BRITISH SHIPS BOMBED, SUNK OFF VALENCIA

Two More Vessels Added to 52 Previously Attacked

REBELS PREPARE FRESH CAMPAIGN

Insurgents Think Successful Drive Now Would Clinch Two-Year-Old Civil War

Valencia, Spain, June 22.—(AP)—Two British ships were sunk just outside Valencia harbor today by a lone skyraider in a continuation of the long series of war plane attacks on foreign shipping in ports of Government Spain.

The 3,054 ton Sunion, British ship formerly of Greek registry, struck by incendiary and explosive bombs, burned furiously for six hours and then settled to the bottom.

Previously the 4,789 ton freighter Thorpness, shattered by an earlier torpedo, had gone down with 7,000 tons of grain.

All of the Sunion's crew of 32, including a German observer for the non-intervention committee, were taken off safely.

Today's attacks brought to 54 the total of airplane attacks on British ships since the Spanish war started—nearly half in the last three months.

All of the crew was saved except one Chinese.

The Thorpness was pierced midship and sank within five minutes in 60 feet of water.

Hendaye, France, June 22.—(AP)—Insurgent advances indicated today General Franco was preparing for a fresh offensive against Barcelona in the belief that a successful drive through Catalonia now would clinch the Spanish civil war.

Running into impenetrable Government defenses in the Villarreal sector and forced to retire from the municipal cemetery there, Insurgents flattened their drive on Valencia.

Steady progress of the Government in building a formidable series of fortifications along the coast made the going slower.

Funeral Thursday For W. J. Tucker

William Joseph Tucker, 52, died this morning at 1 o'clock in Pitt General Hospital. He had been ill only a few days. Funeral services will be conducted from the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Tucker, who reside seven miles from Greenville on the Packoley road at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon by Rev. Thomas M. Grant, pastor of Jarvis Memorial Methodist church, Interment will follow in Greenwood cemetery.

Mr. Tucker was born in Pitt county November 20, 1885, and spent his entire life here. He was a son of John R. and Sarah McGowan Tucker. He was a member of Simpson Methodist church.

Surviving besides the parents are four brothers, J. Lonnie, Herman, Lyman and Marvin Tucker, three sisters, Mrs. Russell Stancill, Mrs. Mrs. J. M. Taft, all Greenville, Mrs. W. W. Graham, of Hoffman.

Active pallbearers will be C. H. McGowan, Floyd McGowan, Leland Mardee, Floyd Tucker, Lee Tucker and S. D. Tucker, Jr.

Victim Of Accident Buried In Greenwood

Burial services for W. Alfred Simmons, 36, who was killed in an automobile wreck between Washington and Williamston yesterday morning, were conducted at Greenwood cemetery this afternoon. Funeral services were conducted in Washington.

Mr. Simmons was a native of Pitt county and a former resident of this city. He is survived by his wife, who prior to her marriage was Miss Janie Jackson of Greenville; one son, W. Alfred, Jr., two; and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Simmons.

Application Is Made For Manager of City

The Board of Aldermen of Greenville, which body some time ago discussed the possibilities of adopting the city manager form of management, last night received its first application for the proposed position.

S. S. Farabow of Kinston, auditor in the city tax office, appeared before the board and asked that he be considered for the job of manager if it were created.

HEEDLESS COLORADO RIVER GORGE

Heedless of veteran rivermen's warning that the water is "too high" now, a group of scientists left Green River, Utah, in three 16-foot boats in an attempt to cruise 666 miles down through the dangerous mile-deep gorge of the Colorado river. They are shown preparing to set sail.

Removal Of ACL Trains Vigorously Protested

C. of C. Protests

Directors of the Greenville Chamber of Commerce, in a meeting here today with Atlantic Coast Line officials, voted to continue their protest with the State Utilities Commission against removal of the Coast Line passenger trains Nos. 35 and 39, until such time as adequate provision for the handling of mail and express was made.

Railroad officials present included Charlie Cobb of Norfolk, Va., superintendent; Owen Page of Savannah, Ga., general superintendent; and H. A. Blankenship of Tarboro, train master.

In addressing the meeting, Mr. Page revealed that the road was losing more than $50,000 a year on the operation of the passenger trains on the Weldon-Kinston run, and declared that the railroads could not continue to sustain the heavy losses and remain in business. The Coast Line system, as a whole, has sustained losses of more than $9,000,000 within the past three years, he said.

OPINIONS READ BY HIGH COURT

Durham Negro Convicted of Murder Gets New Trial

Raleigh, June 22.—(AP)—The Supreme court today granted a new trial to Ed Alston, convicted in Durham county of murder.

The court handed down 11 decisions and adjourned its spring term sine die.

Alston, a Negro, was sentenced in the death of Janie Wilson, a Negro, Associate Justice A. F. Sewell wrote the opinion, his first in a capital case. He said he had nothing to do with the case while he was attorney general, before recently being appointed to the court.

Error was found in the charge of the judge regarding the Negro's plea that he was not capable of premeditated murder due to drunkenness. The charge, Sewell wrote, that the defendant had to prove his defense "beyond a reasonable doubt" which was not required by law. The court ruled John M. Brittain of Alamance county should be discharged. The council of the State Bar had ordered Brittain's disbarment.

One undecided civil case was carried over to the fall term. The list of opinions included: Covington vs. Dr. James, Richmond, reversed.

Graham vs. Floyd, Robeson, reversed. State vs. Alston, Durham, new trial.

Spending-Lending Program Started; Allotments Made

Allocations Approved By President Roosevelt Even Before Bill Signed Revealed By Public Works Administration Officials

Washington, June 22.—(AP)—The Public Works Administration began its 1938 spending-lending program today with allotment of $41,632,717 in grants and $9,021,000 of loans for 291 projects.

Howard Gray, assistant administrator, said the 291 projects would involve $92,520,374 of construction. The grants were for 45 per cent of the cost and the loans for 55 per cent. The difference between total of loans and grants and total of construction costs, Gray said, would be made up by the applicants.

Six grants fell in the million dollar class, but the vast majority were from a few thousand to as much as half a million.

The allotments included—grants only, unless otherwise specified—Battleboro, N. C., waterworks, $22,909 grant; $28,000 loan; Burlington, N. C., municipal improvements $185,272; Chapel Hill, N. C., municipal building $17,550.

They had been approved by President Roosevelt even before he signed the $3,750,000,000 spending-lending bill late yesterday at Hyde Park, N. Y. His pen stroke was a signal for PWA and all other federal spending agencies to swing into action with their program, details of which have been ready for weeks.

PWA construction work will be allocated daily until 2,000 projects will have been made public Friday night.

An intention to make secret inquiries into any complaints of "politics in relief" was disclosed by Senator Sheppard (D-Tex.), of the Senate Campaign Expenditures Committee, meanwhile.

"We cannot accomplish much," he said, "unless we make our investigation before the parties we are investigating learn that an inquiry is underway."

PASTORS NAME NEW OFFICERS

At the June meeting of the Greenville Ministerial Association, the Rev. Thos. M. Grant, pastor of Jarvis Memorial Methodist church, was elected president of the Association to fill out the unexpired term of Rev. R. C. Grady, local Presbyterian minister, who offered his resignation at the meeting since he is leaving the city in August.

In conjunction with state-wide plans of the Rev. E. C. Cooper, state prison chaplain, in making available regular religious services at the various prison camps, the following schedule was drawn up for Greenville. The schedule will be revised and put on a permanent basis in October.

First Sunday in July and alternate months, Rev. J. A. Nimmo.

Second Sunday in July and alternate months, Rev. Lowell Sodemam.

Third Sunday in July and alternate months, Rev. Worth Wicker.

Fourth Sunday in July and alternate months, Rev. Lowell Sodemam.

In cases where the minister cannot be present for the Sunday afternoon services it is to be arranged for a layman from the minister's church to be present and take charge of the service.

A letter of regret at the departure of Cap. C. Bates, who has been transferred to head the work of the Salvation Army in Gaffney, S. C., was drawn and sent to Capt. Bates who during his stay in Greenville rendered such efficient and cooperative service, to the Association and community.

BUS TERMINAL BEING TALKED

Mayor Blount Sees Possibility Securing Station

Mayor M. K. Blount today declared that Greenville now has the possibilities of securing an adequate and up-to-date bus terminal.

He pointed out that the State Utilities Commission and bus line operators have agreed to meet with the Greenville Board of Aldermen for the purpose of discussing the possibilities of establishing a bus terminal here.

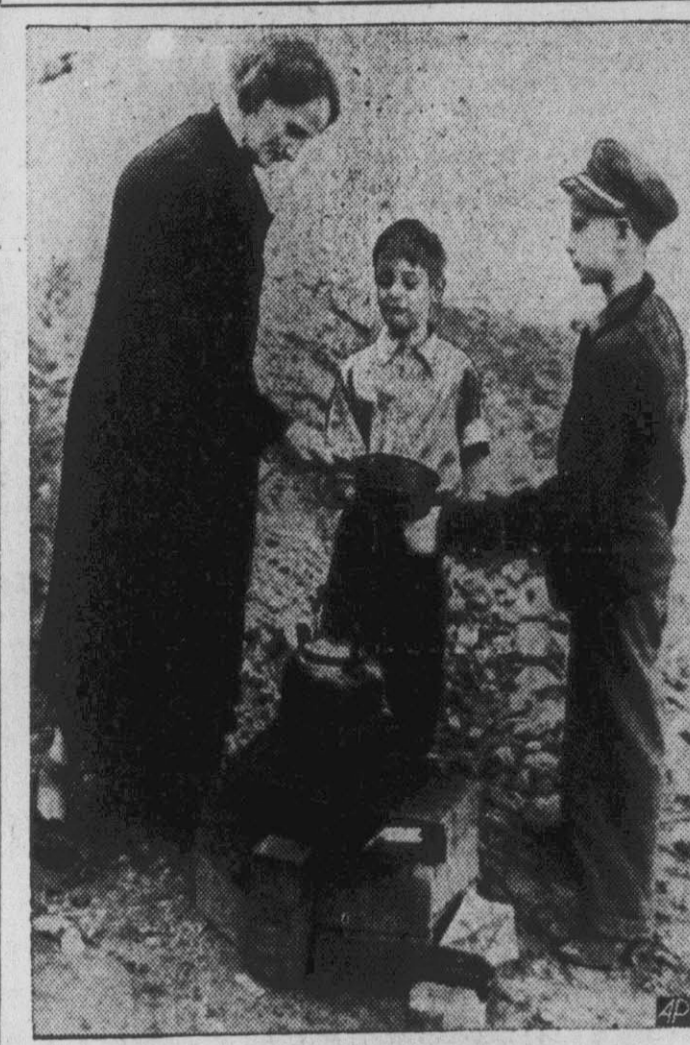

In making the announcement, Mayor Blount stated that a project of this kind should be centrally located, and that efforts are being made to secure a suitable site for a bus terminal.

It was explained that if the bus terminal proposal becomes a reality, that suitable waiting rooms and other modern conveniences would be provided.

After hearing of the plan, a number of Greenville citizens heartily endorsed the idea and expressed the opinion that the city needs a bus terminal.

Mayor Blount is urging all property owners interested in constructing a bus terminal to notify J. O. Duval, city clerk, some time in the immediate future.

RELIEFERS CAMPING IN PARK

Forced to move out of her home because she had no money and her two city relief funds were exhausted, Mrs. Jessie Ferguson and her two sons prepare their meal over an open fire in a municipal park at Cleveland, Ohio. They joined numerous other families which took up quarters in parks when the relief money became exhausted.

Kidnap Threat Reported Against Countess' Son

Child of Barbara Huton Guarded in Estate in London

London, June 22.—(AP)—Silent guards watched the stately mansion of Countess Barbara Huton Haugwitz-Reventlow from behind locked gates today after reported kidnap threats against the baby son of the five-and-ten-cent store heiress who fled the United States because "I am afraid of American kidnapers."

The Countess merely said she had taken "certain precautions" to guard the child, two-year-old Count Lance Haugwitz-Reventlow, London's wealthiest baby, against a reported threat.

She was understood to have remained up until 2 a. m., today.

Their attorney said it was impossible to make a statement at the moment "for legal reasons."

Scotland Yard was said to have posted guards at all ports and airfields to watch for the arrival from abroad of a "suspected person." Officials were said to have photographs and a full description.

The main gates of the Woolworth heiress' home were locked. Several plain-clothes men patrolled the ground and tradesmen were admitted only if they could show credentials.

Despite the precautions, however a nurse wheeled the sandy-haired baby around the grounds in his big black carriage during the morning.

Scotland Yard authorities said they had provided no special guards or other protection and disclaimed knowledge of a kidnap threat.

An official said he had no "confirmation" that police had been mobilized, but he did not directly deny the report.

In March, 1936, a month after Lance was born, reports of similar threats were denied. Later, however, a man was sentenced to four months imprisonment for demanding money from the Countess for "exposing" an imaginary plot.

Begin Remodeling Telephone Plant

W. W. Aycock, local manager of the Carolina Telephone and Telegraph company, revealed today that work had started on alterations of the plant here looking toward installation of the dial system.

The present plant is being extended to include the Wooten building, just to the rear of the present offices.

The Wooten building will be remodeled in line with the present one, the front to face Dickinson avenue when completed. This will double the present floor space of the Greenville plant and will make it one of the most complete in Eastern Carolina.

Rose Construction company of Rocky Mount has been contracted to do the work.

PULLET LAYS AT EARLY AGE. T. E. Pollard who lives on the Falkland highway, Greenville route one, has a pullet four months and two days old that already has laid six eggs.

Mr. Pollard said that the first egg laid by the pullet was small, but that each one was larger until the last egg laid was practically of normal size.

FDR APPOINTS BODY TO STUDY BRITISH LABOR

Seven Men And Two Women Appointed To Commission

TAKE ACTION ON THIRTEEN BILLS

Meantime in Washington Representatives Made on Slapping by Jap

Hyde Park, N. Y., June 22.—(AP)—President Roosevelt today announced the appointment of seven men and two women as members of a commission to study the British labor dispute act and said the commission's work would be broadened to include Swedish labor relations.

Commission members are: Gerard Swope, president of General Electric Company; Charles R. Hooks, president of the American Rolling Mill Company; Lloyd Garrison, dean of the University of Wisconsin Law School; Henry I. Harriman, former president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce; Robert Watt of the International Labor office at Geneva, Switzerland, representing the American Federation of Labor; William H. Davis, New York City lawyer; Mrs. Anna Rosenberg, regional director of the Social Security Board, New York; Miss Marion Dickerman, principal of the Todd Hunter School; William Ellison Chalmers, assistant U. S. Labor Commissioner at Geneva.

The President signed 13 bills and vetoed a 13th meanwhile.

Since coming here Monday he has approved 57 bills, and disapproved eight.

Action on the 13 measures, all of secondary importance, momentarily cleared his desk of all measures received from Washington.

As Washington, meantime, Secretary Hull said diplomatic representations were being made to the Japanese government over the slapping of an American missionary by a Japanese sentry.

Dispatches to the department said Dr. J. C. Thompson, New Brunswick, N. J., connected with the American-owned Nanking University, was slapped while trying to prevent the entry from beating Thompson's rickshaw coolie.

Mack O. Hearne Claimed By Death

Mack Orlander Hearn, 63, died at 8:40 o'clock this morning at his home, 206 West Second street, after being an invalid for many years.

Funeral services will be conducted Thursday morning at 10 o'clock, at the late home by Rev. T. McM. Grant, pastor of Jarvis Memorial Methodist church. Burial will follow in Cherry Hill cemetery.

Mr. Hearne, a son of B. H. and Charlotte Moore Hearne, was born near Greenville and had lived here since he was a small boy. He is survived by two brothers, C. W. Hearne of Greenville, and Roy Hearne of Washington; three sisters, Mrs. J. L. Starkey, Mrs. Belle Harris, and Mrs. Emma Evans, all of Greenville.

Active pallbearers will be Arthur Smith, Arthur Evans, R. O. Fleming, L. B. Fleming, Edward Harris, Linwood Evans.

Complete Session Of Weekly Court

Three cases were heard by Judge Dink James yesterday afternoon as the weekly session of County court was completed, following a busy morning.

Will Corey, convicted of assault with a deadly weapon, was given a two-year sentence on the roads. The defendant noted appeal and bond was set at $500.

Norman B. Griffin was acquitted of a charge of larceny of chickens, but was convicted of stealing a wrench, and was ordered to pay a $25 fine, costs to be deducted, and also to pay $1 for the stolen property.

An appeal to Superior court was noted and bond was set at $100. Ernest Teel, Negro, was given a 60-day sentence on a charge of driving without a license, the sentence to be suspended upon provision the defendant pay the costs of court and not drive until he is properly issued a license.

FARM GIVES WAY TO GARDEN AS GRANDFATHER REACHES 107. Stanley, Wis.—Julius Paul is still active at 107, though he has substituted gardening for farming. His wife is past 90.

They hope to be able to celebrate their 75th wedding anniversary next year. All of their eleven children are living. There are 30 grandchildren.

FRANKLINTON STORE ROBBED

Bandits Lock Officer In Jail Before Safe Is Blasted

Franklinton, N. C., June 22.—(AP)—Two bandits used the heaviest rain in years to help hide their operations early today, tied, gagged and locked Night Policeman R. D. House, 55, in a jail cell and got considerable cash by blasting a store safe nearby.

The bandits made an unsuccessful attempt to blow the safe of the Sterling cotton mill also. The safe was robbed was in the Sterling general merchandise store, adjoining the mill.

Raleigh fingerprint experts came here this morning to study prints left by the robbers.

Franklinton is a town of about 1,500 population, 24 miles northeast of Raleigh.

Officer House said R. J. Rose, manager of the store, was busy checking records to determine the amount of cash taken.

Raleigh police were notified that a first check indicated the loot was between $500 and $550 in cash and checks.

Representative Of CIO Visits City

E. L. Sandefur, regional director for the CIO, was a visitor in Greenville yesterday. Other than to say he was deeply interested in the possibility of organizing agricultural and allied workers in this section, he did not divulge the purpose of his visit.

A report was current some months ago that the CIO planned a campaign among this class of workers, but Mr. Sandefur declined to make any specific announcement as to plans, if any, at this time.

About the wages and hours bill, the director said it would not benefit agricultural workers. However, timber and sawmill workers, of which there are many in the Carolinas, will come within its provisions.

Social and Personal

Methodist Prayer Service. Mid-week prayer service will be held in the Mollie Brown room of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church tonight at eight o'clock.

Dancer Here Tonight. La Trianita, famous Spanish dancer, will give a dance recital in the Robert H. Wright building at East Carolina Teachers College this evening at eight o'clock. She will be accompanied by William Kulkman, pianist, who will play three piano solos.

La Trianita studied with the Andalusian Gypsies from Malaga, Spain, from whom she drew that feeling of Spanish art and style characterized as Flamenco. She is fascinatingly costumed, and the click of her castanets heightens her colorful dances.

Celebrates Birthday. In celebration of her thirteenth birthday, Miss Margaret Jones entertained at bridge on Monday afternoon at three o'clock, at the home of her parents. At the end of an afternoon of bridge, Miss Sara Moore was awarded high score prize, a deck of cards; low score prize, a handkerchief, went to Miss Josephine Gibson. Following the presentation of prizes, the hostess served a delicious ice course.

Guests present for the occasion were: Misses Pat Waldrop, Janet Evans, Virginia Simpson, Jane Smith, Sara Moore, Josephine Gibson, Frances Kittrell and Shirley Warner. Miss Jones received many lovely gifts.

Announcement. Bethel, June 22—One of the loveliest parties of the summer season was a tea given on Friday afternoon by Miss Hazel Whitehurst at her home in Bethel announcing the engagement of her sister, Miss Mildred Whitehurst, to Monroe Glenn Fulghum of Winston. The home was beautifully decorated with summer flowers and candles.

The guests were received at the door by Mrs. J. L. Brown who presented each guest with a shoulder corsage tied with a ribbon bearing the names "Mildred-Monroe, August 5." Mrs. W. D. Pruitt of Greenville, introduced them to the receiving line which was composed of Miss Hazel Whitehurst, Miss Mildred Whitehurst, Mrs. James H. Whitehurst of Bethel, Mrs. Henry Wilkerson, Mrs. Carl Fulghum, Mrs. Claude Fulghum, Mrs. H. F. Barnes, Mrs. Erwin Robbins of Wilson, Mrs. Sam N. Tyson of Stantonburg, and Mrs. Willard Whitehurst, Mrs. Aubrey Taylor, Mrs. Thomas Taylor, and Mrs. L. J. Gurganus, recent brides.

Mrs. W. C. Taylor invited the guests into the hall where Mrs. Z. V. Bunting presided over the guest book. Mrs. Clayton Carson and Mrs. Kury Manning received the guests into the dining room where cakes, ices, mints and nuts were served. The centerpiece was an arch of wedding bells over a bowl of white and pink snapdragons.

Those assisting in serving were: Misses Josephine Whitehurst, Patricia Brooks, Julia Nell Whitehurst, Rosa Lee Tripp and Rosa Lee Bullock.

Guests were received in the living room by Misses Christine House and Marjorie Whitehurst, where musical selections were rendered by Mrs. J. B. Hooker, Mrs. Jasper Smith, Mrs. Sam Whitehurst and Mrs. H. V. Stator.

Good-byes were given by Mrs. J. E. Goodwin of Suffolk, Va., and Mrs. J. I. Clement of Oxford.

Around one hundred guests called during the afternoon.

GAME OF DARTS LEAVES SALOON TO GO SOCIETY

London—it's hardly safe to go anywhere in England these days, the darts are flying so furiously.

Dart throwing, originally a working man's game confined to the corner pub (saloon), has spread to all classes of society.

The game, which has become a national craze, is said to be descended from the ancient sport of javelin throwing.

As a body builder it develops only one part of the anatomy. A player usually gets what is vulgarly known as a "beer belly" before he has been at it long. In the pubs at any rate, the principal point of the game aside from the sheer fun of it is to see who buys the beer. The losers pay.

Social Calendar

THURSDAY
8:00 p. m.—Mrs. Joseph Dudley will entertain at bridge.

Seago-Parker.
Mr. and Mrs. Elpena Council Parker announce the marriage of their daughter
Mary Elizabeth
to

Mr. Stanley Z. Seago on Sunday, June nineteenth
Nineteen hundred and thirty-eight Potocasi, North Carolina.

On Sunday, June 19th, at five o'clock in the afternoon, in the Potocasi Baptist Church, Miss Mary Elizabeth Parker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elpena Council Parker, became the bride of Stanley Z. Seago of Greenville. The Rev. Mr. Sasser, pastor of the church, performed the ceremony. Ivy, potted plants, Queen Anne's lace, and gladioli lent beauty and solemnity to the occasion.

Prior to the marriage rites, Miss Fanny McCoy, cousin of the bride, sang "Because" and "Sweetest Story Ever Told." She was accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Lancaster. The bridal couple entered together to the strains of the wedding march from "Lohengrin" and took their places before the improvised altar, lovely in its decorations of ivy and Queen Anne's lace. There were no attendants. For the marriage, the Rev. Mr. Sasser used the ring ceremony. The recessional from Mendelssohn was played as the couple left the church.

Directly following the wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Elpena Council Parker entertained the bridal party and out-of-town guests at a buffet supper.

The bride is the attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elpena Council Parker of Potocasi. She is a graduate of East Carolina Teachers College and for the past year has taught in the Orrum high school, Orrum, N. C.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. P. Z. Seago of this city. He is a graduate of the Greenville city schools and recently received his B.S. degree in Mechanical Engineering at State College, Raleigh.

Immediately after the wedding festivities, Mr. and Mrs. Seago left for a wedding trip to northern points. Upon their return they will make their home in Greenville.

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

By Robbin Coons

Hollywood—They're saying that Artist Willy Pogany's suit over the Connie Bennett portrait could not get over that Bridge of Sighs. Connie, winning this one and her action against that British film company for the picture they didn't make with her, looks like 1938's courtroom star. She has another one pending against a commentator for slander.

It's listed among the sandwiches on the studio commissary menu, but it might be a formula for a musical: "Warner Bros. Special (Ham and Cheese and Chicken on Toast)." . . . . . The Critics' Special (unlisted) should be Roast Ham with Beef.

Standees Prominent
Speaking of beef, our recent one on the "press preview" situation found its best justification at the "Blockade" preview, although that was a picture worth standing for as we (arriving late) did along with other tardy press men. . . . . The word got around that here was a picture that SAID something, and the promise was so unusual that Hollywood, unaccustomed as it is to that sort of thing stormed the theatre and the whole business got out of hand. . . . Other standees: Harry Cohn, of rival Columbia, and Walter Wanger, who made the picture.

A young writer friend of ours has been pounding at the studio gates for years, washing only the "Inches" and a few air programs. "Ever get discouraged?" we asked solicitously. "Never" said he. "You see," he explained, "if I allowed myself to think dimly for a moment I'd be sunk. . . . . What keeps me going, though, is the fact that when I do get something on the screen or air the audience laughs at the right places, and cries at the right places."

A Vicious Circle
"Well, doesn't that convince producers?" we inquired innocently. "Convince them? No! The only thing that will convince a producer is a screen credit on a big picture. . . . . "But how," we asked, "do you get a screen credit on a big picture?"

"That's just it," said he. "It's like a fellow who can't get a job without experience and can't get experience without a job. Vicious circle."

"Then what—?"
"What's the use, you're going to ask? Well, some day I'll slip up on 'em and click-break through the circle."

I think he will, at that.

Summertime means tea stains. To remove such stains from linens moisten them with cold water and cover them with borax. Let the linen stand twenty minutes or so, then pour a kettle of boiling water through the tea stain, holding the kettle about two feet above the stain. Continue until the stain disappears. This process may be used to remove fruit stains.

Forty Years Ago Today

THE DAILY REFLECTOR
Wednesday, June 22, 1898

Personal
Jesse Speight left this morning for Virginia Beach.

L. I. Moore returned from Wilson Friday evening.

H. P. Strause of Henderson, came in last night.

Notices
That was a heavy rain we had Tuesday.

Yesterday was the longest day in the year.

W. O. Barnhill will rebuild his machine shops.

It was two months yesterday since the war began.

There are four wedding to take place soon. Are you one of them?

The Reflector job office is turning out some pretty work now. Your turn next.

The Tarboro colored baseball team arrived here this morning and played a game of baseball this afternoon with the Greenville club. They brought a brass band with them.

Rev. A. W. Setzer, pastor of the Baptist Church, informs us that for some time to come the Wednesday evening prayer meeting service in his church will be occupied in many Bible readings on the "Distinctive Principles of Baptists." Every Baptist and others interested should attend these services.

The University
The University is steadily growing in public favor, patronage, and efficiency. It has never been so close to the people and so able to help them. The enrollment of 508 students this year is remarkable, being the largest in its history. We would like some needy boy to get its advantages of scholarship and loans.

How's Your Health?
Edited for the New York Academy of Medicine

By Iago Goldston, M.D.
COLONIAL DOCTORING

Drawing upon the 36 volumes of a diary kept by his great great grandmother, Dr. Cecil K. Drinker, dean of Harvard's school of public health, has published a chronicle of medicine and doctors in colonial Philadelphia. He calls it "Not So Long Ago."

Elizabeth Sandwith Drinker, the diarist, was the second wife of a prosperous Quaker merchant. She became the mother of nine and the grandmother of 25.

The Drinkers were able to command the services of the leading physicians. But only five of their nine children reached maturity.

Among the plagues which Elizabeth Drinker mentions as current in Philadelphia during her diary-keeping years—1757 to 1807—are smallpox, bacillary dysentery, typhoid, malaria and yellow fever.

She acquired a good deal of insight into and some strong convictions on medical matters. When her husband was "very unwell in his powers," Dr. Benjamin Rush took care of him. Rush ordered "a blister applied to his side, supposing he has something of ye Pleurisy."

But Elizabeth, who did not agree with this diagnosis, wrote in her diary, "To me it appears to be a kidney complaint."

When a child swallowed a pin, Mrs. Drinker fed it raw eggs. "It is admirable that so few bad consequences followed," she wrote. "It slips down the common sewer, with other things, and kind Nature often chases calamity."

This book impresses the reader with the extraordinary medical progress made during the last century. As Dr. Drinker writes:

"The world has been lightened of a great load of fear, and the Christian quality of resignation is no longer a daily necessity. It is only occasionally, as at the time of the last great influenza epidemic or when infantile paralysis descends upon us, that we learn something of the uncertainty and disquiet which was the constant experience of well-informed people a hundred and fifty years ago."

Kenneth Roberts has produced (with the collaboration of N. C. Wyeth, the painter) just about the handsomest book of the spring. It's strangely charming, too—Roberts has dug out a huge amount of side matter while preparing his Maine novels, and he loves the state with almost frightening persistence. He and Wyeth are frankly proselyting in "Trending Into Maine," and for once it's fun to be converted. (Little, Brown; $4)

It's Odd But It's Science

Washington—Capt. N. H. Heck, one of America's foremost geologists, says there is a submerged plateau in the Atlantic ocean eleven-twelfth of the area of the United States. It lies about two miles below the surface of the sea, but from half a mile to a mile above the ocean floor. It is 100 to 700 miles wide. Its highest portions rise three to five miles above the ocean bottom. This great plateau extends from around the latitude of south Greenland to that of Monrovia. It follows the middle of the North and South Atlantic in an unbroken line. Captain Heck proposes methods of sounding and of earthquake studies that will better outline this great submerged land and show its relation to the rest of the earth. The relation might be important. For he says the whole plateau is one of the sources of earthquakes. The northern portion was found in 1854 during the surveys for the first Atlantic cable. Since the World War the German surveying ship Meteor has found the outlines of the southern areas. This great ridge is the source of the mythical sunken continent, Atlantis.

HINTS TO HOUSEWIVES

By The AP Feature Service

Sprinkle fritters with confectioner's sugar—to give them a rich glaze. As soon as they are fried apply the sugar generously. Then broil the fritters under a low heat—or bake them until the sugar melts into the desired coating. Waffles and pancakes may be glazed this way, too.

Do your meringues fall? Add a fourth of teaspoonful of cream of tartar for each two egg whites used. Combine the cream of tartar with the sugar called for in the recipe. The meringue may be added to the mixture when it is stiff enough to form in peaks.

Never put woodenware directly over the heat to dry. That causes the wood to warp, and perhaps to crack. Thoroughly dry it, however, before putting it in a cupboard, since it may mildew if you store it too soon. Let it stand in a room of moderate temperature, or near the stove.

"Snowballs" make a refreshing summer dessert. Roll two-inch balls of ice cream in cocoanut. Work quickly and serve the balls in "boxes" of angel food or sponge cake.

Sewing box hint: Put different sized buttons on large safety pins. The various sizes will then be distinguishable at a glance.

Rubber gloves are a great protection when doing garden or house work. They must be treated carefully, however. As soon as you have finished your work, wash the gloves on your hands. Then pull them off, wrong side out, rinse and hang them up to dry.

Use maple syrup or strained honey as sweetening for fruit punches in the summer. Add a little strained rhubarb juice to your favorite fruit punch receipt.

Wear old cotton gloves—with the fingers cut off—when you iron. That will keep your hands free of callouses, and will prevent some of the heat from getting to your hands.

The Big, Bad Biffer

Chapter 41

"A L L I got to say," Asey twirled the Colt. "Is that you better and him an' bring him back in just fifteen minutes. Brother Strutt, or you'll be struttin' into a jail. Do I make myself clear?"

Roddy's father was almost in tears. "But I tell you—"

"Neither Elliott nor me," Asey said. "was born yesterday. You find Roddy, an' find him quick, or the house of Strutt'll be cold turkey—"

"He's gone," Carveth sobbed. "He was here before you came, an' now he's gone. That man's got him!"

"If this is an act," Asey said, "it's some of the best I ever seen outside a theater. Elliott, will you explain to him that I want Roddy without any more tears or snuggles?"

"But it's that man Jennings!" Carveth said. "It's that man Jennings!"

"Oho, it is? You mean Earl Jennings, the plumber?"

"Yes," Carveth said. "Yes, it is. I was most unfortunate. I'm sure he did everything in our power to make things right, and then this happened!"

"What's this?" Asey asked.

"Jennings' daughter," Elliott explained, while Carveth blew his nose.

"And now," Carveth said, "he's done what he threatened—he's kidnaped Roddy—and why don't you two do something about it?"

"Earl Jennings," Asey said, "is ever in the Pochet hospital. I seen him there myself—"

"Most unfortunate his being hurt in that plane crash," Carveth said. "Most unfortunate as I told Roddy why couldn't he have picked someone else. But of course that would have been satisfactorily adjusted by the family; just as the other unfortunate incident was adjusted. I hope Jennings that myself, last night."

"He was in the hospital last night," Asey said.

"Oh, no, he was not!" Carveth retorted with a show of spirit. "He was there, here, threatening us! After I saw you at Octagon House and threatening Roddy, too. He seemed to think that he had been put into that mural because Roddy told Mar—I mean, told Lorne to put him in. And that accident—"

"You mean to say that Jennings, Earl Jennings the plumber—he was here last night?" Asey's eyes widened up.

"The man," Carveth said.

Asey smiled, and remembered the conversation he had had with the plumber about Jennings. If he had had the slightest bit of intelligence, he should have guessed. What was Asey's name? Something about "So Asey" had heard what went on about Jennings—

"On The Loose

"Seems to me," Elliott said, "that I did hear something about Jennings on the loose last night. He goes on on trains, you know. They're the tail of Quantomet. I've judged to be the link even of Johnny B. in the old days."

"I'm comin' back here in an hour," Tim said, back here in an hour, an' you produce Roddy for me. Elliott's goin' to stay here with you an' see that you do, ain't you, Elliott? Right. You see he rode Roddy, if you have to fight another Chateau Thierry. Here, he's banded over the forty-five. You take this, an' find Roddy. I'm goin' over to the Pochet hospital an' see Jennings. I happen to know that he'll be there."

The nurses crowded around him by the desk.

"Asey," Susan said, "you certainly did the trick! You haven't had a peek out of Jennings since you was here. He went to sleep like a little lamb—"

"I want to see him," Asey said. "Quick—tell me if he got out last night."

"Yesterday afternoon, shortly after you were here. They say he was on a tear, but he really hadn't had much to drink. His wife and the doctor made him come back this morning—they simply couldn't quiet him down. It's that mural and the pipes that have got on his nerves— she opened the door carefully. "I think he's asleep— she flicked on the light. "Oh, Mr. Jennings—Mis—"

She and Asey stared at the empty room.

Asey brushed past Susan into the hall, and raced back to the desk.

"Scuse me," he said, and grabbed the telephone. "Hello, this is Asey Mayo. I want to talk with Hanson of the state police—that's right. Ask the Quantomet exchange where he is—right."

Susan whispered breathlessly to the other nurse.

"Hello, Hanson? Oh, Lane Listen. Take some men, go over to the Strutt place by the beach. Hunt for a fellow named Earl Jennings, and for the young Strutt boy. There's a Congressman there named Elliott. He'll explain everything to you. You want Earl Jennings, an' Roddy Strutt Got that?"

He listened for a moment.

"That's it, Lane. What do you do when you get them? You sit on them both. Oh, an' phone to the barracks—get Jennings' car plate numbers from someone. Have the roads watched, for fun. That's right. I'll be over."

He put the phone down, stared reflectively at a chart on the desk and then picked up the receiver again.

"I want Octagon House, over in Quantomet," he said.

He whistled under his breath as he waited.

"Octagon House—that you, Tim? Tim, have you got troopers there? Well, leave one at the house, take the other an' go over to Jack Lorne's—he's still there? Okay. Take a trooper an' go over an' stay. The biffer's loose again, an' he might come for Lorne. That's right. No chances, this time. Tim. Tell those fellers to get him."

"What—" Susan began.

"I ain't got time to tell you," Asey said. "Oh, why didn't we tie that fellow up!"

DOG IN HOLE 22 FEET DEEP

STUMPS COLORADO FIREMEN

Colorado Springs—(AP)—If you had a fox terrier puppy at the bottom of a six-inch hole, 22 feet deep, how would you attempt to rescue it?

Patty Ruby, young son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ruby of Colorado Springs, stood by worried while firemen considered that question.

After several hours, Patty's grandfather came home and suggested a slip noose on the end of a long pole. The noose slipped around the puppy's middle, it was pulled taut and the puppy came out unharmed.

The hole had been drilled for water.

PUBLIC FORUM Please Make Your Discussion As Short As Possible. DISCUSSING PROBLEMS OF INTEREST TO THIS COMMUNITY. IN ALL CASES NAMES MUST ACCOMPANY ANY COMMUNICATION. To The Editor: Shall we try a city manager? The success of the undertaking depends of several things. The chief trouble would be in finding the right man. Having found him, he should be fully informed as to the town's finances, and then given much freedom in the exercise of his duties, and held strictly to account for results. I am in favor of finding the right man and trying it. Don't select a man because of friendship or kinship—and lastly because of politics. E. B. HIGGS.

SHORT SHOTS By HENRY AVERILL

SCIENTIFIC G-MEN OPEN DRIVE ON BAG BUGS FROM ABROAD

(By The AP Feature Service) WASHINGTON — The year's big drive on enemy aliens is on. They aren't human criminals—they're insects. The big drive is on just now because this is the peak of the season when enemy insects invade the United States. In the past, such invaders have got in and done enormous damage to crops—the boll weevil, the Japanese beetle, the gypsy moth, the fruit fly, the white-fringed beetle, to name a few. Uncle Sam wants no more of these insect criminals, so he has a corps of scientific G-men to hunt down the few among the many thousands of insect species that can do no harm. These men work in ports and in Washington laboratories to ferret out the bad insects. Here's how they do their job:

1. A WORM FROM ABROAD is examined through a microscope by an entomologist at the port laboratory. The worm came in with a plant, which parcel post inspectors referred to the plant quarantine inspector. Noting insect activity, he sent it to the lab. 2. HE CAN'T IDENTIFY the worm, so the entomologist kills it and puts it in a special glass container, which he seals in a small envelope and sends to the specialists in Washington. The fate of the plant shipment will depend upon the identification.

YELLOW RIVER BREAKS LOOSE

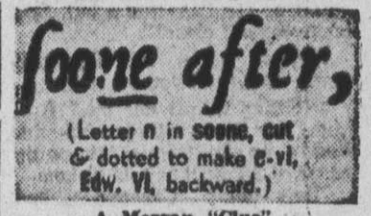

(By The AP Feature Service) "China's sorrow," the Yellow river, is again ravaging the arid war-torn land. Speeded by heavy rains and broken dikes, the muddy flood is estimated to have driven 500,000 Chinese from their homes. It's a disaster to the peasants, but it may be a big help to the army. For paralleling roughly Japan's line of advance, it impedes the invaders. Peasants and Japanese engineers worked shoulder to shoulder to stem the flood, but staff officers of the invading army said the task seemed hopeless.

MAYBE EDWARD VI (AS BACON) WROTE PLAYS OF SHAKESPEARE

By SAM JACKSON (AP Feature Service Writer) ALAMEDA, Calif. — Twenty years' research by J. Edward Morgan, famous a generation ago as the "Nebraska poet," has culminated in what he considers his real contribution to the literary world—a pronouncement that the works of Shakespeare were written by King Edward VI of England.

The gray-haired author has just completed a treatise to prove his point. A thousand photostatic copies of early folios and manuscripts accompany it. Morgan's thesis is this: The "boy king" Edward VI did not die in 1553 at the age of 16 as history records, but fled to France to escape poisoning by ambitious courtiers. Returning under an assumed name, he found the country ruled by his sister, Queen Elizabeth. He feared to make his identity known so he devoted himself to the literary tastes of his youth and for the rest of his life turned out the masterpieces which have come down the years under the name of the actor from Stratford, William Shakespeare.

A Morgan "Clue" the real author of the plays—is just so much fuel for Morgan's fire. He finds the Edward VI clue all thru Bacon's writings, and asks: Is it not possible that Bacon was the identity the young king assumed when he returned from flight—that Bacon and Edward were the same man?

Washington Daybook

Washington—It is quite possible that the more hectic incubations of the 75th Congress—the court fight, anti-lynching, reorganization—will be overlooked in the years to come and the session remembered longest for two comparatively obscure health acts.

One is the act creating the National Cancer Institute. The other is the measure launching a well-financed national campaign against syphilis and gonorrhoea. Such health bills often remain in the public mind. Probably there are not many who, offhand, can name another single act of the 1906 session of Congress, for instance, except a health measure. It is recalled to the memory of millions by the simple little formula printed on so many bottles and cans. It goes something to the effect that the enclosed product is "made in compliance with the pure food and drugs act of 1906."

The Cancer Institute got an initial $750,000 for a building and $400,000 for research and curative work. With almost exciting dispatch for a federal agency, it spent $200,000 of its first year's allowance for 10 grams of radium. That provided 20 units for distribution about the country to recognized cancer treatment institutions. It made radium treatment available to hundreds of cancer victims who otherwise never would have come within reach of an institution rich enough to buy the expensive stuff.

Research Projects Aided The law is broad in scope with a view to inviting wide research by skilled specialists at the same time more are being trained. Subsidies are provided for recognized research projects. To Dr. Ernest O. Lawrence of the University of California went $30,000 for continued work on his cyclotron, which induces radium activity in such inert objects as common salt. Experiment must determine whether it is more effective in this form than from true radium.

Dr. Louis Feiser of Harvard has received $8,000 to continue his experiments with coal tar derivatives which have been found to cause cancer in mice. Finding a cause may help to disclose a cure. Sixteen physicians are being trained in cancer treatment at government expense. Fellowships are granted to apt students to continue special lines of research.

The Social Disease Front For treatment of syphilis and gonorrhoea the legislation authorizes up to $3,000,000 a year. Of this $2,600,000 goes to the states for use in providing laboratory facilities to aid physicians in diagnosing and treating the diseases and in publicizing the need of treatment. The remaining $400,000 goes to the venereal disease division of the Bureau of Public Health for use largely in hunting new methods of diagnosing the diseases and in finding cures for them when identified. Specific tests and specific cures for syphilis are known and widely used, although open to improvement. Gonorrhoea, however, has been a medical stepchild, often ignored or frequently left to the ministrations of the least reputable physicians in a community. Badly needed are, first, a means of determining under varied conditions when the disease has been contracted and, second, and equally important, a test to show when the disease has been cured.

Raleigh, June 22—Commissioner of Revenue A. J. Maxwell wouldn't feel bad and would shed no tears at all if the next legislature should snatch the Highway Patrol from under his wing.

"I didn't put the patrol under the Department and if they want to take it away and put it somewhere else, it's all right with me," he told your correspondent in a general discussion of the situation this week. "The way I look at it, the patrol is sure to be a headache for whatever department it's under; but as long as it is a branch of the Revenue Department and I'm commissioner, I'm going to do the best I can."

The state's tax expert and collector par excellence couldn't remember just why the patrol was first placed under the Revenue department—it was done before Maxwell was commissioner. He could see some logic in it's being there, however, through its connection with motor vehicle records which are all concentrated in the Motor Vehicle division of the Revenue Department.

He put considerable emphasis on the fact that for all intents and purposes the patrol is practically an independent agency. He is, of course, nominally supreme, but Major Arthur Fulk, commanding, and Ronald Hocutt, assistant director of the safety division, devote all their time to the patrol and its problems.

There's just one bit of misinformation current in the state, I don't suppose we will ever be able to clear up in the public mind, but I wish it could be done, said Maxwell. "That's the impression that the patrolmen are used as tax collectors." "I would like everybody in North Carolina to know that the patrolmen do not collect one single penny of general fund revenue. Such collecting as they do is concerned wholly and entirely with highway funds, like penalties for overloading, incorrect tags, and so on."

Governor Clyde R. Hoey says that all three out-in-the-open candidates for the 1939 House Speakership are friends of his, so if he writes a letter to "Dear Victor," he will probably have to pen epistles at the same time to "Dear Bill" and "Dear Libby" in order to avoid the appearance of favoritism.

But whatever the Governor may say on the question, the only thing Libby Ward's backers are really afraid of is that the executive will plump for Durham's Bryant, or (which would hurt almost as much) that some close to His Excellency will convey that impression to unpledged Representatives even though the Governor himself maintains a strict and wholly benevolent neutrality.

Despite the fact that he's the only "original" Hoey man in the trio, Nash's Fenner is generally rated third in the three-man race as of today's standing of the clubs.

This story has no moral, so far as your correspondent is aware, but it would probably induce Cicero to yell louder than ever "O Tempora, O Mores" (whither are we drifting, to you). Entering the dignified, almost rarefied atmosphere of the Supreme Court building the other morning, your correspondent spied upon the marble steps a blonde (quite shapely and comely, withal), sitting, knees crossed with plenty of epidermis exposed, brazenly puffing a cigarette.

State Treasurer Charlie Johnson's Fourth of July speech making will be done at a picnic dinner given to employees of Crowder Transport Company at "Burnside Estate" at Williamsboro, Vance county, according to flag-decked invitational post cars sent out recently.

C. Bickner, M.D. A quick recovery in the midst of all this fun would seem the hollowest kind of victory. It would mean the return of responsibilities. They'd shove an ear into my hands and I'd have to start pulling again. And my hands blister easily. Well, it's my own fault. I know better. I've seen him work before. A long time ago there was a little girl, and they didn't think she was going to get well, and he took her to the hospital, and I went over there, too, and gave her a transfusion, and Bickner said: "Do this and do thus and so," and she became well. They didn't think she would ever get well, but you should see her today.

This sick room of mine is in Rutherford, N. J., about 10 miles from New York. On clear days you can see the Empire State building, like a blue spear in a crayon sky. It is just far enough away from New York to be "removed." There it is at your fingertips but you can't hear it. No jangling taxi sounds. It's like having your cake and eating it. Like Coleridge saying: "As silent as a painted ship upon a painted ocean."

This is a small town with shady streets and a station square and a bus line and a movie theater and a place where everybody goes for ice cream sodas on hot days. It is 45 minutes from Times Square by bus or train and ferry. And yet it is at the end of the world.

One of my pals just brought my mail over from the office. It was a good mail. Ninety-five communications from press-agents and maybe a dozen letters from friends. Some of the readers of this column have been jibing me. They're lots of fun. Well, tomorrow I'll answer them all. I'm well enough to answer them now if I wanted to, worse luck. But I don't want to just now. I can feel one of those lazy, drowsy slumbers coming on. And it feels so good to stretch. And yawn. No nightclubs, no commuting, no cramming one's self into steaming subways, no swing bands, no telephones, no actors, no nuthin' except sleep.

Snow Hill Billies Whip Greenville Greenies By 6-1 Score

HOMERS COME AT RIGHT TIME

Outhit 10 to 7, Billies Make Their Swats Count

The Greenies put 10 men on bases game with Snow Hill yesterday, but via hits and an additional three were given passes on walks in the only one managed to reach home and the Billies won 6-1.

The Billies' six runs came on 7 hits. The two Greenville hurlers walked three men, but Snow Hill managed to get all of its base runners home with the exception of three.

Three double plays cut off runs, Greenville making one and Snow Hill two.

The Greenies got the first run across the plate, making their sole tally in the first inning on a homer

Wednesday—Snow Hill at Greenville.
Thursday—Greenville at New Bern.
Friday—New Bern at Greenville.
Saturday—Greenville at Williamston.

by Douglass, who also hit a two-bagger. Miller made three for four, Korba got two for four and Morris, Smith and Kinston got one each.

After Greenville had made its one in the first, Snow Hill came back in their half of the second to even things up at one-all. They added three in the fourth and one each in the fifth and sixth to end the scoring for the day.

Delaney, who was charged with the loss, was relieved in the box by Winston in the sixth with one man out.

As Douglass' homer accounted for the Greenies' only tally, circuit clouts were responsible for four of Snow Hill's runs. Taylor circled the bases with two in front of him in the fourth and Bistrot hit the other homer of the day.

Eagles Cop Close One to Stay on Serps' Tail

Williamston, June 22.—Kinston continued just a half-game back of Tarboro's league-leading club by taking a 7-5 victory over Williamston yesterday. It was the fourth successive set-back for the Martins.

The Eagles collected 11 hits, nine of which came against Tony Svitil. Red Swain, making his fourth appearance in the last five games, hurled two-hit ball during a 2-2-3 inning relief turn. The red-head also helped on attack by cracking a two-run homer in the seventh. Mullenbeim pitched the route for Kinston.

Sid Stringfellow, with three for four, led Kinston. Dutch Stanley, also with three for four, led Williamston.

Southworth and Wyrostek hit homers for the Eagles.

Score by innings: R. H. E. Kinston . . . . . 012 000 310-7 11 0
Williamston . . . . . 000 002 230-6 9 4

Goldbugs Lick Aces; Four Hurlers' Parade

Ayden, June 22.—Pete Rehkamp struck out 11 and gave up nine hits as Goldsboro scored a 7-2 victory over Ayden today.

Rehkamp was in trouble only in the sixth and eighth innings, and each time he pitched himself out of trouble.

His mates presented him with two runs in each the first and second innings—enough to win the ball game.

The Goldbugs bunched three singles and a fielder's choice to score two runs in the first. Overton singled to open the second, and Dirmann followed suit with a double. Rehkamp belted a double to score two more runs and send Gurth to the showers.

Score by innings: R. H. E. Goldsboro . . . . . 221 000 110-7 9 1
Ayden . . . . . 000 001 010-2 9 3

IRLAND'S COAST DEFENSES TO BE MANNED BY NATIVES

Belfast, Ireland.—(AP)—All of Ireland's coastal defenses soon will be manned by Irishmen.

British military authorities have decided coastal forts in northern Ireland must be manned in future by the six county reserve forces, replacing English and Scottish regiments.

Sir Walter Kirke, head of Britain's reserve, says it "obviously is more satisfactory that the men should come from the immediate vicinity of the points to be defended."

Fortification of several strategic points in Eire in addition to the forts handed over by the British, and a 25,000 increase of Eire army are the main features of the defense program of the southern section of the island.

Transportation-Nehi climbed into a tie with Blount-Harvey for the lead in the softball league yesterday afternoon by defeating the Furniture Dealers 7-1; while Water & Light continued its winning streak and defeated Carolina Dairy 23-5.

Transportation-Nehi averaged a run an inning, scoring two in the first and failing to mark up a counter in only one frame. The losers made their lone tally in the early part of the game, but were never able to get another marker. The winners played errorless ball and this proved a great factor in winning the contest.

The Water & Light boys went on a hitting spree and garnered 27 safeties. An old-timer, Markham, led at bat with three for three. He was paced by Bryson and Robertson, who got four for five each. Robertson pitched for the winners and Barnhill caught. Staunton Harvey was in the box for the dairymen, while James was behind the plate. The batting and fielding of Umphlett was outstanding for his losers. He got three hits for four times at bat.

Louis And Max Ready To Fight

The Louis-Schmeling fight will be broadcast on an NBC national hook-up. Station WPTF of Raleigh will be on the network. The broadcast will start at 9 o'clock, Eastern Standard Time.

By ALAN GOULD

New York, June 22.—The gambiest, gaudiest and, all things considered, the greatest heavyweight boxing rivalry in a decade reaches its climax tonight in what promises to be a balmey, million-dollar setting at the Yankee Stadium.

The 15-round return match between Joe Louis, 24-year-old American Negro holder of the world championship, and Max Schmeling, 32-year-old German challenger, may not crack any fancy records. Nevertheless, it has whipped the fight faithful to a high emotional pitch, created great international sporting excitement, and proved the biggest box-office magnet of any title since Gene Tunney rode the famous "long count" to victory over Jack Dempsey at Chicago in 1927.

A gate of $3,000,000 was the goal that Tex Rickard nearly achieved at the peak of his fantastic career as a promoter 11 years ago. Tonight, Mike Jacobs, the ex-ticket broker who "staked" Tex Rickard for years, will be all smiles if the gross "gate" touches the magic million-dollar mark that barely eluded him in the Louis-Max Baer fight three years ago.

With the advance sale reported slightly over $800,000 tonight, the promoter figured to have a reasonable chance of achieving his goal. Counting $75,000 already paid for radio and motion picture rights, Jacobs expected the aggregate "take" to exceed $1,000,000. No matter what the final tabulation shows, there will be no financial losers in the latest extravaganza of the boxing industry.

Due to the combined influence of the ballyhoo, the current heat wave, and the fascinating uncertainties of the fight itself, there is good reason to suspect that 80,000 or more fans will crowd into the huge American League ball park, paying anywhere from $3.45 to $30 to see whether Schmeling can repeat his sensational 12-round knockout of two years ago or whether the Brown Bomber will return the tables on the only man to lick him since he turned professional.

Louis was still a 1-to-2 shot to win the latest call-over of betting odds, with 17-to-10 quoted against the chances that Schmeling would make ring history by becoming the first ex-champion to regain the world heavyweight title.

Then along came Schmeling, the supposed set-up, with a lethal right hand that smashed the myth of the Bomber's invincibility, made the fight experts look very foolish indeed, and abruptly changed the heavyweight picture. Since that memorable night in the stadium, the return match has been slowly, almost painfully, in the making. In the interval, a year ago, Louis won the championship by knocking out Braddock, but the Negro himself was among the first to admit he could not claim undisputed supremacy unless he turned the tables on his conqueror.

And so, to climax a few million words of argument and collect their share of nearly a million dollars, Max and Joe will climb into the ring around 9 p. m. (E. S. T.) tonight to resume their personal debate.

They're as fit and, from last-minute broadcasts, as confident as two fighters can be under the strain of furor and fanfare.

Few, if any, signs of weakening were manifest among those who think that (a) Schmeling will repeat his knockout or (b) Louis will prove his first defeat was just a fistic accident. Three out of five newspaper experts, as well as betting men, prefer Louis, but offered no eleventh-hour argument calculated to change the minds of those who favor Schmeling.

The Jimikisha is the sole source of support of 150,000 Chinese residing in the International Settlement, according to figures just compiled by the Shanghai municipal police.

Snakes Defeat Bears To Hang On To Lead

New Bern, June 22.—Tarboro's league-leading Serpents yesterday defeated the Bears, 5-3, and thus snapped the Bears' latest winning streak at four games. The loss was only the second in 14 starts and was the first home defeat since June 4.

An error led to a Tarboro run in the opening inning. Myers homered in the third, with Money on base. A walk, Manager Henry's bunt, and a wild throw let the winning run, in the sixth.

The Bears' runs came on homers—Black hit one with Mack on base in the third; Burgess hit one in the seventh.

Mooney with three for three was the leading hitter of the day.

Score by innings: R. H. E. Tarboro . . . . . 102 001 100-5 8 0
New Bern . . . . . 002 000 100-3 9 3

FBI SPY HUNTER ROUNDS UP 18 AND RESIGNS

With 18 persons indicted by the federal grand jury in New York on charges of conspiracy to steal American defense secrets, Leon G. Turrou (left), special agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation who led the far-flung spy hunt, announced his resignation. He said he would seek to recover from the "terrific strain" under which he has worked and wants to be able to be with his family more. Two of the persons under indictment are Theodor Schultze (upper right), believed to be a resident of Germany, and Karl Schluter (lower right), also a reputed German resident.

REMOVAL OF ACL TRAINS VIGOROUSLY PROTESTED

Mayor J. B. Eure of Ayden, re-traced the history of railroads in this section of the state and explained that their primary aim was to obtain revenue. He pointed out that government appropriations and sacrifices had been made in behalf of the railroads, and expressed the opinion that they are now obligated to the people of the state.

Referring to the necessity of improved railroad facilities, Mayor declared, "Railroads should give service in keeping with the times. Service derived from the railroad companies in this section has been obsolete for the last 25 years. Railroads cannot expect revenue unless their service improves."

Mayor M. K. Blount told of a train removal experienced here about two years ago, and how it had materially affected the city. He said that it would be a sad story if the trains are taken off. "Greenville would be without service completely," he said, "and I do not believe Commissioner Winborne will let the city down."

Judge Guy Elliott, representing the Kinston Chamber of Commerce, said his city is interested in the matter from a standpoint of passenger and freight service. "It would be a sad day for Eastern North Carolina if the train service is removed," he declared.

M. S. Brown, chairman of the Merchants Association and Chamber of Commerce, revealed that the organizations which he represented had adopted resolutions protesting the removal of the Tarboro-Plymouth trains, and also were asking for improved service facilities.

O. H. Page of Savannah, Ga., and C. M. Cobb of Norfolk, Va., superintendents of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad, were scheduled to confer with Chamber of Commerce officials in Washington, Tarboro, Greenville, Kinston and Ayden today, during which the railroad officials were to have been familiarized with the sentiments of the towns about the removal of the trains.

N. G. Bartlett, secretary of the Eastern Carolina Chamber of Commerce, called the meeting held here yesterday afternoon, in that towns through which the Kinston-Weldon and Tarboro-Plymouth trains operate, had asked the Eastern Chamber to cooperate with them in protesting the removal proposal of the railroad company. While all towns on these lines did not have representation here yesterday, all had been extended an invitation by Bartlett to attend the session. Those represented in person or by proxy were Greenville, Kinston, Tarboro, Ayden, Bethel, Winterville, Grifton, Jamesville, Scotland Neck, Oak City and Parmele. Among the persons were M. S. Brown, Tarboro; Mrs. M. L. Godfrey, secretary of the Tarboro Chamber of Commerce; George Earnhart, Tarboro clerk; and George M. Fountain, Jr., attorney; Mayor J. B. Eure and J. R. Turnage of Ayden; Carl Rosenbaum, Tarboro merchant; Judge Guy Elliott of Kinston, and Mayor J. H. Roebuck of Parmele.

Bottle Of Liquor Fatal To Rattler

Here is how a pint of liquor proved fatal to a rattlesnake, as told by Herman McLawhorn of Winterville. Mr. McLawhorn was returning from Morehead City, accompanied by a hitch-hiking college student. Between New Bern and Newport they saw a snake on the highway and ran over the tip end of his tail. They stopped, but could find nothing to attack the reptile with until Mr. McLawhorn thought of a pint of whiskey he had purchased in Kinston. The student took the bottle, walked up as close as he felt safe and hit the snake on the head, breaking the bottle and spattering whiskey. The boy then went into the woods, got a stick and returned to finish the job of killing the reptile. Mr. McLawhorn said the snake started to strike at the boy just as he struck the fatal blow.

More Candidates Report Expenses

Raleigh, June 22—(AP)—Judge Walter Bone of the Second Judicial district, who won the Democratic nomination over his fellow-townsmen, I. T. Valentine of Nashville, reported today he spent $2,040.67 in his campaign. Bone said he had a $25 contribution and that W. D. Sharpe, Jr., of Wilson, spent $495 in his behalf and Miss Bessie Bunn of Rocky Mount spent $323.58 for him. Other expenditure reports received ed today included: Rep. John H. Keer, renominated in the Second district, $900; W. D. Rodman, Jr., of Washington, renominated to the State Senate, $542.1.

Kerr said his son, John Kerr, Jr., of Warrenton, contributed $100 to his campaign.

New York Cotton

New York, June 22—(AP)—Cotton futures opened three to five lower, steady Liverpool cables being offset by July liquidation and foreign selling.

October, which had eased from 8.60 to 8.52, was 8.56 late in the first hour when the list was six to eight points net lower.

October reacted to 8.51 and at midday was 8.52 with the list five to 11 net lower.

Futures closed two to five lower. Spot steady, middling 8.68.

Chairman Refuses Al'mance Recount

Wilson, June 22—(AP)—W. A. Lucas, chairman of the State Elections Board, said today certain complaints presented before him by a delegation of Alamance county citizens last night regarding the recent Democratic primary would not necessitate "nor do they justify a recount of the ballots."

He said the delegation alleged irregularities occurred in north and south Graham and west and north Burlington precincts. Lucas informed Worth Thompson of Graham, Alamance Elections Board chairman, of his findings. However, he also asked Raymond Maxwell of Raleigh, secretary of the State board to go to Graham at once to "investigate whether any Republicans have been permitted to vote in the Democratic primary and whether there was any evidence of irregularities, improper conduct or fraud on the part of precinct officials."

SIXTEEN BODIES TAKEN FROM OLYMPIAN SLEEPER

From the half-submerged tourist sleeping car shown at the left, rescue crews removed 16 bodies following the wreck of the Milwaukee Railroad's fast passenger train, the Olympian, near Saugus, Mont. Railway officials say several other victims remained in the car when it slipped back into the silt of flooded Custer Creek after workmen had tolled for hours to jack it up on blocks.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, June 22—(AP)—Stock market prices drove forward for sweeping gains of one to five or more points today, brushing lightly aside early profit reeling and extending for the third day the wide climb begun at the start of this week. The push was led by stocks of some of the country's biggest companies, took place in active trading and found Wall street talking more optimism than for months past. Volume approached 1,600,000 shares. Bull forces had the help of numerous expressions of opinion and bits of statistical evidence that the worst of the current slump in business might have been passed.

Aged Negro Woman Is Claimed By Death

Funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon for "Aunt" Rachael Williams, colored, one of the city's oldest citizens who died at the age of eighty-four Tuesday morning at the home of her daughter Gatsy Clark, on Cotanche street. She was widely known in Pitt county and was respected by members of both races.

Indicted As Spy

Erich Glaser (above), a private in the United States Army Air Corps, at Mitchell Field, New York, is one of 18 persons indicted on charges of conspiracy and espionage in the government's intensive investigation of spy activities.

Washington Irving's acquaintance with John Jacob Astor, New York millionaire, prompted him in 1836 to write "Astoria," a history of the fur-trading settlement founded by Astor in Oregon.
