Launch Strong Attack Against Foes in Lini Area

BITTER BATTLE IS PRECIPITATED

New Incident Turns Attention Of Jap Leaders to Danger of War With Russia

Shanghai, April 18.—(AP)—Japanese launched a strong attack in the Lini sector today, precipitating a major battle in which they apparently were determined to avenge the series of stinging defeats they have suffered recently at the hands of the Chinese in Central China.

Fierce fighting was reported in southeast Shantung province war zone, where Japanese and Chinese have been massing reinforcements and munitions for a decisive engagement.

With the Japanese sworn to revenge the disastrous setbacks a round Talerwang, they were staking their military prestige on the outcome of the battle.

Equally resolute, the Chinese were fighting to break up the Japanese campaign against central China and reconquer all their lost territory.

Striking southward along the Yi river, the Japanese tried to reach the city of Suchow, junction of the Lunghai and Tientsin-Pukow rail ways, 80 miles southwest of Lini.

While opposing armies locked in crucial battle near Lini, severe conflict continued around Yihsein and Taoshwang, 70 miles to the west, where Japanese have been driven back to precarious defensive positions.

Tokyo, April 18.—(AP)—A foreign office spokesman asserted today Soviet Russia had detained a Japanese army plane, forced down in Suifenho, north of Vladivostok, last Monday.

Nine planes were patrolling the border and eight returned.

The spokesman did not specify the type of plane, but said the Russians notified Japan that "only one member of the crew was found alive."

Tokyo asked release of the ship to which the Russian reply was a protest against flying over Soviet territory, the Japanese informant said.

The incident is one of a long series which has turned the attention of Japanese leaders and the public increasingly to the danger of war with Russia. There have been persistent rumors, lacking official confirmation, of war preparations along the Manchoukuo-Soviet Siberia border.

Informed Tokyo quarters have heard Japan recently moved some regular army units from China battalions to Manchoukuo to man the border.

Grainger To Investigate Electrical Phenomenon

Raleigh, April 18.—J. M. Grainger, engineer for the State Rural Electrification Authority, is planning to investigate reports of an electrical phenomenon on the Lillington-Bunn line with accepted tenants as to be almost freakish.

If results of his investigations, which will be main in conjunction with State College electrical experts, prove the reports to be correct there may be a complete revision of ideas as to the capacity of rural lines to operate multi-horse powered motors.

It's a situation rather difficult to explain in ordinary lay language without resort to electrical and technical terminology, which all the experts say is not capable of operating motors of more than 5-horse power without seriously affecting general lighting service is in fact carrying the load of a motor, estimated to be of at least 25-horse power, and perhaps of 40-horse power without any noticeable

NON-MILITARY FUNDS SOUGHT FOR WAR DEPT.

Committee Asks Appropriation of $220,634,725

Bill Carries Request of $94,300,000 For General Rivers and Harbors Work

Washington, April 18.—(AP)—The House Appropriations committee asked Congress today to appropriate $220,634,725 for non-military activities of the War Department for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

This total, which includes $17,000,000 president Roosevelt suggested in a relief message last week for flood control, is $23,618,838 above the estimate prepared four months ago by the budget bureau.

The bill carries $94,300,000 for general river and harbor work, compared with $128,000,000 this year; $113,000,000 for flood control projects, compared with $105,000,000 this year and $10,250,125 for the Panama canal, about $325,000 less than for this year.

Although the $220,634,725 total is more than $25,000,000 above the '38 appropriation, the War Department this year was given $52,500,000 in relief funds, making the funds available for 1938 actually $26,401,238 more than the bill proposes for the next year.

The committee recommended $31,000,000 of the flood control appropriation be spent on the Mississippi river and its tributaries.

HEALTH BOARD MAKES REPORT

Activities of Department Shown for Past Month

Dr. N. Thomas Ennett, Pitt county health officer, today released his report on activities of the department during the past month, as follows:

"The major activities of the Pitt County Health Department for the month of March were: Pre-school Clinics, regular examination of school children, Maternal and Infant Welfare work, Venereal Disease Clinics, Dairy and Calf Inspections and a community sanitation program, that is carrying on an active privy program.

During March there were 99 cases of measles against 140 for February. There were no diphtheria, scarlet fever, whooping cough nor typhoid fever reported. This is the first month since August, 1934, that we have had no diphtheria reported.

"The Health Officer examined 344 school children and 249 pre-school children. Though Dr. Paul Fitzgerald, Secretary of Pitt County Board of Health, the dentists of the county very kindly assisted in the pre-school clinics. This adds to the quality of the pre-school examinations.

The Maternal and Infant Welfare work and the Venereal Disease Clinics continue to grow. The nurses have not only done a large amount of follow-up work in connection with Maternal and Infant Welfare Centers but they have also been active in following up cases of tuberculosis.

UTILITY IS HELD IN STRIKE GRIP

Public Transportation Halted in Columbus, Ohio

Columbus, Ohio, April 18.—(AP)—Negotiations to end a strike of street car and motor bus operators were mixed in an impasse today and thousands of office and factory employees walked or thumbed a ride to work.

Staunchly defending their stands, Carmen's union and officials of the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric company, operators of the transportation system refused to alter their demands that brought on the shutdown at midnight Saturday.

Ben Marr, president of the utility, said all equipment had been ordered left in the barns, but strikers called a mass meeting for a "demonstration" should restoration of service be tried.

Hugh Friel, U. S. Department of Labor conciliator, announced he had been instructed to offer his services. Marr said the utility could not, under present business conditions, grant a demanded wage increase to 62 and 75 cents an hour.

The present scale calls for 54 to 63 cents an hour.

RALEIGH LAST WEEK

By HENRY AVERILL

Raleigh, April 18.—North Carolina's Supreme Court last week set the stage for the biggest mass execution in the state's history—certainly the biggest since 1910 when Central prison here was made site of all legal executions.

In addition this unprecedented event, the week Capitol news was savored with the opening of Frank Hancock's senatorial campaign, two important decisions by the Utility Commission, decision of an election law row, and continuance of a hot local campaign for a tax levy to give Raleigh a nine-month school term.

Governor Clyde R. Hoey who usually furnishes the correspondents much of their news and food for speculation, spent the entire period in the hinterlands, exclaiming the virtues of North Carolina to the people at large and, in general, showing himself in his best vein of affability and friendliness.

Just before taking off, the Governor announced that he had allocated $2,000,000 of highway funds for use on the secondary roads of the state, further stating that there is a $9,000,000 surplus in the road

NEGROES HERE FACE CHARGES

Alleged to Have Received Benefit Checks Illegally

Warrants charging Junius White and Fenon Dawson, Greenville Negroes, with swearing to false statements in order to get unemployment benefit payments, were served today and the pair probably will be tried at the May 3 session of County court.

The warrants charge the two Negroes made application for and received unemployment checks while they were regularly employed and received weekly wages. Both were said to have been employed by the Blount Fertilizer company.

S. T. Cherry, field investigator at the local office, declared that several other persons were suspected of being guilty of receiving payments although gainfully employed and that other arrests probably would follow.

The warrants were sworn out after W. F. Renfrow, district deputy for the commission, a member of the branch office here made an investigation and conducted a hearing.

While similar cases have been tried elsewhere in the state, it is the first for this office. Two defendants pleaded guilty in Wilson Saturday, but judgment was withheld pending further investigation.

Negro Posts Bond Of $200 In Liquor Case

Special ABC law enforcement officers of Pitt county, J. M. Ward J. L. Taylor, revealed today that they arrested Andrew Bell, Negro, yesterday on whiskey charges after a quantity of this contraband was found hid in a tobacco barn at his farm on the Falkland-Fountain highway.

The Negro posted bond of $300 and is scheduled to be tried at the May 3 session of County court. The liquor was hid in stove pipes buried in the barn.

ANOTHER CITY SURE TO FALL

Insurgents Close in on Tortosa from Three Directions

Hendaye, France, April 18.—(AP)—The fall of Tortosa, key city of Southern Catalonia appeared imminent today as General Valino's insurgent army corps closed in on it from three sides.

A semi-circle of insurgent steel converging on a 10-mile radius broke through outlying defenses and forced Spanish government troops back to the Ebro river.

Highly mobile insurgent units fought their way to a coastal city controlling the southern approaches to Tortosa. That little town is on the main Barcelona-Valencia highway.

Five Must Die—On Wednesday the Supreme court announced it would not grant new trials to five men—four Negroes, one white—condemned to die for criminal assaults. Automatically the death date of all became April 29, and unless the Governor intervenes either by way of commutation or reprieve, that will truly be "Black Friday" at the Central prison, with the lethal gas chamber emptying and filling again for the greater part of the day.

Payne-Turner Plea Heard Thursday the Supreme Court heard, took under advisement the appeal of Bill Payne and Wash Turner, Public Bad Men Numbers 1 and 2, whose counsel contended they were tried more on their recollections as such than on evidence that they premeditatedly killed Highway General A. REPUBLICANS TO LEAD FIGHT ON RELIEF BILL

Program Attacked By Two Prominent Party Leaders

END OF CONGRESS SEEN BY JUNE 1ST

Rivers and Harbors Appropriations Include Fund for Pamlico, Tar Rivers

Washington, April 18.—(AP)—Republicans took the lead today in denouncing President Roosevelt's $4,500,000,000 relief recovery program, apparently giving up the strategy by which they sometimes let anti-New Deal Democrats direct the assaults on administration measures.

Republican Chairman John Hamilton and Senator Arthur Vandenberg (R. Mich.), criticized the huge "pump priming" program as unsound in radio speeches last night.

Their outspoken opposition was in contrast to Republican tactics during the Supreme Court fight.

The legislation now being drafted was a major topic for Mr. Roosevelt's weekly conference with his congressional lieutenants this morning.

After the meeting Representative Rayburn of Texas, the House Democratic leader, reiterated a prediction that Congress would adjourn between May 20 and June 1.

Sayburn, Vice President Garner, and Speaker Bankhead attended the customary Monday conference with the President before he left for his office. Senator Barkley of Kentucky, the senate leader, was out of the city.

Meantime Congressional tax bill conferees, recessing again today with a report of "no progress," called Chairman W. C. Douglass of the Securities Commission to testify tomorrow on proposed special tax treatment for utility holding companies undergoing liquidation.

Other developments: The House Appropriation committee proposed that Congress give the army engineers $95,300,000 for construction and maintenance of rivers and harbors projects in the country in the year starting next July 1.

Appropriations proposed for new work included: North Carolina: Pamlico and Tar Rivers, $328,000.

TRUCK DRIVERS OUT ON STRIKE

Easter Deliveries Are Held Up by Rochester Dispute

Rochester, N. Y., April 18.—(AP)—The truck drivers strike that tied up Easter deliveries here entered its third day today with a deadlock on the major issues of hours and wages.

After a Sunday in which representatives of the union and of the Associated Trucking Industry, employers, plotted strategic moves, all police platoons were ordered held in reserve to meet any emergency.

Strikers talked of a move to enlist sympathetic support of union drivers to crippled deliveries of merchandise not yet affected.

The strike was called Friday at midnight by local 118, Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Stablemen and Helpers, an A. F. of L. affiliate. Between 800 and 1,400 were reported to have walked out when their contract expired that day.

DR. TOWNSEND GIVEN PARDON

President Intervenes To Prevent Serving Jail Sentence

Washington, April 18.—(AP)—President Roosevelt today pardoned Dr. Francis Townsend, old age pension advocate, as he was about to enter the local jail to serve a 30-day sentence for contempt of a House committee.

Townsend had already reported to the district attorney's office and announced he was ready to begin service of the jail sentence when the presidential pardon was announced.

The 71-year-old pension advocate was convicted February 24th, 1937 for walking out on a special committee which was investigating his plan to pay $200 a month federal pensions to all persons older than 60 years.

Townsend was in the office of U. S. District Attorney (Continued on page six)

Farm Income On Decline: Finished Products Jump

Raleigh, April 18.—While consumers are buying the abundant crops that farmers harvested in 1937 at declining prices, they are paying more for many manufactured articles, E. Y. Floyd AAA administrator at State College, said today.

Triple-A figures show that while wholesale prices for agricultural products decreased in recent months and are now some 25 per cent lower than they were twelve months ago, prices for many industrial products are higher than they were early last year.

Farmers are being hit both ways by this change, Floyd pointed out. They must sell what they grow at lowered prices and buy manufactured goods at prices differing widely from those of early 1937.

For instance, he said, farm prices were 22 per cent lower in March, 1938 relative to the price of products farmers buy than a year earlier. Agriculture and industry moved together in their recovery from the low prices of 1932-33 until early in 1937. However, in only one month, January, 1937, were farm prices as high relative to prices paid for goods farmers buy as they were during the 1910-14 period.

Meats that would have cost whole sale $1 in 1929 sold for 83 cents on January 30, 1937, and on March 12, 1938 sold for 75 cents.

Between January 30, 1937 and March 12 of this year, wholesale prices for specified farm products taking the 1929 dollar as a base, declined as follows: fruits and vegetables, from 98 cents to 57 cents; dairy products, from 84 cents to 73 cents; miscellaneous foods, from 86 cents to 71 cents; livestock and poultry from 85 cents to 79 cents; and miscellaneous farm products, from 80 cents to 60 cents.

FOUNTAIN MAN NEW FOREMAN OF GRAND JURY

Group Selected to Replace Body Recently Ousted

JUDGE FRIZZELLE CONDUCTS COURT

Charges Against Two Officers Included in List of Cases For Grand Jury Action

H. F. Owens of Fountain was appointed foreman of the new Grand Jury drawn at the opening of a term of Pitt Superior court here this morning to replace one discharged on a technicality by Judge Henry A. Grady at the last session.

The new body will serve only until July and this is the only criminal term scheduled before them.

The Grand Jury is composed of Foreman Owens, Carlton Jackson, W. J. Whitman, Jack Waters, E. J. Whitehurst, E. W. Woodson, L. W. Andrews, O. L. James, C. E. Case, W. E. Beverly, Arthur Keel, L. O. Gross, J. M. Hobgood, W. H. Wynne, W. C. Whitehurst, R. L. Bell, R. A. Fountain, Jr., and G. T. Stokes.

It was revealed that only one member of the body, Mr. Hobgood, had ever served on a Grand Jury before.

Four men drawn for duty were excused. T. F. Hart was relieved when it was pointed out that the name drawn by the commissioners was L. F. Hart, B. A. Pope, school teacher, was excused because of his duties. John T. Barnhill, who declared he had sold a large amount of fertilizer and was the only person who knew where to deliver it, also was excused by the judge.

Rufus L. White's request to be relieved because of a painful carbuncle on his neck, and J. L. Parker, son was excused when he told the court he operated a filling station and had no one to relieve him.

J. M. Hobgood asked to be released because of pressing business, but following a conference between him and Judge Frizzelle he resumed his seat and was retained as a member of the body.

Judge Frizzelle's charge dealt entirely with the duties and procedure of action to be followed by the Grand Jury. He explained the course to be followed in considering bills of indictment and stressed the importance of the task they had been chosen to perform. He reminded them that they were pledged to secrecy and added any person inquiring into activities of the body was guilty of the gravest kind of contempt of court. The jurist asked the name of any person inquiring into the work of the body be made known to the court so proper action could be taken.

The presiding judge said he realized the members of the jury had a difficult task and perhaps an unpleasant one, but urged them to carry out their duty with the sole idea of bringing about justice.

The old Grand Jury was discharged by Judge Grady on motion of counsel for Sheriff S. A. Whitehurst and J. H. Harris, who contended that the county commissioners violated technicalities of the law in drawing names from the box.

Decorations carried out the idea of an athletic field's gate at the entrance to the dance floor suggested the gateway to the field, and goal posts were represented on the stage. From the center of the gold and purple canopy was suspended a crystal ball.

During the intermission a figure was given by members of the club and the faculty, a huge V being formed for Varsity.

Members of the faculty served as chaperones—among them President and Mrs. Meadows, Coach and Mrs. Alexander, Dr. and Mrs. Adams, Dr. and Mrs. ReBarker, Dr. and Mrs. Haynes, Mr. and Mrs. Cummings, Mr. and Mrs. Browning, Dr. and Mrs. Stuhl, Miss Dorothy Snyder, Mr. Ralph Deal, Miss Elizabeth Smith, and Mr. Boland Parley.

Operation Performed

Mr. R. L. Smith took his little son, Willie, to Baltimore last week to have an operation performed on his foot that has been giving him so much trouble. The operation was performed Saturday and the little fellow is reported as getting along well.

Washington, D. C., April 18th.—The crowds clamoring for entrance to the galleries of Congress today is unprecedented, even surpassing the rush of last week. Congress met at ten o'clock this morning, but adjourned until noon to wait for the Senate to meet.

The army that will be sent to occupy Cuba moves today and the transportation of troops to the South has already begun.

Peace Action

Two Viewpoints

"To conduct any modern war successfully, a nation must have a program for the raising, organizing and training of its man power. The Regular Army encourages the growth and efficiency of the National Guard. It teaches and develops the R.O.T.C. units at our schools and colleges. It trains and leads the Organized Reserves and fosters and nurtures the C. M. T. C. "Our efforts must be directed, therefore, to build up, in time of peace, a reserve of raw and fabricated materials sufficient to take care of our Army in all its needs until industry mobilized for war purposes, can convert plow shares into swords and pruning hooks into spears."

—From "If War Should Come Tomorrow"—American Legion Magazine—April 1938—Locis A. Johnson, Asst. Secretary of War.

"Are you going to stand by and wait with hands folded for coming destruction? Are you loving and educating children simply to throw them into the shambles of war? American manhood and womanhood cannot wait inertly for these things to happen. Yet what the remedy?

Would the peoples of the world achieve greater national security? The one and only solution of our civilization is more poison gas and bigger battleships, a policy which not only brought about the bloodiest and most destructive war in history, but is today forcing nations into bankruptcy to buy still bigger armaments for the suicidal war which all expect shortly.

The only thing that can help now is to go down deep to the very foundation. We must set out actually to build a society based upon living principles of Christ. The principles He taught were not mere words. He lived them. For all time he proved their truth."

From "The World Crisis and Christ"—by Frances B. Sayre, Asst. Secretary of State—Good Housekeeping, April 1938.

For Better Living: World Peace, World Trade

"Goods and money are of value only when they are exchanged and circulated. When they are locked up within national limits, wealth declines and living standards suffer," an expert on the subject of trade and commerce recently was quoted in a neighboring newspaper as saying.

A statement by the Assistant Secretary of State, Francis B. Sayre to the Associated Press in 1935 emphasizes the effect it would have on both industry and farm if we were unable to sell in foreign markets.

"We should be forced to let go, back to weeds and forest," he said, "over 40,000,000 acres of average farm land supporting around 3,200,000 people."

An industry of even larger number of people would be affected, as conservative estimates, he said, give the number at about 7,500,000. Thus the living standards of approximately 10,000,000 Americans depend on maintenance of world trade, and so on world peace and friendship.

In connection with World Trade Exhibit week which begins tomorrow with exhibits in windows of 9 centrally-located stores of the city, plans also have been made for the free distribution of literature to the people of the community. The literature will deal with various related phases of international goodwill and the economic interdependence of nations.

A table for the distribution of these pamphlets and flyers will be placed in front of the Perkins Department store, through the courtesy of the management, Mrs. C. C. Hilton, chairman of the literature committee, has announced.

How's Your Health?

Edited for the New York Academy of Medicine
By Iago Goldston, M.D.

The great highway menace is not the drunken driver. It's the drinking driver.

He who is visibly drunk and undertakes to pilot an automobile is of course highly prone to "run into trouble." However it is possible that the drunken individual, even though intoxicated, may still be aware of the risk, and refrain from taking the wheel. More likely is the prospect that others, recognizing his condition, will dissuade him, or if necessary restrain him from driving.

It's otherwise with the drinking but not evidently drunken, driver. Having taken but little alcohol, he is likely to be in a gay and lifted mood, have utmost confidence in himself, and believe that he is driving well, when actually he is showing bad judgment and worse coordination.

Fatal accident summaries show that 7 per cent of the drivers and 11 per cent of the pedestrians involved "had been drinking," or were intoxicated. But these figures are not revealing for they reflect legal rather than physiological definitions of alcoholic intoxication.

Physiologically it has been shown that alcohol and automobiles "are all too likely to get mixed so that it is hard to extricate what remains of the drinking driver and his victims."

An English reports says: "Alcohol in small or moderate amounts has been shown to diminish attention and control, to affect reasoning adversely, to affect adversely the power to make movements dependent upon rapid and accurate coordination, and the ability of the eyes to follow clearly an object nearer and nearer."

"After taking alcohol the automobile driver may believe himself to be driving better but in fact his body works less efficiently. This happens even if alcohol is taken in moderate quantities some hours before driving, and especially on an empty stomach."

Horses And Mules Make Up Most Of Livestock Assets

Figures Compiled by National Association Released Through Division of State Department

Reflector Bureau
Raleigh, April 18—North Carolina's horses and mules constitute by far the greater part of the state's livestock assets, according to figures compiled by the Horse and Mule Association of America and released through the statistical division of the State Department of Agriculture.

There are in the state, in round numbers, 69,000 horses with a value of $4,603,000, while there are more than four times as many mules, 305,000, whose value runs up to $55,130,000—giving a combined horse-mule value to the state of $59,733,000.

Against these figures the state shows 62,000 sheep with a value of $362,000 and 1,133,000 swine aggregating in value $11,123,000; so the combined horse-mule valuation is approximately five times that of the sheep-swine combination.

In the state there are 370,000 milch cows, valued at $14,430,000 and 258,000 other cattle valued at $4,466,000; so horses and mules exceed the value of the state's milch cows by $49,309,000 and surpass the value of all other cattle by $49,273,000.

The association points out that farmers in this state are fortunately situated to use and produce horses and mules. Food is abundant, reasonable in cost, pastures can be made available for 9 or 10 months of each year and farms are of moderate size and generally diversified, favoring the use of animal power.

Pastures, the article continues, are the key to success in raising and using horses. A mixture of wheat, oats and barley broadcast in March at the rate of four or five bushels to the acre will make wonderful pasturage in May and June.

"Good, green, rapidly growing pastures develop and maintain horses and mules at low cost—and this enables wise farmers to lower their crop production costs," the story concludes.

Boys and Girls of 4-H Clubs Doing Much to Make North Carolina A More Attractive State

Raleigh, April 18—Working away at home, beautification projects, thousands of 4-H club members are doing their part in making North Carolina a more attractive state, according to L. R. Harrill, 4-H club leader at State College.

In anticipation of Better Homes Week, April 24-30, these boys and girls are making use of native shrubbery, plants, flowers, and other natural equipment. Through their club meetings, they have learned the type and variety of plants and shrubs to use, as well as when how, and where to plant.

Many 4-H Clubs have taken as club, or community, projects the beautification of school grounds and church grounds. Their participation in these activities is teaching them the beauty of well-landscaped homes, churches and schools.

Home beautification is not confined to the exterior of the home in these projects, since the greatest improvements have been on the

The Boxwood Barrier

The Story So Far: In love with dashing Gary Brent, Judith Goodloe marries Reuben Oliver for his money—only to discover he is bankrupt. Twins are born, and when Reuben loses a mental mining job their situation becomes desperate. Back into the picture steps red-headed Cissy Rogers who loves Reuben, and schemes to throw Judith and Gary together again by placing Reuben in Gary's lumber camp. On her arrival, Judith meets Gary. She still loves him and, for the first time, Gary realizes he loves her.

Chapter 30

Cinderella And The Prince

IN THE log cabin Gary provided, they had dinner. His eyes rested hungrily upon Judith's animated face, as though he was trying to preserve a mental picture, trying to recall—what?

Two moths circled the candle flame in mad ecstasy.

"Judy," Gary burst out, when Alf had brushed away the last crumb and they sat on at the gay little table with the haze of cigarette smoke between them. "We made an awful mess of our lives, didn't we?"

She was unprepared for this from him.

"I was thinking about it walking up the hill tonight," the man frowned perplexedly. "trying to figure out how it happened."

"As if he didn't know! She moved a candle an inch nearer, and stared at him as he stared at a stranger whom one doubts. He appeared hoarsely bewildered. She longed to cry out: "You're trying to figure out? You know you went away with Cissy! You were always going away—fleeing me a kiss—keeping me waiting—leaving me to heart-break!"

Gary said: "It came over me tonight with terrific clearness, Judy. I shouldn't be here this way—just spending an evening like any casual caller. You should be mine—my wife."

Loyalty to Reuben demanded that she should contradict him. But she couldn't contradict him.

"How did it happen?" From this distance Gary could almost forget that Cissy's wit, charm and celebrity had fascinated him. That her money had lured him. That if it had not been for Cissy it would have been someone else—"How?"

"How does everything in life happen and—why?" She achieved a lightness.

"Because we're like those moths," Gary said bitterly, "dazzled, stupid, blundering, blind!"

It was an entirely new theory for him. Until tonight he had always been quite sure he could make things happen as he willed. Now, looking at her, so near he could touch her, yet remote as the moon and utterly forbidden, Gary realized with a sort of physical shock that he had been tricked by his own ego, his own cocksureness. There was a time when he could have had Judith. Now—

Face to face with that thing called Love—the thing he had played at lightly—his life, even as those moths were, 'aying with the flame that sooner or later would destroy them—Gary found that the hour of reckoning—the adding and subtracting of the balance sheet, with the deficit on the wrong side, could be devastating. Total bankruptcy! A devil of a thing to happen to Gary Brent who had been so sure!

One of the moths fell into the flame.

Judith sighed: "I should have put out the candle."

"No. One high moment is worth all of life."

Fascinated they watched the remaining moth draw nearer to its doom.

The moth, from sheer exhaustion, fell into the flame. The candle sputtered and fluttered briefly, then resumed its steady burning.

I Love You

AFTER a moment Judith said: "I hear music."

"It's nine o'clock. The dance is starting. Want to trip the light fantastic, Judy? Crackerjack music—Not too crowded—"

"Gary—if I could dance once more!"

"We're on the way!"

"But the babies—?"

"Afraid to leave them with Alf?"

"N—no. I've never left them since they were born."

"Well—of all things! Why not?"

"Never had any reason to. Had I been living back in Maryland, I'd have gone out every night."

Cinderella going to her fairy ball never felt more excited than Judith walking down Winding Hill, on treacherous still heels with her arm through Gary's.

"I didn't dream there was such a place in the world," Judith said happily. "The privacy of the wilderness, but people within hailing distance—I love it!"

"And I love you!" He had to say it. It was torn from him—not on the old flirtatious note—with the gruffness of deep feeling. "I've been the world's worst fool! Judith! I love you!"

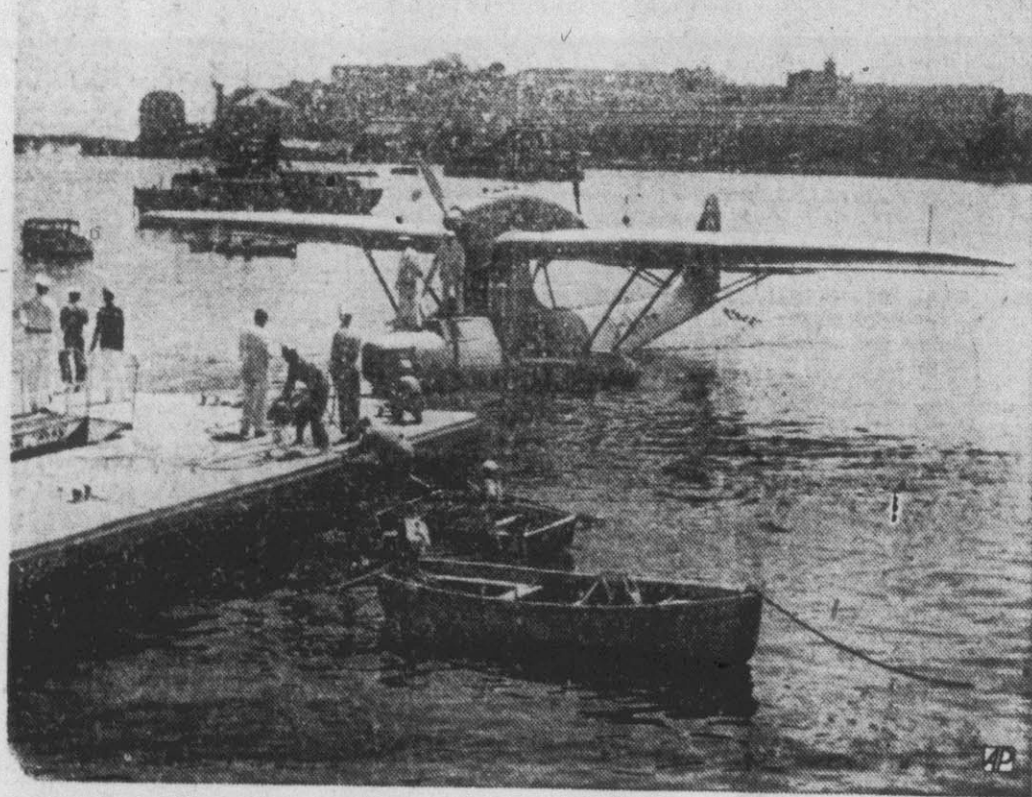

I love you! Judith tried to steady the whirling earth. "Gary—don't spoil a perfect moment!"

SHORT SHOTS
By HENRY AVERILL

Raleigh, April 18—Habit of announcing for the State House seems to be catching among railroad men. A day or so ago J. A. Boichen, veteran rail man of Winston-Salem, came out for one of the Forsyth seats.

Almost on the heels of the Bolch announcement comes that of John E. Baumberger, engineer, lawyer and one time member of Asheville's city council for one of Buncombe's two places.

An added unusual feature is the fact that some thirty-five years ago Mr. Bolch was running a South ern railroad engine up and down Saluda mountain helping regular trains make the steepest rail pull east of the Rockies, while Mr.
Baumberger was than a barefoot urchin running more or less wild, as all youngsters will, around the village of Saluda, where his father conducted a meat market and was partner in a chicken hatching industry which folded up.

Your correspondent knows whereof he speaks for at the same time this writer was running around Saluda even a bit wilder than John.

Incidentally Baumberger is the fellow who drew the bill, beaten in the 1937 General Assembly, which would have disqualified all Negro firemen. It was a cleverly-phrased measure which never even mentioned race, but would have prevented employment as firemen of any persons who could not qualify eventually to become engineers—a proviso which would have eliminated Negroes automatically.

Manhattan

New York—Mr. J. B. Priestly has some strange things to say about dramatic tastes on this side of the Atlantic in a current issue of a monthly magazine. But I think his argument would carry more authority if his own plays were a little more successful.

Mr. Priestly was represented briefly on Broadway this season with two plays, one of which was called an artistic triumph but failed, to survive the public's apathy. The other, "Time And The Conways," was so unbelievably dull that most of the play-goers waited out or went to sleep.

Both of these plays had good ideas but were handled so heavily that, from box-office angle they never had a chance to succeed. Irrespective of what London thinks of him and the honors he has won in letters, it is my opinion that he can't write entertainingly enough to succeed as a playwright on the New York stage. He simply is too heavy-footed and dull.

His article purposes to analyze the New York stage, which he finds cynical, trashy and ill-mannered.
To arrive at this conclusion he completely ignores the successful plays of this season most, of which his own countrymen have hailed and points to two hold-overs from last year as being the sum and total of what Broadway likes.

The plays he mentions are "The Women," now in its second year, and "You Can't Take It With You," a Pulitzer prize winner also in its second year and one of the big money-makers in Broadway history.

He is correct when he says New York likes these plays. But he is scarcely adequate as a critic and he is certainly less than honest as a reporter when he holds up two comedies, which he dislikes, as representative of the whole New York theatre.

Mr. Priestly, more in sorrow than anger, deplores the plight of the poor Manhattan critics who "Drag themselves off to the theatre nearly every night in the week, bored and grumbling, and are in no condition to appreciate the subtleties of dramatic art."

Subtleties of what art? That dull stuff he packed into "Time And The Conways," which in most observers, inspired one long, bored yawn, three acts long.

Sorrowing further after the wretches who observe the New York drama professionally, Mr.
Priestly adds: "What they demand from the stage is a series of electric shocks, scenes that are tougher and tougher, comedy that is wilder and wilder, wisecracks that are more and more daring."

Finally he likens his writings to rare old liqueur brandy which is because their palates have been impaired by constant usage of cheap bootleg whiskey and fire-water. New York's trashy theatricals, he says, are like shots in the arm to jaded reviewers who must have something explosive to keep them awake.

Perhaps New York could use an occasional dram of honest liqueur but in the case of Mr. Priestly's brand, I fear a little of the grape has turned sour. After all, two Broadway floppers do not add up to honey and cream.

Rails Get Rate Boost, Greyhound
..... A Franchise

The Utility Commission broke into the headlines with a decision that railroads will be allowed to raise their interstate freight rates in about the proportion recently allowed by the I. C. C. for interstate rates. Later in the week a Commission order gave the Greyhound lines the much sought-after Lexington-Raleigh franchise, a row which ad called into action almost a score of the state's leading lawyers (and politicians). This gave the Greyhound its first east-west route from one end of Tar Heel to the other (Wilmington-Boone).

Strawberries, No Cream or Gravy
The Unemployment Commission ruled during the week that strawberry picking is "suitable" employment for many unemployed workers who are entitled to compensation checks; and further ruled that if these workers do not accept strawberry-picking jobs when offered, they shall receive no cream or gravy in the form of compensation checks. The ruling leaves it up to deputies to determine in each instance whether, or not the employment offered is "suitable."

ROAD TINKERING IS COSTLY...
MAKE THE MAINTENANCE DOLLAR
DO FULL DUTY

To get the most out of surface maintenance funds pavements must be of concrete.

This statement is proved by actual cost figures from the twenty-one states which publish comparable records.

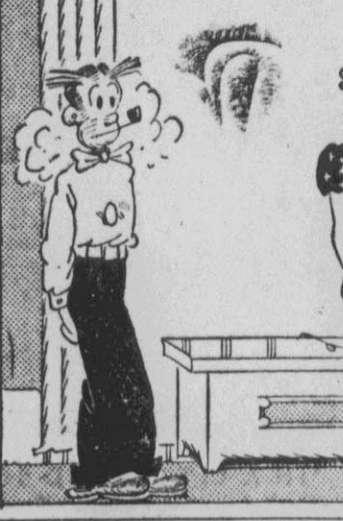

And here's what they show! Surface maintenance costs for concrete average only $103.17 per mile per year. For the next lowest paying material the cost is almost double that of concrete. And for all surfaces other than concrete, the cost averages 3 1/2 times as great—although concrete in general carries the heaviest volume of traffic.

Concrete Costs Least
Concrete gives the greatest load-carrying capacity per dollar of cost. It is the safest road—non-skid, highly visible. And it saves large sums on maintenance. All good reasons why your new roads should be concrete.

Concrete is the Real Low-cost Road and NORTH CAROLINA NEEDS CONCRETE ROADS . . . Pave the Roads that Carry the Loads and save excessive maintenance and reconstruction costs.

Greenies Defeat Norfolk Club, 12-11, In First '38 Tilt

Villa Miller's Two Homers Help Locals Top Tars In Old-Fashioned Slugfest

By BERT MOYE

The hundreds of baseball fans who went to Third Street stadium yesterday afternoon to watch Skipper Monk Joyner's boys play against the Norfolk Tars of the Piedmont League got their money's worth both in thrills and suspense, as the local club took a 12-11 victory from the Virginians.

But the hero of the day proved to be Villa (Chick) Miller, Greenies' second sacker, who hails from Virginia, for it was this lad's bat that tied the score and saved the Greenies from defeat in the ninth inning and then in the tenth inning won the ball game with a home run to bring in both the tying and winning run.

Greenie stayed behind during the entire game and did not go ahead until they won the game in the extra inning. When the locals went to bat in their half of the 8th they were trailing 10-4. When the regulation nine-inning game was ended, the clubs were tied at ten-all.

How They Scored
The Norfolk Tars were the first to score—in the third inning—when they put across four runs. Druce, pitcher, first man up, struck out. Corbett then beat out a bunt to reach first. Leznick singled, Corbett being held at second. Delaney then uncorked a wild pitch, each runner advancing. Taylor singled, scoring Corbett and Leznick, later going to second on Smith passed ball. Lawrence was out pitcher to first. Taylor going to third on the play, and later stealing home. Robinson walked, stole second and scored on Crosswhite's single.

In the fifth inning Norfolk put across one more run when Lawrence reached first on a fielder's choice. He stole second and scored a moment later on Crosswhite's single. This gave the Norfolk boys a five-to-nothing lead.

The Greenies came back in their half of the fifth inning and scored four runs. Dunston drew a walk. Andrews singled and so did Moser to fill the bases. Tom Hoskins, third sacker, then went in to hit for Ray Rodriguez, smashing out a triple to clean the bases. Hoskins later stole home to end the first local scoring spree.

Both teams went scoreless in the sixth and seventh frames, but in the eighth Norfolk put across five more runs. Kessler walked. Coligliandro doubled, but Kessler was held at third. Corbett got a pass and the bases were filled. Leznick then hit a long doubled, scoring all runners. Taylor's single scored Leznick and then scored when centerfielder Dunston errored his fly ball.

Greenie came back in her half of the eighth to put across four more runs, as follows: Miller singled. Stowe doubled to center, scoring Miller. (Stowe made the circuit on the hit which went under the score board, but he was called back to second because of ground rules). Dunston singled, advancing Stowe to third. Stowe scored on Linke's infield out. Pratt doubled. Hardison drew a walk and then Hoskins tripled to score Pratt and Hardison. Selph popped out to short to retire the side. Score at this juncture 10-8 favor Norfolk.

The Tars failed to produce in their half of the ninth. The Greenies came up determined. They were solving Orpheus' offerings. Thompson singled. Miller lifted the second pitch into the left field bleachers and the fans went wild. Stowe connected safely and reached second on a fielder's choice. With another batter out the Norfolk crew went into a huddle and decided to have the pitcher walk two men to fill the bases to enhance the chance of a forceout. It worked and the side was retired with the bases loaded.

With the game tied up at the end of the regulation game, Norfolk came to bat in her half of the tenth and put across another run to retake the lead. Hardison, who was hurling at this period of the game, fanned the first two hitters. Kessler singled to centerfield and Dunston juggled the ball, permitting Kessler to pull up at second. Coligliandro then doubled into right field to score Kessler. Orpheus struck out.

Greenie then pulled the thrill that comes only every now and then. Selph went out second to first. Thompson got his third hit of the day—a pretty single into left field. Miller then poled a drive that went over the centerfielder's head, more than 400 feet from the plate and the game was over after he had touched all the bases.

The Pitching
Each team used three pitchers during the contest. John Delaney was the starting pitcher for the home club, working three innings. During his stay in the box he allowed five hits, four runs, walked three and fanned three. Lefty Moser took up mound duty in the fourth and pitched for three innings. He was touched for four hits, one run, walked one and struck out two. Wade Hardison relieved Moser in the 7th inning and pitched the remainder of the game, allowing six hits, six runs, walked three and struck out four batsmen.

Norfolk's starting hurler was Druce who pitched four innings. He allowed two hits, no runs, walked one and struck out one. Phelps relieved him and pitched only one-third of an inning, in which he was found for three hits, four runs, a walk. He struck out nine. Orpheus relieved him in the fifth and pitched the remainder of the game, allowing 12 hits, eight runs, and three walks. He managed to fan two.

DUKE FACED BY BIGGEST WEEK

University Athletes to gage in 10 Sports Events

Durham, April 18.—Duke university's baseball team was opening the institution's biggest sports week of the current season today by clashing with Maryland's Old Liners in the annual Monday Double-header.

A total of 10 events and participation in one tournament are slated this week for the four varsity spring sports aggregations.

Headlining the list was today's twin attraction with the Old Liners but the coming event of most importance will be the clinder path engagement on Saturday between the Blue Devils and North Carolina Tar Heels.

The two track teams look about even this year and their clash on Saturday should be one of the greatest in the long history of dual engagements between teams of the two institutions. Princeton met both the teams two weeks ago, defeating Carolina 75-50 on Wednesday and Duke 72-54 on Saturday. That leaves little to choose between the old rivals.

Coach Jack Coombs ball club is slated for two more tests after today's twin bill. They meet Wake Forest's strong team at Wake Forest Wednesday and entertain N. C. State here Saturday.

The golfers, undefeated in six dual meets this season, leave on Tuesday for Athens, Ga., where on Wednesday they stage a dual meet with L. S. U. and on Thursday and Friday take part in the Southern intercollegiate. The netters will also be on the road, meeting Maryland at College park tomorrow and Nav at Annapolis Wednesday, returning home to meet Wake Forest here on Friday and Carolina at Chapel Hill Saturday.

The full schedule:

Monday, Maryland at Durham, varsity baseball, two games.
Tuesday, Maryland at College Park, tennis (varsity).
Wednesday, Wake Forest at Wake Forest, varsity baseball; L. S. U. at Athens, Ga., varsity golf; Navy at Annapolis, varsity tennis.

S. Marshal John Colpoys, awaiting removal to jail when the pardon was delivered to him.
He emerged grinning broadly, with the pardon in hand.
"I am very happy," he said.
"It is complete vindication and an act of contrition on the part of Congress."
Townsend said he would fly back to the West coast "within a few days".
A White House announcement of the pardon cited a telegram sent to the President April 15 by Chairman Bell (D-Mo.) of the House committee, saying:
"Dr. Townsend is an aged man and I am firmly convinced that at the time of the so-called walkout was planned prior to his having been called as a witness and later at the time he actually did leave the witness stand, he was under the influence of men of stronger will and intelligence than his own and that they were far more responsible for his offense than the doctor himself."

At present 10 tuberculosis (Burr) cottages are occupied. These, as you know, are individual cottages used on the yard to segregate the patient from other members of the family.
The State-Pitt Orthopedic Clinics—supported locally by the Greenville Rotary Club—grows steadily. At the last clinic there was an attendance of 35 cases. This is the largest number attending any one clinic since the clinic was organized in July, 1936.

tedance of 35 cases. This is the largest number attending any one clinic since the clinic was organized in July, 1936.

The school dentistry program, supported jointly by the State and the county, was active during the month of March. Two white dentists were at work and one colored dentist. The white dentists examined 1975 children, treated 959, referred 615 children to private dentists, and performed 4197 operations. The colored dentist examined 907 children, treated 415, referred 31 to private dentists and performed 1610 operations.

J. T. Welch, Greenville sanitary inspector, has given much attention to safe and dairy inspection and has also examined many milk samples. Both the dairies and cafes are showing improvement.
"J. H. Moore, Pitt County Sanitary Inspector, devoted much time to the WPA Privy Program but the voluntary response has not been what one would expect from an enlightened and progressive citizenship as found in Pitt County. We are hopeful, however, that Law enforcement steps will not be necessary. We believe that a word from the family physician would greatly influence the landlord to provide a sanitary privy for his tenants and the Health Officer is looking to the physicians of the county for active cooperation with the Health Department in this important health measure. It can be truthfully stated that when the landlord neglects to provide a sanitary privy for his tenant he is also neglecting the health of his own family. For it is well known that germs are no respecters of persons."
