Britain Protests Attack On Ship

Government Forces Threaten Franco's Teruel Front

London, Aug. 7.—(AP)—Great Britain sent a strong note today to Spanish insurgent authorities at Palma, Mallorca, protesting yesterday's "mystery" plane attack on the tanker British Corporal.

The protest followed a report from the British consul general at Algiers that the machine gun and bomb attack "probably" was executed by "anti-government" aircraft.

Three monoplanes of unidentified nationality drove at the British Corporal in the Mediterranean 30 miles northwest of Algiers, sprayed the decks with machine gun fire and dropped bombs close to the vessel.

Hendaye, Franco Spanish Frontier, Aug. 7.—(AP)—Government forces in eastern Spain threatened today to push Francisco Franco's Teruel salient back in its tracks, Madrid-Valencia commanders reported.

They said frontal and flank attacks by infantry and artillery from the south and west of one sector of the Teruel front had gouged insurgents out of newly-won territory southwest of Teruel, Franco's lower Aragon base.

An insurgent communique said the intelligence service had learned General Jose Miaja, now commander of the government's Madrid defense, junta-Madrid central front, was to assume command of the loyalist army on the Aragon front northwest of Madrid.

Meantime, the Spanish insurgent army's officers at Irun declared they had received reports of an anarchist rebellion at Albicate and other important Spanish government centers.

The insurgents said former Premier Francisco Caballero, extreme Socialist leader, reportedly headed the anarchist movement.

DOCTOR FOUND DEAD IN CELL

Had Been Convicted of Assault on 13-Year-Old Girl

Bellair, Md., Aug. 7.—(AP)—Dr. Armen Greenhut, convicted by a circuit jury of criminal attack on a 13-year-old school girl-patient was found dead this morning in his cell. Sheriff Granville Boyle said "I would not term it suicide until the coroner's jury has completed his investigation." He added he was not able to give the cause of death.

The sheriff said he found Dr. Greenhut dead on the prisoner's cot when the officer went to call him to breakfast this morning. He could not say how long Greenhut had been dead.

Magistrate Stanley Spencer, as acting coroner, summoned a jury to begin an investigation.

Dr. Greenhut was calm as he returned to his cell late yesterday after being convicted in circuit court on a charge of statutory rape. His attorneys were preparing a motion for a new trial and to strike out the verdict, for which the maximum penalty was hanging.

JAPAN FORCES 45,000 STRONG

An Additional 15,000 Men Massing In North China

Peiping, Aug. 7.—(AP)—Japan's north China war machine, strengthened by 15,000 new troops in the Tientsin area, was estimated today by informed Asiatic observers to total 45,000 men, massed in the rich region apparently destined to come under full Japanese sway.

Reliable reports said the 15,000 new troops arrived in Tientsin recently to reinforce the Japanese military forces steadily spreading out northwest and south to Hopeh province, center of the vast area Japan intends to dominate.

Army reinforcements came as Japan disarmed the Chinese police of Peiping and Japanese nationals were allowed to leave their embassy compound where they sought sanctuary when the Sino-Japanese trouble arose.

An attache of the Japanese embassy declared, however, Japanese would be required to return to the compound at night after transacting their customary affairs during the day.

The embassy attache told the Associated Press "Peace is impossible in the Peiping area," while central (Nanking) Chinese troops are operating in the vicinity of Nankow Pass near the great wall and maintained a challenging attitude toward the Japanese army.

Senate Finishes Court Bill Action

Amelia's "Rescue" Substitute Measure Arrested For Hoax For Roosevelt Proposal Adopted

A fantastic plot to extort money from George Palmer Putnam on a promise to return his wife, Amelia Earhart, the lost aviatrix, led to the arrest of Wilbur Rothar (above), a seaman, in New York. Federal agents said the sailor claimed Miss Earhart was rescued from a South Pacific island and held aboard a mysterious ship off New York harbor.

Washington, Aug. 7.—(AP)—The Senate ended its bitter six months' court controversy today by passing a compromise bill providing only for procedural changes in lower federal tribunals.

A substitute for the President's original bill, which included the enlargement of the Supreme Court if justices over 70 did not retire, the measure approved did not even mention the Supreme Court.

It was passed without a record vote after a perfunctory debate.

Since the court measure was attached as an amendment to an unimportant House judiciary bill it will now go back to the house for approval. Little opposition was expected.

Administration spokesmen had agreed to the bill in principle, following collapse of their supreme court enlargement program.

Immediately after the bill's passage Senator Guffey, D.-Pa., asked that his opposition be recorded. Vice President Garner permitted him to note his opposition in the records.

The only opposition voiced on the floor came from Senator Lewis (D.-Ill.) He contended the measure was unconstitutional because it would prevent a single federal district judge from restraining the enforcement of acts of congress he deems invalid.

It was virtually the last piece of major legislation confronting the senate. Administration leaders confidently predicted adjournment within two weeks, after the senate has "mopped up" a half dozen minor bills.

Consideration had begun a half year ago after Mr. Roosevelt's request for as many as six new high court justices started an epochal legislative upheaval.

Elsewhere, meanwhile, Elliott Kaplan, secretary of the National Civil Service Reform League, said personnel provisions of the Robinson government reorganization bill were "vague and contradictory."

Dr. Iliu Galleani (above), pretty woman doctor who practices in the fashionable Back Bay district of Boston, was held under $500 bond on a charge of "unlawfully exhibiting and offering for sale drugs, medicines and instruments intended to prevent conception" following raids on birth control clinics in New England.

PREPARE FOR VISIT BY F.D.R.

Arrangements Being Made for Reception on Roanoke Island

Raleigh, Aug. 7.—(AP)—Governor Hoyt said today arrangements were going forward for the reception of President Roosevelt and his party at Roanoke Island August 18.

Adjutant General J. Van B. Metts and Assistant Adjutant-General Gordon Smith visited Roanoke Island this week, the governor said, along with Col. E. W. Starling, secret service man in charge of presidential arrangements.

"Full details with reference to the route of travel which the President will make will be given after the matter has been fully determined by Washington," Hoyt said.

The highway patrol will cooperate with General Metts in furnishing an escort for the President and in aiding in handling traffic on the highway.

Colonel Graham Hobbs, chief marshal at the inauguration of Governor Hoyt, will serve as a special aide to the President under direction of General Metts.

The governor said he had received from Secretary of State Hull a letter saying the government of Great Britain had been invited to have a representative at Roanoke Island when the President speaks and that the British embassy in Washington would indicate later whether or not the government would have an official representative at the celebration.

JAPS ORDERED LEAVE HANKOW

Told by Authorities of Own Country to Evacuate Area

Hankow, China, Aug. 7.—(AP)—Japanese naval and consular officials today ordered complete evacuation of all Japanese in this important commercial city and international treaty port at the confluence of the Yangtze and Han rivers.

The Japanese officials, reportedly acting on orders from Tokyo, decreed all Japanese nationals must quit Hankow before noon Sunday (11 p. m., EST) leaving administration of the Japanese concession to Chinese authorities.

Although Hankow is hundreds of miles south of the northern China hostilities, Japanese have expressed apprehension for the safety of the citizens in central China.

NO ACTION YET IN HORST CASE

Little Donald Put To Bed at Orphanage With Fever

Chicago, Aug. 7.—(AP)—Little Donald Horst was ordered to his orphanage bed with a fever today. County Judge Edmund Jarecki said he would grant temporary custody of the tot to his foster parents should they file a habeas corpus writ in their battle over the boy with his natural parents.

Neither side had taken legal steps to claim the boy, who was spirited Tuesday night from the home of Dr. and Mrs. Otto Horst by John Regan and Lydia Nelson, who claimed to be his real parents.

Donald, 31 months old, has been in St. Vincent's orphanage since Regan and Miss Nelson surrendered him to the state's attorney Wednesday. Neither foster nor natural parents have been permitted to visit him there.

Earlier in the day Assistant State's Attorney Crowley said no criminal charge would be filed against Fred Ewart, an ex-convict who admitted aiding in taking Donald from his foster parents.

Keep Your Waves Neat At Home

By BETTY CLARKE
(AP Feature Service Writer)

IT TAKES a little perseverance to keep page-boy hair-cuts and night-end-day coiffures in order without visiting the beauty parlor. But it can be done—given a little time, a sprinkling of water or lotion, some curlers, combs and hairpins. A popular method is pictured below:

DAMPENING

Just a bit of water is needed to moisten the hair, if this type of automatic curler is used. Waving lotion is even better if the hair is thick or brittle. Separate the hair into small strands and make sure that the entire strand is inserted in the clamp before winding the curler up. (Even impatient collegians can master this in a hurry.)

DRYING

A wide-washed cap is invaluable for keeping the curls intact while they're drying. Delicate curls should be pinned down after the net is in place. Sunlight and warm air are the healthiest drying agents, but an electric heater will do on a rainy day—if you don't get too near it. Two hours is ample for complete drying without mechanical aid.

DISPLAYING

No matter what kind of curler you use, the finished product can be as effective as this. Possessors of naturally wavy hair often pass up metallic curlers in favor of pinning by hand, and are extremely successful if they follow the natural wave line. If you've had your wave put in at the beauty shop, follow its lines when you wave at home or you'll have trouble.

How's Your Health?

Edited for the New York Academy of Medicine

By Iago Goldston, M.D.

Protective Food Substances

Many authorities on nutrition maintain that the average adult diet is lacking in the "protective food substances." Principal among these are calcium and vitamins A and D.

The common sources of these substances are, for calcium and vitamin A, milk and milk foods, and for vitamin D, as well also as for vitamin A, the fish oils, notably cod liver and haliver.

To date the protest of our nutrition experts seems to have made but very little dent on the dietary practices of the adult population. Perhaps one reason for this unresponsiveness is that the deficiencies do not result in any readily evident and gross impairment of health. It is difficult for the average individual, who feels that he is getting along pretty well, to visualize how much better he might feel, and be, were he to improve his diet by the inclusion of "more milk and milk foods and by consuming added portions of vegetables.

Though medical research and clinical experience have brought forth evidences to back up the contention of the nutrition authorities that the average adult diet is defective, these proofs have not been sensational. Nevertheless, their cumulative significance must not be overlooked.

St. Mary Abbots hospital in London recently issued a report on a study conducted during 1936 on the effect of calcium and vitamins A and D on the incidence of pregnancy toxemia. Though this study deals with the pregnant woman, it has a significant bearing on the general subject of adult nutrition.

For, it is argued, if the average adult dietary is adequate, the extra nutritional burden placed upon the pregnant woman should not seriously tax her resources. On the other hand, if pregnancy does tax her resources, then there is warrant to assume that the intake of the protective substances of the average adult is not adequate.

In this study 100 pregnant women were divided into two groups, one of which was fed extra quantities of foods containing calcium and vitamins A and D. The other did not receive these. The results were impressive for the first group, compared to the second, which suffered only half the number of toxic symptoms.

Some $30,000,000 in coins and bullion was recovered by salvors from the S.S. Laurentic, sunk by a German submarine in the World war.

New York, Aug. 7.—(AP)—The stock market jogged into a rally today behind steels, mines and specialties.

While the volume was nothing to excite commission houses, gains of fractions to two or more points were widely distributed at the close.

Bonds did better in spots, and transfers were around 350,000 shares.

Gastonia Taxi Drivers Restrained From Operations

Gastonia, Aug. 7.—(AP)—Six Gastonia taxi cab operators had been temporarily restrained today by an order signed by Judge Wilson Warlick from running their taxi cabs along the route of the City Coach company of Gastonia.

Gregg Cherry, counsel for the petitioners, all state officers, said the order directed the taxicab companies to show cause in superior court in Charlotte on August 20 why the order should not be made permanent.

Utilities Commissioner Stanley Winborne, along with Attorney General A. A. F. Seawell and his assistants, Harry McMullan and T. W. Bruton, are the petitioners, Cherry said.

The bus company, Cherry said, operates a heavy schedule between Gastonia and Cramerton and it is alleged the taxi cab firms have been invading the franchise privileges of the firm. The state is interested, Cherry said, due to possible loss in its revenue from the six per cent tax on gross receipts of the company.

By HENRY AVERILL

Reflector Bureau
Raleigh, Aug. 7.—Raleigh has had almost a full week to ponder publication of the fact that former Governor J. C. B. Ehringhaus made a $10,000 fee from the government for legal services, and the newest ex-chief executive hasn't yet been consigned to the "Economic Royal-ist" class—which speaks well for the popularity of Mr. Ehringhaus.

A. D. (Lon) Folger, Surry county political czar and North Carolina Democratic National Committeeman, is in Raleigh; but if he has anything particular on his mind he hasn't divulged it yet. Just keeping tab on doings in the capital and mixing with the political big wigs, it seems.

Many profess to see the fine hand of a real publicity genius behind action of the Wake county liquor board chairman in posting Anti-Saloon League signs in the Raleigh stores. While some commentators and editors have scored him for the action, there are others who point out that he has advertised his stores not only in Raleigh and Wake county, but all over the United States. Those who hold the latter viewpoint contend, too, that the signs will increase sales on the well known principle that folks will usually want to do that which they are forbidden or warned not to do.

One of the fishermen who came here to complain about the Co-op fisheries said just before entering Governor Hoey's office, "I know he can't do anything about it, but we'll tell him anyhow." Another chap, waiting his turn to see His Excellency remarked: "Well, you're going to exactly the right man, he's the best listener I know."

It seems a far cry from a west coast lumberjack and stevedore strike to the Albemarle bridge in North Carolina, but Highway department officials assign the former as cause for delay in completing the latter. They reason that the strike has made it impossible to obtain pilings for the long span across the big sound. It seems that some of the pilings must be as long as 102 feet and that it is impossible to get them elsewhere than from the Pacific coast regions.

It now appears that there will be a undetermined, but lengthy delay in completion of the bridge.

A state official, who asked not to be named in connection with the remark, coined an alliterative and, some think, apt phrase when in discussing the Johnston county rural power furor he described the Federal REA officials as more interested in "litigation than in lights."

(though some are not so young) lives at their election of officers Thursday night. There were two slates and a bristling battle over candidates, a flurry of motions to table or for other parliamentary purposes, and a veritable flood of oratorical eloquence. Finally Miss Vergilina Griffis, vice president for several years, was elected president over Dick Telfair, her mere male rival. Miss Griffis looks like a beauty contest winner and sold more Jackson Day dinner tickets for more money than anybody in the United States.

The prize puzzle of the meeting, however, was propounded by a determined-looking gentleman who rose solemnly to demand:

"Mr. Chairman, I desire to know what is a Young Democrat?"

FLAME TRAIL

BY MARIE DE NERVAUD

SYNOPSIS: Kay Crandon of the Lazy Nine impulsively hires Ted Gaynor, a jobless puncher. He helps her fight Josh Hastings, a "friendly" neighbor, who wants to get her ranch and marry Kay. Ted and Scrap Johnson, a cow-hand who molests Kay, shoot it out, wounding each other. Hastings sneaks up and kills Scrap with Ted's gun. Arrested, Ted is tried for Scrap's murder, but Kay stops the trial by technical protest. Ted escapes and rescues Kay, whom Hastings has kidnapped and locked in a cellar. Ted asks Kay to hide at her ranch and turn up at his second trial when he hopes to prove Hastings' villainy.

Chapter 46 In Hiding

KAY cautiously raised her head and looked out the window of the cabin she had fixed up for Ted's mother and sister in those days that now seemed to be ages ago.

For two days she had been there in hiding, and the confinement was beginning to wear on her. In the sunset light she looked longingly down toward the corral. To think of having been home two whole days, without seeing Flicker!

It hadn't been as easy as it sounded to keep her promise to Ted, but she managed it. First of all, she had changed trains, and waited at a station where no one would know her, for the afternoon train, that would land her at Red River late at night.

Slipping off the end car without being seen, she had gone by a circuitous route to Old Man Jennings' livery stable. Rousing him, she had taken him into her confidence to the extent of telling him no one must know she was back and swearing him to secrecy. Old Man Jennings never talked anyway, if he could help it, and Kay knew she could trust him to keep quiet about her return.

She had taken one of his horses and ridden out to the ranch, arriving in the dead of night. She had given her rented mount a sharp cut of her quirt that sent him rushing on his way back. It would never do to have the outfit find a strange horse in the corral, if she was to keep her presence at the Lazy Nine a secret!

Awakening Seth

FIRST she had gone to her cabin and found her flashlight. Then she had tiptoed into the bunkhouse, and singled out Seth's bunk. Creeping over to it, she had gently laid her hand over his mouth and flashed her light in his foreman's eyes.

Smothering his startled oath as he blinked at her, Kay had put her finger to her lips, and then beckoned him outside. With astonished but muted mumbblings and grumbblings Seth had drawn on his boots and followed her.

"What the hell—" he had growled, pacing beside her to a safe distance. "When—"

"Shh! Seth!" Kay had whispered. "I don't want anyone but you to know I'm here."

Interrupted only by picturesque oaths of varying degree of blasphemy, Kay had poured out her story. "I don't know just what Ted means to do," she had ended, "but I think it's up to me to carry out my promise."

After a few minutes of careful deliberation, Seth had agreed with her.

On planning ways and means of doing this, it had finally been decided that no one would ever dream of looking for her in the deserted cabin. It wouldn't be safe to stay in her own, but in the other cabin they felt sure she could hide indefinitely.

Kay had agreed to have Shorty let in on the secret, so that he and Seth could take turns smuggling food down to her, and it would be less conspicuous than if one always disappeared.

Kay gave a great sigh and leaned her forehead against the glass. Then she ducked suddenly, as a figure topped the rise leading from the bunk house and strode down in her direction. A few minutes later there was a tap at the door, and Shorty demanded "o be admitted."

"Shorty!" Kay hurriedly let him in. "Wasn't it risky to come so soon?"

"Most of the outfit's off fire fighting," Shorty answered. "They sent a truck way up from Branchtown, so the boys piled in and went along."

"But Shorty," Kay worried, "shouldn't they have stayed here? If it did spread this way—"

"Not a chance," Shorty reassured her, "it's a good 50 or 60 miles from here. And the boys kind of liked the notion of getting a bit of fire fighting money."

"Of course they did," Kay agreed contritely. "When I can't pay them anything, it is only fair they—"

"Cut it out," Shorty broke in gruffly. "I didn't mean that. Here's your supper. Eat it, and I'll spill all the news."

Hastings' Predicament

"WHAT news?" Kay demanded. "Has Josh Hastings been around?"

Shorty nodded. "Say, you've got that bird so worried, he don't know whether he's comin' or goin'," he chuckled. "He's about crazy. I had a long talk with him today, and between what I know and what he told me, I doped out the whole business. Only I sure earned me a good big crown in Heaven for keeping from giving him a sock in the jaw!"

"Well, go on, Shorty," Kay urged, impatiently. "What did you dope out?"

"First place, he'd written your Aunt Kate you'd gone on a visit to some friend over in Idaho, and might not be back for several weeks. So now he can't let on you've disappeared, and he's like a locoed rattler in August. Ready to strike at anything, but not seein' where to strike!"

"Has he any suspicion that I'm here?"

"Not now. We pulled his leg good and plenty! Pears he's so fed up with your Aunt Kate naggin' him, that he's cleared out to join Zeke Farley and his posse. When anyone mentions Ted Gaynor, he's fit to be tied!"

"They're still searching the mountains for Ted, are they?" Kay asked.

"Yeah. But that guy's pulled as complete a disappearance as the dodo bird."

Kay breathed a sigh of relief, and a faint color came into her face as she changed the subject.

"I suppose you won't be getting any more of those tamarack logs in right now with the boys off fire fighting," she observed. "How did this thing start anyway?"

"Search me! It looked like a lightning strike, it started so far off from anywheres. It must have burned a good 24 hours before it was discovered. Only trouble with that theory is that there haven't been any thunder storms lately—at least, that's what the weather bureau says."

Kay rides up to Marion's cabin, Monday.

Reflector Bureau.
Raleigh, Aug. 7. — Kerr Scott, Commissioner of Agriculture, will join with representatives of other southern states in seeking to work out a plan for federal aid for cotton growers.

Mr. Scott, along with the secretaries of agriculture for practically every other cotton growing state, will confer Monday with Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace and other federal officials and experts in Washington, he said today.

The southern officials will urge the adoption of a high "parity" price for cotton and will cooperate in seeking a plan whereby the domestic price can be pegged at the figure adopted.

While representatives of the cotton growing states have taken 20 cents as the price which would put cotton on a parity with other commodities and with the general cost of living, Secretary Wallace has heretofore favored 17 cents. Cotton is now selling below 12 cents, some days below 11.

Some form of crop control, or at least complete control of the domestic market and the amount of cotton to be sold on it is absolutely essential to raising cotton prices to anything like the parity figures, Mr. Scott said. He added that whatever is done at the Monday conference, little effect can be anticipated this year, except by way, perhaps, of pegging the price in the neighborhood of 12 cents through federal loans to farmers who are willing to deposit their cotton in federal warehouses. He expressed no opinion as to the advisability of this plan, but said that the President has the power to authorize 12 cent loans on cotton, through the Federal Commodities Corporation.

Any plan which is ultimately worked out, Mr. Scott feels, should assure the farmer of a high price for cotton on the domestic market, but should leave him free to compete in the world market on his own account and without benefit of government assistance. Thus it would be necessary to adopt some form of control which would stabilize the domestic market, while at the same time allowing the grower to produce as much cotton as he chose to ship to world markets. This, Mr. Scott said, would necessitate something along the general line of the processing tax of the invalidated AAA.

He indicated that he feels some similar device should be worked out for cotton.

Tarboro, Aug. 7.—Tarboro's ball club slept well last night—Snake Henry's boys tallied 17 runs off two Greenie hurlers yesterday, and any team that circles the bases that many times has done a day's work. The Greenies went to bed early last night—they weren't tired from running around the bases though.

The Greenies tallied only three times. They reached Bernard Mooney for only four hits, while the Tarborians gathered the grand total of 18 off Moser and Williams, Greenie flingers.

Only Lehman failed to land in the base-hit column—and he had just one official batting turn. Mooney and Ware, with three hits each, were tops with the willow. Snake Henry clouted a pair of triples, and Big Jim Tatum banked a homer and a single, while most of the rest of the team gathered two hits each.

Tarboro had two six-run innings—the fourth and the sixth—and wound up its tallying with four tallies in the eighth. All three of the Greenie runs were tallied due to errors. The Tarborolans made five miscues, while the Greenies made two.

Elliott, the league's top winner, was opposed by Krim Bess in the pitching end of the battle. Bess was much stingier with hits—the Eagles outhit the locals, 14 to 9—and led by 5-3 in strikeouts. Each hurler walked one batter, and Bess hit one.

The Flanagan Buggy company yesterday afternoon accomplished a feat no other team in the City softball league has been able to do this season when it defeated the league-leading Tadlock Mutual Insurance team.

Two of the losers' runs were tallied in the first, but they were only able to add one more, while the Fordmen were going ahead to score four runs to win, 4-3.

Ty Wagner homered for the winners, while Gibbs clouted a four-bagger for the losers. Wagner's homer came in the opening frame. The Fordmen added three more runs in the fourth, after which no more runs were scored.

The Carolina Dairy gave notice that it is not out of the running in second half play yet when it defeated the Carolina Sales team, 11-10.

The Sales team rallied in the sixth to knot the count, but the dairymen came right back to add one to their score and win the contest. Although threatening, the Kelvinator men were unable to provide the winning punch against the fast-stepping and climbing Carolina Dairy players.

A victory was officially credited to the lawyers, when Person-Garrett announced that it had ceased play and would forfeit the remaining games. The game was forfeited by

Locals Face Heavy Week's Schedule

The Greenies will meet the Kinston Eagles here Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock, at which time a game rained out Wednesday July 21, will be played off.

The Kinston team also plays here Tuesday, Greenville goes there Wednesday. The week-end series is scheduled with the Eagles also. The two teams play here Saturday and there Sunday. On Tuesday the locals play Ayden here and on Friday the two Pitt county teams meet there.

Tomorrow the Greenies play Goldsboro there, following today's contest between the two teams here.

The five games with Kinston next week are expected to go a long ways in the fight to keep out of the cellar. Greenville at the present time is three games ahead of the Kinston cellarites.

John Delancy, pitcher, left for his home in Richmond, Va., yesterday, but will return in time to pitch Sunday's contest at Goldsboro. Thursday Delancy hurled his team to a 1-0 victory over Tarboro.

Monday of this week the Greenies lost to Snow Hill. Tuesday they won from Ayden, and lost to the Ayden team Wednesday. Thursday they won over Tarboro and Friday lost to Tarboro.

the tobaccoists to the lawyers Thursday. The Tadlock team also has a forfeited game against Person-Garrett.

Person-Garrett was scheduled to have engaged in other games, but they were postponed and not forfeited and their scheduled opponents cannot claim a victory although the games probably will not be played off.

ELECTRIC COOP CONTR'CT VOID

Johnston County Corporation Declines Accept Loan

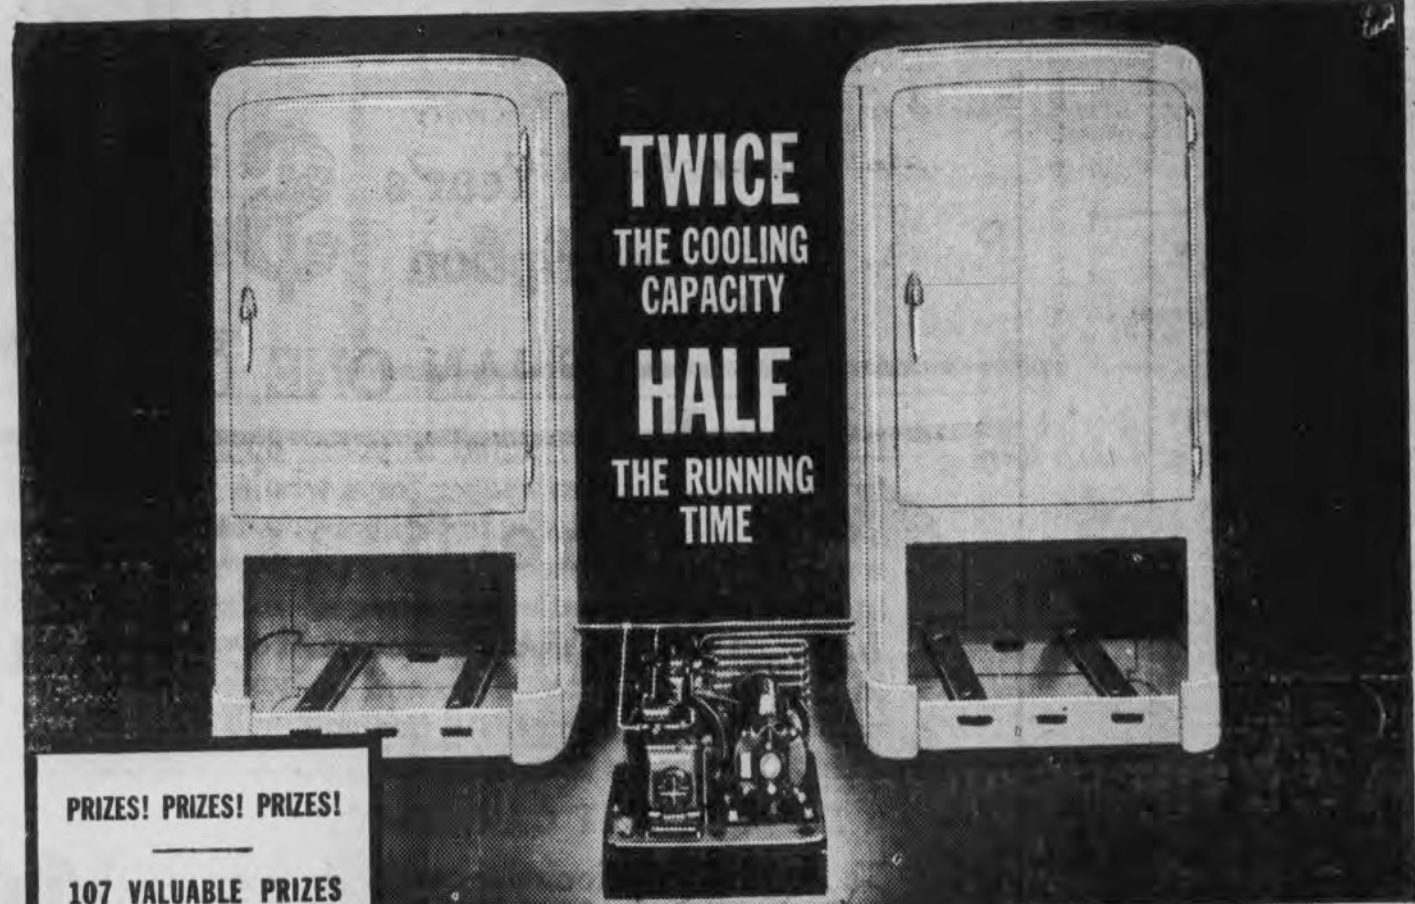

Reflector Bureau. Raleigh, August 7.—If the contract between the Johnston County Electric Membership Corporation and the Federal Rural Electrification Administration has not been cancelled, lawyers and officials of the North Carolina Rural Electrification Authority do not know what a cancelled contract is, it was being pointed out today. They are unable to see any legal grounds for the contention of Administrator John M. Carmody of the REA in Washington, that the Johnston county contract has not been cancelled.

"The news story from Washington Friday in which Carmody was quoted as saying that the action of the board of directors of the Johnston county corporation in declining not to accept the tendered REAL loan of $310,000 'could not be accepted as a cancellation' of the loan contract looks ridiculous to me," said Chairman Duquesne Barclay of the North Carolina REA. "For in the first place, the Federal REA advanced only $20,000 in actual cash to the Johnston county cooperative—all of which, I understand, has been returned to it since the cooperative signed its new contract with the Carolina Power and Light Co."

It is understood that Carmody maintains that the board of directors of the Johnston county cooperative did not have authority to act for the 1,500 members or "stockholders" without a vote of a majority of these members or stockholders. The facts in the case are, however, that the only actual stockholders who paid their $5 memberships fees are the members of the board of directors, with the result that the 1,500 or so members who signed up to become members and stockholders and to become customers of the REA electric lines if and when they were built, really never became paid-up members of the cooperative. Accordingly, since a majority of the members of the board of directors of the Johnston cooperative cancelled the contract and rejected the proffered loan

Man About Manhattan

By George Tucker

New York—Private lives:
Phil Napoleon hasn't worn an undershirt in 12 years and doesn't intend to wear one for 12 years, or longer . . . They drive him crazy.

Libby Holman, Ann Andrews and Joan Bennett are near-sighted — which explains those lorgnettes you see in their hands.

Bert Acosta, the aviator, has been in jail for several weeks—alimony trouble. He would rather lodge there than pay. Acosta is the flier who spanned the Atlantic with Admiral Byrd and who, more lately, fought for the loyalists in Spain.

Until the gendarmes got him, he was m.f.c.'ing in a Spanish night club, discussing the fracas with the guests.

Every time Mack Miller puts on pajamas he rolls the legs above his knees . . . He could not sleep otherwise.

Ramon Navarro likes to roam the town hatless and in slacks . . . The last time he was here some society belle have him a party, attended by all the swells in stuck-up clothes. But Navarro arrived in a sweater and a pair of sailor pants.

Billy the Oysterman has been handling shellfish 50 years, but can't remember when a pearly of any consequence was found in his place. The other night there was a shout, and the customer, pale with excitement, rushed up with a pearly object which he triumphantly exhibited . . . "I'm rich," he shrieked. "I've hit it! What's this pearl worth?"

Billy seized the proffered gem and then glanced at the joyous patron "I don't want to disillusion you," he began, "but, pal, that isn't a pearl. You've lost a tooth!"

Oscar of the Waldorf, when preparing important menus for banquets, likes to offer his guests a preference of champagne—or lemonade.

On one such occasion ex-Mayor Walker beckoned Oscar over and warned him: "One of these days, Oscar, if you keep this up, you'll get into trouble."

"How?" inquired Oscar, incredulously.

"Well," said Walker, "some of

UP WHERE THE TALL CORN GROWS. If you think you've seen tall corn, here's some 17 stories high, but it has a head start. The crop, along with other vegetables, is growing high above mid-town New York on the terrace of Mrs. Regina Jais' Fifth Avenue penthouse. She's shown here picking a few ears of choice corn. It's no trouble for her to go to market. She just steps out the front door.

PIPE THIS ONE. Six-month-old Patricia Benefield really takes her "after bottle" smoke as she is shown doing here in Atlanta, Ga., with Papa Lucius Benefield who prefers his "weed" in cigar form. Benefield says his daughter started smoking five weeks ago.

BEHIND THE GUNS. Foreign Minister Koki Hirota, as chief formulator of Japan's policies toward China, is in the center of the international stage.

BURNING UP THE ROAD. Five new automobiles carried on a truck are shown going up in smoke near Akron, Ohio, following a collision with a machine driven by Henry C. Moles of Lorain, Ohio, who was killed in the blaze. The truck driver escaped. His machines were destroyed.

A BRUSH ABROAD. Mrs. Irene De Bruyn Robbins, widow of a cousin of the President, accepted a $6,500 federal post directing decoration of 200 U. S. diplomatic establishments abroad. She has wide experience along this line.

DANGER, CURVES AHEAD. Beauty Expert Russell Mancuso (right) predicts the woman of tomorrow will be a "Venus" type, bigger, stronger and more lovely than today's shapely queens. Miss Aline Wigand shows what to expect in extremities of the future—curves and more curves.

PEACE... IT'S WONDERFUL. Walls of stone are no barriers for this powerful Austrian tank, shown in maneuvers near Bruck. Plowing along at high speed, this metal monster crashes headlong through a brick barricade as though it were made of matches. Modern rough riders man these machines as they hurtle some obstacles and plunge right through others.
