HOUSE ADOPTS SUBSIDY BILL BY VOICE VOTE

Soil Conservation Bill Nears White House

APPROVES ACT'N OF CONFERENCE

President Roosevelt Calls Conference of Leaders to Discuss Question of Revenue

Washington, Feb. 27.—(AP)—The soil conservation farm program drew nearer the White House today as President Roosevelt summoned leaders to discuss taxes for financing the $500,000,000 measure.

The House speedily approved the agreement reached in conference on a final draft of the subsidy bill. Only Senate action was needed to send the measure to Mr. Roosevelt's desk.

At the White House the President planned to confer tonight with Vice President Garner, Secretary Morgenthau, Speaker Byrnes and Senate and House Democratic leaders on the important question of revenue. Whether a tax bill might go beyond the farm program to embrace the bonus was unknown on Capitol Hill.

The House adopted the conference agreement on the farm bill by a voice vote after a few technical points were discussed. In the Senate, Chairman Smith of the agriculture committee served notice he would vote to override the President's veto of the $50,000,000 seed loan bill.

Interest Growing In Move Increase Volume of Traffic

Sectional Meeting to be Held on March 6 at New Bern to Make Plans Secure Traffic for East

Interest is increasing rapidly in the sectional meeting which is planned to be held at New Bern at 10:30 a. m., Friday, March 6th, in the Hotel Gaston to formulate plans to secure a greater volume of tourist traffic for Eastern Carolina.

This suggestion had its origin with the Goldsboro Merchants Association, W. C. Denmark, Executive Vice President, and has met with a gratifying volume of approval from Merchants Associations, Chambers of Commerce, Civic clubs, hotel and business interests, and the press of eastern Carolina.

It is expected that there will be an out-pouring of interested persons to attend the proposed meeting, and that definite plans will be mapped, to the end, that tourist traffic friendship and commercial expenditures may be further developed in the Coastal Plain area of our State.

A definite program for the meeting will be formulated, the objective of which will be to secure the material gains on a sectional basis as related above. It is hoped and expected that the attendance at the meeting will be of such response as to be followed with concrete plans of a permanent nature which will serve to attain the purposes in mind. Business and professional men individually, and accredited delegations from commercial and civic organizations will be welcomed and those who plan to attend are invited to communicate with the New Bern Chamber of Commerce.

Ladder Holds Center In Investigation Of Crime

Investigators Continue Efforts To Prove That Lindbergh Kidnap-Slaying Has Not Been Completely Solved

Trenton, N. J., Feb. 27.—(AP)—Gov. Hoffman today questioned the identification by Joseph Perrone, taxi driver, of Bruno Richard Hauptmann, as the man who hired him to deliver a note to Dr. John P. Condon prior to the payment of ransom for Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr. At Hauptmann's trial, Perrone said the man who gave him the note was Hauptmann.

Perrone, the Governor said, upon a number of different occasions picked persons whom he said greatly resembled the man who gave him the note and in no case was the description similar to that of the convicted Hauptmann.

Trenton, N. J., Feb. 27.—(AP)—The ladder allegedly used by Bruno Richard Hauptmann in the Lindbergh baby kidnap-slaying, held the center of the stage today in efforts of private investigators to prove the crime has not been completely solved.

From an authoritative source, it was learned two investigators have asserted "proof" that part of the evidence linking the condemned Hauptmann to the ladder was "framed" and that a report of this

FOUR PERSONS THOUGHT DEAD Train Passenger Coach Plunges To Canyon Bottom

Wallace, Idaho, Feb. 27.—(AP)—Four missing persons were believed dead today, buried under tons of snow that roared down Coeur d'Alene mountain and swept a railroad passenger coach to the bottom of a canyon.

The avalanche slid down the steep mountain side at dusk yesterday and ripped the coach from the rear of a two-car branch line train.

A rescue crew of 75 found two injured passengers in the wreckage of the car, but the Lookout Summit station reported four persons were missing. The Summit operator said: "Unlikely they will be found alive."

As word of the tragedy came down from the Summit station special relief trains were rushed to the scene from Montana and Idaho. They carried provisions and blankets for the survivors.

LOWER PRICES ARE FORESEEN

Hutson Says Low Tobacco Prices Will Arouse Farmers

Washington, Feb. 27.—(AP)—J. B. Hutson, agriculture department tobacco chief, predicted today that unregulated tobacco production this year would cause farmers to demand action for 1937.

With all bars down, he foresaw a drop to 10 and 15 cents a pound level and said if that happens the growers would be heard from.

Despite collapse of negotiations yesterday for inter-state tobacco compacts for 1936, Hutson expressed hope that something resembling the compact proposal could be negotiated.

Confronted with assertions that Georgia would not call a special legislative session to consider the tobacco bill, Hutson suggested that state could arrange for compacts without a law for this season to the satisfaction of other participating states.

Statements that Governor Eugene Talmadge would not call the Georgia legislature into session for any purpose caused by representation of North Carolina and South Carolina to assert they would not participate without Georgia.

Dr. L. R. Meadows Gets Appointment To High Position

Washington, D. C., Feb. 27.—The Educational Policies Commission announced at its headquarters offices here today that Leon R. Meadows, President of East Carolina Teachers College, Greenville, N. C., has been appointed as Consultant ex-officio for the Commission.

The appointment of a group of educational leaders as consultants is an important item in the program of the Educational Policies Commission.

The Commission was appointed for a five-year term of office in December, 1935, by the joint action of the National Education Association and the Department of Superintendence to develop long-range planning for the improvement of American schools.

The policies of the Commission will be developed from its contacts with educational and civic leaders serving as consultants in all parts of the country. It is an agency of leadership and service rather than an agency for bring about standardization and uniformity.

The consultants will receive important materials prepared by the Educational Policies Commission and will be asked to assist the Commission by expressing opinions on issues submitted, by raising additional issues to be considered by the Commission, and by reporting the conclusions of important committees of which the consultants are members.

Find Little Evidence of Improper Contacts

Washington, Feb. 27.—(AP)—The House Rules Committee reported today its lobby investigation showed "little or no evidence of improper contacts" between holding companies battling the utility bill last session and members of the House.

Charles J. Brookway, executive secretary of the state-wide organization, announced today the response from Eastern counties had been gratifying. He said that word had been received from Nash county that an enrollment of 1,500 members were expected to be enrolled by Saturday night.

He added that Chowan county reported 200 members already had paid their fees. Reports from Johnston county indicated that a membership of approximately 1,500 had been signed up in that section.

The goal was accepted at a meeting yesterday afternoon of the county committee. Meetings were scheduled for the various townships Friday, and in the meantime solicitors will seek to secure members for the county unit.

MAY DENOUNCE LOCARNO PACT

Mussolini May Take Action in Protest to Accord

Rome, Feb. 27.—(AP)—A belief that Premier Benito Mussolini soon will denounce the Locarno pact and the Italo-French agreement of January 7, 1935, in dramatic protest to the Franco-British naval accord gained adherence in informed circles today.

Strong hints that such a move is contemplated were dropped by The Giornale D'Italia, Rome's most authoritative newspaper, in an editorial which said it must be determined whether France's mutual assistance agreement with Britain is "compatible with the general principles of the accord of January 7, 1935, to say nothing of Locarno."

At the same time developments in Japan were seen by informed sources as possibly likely to interfere with Italo-German negotiations leading toward a pact between the Fascist kingdom and Nazi Reich.

German circles here said Italo-German discussions were continuing, but that the Reich is not likely to enter into a pact until the Italo-Ethiopian war is over and Italy returns to her European position in full strength.

The Giornale D'Italia editorial accused France and Great Britain through the Mediterranean agreement, of "breaking with the system of balances as well as the fundamental reason for European solidarity trust and justice."

ASK FINANCES TO PAY BONUS

Secretary Morgenthau Announces Treasury's Financing

Washington, Feb. 27.—(AP)—Secretary Morgenthau announced today that the treasury March 15 financing will aggregate $1,800,000,000 of which $800,000,000 will be new money.

In cash, the treasury will ask $1,250,000,000. This will supply the $800,000,000 of new money and $450,000,000 to pay off in cash the amount of bills maturing March 15.

The remainder of the financing will represent refunding operations involving $550,000,000 of notes which mature April 15.

Morgenthau said his advisors had told him the "immediate needs" of the department would amount to about $800,000,000, the amount of the new money sought. All expenses were figured in the estimates, he said, including the soldiers' bonus. "We are getting our house in order to handle the bonds as expeditiously as possible," Morgenthau said.

The term "new money" is employed at the treasury to denote additional cash borrow to meet government cost as distinguished from borrowing for retirement or refunding of outstanding debts.

Farmville Officers Holding Two Men On Liquor Charge

Pair Arrested After Wrecking Car Bearing 125 Gallons of Whiskey on Wilson-Greene Line

B. B. Burgess, white man who gave his address as Clayton, and John Wesley Williams, negro of the same place, are being held in Farmville jail after having been arrested on a charge of transporting illegal whiskey for the purpose of sale.

The pair were arrested yesterday after they had wrecked their car near the Wilson-Greene county line. The car was loaded with 125 gallons of liquor, 100 gallons of it having been broken when the car wrecked, turning over several times. Neither of the men was hurt, however.

Officers of the Farmville police department were chasing the liquor laden car when it wrecked. The officers had been advised from Greenville that the men were on their way towards Farmville with a car load of whiskey.

The officers "jumped" the pair and chased them for several miles before the car was wrecked on highway No. 91.

The two men are scheduled to be tried in Mayor's court Saturday.

The North Dakota's proposed amendment would insert in the constitution the following words: "Congress shall have the power to regulate the sale and marketing of all agricultural commodities."

"In the light of the many conflicting decisions," Nye told newspapermen on the floor, "it seems high time to clearly define the right of Congress to deal with this national agricultural problem."

Soldiers Said to Have Evacuated Public Buildings

PEACE IS URGED STOP BLOODSHED

Informed Sources Say Insurgents to Return to Their Barracks by Tonight

Tokyo, Feb. 28.—(Friday)—(AP)—After two days of the gravest crisis in a generation, Tokyo slept easier in the early hours today confident that sunrise would find the rebel soldiers who assassinated four government dignitaries Wednesday back in their barracks.

They capitulated last night to a government request that they quit police headquarters, where they had barricaded themselves in defiance of loyal troops.

Tokyo, Feb. 27.—(Copyright by The Associated Press)—A capitulation of insurgent soldiers connected with yesterday's assassination of the Okada cabinet was communicated by an official source to the Domei news agency late tonight.

The insurgents, who had held the police headquarters and barracks against an ever-tightening ring of loyal troops through 24 hours, were reported to have begun the evacuation of the buildings they occupied.

That quarter of the city was shut off from all outside observers behind soldiers, armed with rifles and filed bayonets.

The capitulation was said by the official source to have followed upon the mediation of high military authorities on behalf of the national government. These authorities prevailed upon the insurgents to accept terms of peace in order to avert bloodshed.

Previous to their capitulation the rebel self-styled "direct action" party members had withdrawn from some of their formerly held positions, before the threat of the loyal troops of Lieut. Hokei Hashii, commander of the Tokyo garrison and the man entrusted with the enforcement of martial law in the city of Tokyo.

Informed sources predicted negotiations between the rebels and high military authorities would result in a settlement in which the insurgents would return by tonight to their barracks, escorted by government troops.

Punishment for the uprising would be left for the future but the strife in the heart of the capital would end.

Surviving leaders of the empire, members of the cabinet or five assassinated Premier Okada, supreme war counselors and other militaryists convened at Emperor Hirohito's palace to select a new premier.

Speculation over the identity of the next premier mentioned most frequently, Baron Kichiro Hiraiuma, vice president of the privy council and noted head of Fascist organizations, and former War Minister General Sadao Araki.

A belief grew in political circles that some advisors would urge that right wing elements to be given a chance to form a cabinet to see whether they would be able to conduct the government.

Crop Adjustment Seen As Result Of Plan For Farmer-Owned Farms

A tenant farmer views the land he does not own but on which he labors from daylight until dark. At left is a typically dilapidated tenant farm barn. It is to such farms as these and to those who work them that Congress is expected to turn attention during the present session.

By WILLIAM S. WHITE.
Washington, Feb. 25.—(AP)—Congress undoubtedly will come to grips this session with farm tenancy—a problem which the leveling of the last frontier was supposed to end, but seemingly aggravated.

The Bankhead-Jones measure, designed to set up a vast revolving fund for government loans to get men out of share-cropping and on land of their own, passed the senate last year. Uncle Sam would put up $50,000,000 for a starter and could get as much as $300,000,000 more during the first three years of the plan by the issuance of bonds.

Now that AAA has been invalidated, some administration farm leaders are adding pressure for this measure.

One Influence
Not the least of the influences speeding the rise in tenancy—called by Secretary Wallace "one of the undesirable characteristics of rural America"—has been the steady increase in the specialized production of major crops, government experts say.

Their theory is that men with homes of their own and a definite stake in life would not be compelled to go so heavily into cash crop production, often destructive of soil and thus of the ultimate value of a farm. Thus it is held that something approaching the crop adjustment sought in ill-fated AAA might be reached in a small way, in this new agricultural approach.

Back-To-Farm Trend.
The number of men who own their farms has gone sharply down in the last half century. Where only 25.8 per cent of all farmers were tenants in 1880, the figure in 1936 is put at 42.7 for 40 states (8 not being included) or an increase of almost 100 per cent.

Resettlement administration officials say the percentage trend upward, but not the increase in actual numbers of tenants, was checked in the period from 1930 to this year for the first time in 50 years. The percentage fell by the negligible fraction of one-tenth of one per cent due to the sharp increase in the number of all farms. This presumably was caused by the "back-to-the-farm" movement brought on by the depression.

The significant thing, however, these officials explain, is that the total number of tenants has jumped by about 168,000 since 1930. Today 2,130,606 farmers are tenants, their patches stretching from the Canadian border to the Rio Grande, against 1,962,641 in 1930. Too, and contrary to general view, tenancy is by no means confined to the old south, but has spread the country over.

In Iowa, the percentage of tenants now is put at 49.6 and in Nebraska at 49.3. In both states a gain of substantially two per cent in tenancy has occurred since 1930.

Trying to keep the minds of senators and representatives on legislation while a national convention is in progress is an experience they desire to avoid this year.

FAIRYS
Fairys are pretty little things, with red and yellow wings. They have long golden hair like the main on a handsome mare. I read a story about a fairy who wore a pretty yellow dress. And one day she walked into a mud-puddle and her dress was a mess. Fairys are pretty little things with tiny yellow wings.

Marionettes At College Monday.
There is a rare charm about marionettes which everyone feels, child and grown-up alike. Sue Hastings, whose company is to appear at the college on next Monday for two performances, has brought a peculiarly American flavor to this ancient art. She carries her various companies, with their elaborate scenic and lighting effects and their miniature stage into the theatre, the school, the club and the home. Her appeal is to old and young, to high and low. One night she may play before a sophisticated audience and the next afternoon before a kindergarten group.

From the moment the curtains part to the gradual fading out of the last colorful picture, her audiences are carried away by the amazing art and skill of her marionettes. They perform the most intricate dance steps, playing musical instruments and sing, ride bicycles, slide down banisters, and even indulge in hysterics, just like their foolish prototypes from real life. She has played before many distinguished audiences, including President Roosevelt, and on several occasions for the Governor of New York State. Last spring and summer she toured England and Scotland, being the first American marionette organization to be booked over there.

In the twelve years they have been before the public they have gained a reputation second to none in the field.

At the matinee for children next Monday, sponsored by the A. A. U. W., they will be presented in "Jack and the Beanstalk," as the main play with "Three Little Pigs" and "Puppet Capers for 1936" added.

"Robin Hood," an elaborate and colorful presentation of the thrilling and amusing episodes of Robin Hood and his merry men, is the night production, with "Puppet Follies of 1936" added. This is under the auspices of the college entertainment committee. Season tickets are good for both performances.

Music Achievement Day.
Greensboro, Feb. 27.—Music achievement day for students of the sixth and seventh grades has been set for Friday, March 27, at the Woman's College of the University of North Carolina, according to a statement from Miss Grace Van Dyke Moore, head of the public school music department of the school of music at the college.

Contestants on that day will be students of the sixth and seventh grades from schools throughout the state who have been studying and listening to music during the year in preparation for this contest. Each school can enroll one sixth and one seventh grade student. The tests, formulated by Miss Moore, are in booklet form and are objective in nature. They are intended to give a concrete idea of the results in discrimination and understanding of music by pupils after their musical training during the school year. All registrars for the contest should reach Miss Moore by March 20. There are no entrance fees.

The public school music department at the Woman's College will be hostess to students, teachers, and parents who attend the music achievement day program on March 27. Assistant hostesses will be the Woman's Club of Greensboro, of which Mrs. J. Riley Brown is president. Miss Hattie S. Parrott, of the State Department of Public Instruction in Raleigh is joint director with Miss Moore of the contest.

The program announced by Miss Moore is as follows: registration at 10 o'clock; State music appreciation contest at 11; an hour of musical recreation at 12; announcement of honor ratings and awards at one o'clock; and adjournment at 1:30.

Cotton Marketing Methods In State Are Not The Best

Present Arrangements Are Not Conducive To The Production Of High Quality Lint

Raleigh, Feb. 27.—The present methods of marketing cotton in North Carolina are not conducive to the production of high quality lint.

This was the conclusion drawn from a study of the marketing system by the agricultural economics department of the N. C. Agricultural Experiment Station.

In the widespread custom of buying in "hog-round" lots, an average price is paid for the cotton without respect to variations in quality. Thus a bale of inferior cotton may bring as much as a bale of long staple, high grade lint.

Under these circumstances, said Glenn R. Smith, assistant agricultural economist, growers feel they have little incentive to produce the better quality cotton.

Consequently, lower grade, shorter staple cotton is produced. As this is done, the average price is depressed and total returns to the community is lowered.

In technical bulletin No. 51, "Cotton Marketing Practices in North Carolina," issued by the agricultural experiment station, Smith said that if proper prices were paid for different classes, farmers would pay more attention to grade and staple length and endeavor to produce the type of cotton which brought the highest price.

He also said that the demand for American cotton abroad would probably be greater, thereby increasing the amount of cotton local farmers could sell at a good price, if the quality were improved.

The bulletin, which gives a comprehensive report on the survey and study conducted by the experiment station, may be obtained without charge from the agricultural editor at State College.

Heart Attack Fatal To Henry Roosevelt

The hair on parts of their bodies where it isn't rubbed off becomes dry and loses its natural lustre. Professor Haig continued. If the condition is not corrected, the young animals lose weight, becoming thin and weak.

The first things to do, he said, is to thoroughly clean and disinfect the stalls. Remove all bedding and sweep the stalls. Then disinfect them with a five per cent solution of any good coal tar disinfectant.

After the stalls have dried, apply a coat of whitewash to the interior, then bed the animals with plenty of good clean straw, or other sanitary material.

The survey of industrial plants in the state already under way by the Industrial Hygiene Division under the supervision of the State Board of Health, and in which some 103 plants have already been surveyed and the employees examined for any traces of occupational diseases, has revealed that many of the industries listed by the insurance companies as hazardous, thus forcing a reduction in insurance rates. In other plants it has been found that by installing a few safety measures existing hazards can be reduced to a minimum and insurance rates greatly reduced, Dr. Reynolds said.

The full cooperation of the State Industrial Commission is being given to the new division, Dr. Reynolds said.

HEALTH BOARD GRANTED FUND

New Health Activity to Be Carried on In State

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel, Raleigh, Feb. 27.—A grant of $17,500 from the U. S. Public Health Service, with which to augment the $10,000 appropriated by the 1935 general assembly to set up a Division of Industrial Hygiene in North Carolina for the purpose of studying occupational diseases and hazardous working conditions in industrial plants in the state, was announced today by Dr. Carl V. Reynolds, State Health Officer and executive secretary of the State Board of Health.

Final confirmation of the grant was received in Washington by Dr. Reynolds the first part of this week and the money will be available at once.

The authorization of this grant of $17,500 for the Division of Industrial Hygiene in North Carolina means we will have a total of $27,500 available for this new work, which I regard as being one of the most important health projects ever undertaken in North Carolina," Dr. Reynolds said. "For not only is the work already being done by this new division going to result in better working conditions for thousands of workers employed in hazardous industries, but it is also going to bring about a decided increase in the insurance rates which these industries have been paying. Eventually, the work of the Industrial Hygiene Division is going to result in the elimination of industrial hazards, which will mean better working conditions for employees, better health for these employees, and much lower insurance rates for employers."

The survey of industrial plants in the state already under way by the Industrial Hygiene Division under the supervision of the State Board of Health, and in which some 103 plants have already been surveyed and the employees examined for any traces of occupational diseases, has revealed that many of the industries listed by the insurance companies as hazardous, thus forcing a reduction in insurance rates. In other plants it has been found that by installing a few safety measures existing hazards can be reduced to a minimum and insurance rates greatly reduced, Dr. Reynolds said.

The full cooperation of the State Industrial Commission is being given to the new division, Dr. Reynolds said.

THE NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

It seems to be the political heir of the Coolidge and Hoover factions and unpledged Old Guard delegations eye him more favorably than they did. Washington money says the Kansan will be nominated within four ballots.

CANNY: President Roosevelt has become easy on the power issue since the TVA decision. He has cautioned his hydroelectric experts and spokesmen that they must not do any immediate plans and moves on the Supreme Court's opinion.

Mr. Roosevelt is a far able lawyer than most people realize, and nobody has questioned him as a politician. In both capacities he has noted something which most people missed. It is that the public utilities cannot climb into court again against any of the great federal power projects which he has inaugurated. Wilson Dam is out by the court's say-so. No other federal dam has progressed beyond the stage of construction and therefore offers no chance of a court test before November.

Thus the TVA decision furnishes a basis for campaign claims that the "yardstick theory" is legally valid. It would be unwise to jeopardize that issue. So Mr. Roosevelt quickly stepped on publicity-seeking John Rankin's proposal for a Potomac Valley Authority devoted primarily to power development. He has privately ordered his aides to review other projects. If they don't meet the court's limitations, he will find a way to halt them. It's good law and good politics.

FLOURISHING: You may wonder why GOP publicists have not headlined the vast fees dished out to Democratic lobby-lawyers since their party took over the government.

President Roosevelt expressed his distaste for political practitioners two years ago at a notable press conference. His criticism forced his lobby-lawyers to resign as Democratic national committeemen but it did not drive the lot out of town. Secretary Ickes spotlighted Arthur Mullen's $175,000 bill for urging a FWA grant to Nebraska power districts, but the Roosevelt floor manager at Chicago still thrives. It is estimated that three prominent Democrats have made a million dollars each since March 4, 1933. They are Mr. Mullen, ex-Gov. O. Max Gardner of North Carolina and J. Bruce Kremer, former vice-chairman of the national committee. Their legal success is the talk of the town, though they never appear in a courtroom.

The inside answer for the GOP's indifference is that political lobbying is a bi-partisan institution which nobody desires to disturb. Such eminent GOP-ers as Pat Hurley, Mabel Walker Willebrandt, William P. MacCracken and William J. Donovan work the other side of the street. It's a street paved with political gold.

WEIGHTY: New Dealers are more greatly than they advertise for Gov. Gov. rank Merriam's declaration that "God placed Franklin Roosevelt in office at this particular moment." The Californian's eulogy may become the Democrat's major campaign slogan for 1936.

Despite Democrats' ridicule of the Literary Digest's general poll, they are worried over the revelation that a majority of the clergy seem to be antagonistic toward Mr. Roosevelt's policies. The administration's solicitude for the good opinion of these shepherds was reflected in the White House questionnaire asking priests and ministers to comment on New Deal accomplishments and local needs. The result of that poll was never made public.

Next to newspapers, clergymen are regarded by politicians as their most helpful asset. Confidential studies disclose that since 1916 the candidate who had the pulpit on his side has been victorious—Wilson in 1916, Harding in 1920, Coolidge, Hoover and Roosevelt. Hence the prominence by the Chief Executive of Herbert Hoover's state may be one of the most important of the year—and the campaign.

THE BOOMERANG CLUE

SYNOPSIS: It looks to Frankie Derwent and Bobby Jones very much as if Dr. Nicholson is the murderer of Alan Corstair, and as if they are hot on his trail. But Bobby has disappeared, while re-creating the Nicholson drug cure, and Frankie is desperate, saying that she must come at once to Tudor Cottage, Chipping Somerton. The letter also says she must not bring her large and expensive car, and must tell no one where she is going.

Chapter 37

"Anything interesting in your letter?" Roger inquired casually.

For a moment Frankie hesitated. Surely Bobby had not meant Roger when he adjured her to tell nobody?

Then she remembered the heavy underlining—remembered, too, her own recent monstrous idea. If that were true, Roger might betray them both in all innocence.

"No," she said. "Nothing at all." She was to repeat her decision bitterly before twenty-four hours had passed.

More than once in the course of the next few hours did she regret Bobby's dictum that the car was not to be used. Chipping Somerton was no very great distance as the crow flies, but the journey involved changing three times, with a long, dreary wait at a country station each time, and to one of Frankie's impatient temperaments this slow method of procedure was extremely hard to endure with fortitude.

It was getting dark when Frankie's train, an extremely deliberate and thoughtful train, drew into the little station of Chipping Somerton. It was just beginning to rain, too, which was additionally trying.

Bobby's directions were quite easy to follow. Frankie saw the lights of the village ahead and turned off to the left up a lane which led steeply up hill. Presently she saw the little cluster of houses that formed the village lying below her and came to a neat wooden gate with "Tudor Cottage" written on it.

The door of the cottage opened and she saw a figure in chauffeur's dress peer cautiously out. Bobby! He made a beckoning gesture, then withdrew inside, leaving the door ajar.

Frankie stepped gingerly over the threshold into a dark hall. She stopped, peering about her.

"Bobby?" she whispered. It was her nose that gave her warning. Where had she known that smell before—that heavy, sweet odor?

Just as her brain gave the answer "Chloroform," strong arms seized her from behind. She opened her mouth to scream and a wet pad was clapped over it. The sweet, cloying smell filled her nostrils.

She fought desperately, twisting and turning, kicking. But it was of no avail. Despite the fight she put up she felt herself succumbing. There was a drumming in her ears, she felt herself choking. And then she knew no more.

When Frankie came to herself the immediate reactions were depressing. There is nothing romantic about the after-effects of chloroform. She was lying on an extremely hard wooden floor and her hands and feet were tied. She managed to roll herself over, and her head nearly collided violently with a battered coal-box. Various distressing events then occurred.

A few minutes later Frankie was able, if not to sit up, at least to take notice.

Close at hand she heard a faint groan. As far as she could make out she seemed to be in a kind of attic. The only light came from a skylight in the roof, and at this moment there was very little of that. In a few minutes it would be quite dark. The groan seemed to have come from the corner.

Frankie's bonds were not very tight. She wormed her way across the dusty floor.

"Bobby!" she ejaculated.

Bobby it was, also tied-hand and foot. In addition he had a piece of cloth bound round his mouth. This he had almost succeeded in working loose. Frankie came to his assistance. In spite of being bound together her hands were still of some use, and a final vigorous pull with the teeth finally did the job.

Rather stiffly Bobby managed to ejaculate, "Frankie!"

"How did they get you?" demanded Frankie. "Was it after you wrote that letter to me?"

"What letter? I never wrote any letter!"

"Oh, I see!" said Frankie, her eyes opening. "What an idiot I have been!"

On most people that the men who fashioned PDR's TVA victory are regarded by politicians as their most helpful asset. Confidential studies disclose that since 1916 the candidate who had the pulpit on his side has been victorious—Wilson in 1916, Harding in 1920, Coolidge, Hoover and Roosevelt. Hence the prominence by the Chief Executive of Herbert Hoover's state may be one of the most important of the year—and the campaign.

FUT: It's an ironic twist lost on

He described his adventures at the Grange and their sinister sequel. "I came to in this beastly hole," he said. "There was some food and drink on a tray. I was frightfully hungry and I had some. I think it must have been doped for I fell asleep almost immediately. What day is it?"

"Friday."

"And I was knocked out on Wednesday evening. Now tell me what happened to you."

Frankie recounted her adventures beginning with the story she had heard from Mr. Sprague and carrying on until she thought she recognized Bobby's figure in the doorway.

"And then they chloroformed me," she finished.

"The thing is," said Bobby, "what are we going to do now?"

"If only I'd told Roger about your letter," lamented Frankie.

"The only thing I can't make out is why they didn't knock us both on the head straight away," mused Bobby. "I don't think Nicholson would stick at a little trifle like that."

"He's got a plan," said Frankie with a slight shiver.

"Well, we better have one, too. We've got to get out of this, Frankie. How are we going to do it?"

"We can shout," said Frankie.

"Ye-es," said Bobby. "Somebody might be passing and hear. But from the fact that Nicholson didn't gag you I should say that the chances in that direction are pretty poor. Your hands are more loosely tied than mine. Let's see if I can get them undone with my teeth."

The next few minutes were spent in a struggle that did credit to Bobby's dentist.

"Extraordinarily how easy these things sound in books," he panted. "I don't believe I'm making the slightest impression."

"You are," said Frankie. "It's loosening. Look out, there's somebody coming."

She rolled away from him.

"AND how are my two little birds?" said the voice of Dr. Nicholson.

He carried a candle in one hand, and though he was wearing a hat pulled down over his eyes and a heavy overcoat with the collar turned up, his voice would have betrayed him anywhere.

He shook his head at them playfully.

"Unworthy of you, my dear young lady," he said. "To fall into the trap so easily."

Nicholson put the candle down on a chair.

"At any rate," he said, "let me see if you are comfortable."

He examined Bobby's fastenings, nodded his head approvingly and passed on to Frankie. There he shook his head.

"As they truly used to say to me in my youth," he remarked, "fingers were made before forks—and teeth were used before fingers. Your young friend's teeth, I see, have been active."

A heavy, broken-backed oak chair was standing in a corner.

Nicholson picked up Frankie, deposited her on the chair and tied her securely to it.

Frankie found her tongue. "What are you going to do with us?" she demanded.

Nicholson walked to the door and picked up his candle.

"Shall I tell you? Yes, I think I will. Lady Frances Derwent, driving her car, her chauffeur beside her, mistakes a turning and takes a disused road leading to a quarry. The car crashes over the edge. Lady Frances and her chauffeur are killed."

There was a slight pause, then Bobby said:

"But we mightn't be. Plans go awry sometimes. One of yours did down in Wales."

"Your tolerance of morphia was certainly very remarkable, and—from our point of view—regrettable," said Nicholson. "But you need have no anxiety on my behalf this time."

"He enjoys this," thought Bobby. And aloud he said in a casual voice, "You're making a mistake—especially where Lady Frances is concerned."

"Yes," said Frankie. "In that clever letter you forced you told me to tell nobody. Well, I told Roger Basington-French. If anything happens to us he will know who is responsible. You'd better let us go and clear out of the country as fast as you can."

by broadening the litigation so as to include all of TVA's still undeveloped phases but he sidestepped. Though defeated in the lower court circuit judges upheld his contention that Wilson dam had a constitutional foundation. It was fought on that basis in the Supreme Court and the majority opinion indirectly complimented government counsel for refusing to fly off on a legal tangent.

Mr. Fly was brought from Texas to Washington during the Hoover regime. He served in the antitrust division under John Lord O'Brien, who was Assistant to Mr. Hoover's attorney general. When the TVA lawyer needed extra help in the latter stages, he drafted his old boss. The latter simply carried on. And three of the justices who ruled for the New Deal were named to the Court by the Palo Alto exile.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin
TACTICS: Bill Green's latest play in his poker game with John Lewis was a bold one. By officially ordering all bodies directly chartered by the American Federation of Labor to refrain from supporting or endorsing Lewis' Committee for Industrial Organization he will force a direct showdown in many labor fields.

The order failed to specify penalties for disobedience, but conveyed a strong intimation that offending bodies would lose their charters and be replaced by more tractable groups. Green's gesture will certainly be called by several unions sympathetic to Lewis—including the radio workers. If it turns out that he was bluffing his prestige and influence will be shot. If he means business, the war will be on in earnest. In that case the "disintegration and disruption" of the Federation that Green proclaims he is trying to check is likely to develop with dramatic swiftness.

Insiders understand that Lewis is glad to sit tight and let his opponent force the issue. He feels he will gain more followers for the decisive battle by remaining on the tactical defensive and letting Green pick a quarrel with him than by the reverse.

CREDIT: John Lord O'Brien is collecting lavish and merited laurels for his services in winning the TVA case for the government. But informde New Yorkers don't overlook the important and self-effacing contribution of James L. Fly—general solicitor for TVA.

Mr. Fly was on the firing line in the first phase of the fight before the Federal district court in Alabama. He lost. Being more concerned about an eventual victory for TVA than personal glory he promptly revamped his whole campaign plan. It was he who decided to engage the services of an outside expert—Mr. O'Brien, who used to be his boss. And it was he also—with some assistance from the Department of Justice—who mapped the strategy of restricting the issue which O'Brien followed so successfully.

So when opponents gibe that the New Dealers had to hire outside brains to get by the Supreme Court even once—the gold case was so long ago it hardly counts—it is only a partial truth. Fly and the Attorney General's office should be credited with valuable assets.

REALISM: New Yorkers got a kick out of Jim Landis' recent public lament about the impossibility of curbing the speculative spirit by law. Comment runs that Wall Street always has been a tough place for idealists.

Most financial men agree that the Securities Exchange Commission has made excellent use of the weapons at its command. It has done much to make honesty the watchword of security markets. But trying to abolish speculation entirely is like trying to abolish human nature. You can't legislate people out of the desire for quick and easy profits.

Mr. Landis was correct in his intimation that customers' men were up to their old tricks the day the TVA decision was announced and the market went crazy. They were telling their eager clients—for forty fatal minutes—that Chief Justice Hughes' opinion was surely going against the government and "you better get aboard quick—before it's too late." Again it is human nature to pose an oracle when asked—especially if it helps business—and you can't stop that sort of thing with regulation. The financial community hopes Mr. Landis doesn't get too discouraged—and that his newly acquired realism will help him and them in the long run.

CONSUMERS: The Committee on Consumer Credit continues its aggressive fight for the elimination of installment selling abuses. It has just filed a report with the General Court of Massachusetts citing 200 cases, taken at random, of installment rates on used cars, auto equipment, tires, radios, furniture, etc. The true annual carrying charge in a majority of these cases was between 37 per cent and 943 per cent.

The Committee advocates a law requiring every dealer in installment goods to state the true carrying rate and contends that forced competition in the open will reduce costs to consumers.

There is evidence that carrying charges are already declining in those branches of installment selling where publicity of rates prevails. This also applies to the small loan business where the law compels truth-telling.

UP: Little by little the growing public appetite for securities is forcing some stocks back above the peaks they reached in 1929. Only a small number of issues are in this category as yet but more of them are gradually and constantly being added to the list.

This uptrend is more noticeable among preferred shares than common stocks—further evidence that steady pressure of investment demand is responsible rather than manipulation or spectacular hunch-playing. Despite the psychological pressure of adverse legislation, 12 utility preferred issues have topped their '29 highs. Other preferred stocks in this select class include nine merchandising issues, eight tobaccos, six rails, five building companies and a scattering from other industries.

Common issues that have surpassed their '29 records include five tobaccos, four gold mines and four oil companies.

DEFENSE: New York observers were amused to note that Jim Farley took care not to pose as a farm expert in his Topeka speech. Critics crack it was real smart of Jim to conceal his probable lack of information concerning the difficulties between wheat and oats. That was rated a perfect defense against embarrassing questions.

Williamston Able To Secure Only One Foul Point

By JAMES L. WHITFIELD
Curtains were drawn on the boy's quint of the Greenville high school here last night for scheduled games of the season by defeating the boys from Williamston by a score of 50-1, closing one of the most successful seasons in basketball to be had in some time by the local high.

Carl Pierce, Joseph Hatem, George Lautares, and Harry Rountree played their last basketball game in behalf of the high last night owing to the fact that each of them are scheduled to graduate this year. However, some of them may decide to undergo extra work next term.

Last night's game was easy from start to finish, and before the gong was sounded for the last round-up, every scrub had been given the opportunity to participate in the clash, with three of the bench warmers aiding in running up the score of the locals. Those being Thomas Cox, Richard Gaylord and Harding Sugg, each obtaining two points each.

Thomas Parrish and George Lautares ran neck and neck in tallying points in the combat, and when the game ended, each of them had eleven points to their credit. In fact, every varsity member scored with Joe Hatem obtaining 9 points and was followed up by Simpson, whose credits totaled 8. The next runner-up was Carl Pierce, who made three points.

Scoring the meager point for Williamston was Barnhill, who was fortunate enough to obtain a point by means of a foul to keep the Greenies from whitewashing the team of which he was a member.

Greenville: Lautares, r. g. 11; Pierce, l. f. 3; Simpson, c. 8; Parrish, r. g. 11; Hatem, l. g. 9.

Williamston: Barnhill, r. g. 1; Moore, l. g. 1; Gurganus, c. 1; Wynne, r. g. 1; Cook, l. g. 1.

Subs for Williamston—Quinn, Critcher, Peel and Harrison.

Score at half: 18-1. Referee Roy Cox. Umpire: Boley Farley.

LOCAL GIRLS VICTORIOUS

High Sextet Defeat Williamston by 19.3 Count

The sextet of the Greenville high school proved too much for the girls from Williamston here last night and defeated the visitors by a score of 19-3.

Miss Cecelia Mials, who coaches the local group, has put the girls under her supervision through some strenuous workouts during the past several days, which accounted for their win over their rivals from Williamston.

Jean Jones was the most outstanding material for the locals in running up points by tallying a total of 12 points. Others scoring for the locals were Bobbie Baublitz, Rachel Blanchard, Phoebe Nesbit and Helen Flanagan.

High scorer for Williamston was Cook who made 9 points. Others scoring for the visitors were Mischel, Hardison and Lilly.

Although the boys closed their season here last night, the girls have managed to present one more home game here. This will occur in the even of the local high Friday night at 7:30 o'clock, when they meet their rivals, the sextet of Kinston. The local girls lost by only one point to the Kinston lassies the last time they engaged them, this being made during the last minute of the game, and should be a good justification that the game tomorrow night will be a real treat for local basketball lovers.

Greenville: Bobbie Baublitz, r. g. 3; Rachel Blanchard, l. f. 2; Jean Jones, c. 12; Ethel Gaston, r. g. 1; Annie Joyner, r. g. 1; Marie Simpson, l. g.

Williamston: Hardison, r. f. 1; Mischel, l. g. 2; Cook, c. 9; Holloman, r. g. 1; Keel, c. g. 1; Ward, l. g.

Subs for Greenville: Phoebe Nesbit 2; Helen Flanagan 2; and Dorothy Merritt.

Subs for Williamston: Lilly.

Score at half: 17-3. Referee: Gladys Gaston.

FOREST FIRES BREAKING OUT Blazes Continue De- spite Recent Snow And Rains

Reflector Bureau,
Sir Walter Hotel.

Raleigh, Feb. 26.—Even excessive snowfalls and rains failed to prevent the outbreak of forest fires during the month of January.

A report from the 56 North Carolina counties organized to combat flames in the woodlands for last month shows a total of 136 fires. These fires burned over only 3,177 acres of woodlands and caused damages amounting to $4,315, Assistant State Forester W. C. McCormack said.

Smokers constituted by their carelessness, the main source of fires for the month, being held responsible for almost one-third of the total—44. Campers, fishermen, and hunters were said to have caused the next highest number, 38 being assigned to this origin.

Next in number of fires caused during the month were the following: miscellaneous, 28; brush burning, 16; incendiaries, 7; and railroad, 3. That all of the first were man-caused and were therefore preventable is shown by the fact that none was traced to lightning, the only known natural cause of forest fires in the state.

With continued favorable weather and increased efficiency on the part of the field force, Mr. McCormack looks forward to another banner year in the control of the "Red B" in North Carolina. By far the largest amount of forest and ever to receive protection at the same time in the State is now under the organized supervision of fire wardens. More than two-thirds of the 20,000,000 acres of forest lands in North Carolina now have warden service.

New and more effective equipment is being obtained for the fire-fighters who are being more intensively trained for their duties. Another valuable ally in the control of forest fire is the Civilian Conservation Corps which is undertaking improvements in the woodlands designed to help work and whose personnel is also available as reserves to assist in fighting flames.

Common Sense about HEADACHE

Usually a headache is due to high nerve tension. At such times all you need is a little Capidine. This remedy is very effective because it quickly soothes tense nerves and eases pain.

Of course headache may come from more serious sources. Sometimes it may be an abscessed tooth, or some underlying cause which only your family physician can discover. Meanwhile, avoid suffering as much as you can by using Capidine.

Capidine contains no narcotics. It acts quickly and gently. Ask for either Capidine Liquid or Capidine Brand Tablets.

LET KIDNEYS FLUSH OUT 3 LBS. A DAY

Clean Out 15 Miles of Kidney Tubes
Nature put over 15 miles of tiny tubes and filters in your kidneys to strain the waste matter out of the blood. Kidneys should pass 3 pints a day and so get rid of more than 2 pounds of waste matter.
When the passing of water is scanty, with smarting and burning, the 15 miles of kidney tubes may need flushing out. This danger signal may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes and dizziness.
If kidneys don't empty 3 pints a day and so get rid of more than 2 pounds of waste matter, your body may take up some of these poisons causing serious trouble. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, which have been used successfully by millions of people for over 40 years. They give happy relief and help the kidneys to flush out 3 pounds a day. Insist on Doan's Pills.

IN MEMORIAM

We can do no more now than express for him his appreciation to hundreds of business associates, friends and customers who have been loyal to him and to whom he has been loyal.

Thirty years in building and maintaining a name is an accomplishment—and in accomplishing this enviable reputation, a record of fair and honest dealing was mandatory—and other than being mandatory—a sincere personal desire of the founder of this house.

Those he leaves have a profound appreciation of his standards, and will strive to uphold them as though he himself were still upholding them.

Again for him, thank you.

Western Counties Claimed By Both Hoey and Graham

Buncombe is Considered Key County In Primaries

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel.
By J. C. BASKERVILL.
Raleigh, Feb. 27.—Claims by the supporters of both Clyde R. Hoey of Shelby and of A. H. (Sandy) Graham of Hillsboro with regard to Asheville, Buncombe, Henderson and other western counties, and more especially the claim by the Hoey forces that the so-called "Buncombe county faction" has decided to support Hoey rather than Graham for the Democratic nomination for Governor, is attracting much attention here the last few days, especially since the Graham supporters maintain that this same group of Democratic politicians in Buncombe county reported to be solidly backing Hoey are in reality backing Graham.

Ordinarily, the attitude of the leaders in just one out of 100 counties towards a candidate for Governor would not be of state-wide significance, it is agreed. But it is also agreed in political circles that the situation in Asheville and Buncombe county is decidedly significant, since Buncombe is to Western North Carolina what Maine used to be to the entire nation, in that in most primary elections it has been true that "as goes Buncombe so goes Western North Carolina." It is also generally conceded that the way in which the Democratic vote goes in Western North Carolina usually is the deciding factor in primary elections. Consequently, Buncombe county has for years been the battleground of candidates for Governor and for the Senate, since the candidates who could line up the support of Buncombe county could usually count on getting the almost solid Democratic vote in most of the western counties surrounding Buncombe. It is an admitted fact that the Democrats in the western counties do stick together better than in any other section of the state, with the result that they usually center on a candidate and "go down the line" for him.

It has been no political secret here that for the past several months Hoey, Graham and Dr. McDonald, another candidate for the gubernatorial nomination, have been jockeying for the advantage in Asheville, Buncombe and other western counties. But little could be learned here as to the progress they were making or as to which of the candidates the leaders were going to support.

Then one day last week, a story appeared on the front page of one of the Asheville newspapers to the effect that the "Buncombe county faction" had decided to support Hoey. The story brought delight to the hearts of the Hoey supporters here but caused indignation among the Graham backers. For it was known here that Graham had been concentrating his efforts in that section for many weeks and his supporters here were confident that he was going to win strong support in both Buncombe and that entire area. They immediately went to work to get at the facts and find out what happened. According to the story going the rounds here today, brought back from Asheville by a special emissary, here is what happened:

The various factions into which Buncombe county Democrats have been divided for many years, seem at last to have gotten together, or nearer together, than in years. The leader of this faction is more or less conceded to be "Deacon" Green formerly from Cleveland county. Active leaders of this group are regarded as being Solicitor Zeb V. Nettles, Harry Nettles, for years a member of the legislature from Buncombe county; Pat Burdette, the present Asheville city manager former State Senator Plato Ebbs, Don Elias, and others. They report further that these leaders talked the situation over and agreed to back the candidate which a majority vote favored Graham but that Green, from Hoey's own county of Cleveland, objected and then "inspired" the reports to the effect that all the leaders had agreed to back Hoey. It is further reported here that the situation has again become pretty tense in Asheville and Buncombe and that the new united faction to end factions within the Democratic party in Buncombe may split up once more. At any rate, the Graham forces claim they still have a very strong following in Asheville, Buncombe and many other western counties and that the reports to the effect that Hoey has all these western counties in the bag, is just a lot of hoey.

BLAME LAID TO LOCAL BOARDS

Lack Sanitary Conditions in Schools Due to Neglect

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel.
Raleigh, Feb. 27.—The lack of proper sanitary facilities in many schools in the state is directly due to the negligence of the local governing authorities to provide them as required by law and it not blameable in any degree to the State School Commission as has recently been intimated, Dr. Carl V. Reynolds, State Health Officer said today.

The law says it is the duty of the county commissioners in the counties of the governing bodies in the various cities and towns to provide the physical school plants and their equipment, and to provide the necessary sanitary facilities, such as toilets, safe drinking water, and so forth, Dr. Reynolds pointed out. Yet the fact remains that 33 per cent of the schools in the state have no water supplies whatever, 37 per cent have questionable or inadequate water supplies and only 30 per cent have satisfactory water supplies, according to a recent survey made by the State Board of Health.

The situation with regard to sewerage facilities is even worse, the figures showing that only 24 per cent of the schools have the proper sanitary toilet and sewer facilities, that 57 per cent have dangerous and unsatisfactory facilities and that 19 per cent have no sewerage facilities whatever.

"Under the law, the county or city commissioners can be indicted for a misdemeanor for failure to provide these facilities," Dr. Reynolds said. "But even if our inspectors should swear out warrants against the county commissioners in any of these counties, if it would be impossible for us to get a conviction. It would be even more useless for the local health officers, who in most cases are selected by the county commissioners, to issue warrants for the commissioner. It is just impossible to secure convictions. The result is that in many counties they continue to violate the laws with impunity."

Dr. Reynolds is convinced the legislature should give the State Board of Health authority to compel boards of county commissioners to provide the necessary sanitary facilities in schools and to close any schools until such facilities are provided.

"If we could close up some of these dangerous schools and tell the people why we closed them, it would not take long for the county commissioners to provide the money with which to clean them up and provide clean water and toilet facilities," Dr. Reynolds said.

North Carolina took no part in two Presidential elections, the first term of George Washington as President of the United States and of Jefferson Davis as President of the Confederate States.

HOEY BACKERS SEEM PLEASED

Optimistic Following Candidate's Raleigh Visit

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel.
By J. C. BASKERVILL

Raleigh, Feb. 27.—The political atmosphere here fairly oozes optimism for Clyde R. Hoey, the affable, long-haired, frock-coated candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor who spent the day here Wednesday conferring with friends and supporters. Those who talked with the Shelby orator in his room in the Sir Walter here came away convinced that Mr. Hoey is already in the lead and that if the present trend in public sentiment continues, he will be the next governor. The supporters of Lieutenant Governor A. H. Graham, Dr. Ralph W. McDonald and John McRae, the other three candidates for Governor, today maintain that all this talk about Hoey already having the nomination in the bag, is just a lot of bologna, or perhaps just plain "hoey." They attribute it to either a tremendous amount of overconfidence—they hope this is the case—or to a deliberate effort on the part of the Hoey organization to build up a "Hoey is going to win" psychology, in an effort to attract the bandwagon jumpers.

Mr. Hoey had little to say other than to express his gratification at the reaction to his opening campaign speech, delivered just three weeks ago, in which he outlined his platform. Since he delivered his speech there have been only two days on which he has received fewer than 100 letters and on many days the number has been in excess of 100, he said.

"The reaction to this speech has been far better than I expected, and I have been greatly gratified at the large number of letters I have been getting, especially from those who had not decided to support me until they heard my speech over the radio," Mr. Hoey said. "I am more than delighted with the progress of my campaign so far."

When asked when he intended to name a campaign manager and open headquarters here, Mr. Hoey replied that he would have no announcement to make with regard to a campaign managers for several days yet.
