Italy claimed today that her southern armies had crushed an Ethiopian drive on the Dolo front
"repulsing and pursuing" the enemy.

A communique from Marshall
Badoglio, the Italian high commander in Africa, said the Somaliland forces had driven back the armies of Ras Desta Dempo in "vigorous action," but added:

"Fight continues along the entire front. Our losses so far have not been serious."

Nothing was said about Ethiopian losses.

The British cabinet met in London to instruct Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden on his course regarding fresh penalties against Italy
at the League of Nations council session Monday.

Authoritative sources predicted today that when Eden arrived at Geneva, he would carry pledges of British participation in further sanctions against the aggressor na-

From Addis Ababa came an offi-

The communique said six Ethio-

Leaders Consider

Baby Bonds Payment

Washington, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Disagreement over whether the President would veto the "baby bonds"
answer to cash bonus demands detracted attention from a routine business in Congress today.

Some Democratic leaders eyeing
the November election expected no necessity for a vote to enact the plan over White House opposition.
One said presidential approval was
"a good bet."

With the Senate in recess and the House working feebly on the $900,000,000 to finance government independent offices, proposals for a new farm legislation remained assured as did ultimate disposal of the bonus.

Man Arrested Yesterday
Removed To County Jail

Waives Preliminary Hearing on Attempt to Kidnap

MAY BE TRIED
HERE NEXT WEEK

Donald Deaver Alleged
to Have Attempted to Kidnap Two Morton Children

Donald Deaver, 28-year-old Raleigh man, waived preliminary hearing in Mayor's court here this morning on a charge of attempting to kidnap the two children of S. V. Morton, local dealer in office supplies, and was committed to Pitt county jail to await trial in Superior court here.

Bond was set at $1,000, but Deaver was unable to provide the bail and was removed from the jail to the county jail. Deaver will be held here next week and the man is expected to be tried then. Judge Marshall Spears will preside over the trial.

When arraigned at the preliminary hearing this morning, Deaver offered no testimony, saying he preferred to await trial in the higher court.

He was arrested yesterday by Greenville officers after he is said to have attempted to kidnap the two children, Glenn, 10, and Chesley, 12, from the West Greenville school.

A story told by school children and teachers related that Deaver went to the school at a recess period, asked to see the two children, saying their father had sent him.

Mr. Morton is divorced from his first wife, Nell Morton, and Chief Clark said efforts had been made by the mother of the children to get them from custody of their father. Mr. Morton was given custody of the children by a court order.

Letters in the pockets of Deaver revealed that he had been in contact with the former Mrs. Morton and that she intended to join him in this territory shortly. Chief Clark said he believed a plot was underway to get the children from their father and return them to their mother.

The story told by students and teachers disclosed Deaver looked around the school yard for some few minutes and being unable to find the children asked a teacher, Miss Alma Lee, where he could locate them.

Another teacher, Miss Jane Hadley, arrived and Deaver was told the teachers would locate the children for him. Instead Mr. Morton was called and he in turn notified police headquarters. Meanwhile the two children were hid in the building.

Morton and two policemen arrived while Deaver was waiting for the children and they took him in custody.

Chief Clark said Deaver had been in Greenville on a previous occasion in connection with the domestic difficulties of Mr. Morton and his former wife, and that on one occasion he had been in custody.

Officers Say Deaver
Knew ex-Mrs. Morton

Raleigh, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Donald Deaver, under arrest in Greenville on a charge of "attempting to kidnap" has been making his home near Raleigh in Wake county in recent months and last week was acquitted in Wake Superior court of an assault charge brought by a neighbor.

Deaver claimed New Jersey as his home and came here as a hosiery salesman.

Wake county officers said that at one time he was living in the same house with Mrs. S. V. Morton of Greenville, whose two children Deaver is alleged to have tried to kidnap yesterday. Mrs. Morton is not now in Wake county so far as officers know, it was said at the sheriff's office today.

DWIGHT BEARD
HELD IN TEXAS

Expected to Face A
Murder Charge
In Dallas

Raleigh, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Dwight Beard, 25-year-old Caldwell county man, who has rolled up an amazing career of crime including a conviction for first degree murder in North Carolina, was under arrest in Dallas, Texas today facing another murder charge which may mean he may not be returned here to serve a life sentence.

Beard had been free as a fugitive since August 27, until he was caught in Dallas yesterday. He and Clarence Peterson, another convict, ducked past a guard while engaged in construction work at the prison and disappeared. Peterson was caught in Knoxville, Tenn., and returned here sometime ago.

C. M. Waynick, chairman of the State Highway and Public Works Commission, and Oscar Pitts, acting director of the penal division, said this morning North Carolina would place a "detainer" against Beard in Dallas.

Waynick said it was understood a charge of murder would be pressed against Beard in Texas and if this occurs no attempt will be made to return him here unless he is acquitted or receives a sentence of less than life imprisonment.

Program to Be Submitted to National Agricultural Convention Meet Thurs.

Washington, Jan. 15.—(AP)—The National Grange Deans of organized farm groups in America, submitted to the Senate Agricultural committee today a ten point program for a National plan to replace AAA.

Grange officials said it represents a crystallizing of farm sentiment against constitutionally questioning rewriting of AAA to control Agricultural production through subsidized soil conservation.

In the first definite break with Administration plans to draft a bill retaining AAA principles along lines adopted by Secretary Wallace's farm conference last week, the grange asked congress to provide the following program:

1. Appropriations to provide for the completion of contracts entered into a good faith and particular carried out of American farmers.

2. A soil conservation program through wise rotation of crops and through a system of government rentals to uphold National resources.

3. Speed up the retirement of marginal and sub-marginal lands for foresting, conservation, recreation and wild life uses.

4. Retain and expand the surplus commodity corporation to deal with agricultural surpluses.

5. Protect American markets for American farmers.

6. Provide an honest dollar, one just to debtors and creditors alike and prevent unconstitutional inflation or deflation.

7. Support the building of farm owned and farm-controlled cooperatives as a matter of sound policy.

JAPAN QUILTS
NAVAL PARLEY

Decision Reached Following 'Showdown'
Session

London, Jan. 15.—(AP)—The Japanese delegation announced tonight their withdrawal from the International Naval Conference.

Their decision signifying the end of five power discussions seeking to effect an agreement on naval limitations to replace the expired Washington and London treaty was announced following a "showdown" session of the conference.

Discussions have been deadlocked on a Japanese demand for equality and a "common upper limit of tonnage."

The four other powers, Great Britain, United States, Italy and France—expect to meet tomorrow to agree upon opening a new four-power parley without the Japanese.

Japan's withdrawal followed formal rejection of Japanese demands for equality by the other delegations.

Osami Nagano, chief Japanese delegate, told newsmen "since other delegations have made it clear they cannot accept our proposition for a common upper limit no other choice is left for us than to leave the conference."

Immediately following adjournment of the stockholders the directors met and perfected the following organization: E. G. Flanagan.

News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

NYE: The Morgan revelations on the financing of Great Britain in the early World War days have shocked the stubborn bloc of neutrality-at-any-price proponents in the Senate. Woodrow Wilson's slow succumbing to "banker pressure" convinces them that Presidents cannot be entrusted with the responsibility of staying off or bringing on a foreign conflict.

Chairman Nye's cure-all is nationalization of the munitions industry. War Secretary Dern called the idea preposterous, estimating that it would cost $1,000,000,000 a hard cash. But the Senator from North Dakota didn't accept those figures. He asked the ICC to make a private survey of the costs.

The bank has rendered 35 years continuous and uninterrupted service in Pitt and adjoining counties. The meeting was largely attended with 1,654 out of 1,875 shares of stock being represented in person and by proxy.

E. G. Flanagan, who has been president of the bank since 1912, presided over the meeting.

W. H. Woolard, executive vice-president, made pertinent remarks about the sound and strong position of the bank, and called to the attention of the stockholders the substantial increase in deposits over any previous year in the history of the bank. He also discussed fully the bank's investment in United States, North Carolina and municipal bonds in which they have a substantial profit if they care to liquidate the bonds. He stated the bank was actively in the market for good commercial or crop production loans.

The principal features in the recent regular examination of the bank was brought to the attention of the stockholders, and showed that all of the assets of the bank were found to be in excellent condition and the bonds held by the bank were worth substantially more than the amount at which carried on the books.

Waldrop, cashier, made a report on operation of the bank for the past year which showed a profit of 31 per cent after deducting substantial reserves for taxes, interest, depreciation, and other items. Two of Defense Coun-

lessness of Saving
Bruno

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 15.—(AP)—Governor Harold G. Hoffman announced today through his press aide, William Conklin, that he had "reached no decision" on the question of a reprieve for Bruno Hauptmann.

Conklin said the governor was considering his private investigation of the case and was seeking legal advice upon his power to grant a reprieve at this late date.

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 15.—(AP)—Bruno Richard Hauptmann's lawyers sought an 11th hour reprieve today to snatch the man condemned at the Lindbergh baby-killer from the shadow of the electric chair.

Attorneys, losing in Federal habeas corpus proceedings, planned to apply to Governor Harold G. Hoffman today.

There were indications, one of them said, that a reprieve would halt the electrocution, set for 8 p. m. Friday.

Reports of a reprieve, constantly in the background for several days, gained wide circulation after a long night conference of the defense counsel. Earlier the Attorney General, David T. Wilentz said he was "reliably informed" the governor would grant a reprieve.

Hauptmann asked a writ of habeas corpus; 68-year-old Judge Warren J. Davis refused it. Hauptmann asked for a stay of execution. This too was denied.

The hopelessness of further recourse was voiced by two members of Hauptmann's five-man legal staff. Said one, who asked that his name be withheld:

"This decision by Judge Davis is the end."

Said Neil Burkishaw, Washington lawyer, who argued the Hauptmann appeal: "The only possibility in the world now is the U. S. Supreme Court."

C. Lloyd Fisher, chief counsel, was more hopeful in his comments but was vague as to what further steps he was contemplating.

The game played last night was considered one of the best the locals have exhibited this season, according to comments of the local fans who went to Washington to see the game.

Carl Pierce, Left Forward for the local quint was the ace of last night's clash, topping off eight of the points made by the Greenville group. George Lautares, right forward for the Greenies, tied even with Pierce in making points after going in as a substitute for Harry Rountree who sprained his ankle in the second half of the game. Others starting for the locals were Harry Rountree, Joseph Hatem, Dubose Simpson and Thomas Parrish.

Starting for Washington were Shepherd, who made four of the meager points obtained by them, and Elliott, Phillips and Bowers.

The Greenville Greenies left with their coach, Reynolds May this morning at 10 o'clock for Durham, where they were to clash with the Duke University Freshmen at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

EXPECT DRIVE FOR PENSION

With Bonus Expected, Another Veterans' Goal Seen

By HERBERT PLUMMER
Washington, Jan. 14. (AP)—With veterans confident the present session of congress will dispose of the bonus issue in some fashion, a drive for general World War pensions appears to be their next legislative goal.
Official of the administration long have anticipated such a move. One of the principal reasons for their objection to immediate payment of the bonus has been the belief that it stood as the sole barrier in the path of a far more costly general pension campaign.
Efforts are said to have been made without success to obtain pledges from the various veterans' organizations against general pensions in return for payment of the bonus. As a matter of fact, a flank movement for pension re-attachment has been started among the veterans themselves.

The American Veterans' association, which stood alone among the soldier organizations in opposing bonus payment, is out to stop what it calls the "pension racket" and eliminate from the pension rolls all veterans who suffered no disability as the result of their service.

New Veterans Issue
Legislation to this end has been prepared by the A. V. A. Criticized by rival organizations as composed of a relatively small group of wealthy veterans, A. V. A. nevertheless has played an increasingly active role in legislation affecting ex-soldiers.

It has moved along economy lines with its program and has never cooperated with the other groups.

Prospects now are that at least one pension bill—a widow and orphans' measure potentially more costly than the bonus—will receive the support of the American Legion and create a new veterans' issue in congress once the bonus is out of the way.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars likely will ask for a uniform pension law which would put veterans of all wars on the same plane.

While there is little likelihood favorable action will be had on any of these measures at the present session, the strategy to be followed will be much the same as that pursued with the bonus. That was to keep legislation constantly before congress.

Want Limits Set

The A. V. A., led by Donald Hobart, contends that prior to March 20, 1933, there were 431,000 World War veterans receiving cash allowances for disabilities in no way connected with military service. It asks that all such cases be stricken from the rolls.

It is proposed that the American Medical association be called on to set the limits for "reasonable presumptions of service connection for certain chronic and constitutional diseases."

"Under existing legislation," A. V. A. contends, "such ridiculous presumptions of service connection are allowed as the granting of service connection for diseases with incubation period not in excess of six weeks, when the disease is manifested as late as six years after the armistice."

Most of Germany's foreign students attend the University of Berlin and the University of Munich. Mason county, West Va., may have a marked soon on the farm where Mark Twain's grandfather was born.

PLAN PROGRAM COMBAT FIRES

To Take Forest Fire Prevention Campaign to Schools

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel, Raleigh, Jan., 15.—An educational campaign to teach the danger and waste of forest fires in the schools of counties which have recently undertaken a program for the control of forest fires in cooperation with the Department of Conservation and Development, is planned to begin around the middle of this month. W. C. McCormick, assistant state forester, announced today.

The program will be carried out by F. L. Hooker, district forester of New Bern, under the direction of J. B. Latta, district forester of the same city. Special motion picture reels depicting vividly the destruction of forests by flames will be shown at each appearance. These pictures will be supplemented by a brief lecture and a period giving the children an opportunity to ask questions for the clarification of points on which they have doubts.

Among the counties in which appearances are planned are the following: Onslow, Duplin, Pender, Sampson, Columbus, Martin, Washington, and possibly others.

The motion pictures will be shown by means of especially designed equipment which permit the programs to be given in any of the rural schools.

Consideration is being given to obtaining a sound picture to be shown in school programs in North Carolina on the subject of forest fires. The proposed picture would be made for various State Forestry Divisions by the U. S. Forest Service.

For several years, the Department of Conservation and Development operated an educational truck, but this program was dropped some time ago because of the lack of funds and the equipment was sold. Conservation officials hope to renew a similar program as soon as means can be found for the purpose.

"MUCH RELIEVED" SAYS LADY AFTER TAKING CARDUI

Although they may be very active and apparently in good health, many women, at certain times, will do well to take Cardui. It may relieve some of the nagging symptoms that are so annoying every month.

Mrs. P. T. Foster, of Greensburg, Ky., writes that she has "derived great benefit" from Cardui. "Before taking Cardui, I was weak and extremely nervous, and suffered from sleeplessness. This made me tired and worn in daytime. My back ached continually. Being an active woman, I did not want to continue in this condition. Having heard a great deal about Cardui, I found, after just a few bottles, I was much relieved. I continued taking Cardui and was so much helped."

Of course, if Cardui does not benefit YOU, consult a physician. (Adv.)

East Carolina Teachers College here is tonight host to Miss Amelia Earhart, the world's most famous woman flier. Greenville is honored on having Miss Earhart here
and the college authorities are to be congratulated for making it possible for the people of this community to have the opportunity to see and hear her tonight.

With a bold hold-up here
just a week ago and an attempted kidnapping here yesterday it seems that Greenville is getting a little more than its share of daring crime of late. One of the best ways to cut down on crime is sure and heavy punishment for the offenders and the courts will be rendering a great service when they give these types of criminals
the limit of punishment.

The increased fire loss in Greenville last year over the 1934 losses is something in which every citizen should be interested and it is to be hoped that every effort will be put forth this year to see to it that our fire losses are reduced. Most everybody carries some fire insurance and the insurance rate in any community is based on the average fire losses over a certain period of years. Increases in our fire losses will result in increased rates here and that is something everybody wants to avoid. The best way to keep fire losses
and insurance rates at a minimum is for our citizens to practice fire prevention every day in the year.

his closest friends have noted the

Mr. Roosevelt was a jovial host when he welcomed the Supreme Court Justices who have struck down his noblest experiments at the White House dinner. There were no ironic undertones, no recriminations. He was as friendly to Justice
Roberts, who wrote the majority
AAA decision, as he was to Justice Stone, who upheld Rooseveltian theories of federal control. FDR's comments on "agriculture as a national policy" were judicial and restrained, even though they seemed to criticize the court's attitude as narrow.

Al Smith's cheeks must be blushing. Although the Roosevelt have inside information that he will use bare knuckles at the Liberty League dinner, they have showered him with compliments. Mrs. Roosevelt has praised him twice in a week,
and Son James paid tribute to him.
The President still refers to him as "Al." And the White House has taken pains to see that these sweet references to its detractors leaked to the press.

ment can crack the whip over private industry is best exemplified in its handling of the Santee-Cooper
paper-and-power project in South Carolina. It was approved by the army and PWA engineers.

NEVER MIND THE LADY

Chapter 44
BLACK WATER

"CORRIGAN had lantern lighting
the way from the storehouses the dam. They were shielded by s' guards stuck in the ground,
but even at that their light was uncertain. That dam!

Willett plowed through to the edge of the river. The dam was going, all right. He went into action on the spot.

"Sandbags!" he shouted. "And matting! On the run! Come on, Bucky, chase 'em along. The women too."

He was in six places at once, directing, ordering, slinging the heavy sandbags around, as though they were filled with cotton, and the gang got into it as though they were fighting for their lives.

The women joined the fight too.
There was a worse fury than the storm abroad tonight—it was the fury of that tall figure who snapped back viciously at the wildly surging river.

How they fought! Sandbags but-tressing the dam at vital points to withstand the tremendous pressure of an unchecked river. Water was spilling over the top. That was all right, the half-finished construction work below could stand anything, but the sudden wild break of the whole river.

Willett was out on the dam, the water swirling all around him, black water that sucked at his knees, and poured into his face as he knelt and gripped the edge.

And as Willett fought, he thought of the girl back in the hut with only Rosa, saw her hand groping for his, felt a deeper courage somehow. But if she didn't make it—!

"Look down, look down that lonely road—!"

He knew now his father had felt
life had gone out of his father too.
left him staggering, stunned. He'd never been able to love anybody else but Vic, and Terry knew from the moment he'd seen Allaire she was the only girl he could ever love either.

Fight, you quaking wretch! Your boss has to be strong no matter what happens. He has to look down that lonely road and he has to travel it alone, gallant and strong.

And so they strained through the hours, Corrigan a wild man with the Chalks hopping before his blasts, and Willett keeping the rescue work traveling surely and swiftly. Governor, you're going to be served this job in Valhalla, and you can thank a girl for it.

But he dared that surging river's force once too often out there on that quivering dam. His grip was torn loose as he tried to get a sand-bag into place.

He felt himself spun around in the wild water and an instant later his head was driven against the dam with stunning force. Lights flashed before his eyes as a terrible dizen-ess overcame him.

He gasped for breath and the water poured into his throat. He was going down, exhausted, stunned,
half dead.

THE water seemed very soft suddenly, soft with the heavy muf-fing feeling of a woolen quilt thrown over the head. And the bottom of the river was soft too, oozy, shifty, soft muck that had been stirred into a putrid cloud that blinded and strangled and obscured his senses. Terry Willett could find no breath, no strength.

His strength was ebbing fast.
You'll have to look down, Allaire,
look down a lonely road—the guy
you married is through.

Allaire! He seemed to see her hand as it had reached out for his
in those shadows caused by the flick-

HOPES: There is more behind the Democrats' selection of Philadelphia as their convention city than "Joe" Guffey's high bid indicates. FDR himself threw the choice to the City of Brotherly Love and he was playing political rather than financial poker.

Mr. Roosevelt had two ideas in mind. In the first place, he wants to deliver a stirring address to the assembled cohorts and Philadelphia is only an hours flight from Washington. Secondly, Mr. Roosevelt cherishes the illusion that holding the convention in Philly may help him to carry the state. It is a political myth not borne out by the records, but it is one which dies hard.

The selection of Philadelphia is a tip on Democratic expectations in other states. Chicago was a sharp rival, but FDR counts on the Kelly Nash machine in Chicago to carry Illinois for him. He expects that McAdoo-Creel Democrats, with some help from Hi Johnson Republicans, will hold California. So the Democrats' hope is that throwing a little trade to Philadelphia hotels and merchants will proselyte the Keystone State.

SOLDIERS: World War veterans shouldn't shout too soon over their prospects of collecting the bonus in a hurry. It will be paid during this session, but there's a long wait ahead.

Few members of the House realize that the measure rushed through simply "authorizes" payment of the certificates. It provides no means of financing and does not carry out the presidential mandate that new money must be provided for any new legislation imposing a drain on the Treasury. The three vet's organizations have agreed that the bonus should be paid, but they are still far apart on methods—bonds—
inflationary currency or the relief money.

The politicians are still playing politics with this issue. House leaders authorized five hours of debate, simply to let members tell how proud they were of the soldier boys.
Ten minutes would have been enough. Insiders predict that the veterans will be in politics for many years to come. It's too good an issue for the politicians to drop.

Gunsmith Plies His Family's Trade In Birthplace Of 'Kentucky Rifles'

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Lean-stocked, long barreled, small bore "Kentucky Rifles" have given way to bulkier, stubbler firearms, but Gunsmith Sherman Flint—son of Gunsmith Harlan Flint, and grandson of Gunsmith William Flint—still finds as many customers as he can handle coming to his weapon-littered shop.

The 44-year-old Flint has repaired 30,000 firearms since he was dubbed a full-fledged gunmaker at the age of 12.

To Flint's gunsmithy come rifles and shotguns owned by sportsmen throughout Kentucky and other states.

Long Barrels More Accurate.
The guns of Louisville's crack-shot detectives and policemen, and officers' sidearms from Fort Knox, military reservation near here, pass through Flint's shop daily.

Flint's craft is at home in Kentucky, which gave the world the greatest advance of the art of armament in the eighteenth century. The principle of the firing arm has not been changed, even today.

"The first barrels were rifled in Germany," he says. "In America it was discovered that long barrels made them more accurate. But these were large bore weapons. This type of arm became known as the 'Pennsylvania rifle.' Take this one"—he picked up a heavy monster with a barrel you could stick your thumb in—"that gun belonged to Kit Carson. But Kit wouldn't use it because it was large bore. Virginia and Kentucky gunsmiths made small bore rifles for the first time. They were the most accurate made until then... and the most accurate now."

Gave British a Lesson.
The pioneers preferred the small bore because there was less powder and ball to carry; and because a miss meant time wasted, and probably a dead pioneer if the target missed was an Indian or a bear.

The small bore, straight shooter acquired Kentucky's name along with other characteristics.

Wilderness men taught the British the art of shooting in many frontier skirmishes. Some of these pioneers were captured and astonished their captors with marksmanship. A record of the time recounts that some were taken to England, where they dazzled the cabinet and the royal family with an exhibition in which they lay on their backs and put bullets through potatoes thrown into the air.

NO REFUNDS TO GO TO PUBLIC

Consumers Not to Get Any Processing
Taxes Back

Reflector Bureau,
Sir Walter Hotel.

By J. C. BASKERVILL

Raleigh, Jan. 14—The millions of consumers of pork, flour, sugar, cotton and tobacco in North Carolina and elsewhere who are the ones who eventually paid the $200,000,000 in impounded processing taxes which the U. S. Supreme Court has just ordered returned to the manufacturers, also the more than one billion dollars which have been paid and collected by the government, are not expected to get any of this money back in their pockets.

The betting in political circles here is none of this $200,000,000 will ever get any nearer to the public than the pockets of the manufacturers—unless some of the people who have paid this tax happen to be stockholders in meat packing companies, flour mills, cotton mills, tobacco factories, sugar refineries, and so forth. For with these millions of dollars coming back to them which they have already collected from the retailers and the retailers from their customers, it is expected that many of the manufacturers will be able to declare some fat dividends—provide they do not decide to put these returned taxes into the "sinking fund" or lose it in their own pockets.

So far as can be learned here, the meat packers are still collecting the processing tax on pork from the retailers—and the retailers from the public—despite the Supreme Court's AAA decision. And according to farmers in this section, the meat packers also collected the tax from them when they bought their hogs by deducting the tax of $2.25 per 100 pounds from the selling price. So in reality, many claim that the meat packers have collected twice the actual amount of the processing tax, once from the farmers from whom they bought the hogs, and once from the retailers, who in turn collected it again from their customers. And now they are getting whatever part of the tax they have refused to pay or which was impounded.

"I sold some hogs not long ago, but before the AAA Supreme Court decision, and the buyers told me they could not pay as much for the hogs as they would like to, because of the processing tax of $2.25 per 100 pounds live weight and consequently paid me the prevailing market price less the amount of the tax," and employee of the State Department of Agriculture who also owns a farm here in Wake county, told his correspondent today. "In fact, the prevailing practice on the part of the hog buyers, has been to use the processing tax as an excuse to pay the farmers less for their hogs than they otherwise could and should have received. Yet the packers later passed the tax on to the retailers and the retailers to their customers—so the packers really collected the tax twice. Now, those who refused to pay it or put up bond, will get millions of dollars back. But it will not be back either to the people who bought pork from their grocers and butchers, or to the farmers. It will go into the pockets of the packers."

The butchers and grocers here also express a great deal of doubt as to whether they will get any thing back from the meat packers. And if they did, they would have no way to pass the refunded tax back to their customers, they point out, since they have not kept any records on the sales of pork, flour, sugar, corn meal and so forth.

"We have had no reduction in pork prices from the packers since the processing taxes were held unconstitutional, nor do we expect to get any reduction or any refund," the proprietor of a large grocery and meat market said here today. "We, of course, have passed the tax on to our customers, since we had to do that to make any profit. I have collected at least $10,000 in processing taxes on pork alone here in my meat market in the last six months. But I do not expect to have any of it refunded to me, even if the packers do get it back. The millers, however, have reduced the price of flour by the amount of the processing tax on wheat of 5 cents a bushel."

So the prevailing opinion in most circles here is that the public has been here stuck and gouged again, while the taxes they paid will go into the pockets and banks' accounts of the manufacturers who fought the processing taxes and refused to pay them. The belief is growing, however, that congress will re-enact the processing taxes as excise taxes, and possibly make them retroactive. The hope in most quarters is that Congress will do this, since the public has to pay the same prices anyway.

Trarbach, and his brothers, Hermann, 82, and Wilhelm, 80, estimate that together they have drunk 65,700 bottles of wine in the last 60 years.

BANS MODIFY HOME LIVING

Sanctions Change the Habits of Italian
Households

By CHARLES H. GUPTILL
ROME (AP)—Sanctions imposed by the League of Nations have modified conspicuously the home life of Italy.

There probably are few families which do not recognize every day some new change in their habits and customs which with varying degrees of bitterness they ascribe to "sanctions."

Continuous hours designed to save office light and fuel compel the breadwinners to appear at their work at 9 a. m., somewhat early for the average Italian. The two hour "siesta" has been replaced by one hour for lunch, but the day's work is ended at 4 p. m.

The younger children may look upon sanctions with a less jaundiced eye than their elders. Elementary school hours were reduced to three daily and run from 10 o'clock to one.

Family entertainment has been restricted or rearranged. Theaters begin their performances early so as to close by 11 p. m. This means an earlier night meal which many an Italian dislikes, for he traditionally is a late diner.

After the theatre the trip homeward is made through streets in semi-darkness. Public illumination is cut in half at 10:30 p. m.

Many of the cafes and bars which formerly provided Rome's somewhat conservative "night life" are closed and their lights extinguished before midnight.

The Sunday automobile ride has been eliminated for most families buy gasoline at $1.15 a gallon. A few motorists have installed charcoal burners in their autos, which, while expensive to purchase, are extraordinarily economical to operate.

Another diversion, the Sunday "popular trains," of which many a middle class family took advantage, has been banished. These low priced excursions which Mussolini introduced to familiarize Italians with their own country were abolished along with half-a-hundred other trains when schedules were curtailed to save fuel.

The newspaper the Italian reads today is smaller—reduced to six pages to conserve newsprint which Italy imports.

The wedding rings Italians wear, if they are loyal, are iron, replacing the gold ones they gave to the country. The women in particular are earnest in their insistence that only Italian or non-sanctionist products shall come into the home. Their fervor is reinforced constantly by flailing "buy Italian" and "destroy sanctions" posters displayed throughout the kingdom and by an unceasing propaganda campaign in the newspapers. The stone-walled and stone-floored houses, which Italians inhabit are colder than usual this winter.

Senator Nye Says Wilson Falsified About World War

Senate Munitions Committee Chairman Charges War-Time President With Telling Untruth

Washington, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Chairman Nye of the Senate munitions committee asserted today that Woodrow Wilson falsified in chronicling some of the circumstances surrounding America's entrance into the world war.
He attacked Wilson's post-war story that he did not know at the time this country went into the war of secret treaties between the Allies for the redistribution of Europe.
Nye and Senator Clark (D-Mo.) pointed in asserting that documents they had read in the State Department's files and elsewhere but which they said could not be published, proved both the President and his secretary of state, Robert Lansing, knew of the treaties.

In 1621—
This picture shows how the Jamestown Colonists exchanged tobacco for brides. They paid "120 pounds of the best leaf" for transportation of each future wife who came to the New World from England.

In 1936—
And here is a picture of the modern auction warehouse of today where the same type of leaf tobacco is sold on the open market to the highest bidder.

There is no substitute for mild, ripe tobacco to make a good cigarette—and there never will be ... and that is the kind we buy for Chesterfield Cigarettes.

In the tobacco buying season Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co. buyers will be found at 75 markets where the Bright type of tobacco is sold, and 46 markets where Burley and other types of tobacco are sold.

All these tobacco men are trained in the tobacco business, and are schooled in the Liggett & Myers tradition that only mild, ripe tobacco is good enough for Chesterfield Cigarettes.

LIGGETT & MYERS TOBACCO CO.
