NEW EFFORTS BEING MADE KEEP PEACE

Determination To Prevent Shipment
War Materials

SECRETARY HULL
HINTS ON COTTON

Shipping Board Asserts no More Old Ships to be Sold to Italy for Scrap Iron

Washington, Nov. 23.—(AP)—Determination to prevent steady and Ethiopia from obtaining the raw materials of war on this country was evidenced anew today in two government quarters.

Secretary Hull intimated the United States might try to prevent cotton sales to the Italo-Ethiopian war zone if that step becomes necessary.

Simultaneously shipping board officials asserted they would permit no more ships in which they had an interest to be sold to Italy for breaking up into scrap iron which might be used for war.

Exactly how trading in cotton essential, to a warring nation could be restricted, the Secretary did not say.

The question arose at a press conference today when newsmen called attention to government figures showing shipments of raw cotton to Italy increased substantially in October compared with the preceding month.

Asked whether he considered cotton essential to war, he explained any question relating to what constitutes primary essentials and immediate war materials shipped in abnormal quantities would be given attention.

Noted Sportsmen To Make Movies At Matamuskeet

Members of Grantland Rice Sports Review Force Spend Night Here
On Way to Hunting Grounds

Members of the force of the Grantland Rice Sports Review spent last night in the city on the way to Lake Matamuskeet, where they will attempt to secure pictures of ducks, geese, swan and other wild fowl being shot by sportsmen.

The noted sportsman and writer issues a number of short moving pictures each year showing various sport activities throughout the United States.

The members of the staff going to the Eastern North Carolina lake are equipped with movie cameras and sound equipment and will attempt to secure pictures and the natural sounds of wild fowl and the hunters in action.

13-Cent Cotton Predicted 1936 By Cotton Chief

Washington, Nov. 23.—(AP)— 13-cent cotton is predicted by Cully A. Cobb, chief of the AAA cotton sections.

He made this forecast in expressing the belief that a comparatively large part of the 4,450,000 bales now which the government had made loans would be marketed this season. He added he believed movement of this cotton to market would have little effect on prices.
He said farmers would automatically stop selling if the price stopped.
The AAA made loans of 12 cents a pound last year to hold price to that level.

All Bids Are Rejected For Dredging Work

Wilmington, Nov. 23.—(AP)—All bids for dredging the channel from Morehead City to Beaufort inlet were rejected when opened at the United States District Army Engineers offices here today, because they were above the 25 per cent margin allowed over the government estimate.

The Gahagan Construction Corporation, Brooklyn, N. Y., was the lowest bidder with $206,280. The government estimate was $108,- 195.08.

Since the dredging is a PWA emergency project, the five day protest period was waived and the Gahagan Company immediately filed a protest and asked a review of the government estimate.

WINTERVILLE STUDENTS ILL

Pupils Thought To Have Drunk Polluted Water

Health authorities are making an investigation following the illness of about 75 Winterville students alleged to have been caused by drinking water which has been polluted by the overflow from a nearby septic tank.

Twice that number were absent from the school Thursday. None is reported seriously ill, according to C. D. Ward, principal of the school, who said the condition became known Wednesday when the first of the 150 to 160 sick children began suffering minor stomach disorders.

The septic tank overflow, normally carried away from the five wells which supply the school with drinking water, was not realized the illnesses started. It was found the normal overflow channels had been clogged.

Ward said the well water was not being used today for drinking purposes and the school is drilling a new well approximately 100 feet from the septic tank. The old wells consisted of five steel pipes driven to a depth of 70 feet. The wells were sealed and the water pumped into the school building. The septic tank was 30 feet from the nearest well, under the old arrangement.

Reports of the illness were filed with the State Health Department at Raleigh and the school was advised that a sanitary engineer would be sent here to supervise the construction of the new well.

The school has an enrollment of 775 students. It was thought the peak of illnesses had passed. None of the teachers was taken ill.

Reflector Bureau,
Sir Walter Hotel.
Raleigh, Nov. 23.—A total of $44,- 977,000 has already been either al-

000 relief appropriation made by

W. Bailey pointed out today, in making public a detailed statement of allotments up to and including November 6.

These figures do not include grants, which have been or will be made for rural rehabilitation and land purchase, or for grants made to the National Youth Administration. When these totals are obtained and added to these others, the total will be well in excess of $45,- 000,000, it was pointed out.

Operators Escape As Officers Take A 75-Gallon Still

Five Hundred Gallons of Mash Is Found at Still in Parnesse Township by Officers

A 75-gallon capacity copper still was discovered in Parnesse township late yesterday afternoon, but the two operators of the illegal distillery made their get away before deputies sheriff were able to close in on them.

About 500 gallons of mash and 10 gallons of whiskey were found at the distillery which was in operation. The deputies attempted to close in on the operators of the still but they were "spotted" before they became close enough to "nab" the offenders. Deputy Sheriff Herbert Harris said there were two men at the still.

Several stills were captured by officers in a series of raids a week or so ago which netted three men at the time.

Washington, Nov. 23.—(AP)—
The anti-American demonstrations at Padua, Italy, added new problems today for the state department in meeting situations arising under the Neutrality Act.

Although the act provides only that Americans travelling abroad should not use ships of belligerent nations, this raised a question as to whether the actual presence in belligerent countries might not be considered by the state department also to be at their own risk.

Winterville Man Held on Charges Of Manslaughter

L. C. Stokes, Charged with Killing Second Victim Within Year, Bound Over on $500 Bond

L. C. Stokes of the Winterville community will face charges in Pitt Superior Court as a result of having run down and killed a negro, the second victim of the man within a year.

Stokes' latest victim was Clinton Cox, Winterville negro, whom Stokes is charged with running down and killing November 8 near Aiden.

A coroner's jury yesterday charged the man with manslaughter and placed him under $500 bond which was furnished by relatives.
Stokes' first victim was William May, who was instantly killed when struck on the Winterville road by a car driven by the man last December.

ITALIANS WIN NEW VICTORY IN ETHIOPIA

Fascist Ride Crest
Toward First Major
Objective

OGADEN AREA
UNDER ITALY

Government of Rome
Reports Huge Area
On Southern Front
Under Domination

(By The Associated Press)
Fascist armies rode the crest of new victory toward the first major objective of Italy's war for the subjugation of Ethiopia.

All of the Ogaden area on the southern front, a huge patch in the southeastern quarter of Emperor Haile Selassie's domain, has come under the domination of Italian troops, the Rome government announced.

On the terrain, largely desert but gullied and terraced by hills, in the north Premier Mussolini's legions intend to brace themselves for a push forward to link Italian Somaliland with Italy's other eastern colony, Eritrea.

Simultaneously another stretch by the Italians in the form of a spear-like column marching toward Dessie, across the barren Danakil desert from Assab, Eritrea, was launched as a general flanking movement from the east.

If this "dark horse" army trekking over an area perhaps as desolate as any in the world can't throw its power on Dessie, Ethiopian field headquarters and a troop concentration, Premier Mussolini's forces will be in sight of his first major objective.

The Italian concentration can strike north helping the north Eri-trian army to complete its drive in the north mountain territory or it could strike south to help the Somaliland forces capture Harar.

Completion of this aim would permit control of Ethiopia's only rail outlet to the outside world, the Addis Ababa-Djibouti line and practically assure the fall of the Ethiopian capital.

On the diplomatic front, Italy angered by the imminent pinch of sanctions was reported to have warned France that imposition of an oil embargo "would mean war."
The United States government has taken steps to halt oil shipments to Italy from this country and the British were reported toying with the idea of imposing an oil and coal embargo.

Italy initiated a Franco-British boycott in retaliation for refusal of those nations to relent on sanctions.
In Addis Ababa Ethiopian officials were jubilant over the American government's appeal to halt oil shipments. That, they said, would be the most serious blow that could be dealt Italy.

First Snowfall of Season Strikes Greenville Today

Other Eastern North Carolina Sections Also Experience First White Precipitation Of Season; Winds And Colder Weather Felt

Snow fell in Greenville and other sections of Eastern North Carolina during a large part of today, but in most places the white precipitation failed to stick to the ground.

The steady snowfall began here about 10 o'clock, and numerous citizens reported a few flakes fell around six o'clock.

The flakes, which were described as "hominy" snow, fell steady during the entire morning after they first began falling and continued on well into the afternoon.

It was the first fall of the season for Greenville as well as for most sections of the state where it snow-ed. A few scatterings falls in the eastern section of the state had been reported before today, however.

The fall was not fast or thick enough to obstruct traffic or interrupt business and no ill results were reported as caused by the snow.

Strong winds and a drop in the temperature accompanied the snow in Greenville and other eastern places. The daily weather report indicated fair and colder weather tonight in this vicinity.

(By The Associated Press)
North Carolina's extensive snow of the year fell today over the eastern portion of the state while low temperatures and clear skies were reported generally westward.

Snow had fallen in several scattered points earlier this winter, but today Raleigh had its first shower of white preceded by an early sleet in the morning. A half inch of snow had fallen about mid morning.

At Rocky Mount the white flakes began slipping down from a murky sky at 7:30 a. m. while the feathery precipitation began an hour later at Fayetteville.

At Goldsboro snow started at 8 o'clock and low hanging clouds promised it would continue at least for several hours.

Wilson, Greenville and other places reported a snow fall.
Sub freezing temperature was general in the early morning throughout the west and Piedmont section.

At Elizabeth City the mercury stood at 38 and at Wilmington at 48. A sharp drop on the coast was forecast for tonight, however, with a temperature of 23 predicted for Wilmington.

ACTION TAKEN ON POTATO ACT

Small Growers To Be Exempt From Paying Quota Tax

Washington, Nov. 23.—(AP)— Small potato growers may be allowed to harvest and sell as much as 50 bushels without obtaining a special allotment from the AAA or paying a quota tax.

The National Potato Advisory Commission, just organized, recommended this exemption. The potato control law which becomes effective December 1 exempts five bushels.

All potatoes sold in excess of allotments must pay a tax of about 45 cents a bushel.

The committee endorsed the proposal for changes in the law. These include provision for a referendum of producers to determine whether the act should remain in effect and a provision to exclude the consumer from penalties involving packaging and stamping of packages.

Damage By Forest Fires On Decrease In October

Reflector Bureau,
Sir Walter Hotel.
Raleigh, Nov. 23.—A sharp decrease in the average number of acres burned over by forest fires in counties organized for the control of this destructive force was reported by the forestry division of the Department of Conservation and Development for the month of October, in the face of a decided increase in number of fires.

The monthly forest fire report for October shows a total of 115 forest fires, the largest number of flames in cooperating counties during the last six months period. Conservation officials look on the decreased average destruction for each fire as an indication of increased efficiency of the warden force in confining flames to smaller areas.

Not since May of the current year has a greater number of fires been reported and only two months since that time have shown larger areas burned over and greater damage.

JOHN LEWIS RESIGNS JOB WITH A. F. L.

President of United Mine Workers Quits
Federation

HELD POSITION
VICE PRESIDENT

Conflict Between
Lewis and William
Green Emphasized
Earlier This Week

Washington, Nov. 23.—(AP)— John L. Lewis international president of the United Mine Workers of America resigned today as vice-president of the American Federation of Labor.

Lewis announced his resignation in a brief letter to William Green, president of the Federation, saying:
"Effective this date I resign as vice president of the American Federation of Labor."

His resignation came as a surprise and brought forward again the long standing conflict between Lewis and Green over two opposing theories of labor organization. Lewis had supported organization of unions by industries, "the vertical" height while Green held to the long established "horizontal" union by crafts.

Early this week the conflict between the two labor leaders was emphasized when the federation made public a list of answers to accusations by Lewis that the federation had failed in many of its projects. Particularly, Lewis had complained that the Federation had by its own influence brought establishment of only two measures in the last session of Congress while other agencies had put through many more for the benefit of labor.

The recent federation convention at Atlantic City resulted in a vote adverse to Lewis in his efforts to have the organization revolutionize along industrial unionization lines.
The conflict was so hot that he participated in a fist fight with one of the opponents of his proposals.

Despite the Recent Low On Tobacco Average Is $21.12

Friday's Offerings of 368,258 Hogs (Total to 59,419,326 Pounds)
Sold This Season

With only a poor grade of tobaco offered on the Greenville market Friday, the official average dropped to the lowest of the season when 368,258 pounds sold for a total of $66,850.21, or an average of $18.52.
Yesterday's sales brought the total offerings for the season to 59,- 419,326 and growers have been paid $12,550,325.90 this year.

The season's average, despite recent low sales, continues above the parity level. The official figures through yesterday's sales showed an average of $21.12 per hundred.

Poison Deaths Are Laid To Shipment Unlabeled Barrel

Inclusion of An Unlabeled Barrel Of Soda in Shipment of Baking Soda Given As Cause

San Francisco, Nov. 23.—(AP)— Authorities laid San Francisco's poisoned soda deaths today to inclusion of an unlabeled barrel of deadly poison in a shipment of baking soda.

Dr. J. C. Geiger, city health director, said he had proof a salvage firm had bought a damaged barrel of poison for $3.25.

Inspector George Engler asserted an employee of the salvage company told him his employer had ordered him to include an unlabeled barrel with soda consigned to the department store that sold the lethal mixture.

Engler said the employee told him his "boss had tasted the contents of the barrel and said 'it tastes like soda, take it along.'"

Detectives Charles Dulles said he was convinced the poison came from the salvage company, he would ask manslaughter charges against the owner "on the basis of negligence."

Hundreds bought the poisoned bulk soda. Three died. A score became ill.

ests which can't afford to attention the administration openly are slipping him some explosive stuff.

It showed in his address before the Ohio society. Bankers, insurance heads and industrialists have urged him to pitch the anti-Roosevelt attack on a full-dinner-pail plane. They suggested that he appeal to millions of policy-holders, bank depositors and stock-owners, frightening them by dire predictions of the result of unbalanced budgets and dollar devaluation on their holdings. Mr. Hoover obviously took the advice to heart. He is more amenable to suggestions than he used to be.

"Rooseveltian recovery" makes this sort of attack more effective than it was in the Hoover days.
When banks, industries and insurance companies stood in danger of toppling there was no advantage of scaring people who didn't know where the next meal was coming from. Now the GOP thinks it's time to ask, "Where do we go from here?" The answer has usually been "Republican" when time got good.

REALITY: Unemployment worries President Roosevelt more than any other problem. He brings it up constantly with friends.
But his special investigators may furnish an "out" when they complete current inquiries. They may point out an entirely different jobless picture from any hitherto hung in the political gallery. They are saying a realistic brush. They point out that unemployment falls so slowly because 500,000 men "employables" come on the scene each year—from grammar, high and higher schools. They also question figures showing that private industry employed 750,000 people annually during the twenties. They say it isn't so.

Although the inquiry is still under way, don't be surprised if the post-mortem says that between 7-10,000,000 and 10,000,000 is the number who will be out of work under the best economic conditions for many years. Non-political economists have been saying that for a long time.

KITTY: Mr. Roosevelt beseeches reporters to "play off" stories about the 1937 budget. He says that federal finances make up such a delicate mechanism that premature publicity is dangerous. The real explanation seems to be that he wants to surprise the voters with an economy program.

He may do it. Inside reports say that the cost of regular establishments can be kept to $4,000,000,000 at a maximum, including funds for debt reduction, the CCC and a permanent building program. Money for relief and emergency establishments will bring the budget above that figure. Some place it at $2-3,000,000,000, making the total budget about $6,000,000,000, with government revenue estimated at $4,000-5,000,000,000. That would mean a $2-1,000,000,000 deficit for 1937.

But Mr. Roosevelt has a "kitty" of about $1,000,000,000 still unallocated from the work relief fund.
He can use that for "emergency" and work relief needs in 1937. He may turn it back to the Treasury if business improves sufficiently to take up the unemployed slack. So there are the budget prospects—a 1937 deficit ranging from $1,000,000-to $2,000,000,000.

PROGRAM: Congressmen returning to Washington in advance of the session are gun-shy of any more excitement or experimentation.
They think they know what the people want.

HIGH COURAGE

by Jeanne Rowman

Chapter 12
LUKE'S PLAN

JOHN NEUMAN laughed. For a man who usually so self-possessed, he looked singularly embarrased.

"Answer," said he, "the sailor said that the doctor and his wife made an expedition and gave the patient something. Then he regained consciousness, and I demanded an attorney at once; said he knew he was going to die and that he had to protect his daughter before then."

Anne found tears stinging her eyes. Luke hadn't been trying to protect the cannery, but her. His last thought, his last breath almost, were spent for her sake.

"The sailor said he figured he ought to get out but he didn't want to waste the creek to make it and decided to wait and see if he couldn't sneak out the door, later."

"The attorney came in, and the dying man and he were clasped alone for awhile."

"The patient, whom the sailor identified as Luke Farnsworth, told the attorney that he felt his daughter was about to marry a man who wanted her for her money only. Mr.
Farnsworth said he had been looking for proof that the man was using his position with the cannery, to make money for himself; that he'd found him deceitful, even cruel."

"Luke was afraid the man would insist upon marrying the girl immediately upon his death, purportedly to protect her, and that he would wrest the ownership of the cannery away from her, in time, and hide from the cruel treatment of which he was capable, would leave her peniless."

"He felt that if he pretended to leave her with only an allowance which would enable her to live comfortably in the home he was leaving his brother, the man in question, one Rob Crocker, would not go through with the marriage, and that before final disposition of the estate was made, she would have found him out, and would have turned to someone more fitted to the fine womanhood she represented."

"Farnsworth also asked the attorney to watch his daughter, and should she attempt to marry Crocker, to see she didn't without first ascertaining whether or not a woman living with Crocker's parents, near Roseburg, was Crocker's first wife, and if the child, living there was not Crocker's son."

"That's why he would never take me to his people," Anne interjected.
"I kept insisting that we at least drive out to see them, and Rob always found some excuse."

"Rob always would find some excuse, Anne," said Kelloz. "But the more you hear about his activities for the last few months, the less you think of his brain. I've never seen such a fool idea."

Anne smiled a little shamefacedly.
"You're right as usual—but the plan almost worked so far as I was concerned."

"How could you know?" demanded John Neuman loyally, and the Judge smiled a little private smile as he watched the young man and Anne. John went on:

"Luke Farnsworth learned that day, here in Astoria, that his first wife had gained a divorce for cruelty, and that Crocker's parents, recognizing the truth of her charges, had taken her in."

"I told him," Tecla put in meekly.
"I could not have my brother's baby made unhappy by such a man."

"Farnsworth said then, that he might be wrong. He had no definite proof of the charges, but that if Crocker were the man his daughter thought him, he would marry her and by the time the five years were up, he would have proved himself worthy."

"Then here comes the important part. If, within that time, Crocker married any other woman, and Anne Farnsworth was convinced of his duplicity, she would come into immediate control of all the Farnsworth properties, with Ansel Kelloz acting as general adviser and administrator, until such time as Kelloz felt she was capable of carrying on alone."

"Certain bequests were itemized and there were to be made at that time."

He paused a moment, then went on. "When I reached port, after my Alaskan trip, I found things in pretense had shape. The men were badly riled up over Crocker's alleged use of a bootleg trap."

ority given him by the last session of Congress. It was Secretary Hull who said that the President "is unduly and unreasonably handicapped."

Nationalists don't think so. They believe that if FDR is to have such power, this country will get itself into foreign entanglements. "We had our fill in 1917 and we don't want it again."

These nationalists are willing to have a legislative law passed saying that all munition manufacturing and industries that would produce articles used in time of war should be limited as to profits. But they don't want a law giving the President—any President—full authority to act as he sees fit. And so we shall have a grand battle on the subject early in January.

HOPE: When Woodrow Wilson ran for reelection the big Democrat slogan was: "Wilson Wins Without War." That was the big
"W" cry.

In 1936 the Democrats are going to raise the Three R's yell: "Roosevelt Repulses Radicalism." This cry was accepted hoping it will bring Hearst into the Roosevelt trenches.

SAFETY: The basis for the rise in securities is declared to be an extension of the upward trend of general business. Corporate reports for the third quarter of the "nine months" substantiate earlier beliefs that we are witnessing progressive stages of the recovery phase of the business cycle.

Bond dealers say there is room for further improvement—if all goes well and the administration doesn't dump the apple cart. In view of the ever-rising prices on common shares these dealers are urging clients into bonds which have conversion privileges. It's a form of speculation yet carries a bit of investment safety. But lower share prices bring about lower prices for these bonds.

PENDING: On December 15th $418,291,900 of Treasury 21-2 per cent notes will mature. Government bond dealers say that judging from the fiscal requirements and the status of the federal bond market it would not be surprising if the Treasury offered approximately $1,000,000,000 of 23-4s in order to take care of this maturity and to raise additional funds to meet current expenditures. Part of the funds might be raised through offering noteholders an option to exchange their maturing notes for new 11-2 per cent 5-year Treasury Notes.
Government bond specialists aren't excited about the pending offer.

SEC: Stock brokers are really worried these days. Activity of the trading market has aroused the curiosity of the public. They too wish to buy and sell—for quick gains. The public doesn't know a thing about securities and they are taking all pieces of information and advice to get from branch office managers and other brokers' employees.

But Section 9 of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 says that any person receiving information from a broker can recover all losses from that broker if the stock was purchased from that same broker. That chances for his agents as well. Because of this stock brokers believe that as, if any when the general list of prices starts falling—and prices don't stay up forever—law suits will come in large numbers.

But there are provisions of the act that place a certain amount of liability on the customer too. Brokers are having fun in collecting commissions and they aren't permitting any fears to get the better of them.

Entertain At Tea.

On Friday afternoon from four to five-thirty, Mrs. A. E. Hobgood and Mrs. A. W. Hodnett were gracious hostesses at a lovely tea, at the home of Mrs. Hobgood on East Ninth street.

Ferns, trailing ivy and yellow chrysanthemums interspersed with glowing yellow candles were artistically arranged in the rooms where guests assembled.

Miss H. S. Ragsdale and Mrs. Frank Bendall greeted guests on arrival and directed them to the receiving line, which stood in the living room. Receiving with Mrs. Hobgood and Mrs. Hodnett were Mrs. T. S. Ragsdale of Smithfield, Mrs. S. P. Heath, Mrs. Richard Farmer and Miss Clifflie Hobgood of Oxford.

From the receiving line they were invited into the dining room by Mrs. Curtis DuVal.

The table, covered with a cloth of lace, was centered with a low silver bowl of Ophelia roses, and gypsophylla, flanked by yellow candles in silver holders.

Meredith College Scholarship.

Raleigh, Nov. 22—Scholarships for next year will be offered by Meredith College to the highest ranking girl student in each high school in North Carolina, it was announced recently by Dr. Charles E. Brewer, president. Each scholarship will have the value of $75 and will be good for one year.

The winner of one of these scholarships must have made her four years in high school the highest average scholastically of all the girls in her class there. In the event that she does not elect to accept the scholarship, it will then be available to the girl who has made the next highest average in grades in the four high school years. If not used by either of the two highest ranking students, the scholarship will not be available for such a year.

These scholarships are offered with the hope of encouraging good students throughout the state and making it easier for them to come to college.

Greenville Choral Club.

Greenville musicians and music lovers are being given a very fine opportunity, in the reorganization of the Greenville Choral Club, to help build a high class musical organization in the city.

Lewis Bulloch, who has charge of this division of the North Carolina Music Festival Association, is directing the local organization.

Mr. Bulloch is a graduate of the Westminster Choir School. He has the direction of the clubs at Goldsboro, Snow Hill, Farmville and other towns in Eastern North Carolina, and has tendered his services, without membership charges, to the Greenville Choral Club.

This is the first time the Greenville club has had the opportunity of securing a trained and capable instructor without having to charge membership fees.

The organization is being sponsored by certain Greenville citizens who are interested in music and in the city having a real musical organization of this type.

The members of the club not only are receiving valuable musical training, but are being prepared to render a real service to the community.

All Greenville people interested in vocal music are urged to attend the rehearsals and to become members of the Choral Club.

The Auxiliaries of all the churches in Greenville are invited to study with us. All auxiliaries in the New Bern District and nearby towns have been invited. May we enjoy a week of study and fellowship together.

Local High School Team Closes Season With Win

The Greenville High School football team brought the curtain down on its 1935 program in grand style yesterday afternoon when it defeated the New Bern Bears with the crushing score of 25 to 0.

The first touchdown of the game, and incidentally the deciding factor of the game, came on a pass Pierce to Hatem. The drive climaxed a 60-yard advance. The pass for extra point was incomplete.

From then on it was evident that the Greens had everything going their way, although there was no let up by the visitors who fought valiantly, although vainly.

The second touchdown of the game was rung up when Forbes took the oval across the goal after it had been taken down the fields by the locals from the 40-yard marker.

The locals crossed the visitors' goal twice in the second half. Berneice Eilers scored after a drive of 55 yards down the field and Halem intercepted a pass and ran 30 yards to score the final touchdown of the game and season on the local gridiron.

Pierce, Eilers and Forbes led the locals' attack, while the entire line made openings and held their opponents to play a large role in the one-sided score.

E. Paul Lupton and Chick Marshburn were among the outstanding players for the New Bern eleven.

Coach Bo Farley used 18 men in the concluding game.

STAR-STUDED MUSICAL AT PITT THREE DAYS

obtained through the Works Progress, Administration and National Re-employment Service offices in the districts in which the projects are located, it will probably be the latter part of the week before any actual work can be gotten under way.

The Resettlement Administration has already authorized the expenditure of $686,000 for these three tracts aggregating 96,000 acres and it is expected that eventually an equal amount, if not more, will be spent in developing these areas, although these allocations for development will probably be made in smaller amounts as they are needed.

Detailed plans for the development of these various areas, together with the procedure to be followed by the district directors in requisitioning both materials and labor, were worked out at a conference here Friday and Saturday last week with Regional Director Gray of the land utilization division and representatives of the National Park Service. The Crabtree Creek park area will be developed under the direction of the park service, but with Resettlement funds.

GRAPES GO MODERN IF THEY'RE FROSTED
