Italian Press Attacks U.S. Neutrality Program Proposed By Roosevelt

Mussolini Apparently Full Aware of Charges

RAINS CONTINUE ON WAR FRONTS

Heavy Downpours For Past Week Have Aided Ethiopians in Conflict with Italy

(By The Associated Press)
Attacks on the United States neutrality program proposed by President Roosevelt occurred in Italy's fascist press today, apparently with the full prior knowledge of Premier Mussolini's regime.

As the American Congress studied the president's and other proposals to keep this nation's skirts clear of war, two major newspapers of Italy's government—supervised press, Mussolini's own Popolo d'Italia of Milan and Il Popolo di Roma criticized Rooseveltian policies.

Two other organs have launched similar campaigns, the Giornale d'Italia and La Tribuna. Il Popolo di Roma said the president's stand was not due to a "profound knowledge" of European affairs.

Unofficial reports in Paris said the British general staff was preserving for application of an oil embargo against Italy and the probability of its initiation before February 1 was foreseen in diplomatic circles.

At the war front Ethiopia celebrated their Christmas buoyed by fresh hopes for victory over the Italian invaders of their country. Aiding them are constant rains which for a week have pelted the front.

Hog Market Shows Spectacular Gains In Opening Prices

Commission Men Are Quick to Take Advantage of Removal of $2.25 Processing Taxes

Chicago, Jan. 7.—(AP)—The hog market continued its spectacular adjustment to the Supreme court invalidation of the AAA by scoring sharp advances early today. With opening asking prices 75 cents to one dollar per hundredweight higher, the markets shot upwards to the 10 dollar level.

Quick to take advantage of the removal of $2.25 per hundredweight processing taxes from packer cost, commission men boosted their asking prices far above the market level at yesterday's close.

Farmers shipped a comparatively heavy supply of hogs hoping to take advantage of any price movement.

Funeral Services Held For C. W. Matthews

Cade Well Matthews, age 85, died at 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the home of his son at Dudley's Cross Roads near Vanceboro.

Funeral services were conducted this afternoon at 2:30 from the late home by Rev. Duff Tolar, Free Will Baptist Minister of Chocowinity. Burial followed in the family cemetery near the home.

Surviving are seven sons, Wells, Mack and Bernice Matthews of Sampson county; Forrest of Duplin county; Joe and Arthur Matthews of Craven county and John of Wilson county. Three daughters, Mrs. Jack Hopkins, Mrs. Olive, Mrs. Wesley Pennington, and Mrs. George Moore of Wilson county; also two brothers who live in Georgia.

Funeral Services Held For Little Larry Case

Funeral services were held this afternoon for Larry Case, seven-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy R. Case of the Falkland community, at the home with Rev. J. C. Move, pastor of Reed's Branch Free Will Baptist church, in charge. Burial was in the Falkland community.

The little boy died last night at 7 o'clock in the Pitt General hospital here.

Besides his parents, he is survived by the following brothers and sisters: Agnes Marie, James Ray, H. P. Lena Ruth, Etta Elizabeth, Harvey R., D. Eugene and Mark Case.

RAIL PENSION ACT OF 1935 IS CHALLENGED

Another New Deal Measure Faces Action in Court

135 RAILROADS BRING CONTEST

Pullman Company, Railroad Express and Southeastern Express Join Action

Washington, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Constitutionality of another New Deal measure—the 1935 rail pension laws—was challenged today in a joint suit filed in District of Columbia Supreme court by 135 of the nation's railroads.

The railroads asked a permanent injunction against operation of laws imposing taxes on Railroads and rail employees for a pension fund in setting up a retirement system for employees at 65 years of age.

Joining with the Railroad were the Pullman Company and Railroad Express agency and the Southeastern Express Company.

The suit was based on substantially the same grounds as the Railroad retirement act of 1934 which was later declared unconstitutional. The new legislation was designed to correct flaws pointed out by the Supreme court in the original act.

The bill of complaint asserted that the true purpose of the taxing act was not to create revenue for the support of the government but to furnish funds to pay pensions.

It was on this point that the Supreme court yesterday held the "processing tax provisions of the agricultural adjustment unconstitutional."

FARM LEADERS MEET IS CALLED

Sec. Henry Wallace Calls Session for January 10th

Washington, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Farm leaders were summoned today by the New Deal to confer on a program to replace the smashed AAA.

Secretary Wallace issued a call for January 10 and 11 after the congressional AAA bill machinery was brought to a full stop by the 6-3 Supreme Court decision which delisted the AAA.

Wallace's brief announcement, first formal comment on the Supreme Court's decision:

"Leaders of farm organizations and other agricultural spokesmen from different parts of the country were invited to Washington to discuss plans for agriculture in the light of the Supreme Court decision in the Hoosac Mills case."

The sponsors of the meeting said 3,000,000 farmers will be represented by leaders of the American Farm Bureau Federation, the National Grange, the National Cooperative Council, the Farmers National Grain Corporation and the American Agricultural Editors Association coming to meet at the national agricultural conference.

Tar Heel Farmers To Lose Big Sums In AAA Decision

Farmers Cooperating in Program Stand to Lose $26,000,000 in Rental and Benefit Payments

Washington, Jan. 7. (AP)—North Carolina farmers cooperating in farm adjustment programs stand to lose nearly $26,000,000 in rental, and benefit payments as a result of the invalidation of the Agricultural Adjustment.

The AAA announced today that since the control plans were launched in 1933 a total of $26,159,000 had been paid Tar Heel farmers through Sept. 30.

Outstanding programs, which were invalidated by the Supreme court's decision, had been expected to increase this total to $51,935,000.

Local Democrats Urged Contribute Sum of Dollar

"Tickets" To Jackson Day Dinner To Be Sold

NO DINNER SET FOR GREENVILLE

Inability to Secure A Speaker Given As Reason; Democrats Asked Contribute

While no Jackson Day dinner will be held here tomorrow, Pitt county democrats wishing to contribute to the National Democratic Organization may purchase a ticket to a "dinner" and receive official recognition for the contribution.

Judge Dink James, local chairman of the Young Democrats organization, announced this morning that no dinner would be held because of inability to secure a speaker for the proposed affair.

Tickets are on hand however and will be sold for a minimum of one dollar each, the entire sum going to the national organization. A canvass is expected to be made tomorrow, but the tickets are available at the office of the Reflector or either from Judge James.

The local chairman urged all democrats in the city wishing to contribute to the national organization to purchase the tickets. Had the dinner been held tickets would have sold for two dollars, with one dollar going to the headquarters.

Anyone purchasing the tickets will receive due credit and be given a receipt showing he has contributed to the fund. Names of purchasers will be forwarded to national headquarters.

Judge James said he would like for Greenville to make as good a showing as possible, and since no dinner will be held, he asked that all democrats purchase the tickets at a minimum of one dollar.

THE NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

Washington
By RAY TUCKER
UPSET: Political analysts note that three-quarters of the House members openly wedded to the Townsend plan hail from the North and Far West. Their tabulation bawls confidentially that the $200-a-month proposition is knocking old-fashioned alignments into a cocked hat no politician knows how to wear.

The scheme commands greatest backing in states like Wisconsin, Minnesota, the Dakotas, Washington, Oregon, California. In these sections the normal party relationships have weakened steadily under the pressure of the La Follette.

Farmer-Laborites. Non-Partisan Leagues, bi-partisan arrangements and Sinclair Epics. Politicians who climbed these sundry bandwagons used to know where they sat and what they were sitting on.

But the Townsend invaders have upset every seemingly sound apple. People once faithful to the old "isms" are deserting to this prophet of a peaceful old age. Their new economic vision has blinded them to advanced liberalism or radicalism. It threatens the reign of Progressives as menacingly as it does Roosevelt's New Dealers and Republican Old Guardsmen. Not even the shrewdest soothsayer dare.

ALL AAA WORK IS SUSPENDED IN THIS STATE

Employees Are Dismissed at State Organization

SUSPENSION IS INDEFINITE

State Administrator Says He Has No Idea What Would Be Done With Program

Raleigh, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Dean I. O. Schaub of North Carolina state college, today announced suspension of all AAA work in North Carolina.

The immediate effect was to suspend 39 employees here who had been working in the office administering the cotton, wheat, rye, tobacco, potatoes and peanut programs.

Dean Schaub, who has directed all AAA work in the state, said the suspension was indefinite as he awaited further instruction from Washington.

He said he had no idea now what would be done in regard to "completing certain work in regard to programs which can not well be dropped indefinitely." He added he understood all obligations of the government to farmers on 1935 adjustment contracts would be paid.

Morgan Testifies To Committee On Loans To Allies

Tells Senate Committee His Banking House Made Loans Only When Given Permission

Washington, Jan. 7.—(AP)—J. P. Morgan told Senate investigators today that his great banking house "turned loose" loans to the Allies in 1915 as soon as President Wilson consented to it.

Although contending German acts and not international finance pushed this country in the World War, he said his firm's sentiment from the beginning was with the allies.

Senator Vandenberg (R. Mich.), member of the Senate committee questioning the financier charged at one point that the early Morgan friendliness for the allies had violated President Wilson's neutrality.

After hearing testimony that the Morgan Company made no allied loans while the state department opposed such a step, Senator Clark (D. M.) asked:

"When the government changed its policy, you changed yours?"

"When the government turned itself loose, we turned ourselves loose" chuckled Morgan, puffing away at a huge pipe.

A capacity throng listened as Morgan, two of his partners, George Whitney and Thomas W. Lamont, and Frank Vanderlip, war time president of the National City bank were questioned in a group. Committee members shot questions alternately at each.

"The neutrality question was up to the government," Morgan said. "The bankers had nothing to do with it."

I Had No Dolls, And I'll Have No Children, Is Plea

Story of Ann Cooper Hewitt, Petite Young Heiress, Unfolded in Own Words During Hearing

San Francisco, Jan. 7.—(AP)—The bitter story of Ann Cooper Hewitt, petite young heiress, who accused her mother of depriving her of motherhood as a step toward gaining her fortune was told today in her own words.

"I had no dolls when I was little, and I'll have no children when I'm old," she said.

"That is my story, that's all there is to it."

The girl with two-thirds of $10,000,000 trust fund due her, filed a damage suit yesterday against her mother, Mrs. Marion Hewitt McCarter and two surgeons, charging she was sterilized August 18, 1934, when she thought she was undergoing an appendicitis operation.

Drs. Tilton E. Tillman and Samuel G. Boyd of San Francisco, named co-defendants, said the operation was performed at the request of the girl's mother after tests had shown her to be "feeble-minded."

More Than New Deal Is Considered Be Dead By Strongest Supporters

AAA PROGRAM HALTED HERE

Employees Dismissed and All Work is Suspended

E. F. Arnold, county agent and administrator for Agricultural Adjustment Administration activities in Pitt county, said today all AAA work in the county had been suspended, awaiting further word from Washington, following the Supreme Court's decision yesterday invalidating the program.

In accordance with a telegram received this morning from Dean I. O. Schaub, head of AAA work in the state, Mr. Arnold said approximately 10 employees engaged in the work at his office had been suspended.

The telegram advised Mr. Arnold to incur no expenses in connection with the AAA programs. "Suspend further activities Adjustment program," the message advised.

The county agent said checks on hand for the payment of cotton rental and parity benefits and tobacco rental benefits were being paid.

Following discontinuance of payment of the checks after the telegram advising that all activities be halted was received, an additional message from state headquarters in Raleigh told the county agent to proceed with distributing the checks.

A number of farmers were unable to get their checks when they called this morning, and Mr. Arnold said that if they would call back at the office they would be given the checks. He emphasized that this was the latest instructions, but they were subject to change and advised all farmers due checks call for them at once.

There are about five or six hundred such checks ready to be delivered to the farmers. These checks have been in the hands of Mr. Arnold for some time, but a number of farmers have not called for them.

As a result of suspension of all AAA activities, a meeting scheduled to be held in Belvoir township this morning to name committeemen to administer the new cotton control sign-up was called off. Committeemen were named in other townships in the county last week.

With the dropping of AAA workers from the payroll, the personnel of the county agent's office is cut substantially. The only employees remaining are two clerks, the assistant county agent and Mr. Arnold himself. AAA work throughout the county has been carried on through the various county agents.

REPORT WORK ON CROSSINGS

1935 Program Saw Much Accomplished On Highways

Raleigh, Jan. 7.—Ten grade cross-elimination projects undertaken by the State Highway and Public Works Commission in the old 1935 program have already been completed, 11 more are now under contract, most of them under construction, while four more will be included in the next letting, making a total of 25 projects either completed or under contract, Chief Highway Engineer W. Vance Baise said today.

In addition, the commission has already completed plans for about 30 additional grade elimination projects which it has sent to Washington for approval, he said.

The 11 projects now under contract are those which were contained in the first partial program under the Federal grant of $4,800,000 for grade elimination work in North Carolina. Baise said. "The cost of these first 11 projects is estimated as amounting to $1,579,000. The 10 underpasses or overpasses completed last year consisted of 8 projects and were paid for from regular U. S. Emergency Highway construction funds, before the Government definitely set aside a given amount for grade separations."

The 11 grade crossing elimination projects now under contract, including grade elimination in Pitt county by relocating highway near Grimsland.

AAA Farm Machinery at Standstill in Capital

MANY EMPLOYEES ARE DISMISSED

Fear Expressed For the Kerr-Smith Tobacco, Warren Potato Control, Others

(Copyright By Associated Press)
Washington, Jan. 7.—(AP)—A belief that much more of the New Deal is as good as dead gripped many of its strongest supporters today as they studied with dismay the 6 to 3 court decision which wiped out AAA as complete as NRA.

With the capital in confusion, the vast AAA farm control machinery ground to a full stop. The flow of cash to farmers which has totaled $1,127,000,000 halted. Salaries of $6,500 full time employer and many part time workers as were cut off. Collection of processing taxes as stood still.

Several Republicans hailed the decision, calling it an opportunity for their party to return the country to "constitutional government."

Most New Deal leaders reserved comment but Senator Byrnes (D-S.C.) one of the highest in New Deal council expressed conviction that the court, as now constructed, would kill the vast social security program, pride of President Roosevelt.

Another top Democratic Senator who deserved to remain an onomast, said the court's attitude spelled invalidation for the Guffey Coal control and the Wagner labor relations law.

There was even talk among New Dealers that the four billion works relief program, which like the social security law, has not been challenged in the court, would go "out the window."

Other major laws not tagged "New Deal" legislation also fell under the shadow of doubt. Sen. Bankhead (D. Ala.) assailed the AAA decision as "poor law," expressed belief the court would also rule his Bankhead cotton control law invalid.

Democrats and Republicans assumed that such crop control measures as the Warren potato act and the Kerr-Smith tobacco bill would be ruled unconstitutional. The Railroad pension act was called into question.

Hoping the AAA was seeking some means to set up a new plan. Officials understood to be studying three suggestions:

Creation of 48 little "AAA's" in the states, financed by federal grants; cash payment to farmers to use their lands "properly"; a domestic allotment plan under which farmers would be assigned crop quotas to meet domestic consumption. The government then might guarantee the farmer a price on crop produced within the quota, leaving him to sell the rest of his production at market price.

True Bills Found Against Policemen By Hartnett Jury

Angier Policemen Charged With Murder of Prominent Angier Farmer on December 7

Lillington, Jan. 7.—(AP)—The Harnett county grand jury today had returned true bills charging Orlis M. Pollard and C. F. Deans, the former police force of Angier, with murder in connection with the death of G. F. Collins, prominent farmer of near Angier.

Collins died suddenly at his home on December 27 after he was allegedly beaten on the head with a blackjack three times, a number of blows each time, when he was arrested at Angier by Pollard on a charge of being intoxicated.

There was no indication when the case would be called for trial, though it was expected to be reached during the term which convened yesterday with Judge N. A. Sinclair presiding.

Pollard was free under $10,000 bond and Deans under $5,000 and no steps had been taken this morning to rearrest them.

U. S. Supreme Court May Chart Course Of The 74th Congress' Second Session

By ALEXANDER R. GEORGE

WASHINGTON — Washington's perennial big show on Capitol Hill will open at noon, Friday, January 3, with mystery shrouding the prospective performance by a cast of 94 senators and 432 representatives.

The senate seats formerly occupied by Huey Long, the master showman, and Senator Schall, another "new deal" foe, will be vacant as will the seats of three representatives.

To a greater extent than any national legislature within the memory of observers here and perhaps in congressional history, the seventy-fourth congress will convene for its second session with widespread uncertainty as to what its major mission will prove to be.

Not until the verdicts of the U. S. supreme court on measures touching the economic interests of millions of American citizens have been handed down can a legislative "must" program be framed.

Bonus Action Seen.

Early action is expected in congress of the soldiers bonus, affecting millions of world war veterans and their families directly as cash beneficiaries and millions of federal government taxpayers indirectly. Advocates of immediate payment of the bonus express confidence in victory at this session even if the president vetoes the bill.

Fireworks are in prospect along other congressional lines. Investigation of munition makers' activities, with J. P. Morgan featured as the chief witness before a senate committee and inquires into alleged lobbying enterprises by so-called "big business" groups are slated for resumption.

Among the latter may be the American Liberty League and some business organizations which may be accused by "new deal" congressmen of going beyond their normal scope in engaging in political activities hostile to the Roosevelt administration.

An important job will be the drafting of a neutrality act to take the place of the emergency measure which was enacted last summer and expires on February 26th. More or less related to the peace problem will be national defense measures with the prospect of a drive in congress for money to obtain 300 new fighting planes for the army.

Townsendites May Act

Further provisions to care for those on relief, coupled with pressure from various sources to reduce governmental indebtedness now just the $30,000,000 mark, are considered certain to precipitate stormy debate. Backers of the Townsend pension plan are expected to go into action in the cloakroom if not on the floor of the house.

Labor has been preparing to renew its drive for the 30-hour week and to defend legislative gains as represented by the Wagner labor disputes bill and the Guffey coal regulation measure. In the background also is the American Federation of Labor's proposed amendment to the constitution empowering congress to enact legislation protecting the workers as was provided by NRA.

German Peasants Rebel Against Hitler Regime

By W. STEPHEN BUSH

The Nazi regime, which has triumphed over the republic and its parliament, relegated monarchy into the background and subjected the church, has been forced to pause before a new obstacle—the dogged resistance of the German farmer to excessive control and regimentation. What Hitler himself has described as the great "granite block" in the structure of German fascism has been turned into a stone of offense.

It is too early to venture a prediction in a country like the Germany of today, where the men in power possess and freely use every means of repression to impose an outward appearance of conformity and obedience. The supervision of the foreigner, slightly relaxed at the height of the tourist season, swings back into rigid enforcement of every bit of red tape when the season is over. It begins at the border and thereafter pursues one with relentless and often unceasing vigilance.

The passive rebellion of the farmers has been at the bottom of the recent food riots, the empty markets and the battles among enraged housewives. The German press attributes these disturbing phenomena to the poor crop of last year and the diminishing exports. These may have been contributing causes, but they would never have created such an acute crisis and such violent outbreaks.

Under the present system the German farmer may produce as much as he likes—indeed he is constantly urged to set new records in production. On the other hand he has practically no control of the prices of his products or the method of their distribution. That part of it is in the hands of a few so-called agricultural dictators, who in turn act upon instruction from the general headquarters and its far-flung bureaucracy.

All this is in shrieking contrast to what the Nazi regime had promised during its struggle for power. The lures then held out to the farming class were more freedom from governmental interference, a sharp reduction of the interest on borrowed money and above all things

When Vice President Garner (center) raps the gavel in the senate January 3, and Speaker Byrns simultaneously calls the house to order, the 74th congress will be off to its second session. Washington observers are predicting that the course of the session will be determined largely by the U. S. Supreme court (whose new "homs" is shown below) in its rulings on constitutionality of much "new deal" legislation. A joint session of the 74th congress is shown below.

higher prices for the products of the farm. These promises rallied the peasantry to the support of Hitlerian standards. About the rest of the Hitler program—concerning racial purity, sterilization, increase of armaments, etc.—they cared comparatively little.

Now that all these promises have been broken and the farmers have been more forced under the yoke of governmental regulation and control, just as in the hardest days during the war, the revulsion of feeling has been deep and general. As to their adherence to the Nazi slogan "You must increase your production," the best evidence may be found in the official statistics which show that within the last year the untilled areas have steadily increased.

The raising of cattle, pigs, goats and other animals used for slaughter likewise show a falling off on paper, but this is not confirmed by the facts. The farmers explain the alleged shortage to the agents of the government by pointing to the high cost of fodder. It is an open secret, however, that there has been no substantial reduction, but that cattle and particularly pigs have found their way into the hands of speculators instead of into the next distributing station of the government. The farmers sell them to these so-called "black dealers" on a "speak easy" plan. The latter manage to dispose of the animals at a good profit even after outbidding the government. Besides the speculator pays cash on delivery, while the government resorts to deferred payments. Sometimes the farmer has to wait a month or more before he gets his money. Out of these deferred payments the government deducts all overdue and all current taxes, leaving the total for the farmer far below his most modest expectations.

To escape the watiness of the governmental control the farmers have devised a system of signals which the necessities of war times taught them in the past. The movements of every inspector are closely followed by the farmers' own men. In this way they learn of the coming of the examining officials hours ahead of their arrival at the farm. They use this time for loading their products on trucks and driving them to remote hiding places in the woods or in the moors. There have been arrests and heavy punishments but the practice is still going on more or less successfully.

The leniency heretofore accorded to farmers in arrears with their taxes has given way to a draconic severity, as attested by the rapidly increasing tax sales of farm lands in all parts of the Reich. In the first three months of 1935 forced sales of farms for non-payment of farm products. Naturally the producer expected to get the benefit, but to his chagrin he discovered that the higher profits had been absorbed by the enormous cost of maintaining the machinery of distribution by the state. This machinery gives steady employment to a large number of orthodox members of the National Socialist party.

The existing laws also confer upon the state the right of expropriating any owner of farm lands who, in the judgment of the Nazi courts, does not utilize his possibilities of production to the fullest extent. Hundreds upon hundreds of such proceedings are now pending in the "Courts of the People" in which the majority of the judges are laymen of proven party faith. Frequently the defendants make only a feeble effort to present their side of the case, feeling that the chances are overwhelmingly against them. One of the expropriated men remarked that he had not been the real owner, but only "a hired man of the government ever since the Nazis came in." Another expressed the sarcastic hope that the police might be able to run his farm better, though he himself had been working on it for more than twenty years.

The Nazi government is worried by the fear that the continued shortage of food, especially of pork products and butter, must lead to the re-introduction of "rationing cards" as in the days of the war. To prevent such an emergency the regime is answering the insurgent spirit among the farmers by increasing the expropriations and inflicting exorbitant punishment on "all defaulters on production." For the first time in the history of the third Reich farmers, small freeholders as well as the owners of large estates are being sent to jail and to the concentration camps.

So far these methods have failed to bring about the desired increase in production. Nor have they been able to arrest the dissatisfaction of the German farmers. The unrest is growing. It shows itself not only in riots and minor scenes of violence at forced tax sales of farms, but also in open resentment against interference in the management of farms and the intrusive espionage of government agents.

'Spur' Air Line To Nippon May Cut Transpacific Route

How the present transpacific air mail route to Japan, via the Philippines and China, may be shortened is shown by the broken line on the map. The great "clipper ships" of the air would hop either direct from Midway to Marcus Island or a branch line would run from Wake to the latter island.

Attend Young People's Conference.
Two college students, Misses Viola Smith and Ruth Kiker, were delegates to the Young People's Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, which was held in Memphis, Tenn., the last week in December.

This meeting is held only once in every ten years. Miss Kiker was a delegate from the North Carolina Student Methodist Conference, of which she is president, and Miss Smith was the delegate from the college class of Jarvis Memorial Church.

There were about six thousand young people in attendance at the conference and representatives from not only various parts of America, but from other countries, among them Japan, Poland, China, Africa and Cuba.

Kagawa, the noted Japanese, perhaps the greatest Christian leader in the world today, was the guest of the conference and the leading speaker. All the outstanding leaders of the Southern Methodist Church and a great many from other denominations and other sections were on the program.

The young ladies from the college have come back with splendid ideas and suggestions for Christian work among young people to pass on to the groups that sent them as their representatives.

Greenies To Meet Bethel Tonight.
The Greenville High School basketball team will play Bethel High School here tonight in the high school auditorium at 8 o'clock.

This is the second home game of the season. The other, which was with Winterville, was won by a decisive score. The team which is supposed to be the best in several years, is in very good condition and is looking forward to another victory tonight. The players who will probably start tonight are: Simpson, center; Lautares and Rountree, forwards; Parrish and Hatem, guards.

Scout Speaker

STANLEY A. HARRIS
National Director of Inter-Racial Activities, Boy Scouts of America

LOCAL SCOUTS TO GO TO MEET

Annual Session Set For Rocky Mount Thursday

Stanley A. Harris, Inter-racial Chairman of Activities of the National Council of Boy Scouts, will be the principal speaker Thursday evening at the East Carolina Council Boy Scouts annual meeting to be held in Rocky Mount.

The meeting will open at three o'clock for discussion groups, at which time the various chairmen of like committees in the districts will meet their council chairman. At five o'clock will come a Question-Answer period with Mr. Harris, and at 6:30 comes the banquet at which scouts from Greenville, Washington, Kinston, and Wilson will meet with Rocky Mount scouts to hear the annual reports of chairmen and the professional leadership of the Scout Council. Last year this meeting was held in Wilson, the headquarters city of the East Carolina Council.

Scouts on the council who will attend from the Greenville district will be Chairman G. R. Combs, Guy Smith, K. T. Furell, F. C. Harding, D. H. Conley, Joseph Taft, Rev. A. W. Feichman, other members on the district and scoutmasters, troop committeemen and other scouts.

This is the one meeting of the year when all adult leadership of scouting is expected to be in attendance with their ladies. The ladies are urged, Dr. Combs said, to be in attendance with their gentlemen-scouters.

A splendid menu consisting of a turkey dressing is to be prepared by the ladies of the Episcopal Church where the meeting will be held in Rocky Mount.

The high spot of the program of the banquet will be the address of Stanley H. Harris. Mr. Harris is a gifted speaker.

F. E. Winslow, Rocky Mount lawyer, will be toastmaster, President W. K. Helms said.

The East Carolina Council consists of Greenville, Lenoir, Rocky Mount, Washington and Wilson districts. This has been the best year of growth, having closed the year with 75 units and 1,446 scouts active in the movement.

Ralph H. Mozo, assistant Scout executive, who rooms in Greenville, is still confined to his bed following a slow recuperation from an appendix operation on December 13th. Mr. Mozo is preparing some necessary charts for the meeting.

Greenville last year was the winner of the attendance prize, an American flag, and hopes to win again this year. It is a contest on a mileage basis and Greenville scouts count on "bringing home the bacon." However, Chairman Combs reminds it will take a large number of local scouts and Arden scouts as well to assure the flag coming again to Greenville.

SEEDS READY FOR FARMERS

Hundreds of Thousands of Seedlings Available

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel.

Raleigh, January 7.—Hundreds of thousands of seedlings are available for distribution to farmers and other landowners for reforestation purposes to meet demands arising from a reforestation movement started recently in the upper coastal plain region. State Forester J. S. Holmes said today.

Mr. Holmes asserted that the state forest nursery operated by the Department of Conservation and Development near Clayton in Johnston county has produced this season its largest crop of seedlings in anticipation of increasing interest on the part of farmers and others in replanting denuded areas.

The urgency of making provisions for firewood for the future, particularly in the tobacco belt where tremendous quantities of timber are necessary for curing the leaf, was stressed at a meeting sponsored by the Extension Service of State College last week in Rocky Mount.

Even at this time, it was brought out at the meeting, some tobacco farmers are finding it necessary to haul firewood from a distance for the curing of tobacco.

Something of the demand for fuel for tobacco curing was brought out by Mr. Holmes in a statement today which revealed that the annual growth of timber from three to six acres of forest land is required for curing each acre of tobacco. A minimum wood lot of 30 acres, he pointed out, is necessary for each ten-acre tobacco crop.

The state forester urged that farmers interested in reforestation place their orders for seedlings with the Department of Conservation and Development direct or through the various farm agents immediately.

As an inducement toward reforestation, the seedlings, he said, are distributed at a nominal price considerably below the cost of production. The crop of seedlings from the state nursery for the current season, according to Mr. Holmes, should run between 5 and 6 millions. Some million and a half of these plants are being taken by the U. S. Soil Erosion.

Benefit payments for 1935 will be smaller than last year's payments. The 1935 payments totaled $41,277.54. While the benefit payments are less this year, the income from sales on the market will be larger.

When benefit payments are added to market receipts total returns to growers of each type will be near the parity level.

Following figures show the production, price and farm value of tobacco produced in the United States:

FARM INCOME UP LAST YEAR

This Year's Tobacco Crop Higher By $13,770,000

Washington, D. C., Jan. 7.—The farm income from the 1935 tobacco crop is estimated to be about $249,351,000, including $11,872,000 estimated rental and benefit payments, the Agricultural Adjustment Administration has announced.

Figures based on the December report of the Crop Reporting Board show that the farm value of the 1935 crop is tentatively placed at $237,479,000 as compared with $107,776,000 for the 1932 crop. The farm value does not include rental and benefit payments.

It is estimated that the farm value of this year's tobacco crop will be about $13,770,000 above the 1934 crop. Tentative figures indicate that the 1935 crop is higher by $13,770,000.

Farm And Home Should Be Concern Of Entire Family

Dr. Jane S. McKinnon, State Home Demonstration Agent, Says Day of Cooperation Here

Raleigh, Jan. 6.—There is a growing realization that the farm and the home are the joint concern of the farmer, his wife, and their children.

The day has come, said Dr. Jane S. McKinnon, state home demonstration agent at State College, when there is a compelling need of people with a breadth of view and an ability to cooperate in the joint planning of a comprehensive program which considers the farm family's welfare of their efforts.

This brings to the farm and the home agents a joint responsibility in those things which mean health, recreation, child development, family relationship, family income, economic production of the family food supply, beautification of the farmstead, and such convenient time-savers as running water, modern heating, and electric power.

Dr. McKinnon pointed out. Women and children are not only a part of the home life but a part of the farm enterprise as well, she continued, and planning too produce an income from the farm, and how that income is to be spent, is the concern of the whole family.

Farm women are learning more about the value of cooperative marketing as they sell together in their own curb markets, she added, and they are becoming more able to counsel with their husbands on questions of marketing, especially cooperative marketing with neighbors.

Mothers Will Get Free Trial Of Vicks Colds-Control Aids

Every Home in Greenville to Receive Package—With Home Guide to Fewer and Shorter Colds, and Proof from Clinic Tests

OVER 14,000 IN TESTS

Show How School Absences Caused by Colds Were Cut Almost Half (40.2%)

Mothers in this vicinity will welcome the free trial packages of Vicks Colds-Control Aids now being distributed to every home here.

These free packages not only bring you Vicks VapoRub, unique aid in preventing colds, and Vicks VapoRub, modern external method of treating colds—but they also bring all the information you need to follow Vicks Plan for Better Control of Colds.

5,118 Children in School Clinics
The Plan was tested in three series of clinics conducted over a period of three years, among 14,702 people. These tests indicate gratifying results in fewer, shorter and milder colds for those following Vicks Plan.

Especially interesting to mothers are the results from the clinics among 5,118 school children. Children following Vicks Plan lost 40.2% fewer days from school on account of colds.

Naturally, results varied with different groups. Some groups made even higher records—savings up to 75.30%. The saving of 40.20% was the average for all groups following Vicks Plan.

Prove It In Your Family
In your own family group, too, individual results from Vicks Plan may vary. But the high average of its success in these clinics suggests its very real possibilities for your household—possibilities that only your thorough trial of the Plan can disclose.

That's why this trial package with details of the Plan, and samples of Vicks Aids to Better Control of Colds, is being sent to your home. Test the samples—follow the Plan—then watch results!

If you fail to get your free package within the next few days, write to Vicks, 405 Milton St., Greensboro, N. C., and one will be sent to you, postpaid, by return mail.

THE BIRTHDAY BALL

Plans for the President's Birthday Ball to be held here
on the 30th of this month
are already in the making
and efforts will be put forth
this year to make the affair
one of the most successful
ever held here.

A portion of the proceeds
from the birthday ball will go to the Warm Springs Foundation for research
work in connection with the prevention of infantile paralysis and the remainder of the funds will be kept
here to be used locally for the benefit of sufferers from the disease. The nature of the use of the proceeds from these birthday balls is such
that every person in the community should want to purchase tickets, whether or not they actually attend the dance.

A TIME TO SIT TIGHT

The widespread decision
of the Supreme Court in invalidating the AAA has placed the farmers of the country in a predicament as
to know just what to expect
this year, but our advice to the farmers is to sit tight at present and carry on their plans for this year's crop
the same as if the contracts
were in effect. Some way must, and will be found, to adopt legal legislation that will protect the growers
against the disasters of
former days when haphazard overproduction depressed
prices to the point of almost starvation for the growers.

If our farmers lose their heads now and begin to increase their crops beyond
reason they will be playing directly into the hands of those who would profit by keeping the farmers down to a slavery level. On the other hand, if our farmers
will produce this year's crop
along the same lines as if the contracts were in effect
the total production will be small enough to demand fair
prices and they will have helped themselves while waiting for the government
to straighten out the present
tangle that has resulted from the court's decision.

Certainly this is a time
for our farmers to hold
their heads and sit tight,
and we urge them to do so.

NEVER MIND THE LADY

by David Garth

SYNOPSIS: Allaire West finally has chucked the social whirl she has lived in all her life and decided to follow Terry Willett to South America, to try to make him understand that she loves him. She has left her socialite parents and the disappointed George Fox behind. And when she lands at Proponoire she will find Terry and Binky Corrigan, two very tough and self-confident young men, fighting one of the most difficult engineering jobs in the world. Fighting hard.

Chapter 37

TRAVELING LIGHT

THE coastwise steamer from the capital followed a long tropical shoreline, nosed into the harbor proper, proceeding slowly under the direction of a native pilot, gingerly feeling the way through waters that recently had been infested with mines.

The long stolid phalanx of sun-baked roofs spread out before her, coming right down to the long shipping front with its warehouses and cranes and coffee chutes.

When she landed at her berth, a slim girl dressed in tropical white with a gay touch of color in the form of a silken purple scarf about her throat, stepped ashore into an atmosphere of humming chutes, startling sweating coffee porters, jabbering hybrid tongues, and noisy steamship cranes.

steadied and reassured her somewhat. It was something familiar in the midst of grey squalid confusion.
She alighted before the National Coffee Company office. It was the only place she had to start. They were Terry Willett's employers.

The native clerk stared at her in amazement, and so did Drake, the tall Englishman who was manager
of the branch office.

"Willett?" he repeated. "Why, he's been in town the past few days, but he's leaving right away. Going up the river to work."

"Where can I find him?" she asked
quickly.

Drake rubbed his long chin with bony fingers. Where in the name of all that's holy had Willett ever met a girl like this? She seemed very anxious to find that man who'd come back from the States not saying much.

"He might be in the Santini Hotel
if you'd like. I'll take you up there."

"Thank you," she said gratefully.
The Santini was no luxurious looking hostelry. It was a two-story white stone building with walls at least a foot thick and ornamented
with those omnipresent little iron balconies.

Its bar was the most famous thing about it, and a smell of beer and liquor seemed impregnated in the lobby, although a few potted palms

A question mark rode with Allaire.

It was queer to see a girl landing
alone, queerer still to see that nobody met her. White women of her type didn't come to Proponoire unattended.

This girl wore dark glasses
against the glare of the sun, and if she felt strange and alone in that stunted smelly part of the world, she didn't show it. Her step was elastic and she moved quickly and surely across the dock toward the customs house, a steward carrying two suitcases following her.

Allaire West was traveling light
this trip. Usually she had several trunks, also a maid.

When she came out of the customs
a flock of waterfront hack drivers besieged her like chattering incomprehensible magpies, elbowing each other to shriek their terms, crowding up on her in an unwashed mob.

But this cool-appearing Señorita wasn't flustered. She walked calmly to a taxi and got in. That settled everything. Whoever owned it could drive her.

"Café Nacional Compania," she said, and added to herself, "Atrocious Spanish, my dear."

BUT the driver understood. National at Coffee Company. He was a thin sallow man in soiled limp white duds and a battered straw hat. His car was a creaking arrangement;
stuffing bulged through gaps in the upholstery and the leather seat was sun-dried and cracked. Allaire had ridden in better equipages. She smiled slightly.

But the car moved and that was enough. She was here! All through the long air-journey to the capital and the trip by steamer she had made no
other plans beyond just getting here.

Now she was here and a big question mark rode with her through narrow streets of houses with iron balconies and little short pillars.
She was glad when the car got out of that waterfront district and swept into a wider cleaner avenue past
parks and plazas of shrubbery
trimmed in artistic design.

The Latin would set their industries to rack and ruin while they flew at each other's throats, but their parks never suffered, even in Pro-ponoire. That sight of green beauty

strove valiantly to keep up appearances.

She ascended the stairs with her tactful companion, walked down a corridor and stopped before a door Drake knocked.

"Come in!" roared two voices in unison on the other side.

"There's a lady here to see you,
Terry," called Drake.

A SLIM girl in tropical white with a purple scarf about her throat
stood on the threshold at Drake's side.

Corrigan's feet came off the table
with a crash.

"Holy Moses!" he murmured,
dazed.

There was another crash as a glass fell from Willett's fingers, which were suddenly like those of a small child's. He stared incredulously, the tan ebullient from his cheeks and
the sound of many waterfalls in his ears.
If his father had stood there he couldn't have been much more flabbergasted.

Drake excused himself. Corrigan looked from the girl to Willett and back to the girl again.

"Aren't you going to ask me in,
Terry?" she said, a little tremulously.

He didn't say anything for a moment. He couldn't. Willett was usually quick to recover from a surprise,
recover and adopt a course of action
with the speed and snap of a cracking whip.

But this was something that beat any surprise he'd ever received in his young life. Surprise! There had to be another word for it.

"Wait a minute," said Corrigan.
"I'm in the way here."

He got up and walked to the door,
stopping to beam at the girl.

"I'm Corrigan, that lug's partner,"
he announced, "and if you get tired
of looking for him, start looking for me."

He grinned and went out, closing the door behind him. And still Willett was silent.

"Oh, please say something, Terry,"
the girl begged. "I know you're surprised—but couldn't you act as if you liked it?"

TABBING: Only the political chiefs know—and they won't divulge
the recipe—the ingredients of the Jackson Day feast which they have cooked up to replenish the party
coffers. Only a slight familiarity with the gargantuan nature of the undertaking demonstrates that it is really a revolutionary experiment

with limitless possibilities.

It is estimated that 300,000 Democrats will lift their knives and forks
in political unison and listen to President Roosevelt at the same time. There will be simultaneous dinners in almost every city, county, hamlet, ranging in price from $50 at Washington to $1.50 in outlying precincts. Democratic bosses have rung the dinner bell threateningly and udders are selling like hot cakes on a frosty morning.

Local pastry-makers have warned
the faithful that they must attend,

PROGRESS: If you detect a sly smile on Cordell Hull's face these days it isn't because he has suddenly turned wags. The Secretary of State has secret reasons for believing that 1936 will drop in his lap
a reciprocal tariff agreement more magnificent than any he has negotiated in almost three years.

John Hull has looked on Hull's trade talks with a superior air until lately. Our English friends recently abandoned free trade for the protective system and, stubborn-like didn't care to admit that they might have been a bit hasty. It is a provocative political question in Great Britain. London also feared that Mr. Hull's arrangements might hasten the break-down of that commercial solidity of the empire temporarily welded by preferential dominion agreements at Ottawa a few years ago.

Mr. Hull didn't even nudge Ambassador Ronald Lindsay. Neglecting our richest customer, he extended favors to Belgium, the Netherlands and South American countries where England seeks an outlet for trade. Then Messrs. Hull and King slipped over the American-Canadian agreement. Mr. Hull saw his own children romping in the land and profiting by it. Now
Mr. Hull and Mr. Bull are talking
it over.

VOTES: The Roosevelt administration didn't invent the idea of executing or framing apparently sound policies in such a way that they produce votes as a by-product. Calvin Coolidge's golden tax refunds paid political dividends.

But FDR has given a few new
twists to this presidential prerogative.
He does it shrewdly—sometimes too shrewdly. In reducing the number of CCC camps, he will retain those which serve as show places. He will keep those located in states which don't receive large shares of other federal funds. The revised CCC map indicates that he is carefully cultivating the woods.

The sudden proposal to expand
the Naval Reserve to 150,000 men
was a surprise to naval experts.
They had not recommended it. But reservists and big-navy enthusiasts appreciate this sort of flattery. The recruits get paid for their hours of drill, even though there aren't enough armories to accommodate the increase. But a President who exhibits such concern for trees and ships may pick up a few stray votes
among the city and country boys.

abandon their intent to name a tried and true right winger and pick someone who is sure to have the Idahoan's active endorsement.
That angle greatly improves Van-denberg's chances. Backstagers are leery of his past flirtations with left wing sentiment. But they would rather take their chances on him
than risk a completely unknown quantity. He's the only man now in the field who seems to fill the Borah bill—even though Borah hasn't said so. The Michigan Senator has been more discussed in New York
inner circles in the past two weeks
than in the preceding two years.

SMITH: To fight or not to fight
at the April Democratic primaries
is the question bothering Tammany.
Some of the Tiger leaders are in favor of slapping FDR's face by sending an uninstructed New York delegation to the Chicago convention. They want to work up a slate of anti-Roosevelt candidates to run against the Farley selections. Others—
while privately just as hostile
to the President—claim that this would be a futile and perhaps a costly gesture even if locally successful. This school of thought holds that Roosevelt will win anyway and what's the sense of deliberately inviting subsequent reprisals?

Of course it takes two to make a fight. If the more aggressive Tammany faction carries the day it's always possible that Jim Farley will let the boys choose their own delegates without a contest. It might be preferable to let them think they are getting away with something than risk a bitter civil war within the state party organization.

New York political sharps predict that Al Smith will have the last word on this point in Tammany councils. They have no doubt about what Al would like to do—but they aren't sure his political judgment will let him do it.

CREDIT: Financial insiders get word that the administration is planning publicity to prove that credit conditions—including excess bank reserves—are sound and that
talk about the dangers of inflation
is a trumped up bogey to scare the uninformed.

The fact that the Treasury now
owns $10,000,000,000 in gold and $2-000,000,000 in silver will be stressed as an element of safety. It will be argued that this assures an ample metallic base for credit expansion
in any degree remotely likely to develop.

Experts figure there's plenty of room for a large legitimate increase in the use of credit—quite apart
from speculation. At least a billion dollars is needed to bring industrial plants up to date. There will be twice as much home building in 1936 as last year. The railroads urgently need new equipment and better maintenance. Many corporations will need fresh working capital as recovery progresses. Government agencies will supply funds for some of these purposes—but the bankers will be in there too. Many of them have come to believe the only way they can quit playing stoney for Uncle Sam is to be more open-handed themselves.

WHEN HEINE A-HUNTING WENT

"Yes, daddy's going a-hunting and he'll bring his baby hunting
a nice mess of birds," says Heine Manush of the Boston Red Sox as he tells Daughters Sue and Shirley goodbye just before starting a hunt near their vacation home at Sarasota, Fla. Heine used to play with the Washington Senators, but was traded to the Red Sox recently. (Associated Press Photo)

while awaiting this ruling. They are bound to get back in the markets
in a big way as soon as legal uncertainties are cleared up.

Prices of farm products could turn bearish for the moment on a decision favorable to the government—chiefly because most traders
have expected the opposite result.
But any such reaction would be temporary and soon be offset by increased demand.

Outlawing of processing taxes
would probably have a strong bull-
ish effect on wheat, cotton, pork,
etc. The theory has been that market price plus processing tax measures the true value of these commodities. So if there were no tax prices would presumably rise to take up the slack.

FRIENDLY: New York sharps
credit the Japanese with a shrewd
move in their recent trade treaty
with Canada.

The treaty was far more favorable to Canada than generally expected and put an end to commercial hostilities that were harassing both sides. The oriental negotiators were not outwitted. Their generosity was deliberate and its motive was political.

The Japanese have decided it is worth their while to cultivate friendly relations with British dominions—hence a new policy of removing causes of irritation. They are now working out a trade treaty with Australia, which should make that commonwealth also feel more cordial towards them. You can see how it might help Japan—in the event of an argument with England
—to be on harmonious terms with Canada and Australia.

YOUNG DEMOS BACKING FDR

Tyre Taylor Says Organization Behind President

Reflector Bureau.
Sir Walter Hotel.
By J. C. BASKERVILL
Raleigh, Jan. 6.—The Young Democrats in the United States who helped elect Franklin D. Roosevelt President in 1932 are not only standing squarely behind him now in 1936, but are more enthusiastic in their support of him now than they were four years ago. Tyre Taylor, founder and past president of the Young Democratic Clubs in the United States, said while spending a few days here.

Mr. Taylor, for several years past a member of the legal staff of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation in Washington, has been assisting Chief James A. Farley in arranging the many Jackson Day Dinners being held throughout the United States by Young Democratic clubs the night of January 8. He pointed out that 1,600 of these dinners are to be held throughout the United States by the Young Democrats and advised the state dinners here in the state.

"The Young Democrats have always been in sympathy with the Roosevelt type of Democracy and his liberalism and his determination to help the common people," Taylor said. "In addition, they are in complete sympathy and accord with all of his efforts to insure the strict neutrality of the United States and keep it out of war if and when war breaks out in Europe. I know that those portions of the President's message to Congress Friday night in which he urged the enactment of strict neutrality laws and said that the United States would continue to use its influence against war of any sort, has endeared him more than ever to the Young Democrats of the nation. For in traveling over the country and coming in contact with the Young Democrats in all sections, I have found that next to their devotion to President Roosevelt and the Democratic party, they hate war and everything that tends to bring about war, including the big interests which for years have fed and become fat on manufacturing the munitions of war. In fact, the Young Democrats would now support the President on the basis of his advocacy of strict neutrality in the event of war in Europe even if it were not for his liberalism and humanitarianism. But with the appeal of both of these factors, I am confident he is going to get even greater support from the Young Democrats than ever before."

Because many of them are just getting a start in life themselves, which means that very few have amassed any great wealth, a majority of the younger Democrats are in thorough accord with the Roosevelt principles of equality of opportunity and of helping the weak and the unfortunate. Taylor pointed out. They also like the courage and fearlessness Roosevelt has shown in bucking Wall Street, big business, big corporations and the amassed wealth of the country and the manner in which he has refused to be bluffed or intimidated even though the big interests have tried to "gang up" on him. Taylor maintained.

"The more organizations like the Liberty League and the Republican National Committee, financed by the Du Ponts and other wealthy Republicans, fight Roosevelt the closer the Young Democrats are going to work and fight for him," Taylor said. "For Roosevelt is a young man's man, who appeals to their ideas of right and wrong and their sense of fair play. They believe that the masses should have a say-so in the Government and that it should be by, and for the people instead of a government by a favored few big interests for their enrichment and with a 'public be damned' attitude."

The Young Democrats are not the only ones who have this same feeling about Roosevelt and the coming campaign, since just about as many of the older Democrats hold the same views. Taylor believes. Accordingly he is confident that Roosevelt will be re-nominated and re-elected, although he agrees that it is going to be a difficult and fought campaign since the Republicans and Liberty Leaguers are going to do everything possible to defeat him. But he is confident that principles will count for more than money and that the rank and file of the people are going to stand by and vote for the President, no matter how much money is spent by the opposition.

"The millions of people who have been helped by the present administration to desert him now," Taylor declared.

SOIL CONSERVATION GIVES HAVEN TO GAME BIRDS

Pullman, Wash. Jan. 7.—Uncle Sam's soil conservation work in the Palouse hills of southeastern Washington and neighboring Idaho is providing a new haven for Chinese geese and Hungarian partridge while saving the topsoil. Besides checking erosion, providing pasture from otherwise unprofitable land and replenishing the nitrogen in the soil, the areas furnish excellent cover and feed for the popular game birds.

U. S. Wages Daily War On Extortion Notes

"Threat letters" are reported to have influenced Col. Charles A. Lindbergh to take his wife and son, Jon, to England. From the time Lindbergh returned after his transatlantic solo flight, to receive a tumultuous reception in New York (shown upper left) he has been the target for threatening letters. At lower left, he is shown with Mrs. Lindbergh shortly after their marriage, occasion for another flood of letters. Then came the kidnapping when Baby Charles A. Lindbergh, jr. (center, below) was taken from the crib of the Lindbergh home near Hopewell, N. J. (center). Thousands of letters written by cranks and extortionists poured into the Lindbergh home after the kidnapping, whose fatal consequence was predicted in the letter shown above. The threat letters are said to have increased during the trial (above right) at which Bruno Hauptmann was sentenced to pay with his life for the crime. Although the case gave rise to the "Lindbergh Law" under which post office inspectors now investigate all extortion notes that come to their attention, the stream of such mail to the home of the Lindberghs has been endless and is said to have influenced them to slip away quietly on the American Importer, shown below right, to live in England.

Creation Of AAA Made Uncle Sam Greatest Land Tenant In History

By WILLIAM S. WHITE
WASHINGTON (AP)—Great gang plows which nearly 20 years ago threw up earth from millions of acres of new western land, creating more fields to feed a world at war, led indirectly to AAA's creation. Proponents argued that production had been stepped up beyond peacetime needs and that AAA, through rental and benefit payments, afforded a means of subsidized reduction of yields.

Purpose: to increase the farmer's income to the point where his buying power would equal that of 1909-1914.
77,000,000 Acres Rented
In three years under AAA Uncle Sam has become perhaps the greatest land tenant in world history. The cumulative total of acreage rented to the government in 1933, 1934 and 1935 in consideration of benefit payments to farmers—and thus withdrawn from commercial crop production—has run above 77,000,000.

The agricultural adjustment administration first had control only over wheat, cotton, corn, hogs, rice, tobacco and milk. In 1934 rye, flax, barley, grain sorghum, cattle, sugar, and peanuts were added. In 1935 potatoes became the 15th commodity to be termed by congress "basic" and to become eligible for AAA benefits.

First Steps Draconic
Voluntary cooperation between growers and Uncle Sam was the original keynote. But acts were passed to use compulsion in controlling acreage of cotton, tobacco and potatoes. Compulsion was designed to supplement and police crop agreements for cotton and tobacco.

A force of 6,500 in the AAA itself, plus thousands of farmers aiding in AAA county or local committees, has worked to keep the program going. Marketing agreements have been devised for milk, fruits and vegetables. Of a total of 52 agreements negotiated for milk, 30 were in effect at the turn of 1936. Of 35 negotiated for fruits and vegetables, 16 still were in effect.

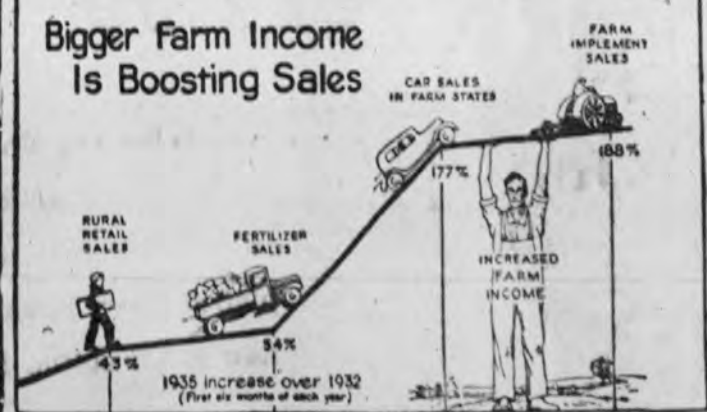

Price Increases Sharp
There has been disquiet as to the ultimate soundness of the programs but price increases have been sharp. AAA officials say November 15, 1935, prices for wheat were 51.7 cents a bushel higher than the 1932 average; corn 25 cents higher, cotton 5 cents a pound higher, hogs $5.20 per 100 pounds higher; cattle $1.80 per 100 pounds higher.

Aside from its strictly economic aspects, AAA has brought about a cohesive, highly articulate farmer organization not hounded by sectional lines. In six major readjustments affecting adjustment programs, the question being whether such movements were to be continued, votes in favor of continuance were declared by AAA to have totaled 3,693,732 out of a total cast of 4,256,439.

Mass production became the farm slogan during the war years and huge combines such as this frequently were seen in the wheat fields of the grain belt. This system of production, carrying over into years of lesser demand, some experts, say indirectly gave rise to the AAA.

payment of the indebtedness there-in described, the undersigned will on

at 12 o'clock noon

First Parcel: 26 acres of land conveyed to Mary Paramore by G. T. Stokes and wife, Maggie N. Stokes, by deed dated Jan. 7th, 1924 and duly registered in Book N-15 at page 519 in the office of the Register of Deeds of Pitt county, to which reference is hereby directed for more accurate description.

THE above chart shows a substantial increase in sales to farmers for the first six months of 1935 as compared with the first half of 1932. This stimulation of business has resulted in an increase in employment and payrolls in many industries. In the farm implement industry, for example, employment in the first 10 months of 1935 was more than 2 1/2 times as great, and payrolls were more than 3 1/2 times as great as in the first 10 months of 1932. For industry as a whole, it is estimated that at least 40% of the increase in factory employment from 1932 to date is due to the improvement of rural purchasing power. In 1932 the farm cash income was $4,328,000,000, as compared with an estimated farm cash income of $6,800,000,000 for 1935.

ACTION ON AAA SAID BE HELP TO ROOSEVELT

Belief Expressed Farmers to Rally Behind President

OTHER MEANS ARE EXPECTED

Some Way of Controlling Crop Will be Devised by FDR, According to Opinion

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel.
By J. C. BASKERVILLE
Raleigh, Jan. 7.—The knock-out given the AAA crop control act by the nine old men who compose the United States Supreme Court in Washington Monday has only boosted Franklin D. Roosevelt, higher with the farmers and the rank and file of the people and will probably do more to help renominate and elect him than anything else, according to state officials and others commented on the action of the court today, after being assured they would not be quoted directly.

The farmers of the United States do not want to go back to 6 cent tobacco, 5 cent cotton, 3 cent wheat and 5 cent pork, most political observers here agree. The result is that the farmers, even former Republican farmers, are now going to rally to the support of Roosevelt who has done more to increase the farm income of the nation than any other President, and who will now, with the assistance of Congress, undoubtedly devise some other method of controlling crop production in place of the AAA, most observers here believe.

"In the first place, the public generally is rapidly coming to believe that the Supreme Court is taking itself a bit too seriously and also is so preponderantly Republican that it frequently cannot differentiate between the Constitution and Republican conservatism," one state official remarked today. "The rank and file of the people believe the welfare of the country as a whole and its needs, especially in an emergency, are more important than the splitting of a lot of legal hairs. The result is going to be that more pressure will be brought to bear on Congress than ever before to enact crop control legislation, similar to the AAA, which the nine old men in black robes will not be able to upset."

The farmers of the country know by this time that the Republican party is not in favor of controlled production and that they cannot expect any assistance from the Republicans and that a Republican administration and Congress would immediately seek to undo everything that President Roosevelt and a Democratic Congress have done or sought to do, it is maintained. As a result, those farmers who have been wavering as to whether to stick with Roosevelt or go over to the opposition are now going to decide to stand by the President, most observers here believe.

It is also regarded as significant that all six of the Supreme Court Justices who held the AAA act unconstitutional are Republicans, with the possible exception of Justice McReynolds, who some maintain is or was a Democrat since he was appointed to the Supreme Court by Woodrow Wilson, although for years he has been regarded as being as conservative as any of the Republican members. On the other hand, of the three Justices who dissented — Brandeis, Cardozo and Stone—two are Democrats and the other a "liberal" Republican who dissented, thereby indicating their belief that the AAA act was constitutional.

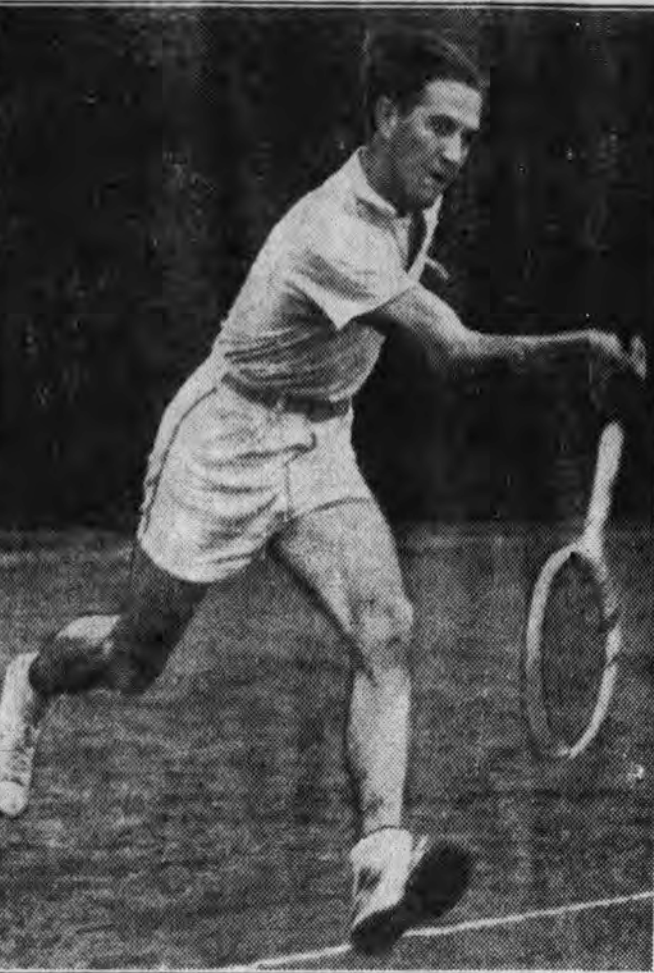

"The farmers in the west and south, regardless of their politics, know that the Roosevelt administration and the AAA have saved them from economic ruin and have no desire to go back to the days of the much-lauded 'rugged individualism' concerning which the Republicans talk so much, when every farmer could plant as much cotton, tobacco, corn, wheat, potatoes and other crops as he pleased, and thus force prices down," another observer said here today. "They know now that the old competitive system was destructive, also that the Federal government is the only authority which can bring about controlled production. As a result, they are going to stand by the President and the Democratic party, who have stood by them."

Not even the Republican farmers here in North Carolina want to see the old, uncontrolled competitive crop system return. This correspondent recently asked a farmer from a large Republican county how the farmers in his country, especially the Republicans, felt about the AAA tobacco and cotton crop control program.

"Well," he replied, "the Republicans still cuss Roosevelt out some in public, but I have noticed they are among the first to grab for a crop reduction contract when the new contracts come out."

The kaleidoscope was invented by Sir David Brewster and patented by him in 1817.

LOCAL HIGHS MEET BETHEL

Cage Teams to Play at Auditorium Here Tonight

Tonight in the Greenville High School auditorium, the local cagers will meet a fast team of basketball players from Bethel. These players are coming over here with blood in their eyes. So far the locals have played three games and have won two of them.

One of these games, in Bethel, was tied at the end of the game but in the extra period Bethel won by a close margin. The cagers from Bethel are determined to do it again, but the Greensies are determined also that they shall not be beat, especially in their own back yard. So if you wish to see a good fast game of basketball come down tonight at eight o'clock.

Coach Reynolds May evidently is of the opinion that he has a pretty good team because he has arranged twenty-two games and two tournaments. Among the games are one with the Duke Frosh, Rocky Mount High, and at the present he is arranging one with Wilmington High. The team has had three days practice since the Christmas holidays and should be in top shape by tonight. For the benefit of those who have not seen the locals play this year, I shall try to make a brief outline of the players. There are nine letter men back and with the new material they have developed into a fast, smooth working squad. On the first team there are five letter men, Simpson at center, Laureates at right guard, Pierce is the usual starter at left forward, but due to a recent illness, Harry (Racehorse) Rountree, a member of last year's squad, will probably take his place. Parrish at left guard and Hatem at right guard will complete a quintet of lettermen. These boys need support if they are to win, so go out and see these boys tonight.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Jan. 7.—(AP)—The stock market firmed at the end of the morning today after a disturbed and active opening in which trading was dominated by invalidation of the AAA.

Although foods and utilities were chiefly in demand with gains of a point or more. Rails and a number of industries improved after a soft opening.

One important section of the national business appeared completely stymied for the time being by the AAA decision as dry goods markets virtually abandoned efforts to carry on pending a meeting of the Textile Institute to iron out complications resulting from the ending of processing taxes.

The late tone was firm. Transfers approximated 2,800,000 shares.

New York Cotton

pool cables and under active liquidation and foreign selling. The market was called upon to absorb a large amount of cotton at brought in a good deal of trade buying but it was readily supplied by the end of the first half hour. Active months were 33 to 40 points below yesterday's closing quotations. Pressure later subsided somewhat and at midday March was around 11.12 and October 10.19, with the list about 26 to 27 points net lower.

Washington Daybook

By HERBERT PLUMMER
Washington, Jan. 7.—The old Ford theater on 10th street in the capital—a structure as melancholy in appearance as its history—has taken on new life.

Congress appropriated $100,000 a few years ago to make the place where Abraham Lincoln was assassinated a Lincoln museum. Both congress and the architect die well.

It's a "first step" for tourists who visit the capital—The interior of "Old Ford" now appears as it did when John Wilkes Booth killed the Civil war President. The collection of Lincoln relics, housed in the Oldroyd residence directly across the street—where Lincoln died—has been moved to the old playhouse.

West Palm Beach, Fla., recently observed the 41st anniversary of its founding.

LESSONS IN LAW-MAKING

9. Seniority Is King.
Seniority is important in congress. It is the first barrier confronting the new members, and there have been many bitter denunciations of its rule. But seniority remains an important factor.

The new members, for instance, applies for his office room. He gets what is left after all older members have made their selections.

He meets with it at any official dinner he attends. The new member sits near the foot of the table. Favored committee assignments go to the older members.

He encounters it in the committee room when he attends the first meeting. His place is at the foot of the table.

The chairmen of the committees are the longest serving majority members. The ranking minority member of a committee is the oldest in point of service on his side.

Much legislation is written by or determined by the conferees on conference committees of the house and senate. Usually the conferees appointed are the two senior Democrats and two senior Republicans on the committees reporting out the bills in each house.

"It is an unwise performance," former Speaker Champ Clark once observed, "for any district to change representatives at short intervals. A new congressman must begin at the foot of the class and spell up."
