans" and "sons of the wild jackass."

Perhaps the best known of the group is George Norris of Nebraska.

Democratic Wheeler.
There are others, however, whose names when mentioned are identified readily. Hiram - Johnson of California, for example; Gerald Nye of North Dakota, "Young Bob" La Follette of Wisconsin and Henrik Shipstead, Farmer-Labor, of Minnesota.

Frequently Burton Wheeler may be there, for the Montana Democrat often joins his Republican friends at the big round table.

Judged solely from the standpoint of "insurgency," the veteran Senator Norris should preside at this table of dissenters. Compared to him the others seem but freshmen on the job. More than likely the "Way Down East" Has Added Dramatic Vigor; At Pitt Mon.-Tue.

One man represents a hateful past; the other a glorious love. This is a dramatic moment in "Way Down East" featuring Rochelle Hudson, Henry Fonda and Edward Trevor, which opens at the Pitt Monday with a special midnight preview Sunday night starting at 12:01.

their aggression, the League of Nations sanctions committee of 18 nations approved the British proposal for a "buy nothing from Italy" boycott.

The proposal was immediately given to the plenary sanction committee of 52 nations for action.

Premier Laval's statement to London on the tense situation in the Mediterranean — where the British have massed great strength from the Gibraltar to the Suez canal — was deemed favorably by the British.

A delayed dispatch from Asmara, Eritrea, told of a sharp clash near Omager, last Tuesday with Ethiopian forces attempting to invade the Italian colony. The Ethiopians suffered heavy losses as they were repulsed.

Both the Italians and Ethiopians were preparing for a major conflict

Britain intends to maintain its battle fleet in the Mediterranean, authoritative sources said today, despite easing of the Italo-British tension and a definite understanding with France.

The British government was represented as feeling Premier Laval of France, has definitely removed any misunderstanding which previously existed between Great Britain and France. These authorities said however, that since no progress yet has been made toward the main issue—the Italo-Ethiopian war—the Mediterranean fleet would have to remain at its present basis although it was possible a few ships might later be removed from Gibraltar as a conciliatory gesture. It was stated in informed quarters that the diplomatic conversations now in progress in Rome and Paris were all designed to clear up side issues and that there had been no progress toward peace between Italy and Ethiopia. So far as the British government is aware, it was stated, there still remains a great gap between Mussolini's demands in Ethiopia and terms which would be acceptable to the League of Nations.

Earthquake
Helena, Mont., Oct. 19.—(AP)—The still trembling earth crust that caused two deaths and injuries to 14 persons, kept apprehensive residents of this area eyeing the doorways today. Although there were no severe shocks since 9:47 last night the earth rumbled and shook at intervals throughout the rest of the night and early this morning.

A fairly heavy tremor about four A. M. brought nervous householders again to the street but the duration was brief and additional damage light. Again soon after 8:35 A. M. the region felt a heavy rolling following by lighter tremors.

Charles Singeling, Appleton, Wisconsin, died today from injuries received when a roof collapsed and Dave Harris, negro, 23, was instantly killed last night as a front of a business building collapsed upon him.
