Mrs. Smith Speaks At College.
"Loyalty is the willing, practical, and thorough-going devotion of a person to a cause," was the theme of the final message brought by Mrs. Hazen Smith, annual Y. W. C. A. speaker, at the college vespers services last night.

She began her talk by relating the class room and everyday life with the motto "what sort of class would this class be if every member were just like me?" She stressed the obligations that come with membership in various organizations.

She read the description of a dependable man, quoting from Dr. Royce of Harvard University, who says "He is faithful, loyal, essential, indispensable, reliable, trustworthy, and valuable, he counts not time by minutes, is never idle, refuses no task he cannot conquer and never betrays a trust."

View all the tasks of life as sacred, and act so that the law of this life may become the law of mankind, was the final advice to the students.

This brought to a close the series of talks and conferences held by Mrs. Hazen Smith, who, as annual Y. W. C. A. speaker, has been the guest of the college since last Friday. She was the guest of honor at a tea given in Fleming Hall from 4 to 5:30 o'clock.

The Junior and Senior "Y" cabinets had charge of all preparations and the serving. Miss Ellen Jenkins, president of S. G. A., presided over the tea-pot, and other members of the two cabinets took turns in serving.

Farm Agent's Notes
By E. F. Arnold

Field Demonstrations
All arrangements have been completed for two outstanding field demonstrations to be conducted this week. The tree planting demonstration at O. H. Lemmons' on the Bruce to Farmville Road will be started promptly at 10:00 A. M., January 30.

A large number of farmers in the County are interested in tree planting and it is anticipated that the demonstration will be well attended. The demonstration will be conducted by R. W. Graeber, State Forester. One of the best informed men on forestry in the Country.

The tree seedlings will be secured from the State Forestry Nursery. Mr. Lemmons plans to plant about four acres in loblolly and longleaf pine.

The field demonstration to be held on Hugh Winslow's farm, near Pictious, will consist of forest thinning and care of woodland. This demonstration will be conducted at 2:30 P. M., January 30, and will also be supervised by R. W. Graeber, State Forester. Every farmer in Pitt County has a woodlot problem and it is hoped that in as much as timber for curing tobacco is rapidly becoming a farm problem in this County that a number of farmers will attend this meeting.

C. D. Griggs, Assistant County Agent, is looking out for the details in connection with these demonstrations, in order that everything will be in readiness for the day set. Farmers are urged to be on time at this meeting in as much as there is quite of work to be done at these demonstrations.

Swine Demonstrations
Following these demonstrations on Friday, January 31, farmers interested in the proper feeding of hogs for home use and for the market will have an opportunity to attend two swine feeding and weighing demonstrations. The first will be held at Arvin Taylor's, at 10:00 a. m., Friday, January 31st, and the second will be held at F. C. Martin's at 2:30 p. m., Friday.

These demonstrations should be of particular interest to farmers who desire to prepare hogs for the northern markets. It is expected that some seven or eight car loads will be shipped this spring, which enables any farmer with only one or two hogs to take advantage of carlot shipment rates to these markets. H. W. Taylor, Assistant Swine Specialist, will assist in conducting these demonstrations.

The County Agent's office is reviewing extension activities which were conducted by that office prior to the initiation of the AAA. Before the AAA, some ten or fifteen cars of poultry were shipped annually through this office, according to reports from County Agent E. F. Arnold. This activity on the part of the office has been revived and poultry will be loaded at Ayden Thursday, January 30, Greenville Friday, January 31, and Bethel Saturday, February 1.

Farmers are requested not to feed their poultry whole corn on the night before or the morning of the sale. They are also requested not to tie chickens, but to bring them in coops where possible. The weighing of the poultry will be supervised by the County Agent and the highest prices obtainable will be paid.

Rev. R. C. Grady Delivers Sermon At Joint Service

Local Presbyterian and Christian Churches Join in Union Services Here Sunday Night

Last night another of the union Church, Special organ numbers services sponsored by the Presbyterian and Christian churches was held at the First Presbyterian Church, rendered by A. E. Muehlberger, Presbyterian organist, and an offertory duet was given by Mrs. Karsack and J. H. Rose. The service was in charge of Rev. Wm. A. Ryan, Christian minister, with the sermon being delivered by Rev. Robt. C. Grady, Presbyterian minister.

Speaking upon the theme, "Can the Church Survive?", the speaker held that such survival depended upon at least three conditions being met. "In the first place, the church must give youth a more positive and adequate program. Too long have denominational complexes as long harmless, natural recreational life haunted youth and repelled youth, for instance. More, the church must hold to a simplification and a clarification of doctrine. Yet again, the church needs to 'step in along the line of character education.' Some sort of week-day instruction in religion and character-growth is needed for communities."

Mr. Grady held, "If the parents within the churches were serious enough concerned and willing to dig into their pockets for the future sake of their children—a proper curriculum, an adequate teaching staff—even if the staff had to be imported—could within a few months be worked out in situations such as we have here in Greenville."

For a second thing, the speaker held that the church's survival depended upon it being "courageous enough to cement and to lead the forces that make for transformation and change—transformation and change that has the future well-being of a community and nation's religious life at heart." Here the minister drew his illustrations from the fields of economic justice and racial relationships, pointing out certain goals the churches needed to set for themselves to avoid violence in the changes that are inevitable. "For Christian citizens of the southland, the time is fast moving past the point where we can deal with a man of different pigmentation in his skin in a business way only and become horrified at dealing with him justly in other ways. The problem of race relationships is basically a moral and spiritual problem—and until we can see it as that through the eyes of Jesus who recognized no barriers except the barriers of sin—the economic, social and political surfaces of the problem will be barely scratched."

"In the third place, the church can survive only if it makes ready to repel the assaults now being made upon valid and proper religious and American liberties. There is now a bill on the calendar of our national House of Representatives—which was favorably reported last session and which can be called up for a vote at any time—known as the Kramer Sedition Bill. Ostensibly aimed at Communist agitation, it is but an opening wedge to throttle civil and religious liberties. We tend quickly to the loss of these liberties when we deny even to groups as Communists the right to speak their minds. A second bill—to illustrate these developing assaults upon our cherished liberties—is known as the Military Disaffection Bill, which passed the Senate last June, and as reported in the House, provides that whoever with the intent to incite dissatisfaction, advises, counsels, urges or solicits any member of the Army and the Navy of the United States to disobey the laws or regulations governing the Army and the Navy—or whoever with the same purpose publishes or distributes literature inciting to dissatisfaction, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than two years, or both. His bill, 'reminded Mr. Grady,' also provides that houses and persons may be searched for incriminating literature. Again this bill, as the other—seems on the surface reasonable. But it is loosely worded. It could easily be used to punish any criticism of militarism, current military and naval practices, increased armament burdens, compulsory R. O. T. C. in schools and any other matter dealing with the pressing questions of war and peace. In fact, if this bill passes the House, those of us who have church papers in our homes, articles of which decry militarism and plead for peaceful adjustment, would conceivably be subjected to search and seizure."

"Can the Church Survive?", Mr. Grady asked in conclusion. He held that the answer was at best a dubious one—especially so if we continue to let the church fail, failing to organize our convictions. "If the church fails that failure will be ours—not God's. If the church becomes buried in blood—as in Russia and elsewhere it has been buried—and the possibility is by no means remote in our own nation—that burial will be our own fault."

Pitt Alumni Asso. On Record Against New Athletic Plan

Body Adopts Resolution Opposing Proposed Graham Plan for Control of Athletics at University

The Pitt County Alumni association has gone on record as opposed to the Graham plan for athletic control and has voiced its approval of the present plan governing the eligibility of athletes at the University of North Carolina.

The chief objection on the part of the local organization was the "provision barring any athlete from securing aid from the university, any of its agencies or alumni, directly or indirectly."

Members of the local association explained, while they did not favor going out and recruiting athletes, they felt the proposed plan was discriminatory and barred a deserving athlete from securing aid which possibility might mean the only way of securing an education.

The resolution follows: "Be it hereby resolved that this meeting go on record as disapproving of the recommendations contained in the so-called Graham Plan of Athletic Control, and recommending that the rules and regulations now governing the eligibility of players at the University be maintained, subject to changes to be adopted from time to time, not inconsistent with the general policies now in force at the University."

"Be it further resolved that a copy of these resolutions be sent to Dr. Frank P. Graham, to the Athletic Council of the University of North Carolina, and that a copy be given to the local newspapers."

COACH TEBELL SEES BATTLES

Predicts Regular Dog Fight at Basketball Tournament

Raleigh, Jan. 27.—Gus Tebell, head coach of basketball at the University of Virginia, sees a regular old time dog fight among Southern Conference teams this winter basketball title.

This year's race promises to be the most interesting since the split in the big conference and we can look for a dog fight all the way down to and through the annual tournament at Raleigh on March 5, 6 and 7," Tebell says.

According to the Virginia coach it has been years since there have been as many good teams in the conference as this winter. He firmly believes the annual tournament in Raleigh's beautiful city auditorium will be the best ever held.

"Duke looks like the best team in the conference," Tebell says "although the loss of Billy Hunkamp last week weakened it." Tebell says Duke has a seasoned, well-balanced and nicely drilled squad and if the team had a little more height would be a perfect one.

Tebell also likes Maryland. The Old Liners are like Duke in that they have a team of veterans with plenty of speed. They differ from Duke in that they have the necessary height. "Maryland employs a zone defense with a fast offense, featuring both short and long passes, and with Willis, six foot six inch center to control the tip, it is a dangerous team," says Tebell.

By tournament time, Tebell believes Washington and Lee, always a favorite with tourney fans, will be a pre-tourney favorite along with Duke.

Fears of "class war" and bureaucratic "suppression of American liberties under the New Deal" were voiced by Alfred E. Smith, principal speaker at the American Liberty League dinner in Washington. Speaking of ODD JOBS-

Old-Clothes Maker

Fred Waring's task in the Hollywood movie studios is to make new clothes old, and old clothes older. To give the movie clothes their thread-bare appearance he dumps the garments into washing machines and washes them for days at a time. He roughens shoes with files and sandpaper. Hats are held against a buffer to create worn spots. When wrinkles are ordered the clothes are rolled into bundles and put into a press overnight. Dirty clothes—such as pirates and miners wear—are in reality clean clothes spotted with paint, sprinkled with fuller's earth and rubbed with lamp black.

Greenville To Play Rocky Mount Quint Here Tuesday Night

Reynolds May, basketball coach at the local high school, announced today that the locals would clash with the strong quint from the Rocky Mount high school tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock in the Greenville high school gymnasium.

This game, in May's opinion, will be one of the hardest fought games the Greenvies have played this season in high school basketball. The reason given for this is that the team from Rocky Mount has lost only one game this season, that being with Raleigh High, and also that the boys from Rocky Mount are in Class "A" conference basketball.

Emery Adkins, a rival of Coach May on a friendly basis during their college days at Duke University, is coaching the Rocky Mount quint which is an added reason for the coach of the local high to be very anxious for his team to defeat the visitors tomorrow night on the Greenvies' home camping grounds.

The boys' quint of East Carolina Teachers College play the Rocky Mount All-stars following the game of the Highs at E. C. T. C. Coach May stated that the public in general would have ample time in which to see both the high school and college games, and urges the support of every basketball lover of this city at both games.

Plane Kills Cow
West Palm Beach, Fla. (AP)—In a forced night landing at the airfield here, Horton Hale's plane struck and killed a cow.

By mild ripe tobacco we mean just this —

FIRST—ripened in the sunshine... and picked leaf by leaf from the right part of the stalk when fully ripe.

THEN—each day's picking cured right by the farmer... at the right time and in the right way... no "splotching" or brittleness, but every leaf of good color and flavor.

FINALLY—bought in the open market... re-dried for storage... then packed in wooden hogsheads to age and mellow for two years or more until free from harshness and bitterness.

That's what we mean by mild, ripe tobacco. And that's the kind of tobacco we use to give Chesterfields their milder, better taste.

Type of barn used for "flue-curing" leaf tobacco.

Outstanding... for mildness... for better taste

Hogsheads of leaf tobacco "aging" for two years in storage warehouses.
