Governor Hoffman Says Witness Against Bruno Lied In Fleming Trial

May Be Grounds For Perjury Against Whited

INFORM GERMAN DEVELOPMENTS

Condemned Man Said to Be Greatly En- couraged by Gov- ernor's Newest Actions

Trenton, N. J., Feb. 24.—(AP)—Governor Harold G. Hoffman today accused Millard Whited, Souland Mountain lumberjack and one of the State's chief witnesses against Bruno Richard Hauptmann of "lying," a charge which might be the basis of perjury action against him.

The Governor, who questioned Whited at length Saturday, said the "printed and written record shows that he was lying."

Whited was one of the two witnesses who placed Hauptmann near the Lindbergh estate at Hopewell, about the time of the kidnaping on March 1, 1932.

Hauptmann was informed of the Governor's statement by his chief defense counsel, C. Lloyd Fisher. The lawyer said Hauptmann was greatly "encouraged" and given new cause to hope he will escape the electric chair.

Fisher said he was waiting for the state to start perjury action against Whited and would make no move of his own at present.

Prosecution officials, the Governor said, are making "a studied effort to suppress" important information in the Hauptmann case.

Prosecutor Anthony M. Hauck, Jr., of Hunterdon county, replied at once to this criticism by accusing the Governor himself of withholding the facts. Whited's testimony, he said, shows "there has been nothing suppressed."

"The governor," he said, "has been part of the story to show he (Whited) lied. Why doesn't he be fair about it and show the complete record as well as the full statement Whited gave Saturday instead of making public a few excerpts."

"In view of the fact that there seems to be a steady effort to suppress from the public certain important information concerning the Hauptmann case and my interest in it from the standpoint of seeking that final and complete justice is done in the matter," the Governor said, "I wish to make this further statement in connection with Millard Whited:

"I did not question this man, upon whose identification Hauptmann was brought back from the Bronx to stand trial in New Jersey, because I thought he was not telling the truth, but because the printed and unwritten record shows that he was lying."

"On April 26, 1932 he gave to the state police a signed statement in which he said that he had never seen any cars or suspicious persons in the woods or vicinity of the Lindbergh home. His next signed statement was dated October 6, 1934 when, after having been repeatedly shown Hauptmann's photograph by Corporal Wolff of the state police and having been promised payment and a part of the reward, he went to the Bronx county jail and identified Hauptmann as a man he had seen twice in the vicinity of the Lindbergh home prior to March 1, 1932."

ARMY OFFICER REMOVED FROM HIGH POSITION

Major General Hagood Ordered To His Home

HAD CONDEMNED P W A SPENDING

No Official Explana- tion Forthcoming Immediately From War Dept. Offices

Washington, Feb. 24.—(AP)—Major General Johnson Hagood was summarily relieved from his command of the Eighth Corps area at San Antonio, Texas, today and ordered by President Roosevelt's direction to proceed to his home and "await orders."

Hagood, in recent testimony before a House appropriations subcommittee suggested that Congress take a part of what he termed "WPA stage money" and use it to improve housing at army posts.

No explanation of his removal was forthcoming immediately in war department quarters.

In his testimony on the war department's appropriations bill, Hagood urged at least $150,000,000 be used for army housing.

"At the present time," he said, "there is a vast flow of silver—I won't say gold—spreading out all over the country like mud."

"It will soon dry up without any thing permanent to show for it. I shall not be accused of profanity when I say 'for God's sake, put some of it in stone and steel.'"

Hagood said he was "not familiar with the pockets in which Uncle Sam keeps his money" but understood that "there is budget money which is very hard to get, there is PWA money which is not so hard to get and then there is a vast quantity of PWA which is very easy to get for trifling projects, but almost impossible to get for anything worth while."

A native of Orangeburg, S. C., Hagood, who holds one of the most distinctive service records in the army, has been in command of the Eighth Corps area since October 4, 1935.

The order was signed by General Malin Craig, army chief of staff by order of the Secretary of War.

When asked the reason for the unexpected order, Craig said he had "no comment" on what he described as a routine administrative procedure. The chief of staff said he had no immediate new assignment for Hagood.

ANOTHER STAY BEING TALKED

Reported That Gov- ernor May Stay Bruno's Death

Trenton, N. J., Feb. 24.—(AP)—A report that Governor Hald G. Hoffman plans to make another death house visit to Bruno Richard Hauptmann and possibly reprieve him at the last minute, spurred prosecution officials into renewed action today.

Attorney General David T. Wientz, who headed the prosecution staff at the Flemington trial planned to leave Miami, Fla., where he had been vacationing from Trenton today.

On his arrival he will call a conference of his staff to prepare answers to the Governor's doubts that the kidnap-slashing of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh's baby was a one-man job.

The defense, bolstered by the Governor's view that the testimony of Millard Whited, Souland Mountain woodsman, and Amandus Hockmuth bears further scrutiny, hope to get Hauptmann's case again before the court of appeals.

Prosecution officials communicated at once with Wientz; it was understood and laid plans for a counter attack.

The governor attacked Whited's testimony Saturday after questioning him about two hours in his private office in the presence of Prosecutor Anthony M. Hauck, Jr., of Hunterdon county and C. Lloyd Fisher, chief of the defense counsel.

Effective results have been accomplished in the restoration of deer on the Pisgah National Game Refuge. The overflow of stock from this refuge has restored deer hunting in surrounding territory.

Another example of game protection, according to Mr. Chalk, is furnished by the Fort Bragg refuge to the military reservation in Hoke and Cumberland counties. Overflow of deer from this area has penetrated, for miles around the reservation.

Two federal refuges for the protection of migratory waterfowl have been established near the coast. Together, these areas contain at least 100,000 acres, including land and water. Lake Mattamuskeet is the better known of the two refuges, being one of the greatest winter concentration points in Eastern America for Canada geese. A part of this refuge has been set aside for public hunting.

Three new game refuges, according to Mr. Chalk, are in prospect in the submarginal purchase areas being acquired by the Reclamation Administration in Richmond, Scotland, and Bladen counties.

Effective Results In Restoration Of Wildlife Are Seen

More Than A Quarter Million Acres Of Land Been Set Aside As Re- fuges for Wild Game

Reflector Bureau,
Sir Walter Hotel.

Raleigh, Feb. 24.—Presence of species of game life in North Carolina counties where they have been unknown for years last season is a striking illustration of the effective results of refuges toward restoring wildlife. J. D. Chalk, State game and inland fisheries commissioner, pointed out today.

More than a quarter of a million acres of land have been set aside in North Carolina and are being administered primarily as refuges for wildlife, the commissioner said. These areas include the primary state system, most of which is on publicly owned land, and Federal reservations where the restoration of game and other wildlife has been made a primary objective. Mountain refuges, by restoring big game and other types of hunting on surrounding territory have already demonstrated conclusively the value of the setting aside particular areas for wildlife management.

The refuges, containing more than 40,000 acres, are located on National Forest lands. One of the areas, in particular, Mount Mitchell, has been taken as a national model. The refuge contains a game farm, fish hatchery, rearing pools, and a collection of native wildlife which attracts thousands of visitors annually.

TALMADGE FOE IS FORCED OUT

Governor Removes Comptroller Gen- eral from Office

Atlanta, Feb. 24.—(AP)—Governor Eugene Talmadge removed Comptroller General William B. Harrison from office today, commissioning Adjutant General Lindsey Camp to serve the order for Harrison's removal to countersign a warrant under the Talmadge "dictatorship" set up in the absence of a 1936 appropriations tax.

The Governor's order suspended Harrison until the 1937 session of the State legislature.

Adjutant General Camp, who heads the state national guard, went to Harrison's office and escorted him from his post.

The Governor's orders removing Harrison said:

"It appears from trustworthy information that the Comptroller General of Georgia, William B. Harrison grossly neglects his duty and is guilty of conduct plainly violative of his duties and himself in office to the hazard of the public funds and credit of the state."

Two men are injured in automobile wreck.

Everett McLawhorn and Marvin Caton are in Pitt General hospital suffering injuries they sustained in an automobile wreck yesterday, but no details of the wreck were available.

Neither the Highway patrol, county or city police had any record of the wreck, but the automobile in which the pair was said to have been riding was badly damaged, the front being smashed.

The two were admitted to the hospital last night about 7 o'clock. The extent of McLawhorn's injuries were not known, but he was not considered seriously injured. Caton suffered lacerations on the scalp and a broken arm.

Only 2 minor cases heard in police court.

Raymond Tyson, negro, was given sentences of 30 days each in two cases tried in Mayor's court this morning. He was charged with drunkenness and disorderly conduct and assault.

Lige Evans, negro, paid the cost in a case charging him with engaging in disorderly conduct and was freed.

Mrs. K. B. Pace today assumed her new duties as permanent treasurer of the Pitt County Tuberculosis Seal Sale, the sum raised from the sale last Christmas having been turned over to her.

Mrs. Pace is active in the American Legion and Pitt county medical auxiliaries as well as other organizations and officials of the seal campaign expressed much satisfaction at securing her services.

She will have charge of the expenditure of sums from the fund and will issue monthly reports on money spent for various items.

The final report on the funds raised in the 1935 Tuberculosis Seal Sale campaign, as reported by Mrs. Pace, giving the names of the districts, chairmen and amounts raised is as follows:

Tyne, $17.22; Farmville, Miss Tabitha DeVoscenti, $106.00; Fountain, Miss Nellie Owens, $32.14; Greenville, Mrs. J. H. B. Moore, $485.55; (Colored Schools contributed liberally); Grimesland, Mr. J. L. Outlaw, $10.10; ($5.00 of this came from Simpson Colored School); Grifton, Mrs. S. P. Dr. Ennett, county chairman of the Seal Sale, states that it will be his policy to keep the public informed, from month to month, as to how funds are spent in the control of tuberculosis. He states that 75 per cent of the money raised will be used in the county, 20 per cent going to the State Tuberculosis Association and 5 per cent to the National Tuberculosis Association. This leaves for the local tuberculosis control the sum of $805.19.

His last public utterance was on the constitution. Addressing a church meeting across the street from his home a few hours before his death, he had sharply criticized centralization of government at Washington as opposed to constitution tenets.

News of his death spread rapidly and expressions of grief and tribute were coming from National leaders in all sections of the country.

Two small blazes so far this month do little damage.

No loss from fire behind Miller-Jones store here today; $55 damage in fire Sunday.

Fires yesterday and today, the total damage of which amounted to only approximately $55, are the only ones reported so far this month. George Gardner, chief of the fire department, said today.

The fire today, behind the Miller-Jones shoe store, was caused by someone dumping hot ashes in a pile of paper and trash. The blaze caused no damage and the fire was soon extinguished.

A fire yesterday, caused by a leaking flue, at the home of W. H. Dail on Third street, did damage amounting to approximately $35.

ing in an effort of remembrance.
Twice before, the name of John Savage had been mentioned—once by Sylvia Bastington-French when she was speaking of Alan Carstairs, and once by Bobby when he was repeating the conversation he had had with Mrs. Rivington.

Alan Carstairs had been a friend of John Savage's. Mrs. Rivington had had a vague idea that Carstairs' presence in England had something to do with the death of Savage. Savage had—what was it?—he had committed suicide because he thought he had cancer.

Supposing—supposing Alan Carstairs had not been satisfied with the account of his friend's death?
Supposing he had come over to inquire into the whole thing? Supposing that here, in the circumstances surrounding Savage's death, was the first act of the drama that she and Bobby were acting in?
"It's possible," thought Frankie.
"Yes, it's possible."
Then an idea struck her—his will.
If there had been something suspicious about the way he met his death,
his will would give a possible clue.
She jumped up and left the train.
Five minutes' walk brought her to the office of Messrs. Sprague, Sprague, Jenkinson & Sprague.

MR. SPRAGUE was exceedingly genial. It was rumored that Mr.
Sprague knew more discreditable secrets about noble families than any other man in London.
"This is a pleasure indeed, Lady Frances," he said. "Do sit down."
Then Mr. Sprague removed his pince-nez from his nose and became more definitely the legal guide and adviser.
"And now, Lady Frances," he said,
"what is it gives me the pleasure of seeing you?"
"I want to look at a will," said Frankie. "And I don't know where you go and what you do. But there is some place where you can pay a shilling, isn't there?"

would be "frozen" into their jobs.
That explains why the administration recently presented a Civil Service measure in the House and why it was promptly rejected by the Republicans.
But back-stage conferences indicate that the President may work out a thorough-going program satisfactory to both sides—a deferred definite Civil Service classification. He has turned over the assignment to certain non-political advisers. It would be a bright plume in his campaign cap—and a reply to charges that Jim Farley was inon were represented and especially to give the younger generation a chance. But this diplomacy is likely to go for nothing since state party officials proved so narrow-minded. Sub-surface resentment is extremely bitter. Keen observers believe it could easily lead to a split which might dump New York's 47 electoral votes in FDR's lap.

HAPPY: Chalk up another triumph for Jesse Jones. The RFC chairman's persistence plus the improved earnings position have enabled him to put over his plan for the refinancing of New York Central's bank loans. The very strong bond market helped some,
too.

MEDICINE: Nobody in the know was surprised that Al Smith was included in Tammany's convention slate. Mr. Dooling couldn't have stricken that famous name from the list had he wanted to. Al is still a head big chief in "the Hall" and the young leader's scalp doesn't rest too securely on his head.
Although you'd never guess it from hairtrigger comment, New Dealers are secretly happy that the Liberty League's orator will attend FDR's
June party.

The answer is that Al will have nobody to keep step with except himself if he stages his famous walk-out. Delegates from the rest of the city and state will be chosen on the basis of their loyalty to the man in the White House. Mr.
Smith's presence will spotlight his loneliness. If he takes "French leave," it will amount to a repulsion of his refusal to await Mr.
Roosevelt's arrival at the convention in 1932. And even Al's friends concede that the Chicago snub cost him many admirers.

Don't let anybody tell you that ex-Mayor Walker wasn't discussed as a delegate who could take the edge off an anti-Roosevelt speech by Mr. Smith at Philadelphia. He was—but such an avowed conversion to the man who drove him from City Hall was too strong medicine for the political doctors.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin
SPLIT: Many New York Republicans—even conservatives—causticly remark that state chairman Mel Eaton and his advisers must be trying to imitate the old Democratic custom of "snatching defeat from the very jaws of victory."

Congressman Hann Fish has been the most vocal critic of the selection of eight old guardsmen (and women) as New York's delegates-at-large to the Cleveland convention.
But he has plenty of silent company. Financial circles are buzzing with the unwisdom of slapping the liberal GOP element in the face by naming three of their pet hates—
Charles D. Hilles, Bertrand Snell
and Jim Wadsworth—without a single compensating choice from the liberal wing.

An odd angle is that New York
County's GOP district delegates were chosen most carefully to be sure that all shades of party opis always a "spoilsmen" when he is in office but nobody ever makes a move to remove the "spoilsmen"

from the politicians' reach.
The Republicans never propose a Civil Service law until they have eliminated Democratic hold-overs, and vice versa. Not until the faithful have been rewarded—it makes no difference which party is on top at the moment—does come a demand that all candidates must pass rigid examination. The catch in the scheme is that those already in office

the next speculative stock market boom is not financed by the credit of member banks. The latter is the latest topic of Reserve Board discussion, although no definite measures have yet been decided upon.

There are still no signs of important expansion in bank loans for speculative purposes despite recent market activity. It's perfectly possible that a dangerously rapid rise may develop on a cash basis.
But the Reserve Board evidently doesn't intend to bother about that —perhaps figuring it has problems enough already.
Financial insiders get word that several key New Dealers are toying with the idea of controlling speculative inflation by levying new taxes on excess profits. Nothing is likely to come of it this year.
Congress will be hard enough to manage in putting across necessary taxation without asking it for frills.
But note this plan for future reference if Roosevelt is reelected.

REGULATION: This column recently pointed out that all the leading Republican candidates except Alfred Landon were on record as favoring some degree of federal supervision of utility holding companies. Further inquiry indicates that the Kansan feels the same way about it, if his actions as governor can be taken as a criterion.
Landon sponsored two laws to curb holding company abuses at the beginning of his administration in 1933. One puts a curb on "upstream" loans by operating company abuses at the beginning of his administration in 1933. One puts a curb on "upstream" loans by operating companies to affiliate or parent corporations. The other provides a limited jurisdiction by the State Corporation over the payment of dividends. Such payment may be prohibited upon evidence that it would jeopardize the maintenance of adequate service at reasonable rates and thus acts as a safeguard against the "milking" of subsidiaries.

It looks as if the big utility groups might as well make up their minds to swallow federal legislation of some kind no matter who's elected.

DISGUISE: A New Yorker recently wrote to a federal bureau suggesting certain improvements in one of its publications. The bureau chief—who must remain anonymous for obvious reasons—replied substantially as follows:
"Sorry we can't do anything about it. You see, we are a useful part of the government establishment and come within the regular budget. That means we have to economize. If you can tell us how to disguise ourselves as a bond-daging agency we might be able to demand an extra appropriation with which to carry out your excellent ideas."

First Aid and Leathercraft Courses. The fifth meeting of the "First Aid" and "Leathercraft" courses, given by the Greenville District of Boy Scouts and the professional leaders of the East Carolina Council, and instructed by Lieut. Lester Jones of the Highway Patrol, will be held tonight in room 209 of the Austin building at East Carolina Teachers College at 7:30 o'clock.

Men that have attended part of these courses but have missed more than two, are especially urged to continue their attendance. There will probably be an opportunity, at the end of the course, for those that have missed some of the required time, that must be put in, to make it up. This training is especially worth while and there is no charge for the instruction.

You spend several dollars each year for life insurance and that can never save you in case of an emergency. Why not spend a few hours out of a lifetime to learn what to do. First Aid has saved many lives that would have been lost without its application.

Mr. Wilson returned today.

First Church of Christ, Scientist. "Mind" was the subject of the lesson-sermon in all churches and societies of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, February 23, 1936. The golden text was from Prov. 9:10. "The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom; and the knowledge of the holy is understanding."

Among the citations which comprised the lesson sermon was the following from the Bible: "God be merciful unto us, and bless us; and cause his face to shine upon us; That thy way may be known upon earth, thy saving health among all nations." (Ps. 61: 1-2).

The lesson-sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Mortals think wickedly; consequently they are wicked. They think sickly thoughts, and so become sick. If sin makes sinners, Truth and Love alone can unmake them. If a sense of disease produces suffering and a sense of ease antidotes suffering, disease is mental, not material. Hence the fact that the human mind alone suffers is sick, and that the divine Mind alone heals."

Godley-Fowler. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Fowler announce the marriage of their daughter Nelle to Samuel A. Godley on Saturday, February fifteenth, nineteen hundred and thirty-six, Raleigh, North Carolina.

At Home. Walnut Cove, North Carolina. Sue Hastings Marionettes. The Sue Hastings Marionettes, the largest and most active marionette organization in the country, will be presented in two performances on next Monday, March 2.

At a matinee for children, they will give "Jack and the Beanstalk" with two added attractions, "Three Little Pigs" and "Puppet Capers of 1936," a group of gay song and dance numbers.

At night "Robin Hood" in a colorful and exciting production with musical accompaniment will be presented, followed by the "Puppet Folies of 1936," a sophisticated revue of musical acts and comedy sketches.

The entertainment committee of the college is bringing this attraction to Greenville and made arrangements for a night performance when they made out the year's program. The matinee for children, added later, is to be sponsored by the American Association of University Women.

Marionette shows have been among the most popular of all the entertainments offered by the college, not only with children but with the grown people. They have been included in the college program every two or three years since the college has had a regular annual program of entertainment.

Rev. C. B. Mashburn At College. "The Golden Opportunities of Youth" was the subject of an inspiring message brought to the college students by Rev. C. B. Mashburn, pastor of the Christian Church of Farmville, at the Y. W. C. A. vesper services last night.

We are in a world that is very badly torn because we have been too much interested in material things and too little interested in spiritual things, was his opening thought. Youth, he said, not only has its period of romance, but also has its problems and responsibilities; it is a period of choice, a period when youth lays at the crossroads and a choice must be made.

The first decision of youth, he

Race For State Auditor Promises Be Interesting

George Ross Pou Makes Fourth Candidate

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel. By J. C. BASKERVILLE. Raleigh, Feb. 24.—With the announcement today by George Ross Pou that he is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for State Auditor in the June primary, the belief in many circles here is that the campaign for State Auditor, in which there are now four candidates, may rank next to the gubernatorial campaign in general interest.

The four candidates are State Auditor Baxter Durham, who has held the post for 16 years and is expected to seek re-nomination; Willard L. Dowell, Executive Secretary of the North Carolina Merchants' Association; Charles W. Miller of Asheville, 25-year-old directory publisher there and Pou.

Two of these four candidates have been colorful characters in North Carolina politics for ten years or more, although this is the first time either has ever run for a state office. The two are Dowell and Pou. Both are regarded as being experienced and canny in political matters, and unusually broad contacts and acquaintances extending into every section of the state. Pou was Superintendent of the State Prison for 12 years, from 1921 to 1923, until it was merged with the highway department; and for a year after the merger was executive director of the prison division until he resigned to run for the seat in Congress left vacant by the death of Edward W. Pou of Smithfield. And while Pou was defeated for Congress by Harold L. Cooley of Nashville, this fact has not served to lessen his personal popularity over the state as a whole, his friends maintain.

As a result, many here are convinced that Pou will make a better showing running for a statewide office than he did as a candidate for Congress in the Fourth district. It is maintained that his 12 years of contacts with sheriffs and other county officers in every county of the state, together with his other broad contacts, promise to make him a formidable candidate for State Auditor.

A good many here, however, regard Dowell as the more dangerous contender for the nomination than Pou. It is pointed out that during the eight or nine years which Dowell has been secretary of the State Merchants Association, he has come in contact with thousands of merchants in every county of the state—and it is agreed that most of these merchants, especially the ones who operate their own stores, are pretty effective politicians and wield a good deal of local political influence. In addition to these contacts with merchants, Dowell knows individually almost every member of the last four sessions of the general assembly, in which he acted as contact man and chief lobbyist for the merchants against the sales tax. And while not all the members of these legislatures agreed with him, in fact, since the sales tax was passed in 1933 and retained in 1935—almost all of them are known to have high regard for Dowell and his out-in-the-open, fair and square methods of lobbying and fighting. The result is that he is conceded to have a strong personal following among members of past legislatures in almost every county in the state.

Still another factor regarded as being strongly in Dowell's favor is that fact that he will undoubtedly receive some very strong support from groups which will do all they can to help get him nominated as State Auditor to insure his elimination as a lobbyist against the sales tax in the 1937 general assembly. It is agreed here. In other words, there are some who think the best way to get Dowell out of the picture as the most effective opponent of the sales tax during legislative sessions is to elect him to a state office where cannot do any damage, and who are supporting him on that basis, many are convinced.

Baxter Durham is by no means out of the running, however, and many of his supporters who were frankly worried when Dowell announced are now jubilant because they believe the entry of Pou into the race will insure the re-nomination to him will be split three ways, although Miller is not regarded by any one yet as a serious factor in the campaign. On the other hand, there are those who are convinced that even with Pou in the race,

BLACK-DRAUGHT Next Time You Need a Laxative

For constipation, take a dose of Black-Draught as soon as you realize the condition you are in. "If I am bilious, have headache or a cold, I take a dose of Black-Draught at night," writes Mrs. R. D. Thaxton, of Lexington, Ga. "If I have a bad feeling after meals, I take just a pinch of Black-Draught. It relieves me. I recommend it very highly—a good family medicine. I give my children Syrup of Black-Draught. I find both good."

Black-Draught paves the way for the relief of many such symptoms as those mentioned above, when constipation is at the bottom of the trouble.

Just try it! Follow the directions carefully and you'll probably learn why Black-Draught is so popular.

Beware of Colds NOW! With Flu in the Air Colds Are Doubly Dangerous

COLDS—always treacherous—are doubly dangerous now, with flu reported in many sections. Colds lower body strength and may pave the way for flu, and other serious ills. Heed even the slightest sniffle as a danger signal. It's no time to take needless chances.

The safe course to follow is that outlined in the famous Vicks Plan for better Control of Colds. The Plan's effectiveness in helping its followers to greater freedom from colds has been clinically tested by practicing physicians—and proved in every-day home use by millions. Full details of the Plan are in each package of Vicks Va-tro-nol (handy aid in preventing many colds) and Vicks Vapo-Rub (family standby for relieving colds).

TO HELP PREVENT COLDS: At the first sniffle, sneeze or nasal irritation—quick!—use Vicks Va-tro-nol... a few drops up each nostril. It is specially designed for nose and upper throat—where most colds start. The timely use of Va-tro-nol helps to prevent many colds—and to throw off head-colds in the early stages.

TO HELP END A COLD: If a cold has developed, or strikes without warning, vigorous measures are necessary. At bedtime rub on Vicks VapoRub, the modern external treatment for colds. Its double direct action soothes irritated membranes—loosens phlegm—helps break congestion. Often, by morning the worst of the cold is over.

Follow Vicks Plan for better CONTROL of Colds (Full Details in Each Vicks Package)

If you'd look TAILORED!

—then these suits were made for you. This is another of those masculine fashions smart women have appropriated for wear this season. Neatly fitted waistline... trim double-breasted front... a slight flare at the hem... they look—and fit as if your own tailor had done them.

RESUME PLAY BETHEL MEET

Postponed Semi-Finals to be Run off Tonight

By R. O. MOYE
Play will be resumed in the Bethel all-star tournament tonight, play having been postponed on account of the bad weather conditions, when the semi-finals will be played between the four surviving teams of last Thursday night's play.
Bethel, winner of last year's tournament, will oppose the Aurora all-stars. Bethel in the game on last Thursday night having defeated New Bern 34-19, and Aurora having defeated Louisville 34-23. This game is scheduled to start at 7:30 o'clock.
The second game will be played at 9:00 o'clock when Greenville all-stars will meet the Williamson all-stars. Greenville in the opening game on last Thursday ran up the highest score against its opponent for the night, winning from Edenton by the score of 54-32. Williamson also won easily in its opening game by the tune of 33-19. This will perhaps be the best game of the tournament and as both teams are rated favorites in the tournament this year, a hard fight is expected. The two tennis teams have met twice before this season, with the Greenville all-stars losing its first game of the season at Williamson by a decisive score and Williamson winning here by a three-point margin. All fans are asked to take the short ride to Bethel tonight and help the local boys to victory for with your backing the boys will bring home the bacon.

ECTC Girls To Play Charleston College

Tonight the Greenville Panthers will play Charleston College. The game will be at the E. C. T. C. gym at seven-thirty o'clock. Charleston College has a good team and E. C. T. C. girls have not lost a game yet. This game is expected to be the best of the season.
The line-up for E. C. T. C. will probably be: Forwards—Blanton, Martin and Wilson and Guards—Pleasant, Martin and Parker.

PAROLE LAWS AID FAMILIES

Prisoners' Kin Receive Benefits from New Plans

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel.
Raleigh, Feb. 24.—The new parole law is not only helping the prisoners who are committed to the State Prison system, but is also helping the families of prisoners as well. Commissioner of Paroles Edwin M. Gill pointed out today, for in their interviews with new prisoners, the investigators from the parole office ask the prisoners to give detailed information concerning their families and dependents, if any, in addition to the information obtained from the prisoners about themselves, Gill said. This information concerning their families is then turned over to Mrs. W. T. Bost, Commissioner of Public Welfare, who in turn transmits it to the county welfare officer in the county in which the family of the prisoner is located.

"The county welfare officers, after receiving this information, get in contact with the families of these prisoners and report back to Mrs. Bost and to us as to how they are getting along," Gill said. "If the families are having a hard time, we cooperate with the welfare department in trying to provide employment or assistance for them. We try to make them feel that some one is interested in their welfare and in trying to help them. We also let the prisoners know that we are taking an interest in them and in their dependents. This improves the morale of the prisoners and helps to impress them with the fact that the state is really interested in them and trying to do something for them."

A week or so ago a prisoner was committed to prison here and he told the investigators from the parole office that he was worried about his family, especially since his wife was expecting a baby within a few weeks. This information was at once communicated to the welfare officer in the county in which the family was located and all arrangements made to care for the family, likewise the wife and baby when it arrived. In still another case, the welfare officer assisted the wife and brother of a prisoner to rent part of their home and thus provide them with some more much-needed income.
"We are trying to make the prisoners feel that the state really is taking an interest in their welfare and that of their families and we are finding that this is proving an incentive to good behavior on the part of the prisoners and improving prison morale generally," Gill said.

JOIN THE FARM BUREAU

President Roosevelt Says:

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT

"I congratulate the Farm Bureau of the United States on the perfectly magnificent work which they are carrying on."

"More power to your arm." (Statement made by Franklin D. Roosevelt while Governor of New York.)

"We must continue relentlessly to face facts and unitedly go after the obstacles in our path. To get out and stay out of the economic shambles require patience and calls for COLLECTIVE EFFORT such as America has seldom known in time of peace; but it can be done." FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT, President, United States. (From message January 25, 1934.)

"Together We Cannot Fail"

Edward A. O'Neal Says:

EDWARD A. O'NEAL

"For generations farmers have dreamed of getting fully organized and the time has come when they can do it should attain this dream."

If agriculture is to be fully restored to its proper place in economics, social and political life, the whole six million farmer families must speak with united voice. The Farm Bureau, because of its fundamental set-up in county, state and nation, is the ideal organization to speak for all farmers in shaping public policies and to enable farmers to collectively plan and carry out their own program for agriculture in co-operation with the agencies of government."

Over 2,000 new North Carolina Farm Bureau members are asking their other fellow-farmers to join the bureau at once and help in struggle for better days for agriculture.

There is a Farm Bureau being organized in your county. See your township leader and sign up at once.

Your county must do its part in helping North Carolina farmers perfect their organization. Your membership and active support is needed to make the organization stronger. Every new member makes the Farm Bureau stronger. Every farmer who fails to join weakens it.

WHAT THE FARM BUREAU IS AND IS NOT

The Farm Bureau is an educational and public affairs organization. It furnishes an organized group and the machinery through which the Extension Service of our Land-Grant College at Raleigh, with its county farm and home demonstration agents, may work in extending the educational and social program of that great institution to the farm people of the State.

It is constantly, through the Farm Bureau News and otherwise, giving farm people information on economic, legislative, and other problems affecting agriculture, and is persistently seeking a solution to these problems.

It is a public affairs organization in that it develops information on public questions and represents farm people before public officials, boards, commissions, and legislative bodies, pointing out the needs and demands of farmers.

It promotes legislation for the safety, protection, and benefit of agriculture.

It brings to farmers, wherever there is legitimate need, the benefits of the various acts of Congress relating to farm credits, production adjustment, economic planning, and other problems.

It cooperates fully with the Agricultural College at Raleigh in developing and extending the training of our young people for agricultural leadership; helps to enlarge and make as efficient as possible the program of agricultural research work for finding out the real truths involved in agriculture; and strengthens, supports, extends, and completes in every possible way the Agricultural Extension Service in both its social and educational program.

It aids, through Farm Bureau leaders, in the development of a systematic and comprehensive program of agricultural educational work.

It cooperates with all public agencies and institutions as well as business and professional men as fully as possible for the good of the people of the State as a whole.

It serves farmers as bankers' associations serve bankers, chambers of commerce serve business men, as industrial associations serve manufacturers, and as other associations serve other groups.

The Farm Bureau is not a business organization. Article 10 of the Constitution and By-Laws reads "THE NO. CAR. FARM BUREAU FEDERATION SHALL NOT ENGAGE IN BUSINESS FOR PROFIT, BUT IT MAY PROMOTE, ESTABLISH, AND SUPERVISE SUCH ACTIVITIES AS MAY SEEM NECESSARY AND ADVISABLE TO THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS."

The Farm Bureau encourages cooperative activity among farmers, because such activity is beneficial to the industry of agriculture. But the Farm Bureau, as such, does not engage in business. It is an educational and public affairs organization.

THE FARM BUREAU STANDS FOR

1. The Agricultural Adjustment Act, a tariff for agriculture, sound tobacco program.
2. Equal and adequate educational opportunities for farm boys and girls.
3. Ample support for experimental work in agriculture, for the work of county and home demonstration agents, and the teaching of vocational agriculture in high schools.
4. Rural electrification with rates in reach of farm people.
5. Continuance and expansion of work in soil erosion, land planning, and conservation.
6. An honest currency system.
7. An adequate cooperative credit system designed to serve agriculture.
8. Improvement of the quality of cotton, tobacco, and other crops.
9. A fair and equitable system of taxation based on ability to pay.

GREATER MEMBERSHIP IS THE MEASURE OF OUR STRENGTH

The strength of Farm Bureau is in exact proportion to its membership. The gigantic tasks ahead may be mastered if farmers unitedly take charge of their own business and also all public affairs and legislative matters affecting their business. The future of American agriculture depends upon its speaking with a united voice. Every farmer in America should enroll under the banner of FARM BUREAU.

"TOGETHER WE CANNOT FAIL"

A MORE ABUNDANT FARM LIFE 1936

1. First things first—God, Home, Humanity.
 2. Community life organized for work, worship, study, play.
 3. The upkeep of the soil a sacred trust.
 4. Rural schools equal to the best anywhere.
 5. Enlarged support of our Agricultural College, Extension Service, Experiment Station, Vocational Dept.
 6. Cooperation with authorities at Washington, D. C.
 7. Sound tax policy—County, State and National.
 8. A fair living wage through parity prices on farm products.
 9. Completion of our Honest Money program.
 10. Full Cooperation between agriculture and business for better farming, better business, better living.
- All these through greater Farm Bureau membership.

Farm Bureau Program Outlined

Urge All Farmers To Sign Up

By CHAS. J. BROCKWAY

Benjamin Franklin once said: "Together we stand, divided we fall." Franklin D. Roosevelt said: "Together, we cannot fail." Both exemplify the spirit of the Farm Bureau.

The Farm Bureau starts in the farm home. The head of the family signs up, pays his membership fee of $2 and his family then becomes a Farm Bureau family. They receive monthly two publications, The North Carolina Farm Bureau News and The National Agriculture Magazine. The members also receive the official membership card and pin. They automatically become member of their community Farm Bureau, which in turn gives them membership in the county, state and national Farm Bureau federation. The community elects a president, vice-president, secretary and board of directors. The president automatically becomes a director of the county organization, and so on up through the national organization. Temporary state headquarters of the Farm Bureau is in Greenville and national headquarters in Chicago, thus forming the largest farmers' organization in the world. But the real life and blood of the organization is the community Farm Bureau.

Meet Regularly

The community Farm Bureau holds regular monthly meetings, and some call meetings. The local president is in charge. He and his board of directors arrange programs and appoint all standing and special committees. A typical program lasting one hour consists of 15 minutes of business, 30 minutes of lectures or refreshments. Usually a guest speaker is invited to talk on some subject of local interest. Occasionally, the committee chairman give their reports instead of having a visiting speaker. The county agent works with committees in each community throughout the year. For example, a committee of three men are appointed on 4-H club work. This committee meets with the 4-H club there and with plans outlined by the county agent, sponsor and promote the 4-H club work in their community. In a like manner, there are committees on such subjects as soil improvement, home beautification, proper fertilization of crops, better livestock, farm credits, AAA activities, 4-H club work, marketing, education, legislation, recreation, good roads, religion, etc.

The county-wide program is planned in cooperation with the county agent and home demonstration agent. Each community has its special problems but in the main there is one big county-wide program in progress 12 months in the year.

Non-Commercial

The Farm Bureau does not engage in commercial transactions. The Farm Bureau sponsors better relations between urban and rural folks seeking to establish a mutual understanding and co-operative spirit between the two. It assists in promoting any good movement for the general welfare of the county and state.

Every person in North Carolina who is directly or indirectly interested in the agricultural development is urged to join at once and help in the greatest cause in the world, "to make agriculture a profitable, permanent and contented vocation of life."
