For House of Representatives;
two Seeking Senate Seat

Only a few candidates for county offices were without opposition three hours before the deadline for filing with the County Board of Elections, this afternoon at six o'clock, a check of Chairman J. H. Harrell's books revealed.

W. O. Jolly of Ayden, this morning announced for the office of commissioner from the fifth district. Frank M. Kilpatrick, the incumbent, previously had stated his intention of seeking the seat for another term.

With only a few hours to go, no candidate had filed for the office of constable in several townships. Neither did it appear that each township would have an opportunity to vote on two justices of peace, the number allowed for each sub-division.

At least two candidates are out for four of the five seats on the Board of County Commissioners.

Veteran Clerk of Superior Court, J. Frank Harrington, is without opposition, barring last-minute filers. So were Coroner A. A. Ellwanger and County Court Solicitor Charles Whedbee.

Two candidates had announced for treasurer, three for sheriff, three for county judge, five for the state House of Representatives, two for State Senate and one for the County Board of Education.

The list of candidates to be voted on in the June 4 primary from U. S. Senate to township constable and magistrate, including filers for county offices up to 3 o'clock this afternoon, follows:

U. S. Senate—R. R. Reynolds and Frank W. Hancock.

U. S. House of Representatives—Lindsay C. Warren.

Associate Justice
George W. Connor
Dies From Attack

Member of Supreme Court for Past 14 Years
Succumbs Suddenly at Home in Raleigh;
Funeral Sunday Afternoon

Raleigh, April 23.—(AP)—Associate Judge George W. Connor of the North Carolina Supreme Court, died suddenly of a heart attack at his home this morning.

Judge Connor, 65, and a native of Wilson had been a member of the Supreme court 14 years and before that served 11 years on the Superior court bench. He was speaker of the House of Representatives in 1913 and Representative from Wilson county in the 1909 and 1911 legislatures also.

Funeral services will be conducted at the home, 825 Holt drive, at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, tomorrow afternoon by the Rev. James Dick, rector of the Good Shepherd Episcopal church, of which Judge Connor was a member.

Interment will follow in the Connor plot at Wilson.

Last year Judge Connor was ill several months, but he had been in better health recently, sat with this court this week and worked at his office yesterday.

Colonel J. W. Harrelson, a son-in-law, said Judge Connor suffered a set-back last night and his condition caused "alarm" but this morning the jurist got up, read his paper and seemed to be feeling better before the fatal attack came at 9 o'clock.

Last year Judge Connor started a new six-year term to which he was elected in 1936.

Judge Connor was the son of Judge Henry G. and Mrs. Kate Whitfield Connor. His father served also on the Superior and Supreme court benches and then as Judge of United States District court.

After his graduation from the University of North Carolina in 1892 the Judge became principal of the Goldsboro high school and two years later became school superintendent at Wilson.

In 1899 he secured his law license and started a career which followed that of his father.

Connor was a member of the North Carolina Bar Association and the American Bar Association.

Spain Wage Attack

(By The Associated Press)

Europe went on with her diplomatic sparring today while powerful Chinese and Japanese armies each feinted for a knock-out blow on the other side of the world. The Spanish Civil war brought a Government counter-offensive.

Italy and France, in efforts to reach an accord to parallel that between Italy and British, each laid down a list of topics for negotiation.

These included questions on the Mediterranean status quo, Italian assurances regarding Spain, Italian propaganda in North Africa, French interest in Ethiopia, treatment of Italians in Tunisia, France's North African protectorate and Italian concern over keeping the Suez Canal open in both war and peace.

France wants at least a general accord before Adolf Hitler visits Benito Mussolini May 3. British War Minister Hore-Belisha visited the Italian Premier today.

Meanwhile Britain's fence building continued apace in another quarter. The dominion's office announced an accord had been reached with Ireland, the former Irish Free State, but reserved details of the agreement until Monday, when it will be signed.

The settlement of what Britain regard as a "family affair" was reported to affect tariff differences and to include compromise on defense questions, leaving untouched the major issue—Irish Prime Minister de Valera's dream of a United Island, including Ulster.

The war in China centered near Taiherchwang, scene of Japan's worst defeat. There was furious fighting along a 30-mile front. The new Japanese drive to cross the Grand canal and cut the Lunghai railway had brought the war's greatest concentration of men and materials from both sides.

Government Spain's reinforced army for the defense of the Valencia region strongly fortified in their new positions, counter-attacked the Insurgents on a 16-mile front.

Allegedly unfair use of "preferred lists" in laying off employees and calling them back to work.

Intimidation of workers through lay-offs allegedly for union activities.

Violation of seniority provisions of the General Motors-U. A. W. agreement.

"Misinterpretation" of recent supplemental provisions to the working agreement.

Negotiations seeking a settlement of the labor dispute in eight plants of the Bohn Aluminum and Brass Company, in Detroit ended yesterday without result.

The Bohn plants, which ordinarily employ 3,300 men, were operating with approximately 1,000 men when the strikes were called.

Weather For The Week.

South Atlantic States—Scattered showers over north portion Monday or Tuesday and some likelihood of shower period latter part of week; cooler about middle of week over north portion; otherwise near normal temperatures.

North Carolina manufacturers shipping their goods out of the state by water could use Morehead only by paying higher rates to the port than to Norfolk. The same situation existed relative to incoming merchandise from other states. In the future the combined water-rail rates from and to Morehead City will be "at least as low" as those to and from Norfolk, and in some instances there will be a substantial differential in favor of the North Carolina port, Dozier said.

The possibilities underlying the removal of freight differentials against Morehead City can easily be seen, Dozier declared, when it is noted that 75 per cent of the water traffic now moving through Norfolk is either to or from North Carolina points. With Morehead City enjoying the same rates there is reason to believe that the North Carolina port will obtain a large part of this business.

New York City, April 23.—America's greatest metropolis and financial center is today a city of pessimism. There is a little more cheer now than a week ago but you can still cut the gloom with a knife. This fact, however, is not necessarily a bad sign. People in this vast city are so close to the trees that they cannot see the forest. Sentiment in Wall Street usually goes too far. Often when New York thinks that conditions are the rosiest, it is time to pull in your horns; when it thinks that they are the bluest, it is time to buy securities and goods.

TOTTERRING WALLS HAMPERS RESCUE WORKERS

Rescue work in the wreckage of a building that collapsed in the business section of Phenix City, Ala., and killed 20 persons was hampered at first by the tottering wall (right) which threatened to crash into the ruins. Many of the doctors who were called to the scene feared the death toll would rise still higher.

New York A City Of Gloom
Babson Says National Business Modestly
Better Than Month Ago

By ROGER W. BABSON

New York City, April 23.—America's greatest metropolis and financial center is today a city of pessimism. There is a little more cheer now than a week ago but you can still cut the gloom with a knife. This fact, however, is not necessarily a bad sign. People in this vast city are so close to the trees that they cannot see the forest. Sentiment in Wall Street usually goes too far. Often when New York thinks that conditions are the rosiest, it is time to pull in your horns; when it thinks that they are the bluest, it is time to buy securities and goods.

Right now it is difficult for Main Street not to be discouraged too, because business is bad. A month ago in commenting on the trend, I mentioned the possibility of revising my 1938 forecast. Despite current pessimism, I think that it is not yet necessary to make any changes in my prediction of the trend of business. Some revision may be needed, however, in my forecast of the volume of business. The average of business activity for 1938 may not come within 10 per cent of the 1937 figure, but I am sure that we will see a tremendous upswing before Christmas. Furthermore, 1939 should see a further huge increase.

Was March The Low?

Business so far this year has been wavering and jiggling back and forth. From New Year's Day to mid-January there was a slowing-down in activity. The next thirty days saw a slight upturn both in confidence and output. Then the following four weeks—from mid-February to mid-March—brought a dip to new lows,—4 per cent below a year ago. But even at the quietest point a month ago—business was off only four per cent from January. So, my forecast at New Year's time of a "poor first quarter (but not much worse than current levels)" has been borne out. Now, what about the Spring upturn I thought would take place?

Trade reports of the last few weeks show that business is gradually swinging bottom. Whether the corner has been turned definitely or not, no one, of course, can yet say. But the current halting of the down-trend is encouraging and (Continued on page four)

Explosion Thought to

County

Grundy, Va., April 23.—(AP)—Bodies of 22 men had been brought from the fiery pit of the explosion-wrecked Red Jacket mine today and a final death toll of 41 miners was indicated. Nineteen missing men were believed dead.

Progress of the rescue squads slowed down materially when they entered the A shaft, where the last two bodies were found, burned almost beyond recognition. Debris from falling slate and coal and intense heat made the labor of the rescue workers difficult.

With 400 rescue workers present from three states, 30-minute shifts were being used because of the heat in the mine.

Tired workers were being served sandwiches as they came up from the scene of their rescue effort deep under Keen mountain. Many had been there since early last night.

Payrolls of the mine indicated there were 21 workers in A shaft, leaving 19 unaccounted for there. Of the 22 bodies recovered so far, three were found at the mine entrance, where the explosion struck with volcaniclike force and 17 were in the B section, now completely explored.

All but four of the bodies had been identified. Friends and relatives had been unable to identify two of the bodies found at the entrance and two found in the A, or main section.

M. Keadle, vice president of the Red Jacket company, said the air had been cleared in all shafts and rescue workers to clear their way through them, but scant hope was held for any of those in the mine.

All of the miners were white men.

The explosion, believed caused by dust, wrecked the operation, one of the largest in Buchanan county, just after four mine cars carrying men for the night shift had entered the shaft. The concussion was felt miles around.

Real Wet-Dry Campaign
To Be Waged In Iredell

Reflector Bureau

Raleigh, April 23.—There will be many hot wet-dry races for the 1939 General Assembly, but none will be hotter than in Iredell county where Representative Con C. Johnston will oppose the noted Zeb V. Turlington in the Democratic primary.

The very name Turlington makes the race of statewide interest because of the fact that Zeb's last name has become a by-word all over North Carolina since he authorized the iron-clad, drier than bone law under which it was attempted to enforce prohibition in Tar Heels.

On the day before closing of the legislative lists, Representative Johnston had not officially entered the lists, nor had he authorized any statement to the effect that he would, but this bureau learns on the well-known and some times overworked "unimpeachable authority" that before six o'clock tonight, the Iredell law maker will have planked down his $6 filing fee and lodged his formal declaration of intention with the election board chairman.

Which will set the stage for a fight which will make such brawls as the Spanish Civil War and the Sino-Jap embroglio look like pale, pink parties for puny people.

Turlington will have on his side the prestige of a name to conjure with in prohibition circles. His backers will realize that for him to be defeated would be tantamount to a deathblow to any chance of jamming a statewide referendum bill through the 1939 legislature. He will have fighting for him the bogey man of fear that the county might go Republican if its voters dare reject an annointed of the dries.

On the other hand, Con Johnston (Continued on page six)

Entertain College Alumnae.

Between the hours of nine and eleven o'clock on Wednesday evening the local alumnae of Greensboro College entertained visiting alumnae at the home of Dr. and Mrs. F. P. Brooks. The house was beautifully decorated in a profusion of spring flowers. In the dining room silver bowls of white flowers and green tapers in silver candelabra brought out the college color scheme of green and white. From a beautifully appointed table, ume ice, white cakes and salted nuts were served. Old friends who had been long separated took great pleasure in talking over old times and everyone left with a feeling that friendship bonds had been strengthened.

Miss Fields Honored.

The ladies of the Presbyterian Auxiliary entertained Miss Frances Fields at a lovely party on Thursday afternoon at the Y. W. C. A. hall at the college. The hall was beautifully decorated with roses in a variety of colors. Glowing tapers cast a mellow glow over the room.

As the guests arrived they were directed to the register where Misses Mildred Howell and Ruth Mayo presided.

Mrs. H. G. Clayton and Miss Susan Evans then invited everyone to the punch table, where Mrs. E. W. Harvey and Mrs. R. C. Deal poured punch. The table was covered with a lace cloth with attractive arrangements of yellow roses.

Each guest had written a wish for Miss Fields and after forming a circle much enjoyment was derived from hearing them read.

The surprise of the afternoon came when a Western Union messenger arrived with a package containing a shower of miscellaneous gifts for the honoree. After each had been opened the college girls sang an appropriate toast to the bride-to-be.

Officers serving the Older Young People's Fellowship Group for the new church year are Harvey Deal, president, and Miss Alberta Gibson, secretary-treasurer.

New Catholic Bishop To Visit Here.

The Most Reverend Eugene J. McGuinness, newly consecrated Bishop of the diocese of Raleigh, will be in the city tomorrow. He will be the guest at St. Peter's parish where he comes to pay his first official visit in this section.

Bishop McGuinness was appointed to fill the vacancy caused by the transfer of the Most Reverend William J. Haley to the Diocese of Scranton, Pa. On December 31st Bishop McGuinness was consecrated by Cardinal Daugherty in Philadelphia, and installed as Bishop of the Diocese of Raleigh on January 6th.

In the morning the Bishop will celebrate his first mass at 8:30, and be present in the sanctuary at the second mass at 10:30. At 3:30 he will visit the missions attached to the parish and baptize a class of converts at Grifton.

Dinner At College Success.

The formal dinner of the dining room girls at the college last night was a most enjoyable occasion.

Seventeen or eighteen tables of the girls and their guests enjoyed the excellent meal, served by volunteers from the student body, and the program their committee had planned.

President Meadows made a brief talk in which he compared the character of the student to a small knife he held in his hand, in being of good material, sharp and to the point, pretty, useful, and without stain.

Dr. H. J. McGinnis, director of "self-help," spoke briefly on that work.

The toastmistress was one of the girls, Dorothy Davis, a freshman from Burgaw.

The dinner was specially arranged to give the girls who serve in the dining halls their opportunity to enjoy such an occasion as guests.

The March of Trade.

In connection with "World Trade Week," a movie, "The March of Trade," was shown last night to 300 college students. Two townspeople viewed it this morning when it was shown at the Pitt Theatre.

The movie concerned itself with vividly depicting the commercial interdependence of nations in the present-day world. Beginning with a New York banking system with a network of American interlocks with that of foreign countries, how all businesses and economic projects throughout the world are financed, and, in essence, how small the modern world has become in time and space.

"The March of Trade" was brought here under the auspices of "World Trade Week" and was sponsored by the A. A. U. W. and the Peace Council. Miss Mamie Jenkins was chairman of the committee in charge of "World Trade Week" exhibits and all other matters appertaining to this subject.

Choir Speaking Group.

The newly organized choir speaking group at the college, under the direction of Miss Mary Greene, gave its first really public program Friday, April 22, at the college assembly and was received with much interest by the audience.

There are at least six Greenville students in the choir, Ethel Gaston, Leo Burks, Harvey Deal, John David Bridges, Louis Wilkerson and Lindsay Winchard.

The program was composed of a number of short selections from poetry. It gave opportunity for both high and low voices, and voices of both boys and girls.

In Christina Rossetti's little poem "Who Has Seen the Wind," the girls' voices suggested the quality of the wind.

The alto group of the girls' voices contributed a great deal to the effect in "The Cool Tombs" by their repeated refrain of "in the dust, in the cool tomb."

Other poems given were Tennyson's "Bugle Song," Masfield's "Cargoes," Lindsay's "King of Yellow Butterflies," and Keats's "Poetry of Earth is Never Dead."

The twenty-five students who gave the program have been working on choral speaking for only a few weeks, but were able to attain many pleasing effects in their ensemble.

The faculty members were again honored when Miss Bertha Johnson entertained at a buffet supper on Wednesday night at her home on Church street.

The home was attractively decorated with a variety of summer flowers and individual tables were placed in this setting.

Guests included the faculty.

Club Hostess.

Mrs. Robert Mewborn was hostess to her contract club and additional guests on Thursday night at one of the prettiest parties of the season. A profusion of roses, snapdragons and pink formed a lovely setting for the six tables placed for bridge.

Mrs. J. S. Tunstall is closing out her millinery stock at greatly reduced prices. Give her a call.

Children's Day

This afternoon was a gala time for the children of Greenville. A number of kind-hearted gentlemen, who remembered when they were little folks and how much they enjoyed to ride the flying horse, chartered the merry-go-round to give all children under 12 years of age free rides. The hours ran from 3 to 6 o'clock and the happy little folks were around in great numbers and had the biggest time in town.

Special Orders

Capt. J. T. Smith of the Pitt County Rifles, received a telephone message today from Col. W. B. Rodman of the First Regiment, asking how many of the company were willing to go to Cuba. Capt. Capt. Smith has ordered the members of Company H to report at the armory Monday afternoon at two o'clock.

Keep It Up

P. S. Mayfield, representing the millinery firm of Kaufman and Company of Richmond, handed Mrs. L. Griffin $5 this morning for Hope Fire Company. Let the good work go on, as the boys want to have their engine house painted. The company through Mrs. Griffin returns many thanks to the above firm.

Reflector Got A Share

Two of the party who were out at the draining of Forbes' mill pond Friday gave The Reflector a part of their fish. Mr. H. F. Keel brought us a fine chub which he says was the largest one taken from the pond. Mr. J. J. Evans also brought us a half dozen smaller chub.

Through the kindness of these two gentlemen we have enjoyed a feast.

MONTANA'S TOURISTS ARE FOSSIL HUNTERS

Helena, Mont. (AP)—Once Montana's tourist bureau had only to answer questions about the condition of highways.

"But that time is past," said an official of Montanans, Inc. "The 1938 tourists all seem to be amateur archeologists, zoologists, biologists or just plain fossil hunters or camera fans."

"They want to know about the chances of uncovering dinosaur beds in Montana; the likelihood of finding Pilsom man skeletons or the chances of taking pictures of some scenery never photographed before."

BLUE MOLD ON SPREAD IN N. C.

Find Heavy Infection Throughout Entire Old Belt

Raleigh, April 23—Blue mold, a deadly fungus of tobacco plant beds, is rapidly spreading throughout the entire Old Belt, North Carolina Department of Agriculture authorities said today.

E. G. Moss, assistant director in charge of the Department's Tobacco Test Farm at Oxford, said that while he was "not alarmed, not more than five per cent of the farmers in the infected area were using sprays or gas recommended by the department."

Notwithstanding the heavy infection, he said farmers generally have planted from 25 to 50 per cent more seed beds this season in an effort to obtain sufficient plants to produce a high quality crop.

DIXIE HIGHLIGHTS

WON 200 BATTLES,

THE SPLENDID ACHIEVEMENTS OF GENERAL JOSEPH WHEELER, DARING CONFEDERATE OFFICER, MADE HIM ONE OF THE OUTSTANDING CAVALRY COMMANDERS OF ALL TIME!

INGENIOUS INSECT TRAPPER!
THE ANT LION DIGS A PIT IN WHICH TO CATCH HIS PREY.

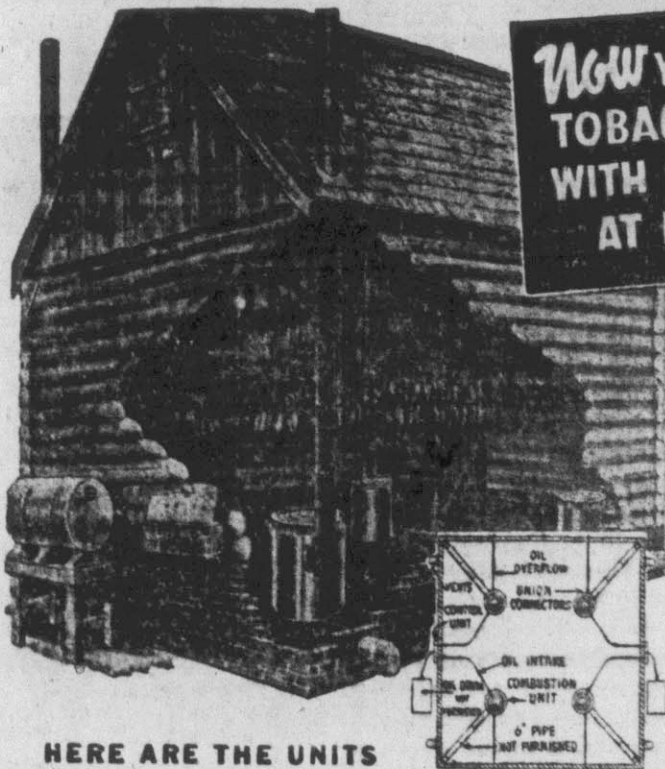

AT CHICKAMAUGA, HE DEFEATED TWO FEDERAL MOUNTED FORCES BOTH OF WHICH OUTNUMBERED HIS OWN SMALL COMMAND.

The career of GENERAL JOSEPH WHEELER, who was born in Augusta, Georgia in 1836, was one of the most spectacular in American history! With his indomitable cavalrymen, he met the foe in 200 battles and in each engagement was victorious! Outstanding among his brilliant exploits, was his defeat of two large Federal armies at Chickamauga with an inferior force. At Shiloh, with but a single brigade, he checked the great right wing of the Federals. At Murfreesboro, Tennessee he swept precipitately over the army of General Rosecrans, which fled in disastrous retreat. At Knoxville, he defeated General Burnside's cavalry. In the vicinity of Newnan, Georgia, he defeated a force of 9,000, capturing the Federal Generals, Stoneman and McCook, five brigade commanders and 3,000 soldiers. General Wheeler was in three wars, the War between the States, the Spanish-American War, and the occupancy of the Philippines. In 1882, he was elected to Congress from Alabama, and served there for 18 years.

At the bottom of his funnel-shaped trap, the ANT LION patiently waits for an unsuspecting ant to approach. The moment it steps over the edge, the treacherous sand gives way and it tumbles into the waiting jaws below. Once seized by the formidable mandibles of the grub, there is no escape, for these organs act like suction pumps, absorbing the juices of the prey while they hold it.

NOW YOU CAN CURE YOUR TOBACCO CORRECTLY WITH LESS WORK... AT LOWER COST.

At last the tobacco growers in our territory can have the full advantage of modern equipment in the curing of their tobacco. The Buckeye Rite-Heat Tobacco Curing System is offered by us with full assurance that it is the best system available today for curing tobacco. It cures correctly and perfectly—does away with back-breaking labor, sleepless nights and uncertainty.

Without a doubt the additional price you will get from your tobacco will soon pay for a unit.

The Buckeye Rite-Heat Tobacco Curing System is built by an organization with years and years of experience in building and selling out heating equipment to the farmer and planter. This unit has only four moving parts, eliminates all floor fires, does away with constant watching of burners and replacement of wicks. It is so simple to operate that it requires practically no attention.

With all of its advantages, it is the lowest cost unit available today, and will cure your crop at lower cost than any other system. Don't take a chance of ruining another crop through improper curing. We have a demonstration unit on display and will gladly show you its many benefits without obligation.

Washington Daybook

By Preston Greer

Washington—One of the problems faced by the State Department and public figures in extending relief to German and Austrian refugees is to avoid raising an anti-Semitic feeling in those countries which now do not have it.

From one viewpoint it is strictly a relief problem, but those handling it have been confronted at all times with its social and political aspects.

For instance, it is reported here that many "Aryan" Germans have been prevented from entering this country in recent years because they were unable to solve either the complexity of getting out of Germany or of getting into the United States.

What, then, might be the effect of having thousands of Jewish refugees arrive in the United States and perhaps in South and Central American countries with all interference cleared out of the way?

One source interested in the relief movement said it would be no kindness to the Jews in the long run to give them temporary relief from Germany and Austria only at the expense of creating new centers of anti-Semitism in other parts of the world.

Difficult At Both Ends

Here is a sample of the difficulty both refugee and ordinary emigrants face. When a citizen of Germany leaves that country to take up residence abroad—in other words to emigrate—he must pay to Germany a tax of 50 per cent of all he owns. In addition, he can take out the remainder only in small portions over many months.

Much of that is prompted by Germany's monetary stringencies, but the net result is a restraint upon emigration. A further restraint is that most countries, including the United States, require emigrants to have either enough money of their own to get a start in their new home, or to have relatives and friends able and willing to keep them from becoming public charges.

In one way, of course, the problem of the refugee is different from that of the ordinary emigrant. The present crop of refugees is predominantly Jews, no longer feels happy or even safe in Austria and Germany. They feel they have to get out, restrictions or no restrictions.

One of the relief proposals is to raise enough money to give each refugee the sum he needs to permit him to move into another land.

Quotas Not Filled

This consideration has guided refugee organizations in other nations as well as the United States in avoiding any implication that the laws are going to be stretched to permit refugees to flow across the borders. Talk of asking Congress to increase the present German-Austrian emigrant quota fixed by law has quieted. At present the quota permits 25,957 annually from Germany and 14,113 from Austria. Last year only 48 per cent of the German quota was filled and only 30 per cent of the Austrian quota.

So far this year there has been no striking increase. Emigration from Germany to the United States during the 1937 fiscal year ran about a thousand a month. The average for the first seven months of the 1938 fiscal year is 1,286 a month.

So careful is the State Department to avoid an appearance of stretching the law to aid the refugees that it declines to say whether it will be urged to give precedence to refugees in filling the quotas.

Tired? Eat Fruit

Springfield, Ill. (AP)—Fruits, vegetables, eggs and dairy products, says Acting Health Officer Dr. A. D. Baxter, will go a long way toward warding off that tired feeling known as spring fever.

SHORT SHOTS
By HENRY AVERILL

Reflector Bureau.

Raleigh, April 23.—Senate Majority Leader Alben Barkley of Kentucky has come into North Carolina, spoken his little piece and departed and it now remains to be seen whether his trip can be used as political ammunition by either Barkley's colleagues, Robert R. Reynolds or the Reynolds opponent, Frank Hancock.

Press reports of the Warsaw address of the Blue Grass legislator indicate no effort on his part to boost Reynolds' stock, unless the bare fact that he accompanied "Our Bob" to the party can be taken as such a boost.

It seems that the Democratic Senate leader used much of the political sense with which he must have been endowed in order for him to attain the position he now holds. He confined himself, if news reports are all-inclusive, to laudatory remarks about numerous North Carolina ex's like F. M. Simmons, the late Lee Overman and to present day personages like Governor Clyde R. Hoey and "Farmer Bob" Doughton who are not personally concerned in any current campaign.

As of which looks like a pretty good display of common sense. Even the feeblest chirp for Reynolds would have sent the Hancock forces into paroxysms of rage at the "interference" of a "turner" in the sacred affairs of the Old North State whose citizens—"God bless 'em" if they have votes—can take care of their own business.

Obviously, if Barkley isn't Reynolds he ought to be taken as a shot-for gross ingratitude. A view of the Reynolds support for party leadership against veteran Harrison—a vote which, incidentally isn't going to do Bob one of good in his primary campaign in this state where Harrison is openly regarded as one of the outstanding Democrats of the old southern school.

Major Edney Ridge, over in Guilford—in fact all over the Sixth district—is making the welkin ring in his Hosannas for Roosevelt Labor with a capital "L". His is the only candidacy in the state, so far as your correspondent knows, which has been pitched as a "red-in-the-face" brand of Dealism; and it will be interesting to watch the progress and out of this type campaign.

There are thousands of textile employees in the Sixth, in addition to numbers of tobacco factory workers and other horny-handed sons of toil. Wherefore it may be that the siren notes of the eloquent Major will swell to a rousing chorus of votes in the June primary.

Forecasters of the Sixth district results are warned, even from this distance, not to overlook the Ridge candidacy in making up their minds which "horse" to back in the political chase.

Nobody can say that the Farm Security Administration isn't going to make it as easy as possible for Farm Tenant borrowers to pay back the money that puts them in the landowner class.

The press release announcing first loan to a Negro in the United States (Nat Williamson, 49-year old Guilford share cropper's the lucky man) states that the loan is for no less than 40 years with interest at 3 per cent. A variable payment plan is provided so that lighter payments are made in poor crop years, the difference being made up in good years.

After today there'll be no speculation over who is going to run for what county and legislative offices in North Carolina. Henceforth the issue will be joined and it will be a question of who can win at the polls, not who is going to toss a hat into the ring. This correspondent forecasts a bumper crop of House candidates, with at least 300 such aspirants over the state.

may well mark the beginning of a real business revival. Certainly, if the President is to avoid severe defeats in the Fall Congressional elections, good business must return not later than September. Every day that people continue in the present mood actually means that he is sinking deeper into the mire.

Barometers Making The Turn
The President, however, is cheered by the following summary of leading barometers:

1. Steel operations have improved since the December low of 19 per cent of capacity. They are now above 30 per cent, based almost entirely on business from miscellaneous sources such as machine tools, tin containers, and the like, rather than from the major customers—automobiles and railroads.
2. Building is making progress. The new F. H. A. rules have stimulated great interest in homes. Material prices have dipped and, if labor costs also come down, home-building this Spring may even beat out the 1937 figures.
3. Power consumption, a very sensitive index of business activity in this electrical age, hit a low in late March and is now slowly pushing ahead. The gap between the 1937 and 1938 figures has been gradually narrowing.
4. Cotton textile activity has been sluggish for a month but it is now resuming the rise which started earlier in the year. Diminishing inventories all along the line have forced orders back to the mills. Mill activity is 10 per cent above the low.

Auto Assemblies Higher

5. Automobile output is running several thousand cars higher each week than a month ago. The manufacturers' policy of restricted output, plus a seasonal upturn in retail sales, have now speeded-up the assembly lines. A price cut, however, would be the best tonic for this industry right now.

6. Retail trade, due to the late Easter, is running less than 10 per cent under last year's post-Easter figures. A month ago the spread was 20 per cent. And remember, that retail prices are now 6 per cent less than their 1937 high. Hence, unit sales are not more than 8 per cent lower than a year ago.

7. Commodity and Security prices are at a level where they are attracting the attention of genuine purchasers. Stocks of selected, well-managed companies are on the bargain counters. Bond prices have lost all they gained in 1936 and 1937. Raw materials are cheap.

8. Bank deposits, the first indicator to start downward a year ago—have been expanding since early December. Moreover, last year at this time the Administration was tightening credit to prevent a "boom." Today it is doing everything in its power to make credit extra-easy.

Spring Outlook More Cheerful

As a result of these indications, the President is apparently convinced that now is the time to aid the modest natural improvement by vigorous pump-priming. His gigantic spending plan will stimulate business over the near-term. While the skies have by no means suddenly cleared by the developments of the past two weeks the outlook is better today than a month ago. We have had periods of bad business before. Each time when conditions looked the worst we were right on bottom. Just as Winter inevitably turns into Spring so bad times inevitably turn into good times. This has never failed—and I doubt if it ever will.

I am convinced that before the year is over, New York sentiment will be far different than it is today. The stock market will again be boiling. Wall Street will again be as sure that depressions are over as today it is convinced that the end of the world is in sight. When a man is flat on his back, there is only one way he can look—that is upward.

The Story So Far: Judith Goodloe, of an old Maryland family, marries self-made Reuben Oliver for his money—only to discover he is bankrupt. After their honeymoon, Reuben, who has been born, red-headed Cissy Rogers, who loves Reuben, gets him a job in a lumber camp managed by Gary Brent—the man Judith loves. Reuben is a fighter and trying to live by Judith's codes has weakened him. After a violent quarrel with Judith over Gary Reuben decides to make his own home. This new Reuben is a stranger to Judith, who is in a dream world with Gary.

Chapter 35

Society In A Lumber Camp

AND so life ran placidly—a river of gold with enchantment and allure beneath its surface. Romance floated with the tide and Love was waiting to take the helm. Every commonplace happening took on a glory beyond comprehension. To accept a glass of water from Gary's hand, to have him telephone her and say quickly, "You, Judy? I've got to go to the woods—nuisance out I've got to show up on the work occasionally."

"How long are you staying?" "A couple of centuries—until the day, after tomorrow, really. Will you miss me?" "As if you didn't know!" Happiness radiated from her. Just to come home hungry, dainty riding clothes for cool cotton and sit down to one of Lu Wing's simply arranged, perfect meals! Sometimes a shadow appeared on the golden river of her days—Reuben.

He came home for week ends—neither eagerly nor reluctantly—a well-mannered guest who fell in with whatever project was on hand and, before he went away asked for the household bills paid such as he could and laid the rest aside.

Gradually the cabin at the top of Winding Hill had become the most popular spot at Camp Site No. 2. People dropped in and found tea was always served at four forty-five, to the minute. Served easily and graciously and quite as a matter of routine. They began to stop for pickup supper on Sunday night or for a chance breakfast after the dance with one of Lu Wing's delicious omelettes. In a small way Judith was dispensing the Goodloe Choice brand of hospitality. Establishing a new social order in the camp at the edge of the forest.

"The beautiful Mrs. Oliver!" People were acutely aware of her. "A Maryland Goodloe, my dear!" One of the officials' wives made the discovery. "A gorgeous creature with the air of a princess."

"What about him?—Has she a husband?"—Isn't that handsome young Brent extremely attentive?"

Gradually they cycled together a few half truths about Reuben. "One of those freak, romantic marriages"—Oliver had millions for a brief while.

Gossip spread. An ambitious matron with a sub deb daughter at school in the east was quick to see the advantage of knowing a Maryland Goodloe. "It may mean an invitation to the Bachelors' Cotillion, who knows? We might as well run up to the camp for awhile. After all there's nothing really of importance going on in town until November."

One by one the cabins opened. Big cars with chauffeurs smartly uniformed, pulled up the hill. Ladies perfectly coiffed and groomed and wearing mostly smart black frocks alighted—a case of the mountain coming to Mahomet. Judith accepted her sudden vogue calmly. She sent to Casper Street for her silver, crystal, Cissy's rug—it was superb on the cabin's big, darkly polished floor. She made quantities of tea. Lu Wing baked innumerable tiny water-like cakes.

"Are you trying to out rival Newport?" Reuben asked sarcastically.

Urgy Of Spending

OVER the week ends Reuben shared in his wife's popularity—a reflected glory. He was greeted everywhere with a new cordiality—at the pavilion on the Company's officials on Saturday night, on the golf course on Sunday morning. On Monday morning Reuben became a woodsman again. He tried to remain one over the week ends—declining invitations.

As September, October went by, Judith allowed herself very little thought of the future, as is the way of those happy in the present. The first imperfection that appeared upon her horizon was when Pike belatedly presented his bill. The amount shocked her.

During the first couple of weeks in her new environment, Judith had spent Reuben's money timidly—the horror of jobless days in Fordney's Gulch still upon her. Gradually it lifted. The new order so right, so pleasant, established itself firmly and now—Pike's bill—"It must be wrong," Judith figured, added, subtracted and added again—reminding herself, rather pathetically, of Gran. She could find not one mistake.

"I'll do better next month," apologetically—a new attitude for Judith. She handed the rumpled paper to Reuben, "I didn't realize how much I was spending."

He glanced at the amount. Nearly as much as his month's salary. He opened his lips to tell her so. To say that this wild orgy of spending must stop. Then he remembered that he had vowed to be as good a man as Gary, and after all, a few pounds of tea, a few eggs was not exactly reckless expenditure.

"Is it necessary to entertain the entire camp every day or so?" "N—no. Most of them have gone now," Judith said.

"We can be thankful for that." "I enjoyed having them," frankly.

He folded the bill neatly. "This will have to wait until next month. I paid Cissy—I thought that would please you."

"It does." She had almost forgotten Cissy's existence. "Is she still at the Curtis camp?" "Yes."

"I should think she'd find it dull." Reuben had a quick vision of the Curtis Camp with its ballroom, its motion picture theaters—outdoors and in—its pool, golf links. Guests arriving and departing. Zipping down the mountain to Hollywood, to Santa Monica.

"How about asking Cissy down here next week end?" He said it casually, yet it was a command not a request.

Judith didn't want to ask Cissy next week end or ever. Once Cissy had taken Gary—

"She couldn't do it now," Judith thought with satisfaction. She said, "That's an ideal. Shall I mail the invitation or will you take it to her?"

"Either way, I'll probably see her during the week."

He was seeing Cissy—luckily she didn't care—

Down With A Bang!

CISSY, dressing in Judith's bedroom for the dance given to honor the buyers and their wives, eased a gown over her white shoulders. It was a black gown, filmy and simple with the simplicity of extreme expensiveness. She said, "Nice shack."

Judith agreed: "I'm crazy about it." "Rube is doing well at his job, isn't he?"

"Evidently." Rube's wife spread cold cream thickly over her straight little nose. "He's had a raise."

"Good!" "Perhaps he owes that to your interest, Cissy."

"Not at all! Things are moving better since Rube took a hand." Cissy smoothed her dress over slim hips, "but there's more to it than that."

Judith asked no questions. She kept on spreading cold cream.

Cissy, determined to pursue this subject said: "There's a lot more to it than that."

"Than what?" idly. "My interest," Cissy turned to the mirror: "Galbreath knows a good timberman when he sees one."

"Is he here again?" "Yes." "I think I saw him the day I arrived. Fat man with pig eyes isn't he?"

"The eyes are the least of his piglike qualities." "Is he in this camp?"

"No, across the mountain." "It's gayer on that side?" "Much."

For a moment Cissy busied herself pinning down a refractory curl with an invisible pin. This done she said on sudden thought: "Ever notice what a sea-saw life is? One side goes way up—flights to stay up—comes down—bang!"

Judith laughed gayly: "That's the one thing I have learned about life, Cissy. I've usually had the end seat that gets the hardest bump."

"Guess you have at that," Cissy admitted grudgingly. "I wasn't thinking of you though, but of Gary Brent."

"Gary? What of him?" "He! She's interested at last," Cissy decided. Leisurely she unpinned the curl and worried it with a comb before she answered: "He's had the up end for quite a while. He's due to come down—that's all."

"Just what do you mean?" Judith hoped her voice was steady. "Galbreath is looking around for a new superintendent."

The news struck Judith like a stone between the eyebrows, stunning her. Then suddenly as a Christmas tree ball shatters, her perfect world smashed about her head. If Galbreath got a new superintendent Gary would go home—go somewhere. Leave her here. Leave her to desolation. She couldn't bear it. She wouldn't believe it.

District Meeting. One hundred and twenty-nine women from Pitt County attended the district meeting in Washington Tuesday. The Dutch program on the street, the home demonstration program, and the tour were enjoyed very much. We were very sorry to hear of the accident the women from St. Johns had en route to this meeting.

4-H Meeting. The 4-H Clubs of Winterville, Grifton, Falkland, Pactolus and Stokes have met this week. Exhibits were collected. Scrap books, record books and health booklets will be judged and returned before school is closed.

4-H Picnic. A little rain doesn't dampen the spirit of the Grifton 4-H members. They had scheduled a weiner roast for Thursday evening and decided a rainy night was better than a fair one. A tobacco barn served for shelter.

4-H Rotary Program Mildred Edwards, of the Pierce Club, Jean Langston of Winterville, Tal Thomas Erwin of Bell Arthur, and Norman Coward of Red Oak, gave a 4-H program at the Greenville Rotary Club Monday night. Other 4-H guests at the supper meeting were Clarissa Edwards, Frances Earl McGlohon, Charles Nichols, Albert French Tyson and Lester Earl Turnage.

Falkland H. D. Club The Falkland H. D. Club met on Monday night with Mrs. James Lewis.

Pierce H. D. Club The Pierce H. D. Club met Thursday afternoon at the club building. After a brief business meeting they visited the gardens of Mrs. R. W. Smith of Ayden, Mrs. Clarence Whitehurst, and Mrs. Jerome McGlohon of Pierce. Mrs. A. V. Moore of Winterville, was a visitor.

Timothy H. D. Club. The Timothy H. D. Club met on Friday afternoon with Mrs. E. E. Moore.

Flower Shows Each H. D. Club will have a flower show next month. Premium lists have been mailed to each member. The members are inviting all others who will show with them. One arrangement of vegetables should be entered by each member. Collect as many of the best qualities of your own vegetables as you can and arrange them as artistically as possible. One dining table should be set by each club with china, silver, and decorative arrangement.

Reading Report A number of club women have been reading. A report of the number of books read since December 1, 1937, is due. This must be in Raleigh May 1. Have you reported?

Cancer Control Several club women met Friday morning to hear Mrs. J. H. B. Moore on Cancer Control. By noon May 30 these women want to report your interest in this dread disease. One out of eight women past forty is affected. Seventy per cent can be cured in the early stage. Surely there is nothing so worthy our effort. Of what we can collect, 70 per cent will remain in the state and 30 per cent will go to further research. Pitt county is promised a clinic in the fall. Listen to these women and be mindful of the importance. Do what you can.

Club Schedule For Next Week Ballard's H. D. Club will meet at the community building Wednesday at 2:30 p. m.

Chicod H. D. Club will meet in the H. E. building Thursday at 2:30 p. m.

Greenies To Meet Durham 'Lucky Strikes' Tomorrow

LOCALS IN FINE SHAPE FOR TILT

Game Will Be Called Promptly at Three O'Clock

Coach Monk Joyner's Greenies will play their final exhibition game of the season here Sunday afternoon prior to the opening of the league schedule on Tuesday, when they meet the Lucky Strike team of Durham at Third street park. Game time is 3:00 o'clock.

Local baseball fans, who were disappointed on last Wednesday afternoon when the boys failed to complete their game against the House of David team, will see a club that is hailed as one of the strongest independent teams in the state.

Coach Monk Joyner will have 27 men in uniform at the park tomorrow afternoon, all men with lots of baseball experience. More than likely all players will see action in tomorrow's tilt, because due to the league rules, the various clubs in the Coastal Plain League will have to cut the size of their squad down to 18 men on Monday night. They can carry these eighteen men for a period of 30 calendar days and then the squad will be cut to 15 men.

The list of players who will more than likely see action in tomorrow's game for the Greenies are: Catchers—Smith, Andrews, Pratt; pitchers—King, Delaney, Moser, Calliguri, Williams, Hardison and Harden; infielders—Stowe, Vartanian, Miller, Hoskins, Rodriguez, Holmes, Huffstetter, Pieczynski and Frank Thompson; outfielders—Manager Monk Joyner, Norwood, Rudisill, Pignataro, Briscese, Linke, Selph and George Thompson.

Manager T. W. Moore of the Lucky Strike team is bringing a total of 14 players for tomorrow's game, many of whom have had both college and semi-pro experience. The list of players is as follows: W. Walters and F. McArthur, catchers; G. Edwards, first base; N. Hunter, 2nd base; J. Socolowski, shortstop; H. Lougee, third base; B. Mann, D. Averett and L. Parrish, outfielders; L. Perry, J. Sparrow, J. Allen and W. Ward, pitchers.

Johnson Winner In Match With Lewis

Three knockouts were the features at the American Legion's boxing match at the college last night.

Jimmy Johnson of Greenville, battered down Jo-Jo Lewis of Ft. Bragg after one minute in the 4th round. Lewis is former heavy-weight champion of the army.

In the semi-final bout, Bob Helms of Charleston, S. C., laid low Smiley Lacey of Fayetteville early in the third round.

In the preliminaries Norman Fleming decided Vernon Tyson. Both lads are of Greenville. Two Pitt county boys, Marion Summerell of Ayden, and Elmer Perkins of Stokes, mixed it up a bit with the decision going to Summerell.

Clifton Wright, Golden Gloves champ in 1937, knocked out Bryn Fleming of Cary after one minute and 20 seconds of the round had elapsed.

Two ECTC boxers, Joe Williams and Ken Quirell, gave a non-decision exhibition bout.

Bo Farley refereed the preliminaries while K. O. Conway handled the last two fights.

The card was staged in the College gym.

CAGE FAMILY

Neenah, Wis. (AP)—Basketball is a family affair at Neenah high school. Four pairs of brothers and a nephew and uncle engaged in the sport. The uncle is Clifford Bunker, who was on the freshman squad. His nephew, Richard Bunker, a junior, was a member of the varsity.

FELLER WORKS ON CONTROL
Cleveland (AP)—Young Bob Feller has shortened his "back swing" in an effort to get better control. This takes off some of the speed of his pitches but experts say he can lengthen his pitch after he gains control and comes back with a fast ball as speedy as he displayed last year.

NO PROFIT!

Pinehurst (AP)—A professional golfer of the touring winter troupe estimated the players were offered $35,000 in prize money to shoot at in 17 tournaments but—they spent something like $160,000 to finance their way about the land.

Holiday?

Anticipating a big opening for the 1938 baseball season here on next Tuesday afternoon, when Ayden plays here in the opening game of the Coastal Plain League schedule, a movement is under way to have Tuesday afternoon declared a general holiday by the business houses of the city with all stores closing in order that their employees may attend the opening game.

Officials of the local club are working out a gala program for opening day on Tuesday afternoon.

Hardison Here

Wade Hardison, hurler for the Greenies, is very much here and in fact is considered one of the mainstays on Manager Monk Joyner's roster of Greenville hurlers.

A baseball story yesterday stated that Hardison had been released. This was incorrect. The hurler released was Lefty Dunn.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, April 23 (AP)—With the exception of a few favorites, stock market leaders lost rallying vitality today and profit selling served to bring a moderately uneven close.

Wall street on the whole viewed the house-senate committee compromise on the tax revision bill as "constructive" but traders generally were inclined to await final passage of the measure before cheering too loudly.
