PLEA MADE BY PRESIDENT FOR FLEXIBLE PLAN

Intervenes in Wrangle Over Public Works Funds

AGAINST PLAN TO EARMARK FUNDS

Roosevelt Warns that Unemployment Situation Has Grown Acute Recent Weeks

Washington, June 1.—(AP)—President Roosevelt personally intervened today in the fight over ear-marking proposed new Federal public works funds with a warning that unemployment has grown more acute in recent weeks and that a flexible relief program is essential to check it.

The chief executive expressed his views in a letter to Senator Adams (D-Colo.), floor manager for the administration's $3,247,000,000 spending bill now being debated. His action was quickly interpreted by administration Senators as greatly strengthening their stand against demands of Republicans and conservative Democrats that the funds be earmarked by assigning them for use on specified projects.

Mr. Roosevelt wrote Senator Adams that unemployment has "grown worse" since he sent his relief message to Congress six weeks ago. "Emergency employment" therefore should come right away, instead of being deferred, the President said.

The President nominated Carlisle W. Higgins for another term as United States Attorney for the Middle District of North Carolina. Other developments: A new American proposal for developing the St. Lawrence waterway encountered opposition from many of the Senators who blocked the $500,000,000 project four years ago.

College Teachers to Resume Studies

When the college closes on June 6, the members of the faculty not staying for the summer school will scatter to various sections of the country for their vacations.

Those planning to study are J. B. Cummings at Colorado State Teachers College; P. W. Picklesimer, at George Peabody College, Nashville, Tenn.; Miss Katherine Holtzclaw and R. C. Dr. Paul Toll will be studying this summer, but will not be confining himself to any particular university. Miss Lois V. Gorrell will study six weeks this summer, but it is yet undecided as to the place.

Other members of the faculty will teach in various institutions during the summer. Dr. W. A. Browne will teach geography at George Peabody College, Nashville; Miss Lena Ellis will be on the Commerce faculty at Bowling Green, Ky.; and Miss Rosalie Ivey will teach clothing and textiles at Northern Texas State Teachers College, Denton, Texas.

Miss Helen Spangler will visit friends in North Carolina for a while this summer and then return to her home in West Virginia. Miss Lucile Charlton will be at home in Savannah, Ga., and Miss Annie Newell, in New Jersey. Miss Velma Lowe will take a motor trip to Texas.

Miss Margaret Sammon will spend most of the summer in Greenville. William McHenry also plans to stay in Greenville. Plans of other faculty members not teaching here this summer were not learned.

Large Surplus In N. C. Benefit Fund

Raleigh, June 1.—Through Saturday of last week, the Unemployment Compensation Commission had collected in contributions and interest $13,337,424.01 and had paid out in benefits to unemployed workers $3,590,771.96, which leaves $9,746,652.05 in the state's benefit fund. The balance got as low as $9,541,065.28 on May 21, but payments of contributions due May 25 brought the fund back up some. The first check was written, was $10,024,044.40, which has now been reduced to $9,746,652.05, or $277,392.35 less than when payments started.

POLITICAL ROW BREWS IN IOWA

Hopkins' Endorsement of Candidate Has Repercussions

Des Moines, Iowa, June 1.—(AP)—Iowa Treasurer L. T. Weigman touched off a state-house battle here today by releasing what he said was the "substance" of a telegram to Harry L. Hopkins commending WPA chief for endorsing O. D. Wearing in the Iowa Democratic Senatorial primary contest.

"Stand by your guns and more power to you," the telegram said. It was dated last Thursday, May 26, the day after Governor N. G. Kreschel had expressed in a telegram his resentment at Hopkins' statement favoring Wearing.

The dispute in the state official family served to heighten the final weeks primary battle in which Wearing and three others are opposing Senator G. M. Gillette's bid for renomination. The race has attracted national attention because of Hopkins' statement and subsequent repercussions from Senator Wheeler (D-Mont) and others on the Senate floor.

Governor Kreschel is regarded as a Gillette supporter.

"Your public announcement has served to bring out in the open supporters of other candidates who were heretofore masquerading under the cloak of neutrality," Weigman's statement to Hopkins said. "The authority with which you speak for the Democratic voter, or Iowa should be, and probably is, based on the majority vote the speaker has enjoyed."

The Hundred Years' war between England and France lasted through the reigns of five English and five French kings.

Most Judges Hold Office By Virtue of Appointment

Reflector Bureau. By HENRY AVERILL.

Raleigh, June 1.—The keenness of judicial races in many districts this year has centered interest upon the selection of Superior and Supreme court judges, but an examination of the records of the twenty-eight jurists now occupying either Supreme or Superior court benches shows that "popular" selection is more a matter of theory than of practice in North Carolina.

Going over records of the judges, it is revealed that only one of the seven Supreme court justices was originally put on that bench by vote of the people—and even that one was appointed to the Chief Justice's post he now holds. The other six were appointed to the court—by Governor Cameron Morrison, two by Governor J. C. B. Ehringhaus and three by present Governor Clyde R. Hoey.

The percentage of Superior court judges originally appointed isn't anything like as high, but even so more than half of the twenty-one incumbents gained their present positions originally by the appointment route. The figures show twelve appointed and nine elected for their first terms.

SIX INDICTED IN FRAUD CASE

Group Charged With Looting Seven Investment Trusts

New York, June 1.—(AP)—District Attorney Thomas Dewey announced today six persons had been indicted on a charge they looted seven investment trusts, with combined assets of more than $16,000,000, in the past year. The announcement came shortly after Dewey's men arrested A. V. Ferretti, a lawyer.

Dewey said with a total investment of only $5 the defendants acquired control of four investment trusts with assets of $12,500,000, out of which $4,200,000 was quickly dissipated. He named Continental Securities Corporation as the keynote organization in the acquisition of a group of investment trusts.

At the same time Dewey announced he had received word from Boston Thomas W. Morris and Ralph H. Robb had been arrested there in connection with the case. Both men, he said, were named in the indictment.

Robb has offices at Wakefield, Mass., and Morris, who is associated with a Boston law firm, lives in Belmont, Mass. Dewey said the two men had arranged the initial financing and had given legal advice in the matter.

The three men arrested were among a group of 41 individuals and corporate defendants against whom State Attorney General John Bennett, Jr., on Friday secured a temporary restraining order preventing them from dealing in certain types of securities.

A hearing will be held June 7, at which the defendants in the Bennett action must show cause why they should not be permanently enjoined from engaging in the securities business in New York or from New York state.

PROTEST OVER COURT RULING

Remington Rand Employees Cease Activities

Syracuse, N. Y., June 1.—(AP)—Joseph Murray, chairman of the joint council of Remington-Rand Employees' Association, announced today 6,000 workers in the Remington-Rand plants at Syracuse, Ilion, Elmira and Middletown, Conn., had "stopped work" in protest of a Supreme court decision refusing to review a National Labor Relations Board strike reinstatement order.

"It is not a sit-down strike," Murray said, "but merely a cessation of work. We refuse to stand for the Supreme court decision. They have never heard our side of it."

He declared that the cessation "might last 10 minutes, and might last 10 weeks."

The Supreme court yesterday refused to review a National Labor Relations Board order directing the company to reinstate 4,000 workers on strike for more than two years.

Murray said 700 employees were affected at the Syracuse plant, 3,000 at Ilion, 1,500 at Elmira and 800 at Middletown, Conn. "They're all down," he declared. Joseph Straub, manager of the Syracuse plant, however, declared that he "hadn't heard of it yet."

Uncle Gives Up All Hopes Of Ever Finding Abducted James Cash, Jr., Five, Alive

One of 400 Spectators Standing near Home of Kidnaped Boy Suddenly Seized By FBI Agents, Sped Away Before Crowd Realized What Was Taking Place

Princeton, Fla., June 1.—(AP)—Agents of the F. B. I. emerged from the home of James Cash, Jr., today, seized a spectator standing in a crowd a hundred yards away and rushed him off in an automobile.

The car headed toward Miami before the crowd, numbering about 400, realized what was taking place.

Five minutes later Sheriff D. C. Coleman and several deputies who arrived here this morning to start an intensive search of the neighborhood for five-year-old James Cash, Jr., kidnaped Saturday night sped off in the opposite direction toward Homestead, a village a few miles south.

The throng from which the man was taken, had been waiting in a school yard for Sheriff Coleman to instruct them in carrying out the hunt by passes.

Hope apparently had been abandoned that the boy, held for $10,000 ransom, would be returned alive.

"I talked with the family and nothing whatever happened last night," said W. P. Cash, the boy's uncle. "The case is exactly where it was yesterday, only it is one day worse."

"I've given up all hopes the boy will be found alive. I didn't have much hope from the start, but I feel that last night was the last chance for him to return alive."

The over-alled Cash, who runs a filling station next door to James Cash, Sr., indicated his brother now was willing for the passes to take to the field since 24 hours had elapsed after he paid the ransom with no word from the abductors.

Orthopedic Clinic Scheduled Friday

This clinic serves not only Pitt County, but Beaufort, Hyde, Pamlico, and Carteret as well, and is open to both white and colored. All types of cripples are received into this clinic for examination without cost, and where eligible, and when needed, free treatment is given.

Dr. N. Thomas Ennett, Pitt County Health officer, requests that, where practical, all patients bring a note from their family physician. He extends a special invitation to all physicians and all welfare officers to visit the Clinic.

EX-GOVERNOR FOR HANCOCK

Ehringhaus Endorses Candidacy of Reynolds' Foe

Raleigh, June 1.—(AP)—Political followers watched today for possible effects on Saturday's Democratic primary vote of the endorsement given Representative Frank Hancock, Jr., last night by former Governor J. C. B. Ehringhaus.

Hancock, opposing Senator Robert Reynolds, spoke in Elizabeth City, home town of the former governor, when he was elected.

A telegram was read the audience from Ehringhaus which said: "My best wishes are with you as you speak tonight in my home town. You will be speaking to some of the finest folks in the world and they will know how to appreciate your own fine qualities."

Asked if the telegram was a flat endorsement of Hancock's candidacy, Ehringhaus replied "It will have to speak for itself. I think that as a private citizen I have the right to favor a candidate."

Hancock forecast he would carry 69 counties and charged the Republicans were aiding the Reynolds campaign. Senator Reynolds made his second formal campaign speech at almost the same hour in Winston-Salem and said he would win by a tremendous majority. He did not mention Hancock by name.

KIDNAPED BOY FEARED DEAD

While his mother went next door to help close the family grocery store for the night, James Bailey Cash, Jr., (above), five-and-a-half years old, was kidnaped from his bed at Princeton, Fla. Shortly afterwards the child's father, a wealthy merchant, received a demand for $10,000 ransom.

Twenty-Three Winning Tickets Held In States

Bois Roussel, French-Bred Horse, Wins English Derby

Epsom, England, June 1.—(AP)—Bois Roussel, French-bred horse owned by P. Beatty, today won the 159th derby before the King and Queen and some 400,000 of their subjects.

Scottish Union, owned by J. V. Rank, was second, and H. E. Morris heavily-played favorite, Pasch, third in the field of 22 three-year-olds.

Bois Roussel came with a rush in the stretch to finish the mile and a half four lengths in front of Scottish Union, Pasch, unbeaten in his only two races, trailed by another two lengths.

New York, June 1.—(AP)—Twenty-three Irish Hospital Sweepstakes tickets held in the United States won $1,925,000 on the running of the English Derby at Epsom Downs today.

This hiked the total winnings in the United States on the race and previous drawings from the Sweepstakes drum to $3,920,050.

Americans had paid about $6,800,000 for their hopes for sudden wealth.

Each of five of the 23 tickets on winning horses paid their owners $150,000, when Bouse Roussel came in first.

Scottish Union won $75,000 each (Continued on page six)

No Recession Indicated By State's Tax Revenues

Raleigh, June 1.—North Carolina's May tax revenues continued to hold up extremely well—in fact they showed a 1.29 per cent increase over May of 1937 when all items are considered—and there were only scattering indications here and there the so-called recession is doing any dirty work at Tar Heel crossroads.

In the Revenue Division sales tax receipts were off about $75,000 from May, 1937, but any true comparison here is unreliable because in 1937 there were no basic food exemptions and no building material excise taxes. For the 11 months of the current fiscal year total sales tax receipts for the first time dipped under corresponding figures for the previous year. This May's sales tax revenue was $890,324.15, last May's $965,271.01. The eleven months' figures were $10,323,000.38, against $10,348,997.88 last year.

It was also significant that May, 1938, sales tax receipts were above those for the preceding month by about $22,000, while in 1937 April collections were nearly $58,000 above those for May. In other words the trend this year is up, while last year it was down.

Turning to another of the so-called "business barometer" returns, receipts from gasoline tax receipts for the last month slipped considerably from the figures for May, 1937, but as in the case of sales tax revenue, they were higher than in the preceding month. Figures: May, 1938, $2,035,990.59; May, 1937, $2,168,035.63; April, 1938, $1,903,975.89. The last notable May, 1938, increases over the corresponding month of 1937 were in privilege and franchise taxes. This May's levies netted $83,000 more than they levied last, while franchise tax collections were up $74,000. Coupled with a gain in inheritance taxes of about $22,000 the total Revenue Division receipts for May, 1938, were up $131,303.84 or 7.38 per cent over May, 1937. Total motor vehicle division receipts of the month dropped $189,524.14 or 7.47 per cent. Grand total tax receipts, all sources, were $4,220,518.14 for May and $65,526,116.61 for the 11 fiscal months.

OPEN DEFENSE OF SHERIFF AS CASE RESUMED

Charges of Bribery By Prosecution Branded False

OFFICER PROVES GOOD CHARACTER

Long Parade of Witnesses, Both Officers and Private Citizens, Called to Stand

Testimony branding as false the testimony of prosecution witnesses in support of bribery charges against the sheriff, and the appearance on the stand of several citizens and officials of Pitt and other counties who testified to the sheriff's high standing and reputation as an officer, consumed this morning's session of the Sheriff Whitehurst ouster trial as the defense offered its first testimony in the case.

The hearing had been in recess since the petitioners rested their case late last Friday evening following three weeks of testimony. The ouster petition brought by members of the Board of County Commissioners charges the sheriff with bribery and extortion, giving bootleggers advance notice of raids, failure or refusal to do his duty generally with reference to enforcement of the prohibition laws; refusal or failure to turn over to the county funds and fees of his office belonging to the county, and with wilful and habitual neglect of the duties of his office as sheriff of the county.

When the prosecution rested its case last Friday evening, Judge G. Vernon Cowper, presiding over the hearing, denied defense motions for a non-suit and granted a recess until this morning to permit defense counsel time to prepare its case.

Twenty-six defense witnesses had appeared on the stand when court recessed for lunch at one o'clock this afternoon.

The first witness on the stand was A. J. Cox, who operates a garage and filling station on the north side of the river close to a filling station previously operated by Charles R. Smith, one of the prosecution witnesses whose testimony dealt with the bribery charges against the sheriff. Cox testified that Smith's general character and reputation were bad.

The morning's second witness was Mrs. J. D. Tripp, widow of the late Jesse Smith, who is alleged to have paid tribute to the sheriff, and whose children testified in behalf of the trial. Mrs. Tripp testified that to her knowledge there had been no dealings between her late husband and the sheriff regarding the paying of bribes for protection, and that the sheriff and his deputies had raided their place on many occasions and as a result of the raids her late husband was sentenced to and served a term on the roads. She testified that her children, who had testified for the petitioners had given false testimony, and that since their appearance on the stand they had admitted to her the falsity of their statements and said they were paid or were promised payment for same.

She testified that Nels and Beaman had come to her house to get her to give information against the sheriff and had offered her as high as $500 if she would sign an affidavit and appear against the sheriff. She admitted that she could neither read nor write.

On cross examination, when confronted by an affidavit containing charges against the sheriff, purported to be signed by her name, she denied that she had made such a mark nor that it had been done in her presence. She stated that she did not know the content of the affidavit until she appeared before the grand jury and that at that time she branded it as false. She said that later her daughter admitted that she had signed it for her. She said that on one occasion she had been offered house rent for a year and clothes if she would sign the affidavit and that again she had been threatened with possible jail sentence if she refused to sign.

Sheriff William Rumley, of Beaufort county, testified that he had known Sheriff Whitehurst for a number of years and that his standing and reputation as a man and an officer was good. He declared that Sheriff Whitehurst had always cooperated 100 per cent in any calls he had made upon him for aid in detection of crime or apprehension of criminals. He also testified that on one occasion when he visited Greenville to appear before the grand jury, he rode Mrs. Tripp and her son back to their home in Washington with him and that she revealed to him the fact (Continued on page six)

Mrs. Hooker, the president, being absent, Mrs. Hall, vice-president, presided. During the business session it was voted to give the books to the Sheppard Memorial Library.

Mrs. G. J. Woodward, who had charge of the program, said Mrs. Hall had consented to give a reading of the recent book, "Ezekiel," by Mrs. Elvira Garner. Ezekiel is a group of amusing short stories written around the life of Ezekiel, the little Negro boy and his sisters and brother, Emancipation, Plural and Assafoetida. Mrs. Hall is a gifted reader and showed a special aptitude in speaking Negro dialect. To the delight of the members she had put to music the little songs that Ezekiel made up at the end of every happy occasion to express his joy and the singing of these as Ezekiel would have sung them, added charm to the reading.

Mrs. Waldrop, accompanied by Mrs. Hadley, sang several lovely songs.

Mrs. Zeigler, mother of Mrs. Waldrop, was guest at the meeting.

The hostess, assisted by her daughter, Louise, served a most enjoyable salad course with iced tea.

The Sans Souci disbanded with much regret, but is looking forward to reunion in the early fall.

Christian Science Church.
"Ancient and Modern Necromancy, Alias Mesmerism and Hypnotism, Denounced," was the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches and societies on Sunday, May 29.

The golden text was from Matt. 24:4. "Take heed that no man deceive you."

Among the citations which comprised the lesson-sermon was the following from the Bible: "Now I beseech you, brethren, mark them which cause divisions and offences contrary to the doctrine which ye have learned; and avoid them. For your obedience is come abroad unto all men. I am glad therefore on your behalf; but yet I would have you wise unto that which is good, and simple concerning evil. And the God of peace shall bruise Satan under your feet shortly." (Rom. 16: 17, 19, 20 to first period).

The lesson-sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Animal magnetism has no scientific foundation, for God governs all that is real, harmonious, and eternal, and His power is neither animal nor human. Its basis being a relief and this belief animal, in Science animal magnetism, mesmerism, or hypnotism is a mere negation, possessing neither intelligence, power, nor reality, and in sense it is an unreal concept of the so-called mortal mind."

The German will be formally opened with the honorary club members' figure to be led by Mr. and Mrs. Millard F. Jones and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Gardner. Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Feiner will direct this figure.

Two orchestras will provide music for the German, Paul Jones, a local maestro, and Jimmy Dorsey, a bandsman of international fame. Both will feature girl singers, Dorsey offering Miss Vi Mele as soloist and Jones a quartette composed of Harold White and his "Three Sparklers."

The traditional German, which will follow a brilliant June series of sorority and fraternity dances, will be given in the Mangum warehouse on North Church street. This will be elaborately decorated to depict a Colonial garden.

Man About Manhattan
By George Tucker

New York—From time to time this correspondent has detailed the activities of Billy Rose in his ceaseless quest for new ideas in entertainment. We have drawn chilling letters from others by setting this lad up as perhaps the most unpretentious of the Manhattan producers. And there was no dearth of fact to build these stories on. For Billy not only sat up nights thinking..... he got real ideas. Take "Crazy Quilt"..... No musical ever made the money "the quilt" drew at the box offices in tank towns and in major cities all over the country.... Then he came back to New York, started the French Casino form of entertainment, that is, the cabaret-restaurant, where you dine at tables while the actors do their stuff.... This was known as the Casino de Paris..... and later came Billy Rose's Music Hall.

Well, there were imitators, as there naturally would be, for nothing is new and nothing is wholly original.... But things can be different, and when somebody asked him what he would do next he said: "I'll do a musical comedy of circus life"; which he did, with animals and clowns, and it was called "Jumbo."

After that one came along I was talking to him and, not knowing what to expect, I inquired, "What next, Billy?"
"I'm going to do a musical comedy on water," was the astonishing reply.... Well, he did just that, at Cleveland.... It was the aquacade, the hit of the Cleveland exposition.
Meanwhile, down in Texas, he was handling the midway for the Texas exposition at Fort Worth.... They asked Billy back the second year to put on his fiesta.
And about that time all the New York producers were going "Billy Rose".... The night clubs, I mean.... They were striving for the unusual, the bizarre.... They wanted to startle people.... The French Casino was a great hit.... Then came the International Casino....

Reasons Why Senator Reynolds Deserves Your Vote

It is a North Carolina Democratic tradition that one representative in the United States Senate should hail from the Western section of the State and one from the Eastern. Senator Reynolds is of the Western section, residing in Asheville, the city of his birth.

Since the days of Vance and Ransom the custom of Senatorial representation between the East and West has never been broken and on June 4th, next, the Democratic Party of North Carolina will re-affirm its allegiance to this tradition by re-electing Senator Reynolds.

Every person in public life has some political opponents. Senator Reynolds' notable, statesman-like success has been a revelation to his critics and a joy to his friends.

He has never dodged, ducked or failed to register his vote in the Senate on any controversial issue. He always knows where he stands. He never tries to straddle an issue. He forgives his enemies and remembers his friends.

His experience and training during his first term naturally qualifies him for continued, unexcelled service to his constituency.

He has the implicit confidence of all the United States governmental authorities at the Capitol, and as the result can get important matters of State attended to with dispatch and satisfaction.

The people of North Carolina are an appreciative people. They appreciate the yeoman-like efforts of Senator Reynolds to make the burden lighter in these strenuous days, and will return him to the United States Senate.

He has always been to the forefront in championing the cause of labor, protecting the farmer, aiding the masses and safeguarding the rights of business and industry.

Your vote for BOB REYNOLDS in the Democratic Primary on June 4, will be a Vote to Continue the Faithful Service He Has Rendered North Carolina and the Nation for the Past Six Years.

There were all sorts of innovations and new twists to after dark entertainment until, finally, everybody wondered where the thing would end; and in particular, what Billy Rose would try next.

Did he fox em! Yes, honey, he did. A trail-blazer in new fangled ideas, with his Jumbos and fiestas and Casa Mamas, Billy took one look at the streamlined entertainment with a through-a-locking glass complex, and pulled the nearest trick of his career. He did the very last thing anybody ever thought he would do. He simply dipped back 30 years and put on a straight vaudeville show.

Net result: Box office take $120,000 in two weeks. All the old three a-day names when vaudeville was in blossom and the Palace was heaven are tramping on his stage.... It is, to me, something of a phenomenon, having never fancied vaudeville very much myself.... At least, I thought I didn't fancy it.

Greenies Lose 11-9 Slugfest to New Bern; Smith Injured

FOURTH LOSS TO NEW BERN

Ex-Greene Norwood Helps Bears Beat Old Mates

With the Greenies scheduled to New Bern in a double-header here this afternoon, the locals had not won a single game from the Bears this season.

The Greenies yesterday afternoon lost their third straight to New Bern, 9-11. A former Greenville man, Swamp Norwood, was the big gun in the Bears' victory getting a homer and a double to drive in four runs, scoring two himself.

Greenville went ahead in the first half of the initial frame by scoring four runs, but New Bern came right back in its half of the first to score five to go ahead. The Greenies added one in the third to tie things up and pushed another across in the fourth to take the lead again. New Bern added one in the fifth to make it six-all, made three in the sixth and one in the seventh to take a four-run lead. Greenville came out in the eight to make one and in the ninth to make two, but fell short of tying the count by two runs.

Miller, Greenville third baseman, was by far the hitting star of the day, securing five for five and driving in four of the locals' runs. Korba made three safeties in five trips to help make up for the stinging Norwood gave the Greenies. Korba came to Greenville from New Bern on the deal which sent Norwood to the Bears.

The Greenies used a pair of pitchers and New Bern three. Bobo, who started for Greenville, went out in the first with only one man down and the Greenies in the lead, thereby leaving the credit for losing the game up to Freddy Calliguri, who relieved him.

Don King, who is directing the team while Manager Joyner is nursing an injured knee, played first base and made five outs and one assist without a bobble. The line-up was juggled somewhat when Smith was injured and had to be removed from the game. Pratt, who was playing left field, was sent to the catcher's box and Hardison took left field. Delaney also took a turn at left field, making three Greenville hurlers, besides the two who went in the box, taking part in the game.

Eagles Pound Ayden Hurler; Defeat Aces

Ayden, June 1.—Nowak pitched nine-hit ball as Kinston's Eagles pounded a 10-3 victory over Ayden here yesterday.

The Eagles jumped to a three-run lead in the first and added another tally in the second. This margin proved enough to win the ball game.

However, Nowak didn't let up and kept the Aces' hits well scattered, and never experienced any difficulty.

The Eagles' three-run lead in the first came as a result of four singles, a long fly and a hit batsman.

Here's how Kinston scored in the second.

Nowak singled, and Teperton beat out an infield hit. West's sacrifice advanced both runners, and Sid Strinfellow's long fly brought in Nowak.

The Eagles continued to get runs—five coming as the result of homers. Wright hit for the circuit in the third, and Patton furnished transportation for a man on base in the seventh by hitting for the circuit. Nowak and Strinfellow joined the parade by clouting one-run homers in the eighth.

Jiggs Gasaway of the Aces hit a homer in the second with the bases—unoccupied.

Marion Johnson, Georgia boy, playing shortstop for the Aces, stole the fielding honors for the day. He handled eight chances nicely and made only one miscue.

Greenies softball league got back in the headlines today after having been kept out of print for more than a week because of inactivity on account of rain.

The Furniture Dealers-Guaranty Bank team got in the win column for this first time yesterday afternoon, defeating the Water and Light boys 11-2.

Blount-Harvey won over the heretofore undefeated Transportation-Nehi-Insurance team, 14-9, giving Carolina Dairy-Post Office a clear title to first place with four wins and no losses. A dispute, however, has arisen over a game between the Carolina Dairy-Post Office and Carolina Sales-Firemen, the latter team claiming that the contest was forfeited and the Carolina Dairy-Post Office contending that it was too wet to play. No ruling has been handed down by the Board of Managers and the game has not been included in the standings pending the official decision.

Yesterday's results put Blount-Harvey in a tie with the Transportation-Nehi-Insurance team, with five victories and one loss each. The Furniture Dealers-Guaranty Bank's victory pulled the team out of a tie with the Lawyers-Doctors-Court House crew for the cellar position.

A schedule of today's games was not available. Two games previously rained out, however, probably will be played this afternoon if the weather permits and the double-header between Greenville and New Bern does not last too long to permit time for a softball contest at Third Street.

Martins Rally Short And Bugs Cop Game

Goldsboro, June 1.—Williamston's Martins put on a two-run rally in the ninth of their game with the Goldbugs here this afternoon, but the rally was not enough. The Bugs won, 4-2.

Lefty Nicholas, who hurled the route for the locals, had the Martins well under control for eight innings, pitching shut-out ball. Nicholas allowed 10 scattered hits and also collected two bingles for three tries to lead the Goldbugs at bat.

The locals scored twice in the third frame. Nicholas singled, advanced to third as Dirmann scored on a wild pitch. Dirmann scored on a fly to deep center by Mullinax. The other tallies came in the fourth and the eighth.

Singles by Bowen, Marshall, Harper and Beard accounted for the two Williamston runs.

Balla, with two for four, led the Bugs at bat along with Nicholas. Beard, with three for five, was the Martins' top hitter.

FIRST STRING CATCHER HURT

Smith Forced Out Of Lineup by Injury to Knee

If it wasn't for bad luck, Greenville apparently would not have any. The locals have lost several hard luck games—the type that is won on breaks by one-run margins. Skipper Joyner was put in the hospital because of an injured knee, and as if this was not enough, Vincent Smith, Greenville number one catcher, and regarded as among the best in the league, yesterday afternoon suffered an injured knee and will be out for several days, it is feared.

Smith was hurt in the fifth inning when he slid in attempting to reach third from first on a base hit by Miller. Pratt, relief catcher for the Greenies, went in to replace Smith and probably will see action several days. Pratt is considered a better-than-the-average hitter, but has not had an opportunity to show his stuff behind the plate much this year as Smith has been in the game every day.

Skipper Joyner is not believed to be seriously injured and was taken to the hospital when it was feared that infection might set in. The pilot hopes to be back on the field within a few days, but probably will run the team from the sidelines for some time yet.

Birch Douglass, ace first baseman who was with New Bern last year, has been signed by Greenville and was due to arrive today, probably in time to get in today's line-up. Manager Joyner announced yesterday that he also was expecting at least two more outfielders to join the club any day now.

Snakes Down Billies In Close Ball Game

Tarboro, June 1.—Walter (The Duke) Sieminski had one bad inning against Peahead Walker's Snow Hill Billies here yesterday, but stuck throughout the game to win, 5-4.

The Duke ran into trouble in the second frame, but relied on a trusty strikeout ball to relieve him. In the second, Duke fanned Gadd, then filled the bases by walking Bistoff, Soufas and Badgette. He pulled out, however, by fanning Rabb and Cherry to end the inning.

Tarboro took the lead in the second. Myers singled, advanced on Ware's double, and scored on Campbell's long fly to center. Ware came in home on a wild throw by Soufas.

In the third the locals made it 3-0. Sieminski walked, went down on Myer's sacrifice, and scored when Campbell's single was error-ed.

Snow Hill scored their other runs in the fourth. Charlie Gadd singled and went to second when the ball got away from Rightfielder Lehman. Soufas walked, Badgette doubled, scoring Gadd. Rabb singled and scored on Harbin, running for Badgette, who was injured sliding into third, tallied on Cherry's single. Mewborn scored Rabb with a timely single.

The Snakes tied and won the game in the sixth. Hank Lehman singled, advanced on Maynard's sacrifice, and scored on Albert

ARMSTRONG IS FIGHT WINNER

Los Angeles Negro Now Welterweight Champion

Madison Square Garden Bowl, New York, June 1.—(AP)—Henry Armstrong, sensational Los Angeles Negro, shattered all ring tradition last night by winning the world's welterweight title from Barney Ross, adding the title to his featherweight crown. Hammering Henry won the decision in 15 rounds, giving Ross the worst licking of his ring career.

Armstrong's tireless attack was too much for the defending champion, who won the cheers of the shivering throng of 30,000 spectators by taking the bombardment all the way and refusing to quit.

From the fifth round on, the battle was all Armstrong's. His right eye closed and his face a mass of blood, Ross was so hopelessly beaten that he could hardly left a glove in his defense in the last five rounds. Ross weighed 142, Armstrong 133 1-2.

Davey Day, Chicago, decisively outpointed Normant Quarles, Hendersonville, N. C., in the eight-round semi-final. Day punished his opponent with left hooks and drew a steady stream of blood from the nose of Quarles. Quarles rallied in the last two rounds, but it was too late to turn the tide. There were no knockdowns. Both tipped the beam at 136 1-2.

TO THE VOTERS OF PITT COUNTY—

It has been my desire to see, and personally ask every voter in Pitt County, for his or her support, in my campaign for Judge of the County Court. This, it appears, is almost impossible. Therefore, I take this method of saying to those that I may fail to see, that I will sincerely appreciate your support on next Saturday. I promise, if nominated and elected, to give to this office my very best, and to at all times fill the same, fearlessly and fairly, with equal justice to all.

To The Editor:

It is not often that I rise up in righteous indignation and self-defense, but at this time I feel justified in answering Mr. Wyatt Brown, especially since he is not the official critic for the Rotary Club, but assumes to offer his opinion on a subject of which he is absolutely ignorant. We musicians are asked to supply either vocal or instrumental numbers for different clubs and societies, and are willing to do it. Often times the pianos are very poor and it is impossible to play as one would wish on a rattletrap of a piano that has no tone quality. May I inform Mr. Wyatt Brown that I have been accompanist in Chicago studios and given recitals in Steinway Hall, and my work was considered very satisfactory. And it is needless to say that I fully appreciate the discourtesy on the part of the critic, since my service was tendered gratis. When you wish to thrust your superior knowledge on the public it would be well to "know your onions" and pay for the services of those who entertain you. I am not looking for bouquets, and it would have been much more decent to have said nothing about the pianist.

Organist Presbyterian Church.

(Editor's Note:—When Mr.
Mulberger approached The Reflector in regard to a portion of the story on the Rotary Club meeting, which related to the "too loudly played piano," he was advised that the club had its own publicity department and provided the paper with accounts of the meetings, Wyatt Brown at present being in charge of the committee.

IT'S ODD But It's Science

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Editor
Dallas—Flames like moths.
This new fact about the well known "moth and flame" attraction, in which it is the moths that like the flames, was discovered in the new potash industry in New Mexico.

It was reported to the American Chemical Society here by T. M.
Cramer, of Carlsbad, N. M. He said a new potash plant near there was pestered with moths. Every morning 40 to 50 pounds of them had to be swept out of the building.

There was nothing in the scientific records about how to get rid of this nuisance. The potash engineers invented a method.

At night they opened all the windows and turned on all the lights in the plant. The moths flew in. Then windows were closed and lights turned out, except in the power plant.

The moths thereupon flew into the power plant section. When they were all there, the lights coupled in all except the boiler room. So the moths all flew into the boiler room.

Finally the lights of the boiler room were extinguished and the doors of the furnaces opened. The moths all flew into the fire.

And, said Mr. Cramer, the steam pressure went up. The moths were good fuel.

Five new artesian wells have been brought into production and four more are to be drilled to increase the water supply in the northwestern part of Mexico City.

SHORT SHOTS

By HENRY AVERILL

Raleigh, June 1—When his attention was called to a statement by Paul D. Grady that Rocky Mount's electric power rates are "honest" rates in all respects, while rates of private utilities are based on watered stocks and overly high papraisals, Utility Commissioner Winsome called attention to the schedules of rates on file with the commissioner.

It was noted that 50 kilowatt-hours can be purchased for the following sums in the following cities: Rocky Mount, (municipal)
$2.50; Raleigh (Ca. L. and P.) $2.50
Charlotte (Duke) $2.40; Greensboro
(Dur. Pub Serv) $2.71; Greensboro
(Duke) $2.40; Asheville (Tide Water)
$2.50; Winston-Salem (Duke) $2.43 and Goldsboro (Ca. L. and P.) $2.50.

He pointed out that Rocky Mount's "honest" rates are exactly the same in every bracket as those of the Carolina Light and Power, and (for 50 kw) somewhat higher than those of Duke. Only in Durham and Winston do the citizens pay higher rates than the "honest" ones in Rocky Mount.

Records at the Utility Commissioner also show that Rocky Mount did not get its present rates until after the Carolina Light and Power had lowered its charges to a point where they were below those of the municipal plant of the Nash-Edgecombe city.

This correspondent feels he has not lived in vain—he has at least one modest accomplishment to his credit.

Recently this column called attention to the antiquated personnel directory in the Department of Agriculture building, which listed occupants "as of Jan. 1, 1935."

Now so far as the D of A is concerned, there is a brand new up to June 1, personnel list on the board—the whole thing the work of Mrs. Sophie Green, of the Museum division.

If and when the other agencies in the building get their part of the board straight, we'll really do some bragging.

The State Board of Elections office here reports one of the quietest seasons on record in many election years—with few requests for information of any sort.

One really perplexing proposition has been propounded, however to-wit: How and where can "prisoners" vote?

As for those in the state penitentiary or convicted of offenses punishable by such imprisonment, there is no room for doubt, the election law specifically says they cannot vote—are disqualified.

But what about those in durance ville for petty misdemeanors and lodged in county jails? To get an absentee ballot a voter must be "absent from the county or physically unable to get to the polls."
Broadly speaking there is no doubt that a prisoner in the county jail is in fact "physically unable to get to the polls," but can he meet a further requirement of the law, namely, to produce a physician's certificate that he is "physically unable to get to the polls?"

Ho, hum, the whole thing's mostly academic anyhow.

What truth is there in reports that Paul D. Grady of Kenly who seeks the scalp of Utility Commissioner Stanley Winborne, is "hooked up" in the primary with Senator Robert R. Reynolds?

Over in the Fifth Congressional there are repeated reports that Marshall Kurtes is getting under the skin, as well as worrying, A.
D. "Lon" Folger with his repeated and reiterated radio assaults on the "Folger Dynasty" and the "Surry Hitler."

With the Supreme Court in recess, next decision will be handed down June 15. The justices have some 50-odd cases in which to write decisions, seven of them, involving nine defendants, capital ones. Chief interest is centered on the Payne-Turner case.

EXCURSION STEAMER SUNK IN NEW YORK BAY

The excursion steamer Mandalay here is shown resting on the bottom of Lower New York bay after she was involved in a collision with the Bermuda-bound steamer ship Arcadia. An estimated 300 passengers and crew aboard the Mandalay were transferred safely to the outbound vessel. The excursion ship was inbound, and both craft were proceeding in a fog.

VACATION SCHOOL FOR FAMILY HELPS KEEP UP WITH CHILDREN

NOW LISTEN, DAD
Children and parents compare notes on progressive education on the Vassar campus. This time son is doing the talking.

By LYDIA GRAY SHAW
(AP Feature Service Writer) Youghkeepsie, N. Y.—On the theory that what's good for their children is good for them, too, 85 parents—college-trained men and women—will get a lesson this summer in progressive education.

It will be given at the Euthenics Institute on the Vassar College campus. And Dr. Ruth Wheeler, director, predicts the parents will enjoy it as much as their children, who will be housed in the nursery school building on the campus.

The program for the entire six-week course will come from the student, whether parent or child.
Here's an example:

When the nursery school children arrive, they'll probably start asking each other, "How did you get to Youghkeepsie?" Train, car, boat, they'll answer. The teachers will then start them on a general discussion of transportation, which may eventually lead to a field trip down to the freight station, or the construction of large-scale maps of the Vassar campus.

Suggesting A Subject
Meanwhile, the parents are saying to each other, "What do you do when your child won't obey?"
The lecturers seize upon that topic, and launch the group into a discussion of discipline.

And there is progressive education. The students provide the initiative, the instructors guide the discussion, and textbooks supplement their activities. The theory is that "everybody learns a lot faster and is far more interested than when just "talked at" by teachers.

Of course, all this is nothing new to the nursery school children—if they've attended nursery schools elsewhere. But their parents will find it vastly different from the cut and dried courses of their college days.
And Dr. Wheeler predicts they'll like it.

3-Acre Playground
Much of the nursery school children's activities will gather impetus from the new three-acre playground where the 65 children enrolled in the course can play Indian, explore caves, or visit the Vassar farm.

When they come back to the nursery school after a morning outdoors they'll re-create in songs, plays, and block building the things they've seen.

The parents will have their fun,
too. In between lectures and discussions, they can go on field trips with the other two groups at the Institute—social workers and teachers, all interested in children. And they'll still have time to brush up on their tennis and swimming.

After all, says Dr. Wheeler, it's their big chance. They don't have to worry about their offspring for six entire weeks. And that's a real vacation.

OPEN DEFENSE OF SHERIFF AS OUSTER CASE RESUMED

(Continued from page one) that she had been made offers by Neims and Beaman if she would sign the paper and appear against the sheriff. He said he questioned her about the whereabouts of her husband and she told him that he had gone to South Carolina. She said that she had told him she was going to tell the truth about the Whitehurst case and that as a result of this statement he had gone away.

Rumley said that Charles Smith, son of the late Jesse Smith, and a former witness, told him that he had been paid $7.00 to come to Greenville to testify, and that Beaman had also left $2.00 at Plymouth for him to pay his fare to Greenville. Rumley said Smith stated that his affidavit and first testimony before the grand jury were false and that he had signed and testified for pay because he needed the money.

J. L. Outlaw, Chief of Police and City Clerk at Grimesland, testified that Sheriff Whitehurst's general standing and reputation as a man and an official was excellent and that the sheriff had always given him 100 per cent co-operation when called upon to aid in any way in the apprehension of criminals.

J. Gus Stokes, Greenville township constable, testified as to the sheriff's good standing as a man and an officer, and declared that he had always been willing and glad to co-operate when called upon. Questioned as to the general character and reputation of Charles R. Smith, one of the prosecution witnesses, Stokes declared that it was bad.

George Bowkley, store operator on the north side of the river and admitted former bootlegger, testified that Neims had requested him to give information as to the sheriff and asserted that if he could and would give the information, it would be made worth his while and that he could have the shelves of his store well-stocked.

On cross-examination he admitted that for several years he engaged in bootlegging and that he had been fined one time by Sheriff Whitehurst and several times by his deputies but never caught by them. He said that he had been caught one time by federal officers. He quit bootlegging more than three years ago, he said.

Bill Cullifer, taxi driver convicted at the January term of criminal court on a charge of aiding in prostitution and transporting liquor, testified that while he was on the roads he was summoned to appear in court as a witness in cases against Pinky Whitehurst and Nelson Hopkins. He said that while he was here Batson told him that if he would testify right he would not have to go back to the roads to complete his term.

The witness testified he told Batson he knew nothing on the sheriff and therefore he would have to go back to the roads. Mrs. Cullifer testified that while her husband was on the roads, she approached Batson about recommending a parole for him and Batson told her if Cullifer would testify right about Pinky Whitehurst, Nelson Hopkins and the sheriff, he would recommend the parole. She said she told her husband and he replied that he knew nothing on the sheriff and therefore could not testify against him.

Kirby Cobb, sheriff of Greene county, testified that the general standing and reputation of the sheriff was good and that never had he had occasion to call upon him for aid that the sheriff did not willingly cooperate to the fullest extent.

John Hill Paylor, Farmville attorney, testified that the general standing of the sheriff as a man and an officer was good. He said that he had always received prompt and efficient service on such civil process as he had ever sent to the sheriff's office.

Edwin Gill, North Carolina Commissioner of Paroles and Pardons, and Hathaway Cross, Assistant Commissioner, both testified that their dealings with the sheriff's office had always resulted in the most efficient service possible on the part of the sheriff. They both testified that his general reputation throughout the state was good.

Clay Carter, Washington attorney, testified as to the good reputation of the sheriff, both as a man and an officer. He said that his papers sent by him to the sheriff's office had received prompt and efficient service.

Oscar Pitts, superintendent of state prisons, testified that his work gave him occasion for many contacts with Sheriff Whitehurst and that on each occasion Whitehurst rendered willing and efficient service. He said that the general reputation of the sheriff was good.

Deputy Sheriff G. Powell of Duplin county, testified that Batson lived in Duplin county seven or eight years and that his general character there was bad.

Jesse Brewer, switchboard employee of the local electric plant testified that on a night some days following a citizens mass meeting in the court house, he was en route to his work about 10:30 at night, and upon passing Horne's Wood Yard, on Albemarle Avenue, he saw Chas. O.H. Horne, chairman of Pitt County A.B.C. Board, and Batson talking. He said that the door of the wood yard office was about half open and that Batson was standing with his hand on the door knob talking to Horne. He said he heard Horne tell Batson that the county commissioners were in a turmoil and were expecting him (Batson) to "take care of Sam." Batson laughed and said, "Leave that to me," the witness said.

W. L. Bisette, Mayor of Grifton, testified to the good character and reputation of Sheriff Whitehurst and said he had always received prompt and efficient aid when he had found it necessary to call upon the sheriff for assistance in the detection of crime or the arrest of criminals.

Brown Hodges, Town Commissioner of Grifton, likewise testified as to the sheriff's good character and reputation and his willingness to aid other officers when called upon. W. E. Barden, sheriff of Edgecombe county, testified that Sheriff Whitehurst's general standing as an officer and a man was good, and that while he found it necessary to call upon Whitehurst frequently for aid, the sheriff had always willingly and efficiently rendered the desired service.

Sheriff C. B. Roebuck of Martin county, likewise testified to the good reputation and standing of Sheriff Whitehurst and his willingness to aid other officers at all times when called upon.

W. R. Butterton of Portsmouth, Va., sergeant of police of the A. C. L. Railroad, testified that he had frequently sought the aid of Sheriff Whitehurst and that always the sheriff had gladly and efficiently rendered service.

OCTAGON HOUSE BY PHOEBE ATWOOD TAYLOR

The Story So Far: Asey Mayo, Cape Cod detective, is investigating yesterday's murder of Marina Lorne, whose husband's post office mural has aroused Quermet. She was killed by a left handed blow from her sister's knife and Pam Frye is suspected. Pam appears after hiding $50,000 worth of emeralds she found. Roddy Strutz's alibi plan crash looks deliberate, and the alibi of agreeable Tim Carr boards at the Frye's Octagon House. A late Asey overhears Tim's grand-mother ask him, "Where did the girl put it?" Then Jack Lorne brings a startling news: He has discovered that he never married Marina, because she was already married to Tim Carr.

Chapter 23

Incriminating Evidence

AND this other. This note," Asey picked it up. "Twenty-five thousand dollars, payable to Marina Carr. On demand. Signed by Timothy Carr, and witnessed by two people. Where, Lorne, in heaven's name, did you find these two chunks of dynamite?"

"I found them this morning, in a tin box in the bottom drawer of a wardrobe trunk of hers. I never knew she had such a box. I was hunting for a will and insurance policies—I told her to put 'em in the bank box, but they weren't there. So I hunted, and I found this box. There were lots of other trophies there. Diaries. Everything. You—want me to tell you about those diaries?"

Asey nodded. "Or you could let me see them."

"No one'll ever see those!" Lorne said savorily. "I burned them, page by page!"

"Was that wise?" Asey asked. "I see how you might have wanted to, but this note and this marriage certificate'll put Tim Carr in a hole."

"The diaries," Lorne said, "would have hanged him. That's one of the minor reasons I burned them. The real reason was me, Me, and Aaron, and Pam. I decided that the three of us had taken enough. We—" he gulped. "We took plenty, we did."

"I'm inclined to think," Asey said, "that maybe perhaps you all have. Now, she married Tim before she went through the motions of marrying you. That right?"

"Today," he spoke as if he were quoting, "today I hooked Tim Carr."

In the same voice, he sketched the story. "Hooked Tim Carr. Found today he's all front. No money. Tight-wad. Everything for that grandmother. I hate her. Today I swiped his prize money and the old lady's jewelry. Going abroad with Lorne, the sap. He'll be famous some day. Got Carr fixed. Tim's sample note he wrote for his math class, when they learned about making out checks and notes and accounts. Grabbed it from waste basket and ironed it out last week. Got Sammy and Peter to sign. They'd sign anything if I asked them. Let Carr try to divorce me."

Asey whistled softly. "I get it. If Tim tried to divorce her, she'd raise hell with that note. But her witness—"

"She thought of them," Lorne said. "She thought of everything. They witnessed it in the apartment, while Carr was there, just after he'd written something at the desk. She snifted the paper. The diary had all the details. She had him order Carr to divorce her. And I guess it might as well have been a million as far as he was concerned. Marina hated the grandmother. That's why she did it. The grandmother told her where she got off, and she was going to make the Carrs suffer for it. She had them, don't you see? If they tried to do anything about her, or her and me, all she had to do was wave that note. She had them. And she also had some pretty rabid letters from Carr. I burned those."

"Threatening her?"

Lorne nodded. "I started to give them to Hanson, and then I burned them up. They would have hanged him."

"And you don't want him to hang, even though you think he killed your wife?"

Played For A Sucker

"ALL of us, Pam and Aaron and Carr and I," Lorne said, "we've suffered enough, I don't know—I'm not supposed to be very bright, and I'm not. I don't catch on to things quickly—God knows I don't!" he laughed bitterly. "But people who do things like Marina did, some time or other, things catch up with them. They caught up with her. I don't know how to explain what I feel. I'm not angry with Carr now."

He lighted a cigarette, and Asey noticed his hands. They were long slender feminine hands.

"The diaries had the whole story," Lorne went on. "What she did to the family, and before she met me, and afterwards, and who she did, and everything. Everyone, Roddy. She was playing him for a sucker. Anyway, it's all over with testified as to the good character and reputation of the sheriff. He said that during his term of office as county solicitor all matters pertaining to his court, had been handled by the sheriff's office promptly and efficiently. He never failed in his service, the witness said.

S. H. Martin, chief of police of Bethel, testified as to the sheriff's good character and reputation. The sheriff had always rendered valuable aid when called upon, he said. He testified that Beaman and another man had come to him to endeavor to get information against Whitehurst but he had told them that he knew nothing but good about him.

C. W. Evans, Chicod township constable, testified as to the good reputation of the sheriff and declared the sheriff had always rendered efficient service when called upon.

L. T. Lucas, chief of police of now Carr did it, not Roddy, as Peg thought. And I hope that you and Hanson can't get him."

"Know anything about ambergis, Lorne?" Asey asked.

"That's what Pam's always talking about," Lorne said. "What she's always hunting. I never understood much about it. It's used for making perfumes, isn't it, or something like that? It's a whale's chin, or tail. I never could see why she made such a fuss over it."

"It's a sort of greyish stuff," Asey said, "that grows in the intestines of a whale. Falls an' a little smelly, an' sort of streaked like marble. You can probably get around $35 an ounce for it."

"An ounce," Lorne said. "An ounce?"

"Yep. An' yesterday, Pam found a lump about 100 pounds out of the point. And Marina found Pam. After a squabby, Marina brought it back in Roddy's beach wagon, to your garage. And—"

"Where's it now?"

"Asey shrugged. "Pam went over there later, and found Marina dead, and she removed it. I thought she brought it to Octagon House. It's not in the cellar, an' the cops didn't uncover it. I don't know where it is."

"That's swell for Pam, isn't it?" Lorne said. "She—oh. But if someone found it and took it—gee, you've got to find it for her, haven't you?"

Asey looked at him curiously. There was no doubt that the fellow was perfectly sincere.

"Yes, I got to find it before someone else does," Asey said, "an' someone else is huntin' it. Now—you don't breathe a word of this, you know. Not to anyone. But can you think of any part of the house where it might be?"

"No," Lorne said. "You'd think from the outside that the place was awfully queer, but it isn't, except for the shape of some of the rooms, and the arrangement. I'll get a pencil and see if I can think it out."

"Think hard," Asey said as he got up, "while I investigate Broth-er Carr. You know, it's just possible that this marriage certificate an' note was what he meant, an' not the ambergis—come on."

"All right," Lorne said. "You know, I—keep wondering what this is going to do to my work."

"Huh?"

"My work," Lorne said. "Of course this publicity has got me dozens of offers—but what will this do—to my work, you see?"

Orgy in Quonomet

Asey nodded, and suppressed a smile. If Lorne had got to the point where he could gauge his reactions to the murder in terms of his work, then there was little sense in worrying about him, or feeling sorry for him.

"As they walked up past the house, Asey paused by the cellar window on which he had been working.

"Might's well take two seconds," he said, "to finish up this pane here."

Before he finished with the pane, Peggy Boone came up the road, vaulted the barbed wire barrier, and strooped up the driveway.

"Ah," she said, "Mr. Fix-it. You get around, don't you, Peg?"

"He's Asey Mayo, Peg," Jack said. "I've told him everything."

"I began to suspect that he was," she said, "after I left Nettie's. Your eyes give you away, you know. Do you know where Pam is?"

"I've got a lot of faith in her," Asey said. "She can take care of herself."

"I hope so—and have you heard about the town? Nettie has joined the midway, and between her and the fan dancers, it's bedlam. There's a nickel-a-dance joint been set up—Why, the whole place looks like a gold rush camp. Forty-niners on a bust."

"How are the local boys taking it?" Asey asked.

"The invasion? Oh, they're trying to stop the riot. So is Hanson, with some of his cops. But you might as well turn back a cyclone with a bean boiler. Honestly, it's awful! I haven't seen the like since the last bootleggers dumped their last loads on the clam flats, and the town was knee deep with bottles for days. It's the same sort of thing, only they've got something to do besides drink. And it's not the local folk. The natives are furiously trying to get the National Guard out, or something. They'll have to. The crowd's got to the stage here. It thinks it's fun to
