VOTES TO GIVE BROAD POWERS TO PRESIDENT

Senate passes $3,723,000,000 Spending-Lending Bill

GIVES PRESIDENT FULL AUTHORITY

Barkley Expresses Opinion On Floor Congress Will Adjourn Next Week

Washington, June 4.—(AP)—The Senate voted six-to-one for a $3,723,000,000 spending-lending program last midnight—and handed the Roosevelt administration the purse strings.

The 70 Senators who remained for the finish of the two weeks' battle over the bill divided 60 to 10 for the measure. Seven Republicans and three Democrats lined up against it.

Before the final vote opponents of the program were completely routed. They lost every attempt to write restrictions into the bill. As passed, it would give President Roosevelt an entirely free hand in the distribution of the huge appropriation.

Upon passage of the bill, Senator Barkley (D-Ky) told his wary listeners Congress probably would adjourn next week-end after sending the relief measure and a pending wage-hour bill to the White House.

The spending-lending program now goes to a joint senate-house conference committee.

Farmers, with the possible exception of winter wheat growers, will not receive until next year any of the $212,000,000 for farm benefits voted by the senate in the lending spending bill, meanwhile, Senator Russell (D-Ga.), who sponsored the farm benefits amendment said it was possible, though unlikely, that "not a dime of the funds will actually be paid."

He explained whether any of the money paid out depends on the relation of the average prices received by growers of cotton, wheat, corn, tobacco and rice to the "parity" prices of these commodities in the first five months of their respective marketing season.

County Court Set For Next Tuesday

Judge Dink James of Pitt County court declares today that a session would be "held some place" Tuesday, adding that the hearings probably would be conducted in the grand jury room.

Judge James recalled that all cases had been made returnable for Tuesday, June 7, and therefore it was necessary to hold a session.

The sheriff's hearing will be in progress in the court room. If it is decided the grand jury room is not large enough, the County court session probably will be held in the armory, Judge James said, however, if no further announcement was made, court would be conducted in the grand jury room.

Other projects included Wayne county, $16,773 for a permanent agricultural building, 38 workers; Craven county, $1,658 for improving graded school building 10 workers.

ALUMNAE MEET HELD AT ETC

Reunions Of Honor Classes Feature Annual Session

The reunions of the honor classes of East Carolina Teachers College, class of 1937, class of 1938, and the "Silver Jubilee" class of 1913, featured the meeting of the Alumnae Association of the college this morning.

The twenty-five year class was represented by eleven members who came together from various parts of the state for the occasion. Mrs. Mary Newby White Bradshaw, Raleigh, represented her class on the program in the unavoidable absence of their president.

This class, of which President Meadows was adviser 25 years ago, will have their reunion at his home this afternoon and be entertained at supper there.

Many from the other two honor classes were also present, though the exact number was unable to be ascertained.

Miss Ruth Cagle spoke for the four-year class of 1937. Mrs. Gladys Jones Haney spoke of her gratitude to her class, 1938, for the good training it had given her as president. The representative of one of the classes of 1928 referred to the many people missing now from the campus, naming especially "our beloved friend and president, Dr. Robert H. Wright" and "our dear Mr. Austin." She expressed the pleasure of the class over the accession of Dr. Meadows to the presidency and the remarkable progress of the college under him.

Mrs. Bradshaw brought greetings from the president of the class of 1913 and regrets from both her and (Continued on page six)

No Diversion This Year; But Next Still Uncertain

Raleigh, June 4.—Continuing good collection of revenue makes it certain that there will be no diversion of highway funds for the current fiscal year, Commissioner of Revenue Allen J. Maxwell said today.

Future collections are so uncertain, however, that Mr. Maxwell said he did not feel safe in expressing any opinion about the possible necessity for diversion during, or near the end of the next fiscal year—second of the biennium for which appropriations were made by the 1937 General Assembly.

The Revenue Department head added that it is still impossible to make any accurate estimate of what effect the business slump which started last fall will have on the state's receipts for the next year. He pointed out that income taxes, which this year set a new high in

Graduating Exercises To Be Held Monday Morning

Dr. Samuel McPheeters Glasgow, pastor of the Independent Presbyterian Church, Savannah, Ga., and the Honorable William T. Polk, mayor of Warrenton and writer, will be the two speakers of the commencement season at East Carolina Teachers College, which began last night with a music recital and will close Monday with the conferring of degrees.

Dr. Glasgow will deliver the commencement sermon at the college on Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. He will be introduced by President Leon R. Meadows.

Dr. Glasgow is a native of Lexington, Va., and formerly taught in Fredericksburg College of that state. Before going to Savannah, he was pastor of a Presbyterian church in Louisville, Ky.

He is known as a speaker who makes a special appeal to young people, having on many occasions served as instructor in the Presbyterian Young People's Conferences held annually at Davidson College.

The Rev. R. C. Grady, pastor of the local Presbyterian Church, will deliver the invocation.

Dr. Glasgow will also make a brief talk at the commencement vesper of the college Y.W.C.A. at 7 o'clock Sunday evening, the annual candle-lighting service of the Y.W. presided over by the retiring president, Miss Elizabeth Copeland, Ahoskie, and the new resident, Miss Marie Dawson, Alliance.

The Rev. W. A. Ryan, pastor of the Greenville Christian Church, will deliver the invocation.

Mr. Polk will deliver the commencement address Monday, June 6, at 10:30 a. m.

Around one hundred and fifty seniors will be granted their A.B. degrees by the college at this time, 13 of them being students who completed their work in December, and 10 in March. Over a hundred and (Continued on page six)

CHINESE JUNKS WAGE ATTACK ON JAP VESSEL

Described as Extension Guerrilla Acts To Sea

JAPS, MEANTIME, SCORE ADVANCES

Report Further Gains on Kaifeng, Changchow in Drive to City of Hankow

Shanghai, June 4.—(AP)—Six large Chinese junks armored with steel plate today attacked a Japanese patrol vessel off the South China coast in what a Japanese naval spokesman called "extension of guerrilla activities to the sea."

The attack, which took place off a point southeast of Canton was repulsed with the aid of naval aircraft, the spokesman said, three of the junks being set afire and sent to the bottom of the sea and another being disabled. Two escaped.

Meanwhile, Japanese advances from reported further success in the Japanese drive on Kaifeng and Chengchow, the capture of which would set the stage for a direct advance along the Peiping-Hankow railway to Hankow, China's provisional capital.

These reports said a Japanese flying column had captured a point 20 miles south of Kaifeng and 49 miles east of the Peiping-Hankow line.

Another Japanese column was attacking 15 miles southeast of Kaifeng.

Heavy fighting continued between the Lunghai railway and the Yellow river northwest of Lanfeng. Japanese reported Chinese troops beginning to withdraw from the Lanfeng area to prepare for a "showdown" battle at Chengchow.

Dismiss Appeal Of Inland Steel Corp.

Chicago, June 4.—(AP)—The U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals dismissed today the petition of the Inland Steel company for a review of the recent order of the NLRB directing the company to cease unfair labor practices.

The review court upheld the board's motion to dismiss the case on the ground that the labor board had withdrawn its own order in the meantime.

Inland, one of the companies involved in the strike against "Little Steel" last summer was the first employer ordered by the board to sign a contract covering any collective bargaining agreement reached with labor.

Young Man Victim Of Auto Accident

Salisbury, June 4.—(AP)—Fred Clement, 26, an employee of the North Carolina Finishing Company at Yadkin, near here, for the past 10 years, died at a local hospital early this morning of injuries received in an automobile accident at Spencer some hours earlier.

The car he was driving went out of control on a curve and struck a telephone pole. Clement suffered a fractured skull and other injuries. He is survived by his widow and a child.

BUILDING BRIGHT SPOT ON OUTLOOK Babson Says Washington Will Repent or Inflation

New York, June 4.—New York is still terribly blue. Friends here point out that business is now at its lowest level for any June since 1932. Moreover, with that exception it is the worst since 1921, particularly for the motors and rails. I, however, point out to my friends that this is a coincidence and applies only to the first months of June. Taking the whole six months of 1938 as a whole we find them materially better than 1932, 1933 or 1934. In fact, if business had gradually risen from March 1933, up to its present level, we all should be happy. It was the boom in 1936-37 and the rapid drop of the past six months which have discouraged everyone.

Prospects for the return of good times have long centered on the mammoth building industry. Building swings up and down in cycles just as does business. But both cycles do not always coincide. For instance, home building hit its all-time top in 1926 and declined steadily from then until 1934. In 1926, however, business was only beginning its long climb to the 1929 New Era peaks. Now the tide of both is running in. The synchronizing of the building and business cycles for the first time in many years may give us a prosperity peak never seen before in America!

FHA Mortgages Big Aid The immediate business outlook is brightened by the fact that home building has been able to buck the trend of the recession. Not even unreasonable labor costs, bad business and fear of the future have prevented home construction from making progress. The new government mortgage plan, adopted by Congress last winter, is a strong stimulant. Many up-and-coming banks, building and loan associations, and the like have snapped up the government's attractive offer and have cooperated whole-heartedly. The results so far have been very (Continued on page six)

FATHER FEELS CHILD IS DEAD

James B. Cash, Sr., Resigned to Death Of Only Son

Princeton, Fla., June 4.—(AP)—Wearied and grime-ridden, James B. Cash, Sr., said today he was resigned to the death of his only child, but convinced the kidnapslayer would be caught.

Cash, his shoulders bent by fatigue and his eyes bloodshot from sleepless nights, appeared briefly on the porch of his home to express to reporters his thanks to the 2,000 persons who hunted fruitlessly for the blond, five-year-old boy snatched from his bedroom last Saturday.

Asked if he thought the case would be solved, he said: "Yes, I think so, as far as catching the fellow who did it is concerned. Once we catch them we will be able to find out what they did with the boy."

He indicated he had given up all hopes of finding James, Jr., alive. "I expect a break within the next week or ten days," he said, but declined to amplify the statement. The stricken father said Mrs. Cash still was under a physician's care, but was "some better." Like himself, she has abandoned hope for her blue-eyed son's life.

With the baffling case entering routine phases of investigation, most of the 2,000 persons who tramped in vain over 120 square miles of territory bordering the Everglades, returned to their homes.

WEATHER FOR THE WEEK South Atlantic States—Occasional afternoon thunderstorms in Florida. Other sections fair except in coastal regions at beginning of week and more general shower periods about Thursday. Temperatures about normal.

CITY FATHERS HOLD SESSION

Question of City Manager Again Up For Discussion

Revival of the discussion of changing the form of government for Greenville by employing a city manager, and insurance problems were chief business matters brought before the Board of Aldermen last night.

The regular monthly meeting is set for the first Thursday night in the month, but because of the high school commencement exercises, it was decided to defer the meeting until last night.

Mayor M. K. Blount at a previous meeting asked the members of the board to begin to study and think about adopting the city manager form of government for Greenville. The proposal was discussed again last night and Mayor Blount urged the members to continue their study. It has been made clear that if the suggestion is adopted an experienced manager will be employed to run the city. Other progressive towns in Eastern Carolina and throughout the state already are operating under a manager and it was explained that these places are finding the plan satisfactory.

The Insurance Committee is making a study of revising the insurance policies carried by the city on buildings, motor vehicles, etc., with the idea of adopting a new method. C. D. Griggs, assistant county agent, appeared before the board to inquire if the armory could be used for a curb market. No action was taken, the matter being referred to Capt. L. A. Brock of the National Guard unit, which rents the building, but it was indicated that some plan could be worked out satisfactorily.

Plans for beautifying Greenwood cemetery, which have been under consideration for some time, began to take definite form when a Raleigh landscape architect explained blue prints showing a proposed layout.

No clear-cut issue developed in the senatorial or congressional races. Running against Senator Reynolds is Representative Frank Hancock, Jr., of Oxford.

The board adopted an ordinance, presented at a previous meeting, setting regulations for the establishment of new dry cleaning plants.

Due to the fact that it will be difficult to know what ministers will be in town on the various Sundays, no series of speakers will be followed. It also was explained that visiting ministers are expected to occupy the pulpit on occasions throughout the summer.

Rev. C. H. Patrick, pastor of Immanuel Baptist Church, where the union services have been conducted for the past three months, declared that he felt the services for the past three months "have been very successful in that the subjects followed an outline of subjects which portrayed the factors which went into the making of the Christian church."

Elsewhere, Hendaye, France, reports said the insurgent drive toward Valencia, which has been successful in the past few days, was virtually halted by government militiamen.

The full force of General Franco's war machine has been pounding ceaselessly since Thursday on three sections of the eastern front, with only slight gains, and border advice indicated a tremendous loss of lives.

SUB PROPOSAL ON WAGE-HOUR ACT REJECTED

Would Have Set 25 Cents Pay and 44 Hour Week

ALSO PROVIDED FOR COMMISSION

Chairman Norton Declares Labor Committee Not to Block Compromise Bill

Washington, June 4.—(AP)—House members of a joint committee on wage-hour legislation rejected today a proposal to set up a minimum wage of 25 cents and maximum hours of 44 a week for a period of two years.

The discarded plan provided for a commission to report to Congress in two years on the wage-hour question. Congress then could have enacted new legislation in line with the report.

The compromise was offered by Representative Hartley (R-N. J.), and supported by Representative Ramspeck (D-Go.). It was opposed by the other five House conferees. It was not, therefore, submitted formally to the whole conference committee.

A Senate conferee said, however, it might be submitted again and stood a chance of adoption "as a final report" should the conference become deadlocked on the question of wage differences.

Chairman Norton (D-N. J.), of the House Labor committee said she and her colleagues hope for adoption of a modified version of the House bill by the conference committee, but that they would not block a compromise.

She spoke just before attending the third successive session of Senators and Representatives trying to put the legislation in final shape.

Local Woman Dies Of Week's Illness

Mrs. Martha Alexander Armstrong, 77, died last night at 12 o'clock at the home of her daughter, Mrs. L. M. Wilson, 1309 Broad street. She had been in declining health for the past three years, but had been confined to her bed only a week.

Funeral services were conducted from the home this afternoon at 12:30 o'clock by Rev. R. F. Pittman, Free Will Baptist minister of Ayden, after which the funeral cortege proceeded to Creswell, N. C., where interment was made in the family burial ground there.

Mrs. Armstrong was born and reared in Columbia, Tyrrell county. Eight years ago she moved to Greenville and had made her home here since that time with her daughter. She was widow of the late Leonard Armstrong of Tyrrell county. Her membership was transferred to the local Free Will Baptist Church several years ago.

Besides her daughter, Mrs. L. M. Wilson, a brother survives, T. C. Alexander of Tarboro, and a grandson, C. O. Armstrong of Ayden.

Designate Church For Union Service

Beginning with this Sunday, the joint evening services will be conducted in the Presbyterian Church for the next three months.

Services begin at 8 o'clock and will be conducted in the Presbyterian Church during June, July and August. Beginning in September they will be held in the Christian Church for three months.

Due to the fact that it will be difficult to know what ministers will be in town on the various Sundays, no series of speakers will be followed. It also was explained that visiting ministers are expected to occupy the pulpit on occasions throughout the summer.

Not To Encourage Visits To Mount Mitchell Peak

Reflector Bureau Raleigh, June 4.—The State advertising division of the Department of Conservation and Development is, in general, boosting and encouraging visitors to see all of the state's scenic glories; but there is one exception to this policy, at least. The department will not encourage visitors to travel to the very peak of Mount Mitchell, highest summit east of the Rockies, as long as two toll roads guard entrance to the state park at Mount Mitchell. This is made clear in a recent release from the office of Bill Sharpe of the division's News office.

He also holds the world featherweight title. This series shows how Barney Ross, who out-toughed Armstrong, managed to stay 15 rounds. Armstrong (1) starts a right to chin; Barney's shoulder (2) deflects blow; the punch (3) slides off; but (4) Barney's legs wobble anyway.

Washington—From an examination of the speeches of Senator Pat Harrison and President Roosevelt it is fairly evident they are not exceedingly far apart on the principles, but they are a long way from harmony on what to do right now to meet the recession-depression.

Speaking before 13 high school seniors at Arthurdale, W. Va., the President said the new tax bill was designed in many respects to hit the little fellow and his little corporation about as hard as it hit the big fellow. He insisted this was not fair and that it was an abandonment of American principle to back away from taxing people in proportion to ability to pay.

The question is, did Senator Harrison catch the President a bit off base with that one, particularly since Mr. Roosevelt sought to illustrate it with the capital gains tax?

How It Works

Under the new tax bill, says the President, a little fellow sells some stocks and perhaps real estate. He makes a profit of $5,000 on the deal. That is income and he must pay 15 per cent under the bill. Now along comes a big fellow and sells in a big way and makes a half-million dollar killing. But, says the President, instead of taxing him a high percentage of such earnings, the new tax measure says that all he has to pay is the same as the little fellow, or 15 per cent.

Not so, says Harrison next day in the Senate. The big boy not only has to pay the 15 per cent but his half million profit reaches high into the upper bracket where the income and surtax take off big chunks.

Evidently they still agree that the bigger the income the bigger the share which should go to the government.

But when President Roosevelt in effect, appealed to Congress and the American people to override the tax bill next year Harrison came right back with the suggestion that he should have liked the President, to test out the issue before the present Congress.

Blaming The Tax

In presenting the bill the President and certain treasury experts declared that corporations had hoarded over four billion dollars of earnings which should have been paid out in dividends to big and little shareholders. If it had been paid out, he said, the government would have collected almost a third of it in taxes, much needed nowadays. To shake some of it out, the 1936 tax bill proposed to tax corporations on the amount of earnings they hoarded, the bigger the savings the bigger the tax.

Right away both little and big corporations flocked to Congress to protest it was "penalizing thrift" to tax a company on money it put away for a rainy day.

Last summer, with the tax only a few months old, the recession set in and the tax got its share of blame. Senator Harrison, chairman of the finance committee which handles taxation, agreed that it was a factor harassing business. Congress supported him in striking out all of the graduated taxes on savings of little corporations and most of those on big ones although a substantial flat tax remains on both.

"We wanted to do something, if a tax factor could do it," said Harrison, "that might assist in displacing fear... and restoring confidence in the credit of the American business man."

The complexion of the next Congress will determine whether Pat Harrison or the President wins on that issue.

SHORT SHOTS

By HENRY AVERILL

Raleigh, June 4—Paul D. Grady of Keny should forthwith and immediately become a member of E. A. Hoover's famous force of G-men. He has just shown himself to be the greatest sleuth in history, by making a startling discovery which has escaped the eyes and ears of every political commentator in North Carolina.

This remarkable discovery, beside which Chris Columbus (see above) assailing "reds," last fall he announced his opposition to a CIO organizing drive in Jersey City. Storm center at present is an eight-year-old ordinance prohibiting open-air meetings without a permit. Sixty-two, six feet tall, Hague doesn't drink or smoke, won't touch coffee or tea.

He pointed out that the fellows seeking political preferment have been forced to do all the work themselves, they have no public letter or excitement to help them out. House to house canvasses, even of such large areas as Congressional Districts have been necessary to find out anything about what the voters are thinking. They just aren't talking, not even to each other, Mr. Ward said.

For instance, if you as Joe Doakes how he's going to vote on a certain office, he'll probably tell you," said Libby, "but he doesn't."

Latest Division of Epidemiology reports indicate that the measles epidemic which has been sweeping the state is beginning to abate. For the week ended May 28 there were 1,402 reported cases as against 1,605 the previous week.

Not longer than a month ago more than 2,000 cases were being reported weekly.

The drop is probably due to the fact that schools have been ended in most counties and, naturally, there isn't the same chance for spread of the disease.

The Ninth Annual Statewide Safety Conference—billed as the "South's Oldest Statewide Safety Conference"—will be held in Asheville on Friday and Saturday, June 10 and 11, according to the program recently issued.

The conference was organized in 1930 by the North Carolina Industrial Commission.

Commissioner of Revenue A. J. Maxwell and Superintendent of Public Instruction Clyde A. Erwin are among the high ranking state officials slated to speak.

This Advertising Division of the Department of Conservation and Development stays right on the job and is getting out plenty of releases heralding the advantages of the Old North State.

That no section is slighted is shown by a recent batch of "travel shorts" sent out by the division. Twelve different "date lines" appear on the first thirteen items. There are shorts from Manteo, Winston-Salem, Buxton, Mann's Harbor, Southport, Wilmington, Newland, Blowing Rock, Banner Elk, Sparta, Linville and Boone.

Canada's remoteness from expansion-hungry powers and her cordial relations with next-door United States have made a large peace time military establishment seem unnecessary. Moreover, Canadians have counted on British warships to hold off a possible invasion of their eastern coast.

Look To U. S. Might But probably the most comforting antidote for Dominion fears has been the belief that "the strong right arm of Uncle Sam" would be lifted against an aggressor who carried the fight to the Canadians' home grounds. Defense Minister Jan MacKenzie said recently:

"Just as the British navy on the Atlantic is our greatest security in that quarter so I think it might be reasonable to assume that in a major conflagration we should have friendly fleets upon the Pacific ocean."

Canadian hopes for U. S. aid in a pinch are based roughly on: 1. The Monroe Doctrine under which the United States views as an unfriendly act any attempt by a European or Asiatic nation to deprive an American state or territory of the right of self-government by force.

Outside of the general assurances of the Monroe Doctrine, this country is not committed to the military protection of Canada. So, students of international affairs find it conceivable that the United States would remain neutral if Canada became involved in a war between Great Britain and another power.

But they find it difficult to imagine the United States remaining placid if foreign troops actually were blasting their way into Vancouver or planes were dropping and bombing Toronto.

Her resistance, no matter how gallant, to an attack in force by a great power or coalition of powers would be ineffective unless the services of a strong British fleet were available. In such a situation Canada would hope for U. S. assistance by sea, air and land.

Some American alarmists have envied enemy aircraft making the short jump across the Bering straits from northern Asia to Alaska, flying from Fairbanks to Winnipeg in nine hours and in another four hours or less being in position to bomb Omaha or Chicago.

Bombers Have Limited Range Military planes can fly that far (more than 2,000 miles) but the defense experts are not alarmed at the prospect of such an attack in the near future—because no bombers have been developed which have a tactical range of even 1,000 miles. Meanwhile, the goal of the U. S. army is a force strong enough in numbers and equipment to smash the first contingent of an enemy which obtained a foothold anywhere in the United States, Canada and Mexico. The army air corps already has reached a stage of development where it is rated a match for the sky fighters of any nation.

'Boss' Hague Of Jersey City

Here's Picture Story of the Man Assailed As 'American Dictator'

1. FRANK HAGUE, Democratic big wig (he's a vice-chairman of the national committee) is Mayor of Jersey City. He's also a "friend of the poor," his cohorts say, and "a little Hitler," according to his foes. He usually wears a piker face, but gets expressive (see above) assailing "reds." Last fall he announced his opposition to a CIO organizing drive in Jersey City. Storm center at present is an eight-year-old ordinance prohibiting open-air meetings without a permit. Sixty-two, six feet tall, Hague doesn't drink or smoke, won't touch coffee or tea.

2. PLAYING TRANT was a favorite activity of young Hague, who likes to refer to his rise from "bad boy to mayor." He was born in Jersey City's poorest district on January 17, 1876, one of eight children. Recently he proclaimed: "I am the law."

3. AS SERGEANT - AT - ARMS in the state assembly Mayor Hague gained his first practical insight into politics. Then he became city hall custodian at $2,000 a year. He was elected city commissioner and director of public safety, 1913; mayor in 1917.

4. FOR FRIEND AL, with whom he posed in 1932, he organized the Smith forces in the east in the campaign of 1928 and was his floor manager at the 1932 convention which nominated Franklin Delano Roosevelt. Afterward Hague threw his support to Roosevelt.

5. A SPORTS FAN, Hague goes to Florida to golf, seldom misses a big prize fight or baseball game. His foes often ask how he is able, on an $8,000-a-year salary, to maintain a winter apartment in Jersey City and a luxurious summer home in fashionable Deal, New Jersey.

6. HIT IN THE FACE, this man is being led away from Journal Square by Jersey City police. He had gone there to hear two U. S. Representatives speak against the mayor's trying to prevent free speech. He answers that he's trying to keep the "reds" from invading Jersey City.

Unarmed Canada Counts On Aid From U. S. If An Aggressor Threatens The Dominion

(One of a Series of Stories) By ALEXANDER B. GEORGE (AP Feature Service Writer)

Washington—Citizens of our "good neighbor" Canada used to feel pretty safe because they seemed isolated from potential enemy countries. Now they are becoming invasion-conscious as war alarms reverberate around the world.

With Mother-Britain arming to the teeth in the face of European tensions, members of the Canadian parliament are urging a strengthening of home defenses. Reports hint of "mysterious" movements of heavy guns from one coast to another.

Canada's remoteness from expansion-hungry powers and her cordial relations with next-door United States have made a large peace time military establishment seem unnecessary. Moreover, Canadians have counted on British warships to hold off a possible invasion of their eastern coast.

OCTAGON HOUSE

The Story So Far: Assey Mayo, Cape Cod detective, is investigating yesterday's murder of Marina Lorne, whose husband's post office mural has aroused Quanonnet. She was killed by a left handed blow from her sister's knife and Pam Frye is suspected. Pam disappeared after hiding $50,000 worth of ambergris. Assey learns that Marina's marriage to Jack Lorne was a fraud because she was already married to Tim Carr, boarder at the Frye's Octagon House. She also played around with Roddy Strutt, whose plane crashed conveniently the night of the murder. Before the eyes of Assey, Jack and Peggy Boone, an artist, the barn burns down. Realizing the fire was set by someone who wanted to discover the location of the ambergris, Assey prods around the woods. He finds Tim knocked out, and then Tim finds Assey knocked out, Pam's father is missing.

Chapter 36 Menace "I DON'T like this," Tim said. "To me this smacks of foul play. What do you think?"

"We'll go back to the house," Assey said. "Most likely Aaron Frye is there, safe and sound; if he ain't here, he must be there. It's my idea that the troopers followed you two, and probably they escorted Aaron back. Look, while we're on the topic of foul play, what were you hunting so hard in the Lorne house, an' roundsabout? An' why did I get told so much folderol last night?"

"A little bird," Tim did his best to maintain his flippant tone, "tells me you already know you do, don't you? Timothy's Error, or The Blighted Life. Who found the marriage lines and that 'pretty note, you or Hanson?"

"Lorne," "Pon Gran," Timothy said. "It may sound like Galahad, or that man with that hair shirt, but I'd hoped it wouldn't happen, for her sake. That's why you got that yarn. There was a chance the stuff wouldn't turn up, I hoped I'd find it first. But if Lorne found it well—that's that. We didn't discover until the clambake that Marina was Frye's daughter, living virtually next door. We left the movies early and drove around, wondering what to do. Then we came back and found she'd been killed. I don't know where we drove. No one can tell us, I'm left handed, if Marina happened to hang onto some letters I wrote her—well, I'm as good as electrocuted right now."

"Lorne burped your letters," "He did?" "Look," said Assey, "did you or your grandmother kill Marina?"

"On my word of honor," Timothy said, "I didn't, and she didn't. Assey nodded.

"You don't mean that you believe me, do you?" Tim sounded incredulous.

"Yup," Assey said. "For one thing, I don't think you're the sort of person who'd swipe Pam's knife to do your murderin' with. An' for another thing, you're not the person who bluffed me, the one I played hide 'n' seek with. An' I don't think you bluffed yourself! So—"

"You feel that our pal the biffer," Tim said, "is the murderer?" "If he ain't," Assey said grimly, "then this little game has got more complications than I like to consider. Lorne," he added as they came to the clearing behind the ruins of the barn, "has your two papers, but I shouldn't ask him for 'em for a while, I'd wait—"

"The barn!" Tim said, "My God, where'd it go?" "Bad men," Assey told him with a chuckle. "Burney-burn, zzzt, like that."

"Did, did he?" Tim said. "The scoundrelly pyromaniac. Demolishing a relic like that! Thank heaven I took pictures of it the minute I came. That's something. It's the first octagonal barn I've actually seen—you know, octagonal barns were very sensible thoughts, Assey. You could drive your wagon in, and turn around. Didn't have to back. Assey, where is Pam?"

Assey shrugged. "Squirt Of A Match

"FOR obvious reasons," Tim said, "I've been soured on all females except Gran, for some time. But I liked Pam. I think she's a pretty swell girl. In fact, I'll go so far as to say that she interests me vastly. And I'm worried about her."

"Pam," Assey began, "can take care—"

"Of herself," Tim interrupted. "Yes, I know. Gran's been singing that refrain at intervals all day long. But you and I got smacked down, didn't we? And just suppose, Comrade Mayo, that Pam can't take care of herself. Suppose she can't, and you don't find it out until later. Or too late. Shan't you feel just a wee bit silly?"

"Uh-huh," Assey said serenely. "I should. But I'm bettin' my money on Pam."

"You seem strangely convinced," "I am," Assey told him. And he was.

Greenies To Meet Tarboro At Local Park Sunday, P. M.

LOCALS SIGN NEW PITCHER

Mullins and Little Released By Club; Engaging Serpents At Tarboro Today

Weather permitting, and lately that has proven to be a big obstacle, the Greenies will meet Snake Henry's league-leading Serpents at Tarboro today.

Local fans have been denied the privilege of seeing but few games recently because of rain and a large crowd is expected to witness the contest here between Tarboro and Greenville if fair weather prevails.

Both Skipper Joyner and Catcher Smith will be out of the lineup. Joyner probably will return to the roster the middle of next week and direct the team from the bench, but Smith will be out even longer with his injuries, according to officials.

Announcement was made by the management of the Greenville baseball club today that another right-handed pitcher has been signed. He is Hubert Price of Chicago, who has been with the New Bern club part of the season.

It also was announced that Lloyd Little, outfielder, who has been with the club only a few days, has been released. James A. Mullins, also has been playing second base. Korba is expected to take over the duties at second base with the return to the lineup of Thompson.

New batting strength has been added to the Greenies within the past few days. Birch Douglas, who came in Wednesday, has been showing up good and has put new life into the team. But this fellow Ralph Simpson is making a big splash at the bat. In Thursday's game against Goldsboro, the Massachusetts boy came through with a homer and single to account for two runs batted in. The two new players, Douglas and Simpson, incidentally, were the only Greenies to make more than one hit in the contest.

Through Thursday's games the Greenies were in a three-way tie for fourth place. Along with Williamston and Snow Hill the locals had won 15 and lost 16 games. All teams are fairly well bunched, however. The Greenies are only half game behind the third place Goldbugs of Goldsboro; two games behind the second place Kinston Eagles and four and a half games behind the pace-setting Tarboro Serpents.

Only six and a half games separate the Serpents and the bottom place Ayden Aces. New Bern, which along with Greenville held the top at the first of the season, is half a game ahead of Ayden. Only 214 percentage points separate Ayden and Tarboro.

Colored News

Canning Demonstration
 A canning demonstration was held at the Winterville colored graded school on June 3rd. In spite of the downpour of rain, several witnessed the demonstration. Garden peas, string beans, beets and carrots were demonstrated.

Prof. Roberts was present and had the building so clean and inviting until one not knowing would think that there is an all-time janitor about.

The meeting was very inspiring. All went away with new determination.

The agent made plans along with Prof. Roberts, to purchase a pressure cooker for the 4-H club at Winterville. It is thought by doing this it will encourage more canning among the families. The agent advises that you filled the pantry with canned vegetables, corn in tins, plenty of meat, a cow, chickens, and a year round garden, will certainly help to combat the depression should it come again. And too, this helps one to be self-reliant.

All 4-H club boys who are planning to attend the 4-H club camp at Chowan beach July 20-23, let me know at once.

D. D. DUPREE,
 Negro County Agent.

DIXIE HIGHLIGHTS

TREES USED FOR CANNON!
 SO REALISTIC WERE THE TREES PAINTED TO RESEMBLE CANNON AT FORT HUMBURG THAT THEY CAUSED AN ARMY TO RETREAT.

FORT HUMBURG, Confederate Memorial Park just east of Shreveport, Louisiana, has been justly named! Known as Fort Furbull during the War between the States, it was a colossal joke so far as defenses go and actually caused an advancing army to retreat! After the fall of Vicksburg, Shreveport was threatened by the Federals and the urgent need of fortifying the city became evident at once. To hide the woeful lack of artillery, the resourceful Southerners felled trees and so shaped and painted them, to resemble cannon, that the northern spies reported that Shreveport was well protected! Admiral Porter, who was advancing up Red River with a large fleet, did not dream that the so-called "cannon" were mostly "humbugs", and with General Banks decided to turn back. Thus Shreveport was saved to the Confederacy as a result of the gigantic hoax on the Federals which, even today, is regarded as a magnificent piece of military strategy.

At hatching, the tiny larval TADPOLE is still nourished by the yolk within its body! Gradually the tail grows, the mouth and nostrils open, gills develop on each side of the head, the eyes become visible and finally the legs appear. Most frogs change from the larva to adult stage during the first summer, but some spend the first winter as a tadpole and are a year old before they become fully developed frogs.

VOTING TODAY BY NEW HOURS

Legislative Act Provides for Voting from 7 to 7

Raleigh, June 4.—Voters today will have to get to the polls sometime between 7 a. m. and 7 p. m. in order to register their choices in the primaries.

That's the result of legislation in the 93rd General Assembly, which changed the old sunup to sundown rule.

Which reminds that this was the only thing done as the result of a much ballyhooed and widely heralded campaign to revise North Carolina's voting rules and regulations.

The State Board of Elections chairman—then Major L. P. Mendenon of Greensboro—recommended wholesale changes—tightened rules for absentee voting, a bona fide and brand new registration all over the state, restrictions on the practice of providing "markers" at the polls; a whole series of radical and wholesome reforms.

The state executive committee took practically all the teeth out of this program, and when the legislators got through stalling, the election reform mountain had given birth to a very, very tiny mouse in the form of a change in the voting hours at primaries.

All of which was a really raucous laugh to observers who had already smiled at the credulity of those who actually believed—and there were some just that naive—that a legislature of hardboiled politicians would do anything toward making control of elections a bit more difficult.

Of course all were not so callous and frank as the western House member who flatly declared in committee hearing: "If we abolish the absentee ballot or modify the present system in any effective way, it will mean that at least fifteen Republicans will come down to Raleigh next time in place of that many of us Democrats here now." Those may not have been his exact words, but that was the general tenor and effect of his remarks.

Twenty-five completed the work in the term just closed.

Mr. Polk is a leader in literary, historical and civic work in North Carolina.

He formerly served as president of the North Carolina Historical Society and vice-president of the State Art Society.

Though Mr. Polk is a busy attorney-at-law, and mayor of his town, he finds time to serve as director of the N. C. League of Municipalities, and as chairman of the Citizens' Library Movement.

In the latter capacity he has spoken in many parts of the state, having gone out of the state to address the past year, among other groups, a library convention at Miami, Florida, and one in Waco, Tex., and the American Library Association at its meeting in New York.

In the words of a recent newspaper article, "Mr. Polk has the distinction of being the only mayor in the United States who is both the mayor of a town and a writer of fiction."

After the commencement address President Meadows will present the diplomas to the graduates.

Piano Recital At College Presented

The piano recital held at the college last night as the opening event of the commencement season was attended by a good audience in spite of the inclement weather.

A number of the more advanced piano students presented numbers on the program and both the men's glass club and the women's chorus gave some selections. Among those appearing on the program were two piano students from Greenville—Mary Belle Robertson and J. N. Williams, and a third, Margaret Moore of Bethel, "was from Pitt county.

The music recital is an unusual event at commencement time.

The program was as follows: "Solfeggietto," by Carl Philipp Emanuel Bach—Margaret Moore of Bethel.

"Berceuse, Op. 3," by Spendiario—Mary Belle Robertson, Greenville.

"Gavotte" (from the English Suite in G Minor), by Bach; "Butterfly" (Papillon), by Grieg—J. N. Williams, Greenville.

"Adagio" (from Moonlight Sonata), by Beethoven—Xylda Cooper, Wallace.

"Night Shadows Falling" by F. F. Fleming; "The Heavens Resound," by Beethoven—Men's Glee Club.

"The Girl with Golden Hair," by Debussy; "Romance, Op. 24, No. 9," by Sibelius—Betsy Morris, Rocky Mount.

"Warum, Op. 12," by Schumann; "Impromptu in Ab," by Schubert—Christine Alford, Raleigh.

"The Prophet Bird, Op. 82," by Schumann; "The Flight of the Bumble Bee," by Rimsky-Korsakoff—Mary Evelyn Thompson, Princeton.

"A Snow Legend," by Joseph Clokey; "Oht Chat" (Old English Song) arranged by Moffat; "I Love Life," by Mana-Lucca—Women's Chorus.

Mrs. Charles Jenson, wife of the State Treasurer and trustee of the college, that they could not be present.

She also presented their former adviser, "Mr. Meadows," as she preferred to call him, who spoke in greeting.

He told of a wand hidden by a senior class in the early days of the college to be found if possible by the incoming seniors. That wand, he said, had been used by the graduates of this college as a magic wand to change North Carolina from what it was twenty-five years ago to what it is today. They and others like them have transformed the state, he said, and have done it through the magic wand of education.

Pointing out that there can be no good college without two things; students and teachers. Dr. Meadows declared that at East Carolina Teachers College the right kind of student makes the right kind of teacher.

He paid a tribute to former president Robert H. Wright and his influence in shaping the college, saying that he often wished for his counsel and advice.

He also announced the retirement of Miss Alice V. Wilson, of the Science Department, long a well known and loved figure on the campus, and spoke of the regret of the whole college at losing her from the active life of the institution.

In closing he pointed out the remarkable growth of the college in recent years and told of the urgent need now for further space in classrooms, dormitories and laboratories, a need which, he said the alumnae could help to meet.

The officers of the association were retained for another year. They are: Mrs. Luella Lancaster, Stancill, president; Wita Bond, vice-president; Augusta Woodward Marcum, secretary-treasurer.

The meeting was followed by a luncheon in the dining room of the college.

Tea growing establishments in Japan number 1,124,000 and cover an area of 100,000 acres. The Japanese tea crop in the last year amounted to 119,795,000 pounds, setting a new all-time record.

COL. FLANAGAN CLUB SPEAKER

Also Shows Moving Pictures Taken On Recent Trip

Colonel E. G. Flanagan, who recently returned from a trip to California, Hawaii and Mexico, told members and guests of the Greenville Kiwanis Club of interested incidents during the trip.

Col. Flanagan said Americans could take lessons from Hawaiians when it comes to greeting visitors. He described how visitors to the islands were greeted with music and the placing of leis around their necks.

One point of interest which attracted the Greenville business man was Diamond Shoals where the United States maintains strong fortifications.

Mr. Flanagan told of visits to many points of interest and beauty in the various islands.

While in California he witnessed first-hand results of devastating floods.

After leaving California, Col. Flanagan motored to Mexico, where he visited in the home of U. S. Ambassador Josephus Daniels.

Following his talk, Col. Flanagan showed moving pictures taken on the trip.

Rev. W. A. Ryan had charge of the program, but called on B. B. Sugg to introduce the speaker. Mr. Sugg recalled some of the public services rendered by Mr. Flanagan and said two years from now the public is going to demand that he be the next Governor of North Carolina.

Miss Helen Phelps, accompanied by Mrs. R. A. Tyson, sang "The Rosary," and "My Blue Heaven."

Besides those on the program, visitors included Kiwanian Vernon Sheffield of Norfolk, Va., Kiwanian M. K. Vickrey of Decatur, Ala., who is visiting D. Murray House, who also was a guest; Patrick Healey, Jr., executive secretary of the North Carolina League of Municipalities, and A. C. Tadlock.

NO DIVERSION THIS YEAR; BUT NEXT STILL UNCERTAIN

The next two years will be slightly less than $7,000,000 under the compromise adopted in Congress; while for the last two years the Federal appropriation was about $8,000,000. The Highway Commission is holding a sum much greater than the million dollar difference against the contingency of diversion made possible by the last year's "if and when" authorization to divert if all general fund money has been exhausted. If there is no diversion in either year of the biennium the commission will really have more money available than it had when the Federal aid was $8,000,000.

CITY WILL PICK UP DOGS AND CATS—BUT NOT NOISY CHILDREN

Pueblo, Colo.—(AP)—The city willingly will rid neighborhoods of noisy dogs and cats but when it comes to children, it's every man for himself, the city commission has ruled.

The decision was in response to a complaint against the "dogs, cats and kids" that kept a night watchman awake in the daytime.

The dog catcher was instructed to make a trip through the neighborhood but to confine himself to dog and cat catching only.

BUILDING BRIGHT SPOT ON OUTLOOK

encouraging and the number of houses being built is increasing weekly.

I do not claim that the new mortgage plan is perfect. But it does make the billions of credit lying idle in our banks available to good citizens for a sound purpose. Thousands of Americans with a little money in the bank should accept this opportunity to build. The only argument people now have in favor of continued renting is the uncertain outlook. Yet, an impartial analysis of today's conditions leads to only one conclusion: If business does not get better of its own accord, the Administration will be pushed either to repentance or to inflation. So, whichever way the cat jumps, the average man's money is just as safe in a FHA mortgaged home as in the bank, in insurance, or in bonds.

May Building Tops 1937

People throughout the country are gradually realizing the above fact. This is why home building in May was higher than in the same month of the previous year for the first time since last July. Costs are still high, however. During the last twelve months industrial wage scales have been shaved down and commodity prices have had a spectacular break. Building costs, however, are off less than 10 per cent. Labor's refusal to mark down pay scales is the major reason why costs have not fallen. Hourly wage rates of the building trades today are first cousins to blackmail. Moreover, the construction industry has suffered an untold loss in the past decade from labor racketeering.

The government, by paying the "going wage" on vast construction projects, has helped to support detrimental labor practices. In the FHA, the PWA, and other projects, Washington had a wonderful opportunity to break-up these harmful union policies. There are 34 separate building unions. The terrazzo workers, the window washers, the metal polishers, the ornamental iron workers, all have their own unions. These 34 unions are constantly rowing with each other, going out on strike, boosting wage rates in the middle of the project, artificially limiting their membership, and in general playing havoc with the industry.

Labor Not Wholly To Blame Labor, however, is not entirely to blame for high building costs. The wasteful and backward set-up of the whole industry is also a major obstacle. Failure to standardize building supplies, the terrific cost of distribution, the lack of large, efficient construction organizations—all these help to keep costs at sky-high levels. The industry is made-up of myriads of small four-or-five houses-a-year contractors. For this reason no real progress toward low cost, mass production has yet been made. In fact, the trend toward greater pre-fabrication of materials has actually been obstructed by labor. Hence, costs are relatively higher in the building industry than any other field today.

Pressure of idle capital, obsolescence and depreciation, growth of population, however, still determine the trend of home construction. Basic factors such as these rule all business in the long run. Right now America is on a starvation basis, not only in building but in all fields. Not enough is being produced to answer the simple wants of food and clothing. The nation is running on her stored-up reserves! Supplies of goods in hands of raw material producers, manufacturers, wholesalers, retailers, and consumers are being used up. Consumption is way ahead of production. Meanwhile the country is basically sound. Banks are in good shape. There is no danger of a financial collapse!

Another 1933 Ahead? Readers vividly remember what happened in 1933. Industry shut down tight. Millions were out of work. Wheat was quoted at the lowest level in 350 years. Securities were selling for a song. Suddenly psychology changed overnight. There was a wild scramble for goods. Stocks skyrocketed. "Help Wanted" signs were hung up everywhere. The same thing can happen in 1938. Basic conditions are now even better than in 1933. Credit reserves are today five times the 1933 level and huge crops are in prospect. Just as "easy" money and shortage of homes are already forcing a building pick-up, so shortages of goods will soon or later bring about another 1933 stampede in other lines!

Nine of 26 precincts in Carteret county gave Clark 625 and Paylor 196.

Pitt county citizens were forced to decide between two of its own numbers, Clark being a resident of Greenville and Paylor of Farmville.

SELECTED FOR PITT SHERIFF ANOTHER TERM

Four of Five Commissioners Lose To Opponents

FIFTH WITHOUT ANY OPPOSITION

James Wins Race for Judge, Corey State Senator, Perkins County Treasurer

Sheriff S. A. Whitehurst received an overwhelming vote of confidence at the hands of Pitt county citizens in Saturday's primary, when they gave the officer a majority in a field of four candidates and piled up big margins against members of the Board of County Commissioners who brought proceedings to oust him from office.

While the sheriff went into office with clear sailing, none of the commissioners who had opposition polled more votes than his opponent and as a result only David T. House, Jr., who was without opposition, will be on the board which takes office in December.

Regardless of the outcome of the buster hearing now under way against the sheriff, he will hold office for the next two years, beginning in December. Should he be ousted from office, the action will have no effect on the two-year term to which he was elected in Saturday's primary and which will begin in December.

Each of the commissioners suffered defeat by wide margins. Roy T. Cox had two opponents, Grover Smith and G. S. Porter, Smith was the low man. Porter was assured of the seat from the Fourth District without a second primary, gaining a majority of the votes cast.

Frank Kilpatrick also was up against two opponents and each out-voted him. W. O. Jolly, who (Continued on page six)

MAY ASK FOR 2ND PRIMARY

Worthington First, Moore Second, Tyson 3rd for House

William S. Tyson, who according to unofficial returns in yesterday's primary ran third in the five-way race for representative by only 17 votes, indicated early this morning he would ask for a second primary.

S. O. Worthington led the ticket trailed by John S. Moore, incumbent. Two seats in the House of Representatives are awarded to Pitt County.

"I feel that the race was so close that a second primary would be justified," declared Mr. Tyson.

Official figures will not be available before Wednesday and these may show a change from returns tabulated last night.

According to the unofficial returns, Worthington polled 4,253 in leading the ticket. Next in line was John S. Moore, incumbent, who garnered an even 3,600. Tyson followed with 3,583.

H. H. Duncan ran fourth, with 2,032 and Sam B. Underwood, Jr., was fifth with 1,286.

Striped Bags Are Smart Summer Accessories

This Summer Bag Of Striped Blue, Red and Beige Ribbon Is Designed To Brighten A Simple Costume.

By ADELAIDE KERR (AP Fashion Editor) Notes from a fashion scout's book: Striped ribbon bags are smart new accessories for summer clothes. Some of them are flat square pouches folding several times to envelope shape. Wide-brimmed black hats top some of the smartest costumes seen on Fifth Avenue. All white frocks worn with dairy accessories are hailed as a coming summer town fashion. Paris midseason fashion shows indicate the vogue for costume jewelry is still strong. Leading designers showed rigid jewel-spiked mid-arm bracelets and metal collarettes with simple dark frocks. Diadems of flowers rising on their stems make new evening coiffures. Reports from the fashion mart say a new hat velvet is coming to town this fall. Grape, mauve and violet tones are receiving increasing notice. Lilly Dache is making summer turbans of finest accented with bright flowers. Forest and field give inspiration for Schiaparelli's new midseason collection. Leaf and insect clips and wheat sheaf buttons are used as accents. Printed frocks topped by jackets or redingotes to match promise to be almost a town uniform for hot weather wear. Bandanna hats, combining wide crownless brims with bright kerchiefs tied around the head, are something different for beach wear. Embroideries made new in recent Paris fashion shows. Ostich tips trim some of the smartest summer hats.

Miss Lizzie Blow left this morning for Durham. Jesse Speight returned Friday evening from Tarboro. Miss Sallie Cotten of Scotlandale, is visiting Mrs. Myra Skinner at Hotel Macon.

Miss Janie Dalrymple, teacher of Mrs. Forbes' School, left this morning for her home in Jonesboro.

Full moon. The price of spring chickens is bigger than the fowl. There will be no service except Sunday school in any of the churches tomorrow.

The Register of Deeds issued only two marriage licenses this week, both for colored couples.

Move To End War. Washington, D. C., June 4.—The next move of the administration in prosecuting the war undoubtedly contemplates the destruction of the fortifications and Spanish fleet at Santiago. Sampson and Schley are to cooperate with insurgents. McKinley not only expects fighting but hopes that the war will be at an end with the capture of Santiago and Cervera. It is believed that the Spanish will then sue for peace.

Mrs. J. H. Randolph Hostess. On Friday afternoon Mrs. J. H. Randolph entertained the George B. Singletary chapter United Daughters of the Confederacy at the home of Mrs. E. B. Ferguson on Fourth street. The colors of the organization, red and white, were most beautifully carried out with red and white cut flowers and white candles. The hostess cheerily greeted the guests as they arrived, and the rain was forgotten as they were ushered into a spacious room of beauty and comfort.

Mrs. R. C. Deal, the president, presided. The officers' reports were gratifying. All outstanding obligations having been met. The chapter quota for the Davis monument at Montgomery, Alabama, was ordered sent. This being the birthday of Jefferson Davis, Miss Mary Agnes Deal, daughter of the president, read excerpts from an address on Davis delivered by Bishop Charles B. Galaway in 1908, and reprinted in the Confederate Veteran in 1925 by request. This was followed by open discussion which brought forth many sidelights and some humorous stories of this brilliant statesman.

Mrs. Nat Harrison was special guest for the afternoon and added much to the pleasure of the meeting.

A tempting salad plate with coffee was served, and each guest was presented a boutonniere of white carnations tied with red and white ribbons, thus climaxing one of the most enjoyable meetings the chapter ever had.—Reported.

Not To Encourage Visits To Mount Mitchell Peak

Reflector Bureau. Raleigh, June 4.—The State advertising division of the Department of Conservation and Development is, in general, boosting and encouraging visitors to see all of the state's scenic glories; but there is one exception to this policy, at least.

The department will not encourage visitors to travel to the very peak of Mount Mitchell, highest summit east of the Rockies, as long as two toll roads guard entrance to the state park at Mount Mitchell. This is made clear in a recent release from the office of Bill Sharpe of the division's News office.

The Blue Ridge Parkway, however, has been cut to within five or six miles of the peak, and a state spur highway which will liberate the playground has been assured. After a recent visit to the parks of the state, J. L. Horne, Jr., of Rocky Mount, a member of the Department of Conservation and Development and chairman of the advertising committee, declared emphatically that the state ought to discourage advertising of the Mt. Mitchell summit as long as the toll roads are operating.

According to the advertising division a system of state parks stretching from mountains to sea, and retaining remaining spots of unexplored beauty, is slowly building in North Carolina. Within two years the Department, it will be possible for Tar Heels to relax and even to spend their vacations in their own home-state parks.

Three major recreation projects were revealed in the "inventory" recently taken by board members—those of Mt. Mitchell, Hanging Rock and Morrow Mountain. Three other areas of smaller extent are owned by the state—Cape Hatteras, Fort Macon and Rende-would, all of these three of unusual historical interest.

By ETHEL NICE, H. D. A. Red Oak Flower Show. The last club flower show was held at Red Oak Wednesday afternoon. Judges were Mesdames E. W. Harvey, Dink James, Arthur Corey and J. W. Kirkpatrick. Blue ribbons went to Mrs. B. L. Tyson, Mrs. L. W. Edwards, Mrs. Ora Allen, Miss Mary Lee Glasgow, Mrs. W. T. Page, Mrs. J. J. Jenkins, Mrs. C. W. Bright, Mrs. W. S. May and Miss Ella May.

Flower Show

Last year the first club flower show was held. There were 699 exhibits from Farmville No. 1, Farmville No. 2, Pierce, Ballard's, Winterville, Red Oak, Littlefield, Red Banks, Stokes, Bethel, St. Johns, Falkland and Chocod. This year there have been 891 exhibits. The premium list consisted mainly of arrangements for various occasions both years, and ribbons were awarded. There was a big improvement in arrangements this year. One innovation this year has been a collection of plants mentioned in the Bible. The largest collection was exhibited by Miss Ella May of Red Oak. She had 38 specimens. Mrs. E. H. Boyd of Red Banks, had 27, and Mrs. S. B. Tucker of Red Banks, had 24. At Red Oak the classification was changed to "Biblical Plants." In all other clubs it was a collection of flowers, trees, and grasses of the Bible with references. This of course, permitted fruits and vegetables to be included.

Concrete Demonstration

Because of the weather, the concrete demonstration which was to have been at the home of George Haddock Friday morning, had to be cancelled.

SUB PROPOSAL ON WAGE-HOUR ACT REJECTED

Would Have Set 25 Cents Pay and 44 Hour Week

ALSO PROVIDED FOR COMMISSION

Chairman Norton Declares Labor Committee Not to Block Compromise Bill

Washington, June 4.—(AP)—House members of a joint committee on wage-hour legislation rejected today a proposal to set up a minimum wage of 25 cents and maximum hours of 44 a week for a period of two years.

The discarded plan provided for a commission to report to Congress in two years on the wage-hour question. Congress then could have enacted new legislation in line with the report.

The compromise was offered by Representative Hartley (R-N. J.), and supported by Representative Ramspeck (D-Go.). It was opposed by the other five House conferees. It was, therefore, submitted formally to the whole conference committee.

A Senate conferee said, however, it might be submitted again and stood a chance of adoption "as a final report" should the conference become deadlocked on the question of wage differentials.

Chairman Norton (D-N. J.) of the House Labor committee said she and her colleagues hope for adoption of a modified version of the House bill by the conference committee, but that they would not block a compromise.

She spoke just before attending the third successive session of Senators and Representatives trying to put the legislation in final shape.

Local Woman Dies Of Week's Illness

Mrs. Martha Alexander Armstrong, 77, died last night at 12 o'clock at the home of her daughter, Mrs. L. M. Wilson, 1309 Broad street. She had been in declining health for the past three years, but had been confined to her bed only a week.

Funeral services were conducted from the home this afternoon at 12:30 o'clock by Rev. F. Pittman, Free Will Baptist minister of Ayden, after which the funeral cortege proceeded to Creswell, N. C., where interment was made in the family burial ground there.

Mrs. Armstrong was born and reared in Columbia, Tyrrell county. Eight years ago she moved to Greenville and had made her home here since that time with her daughter. She was widow of the late Leonard Armstrong of Tyrrell county. Her membership was transferred to the local Free Will Baptist Church several years ago.

Besides her daughter, Mrs. L. M. Wilson, a brother survives, T. C. Alexander of Tarboro, and a grandson, C. O. Armstrong of Ayden.

Designate Church For Union Service

Beginning with this Sunday, the joint evening services will be conducted in the Presbyterian Church for the next three months.

Services begin at 8 o'clock and will be conducted in the Presbyterian Church during June, July and August. Beginning in September, they will be held in the Christian Church for three months.

Due to the fact that it will be difficult to know what ministers will be in town on the various Sundays, no series of speakers will be followed. It also was explained that visiting ministers are expected to occupy the pulpits on occasions throughout the summer.

Rev. C. H. Patrick, pastor of Emmanuel Baptist Church, where the union services have been conducted for the past three months, declared that he felt the services for the past three months "have been very successful in that the ministers followed an outline of subjects which portrayed the factors which went into the making of the Christian church."

Mrs. Holloman Head Of NCCW Alumnae

Greensboro, June 4.—(AP)—Mrs. Henry Holloman of High Square was today announced as president of the General Alumnae Association of the University of North Carolina. She succeeds Mrs. Gordan H. May of Danville, Va., retiring president.

N.C. REPORTS HEAVY VOTING

Indications Are For Record Heavy Vote Some Sections

Raleigh, June 4.—(AP)—North Carolina Democrats voted quietly and in unusually large numbers today in their biennial primary.

Indications of record votes were reported in Asheville, Burlington and Fayetteville, and in Winston-Salem and Rocky Mount the number casting ballots was said to be much heavier than usual.

Weather Man Lee Denson reported the weather was fair and warm throughout the state and indications were it would continue so the rest of the day.

Senator Robert Reynolds and four members of the state's congressional delegation faced opposition. The office of Utilities Commissioner, 10 Superior court judgeships, 11 district solicitorships, as well as hundreds of county and township offices were also at stake.

Having opposition for renomination in the congressional races were Representatives John Kerr of the second district; Graham Barden of the third; A. L. Bulwinkle of the tenth, and Zeb Weaver of the eleventh.

No clear-cut issue developed in the senatorial or congressional races. Running against Senator Reynolds is Representative Frank Hancock, Jr., of Oxford.

County Court Set For Next Tuesday

Judge Dink James of Pitt County court declared today that a session would be "held some place" Tuesday, adding that the hearings probably would be conducted in the grand jury room.

Judge James recalled that all cases had been made returnable for Tuesday, June 7, and therefore it was necessary to hold a session.

The sheriff's hearing will be in progress in the court room. If it is decided the grand jury room is not large enough, the County court session probably will be held in the armory. Judge James said, however, if no further announcement was made, court would be conducted in the grand jury room.

Allocate WPA Funds For Eight Projects

Raleigh, June 4.—(AP)—State WPA administrator George Coan, Jr., today allocated $325,884.95 for eight projects employing 891 workers. The list included $239,423 for a state-wide project using 649 professional educational and clerical workers to supervise and coordinate recreational activities.

Other projects included Wayne county, $16,773 for a permanent agricultural building; 32 workers; Craven county, $1,658 for improving a graded school building 10 workers.

Franklin County Man Killed By Oil Truck

Henderson, June 4.—(AP)—Haywood Pace, 33, of Franklin county, was killed last night when struck by an oil truck as he walked along the highway near Kittrell. Officers said a man who gave his name as J. O. Knowles of Raleigh was held under $500 bond as driver of the truck pending an inquest tomorrow.

Gradual elimination of the running board of motor cars and increased use of pressed steel bodies and chassis frames are recent developments in the British automobile industry.

BUILDING BRIGHT SPOT ON OUTLOOK Babson Says Washington Will Repent or Inflation

New York, June 4.—New York is still terribly blue. Friends here point out that business is now at its lowest level for any June since 1932. Moreover, with that exception it is the worst since 1921, particularly for the motors and rails. I, however, point out to my friends that this is a coincidence and applies only to the months of June. Taking the first six months of 1938 as a whole we find them materially better than 1932, 1933 or 1934. In fact, if business had gradually risen from March 1933, up to its present level, we all should be happy. It was the boom in 1936-37 and the rapid drop of the past six months which have discouraged everyone.

I do not claim that the new mortgage plan is perfect. But it does make the billions of credit lying idle in our banks available to good citizens for a sound purpose. Thousands of Americans with a little money in the bank should accept this opportunity to build. The only argument people now have in favor of continued renting is the uncertain outlook. Yet an impartial analysis of today's conditions leads to one conclusion: If business does not get better of its own accord, the Administration will be pushed either to repentance or to inflation. So, whichever way the cat jumps, the average man's money is just as safe in a FHA mortgaged home as in the bank, in insurance, or in bonds.

Prospects for the return of good times have long centered on the mammoth building industry. Building swings up and down in cycles just as does business. But both cycles do not always coincide. For instance, home building hit its all-time top in 1926 and declined steadily from then until 1934. In 1926, however, business was only beginning its long climb to the 1929 New Era peak. Now the tide of both is running in. The synchronizing of the building and business cycles for the first time in many years may give us a prosperity peak never seen before in America!

FHA Mortgages Big Aid
The immediate business outlook is brightened by the fact that home building has been able to buck the trend of the recession. Not even unreasonable labor costs, bad business and fear of the future have prevented home construction from making progress. The new government mortgage plan, adopted by Congress last winter, is a strong stimulant. Many up-and-coming banks, building and loan associations, and the like have snapped up the government's attractive offer and have cooperated wholeheartedly. The results so far have been very encouraging and the number of houses being built is increasing weekly.

People throughout the country are gradually realizing the above fact. This is why home building in May was higher than in the same month of the previous year for the first time since last July. Costs are still high, however. During the last twelve months industrial wage scales have been shaved down and commodity prices have had a spectacular break. Building costs, however, are off less than 10 per cent. Labor's refusal to mark down pay scales is the major reason why costs have not fallen. Hourly wage rates of the building trades today are first

No accidents involving school children were reported for at least 120 days after 69 of these novel signs—which, the school pupils like—were set in place.

VOTES TO GIVE BROAD POWERS TO PRESIDENT

Senate passes $3,723,000,000 Spending-Lending Bill

GIVES PRESIDENT FULL AUTHORITY

Barkley Expresses Opinion On Floor Congress Will Adjourn Next Week

Washington, June 4.—(AP)—The Senate voted six-to-one for a $3,723,000,000 spending-lending program last midnight—and handed the Roosevelt administration the purse strings. The 70 Senators who remained for the finish of the two weeks' battle over the bill divided 60 to 10 for the measure. Seven Republicans and three Democrats lined up against it.

Before the final vote opponents of the program were completely routed. They lost every attempt to write restrictions into the bill. As passed, it would give President Roosevelt an entirely free hand in the distribution of the huge appropriation. Upon passage of the bill, Senator Barkley (D-Ky.) told his wary listeners Congress probably would adjourn next week-end after sending the relief measure and a pending wage-hour bill to the White House.

The spending-lending program now goes to a joint senate-house conference committee. Farmers, with the possible exception of winter wheat growers, will not receive until next year any of the $212,000,000 for farm benefits voted by the senate in the lending spending bill, meanwhile, Senator Russell (D-Ga.) who sponsored the farm benefit amendment said it was possible, though unlikely, that "not a dime of the funds will actually be paid."

He explained whether any of the money is paid out depends on the relation of the average prices received by growers of cotton, wheat, corn, tobacco and rice to the "parity" prices of these commodities in the first five months of their respective marketing season.

Moreover, the construction industry has suffered an untold loss in the past decade from labor racketeering. The government, by paying the "going wage" on vast construction projects, has helped to support detrimental labor practices. In the FHA, the PWA, and other projects, Washington had a wonderful opportunity to break-up these harmful union policies. There are 34 separate building unions. The terrazzo workers, the window washers, the metal polishers, the ornamental iron workers, all have their own unions. These 34 unions are constantly rowing with each other, going out on strike, boosting wage rates in the middle of the project, artificially limiting their membership, and in general playing havoc with the industry.

Labor Not Wholly To Blame
Labor, however, is not entirely to blame for high building costs. The wasteful and backward set-up of the whole industry is also a major obstacle. Failure to standardize building supplies, the terrific cost of distribution, the lack of large, efficient construction organizations—all these help to keep costs at sky-high levels. The industry is made-up of myriads of small four-or-five houses-a-year contractors. For this reason no real progress toward cost mass production has yet been made. In fact, the trend toward greater pre-fabrication of materials has actually been obstructed by labor. Hence, costs are relatively higher in the building industry than any other field today.

Pressure of idle capital, obsolescence and depreciation, growth of population, however, still determine the trend of home construction. Basic factors such as these rule all business in the long run. Right now America is on a starvation basis, not only in building but in all fields. Not enough is being produced to answer the simple wants of food and clothing. The nation is running on her stored-up reserves! Supplies of goods in hands of raw material producers, manufacturers, wholesalers, retailers, and consumers are being used up. Consumption is way ahead of production. Meanwhile the country is basically sound. Banks are in good shape. There is no danger of a financial collapse!

Another 1933 Ahead?
Readers vividly remember what happened in 1933. Industry shut down tight. Millions were out of work. Wheat was quoted at the lowest level in 350 years. Securities were selling for a song. Suddenly psychology changed overnight. There was a wild scramble for goods. Stocks skyrocketed. "Help Wanted" signs were hung up everywhere. The same thing can happen in 1938. Basic conditions are now even better than in 1933. Credit reserves are today five times the 1933 level and huge crops are in prospect. Just as "easy" money and shortage of homes are already forcing a building pickup, so shortages of goods will sooner or later bring about another 1933 stampede in other lines!

ALUMNAE MEET HELD AT ECTC

Graduating Exercises To Be Held Monday Morning

Reunions Of Honor Classes Feature Annual Session

The reunions of the honor classes of East Carolina Teachers College, class of 1937, class of 1928, and the "Silver Jubilee" class of 1913, featured the meeting of the Alumnae Association of the college this morning.

The twenty-five year class was represented by eleven members who came together from various parts of the state for the occasion. Mrs. Mary Newby White Bradshaw, Raleigh, represented her class on the program in the unavoidable absence of their president.

This class, of which President Meadows was adviser 25 years ago, will have their reunion at his home this afternoon and be entertained at supper there. Many from the other two honor classes were also present, though the exact number was unable to be ascertained.

Miss Ruth Cagle spoke for the four-year class of 1937. Mrs. Gladys Jones Hanes spoke of her gratitude to her class, 1928, for the good training it had given her as president. The representative of one of the classes of 1928 referred to the many people missing now from the campus, naming especially "our beloved friend and president, Dr. Robert H. Wright" and "our dear Mr. Austin." She expressed the pleasure of the class over the accession of Dr. Meadows to the presidency and the remarkable progress of the college under him.

Mrs. Bradshaw brought greetings from the president of the class of 1913 and regrets from both her and Mrs. Charles Jonson, wife of the State Treasurer and trustee of the college, that they could not be present.

She also presented their former adviser, "Mr. Meadows," as she preferred to call him, who spoke in greeting.

He told of a wand hidden by a senior class in the early days of the college to be found if possible by the incoming seniors. That wand, he said, had been used by the graduates of this college as a magic wand to change North Carolina from what it is today. They and others like them have transformed the state, he said, and have done it through the magic wand of education.

Pointing out that there can be no good college without two things, students and teachers, Dr. Meadows declared that at East Carolina Teachers College the right kind of student makes the right kind of teacher.

He paid a tribute to former president Robert H. Wright and his influence in shaping the college, saying that he often wished for his counsel and advice. He also announced the retirement of Miss Alice V. Wilson, of the Science Department, long a well known and loved figure on the campus, and spoke of the regret of the whole college at losing her from the active life of the institution.

In closing he pointed out the remarkable growth of the college in recent years and told of the urgent need now for further space in classrooms, dormitories and laboratories, a need which, he said, the alumnae could help to meet.

The officers of the association were retained for another year. They are: Mrs. Luella Lancaster Stancil, president; Wilita Bond, vice-president; Augusta Woodward Marcum, secretary-treasurer.

The meeting was followed by a luncheon in the dining room of the college.

These reports said a Japanese flying column had captured a point 20 miles south of Kaifeng and 40 miles east of the Peiping-Hankow line.

Another Japanese column was attacking 15 miles southeast of Kaifeng.

Heavy fighting continued between the Lunghai railway and the Yellow river northwest of Lanfeng. Japanese reported Chinese troops were beginning to withdraw from the Lanfeng area to prepare for a "showdown" battle at Chengchow.

Report Further Gains on Kaifeng, Changchow in Drive to City of Hankow

Shanghai, June 4.—(AP)—Six large Chinese junks armored with steel plate today attacked a Japanese patrol vessel off the South China coast in what a Japanese naval spokesman called "extension of guerrilla activities to the sea."

The attack, which took place off a point southeast of Canton was repulsed with the aid of naval aircraft, the spokesman said, three of the junks being set afire and sent to the bottom of the sea and another being disabled. Two escaped.

Meanwhile, Japanese advances from reported further success in the Japanese drive on Kaifeng and

Dr. Samuel McPheters Glasgow, pastor of the Independent Presbyterian Church, Savannah, Ga., and the Honorable William T. Polk, mayor of Warrenton and writer, will be the two speakers of the commencement season at East Carolina Teachers College, which began last night with a music recital and will close Monday with the conferring of degrees.

Dr. Glasgow will deliver the commencement sermon at the college on Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. He will be introduced by President Leon R. Meadows.

Dr. Glasgow is a native of Lexington, Va., and formerly taught in Fredericksburg College of that state. Before going to Savannah, he was pastor of a Presbyterian church in Louisville, Ky.

He is known as a speaker who makes a special appeal to young people, having on many occasions served as instructor in the Presbyterian Young People's Conferences held annually at Davidson College.

The Rev. R. C. Grady, pastor of the local Presbyterian Church, will deliver the invocation.

Dr. Glasgow will also make a brief talk at the commencement vesper of the college Y.W.C.A. at 7 o'clock Sunday evening, the annual candle-lighting service of the Y.W. presided over by the retiring president, Miss Elizabeth Copeland, Aoshkie, and the new president, Miss Marie Dawson, Alliance.

The Rev. W. A. Ryan, pastor of the Greenville Christian Church, will deliver the invocation. Mr. Polk will deliver Monday, June 6, at 10:30 a. m.

Around one hundred and fifty seniors will be granted their A. B. degrees by the college at this time, 13 of them being students who completed their work in December, and 19 in March. Over a hundred and twenty-five completed the work in the term just closed.

Mr. Polk is a leader in literary, historical and civic work in North Carolina.

He formerly served as president of the North Carolina Historical Society and vice-president of the State Art Society.

Though Mr. Polk is a busy attorney-at-law, and mayor of his town, he finds time to serve as director of the N. C. League of Municipalities, and as chairman of the Citizens' Library Movement.

In the latter capacity he has spoken in many parts of the country, having gone out of the state to address the past year, among other groups, a library convention at Miami, Florida, and one in Waco, Tex., and the American Library Association at its meeting in New York.

In the words of a recent newspaper article, "Mr. Polk has the distinction of being the only mayor in the United States who is both the mayor of a town and a writer of fiction."

After the commencement address President Meadows will present the diplomas to the graduates.

Dismiss Appeal Of Inland Steel Corp.

Chicago, June 4.—(AP)—The U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals dismissed today the petition of the Inland Steel company for a review of the recent order of the NLRB directing the company to cease unfair labor practices.

The review court upheld the board's motion to dismiss the case on the ground that the labor board had withdrawn its own order in the meantime.

Inland, one of the companies involved in the strike against "Little Steel" last summer was the first employer ordered by the board to sign a contract covering any collective bargaining agreement reached with labor.

Young Man Victim Of Auto Accident

Salisbury, June 4.—(AP)—Fred Clement, 26, an employee of the North Carolina Finishing Company at Yadkin, near here, for the past 10 years, died at a local hospital early this morning of injuries received in an automobile accident at Spencer some hours earlier.

The car he was driving went out of control on a curve and struck a telephone pole. Clement suffered a fractured skull and other injuries. He is survived by his widow and a child.

Low Flying Rebel Planes Drop Bombs On Barcelona

Barcelona, Spain, June 4.—(AP)—Four war planes, visible from the streets of this provisional government capital, bombed Barcelona at 1:20 p. m. today—the second attack since midnight.

Spectators saw the planes circle around Barcelona amid the roar of anti-aircraft guns.

One of the planes vanished during the raid. The anti-aircraft gunners fired for about 15 minutes before the attackers withdrew.

Five persons were killed and four wounded. No casualties were reported from the first attack. Madrid, meanwhile, said two Italian pilots who mistook the government airfield at Guadalajara for an insurgent base were reported to have been captured with their Italian-made pursuit planes.

The chief of staff for government forces announced the two airmen, a lieutenant and a sergeant, sighted the Guadalajara field about 30 miles northeast of Madrid. They were nearly out of gas, it was said, and believing themselves over-Insurgent territory, they landed.

Elsewhere, Hendaye, France, reports said the insurgent drive toward Valencia, which has been encountering stubborn resistance the past few days, was virtually halted by government militiamen.

The full force of General Franco's war machine has been pounding ceaselessly since Thursday on three sections of the eastern front, with only slight gains, and border advances indicated a tremendous loss of lives.

Washington—From an examination of the speeches of Senator Pat Harrison and President Roosevelt it is fairly evident they are not exceedingly far apart on the principles, but they are a long way from harmony on what to do right now to meet the recession-depression.

Speaking before 13 high school seniors at Arthurdale, W. Va., the President said the new tax bill was designed in many respects to hit the little fellow and his little corporation about as hard as it hit the big fellow.

The question is, did Senator Harrison catch the President a bit off base with that one, particularly since Mr. Roosevelt sought to illustrate it with the capital gains tax?

Under the new tax bill, says the President, a little fellow sells some stocks and perhaps real estate. He makes a profit of $5,000 on the deal. That is income and he must pay 15 per cent under the bill.

Not so, says Harrison next day in the Senate. The big boy not only has to pay the 15 per cent but his half million profit reaches high into the upper bracket where the income and surtax take off big humks.

But when President Roosevelt in effect appealed to Congress and the American people to override the tax bill next year Harrison came right back with the suggestion that he should have liked the President to test out the issue before the present Congress.

The whole thing goes back to Senator Huey Long and his "share the wealth" clubs. In 1935 the clubs were making headway. In the fall of that year Long was assassinated.

Blaming The Tax In presenting the bill the President and certain treasury experts declared that corporations had hoarded over four billion dollars of earnings which should have been paid out in dividends to big and little shareholders.

Right away both little and big corporations flocked to Congress to protest it was "penalizing thrift" to tax a company on money it put away for a rainy day. Last summer, with the tax only a few months old, the recession set in and the tax got its share of blame.

The complexion of the next Congress will determine whether Pat Harrison or the President wins on this issue.

SHORT SHOTS

By HENRY AVERILL

Raleigh, June 4—Paul D. Grady of Menay should forthwith and immediately become a member of Edgar Hoover's famous force of G-men. He has just shown himself to be the greatest sleuth in history, by making a startling discovery which has escaped the eyes and ears of every political commentator in North Carolina.

This remarkable discovery, beside which Charlie Columbus' little trick of landing America pales into utter insignificance, is that Tar Heel voters are "aroused."

Said he in a speech in Wilson: "..... Power companies who are now feverishly working to rescue him from certain defeat at the hands of an aroused electorate."

Wherefore orchids, accolades and laurels to Mr. Grady as the keenest sighted man in North Carolina, for everybody else seems to be of the opinion that if North Carolina voters are "aroused" by anything connected with the primary now in progress, then Rip Van Winkle was the champion insomnia victim of history.

"This has been the hardest campaign on candidates I have ever seen," said Libby Ward the other day in a casual conversation with this correspondent.

He pointed out that the fellows seeking political preferment have been forced to do all the work themselves, they have no public interest or excitement to help them out.

House to house canvasses, even of such large areas as Congressional Districts have been necessary to find out anything about what the voters are thinking.

For instance, if you as Joe Doakes how he's going to vote on a certain office, he'll probably tell you" said Libby, "but he doesn't."

Reports Division of Epidemiology reports indicate that the measles epidemic which has been sweeping the state is beginning to abate.

Not longer than a month ago more than 2,000 cases were being reported weekly.

The drop is probably due to the fact that schools have been ended in most counties and, naturally, there isn't the same chance for spread of the disease.

The Ninth Annual Statewide Safety Conference—billed as the "South's Oldest Statewide Safety Conference"—will be held in Asheville on Friday and Saturday, June 10 and 11, according to the program recently issued.

The conference was organized in 1930 by the North Carolina Industrial Commission.

Commissioner of Revenue A. J. Maxwell and Superintendent of Public Instruction Clyde A. Erwin are among the high ranking state officials slated to speak.

This Advertising Division of the Department of Conservation and Development stays right on the job and is getting out plenty of releases heralding the advantages of the Old North State.

That no section is slighted is shown by a recent batch of "travel shorts" sent out by the division. Twelve different "date lines" appear on the first thirteen items.

There are shorts from Manteo, Winston-Salem, Buxton, Mann's Harbor, Southport, Wilmington, Newland, Blowing Rock, Banner Elk, Sparta, Linville and Boone.

'Boss' Hague Of Jersey City Assailed As 'American Dictator'

1. FRANK HAGUE, Democratic big wig (he's a vice-chairman of the national committee) is Mayor of Jersey City. He's also a "friend of the poor," his cohorts say, and "a little Hitler," according to his foes. He usually wears a poker-face, but gets expressive (see above) assailing "reds." Last fall he announced his opposition to a CIO organization drive in Jersey City. Storm center at present is an eight-year-old ordinance prohibiting open-air meetings without a permit. Sixty-two, six feet tall, Hague doesn't drink or smoke, won't touch coffee or tea.

2. PLAYING TRANT was a favorite activity of young Hague, who likes to refer to his rise from "bad boy to mayor." He was born in Jersey City's poorest district on January 17, 1876, one of eight children. Recently he proclaimed: "I am the law."

3. AS SERGEANT - AT - ARMS in the state assembly, Mayor Hague gained his first practical insight into politics. Then he became city hall custodian at $2,000 a year. He was elected city commissioner and director of public safety, 1913; mayor in 1917.

4. FOR FRIEND AL, with whom he posed in 1932, he organized the Smith forces in the east in the campaign of 1932 and was his floor manager at the 1932 convention which nominated Franklin Delano Roosevelt. Afterward Hague threw his support to Roosevelt.

5. A SPORTS FAN, Hague goes to Florida to golf, seldom misses a big prize fight or baseball game. His foes often ask how he is able, on an $8,000-a-year salary, to maintain a winter apartment in Jersey City and a luxurious summer home in fashionable Deal, New Jersey.

6. HIT IN THE FACE, this man is being led away from Journal Square by Jersey City police. He had gone there to hear two U. S. Representatives speak against the methods of Hague—even though denied a permit. Advised there might be bloodshed, they stayed away.

7. ANTI-COMMUNIST BANNERS like these get a prominent place at pro-Hague meetings and parades. Opponents charge that the mayor is trying to prevent free speech. He answers that he's trying to keep the "reds" from invading Jersey City.

Unarmed Canada Counts On Aid From U.S. If An Aggressor Threatens The Dominion

(One of a Series of Stories) By ALEXANDER R. GEORGE (AP Feature Service Writer)

Washington—Citizens of our "good neighbor" Canada used to feel pretty safe because they seemed isolated from potential enemy countries. Now they are becoming invasion-conscious as war alarms reverberate around the world.

With Mother Britain arming to the teeth in the face of European tension, members of the Canadian parliament are urging a strengthening of home defenses. Reports hint of "mysterious" movements of heavy guns from one coast to another.

Canada's remoteness from expansion-hungry powers and her cordial relations with next-door United States have made a large peace time military establishment seem unnecessary. Moreover, Canadians have counted on British warships to hold off a possible invasion of their eastern coast.

Look To U. S. Might But probably the most comforting antidote for Dominion fears has been the belief that "the strong right arm of Uncle Sam" would be lifted against an aggressor who carried the fight to the Canadians' home grounds. Defense Minister Jan MacKenzie said recently:

"Just as the British navy on the Atlantic is our greatest security in that quarter so I think it might be reasonable to assume that in a major conflagration we should have friendly fleets upon the Pacific ocean."

Canadian hopes for U. S. aid in a pinch are based roughly on: 1. The Monroe Doctrine under which the United States views as an unfriendly act any attempt by a European or Asiatic nation to deprive an American state or territory of the right of self-government.

Outside of the general assurances of the Monroe Doctrine, this country is not committed to the military protection of Canada. So, in the romantic drama "King of the Newsboys," (Family). Also "Script Girl," novelty, "This Changing World," special.

OCTAGON HOUSE BY PHOEBE ATWOOD TAYLOR

The Story So Far: Asey Mayo, Cape Cod detective, is investigating yesterday's murder of Marina Lorne, whose husband's post office murder has puzzled Quonomet. She was killed by a left handed blow from her sister's knife and Pam Frye is suspected. Pam Frye appears after hiding $50,000 worth of ambergris. Asey learns that Marina's marriage to Jack Lorne was a fraud because she was already married to Tim Carr, boarder at the Fyete Octagon House. She also played around with Roddy Strutt, whose plane crashed conveniently the night of the murder. Before the eyes of Asey, Jack, and Peggy Boone, an artist, the hero burns down. Retiring, the hero was set by someone who wanted to discover the location of the ambergris. Asey prods around the woods. He finds Tim knocked out, and then Tim finds Asey knocked out. Pam's father is missing.

Chapter 28 Messages "I DON'T like this," Tim said. "To me this smells of foul play. What do you think?"

"We'll go back to the house," Asey said. "Most likely Asey Frye is there, safe and sound. If he ain't here, he must be there. It's my idea that the troopers followed you two, and probably they secured Asey back. Look, while we're on the topic of foul play, what was you hunting so hard in this Lorne house, an' roundabout? An' why did I get told so much folderol last night?"

"A little bird," Tim did his best to maintain his flippant tone, "tells me you already know you don't know you. Timothy's Error, or The Blighted Life. Who found the marriage lines and that pretty note, you or Hanson?"

"Lorne." "Poor Gran," Timothy said. "It may sound like Galahad, or that man with that hair shirt, but I'd hoped it wouldn't happen, for her sake. That's why you got that yarn. There was a chance the stuff wouldn't turn up, I hoped I'd find it first. But if Lorne found it, well—that's that. We didn't discover until the clambake that Marina was Frye's daughter, living virtually next door. We left the movies early and drove around, wondering what to do. Then we came back and found she'd been killed. I don't know where we drove. No one can alibi us. I'm left handed. If Marina happened to hang onto some letters I wrote her—well, I'm as good as electrocuted right now."

"Lorne burned your letters." "He did?" "Look," said Asey. "Did you or your grandmother kill Marina?" "On my word of honor," Timothy said, "I didn't, and she didn't." Asey nodded.

"You don't mean that you believe me, do you?" Tim sounded incredulous. "Yup," Asey said. "For one thing, I don't think you're the sort of person who'd swipe Pam's knife to do your murderin' with. An' for another thing, you're n.c. the person who bit me, the one I played hide an' seek with. An' I don't think you'd be so dumb. So—" "You feel that our pal the biffer," Tim said, "is the murderer?"

"If he ain't," Asey said grimly, "then this little game has got more complications than I like to consider. Lorne," he added as they came to the clearing behind the ruins of the barn, "has your two papers, but I shouldn't ask him for 'em for a while. I'd wait—" "The barn!" Tim said. "My God, where'd it go?"

"Bad mans," Asey told him with a chuckle. "Burney-burn, zzzt, like that." "Did, did he?" Tim said. "The soundlessly pyromanic. Demolishing a relic like that! Thank heaven, I took pictures of it the minute I came. That's something. It's the first octagonal barn I've actually seen—you know, octagonal barns were very sensible thoughts, Asey. You could drive your wagon in, and turn around. Didn't have to back. Asey, where is Pam?"

Asey shrugged. "Squirt Of A Match FOR obvious reasons," Tim said, "I've been scouted on all females except Gran, to some time. But I liked Pam, I think she's a pretty swell girl. In fact, I'd go so far as to say that she interests me vastly, and I'm worried about her."

"Pam," Asey began, "can take care—"

"Of herself?" Tim interrupted. "Yes, I know. Gran's been singing that refrain at intervals all day long. But you and I got smacked down, didn't we? And just suppose, Comrade Mayo, that Pam can't take care of herself. Suppose she can't, and you don't find it out until later. Or too late. Shan't you feel just a wee bit silly?"

"Uh-huh," Asey said assently. "I should. But I'm bettin' my money on Pam." "You seem strangely convinced." "I am," Asey told him. And he was.

Greenies To Meet Tarboro At Local Park Sunday, P. M.

LOCALS SIGN NEW PITCHER

Mullins and Little Released By Club; Engaging Serpents At Tarboro Today

Weather permitting, and lately that has proven to be a big obstacle, the Greenies will meet Snake Henry's league-leading Serpents at Tarboro today.

Local fans have been denied the privilege of seeing but few games recently because of rain and a large crowd is expected to witness the contest here between Tarboro and Greenville if fair-weather prevails.

Both Skipper Joyner and Catcher Smith will be out of the lineup. Joyner probably will return to the roster the middle of next week and direct the team from the bench, but Smith will be out even longer with his injuries, according to officials.

Announcement was made by the management of the Greenville baseball club today that another right-handed pitcher has been signed. He is Hubert Price of Goldsboro, who has been with the New Bern club part of the season.

It also was announced that Lloyd Little, outfielder, who has been with the club only a few days, has been released. James A. Mullins, also has been playing second base. Korba is expected to take over the duties at second base with the return to the lineup of Thompson.

New batting strength has been added to the Greenies within the past few days. Birch Douglas, who came in Wednesday, has been showing up good and has put new life into the team. But this fellow Ralph Simpson is making a big splash at the bat. In Thursday's game against Goldsboro, the Massachusetts boy came through with a homer and single to account for two runs batted in. The two new players, Douglas and Simpson, incidentally, were the only Greenies to make more than one hit in the contest.

Through Thursday's games the Greenies were in a three-way tie for fourth place. Along with Williamston and Snow Hill the locals had won 15 and lost 16 games. All teams are fairly well bunched, however. The Greenies are only half game behind the third place Goldbugs of Goldsboro; two games behind the second place Kingston Eagles and four and a half games behind the pace-setting Tarboro Serpents.

Only six and a half games separate the Serpents and the bottom place Ayden Aces. New Bern, which along with Greenville held the top at the first of the season, is half a game ahead of Ayden. Only 214 percentage points separate Ayden and Tarboro.

A canning demonstration was held at the Winterville colored graded school on June 3rd. In spite of the downpour of rain, several witnessed the demonstration. Garden peas, string beans, beets and carrots were demonstrated.

Prof. Roberts was present and had the building so clean and inviting until one not knowing would think that there is an all-time janitor about.

The meeting was very inspiring. All went away with new determination.

The agent made plans along with Prof. Roberts, to purchase a pressure cooker for the 4-H club at Winterville. It is thought by doing this it will encourage more canning among the families. The agent advises that you filled the parity with canned vegetables, corn, in barn, plenty of meat, a cow, chickens, and a year round garden, will certainly help to combat the depression should it come again. And, too, this helps one to be self-reliant.

All 4-H club boys who are planning to attend the 4-H club camp at Chowan beach July 20-23, let me know at once.

D. D. DUBRENE,
Negro County Agent.

DIXIE HIGHLIGHTS

FORT HUMBURG, Confederate Memorial Park just east of Shreveport, Louisiana, has been justly named! Known as Fort Turnbull during the War between the States, it was a colossal joke so far as defenses go and actually caused an advancing army to retreat! After the fall of Vicksburg, Shreveport was threatened by the Federals and the urgent need of fortifying the city became evident at once. To hide the woeful lack of artillery, the resourceful Southerners felled trees and so shaped and painted them, to resemble cannon, that the northern spies reported that Shreveport was well protected! Admiral Porter, who was advancing up Red River with a large fleet, did not dream that the so-called "cannon" were mostly "humbugs", and with General Banks decided to turn back. Thus Shreveport was saved to the Confederacy as a result of the gigantic hoax on the Federals which, even today, is regarded as a magnificent piece of military strategy.

At hatching, the tiny larval TADPOLE is still nourished by the yolk within its body! Gradually the tail grows, the mouth and nostrils open, gills develop on each side of the head, the eyes become visible and finally the legs appear. Most frogs change from the larva to adult stage during the first summer, but some spend the first winter as a tadpole and are a year old before they become fully developed frogs.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, June 4.—(AP)—Led by industrials, the stock market rallied today fractions to more than two points.

Although dealings were relatively quiet on the comeback, the pace was much faster than in yesterday's slowest session in nearly four years. Transfers approximated 300,000 shares.

Corporation bonds did their bit in the reversal of the general trend.

Piano Recital At College Presented

The piano recital held at the college last night as the opening event of the commencement season was attended by a good audience in spite of the inclement weather. A number of the more advanced piano students presented numbers on the program and both the men's glass club and the women's chorus gave some selections. Among those appearing on the program were two piano students from Greenville, Mary Belle Robertson and J. N. Williams, and a third, Margaret Moore of Bethel, was from Pitt county.

The music recital is an unusual event at commencement time. The program was as follows: "Solfeggietto," by Carl Philipp Emanuel Bach—Margaret Moore of Bethel. "Berceuse, Op. 3," by Spendiario—Mary Belle Robertson, Greenville. "Gavotte" (from the English Suite in G Minor), by Bach; "Butterfly" (Papillon), by Grieg—J. N. Williams, Greenville. "Adagio" (from Moonlight Sonata) by Beethoven—Kydia Cooper, Wallace.

"Night Shadows Falling" by F. F. Fleming; "The Heavens Resound," by Beethoven—Men's Glee Club. "The Girl with Golden Hair," by Debussy; "Romance, Op. 24, No. 9," by Sibelius—Betsy Morris, Rocky Mount. "Warum, Op. 12," by Schumann; "Impromptu in Ab," by Schubert—Christine Albord, Raleigh. "The Prophet Bird, Op. 82," by Schumann; "The Flight of the Bumble Bee," by Rimsky-Korsakoff—Mary Evelyn Thompson, Princeton. "A Snow Legend," by Joseph Clokey; "Chit Chat" (Old English Song) arranged by Moffat; "I Love Life," by Mana-Lucca—Women's Chorus.

polled 3,975, led the ticket in the district and polled majority, assuring him of the post. J. Noah Williams, candidate for commissioner from the First District, led the entire ticket, polling 6,327 votes. His opponent and incumbent, Water Cherry, was given 2,178.

Arthur B. Corey scored a 4,135 to 3,968 victory for State Senator over J. Con Lanier. J. Vance Perkins also had little to spare in his victory over Amos O. Clark for the office of county treasurer. Perkins, incumbent, polled 4,326, while Clark secured 3,909.

Dink James won a clear majority over his two opponents, J. W. H. Roberts and H. Hannah, Jr., in the contest for county judge, securing 5,106 votes to Robert's 2,088 and Hannah's 1,080.

Pitt county gave D. M. Clark a vote of 4,706 to 3,620 over his opponent for solicitor of the Fifth Judicial district, John Hill Paylor of Farmville. Clark also ran ahead in other counties in the district to win the re-nomination.

Pitt county had little choice between the two candidates in each of the two state-wide contests, U. S. senator and utilities commissioner. Robert R. Reynolds won a majority in the county of 768 votes over Frank Hancock. Reynolds polled 4,939 votes and Hancock 4,171.

In the contest for utilities commissioner, Paul Grady garnered a majority of only 24 votes over the incumbent, Stanley Winborne. Grady polled 4,054 and Winborne 4,030.

CITY WILL PICK UP DOGS AND CATS—BUT NOT NOISY CHILDREN

Pueblo, Colo.—(AP)—The city willingly will rid neighborhoods of noisy dogs and cats but when it comes to children, it's every man for himself, the city commission has ruled.

The decision was in response to a complaint against the "dogs, cats and kids" that kept a night watchman awake in the daytime. The dog catcher was instructed to make a trip through the neighborhood but to confine himself to dog and cat catching only.

COL. FLANAGAN CLUB SPEAKER

Also Shows Moving Pictures Taken On Recent Trip

Colonel E. G. Flanagan, who recently returned from a trip to California, Hawaii and Mexico, told members and guests of the Greenville Kiwanis Club of interested incidents during the trip. Col. Flanagan said Americans could take lessons from Hawaiians when it comes to greeting visitors. He described how visitors to the islands were greeted with music and the placing of leis around their necks. One point of interest which attracted the Greenville business man was Diamond Shoals where the United States maintains strong fortifications. Mr. Flanagan told of visits to many points of interest and beauty in the various islands. While in California he witnessed first-hand results of devastating floods.

After leaving California, Col. Flanagan motored to Mexico, where he visited in the home of U. S. Ambassador Josephus Daniels. Following his talk, Col. Flanagan showed moving pictures taken on the trip.

Rev. W. A. Ryan had charge of the program, but called on B. B. Sugg to introduce the speaker. Mr. Sugg recalled some of the public services rendered by Mr. Flanagan and said two years from now the public is going to demand that he be the next Governor of North Carolina.

Miss Helen Phelps, accompanied by Mrs. R. A. Tyson, sang "The Rosary," and "My Blue Heaven." Besides those on the program, visitors included Kiwanian Vernon Sheffield of Norfolk, Va., Kiwanian M. K. Vickrey of Decatur, Ala., who is visiting D. Murray House, who also was a guest; Patrick Hesley, Jr., executive secretary of the North Carolina League of Municipalities, and A. C. Tadlock.

the members to continue their study. It has been made clear that if the suggestion is adopted an experienced manager will be employed to run the city. Other progressive towns in Eastern Carolina and throughout the state already are operating under a manager and it was explained that these places are finding the plan satisfactory.

The Insurance Committee is making a study of revising the insurance policies carried by the city on buildings, motor vehicles, etc., with the idea of adopting a new method. C. D. Griggs, assistant county agent, appeared before the board to inquire if the armory could be used for a curb market. No action was taken, the matter being referred to Capt. L. A. Brock of the National Guard unit, which rents the building, but it was indicated that some plan could be worked out satisfactorily.

Plans for beautifying Greenwood cemetery, which have been under consideration for some time, began to take definite form when a Raleigh landscape architect explained blue prints showing a proposed layout. The board adopted an ordinance, presented at a previous meeting, setting regulations for the establishment of new dry cleaning plants.

snatched from his bedroom last Saturday. Asked if he thought the case would be solved, he said: "Yes, I think so, as far as catching the fellow who did it is concerned. Once we catch them we will be able to find out what they did with the boy."

He indicated he had given up all hopes of finding James, Jr., alive. "I expect a break within the next week or ten days," he said, but declined to amplify the statement.
