New All-Time Record Set In Number Fatalities North Carolina Roads

Total of 131 Persons Killed In State During October

88 ARE KILLED
IN 10 MONTHS

New record Compared With 117 Killed in December 1934; 116
Killed in September

Raleigh, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Automobiles killed 131 persons in North Carolina during October, a new all-time record fatality list for a month.

In 10 months this year 888 persons have been killed by motor vehicles, in the states as compared with 754 in 1934, a gain of 134.

The new monthly record of 131 killed and 754 injured in October compared with a previous high total of 117 killed and 550 injured in December, 1934. In September 116 were killed and 763 injured and in October, 1934 the total was 107 dead and 754 hurt.

Hancock May Seek Seat In U.S. Senate To Escape Defeat

rumored That Congressman Seek Bailey Seat to Keep From Being Defeated as Congressman

Reflector Bureau,
Sir Walter Hotel.

Raleigh, Nov. 22.—As the report persists that Congressman Frank Hancock of Oxford, Greenville county, will definitely become a candidate for the United States Senate against Senator Josiah W. Bailey, it is being hinted that one reason for this may be the fact that he would have a very tough fight being elected to Congress again from the Fifth district. A report has been current here for several weeks that John Polger of Mt. Airy, Surry county, is planning to run for Congress from the Fifth district, whether Hancock runs or not. And many here already are predicting that Polger will defeat Hancock or any one else who may seek the nomination. As a result, some think that Hancock has decided to run for the Senate, even though he may not be able to win the nomination that is better to be defeated seeking the nomination for the Senate the first time than to be defeated for re-nomination to the House of Representatives.

The anti-Bailey faction, however, maintain that Hancock will have an excellent chance at the Senate nomination, if he runs, due to the fact that for every patronage seeker who has gotten a job through Senator Bailey's influence, there are five to ten who have not gotten jobs, and who hence are peeved and ready to work against him as well as vote against him. There are still others who have never been enthusiastic over Bailey and who will vote for almost any one who will run against him. It is maintained.

With regard to Hancock's situation in the Fifth district, it is pointed out that most of the counties are western counties, while he is really from an eastern county—Greenville. So if Polger should become a candidate for the Congressional seat now held by Hancock, he could be almost sure of getting the bulk of the vote in Surry, Stokes, Rockingham and Forsyth and possibly in Person also, leaving Hancock a majority in only Greenville and Caldwell counties, though he might carry Person instead of Polger. At any rate, most observers here think Polger will get the congressional seat, if he becomes a candidate, and most reports are to that effect.

METHODISTS SCORE LIQUOR

New Bern Is Selected
As Next Year's Meeting Place

Wilmington, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Cen-urary Methodist church, New Bern, was elected at scenes of next year's meeting of the eastern North Carolina conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, today as the current session entered its second day at Grace Church here.

New Bern won over an invitation from Edenton Street church, Raleigh.

Later in the day the conference adopted a resolution commending the members of the 1935 general assembly of North Carolina upon their refusal to permit the establishment of a statewide system of liquor stores.

"We deplore the fact, however, that in the rush of closing of what had been a wise and praiseworthy session of the legislature it attempted to legalize in certain counties the resolution continued.

Further it stated "We urge our members in these unfortunate counties to renew activity in undoing the evil that has been attempted. We approve the stand which has been taken by leaders in congregation in refusing to appoint to official position in the church men who are in any way connected with the sale of intoxicating liquor."

This morning the conventions heard reports of progress made all along the line during the last year, and when these sessions had been concluded, W. G. Munford, a lay leader, praised the work of Bishop Paul B. Kern of Greensboro, who is presiding over the conference.

Trade Commission Will Investigate Collusion Charge

Washington, Nov. 22.—(AP)—The trade commission will start immediately to study whether there had been collusion among American Steel companies in bidding on materials for PWA projects.

This announcement today by the commission followed a statement by Secretary Ickes, alleging there was "prima facie evidence of collusion" in two instances.

The trade commission at the request of the War Relocation Authority will inquire into the alleged collusion in the bidding for the Morehead City terminal.

JAPAN SAYS IT IS INNOCENT IN NORTH CHINA

Toyko Officials Profess Innocence In Separation Move

CABINET HEARS
TWO MINISTERS

Foreign and War
Ministers Appear
Before Cabinet; No
Decision Made

Tokyo, Nov. 22.—(AP)—War minister Yoshi Yuki Kawashima, pressed today for cabinet acceptance of Japanese military views supporting the interrupted program of separation of five north China provinces.

Japanese political experts said the action of the government probably depended on the issues.

A cabinet spokesman said the ministers heard both foreign Minister Hirota and War Minister Kawashima "report on North China developments" but the nature of the debate and any decisions reached were not immediately divulged.

With dispatches from China telling of nearly complete suspension of the autonomy scheme, Tokyo officials professed innocence in the movement for separation.

Floods of telegrams came to the foreign office reporting press and official reaction from scores of cities abroad and Japanese authorities expressed the belief the bewilderment was over suspense of Japanese motives.

The foreign office spokesman asked to explain the apparent postponement of North China's autonomy declaration, said that since Japanese government had never predicted such a proclamation for any certain date, there was no question of postponement.

"What is going in North China is a matter of Chinese politics," he said. "We understand such complicated intrigues no better than anyone else and do not dare predict further developments or when or how they might come."

Although civil leaders in Japan seemed to be restraining the Japanese military on the continent temporarily from working for any separatist movement, the strong army element still insisted original plan for cessation of North China should be carried out.

Employment Gain On WPA Projects Is Noted Nov. 16

Big Pulse In Employment Last Week Left 1,132,758 Jobs Short
Of Goal For December 1

Washington, Nov. 22.—(AP)—A big bulge in employment last week left 1,132,758 jobs short of its goal in the Works Progress Administration's efforts to transfer 3,500,000 persons from the dole to work relief.

The WPA said today 2,367,242 needy had jobs on November 16—two weeks before the deadline on which it had been planned to give work to 3,500,000.

Along with that announcement was a reiteration by Aubrey Williams, assistant works progress administrator, that no state would receive direct relief allotment beyond December 1.

The report showed a job gain of 359,120 in the week ending Nov. 16. More than 500,000 jobs a week must be provided to attain the Dec. 1 objective of liquidating the relief administration.

Italians Suspicious Of Washington's Action In Calling On Oil Industry

RAS SEYOUN BEATEN OFF

Ethiopian Leader Repulsed On All Sides
By Italians

With the Italian army at Makale Nov. 22.—(AP)—The redoubtable Ras Seyoum, beaten off by an Ethiopian column at Abaro Pass yesterday, circled and attacked the Italian rear guard today but was repulsed again after a short skirmish.

The leader of the Ethiopian northern army was reported in dispatches from the Italian command in the Tumpion region to have engaged 15 battalions of Italian native troops who formed the head of the column now attempting to reach Umba Alaji.

Four Italian battalions of infantry and a squadron of cavalry reported yesterday that they had smashed through an Ethiopian ambush after several hours of fighting.

It was the rear of the same column that Ras Seyoum and his men attacked today, apparently after a fast overnight march.

The Italians however, were awaiting the maneuver and were prepared. They said they had repulsed the read guard attack without loss.

Six casualties among Italian officers in recent skirmishes with the Ethiopians gave rise to the belief that Haile Selassie's two warriors are concentrating their fire on the white leaders of the Italian native troops.

As the Italian fast moving columns are composed almost of black natives, the white officers who command them are conspicuous targets. The belief is freely expressed at Italian headquarters that the Ethiopians hope to disrupt the columns of the natives on the Italian side by cutting down their officers.

The action of the American government, said Rome officials, brings America closer to the ranks of "sanctionists" countries subject to the reprisals which have been threatened to those nations which are trying to halt the conflict by economic and financial pressure.

Italian engineers conceded that if other non sanctionists nations followed the United States' lead Italy's fuel and lubricants situation probably would be considered.

Officers Declare Boy's Story Hoax Concerning Shots

Claim High School Football Manager Wounded Self in Bid of Sympathy of Girl

Asheville, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Police today closed their investigation into the death of 15-year-old Herbert Owen by saying his pose as a martyr in refusing to "tell the name of the boy who shot me" was only a youthful fiction.

They said they were convinced the high school football manager shot himself with a rifle when he became despondent over a love affair—but that he merely intended to inflict a superficial wound to gain the young lady's sympathy.

Brought to a hospital here November 3 the boy first said a companion shot him accidentally, then said the companion shot him as they struggled over a rifle after carving a girl's name on a tree.

Officials based their conclusion on results of their investigation that every boy with whom he could have been that day had an alibi; that tests showed he could have fired the shot himself; that he quarreled with a girl friend; that a young woman said she heard him say in a drug store that he was going to take his life.

United States in Line Of Fire From Ital- ian Reprisals

FASCIST GOVT.
MUST HAVE OIL

Engineers Concede If
Other Countries Follow U. S. Situation
Would Be Serious

(By Associated Press)
The United States found itself in the line of fire from Italian reprisals against "sanctionist" countries today.

As the "first real fighting on any scale since the war began" was reported from the Ethiopian capital Addis Ababa fascists in Rome expressed open suspicion of the call issued on the American Oil Industry by the Washington government to halt shipments to Italy and Ethiopia.

Commentator gave added significance to the move so far as the effectiveness of international sanctions against Italy were concerned in light of the cutting off of oil shipments to Italy by Soviet Russia.

Italy needs oil and it has little or no oil of its own.

The action of the American government, said Rome officials, brings America closer to the ranks of "sanctionists" countries subject to the reprisals which have been threatened to those nations which are trying to halt the conflict by economic and financial pressure.

Italian engineers conceded that if other non sanctionists nations followed the United States' lead Italy's fuel and lubricants situation probably would be considered.

Richmond, Va., Nov. 22.—Joe S. Henderson, son of Mrs. Ivy Smith, of Greenville, N. C., Route 1, has just received the distinct honor of being elected to membership in the Alpha Theta Chapter of the Phi Theta Pi fraternity of Smithfield-Massey College, of Richmond, Va.

The Phi Theta Pi is an honorary fraternity for students of business. It encourages high scholastic standing by requiring that all men considered for membership maintain an average grade of 90 per cent in their studies, thus making the fraternity honorary. It tends to foster and promote the welfare of its members not only while in school, but also to continue actively such services thereafter; to encourage employers to seek employees through recognized schools of commerce and business; and to educate employers that the Phi Theta Pi pin is a mark of efficiency and a badge of honesty and integrity.

Since Mr. Henderson registered in the Smithfield-Massey College he has made himself especially popular with the faculty and student body. Before he registered in the Smithfield-Massey College he was graduated from the Arthur high school. He later attended Mrs. Hill College. Last year he attended Furman University. The members of Alpha Theta Chapter feel that they have not misplaced an honor by electing Mr. Henderson to membership in Phi Theta Pi.

Karl S. Bolander At College.

Karl S. Bolander, the artist and art critic, president of the National Hobby Guild, who has been talking to North Carolinians for the past month about having fun with art and finding much excellent art in examples of various kinds of handicraft he has collected in the State from the mountains to the coast, delighted his large audience in the Campus building yesterday morning with the most practical and interesting talk on art most of them perhaps had ever heard.

From the objects which filled a big table before him and were all around him, he chose one after another to illustrate his points. With deft fingers he deftly outlined one, showing the good design of attention to the good design of another, and the pleasing color combinations in still another. He contrasted good and bad art, by showing some objects that were bad, and even the children in the audience could see the difference between the bad and the good. He proceeded to tell them why each was bad and what points to look for in selecting objects for decoration or use.

Among the objects he showed were samples of pottery, the ceramic arts, from the "little brown jug" to a plate that cost ten dollars; bottles, wood carvings and other wood work; baskets, hand-made hooked rugs, bedspreads, and other textiles from this country; decorated textiles from various parts of the world; toys, boxes, candles and candlesticks.

He told interesting stories about each object, sometimes about the way in which he secured the object, or about the person who made it. He showed a piece of wood carving done by a boy years ago and then a beautiful small statue made by the same man after he had become a great artist.

He showed how good designing and good art are in demand in the world today, saying, "This is a streamline age" and even such containers as tin cans, ink bottles, tooth paste tubes, and boxes must have good lines, colors, and designs. He even held up the latest models in a coffee pot, contrasting it with a clumsy old one. Even the bathroom has become the artists' workshop he proved, by showing artistic samples of tiling.

That the artist gets his ideas from everywhere was clearly demonstrated by several designs inspired by the World's Fair.

Mr. Bolander explained methods by which some of his objects were made and told how school children and amateurs could become good craftsmen and how each person could have himself surrounded by beautiful works of art. Every person should have a hobby, he says.

TAKE YOUR TIME

Tomorrow is Saturday, another football day and thousands of persons will travel to Raleigh to witness the State-Duke game. Traffic to football games always means greater hazards and as you travel to and from Raleigh tomorrow let us urge you to take your time.
Make your plans so as to give you ample time to get to the game without rushing and then when the game is over don't break your neck trying to get away ahead of the other fellow. It is better to get home from the game a little late than to end up in the hospital or an undertaking establishment by trying to save a few minutes time. Caution and common sense will go a long way to cut down the highway accident toll in North Carolina.

MOVING AHEAD

As a rule post office receipts are a good indication of the trend of business and using the receipts of the local post office as a basis of comparison, business in Greenville this year is the best of the past three. Comparative reports for the past three years appearing elsewhere in this issue of the paper show that last year's postal receipts here were more than $9,500 better than for the year 1933, and for the first three quarters of this year ending September 30 the business this year is approximately $3,000
ahead of last year to date.
With heavier Christmas mailing expected here during the coming holiday season this year's receipts will probably go far ahead of last year and probably establish a record figure for the office. These post office figures show conclusively that business this year so far has been better than last year and with more money on deposit in the local banks than ever before there is no reason why business here should not be good the balance of this year and into next year.

HIGH COURAGE

by Jeanne Bowman

"Tecla," she cried in reproach,
"And Tecla, I'm proud to be . . . of you. Half Finnish, like John. And I have a name John, two names."
"Two names," he repeated, then,
"here comes Judge Kellogg, you have a lot to thank him for."
Anne turned to Anne Kellogg.
"You folks want to come into the D.A.'s office and listen to how we found what we found?" he asked.
"Of course," she agreed, and as Tecla started to back away, she caught her arm. "Remember Tecla, you're all the mother I have now."

There were apologies from the State's prosecutor which Anne quickly stifled. "You were doing your duty," she said.
And then, seated, she listened to John tell his part.

"I thought from the beginning,"
he said, "that the will was queer. It didn't sound like Luke Farnsworth.
He was a good judge of human nature. I couldn't understand his placing such trust in Crocker and Farley. Yet, every bit of evidence seemed to point out that he had."

Shortly before I left for the Alaskan trip, Miss Anne gave me an idea of what had caused the change in the will. She said that Luke Farnsworth had hurried down here without letting Crocker know what he was doing, or where he was going, then upon finding Crocker here, he had hurried back to Portland, first making sure that Crocker would stay.

"And then, while in Alaska, by pure coincidence, I ran into a sailor who had happened to overhear part of the will as Farnsworth was dictating it to the Westport attorney."

"It happened this way, I," he hesi-tated, and his face burned to a rich mahogany hue. "I carried a newspaper picture of Miss Farnsworth in my wallet."

"I happened to have it out one evening, the wind whisked it out of my hand and this sailor caught it for me."

"He looked at it before returning it, then instead of kidding me, he became confidential; asked me if I knew Miss Farnsworth well, and said he knew something he felt he should tell, but hadn't told because he was afraid of getting into trouble."

"He had shipped on a lumber boat, which tied up at Westport. They'd been at sea quite a while and upon getting into port he'd gone out with his crowd for liquid cheer."
"He got too drunk to get back aboard, so his companions had decided to dip him in that stream which runs along underneath the houses built off the main street of Westport."

"He'd half way sobered, enough to break away from his friends, and while wandering along under the pilings of these buildings, had come to some stairs."

"He went up these, found a landing where it was warm, and lay down and went to sleep."
"He was awakened by stomping feet. He stood up and peered through the glass-topped door, into the inner room of what he found was a doctor's office. He saw a crowd of men who were carrying an injured man in."

"They laid him on the table and went out leaving the doctor and his wife, a trained nurse, there."
John stopped and smiled.

"This is only a summary of what the man told me," he said. "This whole thing made a tremendous impression on him, sort of his big moment."

"But from his manner and appearance I felt sure that what he was saying was true, even though he talked around and around the bush, and insisted on telling how he felt, and what he felt, and all that sort of thing."

"He was evidently an honest man, and one to be believed. And he seemed very glad to be able to tell the whole story to someone." John blushed again. "I guess he could tell that I was pretty much interested from the way I acted, and from the fact that I had the picture—and everything."

"I'm sure he could," Judge Kellogg interjected. "But I suppose you'd better get along with the story. It's a pretty long one. But interesting."

WHIP-SAW: The nervous flow of gold as it seeks a safe spot is producing some curious—and crazy—international phenomena.

War-frightened Europeans are shipping their yellow metal to the United States. Their gobbling up of American securities on the devalued dollar basis partially accounts for the market's upturn. But Messrs. Roosevelt and Hull are striving to stabilize conditions abroad so as to spur domestic recovery. If they succeed, European gold will rush home and plunge Wall Street into gloom. It might turn the tide of Rooseveltian recovery.

Meanwhile Americans are trying to liquidate their foreign investments. Under a British court decision they are being paid off with 59 cents dollars for the 100 cent dollars they invested originally. On top of that their investments have sagged tremendously in any kind of money. Stabilization at home or abroad may come too late for them. It's a case of "Heads I win, tails you lose."

Pinch-hitting for James McMullin
TREATIES: The United States Canadian treaty is still the topic of conversation in New York luncheon clubs and banking offices. Of the pros and cons heard the cons make the greater noise.

International bankers say the new treaty is undoubtedly a step in the right direction which is the designation of trade restriction as between nations. "It becomes increasingly evident," they say, "that the United States must concentrate on the Western Hemisphere trade in the face of European nationalistic trends. The only way to encourage this trade is to make concessions." Opposition is to develop from certain trade interests and their bankers. Yet the treaty stands as an accomplished fact. President Roosevelt has the power to sign and that's all there is to it.

Informed New York quarters say that similar treaties with Latin and South American nations are projected for the not distant future.

FIGHT: While it sounds as if the shipping is done there is underground work planned—in real bitterness. Sections of the lumber, dairy and coal industries are to start to move up in Canada. From the United States side the treaty is final but not so from the Canadian side.

SCHOOL SUPPORT IS BIG QUESTION

Candidate Outlines
Stand in Eight-Point
Program in Winston-Salem Address

Reflector Bureau.
Sir Walter Hotel.
By J. C. BASKERVILLE.
Raleigh, Nov. 22.—The most significant speech made so far by any of the candidates for the Democratic nomination for Governor was that made by Lieutenant Governor A. H. (Sandy) Graham before the Schoolmaster's Club of the Western district in Winston-Salem Wednesday night, in that it sets forth his complete platform with regard to the public schools and their support, according to most political circles here.

For several weeks the opinion has been prevailing in most informed circles that the question of school support and of the taxes with which to get the revenue to support the schools would become the dominant issue in the 1936 campaign for the nomination for Governor, because at the present time 66 per cent of all the state taxes go for the support of the schools and because the school forces are ready demanding a greatly increased school budget for the next biennium. Information obtained during the past few days from reliable sources indicates that the organized school forces, working through the North Carolina Education Association, the Classroom Teachers Association, the Parent-Teacher Associations and other similar groups, are already planning to demand a school appropriation of not less than $30,000,000 a year from the next general assembly.

In his speech Wednesday night, Lieutenant Governor Graham outlined an eight point program for the schools of the state, as follows:

1. Continuation of the present eight months state-supported school term as the minimum term.
2. The addition of a ninth month in those districts which want a longer term by voting a supplemental tax for the longer term.
3. A larger appropriation for schools by the next general assembly, so that teachers' salaries can be increased still more than they have been.
4. A reduction in the sales tax rate and its removal from food and meals as soon as possible, but not its complete removal since other revenue to replace it cannot be obtained from other sources.
5. More stress on vocational education for those children which cannot or do not want to go to college.
6. Higher standards for teachers, with an additional certificate rating beyond the present B-A certificate, with a corresponding increase in pay.
7. A state law that will extend Federal old age pensions and social security acts to teachers and state employees.
8. An advisory committee composed of teachers to advise with the Governor on school problems and legislation during his administration.

Most of those here who have studied the platform outlined by Graham agree that it has a strong appeal to the taxpayers who supply the money with which the schools are supported, also that it should appeal to the teachers, since it promises them increased salaries and better certification just as rapidly as the revenue of the state will permit. For while Graham told his hearers frankly that it would not be possible to increase salaries or get a larger appropriation if the sales tax should be removed, he did come out in favor of restoring the exemptions on food and meals and of reducing the tax, if possible. Without mentioning Dr. Ralph W. McDonald by name, it is agreed that he was undoubtedly referring to this other candidate for Governor who is running on a platform calling for a much larger appropriation for schools and the repeal of the sales tax, when he said:

WILD WARRIORS PLEDGE LOYALTY TO SELASSIE

"Look with skepticism upon the magician who tells you that he favors more liberal support for schools, but at the same time favors giving up entirely a tax that produces over $10,000,000 a year in revenue and who fails to show any other tax that will come any where near replacing it."

So far in his campaign Clyde R. Hovey of Shelby, another of the candidates for Governor, has been advocating more liberal support of the schools and last week came out for a nine months school term instead of for the continuation of the eight months term, with a longer term to be provided from supplemental taxes. It is estimated here that the addition of a ninth month would increase the cost of operating the schools at least $2,500,000 a year, on the present basis of support. It is agreed that the ninth month plan is popular with the school forces, since it would provide an additional pay check. But many rural districts frankly do not want a nine months term.

Dead Peach Trees Being Grubbed Up By WPA Laborers

Activities Are Carried On In Commercial Peach Growing Sections of North Carolina

Reflector Bureau.
Sir Walter Hotel.
Raleigh, Nov. 22.—More than 33,000 diseased and dying peach trees in abandoned orchards have been dug up and destroyed in the last eight weeks by WPA workers in the commercial peach growing section of the state in the Sandhills, it was announced today by Commissioner of Agriculture W. A. Graham.

It is estimated that 160,000 more trees will be grubbed up and destroyed before this project is completed. Approximately 140 WPA laborers are digging up the condemned peach trees under the direction of Charles H. Hearn, in charge of the peach disease control work in North Carolina.

The diseased peach tree removal project is a Federal project in cooperation with the Division of Entomology of the State Department of Agriculture, of which Dr. R. W. Leiby is the head. The work of uprooting these dead or diseased peach trees is now being carried on in Moore, Scotland, Richmond, Hoke, Montgomery and Anson counties. Later on it will be extended into Mecklenburg, Gaston, Forsyth and Catawba counties.

Commissioner Graham and State Entomologist Leiby recently inspected the peach tree removal work being carried on in the Aberdeen section and found a ready and willing cooperation on the part of owners of abandoned and diseased peach orchards, they reported. Owners of healthy orchards are naturally to see nearby abandoned and infected peach trees removed, in that it tends to eliminate the danger of infection spreading to healthy, cultivated orchards.

"It is impossible to estimate how much this work is going to mean to the peach growers in the Sandhills section, but it will run into hundreds of thousands of dollars," Dr. Leiby said. "For not only will the digging up of these trees lessen the danger of infection among the healthy orchards, thus increasing the yield from these, but it will free thousands of acres of land that heretofore has been non-productive for use in growing other crops. The farmers are becoming enthusiastic over this work."

All new automobiles sold in California after January 1, 1936, must be equipped throughout with safety glass.

Hoey, Methodist, Attends Annual Baptist Meeting

Reflector Bureau.
 Raleigh, Nov. 19.—Political circles here are taking notice of and commenting on the fact that Clyde R. Hoey of Shelby, minus his long hair which he had cut a few weeks ago, attended almost the entire session of the State Baptist Convention in Asheville last week, although Hoey personally is a Methodist. On at least one occasion, Hoey is reported to have mounted the rostrum following a session and to have spent some time conversing with the prominent Baptist dignitaries present.

Mr. Hoey was the only one of the four candidates for the Democratic nomination for Governor who attended the Baptist Convention, according to several who were present. His presence at the convention is being interpreted by most political circles here as an open bid for the support of the Baptist ministers and of the entire denomination in his campaign for the nomination for Governor. The Baptist church is the largest in point of membership in North Carolina, having about 500,000 members. It is agreed that if Mr. Hoey could get anything like a majority of the Baptist votes in the state, to say nothing of the Methodist, Presbyterian and other denominations which are "dry," that he would probably win the nomination.

While Hoey was cordially received by many of the Baptist brethren in the convention in Asheville, some of those present felt that the convention was not the proper place for any candidate for political office to be active, even if he were a bone dry, according to observers. Several ministers attending the convention were heard to remark that back in 1928, when Hoey was supporting Al Smith for president, that no one criticized the churches and ministers any more than he for taking part in politics, especially for opposing Al Smith. Some of these could not understand how Hoey could now be asking them, by inference, to support him for Governor when he criticized them for opposing Al Smith in 1928. Most of them who were present at the convention agree, however, that Hoey undoubtedly strengthened himself with many of the Baptist brethren by attending the convention.

Plan Your Thanksgiving Feast Early— It Saves Time And Lightens The Task

By MRS. ALEXANDER GEORGE
(Author of "Menus of the Day")

Pumpkin pies, with their burnished brown tops and spicy fragrance, . . . rich, red cranberry jelly . . . the tantalizing aroma of turkey done to a proper turn . . . mean success for the housewife when family or friends sit down to Thanksgiving dinner.

Forethought and detailed planning will save dollars and energy for the housewife who arrange this annual feast. Ingenuity is the fairy godmother of modern entertaining.

The serving of appetizers in the living room as the first course gives the maid-less hostess time to make these important last minute dinner preparations and to place the main course on the table while beverages and canapés are being enjoyed.

Turkey is traditional and usually preferred for this occasion, but other fowl or meat make satisfying substitutes. Much of the food can be prepared the day before, freeing the hostess to share the pleasures of Thanksgiving. Following are menu suggestions which may help:

A Bounteous Repast
Assorted Canapés
Fruit Juices, Chilled
Roast Turkey, Chestnut Stuffing
Candied Sweet Potatoes with Pecans
Buttered Brussels Sprouts
Giblet Gravy, Spiced Appricots
Cranberry Sherbet
Celery, Olives
Fruit Gelatin Dessert Topped With Ice Cream
Coffee
Cracked Nuts, Mints
Should the family or the budget demand a less elaborate repast, this one might be tried:

Just A Family Affair
Cranberry Juice Cocktail
Chicken, Mashed Potatoes
Buttered Broccoli
Currant Jelly, Reheated Rolls
Head Lettuce, 100 Island Dressing
Pumpkin Pie, Cheese
Coffee

At no season is a game dinner more appropriate and this menu should find favor with any family.

The Game Dinner.
Asparagus and Celery Soup, Waiters
Ripe Olives
Roast Duck, Wild Rice Stuffing
Mashed Sweet Potatoes
Escalloped Onions
Cider Ice
Biscuits, Plum Jelly
Horn of Plenty Salad, Bread Sticks
Fig Pudding, Foamy Sauce
Coffee

A few recipes for items selected from these menus may give the busy housewife suggestions for a new way to present traditional dishes:

Chestnut Stuffing
1-4 pound salt pork
1 pound chestnuts, chopped
3 tablespoons chopped onions
1-3 cup diced celery
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
1 teaspoon poultry seasoning
8 cups bread, crumbled
1-3 cup butter melted
2 eggs beaten

Cook pork in frying pan until it has browned add onions and celery and simmer 5 minutes. Pour over rest of ingredients. Mix with fork. Stuff the fowl.

Cranberry Juice Cocktail
(Spley and Refreshing)
6 cups berries
6 cups water
12 whole cloves
1-4 cup bark cinnamon
1-4 teaspoon salt
11-2 cups sugar
1-3 cup orange juice
2 tablespoons lemon juice
Simmer 25 minutes berries, water and spices. Pour through fine strainer, add sugar and boil 3 minutes. Cool. Add rest of ingredients and chill.

Fig Pudding
1-2 pound figs, chopped
21-2 cups bread crumbs
1-4 cup flour
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1-4 teaspoon cloves
1-2 teaspoon salt
1-2 cup suet, chopped
1-2 cup sugar
2 eggs
1 cup milk
1 teaspoon soda
Mix ingredients and half 1/2 buttered mold. Seal tightly and steam 3 hours. Unmold and serve warm with sauce.

Foamy Sauce
1 cup sugar
2 tablespoons flour
1-8 teaspoon salt

One phase of preparation of the Thanksgiving dinner which must not be neglected is presentation of arrangement need not be elaborate much to enjoyment of the meal.

1 cup water
1-3 cup orange juice
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1-4 teaspoon grated orange rind
1 tablespoon butter
1 egg, beaten
Blend sugar with four and salt. Add water, fruit juices, rind and butter. Cook slowly, stirring constantly, until sauce thickens. Add egg, cook 1 minute.

Spiced Appricots
(Fresh or Canned)
12 apricot halves
1 cup brown sugar
1-2 cup water or apricot juice
14 whole cloves
1-4 cup bark cinnamon
1-4 cup vinegar
Stick cloves in apricots. Boil sugar, water, cinnamon and vinegar 1 minute. Add apricots and simmer 20 minutes. Turn several times. Serve warm or cold as garnish.

PISGAH FOREST DEER HUNT IS CANCELLED

Called Off When State Threatens To Crack Down

BAN ON KILLING OF DOE IS CAUSE

Commissioner Chalk Explains There Are Virtually No Doe in Sections of Park

Raleigh, Nov. 22.—The Pisgah National Forest deer hunt which was to have started Monday, Nov. 23 in the Pisgah National Forest Game Refuge and in which hunters could have shot does as well as bucks, has been cancelled on orders from S. A. Silcox, chief of the National Forest Service.

The reason the hunt was cancelled was a request made by State Game Commissioner John D. Chalk, first to the Pisgah Forest supervisor and regional director, and then later direct to Silcox, that the North Carolina law prohibiting the shooting, possession or transportation of doe deer be observed in this hunt, also that all the hunters be required to have state hunting licenses in addition to their Forest Service permits.

Commissioner Chalk first wrote Regional Director Joseph C. Kirchner of the National Forest Service in Atlanta and Herbert J. Stone, supervisor of Pisgah National Forest, in Asheville. Stone, after conferring with Kirchner, replied that they would go ahead with the hunt as planned, meaning they would permit the killing of doe as well as of bucks and that they would not with the state game laws, as it does in the Grand Canyon National Forest in Arizona, the only other National Forest game refuge in which deer hunting is permitted, we would not object in the least," Commissioner Chalk said. "For the supervisor of the Grand Canyon forest just wired me that the hunt there is conducted in conformance with the Arizona game laws and that the hunters must have state hunting licenses. Yet for years the Forest Service officials have been permitting the hunting of deer and the killing of doe as well as of bucks in the Pisgah National Forest in violation of the North Carolina laws and without requiring the hunters to have state hunting licenses.

"This fact has made it difficult for us to enforce the game laws in other sections, especially the law against shooting doe, since we were constantly reminded that they could shoot doe in the Pisgah National Forest hunt, and without obtaining a state license. It made it especially difficult for us to enforce the doe law in the western counties contiguous to the National Forest game refuge. Accordingly, we are now greatly pleased that the Forest Service has called off this hunt."

Numerous letters have already been received from sportsmen from many sections of the state commending Commissioner Chalk and the Department of Conservation and Development for the stand they have taken against the shooting of doe, even in the National Forest, Mr. Chalk said.

BIG TEN CAMPAIGNS AGAINST THE BOTTLE-TOTING GRID-FAN

By ROBERT WALTON

Chicago. (AP)—They're taking the "hic-hic, hooray" out of Big Ten football.

The familiar gurgle of the old flask that threatened to develop into a roar last year is being reduced to a mere trickle.

The well-known inebriate who used to live things up until he became obnoxious is missing. He doesn't get by the ticket-taker any more.

It is a painless operation—this matter of separating the nip from the nipper—says Maj. John L. Griffith, commander of Big Ten athletics.

The campaign got under way as long ago as last December following years of discussion without much action.

Take "Drastic" Action.

"Last year," says Griffith, "drinking during games increased so much that drastic action became necessary."

So far, however, the "drastic action" has consisted merely of warning cards enclosed with tickets, and announcements over loud-speaker systems at the games, urging spectators to desist.

Some schools have stationed extra guards at stadium entrances with instructions to ask bottle-toters to keep their flasks under cover.

That system was tried at Illinois on Dad's Day when the film played on Iowa, but it was hardly necessary.

reports, George Huff, director of athletics.

Only three persons were refused admission to the stadium because of drunkenness; only seven were cautioned, and no one—once in—had to be ejected, he says.

At Purdue, drinking during games has passed out almost entirely. A party of Chicagoans attending the Purdue-Carnegie Tech game admitted afterward they had a bottle with them, but were afraid to bring it out.

"Dead-Soldier" Check-up: One good way of measuring the drinking during a game is by the number of empty bottles found in the stadium afterward.

"This year there haven't been enough empties to constitute a problem," says Major Griffith.

The big Michigan stadium, once one of the favorite "spots" in the Big Ten, is almost as dry as a temperance meeting these Saturday afternoons, says Griffith.

"They're waiting until after the game to celebrate victory or drown their sorrow," says Griffith.

One of the things that puzzles Griffith is how drinking ever got a hold on football crowds in the first place.

"You never see any drinking at a baseball game," he says, "and I can't think of any other sport where you see it."

A new German law requires that all agricultural leaders must be of "German or parallel" blood.

"MY WIFE PUT HER FOOT DOWN"

"Said My Salary Simply Couldn't Stand Expensive Home Entertaining"

declares E. L. Pognore, 1871 Vaux Hall Rd., Union, N. J.

"I knew my wife was right," continues Mr. Pognore, "but every time I'd attempt serving a whiskey that I could afford our guests would scarcely touch it. I was in a tough spot but OLD DRUM saved me! It has the flavor and smoothness of whiskeys costing a lot more, yet its price is just my speed. What's more, my friends who used to balk at low price whiskeys are OLD DRUM fans now, too."

THOUSANDS NOW BUYING WHISKEY THAT'S KIND TO PURSE AND PALATE

OLD DRUM WORTH 40% MORE
Says America in Nation-wide Poll of Palates!

• GUESSES $1.60 A PT.
Old Drum is "one of the best blends," states H. E. Clark, Omaha, Neb.

ESTIMATES $1.40 •
"Good tasting—a nice drink," says Dan Rubin, New York City, of Old Drum.

VOTES $1.75 A PT.
"Smooth as silk," that's what H. Dorsey, Springfield, Ill., thinks of Old Drum.

Everywhere sensible American drinkers are discovering "cents-ible" Old Drum—the sensational whiskey that sells at a sensationally low price!

Don't be mistaken! You can buy really high quality whiskey at a low price! Thousands are doing it every day. They're buying OLD DRUM, the amazing whiskey voted in nation-wide palate poll to be worth 25c to 75c more per pint than its actual price.

Distilled from the same "premium" grain used for costliest whiskeys, OLD DRUM challenges comparison with any "straight" or "blend" in its price class. From every standpoint—aroma, flavor, mellowness—OLD DRUM is America's greatest whiskey. You can't beat it!

Maryland Distillery's Creed
"It should be the responsibility of every legitimate distiller to produce whiskeys in perfect, at a price so low, that the public can have no reason for patronizing illegal distillers who defraud our National, State and Local Governments of their just revenues."

New York, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Stocks ran into profit taking today after a burst of speed that put the tickets in several minutes behind their dealing during most of the day.

Indications Seen
of Administration
Applying Pressure

Washington, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Indications developed today that the administration had begun or was considering applying action for the contemplation of drastic financial pressure, to prevent American trade with Italy and Ethiopia.
 Appraised of unconfirmed reports that some of tankers and other vessels had cancelled cargo voyages to the Italian-Ethiopian zone, both from eastern and gulf ports, officials expressed the belief that might result in refusal of the federal agencies to extend visas they hold from shipping companies.
 The source did not elaborate or explain what federal agency might be involved.
 The shipping board holds applications against a number of American vessels.

BOOMING JAPANESE CITIES
LED BY RESURRECTED PORT

Yokohama, Japan.—(AP)—Yokohama, the city that was 98 per cent destroyed by earthquake and fire 12 years ago, has been rebuilt into a modern and flourishing seaport of more than 700,000 population.
 A preliminary count of the national census of October 1 showed Yokohama's population to be more than 700,000. Before the 1923 disaster the city had less than 500,000.
 The census shows this port continuing as the empire's sixth city.
 Tokyo, approaching 6,000,000, comes first, followed by Osaka, in the 3-000,000 class. Nagoya and Kyoto have entered the 1,000,000 population class, and Kobe, seaport of the west, is close to the million mark.

NAVY'S FLAGSHIP BOASTS
"QUINTUPLET" SAILOR UNIT

Long Beach, Calif.—(AP)—The navy's flagship, Pennsylvania, has a "Cowdrey unit" or rival the Dionne quintuplets.
 The unit is composed of five Cowdreys brothers from Virder, Ill., all of whom are serving as gobs on the ship—Paul, Burnell, Harry, Charles and Manley.
 Another brother, Orville, still a high school sophomore, plans to enlist in the navy some day and serve on the same ship as the other five.

Wore Same Cap 37 Years.

Springdale, Ark. (AP)—A. D.
 Wilson has a new cap—his first in 37 years. "She was a pretty good cap," the farmer commented as he discarded the headgear which he had been wearing since his purchase in Iowa in 1898.
