Family Settlement Of Smith Reynolds Estate Ratified And Confirmed

Decree Okeys Compromise Agreed on in This State

REYNOLD'S WILL INEFFECTIVE

Settlement Upholds Claim of North Carolina for $2,000,000 Inheritance Taxes

Baltimore, March 12.—(AP)—Circuit Court Judge Eli Frank "ratified and confirmed today the family settlement" dividing the estate of the late Zachary Smith Reynolds among his heirs without litigation.

A decree handed down by Judge Frank approved a compromise the North Carolina courts had agreed upon to dispose of the 25 million dollar estate of the deceased youngest son of the late R. J. Reynolds who accumulated a fortune in tobacco.

The decree also held that a will executed by Smith Reynolds was ineffective and void. North Carolina attorneys had contended at a hearing before Judge Frank that Reynolds, who died before he was 21, was incapable of making a will.

The compromise ratified by Judge Frank calls for the following division of Smith Reynolds' estate:

To Christopher Smith Reynolds, child of his second wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Holman Reynolds, former Broadway "torch singer" 25 per cent; to Anne A. Cannon Reynolds, second daughter of his first wife, 37 1-2 per cent; to his brother and two sisters for the purpose of creating charity trusts, 37 1-2 per cent.

The settlement provides also that Libby Holman Reynolds shall receive $750,000.

Judge Frank also ratified the State of North Carolina's claim for $2,000,000 in inheritance taxes.

PITT FARMERS URGE SESSION

County Farm Bureau Calls for State-Wide Mass Meeting

The Pitt county Farm Bureau today had given its support to the movement underway to urge Governor Ehringhaus to call a special session of the legislature to consider tobacco compact legislation.

The organization, claiming more than 1,000 paid-up members, passed a resolution urging that a statewide tobacco mass meeting of growers be called in Raleigh by the State Farm Bureau and the State Tobacco advisory committee at once, in order that the governor may understand fully the wishes and desires of the farmers.

The resolution was signed G. E. Trevathan, president of the county organization, and J. P. Davenport, J. H. Blount and John T. Thorne.

The full resolution, unanimously adopted by the group follows:

"Whereas, the organization committee of the state farm bureau and the state tobacco advisory committee have been urging a special session of the legislature; and

"Whereas, we are advised that Congress, through approval of the department of agriculture, is now passing an act, authorizing State compacts; and

"Whereas, crop planting time is now approaching; therefore be it resolved: That we, in the name of the membership of the Pitt County Farm Bureau urge these committees to continue their efforts towards securing a special session of the legislature, in order that the 1936 tobacco crop may be controlled; and

"Be it further resolved: That a statewide tobacco mass meeting of growers be called in Raleigh, North Carolina, by the State Farm Bureau and the state tobacco advisory committee at once, in order that our Governor may understand fully the wishes and desires of the growers of the State, and that they take every step possible to remove any obstacle that might cause delay in calling this special session."

Attempt on Life of Socialist in Spain Fails

Madrid, March 12.—(AP)—A daring attempt to assassinate the noted Socialist, Deputy Prof. Louis Jimenez Asua, failed today as Spain's undercurrent of political and anti-religious disorder grew more menacing.

The attack on Jimenez, as he left his home this morning, was believed to be in reprisal for the death of a Fascist student yesterday and the wounding of two others.

A group of four or five men opened fire on the Professor from an automobile as he was departing from his home to go to Madrid university.

A police escort of the professor was hit and wounded seriously. Jimenez rushed back into his house, uninjured, despite the hail of 20 shots which rained about him and his escort.

The undercurrent of "civil war" by Rightist Leftists, arising from the Leftist election victory and assumption of government power persisted with both sides accusing the other of instigating the disorders.

Governor Preparing Plans To Aid Tobacco Growers

Raleigh, March 12.—(AP)—Governor Ehringhaus today told a committee from Vance county that he was working on plans to aid tobacco farmers if it developed that legal restriction for crop control will not be effective this year, but was not ready to reveal them.

The Governor said he was "ready to call a special session of the legislature to consider compact legislation as soon as it is manifest something can be done about this year's crop."

"I am ready to go as far as anybody in cooperative attitude," Governor Ehringhaus said. "But I want to be sure we can accomplish something. Under the Virginia law Congress must consent to state compacts even before that law can become effective and Georgia must set up some system of control satisfactory to the Governor of Virginia."

"The South Carolina leaders behind compact legislation told me yesterday they wanted to go as far as Virginia did, but frankly said they expected the legislature there to amend the law to demand Georgia legislation. That would mean no compact this year under Virginia law as the Georgia legislature will not meet."

"There is delay in Washington," the Governor said "and the sooner we find out definitely what they are going to do the better it will be."

Franco-Soviet Pact Additional Relief Ratified Today By Funds Requested the French Senate By City Officials

French Senate Ratifies Treaty, 233 to 52. Already Approved by the Chamber of Deputies

Paris, March 12.—(AP)—The French Senate ratified the Franco-Soviet pact of Mutual Assistance by an overwhelming majority tonight.

The treaty already had been ratified by the Chamber of Deputies. The vote in the Senate was 233 to 52.

It was upon this treaty that Reichsfuehrer Hitler based his denunciation of the Locarno pact, saying that by negotiations France had already violated the provisions of the pact.

THE NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

News Behind The News

Washington

By RAY TUCKER

OPTIMISM: President Roosevelt just oozes confidence in his reelection at private conferences with friends and advisers. His assurance that he will spend four more years in the White House has been more noticeable since the first of January.

Most definite evidence of his sanguine attitude lies in his discussion of long-time projects. In talking over major policies with the Cabinet, he frequently dismisses a question with the expression: "Oh, we'll get around to that in 1938!" He is known to have deferred many tremendously important moves until after next November: in the belief that times will be more propitious then. He has approved schemes which cannot be concluded in less than four years, but which he knows a Republican successor would toss out the window.

Whether assumed or real, this certainty of reelection inspires confidence in weaker-kneed aides. They won't listen to veterans' reminders that the President never lived who didn't count on a return to office—that even Herbert Hoover thought he would overwhelm Mr. Roosevelt as late as early morning.

MORE SUPPORT FOR NEW DEAL

Primary in Georgia County Favors FDR 40 to One

Hamilton, Ga., March 12.—(AP)—In a "surprise primary" voters of Harris county today had written: 40 to one endorsement of President Roosevelt into Georgia's strange 1936 political record.

An unpublished presidential primary was held in this rural Georgia area yesterday in connection with a regular county Democratic primary and returns from 12 of the county's 14 precincts early today gave the President 1,424 votes to 35 for his persistent critic, Governor Eugene Talmadge.

Both Governor Talmadge and Marion Allen, Georgia manager of President Roosevelt's reelection campaign, said they knew nothing of the vote until returns were announced last night.

Seminole county, another agricultural area in southwest Georgia, recently voted more than five to one for the President in a similar test.

Harris is an agricultural county on the western border of the state not far from Warm Springs, Roosevelt's Georgia home. It has been regarded as a political stronghold of Talmadge.

The exhaustive survey and report of the Mayors' Conference was submitted to President Roosevelt today by Mayor Fiorella H. LaGuardia of New York City, a chairman of the Conference. He told news men that "these views are those of the men who are actually on the job and know conditions."

The report was received by the President as he was preparing to conclude his town study of relief.

Germany Makes Threat Of Withdrawing Offer If Rights Repudiated

DRIVER'S LAW ORDER ISSUED

Patrolmen to Start Strict Enforcement on Monday

Before leaving today for Williamston for a monthly meeting of Division "A" of the State Highway patrol, Lieut. Lester Jones, head of the division, said he would instruct sergeants to organize inspection groups for conducting testing stations for examining automobiles as to their mechanical fitness to operate on the highways.

Instructions also will be given for patrolmen to begin making checks to see that all drivers of cars have their operator's or chauffeur's license to operate vehicles in the state.

The force will begin strict enforcement of the new drivers' license law Monday. Orders were issued by Capt. Charles D. Farmer, head of the entire state organization.

Captain Farmer's order, follows in part:

"Beginning on Monday, March 16, all sergeants will organize in their divisions, inspection groups and designate different places on the highways in their respective divisions, for the conducting of testing stations for the testing of cars as to their mechanical fitness to operate over the highways; also to check up and see that all drivers of cars have operator's or chauffeur's license to operate vehicles in the State of North Carolina as prescribed by law.

"In order that we may have a perfect check up I would suggest that you mark off brake testing lanes as laid out in the tables of speed and stopping distances by marking on the pavement with chalk for these lanes.

"From this date, March 16, any person applying for the first time for operator's or chauffeur's license must demonstrate to the inspecting officer his ability to operate a motor vehicle to the satisfaction of the rules of the roads, before his application can be signed by anyone.

"If application is rejected, same shall be so stated on his application and why rejected, and this shall be sent into this office with your daily reports.

"Under no circumstances will any application be signed until this order is carried out."

It will be necessary for all members of the patrol to carry with them supply of application and affidavit forms. This should be done in case driver states he has filed application and has not received license. These forms will be accepted instead of license until further notice is given you."

Township Constable J. Gus Stokes and Highway Patrolman H. B. Smith last night arrested Roland House on a charge of operating an automobile while under the influence of whiskey.

N. C. Representatives To Seek Power Lines

Raleigh, March 12.—(AP)—L. Herde, Jr., of Rocky Mount, a member of the Bureau of Reclamation authorities and representatives of Tobacco and Greenville will go to Washington this week to confer with rural electric authorities about loans to the two communities for rural lines.

Washington, March 12.—(AP)—The rural electrification administration announced today a loan contract had been agreed with the Tidewater Power Company of Washington, N. C. to furnish electricity to about 1,000 new customers in that state.

The contract called for an expenditure of $142,750 for 128 miles of farm distribution lines in 10 North Carolina seaboard counties, including Duplin, Greene and Lenoir counties.

Opening of the new 40-foot road across Boulder Dam affords a number of new auto trips through the California and Arizona desert, as well as into Nevada.

Threatens to Withdraw New Peace Proposals

REPORT BRITAIN FAVORS FRENCH

British Support and Other Expected Aid Would Line Europe Behind French

(By The Associated Press) London, March 12.—(AP)—A French "virtual ultimatum" to Germany to demilitarize the Rhineland, a German threat to withdraw peace proposals if other powers support this declaration and a British contention that Great Britain may be forced to support France to the limit of international conversation directed toward peace in Europe today.

A high source disclosed that France had drawn up a virtual ultimatum to other Locarno treaty signatories hinting that singlehanded action against Germany might be necessary if no agreement is reached in the diplomatic discussions.

(By The Associated Press) Germany warned the rest of Europe today that if any attempts is made to force the Reich to renounce sovereign rights, the peace offers made by Reichsfuehrer Hitler would be withdrawn.

The German government said the nation would prefer "honorable isolation" rather than to be discriminated against by other nations.

Great Britain, host to a difficult inquest over the remains of the treaty of Locarno, swung apparently today toward France's demands that Adolf Hitler call most if not all of his troops out of the Rhineland.

Diplomatic speculation, as the Locarno signatories of Great Britain, France, Belgium and Italy arranged themselves about a London conference table, said the British were turning toward acceptance of the French condition as a preliminary to new negotiations suggested by Hitler himself for European security.

France's foreign minister Pierre-Etienne Flandin declared he had "every confidence" in the ultimate issue of the Locarno discussions. His country insists there can be no talk of new peace treaties with a nation which has a busy army in a zone demilitarized by an old one.

British support—and the aid France expected from Italy in return for the possible lifting of Ethiopian war sanctions—would line Europe up solidly on the side of France against the Third Reich.

At home today the French figured on a potential "paper army" of nearly 40,000 men which she believed her alliances with Soviet Russia, the Little Entente and Poland assure her in case of war. Before the French senate for final action was the Franco-Soviet mutual assistance accord, blamed by Hitler for "this necessary" watch on the Rhine.

There were official hints that France might prefer a "preventive" war now while she is prepared "rather than carnage" with powerful "treaty breakers" two years hence.

Wide Gains Shown In Bank Resources During Five Years

Raleigh, March 12.—The total bank resources in North Carolina amounted to $48,990,844 as of December 31, 1935, according to figures released today by Commissioner of Banks Gurney P. Hood. He pointed out that this total resources of all banks in the state, including national banks, is greater than in 1930, when the total resources amounted to only $40,000,000, and is hence larger than at any time during the past five years.

This total of the resources of all banks in the state was not announced earlier because the State Banking Department had not been able to learn the total resources of the national banks in the state from the Comptroller of the Currency. This report has just been received, however, showing the resources of national banks in the state as amounting to $10,677,070.

The State Banking Department announced several weeks ago that the resources of the state banks as of December 31, 1935, amounted to $38,313,774 and of the industrial banks to $11,267,781. So the total resources of all the banks in the state, national, state and industrial, amounts to $48,990,844.

NO BENEFITS NORRIS BILL

North Carolina is Not Likely to Be Aided Materially

Raleigh, March 12.—North Carolina probably would not benefit any if Congress should enact the Norris

Rural Electrification bill setting up a long term rural electrification program for the entire country, due to the fact that North Carolina will already have all the feasible rural electric lines built by the time that bill could go into effect, Chairman Dudley Bagley of the North Carolina Rural Electrification Authority said today.

For while this bill proposes to set up a fund of $500,000,000 to be used in promoting rural electrification in the various states, indications are that money from this fund will be available only on self-liquidating projects which will pay for themselves in five years.

The reason Chairman Bagley

thinks this bill will not be of much assistance to North Carolina is because most of the feasible rural electrification projects are either already under construction in North Carolina by power companies or a process of being financed at the present time. For while North Carolina has so far been unable to get a single penny in loans from the present and temporary Rural Electrification Administration in Washington, a total of 1,181.79 miles of rural lines have either been constructed, are under construction or authorized at a cost of $1,171,116, according to the report just made by Chairman Bagley to Governor J. C. B. Ehringhaus. These new rural electric lines will serve 6,717 new rural customers, who will average 6.19 customers per mile.

"We would like to be able to get some of the $500,000,000 which the Federal Rural Electrification Administration now has and which it was supposed to lend to the states, also some of the $500,000,000 which the Norris bill will provide, if it passes," Bagley said. "But present indications are that we can get most of the feasible rural lines built in North Carolina before this money is available under the Norris bill. We have had applications for loans from the present electrification administration in Washington pending almost a year without any action, although we have had repeated promises that eventually some of them will be approved. But so far we had absolutely no assistance from Washington, although the power companies have given the finest kind of cooperation."

"If it is found, however, that we can use any of this money under the Norris bill, we will of course cooperate as fully as possible."

SAYS NOTHING ABOUT RUMORS

McDonald Refuses to Comment on Sound
Truck Reports

Reflector Bureau,
Sir Walter Hotel.

Raleigh, March 12.—Reports are current to the effect that Dr. Ralph W. McDonald, the youthful candidate for the Democratic nomination who says he will kick out all of the present appointed state officials and appoint "honest" ones in their places, will soon start out on his tour of the state with a sound truck equipped with loud speakers, also with illuminated show cases in the sides of the truck containing articles of food and clothing subject to the sales tax, with other cases containing stock certificates, bonds and securities which he maintains are not taxed at all, or not enough.

The report is that a show case on one side of the truck will contain replicas of cuts of meat, vegetables, flour, meal, overalls, blue denim shirts, with a sign over them reading "These necessities." On the other side of the truck will be another show case containing stock certificates of cotton mills, power companies, tobacco companies and other large corporations, with the sign over them reading "The rich people pay no taxes on these."

When asked today if he actually planned to use such a sound truck in pushing his campaign into the highways and byways of the state, Dr. McDonald said that he has not yet "seen any sound truck at all." He did not deny, however, that such a sound truck was being prepared or that he did not intend to use such a truck between now and the primary.

"I am busy now seeing as many people as possible and making contacts with the voters," McDonald said. "Since nine out of ten of the politicians and so-called political leaders are opposed to me and supporting either Mr. Hoey or Mr. Graham, it is necessary for me to contact as many of the voters as possible in person and to talk to them personally. I am doing this at the rate of from 500 to 1,000 a day and intend to keep this up from now until the primary. For with a majority of the politicians and political leaders against me, I must meet and talk to as many people as possible every day from now until June 6.

"I am finding a great deal of interest every where I go and I am gaining more votes and more support every day."

a better-balanced FERTILIZER

Why is 3-8-8 Fertilizer So Economical?

WHEN you buy 3-8-8 fertilizer instead of 3-8-3 fertilizer you get 35% more actual plant food. Yet, this large amount of extra plant food costs you very little, usually less than $4 extra per ton. If you use 1,000 pounds of fertilizer per acre the extra cost is usually less than $2 per acre for which you get 35% more actual plant food.

Putting it another way, 800 pounds of 3-8-8 fertilizer contains more actual plant food than 1,000 pounds of 3-8-3, yet the 800 pounds of 3-8-8 usually costs less.

How Much Potash Does Tobacco Require?

CHEMICAL analyses of the tobacco plant show that 1,000 pounds of tobacco leaf remove from the soil about 80 pounds of pure potash. A larger amount of potash must be available in the soil for the plant to get all it needs, when it needs it, because tobacco grows very rapidly.

1,000 pounds of 3-8-8 per acre supplies 80 pounds of pure potash. 1,000 pounds of 3-8-3 per acre supplies only 30 pounds of pure potash. In soils which for many years have received only 30 pounds of pure potash per acre the supply of quickly available potash has been greatly depleted.

What Are the Official Recommendations?

THE U. S. Department of Agriculture and the North Carolina State College of Agriculture, after a complete study of tobacco fertilizer problems, recommend 60 to 100 pounds of pure potash per acre for tobacco. This represents an average of 8% potash in fertilizer used at the rate of 1,000 pounds per acre.

3-8-8 TOBACCO FERTILIZER has proven its value throughout the entire bright tobacco belt. Many leading farmers in this section use 3-8-8 or increase the potash in their regular fertilizer to 8% or even more by using extra applications of potash.

What Change Has Been Made in Fertilizers?

ACCORDING to a recent change in North Carolina fertilizer laws, the nitrogen in fertilizer analyses is now expressed as nitrogen instead of ammonia. This means that fertilizers are about one-fifth stronger from a growth standpoint.

Fertilizer containing too much nitrogen produces rough, bony tobacco. Avoid this by selecting a fertilizer mixture in which the nitrogen has been well-balanced with plenty of potash. Select and use 3-8-8 TOBACCO FERTILIZER.

Tell Your Fertilizer Man You Want 3-8-8

YOUR fertilizer man knows the importance of plenty of potash in tobacco fertilizer. That is why he has 3-8-8 TOBACCO FERTILIZER on sale. Tell him you want to produce "high-dollar" tobacco in 1936. Tell him you want 3-8-8 TOBACCO FERTILIZER, the fertilizer that contains so much extra-profit-producing plant food at such low cost.

The best fertilizer you can get for your tobacco is usually the most economical in the long run. An extra hundred pounds of tobacco per acre and a two-cent difference in the average price can make a tremendous difference in profits. 3-8-8 TOBACCO FERTILIZER contains the extra potash that produces extra yields of extra quality.

College Committee in Elizabeth City. A committee from the College composed of a member of the faculty and three students who are working with N. C. Newbold, of the State Department of Education, on a project sponsored by a joint committee from the University of North Carolina and Duke University, spent last Friday and Saturday in Elizabeth City getting the foundations laid for the study. Conferences were held with groups of citizens of Elizabeth City and members of the Board of Trustees and faculty of the colored State Normal School located there.

The purpose was to collect material on the life and work done by Peter W. Moore, the negro educator, who for nearly half a century was leader of his race in Eastern North Carolina and the builder of that school. Five leaders of the race in this state have been selected whose biographies will be written, with committees from the leading colleges and universities of the state collaborating with the local committees who will have the material at hand. One of the five names selected is that of Atkin, of Winston-Salem, who was Cleveland's minister to Liberia. Dr. Howard Rontholer, president of Salem College, is chairman of the committee to write his biography. Miss Sallie Joyner Davis is chairman of the committee to write the life of Peter Moore. Miss Jenkins took her place at the conferences held in Elizabeth City last week, but Miss Davis will carry on the work. The student members of the committee who went to Elizabeth City were Misses Ethel Vick, and Carolyn Brinkley, and Clifton Crawford. They report a most interesting trip and very satisfactory conferences.

The King's Daughters Meet. The Patient Circle of the King's Daughters and Sons met with Mrs. W. R. Jones at her home on Pitt street Tuesday night. Owing to the stormy weather only a small group attended. In the absence of the president, Mrs. Moye, the vice-president, Mrs. R. Williams, presided. Mrs. Jones conducted the devotional, reading a part of the ninth chapter of St. Mark. She gave a few brief remarks on this chapter, bringing out the point that every sacrifice that one makes willingly from their heart for the benefit of man and for the glory of God shall be salted down, preserved and kept by the King Himself. This was followed by the Lord's Prayer.

After the usual business Mrs. Williams read a letter from Mr. Boger, superintendent of Stoneham Jackson Training School for boys located at Concord, N. C., and a part of the King's Daughters' state work. Mr. Boger thanked the Patient Circle for over fifty boys' books sent to the boys for their library.

Mrs. Williams also read a selection from the "Silver Cross." Several needy families were reported, and plans were made to investigate and help them. The group then discussed the National King's Daughters convention in Richmond, Va., which will be held about the middle of May. Several members expect to attend.

The meeting adjourned to meet the second Tuesday in April, the place to be announced. The hostess served a light Lenten salad course with hot tea.—Reported.

OHIO SEED CORN SITUATION CALLED WORST SINCE 1913

Columbus, O. (AP)—Ohio farmers approach the 1936 corn planting season with the "worst seed corn situation since 1913," says R. D. Lewis, professor of agronomy at Ohio State university.

He declared germination tests in various counties show a high percentage of intended seed corn absolutely unfit. Some of the tests show less than 20 per cent germination with corn testing from 70 per cent upward the exception.

Lewis attributes the poor quality to the high moisture content of the kernel which caused it to be damaged severely by the extremely cold weather of the winter. Minor factors were late maturity of the 1935 crop, heavy rains of last summer, lack of sunshine and high humidity the latter part of the year, and failure of farmers to dry seed corn artificially.

ROAD REPAIRS GET UNDERWAY

Highway Commission Also at Work on Maintenance Jobs

Raleigh, March 10.—Work has already been started on many of the road repair projects included in the new $6,000,000 repair program for this spring, summer and fall, Chief Engineer W. Vance Baise of the State Highway and Public Works Commission, said today.

Maintenance and repair forces are already busy patching and repairing those roads which have dried out enough for this work to be done, and in scraping and grading county roads, Baise said. No large projects are under way yet, since it is too early and most of the roads still too wet for extensive rebuilding or resurfacing operations. "Women are trying to find and repair the worst spots first and out into condition the worst links in both county and state highway systems," Baise said. "Then, as we gradually get these worst roads which were not damaged so much and which are still passable but which need repairing or resurfacing. But the larger jobs, such as the rebuilding and resurfacing of long stretches of highway are going to have to wait until warmer and drier weather and until all of the present moisture has dried out from the road base."

Chief Engineer Baise is holding a series of conferences in the various districts with the district engineers and maintenance supervisors, at which he is outlining the repair and maintenance program in detail and explaining just what he and the commission want done. Such a conference is being held in Tarboro today with District Engi-ner J. O. Gardner and all his division engineers and supervisors. A similar meeting will be held in Fayetteville Thursday with District Engineer T. T. Betts and his division engineers and supervisors. Similar meetings were held last week in Asheville, Statesville and Greensboro.

"We are holding these meetings because we want every engineer and maintenance supervisor in the entire highway system to understand and know just what we are planning to do and how we want it done," Baise said. "We also want this work done as quickly as possible, without having to sacrifice thoroughness."

PENSIONS: Super-patriots on Capitol Hill haven't waited for payment of the bonus before launching their drive for general pensions to World War veterans, widows and orphans. Fifteen pension bills have already been dropped into the legislative hopper and three have progressed to the point where they may be reported favorably out of committee any day.

Administration experts have gone over several proposals with their pencils and slide rules and their reports on the cost are appalling to the higher-ups. It is estimated that one measure alone would cost $15-$20,000,000 before the last World War beneficiary dies, although on the face it appears to be fairly inexpensive.

War veterans' organizations promised that they would accept immediate payment of the bonus as a substitute for general pensions.
But history proves that soldiers demand never die or diminish.
Those who ought to know predict that a pension law will be on the books within five years. A reflector
Mr. Roosevelt may dare to ignore the pressure. But his succesor will have to face the military must.

PURPOSEFUL: Federal Trade Commission lawyers privately admit that the courts may not uphold their "cease and desist" order against bargain prices on automobile ties given to Sears-Roebuck by the Goodyear company. They estimate their chances at nothing better than 50-50.

It is admitted privately that the order was timed to aid passage of the Robinson-Patman anti-chain store bill, which prevents price discriminations based on quantity sales. The commission's picture of independent dealers being forced out of business because of the Goodyear-Sears-Roebuck tieup is expected to stir up public sentiment for the measure. Chain-store lobbyists activities have endangered action at this session.

The commission balked at its order more than semi-judicial agencies usually do. It explained that this was "one of the most important cases in years." It recited the "evils" which its investigators had unearthed and emphasized the "gravity" of the price agreements.
But it failed to add that the courts had dismissed every action of this kind it has started in the past.
That's why the commissioners favor speedy enactment of the Robinson-Patman bill.

SAMPLE: Washington's rural experimenters are on a still hunt for several counties willing and qualified to serve as the New Deal's A-1 laboratory for blue-printing the "more abundant life." That idea is understood to have blossomed at a recent White House party.

Embryo plans provide for concentrating in a restricted agricultural sector all the farm technicians the administration has hatched.
Three agencies—AAA, Rural Reservations and Rural Electrification—will cooperate in building an everyday Utopia. Rivers and brooks will be dammed up so as to prevent erosion and furnish electricity for individual homes. The streams will also be utilized to furnish supplementary irrigation to any section of the land. Thus the land will be developed scientifically, hom's improved with every modern convenience and natural resources conserved for human use and comfort.

AAA benefit checks will flow in great volume on the basis of the soil conservation activities. Dr. Tugwell will resettle many of his marmala farmers there. Through combining all these experiments in a restricted region, it is hoped that the nation will visualize what they mean if carried out on a grand scale.

Chapter Six
STRAIGHT TALK

"AUNT ELLA! Where's the key to the bottom brown trunk?"
oh! Iris's vivid eyes were popped up at the living room door and withdrew itself. Iris's voice stiff as a young duchess, said through the crack. "Good morning Mr. Back. Sorry I interrupted," and was gone.

He sat her to earth sweeping out the studio in her clean faded paint marked linen smock. It made her look more than ever like a pretty page.

"Is there something I can get you?" she asked. Her meek voice all but made the sentence and
"my lord!"

"Yes," said Morgan with more

"Do you want me to get out?" asked Morgan.

spirit than originally. "A few kind words! If I'm going to stay here we have to come to an understanding.
Do you want me to get out? If you do, all right, say so. Instead of high battling me this way."

"Have I failed in proper civilities and attentions?"
He all but shook her, meek hands folded on her broom, lashes dropped.
"Yes, you have. Stop taking it out on me because you talked out a bad tempered mood. I know what they are, I have them myself."

"It wasn't temper—I meant it. I'm sorry—I haven't been polite. But I can't like you the way they do. Poor old Uncle William, that should have had ten sons, saying if he'd had one he'd have liked him like you—Aunt Ella with her petticoats—"

He found himself noting that she had an excellent French accent.
Was there anything this young creature in the sticks didn't know? He answered once the less sternly.
"You're jealous."

"I'm not. But they're too good for common sense. I'm always afraid"
—she was confiding in him again, unconsciously—"I'll get like that."

"Don't worry," said Morgan sardonically.
"I don't know—I'm awfully full of feeling!" she said naively. "And Uncle William had me all my life, with his splendid aggravating useless code hammered at me! Give all for an ideal. Be proud or what you are, not what you have. Remember, neither ancestors breeding nor possions count beside what you yourself are! And look at him! A poor old drooping lawyer!"

"It's true, though I haven't seen too much of it!"
"No you've evidently lived with the success!" said Iris, beginning to get the matter.

"Well, why do you try them yourself?"
"Perhaps," she said dreamily,
"some day I'll have the chance."

"Oh, you'll get it if you want it badly enough," he said scornfully.
And then Miss Ella called Iris, but not before she had time to say impulsively, "I'm sorry. I'll be nicer," leaving him aghast at a girl who actually would admit herself in the wrong.

MORGAN and Iris slid into a workable relation as the days and weeks went on. They fought a little; but it got to be a cousinly warfare. From time to time they even made common cause. After all, they were both young.
"Though after all why one should think the world owed one such a lot—" said Morgan one afternoon.
They were by themselves, very friendly, at the farthest black marble dressing in the sitting dining room.
Iris had a married thingy maple cutting board across her lap, copying a photograph of one of her friends on a slip of parchment, in water colors. It was the only way she could make presents.

Morgan, opposite, had a card table and a pile of books and papers which would presently evolve into a family tree for a man who had always wanted one.
"It doesn't," said Iris. "What makes you so all that work?"
He straightened his tall back and laughed a little shamefacedly. "I don't know. I like doing things for Uncle Will." He had come to calling him that. "Look here, let me slip you the check I got for this. It's Uncle Will's money, so you can't be an insulted duchess over it."

Republican policy in the legislature towards Governor Lehman's crime bills.

The sub rosa purpose was to establish a new understanding about who is really running the GOP in the state. Most of the leaders who attended—both from New York City and upstate—are rather new to their jobs. They represent the younger and comparatively progressive element in the party. They have quietly taken command of the state organization—and they don't intend to let go.

FLIRT, Field Champion

Homewood Flirtatious, White and Black Pointer Bitch, owned by H. M. Curry, Jr., Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

AMONG all the bird dogs in America, Homewood Flirtatious ("Flirt" for short) stands out the 1935 champion. At the National Championship Field Trial at Grand Junction, Tenn., Flirt proved her mettle. Speed, range, bird finds—Flirt had everything! One perfect creature in whom Nature put that delicate, natural balance of all the elements that make a champion.

The champion Flirt is Nature at her best—one of Nature's rarest masterpieces. She looks like other dogs—four legs, a head, a body, a tail, but she's not just a dog. She's a proud and proven champion—a champion in the field. Another dog may look a little like her—but he's still just a dog.

And here's another field champion, Natural Chilean Nitrate—another one of Nature's rarest masterpieces. Like the champion pointer, Natural Chilean has that proud and priceless gift—something over and beyond mere nitrogen—natural balance of the many fertilizer elements—the vital impurities—the Natural blend and balance that make a champion. That's the vital spark. That's why "Flirt" isn't just a dog. That's why Natural Chilean isn't just a fertilizer.

Natural Chilean contains almost two score of major and minor elements such as boron, magnesium, manganese, iodine, calcium, potassium, etc.—each a vital element in growth and healthy development of plants.

such old guardsmen as Ogden Mills and Trupee Davison in New York GOP affairs. The new guard isn't overfond of Charles D. Hilles—another big-time veteran—either. But they will tolerate his activity in inner circle because of his exceptional contacts with the national Republican organization—contacts which the younger generation has not had a chance to develop.

OPPORTUNIST: In the palmy days of AAA, Secretary of Agriculture Wallace didn't pay much attention to the old-line farm organizations. He consulted with his buddy—Edward O'Neal of the Farm Bureau Federation—but otherwise the farm group leaders were generally treated with polite indifference. Wallace was too busy putting his own program into effect to bother much about other people's ideas.

But it's all different now. The Secretary is warily feeling his way with the new soil conservation law and shows the greatest respect for the opinions of farm chiefs. Not only does he frequently ask their advice—he also often takes it.

Wallace's new attitude is getting a warm response. The leaders of farm organizations feel much friendlier towards him. As a result, the Democrats are making substantial progress towards lining up the rural vote while the Republicans are still only talking in vague terms about a farm plank in their platform guaranteed to make everybody happy. Wallace used to be classed as an aloof dreamer—but no longer. He is rapidly developing into a first rate political opportunist.

CONCERN: Governor Landon has so far ignored all efforts by teachers' organizations to get him on record as to what his attitude towards education will be if he is elected President. But the educators are disturbed about Landon and will keep hammering away at him until they get a reply of some sort.

Their concern is based on specific examples of what the Governor's economies have done to the Kansas educational budget. A number of Kansas teachers are paid as little as $25 a month and a certificate of graduation from a grammar school serves as an adequate qualification to teach in the public elementary schools.

Another item which makes the teachers' organizations feel that Landon is not their man is that Kansas spends vastly greater sums monthly on concrete for her highways than she does on her schools.

OPPOSITE: Publisher Frank Gannett—mentioned by Borah as his personal preference for vice-president—is working very actively on Borah's behalf. He hasn't taken such a direct and lively interest in politics for a long time.

Sources close to Mr. Gannett say he is watching the GOP vice presidential situation closely. He has some hope of landing the job himself, although he realizes that the chances are extremely remote.

But if he can't have it, he is determined at least to make sure that Congressman Jim Wadsworth of the New York old guard doesn't get it there has been quite a lot of talk about Jim along this line lately. Gannett and Wadsworth haven't had much use for each other since they battled on opposite sides of the prohibition fence.

GOOD PROGRAM FOR BASEBALL

Schedule for High School Promises Fast Games

The baseball season at the local high is beginning to take shape, since the boys who are aspiring to compose the varsity are going into full swing in their practices each day at the Third Street school.

Reynolds May, who is coaching the Greenies this year has dropped a few of the number who first presented tryouts for the regular team. Two weeks ago, there were a total of 100 boys who had great hopes of playing some position on the team. However, only 25 remain, and from this number, the varsity will be selected.

The schedule arranged for the coming year is one of the best the high has been able to obtain over past seasons, and they are striving to make it one of the best years in their baseball history.

The Greenies have 10 class "A" conference games scheduled, and these will include games with the Rocky Mount, Wilson, Fayetteville, Raleigh and Durham who are a part of the class "A" conference. The Durham game will be played there March 27. In addition to these games, there will also be two engagements with the Duke University Freshmen, and the remainder of the games will be played with the North Eastern conference, which includes Tarboro, Williams, New Bern, and Washington.

Coach May said today that during the past two weeks, the boys in his charge seem to be moulding themselves into what will some day be termed, "the best baseball material in the state." He went on to say that in his opinion, each boy who hopes to make the varsity is adhering to all training rules, and when the day does roll around to select the regular nine, it will be a very hard matter to do so, with each boy doing his best when he shows up for practice.

YOU PAY FOR HIS SAND WITH GOLD FOUND IN IT

San Francisco (AP)—When contractors on the Hetch Hetchy water project needed a certain type of sand for a dam and concrete conduit they found it on the ranch of John Munn.

"You can have it for nothing if you'll give me the gold that's in it," said Munn.

For the necessary washing operations an old time sluice box was added. The first day Munn pocketed $125 in gold dust.

SECOND ROUND PLAY STARTED

To Complete Preliminaries in Basketball Tournament

Defeating Grifton 50 to 1, the girls' team of Bethel yesterday afternoon gave notice of a strong bid to win the third annual Pitt county basketball tournament.

The Stokes boys' team rolled up the highest score in their division, beating Chicod 38 to 10.

In the first game scheduled in the tournament, Grimesland girls defeated Pactolus 30 to 13. In the game with the least scoring in first round play, Fountain boys trimmed Belvoir 12 to five. Fountain girls piled up 30 points to double the score on Ayden. In the only other first round game Ayden boys defeated Farmville 26 to 16.

The remaining preliminaries will be run off today, with games set for both afternoon and night. Second round games will be played tomorrow, with the semi-finals in both girls and boys division coming off Saturday night. The finals will be played Monday night.

Games scheduled today and tonight included the following pairings: Farmville vs. Stokes, girls; Arthur vs. Winterville, boys; Belvoir vs. Winterville, girls; Grifton vs. Grimesland, boys; Arthur vs. Chicod, girls; Pactolus vs. Bethel, boys.

This team played a team organized from among the prisoners who work in the kitchen and dining room last week and gave it a good wallop. Prisoners Thinking More of Sport Than of Escaping

Reflector Bureau,
Sir Walter Hotel.

Raleigh, March 12.—Prisoners in the state prison system are thinking more about baseball and the organization of baseball teams than of escaping these days, due to the new recreational program being put into effect throughout the entire prison system. Acting Director Oscar T. Pitts of the prison division of the State Highway and Public Works Commission, said today. Every spare minute the prisoners have after doing their work, they are planning out their baseball teams and schedules, Pitts said.

"I have never seen the morale of the prisoners better than it is at the present time," Pitts said. "Out at the Central Prison here, the men in the different divisions are organizing baseball teams, while the various camps are also organizing teams. They are also doing everything possible to get me to transfer men known to be good baseball players to their particular division. Indications are that we are going to have some excellent ball teams and some real competition between the various divisions in the Central Prison and some of the camps."

A full sized baseball diamond is now being levelled off inside the prison walls at the Central Prison, while similar fields are being laid off in all the prison camps where sufficient space is available. In some of the camps, the enclosures are being enlarged to provide space for baseball fields. The prison division is providing the baseballs, gloves and bats and the prisoners are already spending all the time they can find in "warming up" practice.

DON'T READ THIS - IF YOU ARE CONTENT WITH YOUR TOBACCO YIELDS!

If you are not using Orange, and are interested in the possibility of getting an extra $40 or $50 per acre for your tobacco, then you should be very interested in Orange.

Because, a series of tests by 37 growers on 71 competitive plots, over a four year period just completed, shows that Orange produced an average of $49.40 per acre more in quantity and quality leaf. Now, do a little figuring. Take the number of acres of tobacco you expect to grow.

Multiply that by, let's say $40. Isn't that extra money worth trying to get?

Thousands of Orange users—growers like yourself, have been getting better yields with Orange. Some have averaged more than $50 per acre better—some, less. But most of them have been getting back much more than the few dollars extra they pay for Orange.

If your results are like theirs, you will make real money with Orange. So, investigate Orange carefully before you place your order. It means money to you.

Next to Orange, the best tobacco fertilizer you can buy is Jamaca, our standard goods. Over a period of many years, thousands of satisfied users have preferred it to any other tobacco goods made.

Hay Crop Acreage Greatly Increased During Past Years

Cotton and Tobacco Acreage Decreased 39.7 Per Cent During Five Year Period 1929 to 1934

Raleigh, March 12.—The acreage of hay crops, including legumes, harvested in North Carolina increased 82.5 per cent from 1929 to 1934.

This was accompanied by a decrease of 8.4 per cent in the acreage of soil-depleting row crops, said Dr. Julian Mann, in charge of extension studies at State College.

Cotton and tobacco acreage decreased a total of 39.7 per cent during the five-year period, he added.

Lespedeza harvested as hay jumped from 24,534 acres in 1929 to 132,183 acres in 1934. The acreage of all hay crops rose from 552,976 to 1,009,144.

Meanwhile, county farm agents reported that more than 200,000 acres of legumes were plowed under for soil building purposes in 1935. Figures on previous years were not available.

The winter broadcast crops—wheat, barley and rye that were threshed, and all oats—increased from 584,027 in 1929 to 807,156 in 1934, or 38.2 per cent.

The number of livestock on North Carolina farms, including cattle, swine, sheep, horses and mules, rose from 1,833,315 to 2,070,557 during the five-year period, Dr. Mann stated.

The number of cows and heifers two years of age or older, increased from 279,522 to 404,275 or 44.6 per cent. The acreage in pastures expanded from 2,845,283 to 3,014,616.
These figures show a general swing away from soil-depleting cash crops toward soil-building crops and is a great tribute to the progressive farmers of North Carolina and their sensible county agent leadership, Dr. Mann said.

OF RICH, RIPE-BODIED TOBACCO—"IT'S TOASTED"

Luckies are less acid

PROPER AGING

Tobacco in its natural state is harsh and strong. Though "cured" by the grower before sale, it is unsuited for use without further aging. During this aging period (which ranges in the case of Lucky Strike from 1½ to 3 years) important changes occur. These "Nature" changes result in the partial "smoothing out" of the original harsh qualities of the leaf. Our process of manufacture carries these improvements many steps further—as every Lucky Strike Cigarette exemplifies: A Light Smoke of rich, ripe-bodied tobacco.

LUCKIES ARE LESS ACID!
Recent chemical tests show that other popular brands have an excess of acidity over Lucky Strike of from 53% to 100%.
