FEDERAL LOAN ON 1938 CROP OF WHEAT SET

Rates to Average Between 59 and 60 Cents a Bushel

SEES SALES LEVY TO PAY PENSIONS

Roosevelt, Meantime, Continues Toward 'Frisco for Important Address

Washington, July 14. — (AP) — Secretary Wallace announced today the government would make loans on 1938-grown wheat at rates averaging between 59 and 60 cents a bushel to producers who want to hold their grain for better prices.

The loan was made mandatory under provisions of the new farm law on the basis of an official forecast of a huge wheat crop. The crop is estimated far in excess of a normal year's domestic consumption and export needs of about 750,000,000 bushels.

Wallace said the loan rate would average the minimum allowed by law, which is 52 per cent of the "parity" price of $1.14 a bushel.

Meantime, Senator Logan (D-Ky.), said that President Roosevelt's description of the South as the "nation's number one economic problem" was wholly wrong.

Logan said he was not certain just what the President had in mind when he said, "but if the President elucidates his statement I can prove he's wrong."

L. Mellett, director of the National Emergency Council, at Mr. Roosevelt's suggestion, recently began informal conferences with Southern leaders on economic problems of the South.

Other developments: An expert close to the Social Security Board predicted a general sales tax would eventually replace payroll levies to finance old-age pensions.

He said this might happen in five or ten years, depending on how the scope of the Social Security act is broadened.

The PWA approved allotments of $8,710,000 for federal projects and grants and loans totalling $3,869,534 for 28 new non-federal projects.

Aboard President Roosevelt's Train En Route to San Francisco, July 14.—(AP)—President Roosevelt pushed through to the Pacific coast today on a program much to his liking.

His day's plans included a sight-seeing and inspection tour in the San Francisco area, a speech at the exposition grounds and a review of the United States fleet off the city.

The speech, to be delivered at the Golden Gate International Exposition ground administration building, was expected to be one of the most important of his cross-country tour.

The President's plans call for him to board the cruiser Houston at Oakland in mid-afternoon.

The review was scheduled for 4 p. m. (PST). The President will come ashore about 11 p. m., to entrain for El Portal, entrance to Yosemite National Park, where the presidential party will sight-see tomorrow.

Local Auto Salesman Injured In Accident

J. L. Laughinghouse, Greenville automobile salesman, received slight injuries when the car which he was driving ran off the road and wrecked about five miles from Greenville on the Washington highway this morning.

Corporal L. L. Jackson of the State Highway Patrol, who investigated the wreck, said no other car was involved and that Laughinghouse was under the influence of whiskey. He said charges of driving drunk would be brought against the driver, who was alone.

Officers said he resembled the man sought for the crime but they found many portions of story did not tally with known facts.

Japan Retires As Host For '40 Olympic Games

BIG PROBLEMS FACING BOARD

Budget and Major Projects Await Action by Aldermen

Faced with the task of adopting the 1938-39 budget and busy with proposals to erect a municipal building, a new central fire department station and a sub-station, and a street department yard, the Greenville Board of Aldermen is in the midst of one of its busiest seasons.

The regular monthly meeting, scheduled for the first Thursday night in the month, was postponed from last week until tonight. The aldermen, however, no doubt will have to meet in more than one session this week to dispose of all of the pending business.

Although it is probable that the operating expenses of the city will be increased during the current year, higher valuation of property for tax purposes and additional revenue from other sources probably will keep the tax rate at its present level of one dollar. In fact, Mayor M. K. Blount has made the statement that the rate would not be increased.

Other than the budget, the board is faced with the problem of acting on several projects. Plans have been drafted for a $125,000 city hall building, a new central fire department station and a sub-station. (Continued on page six)

Kindergarten To Safety Education Is Suggested

Raleigh, July 14.—A "kindergarten to college" education in safety was advocated today by young North Carolinians as the only lasting and definite solution of the highway safety problem; as Ronald Hecutt, assistant Director of the Highway Safety Division, said every child in a North Carolina public school should receive continuous instruction in safety methods.

"The very day a child enters kindergarten should be the day on which his education in safety on the highways begins, and this safety education should be a part of the school course through every grade until the student graduates from high school," he said.

He pointed out that the current safety campaign in North Carolina has resulted in a marked reduction in the rate of fatalities and accidents on the roads, but he expressed the opinion that approximately perfect results cannot be obtained until every person driving on the

Chinese War and Cost Officially Listed As Reasons

Tokyo, July 14. (AP) The Japanese government suddenly abandoned plans today to be host to the 1940 Olympics, because of the probable duration of the Chinese war, and the cost of financing the games.

The announcement of the cancellation by Public Welfare Minister Kido through Domei (Japanese news agency) surprised the entire nation, including the Japanese organizing committee, whose members declared the twelfth Olympics would be conducted "whether or not the government" supports it.

Various athletic organizations and newspapers in several countries had agitated for a boycott of the games if held in Japan, but monetary reasons and military leaders' opposition to a growth of internationalism among Japanese were cited to explain the suspension.

Despite several previous indications that Japan did not wholly support the 1940 events, the government had prepared to contribute 4,300,000 yen (about $1,250,000) toward the cost and build a $2,000,000 stadium near Tokyo.

Just three days ago a squad of 40 was selected for the Japanese football teams and sent to the mountain to begin training.

London and Helsinki, Finland, have been mentioned as possible sites for the coming Olympiad if Japan found it impossible to be host.

In 1937 New Mexico had the highest birth-rate in the country, New Jersey the lowest.

NORMAL CROPS ARE FORECAST FOR CAROLINA

Mother Nature Has Way of Remedying Conditions

OUTLOOK BETTER THAN ON JULY 1

Prospective Production of Tobacco Considerably Above 10-Year Average

Raleigh, July 14.—(AP)—The Federal-State Crop Reporting Service forecast today that despite "very unfavorable" weather conditions during June, North Carolina farmers might find by August 1 that "many crops may have the appearance of an almost normal condition."

"While conditions have undoubtedly been harmful," said Frank Parker, Federal statistician for the State Agriculture Department "yet nature has a way of remedying conditions in an amazing and speedy manner."

The condition of crops generally is "much more favorable" now than it was July 1, Parker said.

North Carolina's unfavorable conditions as of July 1, he said, "are competing with the favorable prospects of the nation at large." In spite of a general reduction in planting, the "final harvest" may exceed the 10 year average for more crops, it appears.

Dealing with individual crops, the condition report set forth: Tobacco planting seasons were unusually favorable and despite bad weather in June, "prospective production is considerable above the 10 year average. Tobacco as a whole show a 13 per cent larger production than the 10 year average."

The Irish potato acreage was cut from 97,000 to 84,000, but indicated yield of 118 bushels an acre, compared with 102 bushels last year.

The Japanese government suddenly indicates a bumper crop of 9,912,000 bushels, compared with 9,394,000 last year.

NO CHANGE IN OPENING DATE

Eastern Carolina Tobacco Markets To Open Aug. 25

Although efforts had been made to influence the Tobacco Association of the United States to move up the opening date of Eastern Carolina tobacco markets, it was definitely learned today that the auctions will start in Greenville and other cities in the belt on August 25, the date set recently at the annual convention of the association.

Efforts to move up the date were centered around Farmville, where representatives of the various warehouses met and attempted to formulate a plan whereby the auctions could start earlier than the last week in August. It was understood, however, that the group failed to secure any concessions from the sales committee of the association.

Warehouses had expressed the opinion August 18 would have been the proper date for opening the markets.

Efforts to secure an earlier opening date back to the annual convention of the Eastern Carolina Warehousemen's Association, when a resolution was passed petitioning the United States Tobacco Association to set an early date this year.

ROSS KIDNAPER GOES TO DEATH

John Henry Seadlund Electrocuted at Chicago Prison

Chicago, July 14.—(AP)—John Henry Seadlund paid with his life today for the crime of kidnaping.

The 27-year-old lumberjack, abductor of Charles Ross and killer of the man who helped him commit the crime, was electrocuted at 12:08 a. m. CST, in the Cook county jail.

Shaved and masked, Seadlund walked tensely into the execution chamber almost unaided. "You don't have to hold my arm," he told the guards on each side of him. "I can get there alone." After seating himself, he made a visible effort to relax and held his arms out for the clamps. He was the second man to be executed by the Federal government under the Lindbergh law.

The first was Arthur Gooch, 27, hanged at McAlester, Okla., in 1936 for kidnaping two peace officers at Paris, Texas, while attempting to avoid arrest.

Twenty-five witnesses saw Seadlund die. Among them was S. E. Koop, a Crosby, Minn., undertaker selected by Seadlund to carry his body back to his home in Ironton, Minn.

Seadlund's last hour was spent in a spirit of fatality. Those who saw him said he expressed no regret, no bitterness, he fitfully read the bible and talked with the jail chaplain. In his death cell and hour and a half before the execution, he partook of a light lunch.

Gubernatorial Prospects To Address Muni League

Raleigh, July 14.—At least two of the most prominently mentioned 1940 gubernatorial prospects will speak at the 28th annual convention of the North Carolina League of Municipalities at Asheville, August 5 and 6.

Announcement was made here today by Mayor Ben E. Douglas of Charlotte, league president, that Commissioner of Revenue A. J. Maxwell and State Treasurer C. M. Johnson will be on the program.

Neither, of course, will speak as a potential candidate but each will talk on features of the state governmental in which he is an acknowledged expert.

Reflector Bureau is represented by members of the Muni League.

The League has uniformly and resolutely opposed homestead exemptions and in the last legislature fought to preserve revenue from intangible taxes for the counties and municipalities. Mr. Maxwell, as the leading tax expert of the state, opposed homestead exemptions before committees of the 1937 Assembly and sought to retain all intangible tax revenues for the state—finally agreeing to a compromise which gave local units half the collections and the state the other half.

Mr. Johnson, who is ex officio chairman of the local government commission and also chairman of the committee recently named by the Governor to study ways and means to eliminate much local legislation by the General Assembly, will give his views on local legislation and his own rule for North Carolina municipalities.

CIRCLES GLOBE BEFORE CLOSE OF FOURTH DAY

JOYOUS THROG GREET'S AIRMEN

Plane Set Down At Floyd Bennett Field 91 Hours 17 Minutes After Take-Off

Floyd Bennett Airport, N. Y., July 14.—(AP)—Howard Hughes and his four fellow world-girdlers landed at Floyd Bennett airport at 1:36 p. m., EST, today with a smashing new round-the-world record of less than four days.

The monoplane circled the field twice before coming down to an easy landing before a wildly cheering crowd.

The total elapsed time for the dash around the globe was set officially at 91 hours, 17 minutes, or three days, 19 hours and 17 minutes.

The multimillionaire speedster whipped in from the west under a threatened overcast sky with a record that more than halved the seven day, 18 hour, 49 minute round-the-world time established in 1933 by the late Wiley Post.

Hughes' speed for the elapsed time was approximately 116 miles per hour.

Hundreds of automobile horns joined in a tumultuous welcomer. Despite elaborate precautions to protect the plane, a surging crowd broke through to get a close-up glimpse of the unshaven, disheveled heroes.

Hughes and his companions' last stop before New York was at Minneapolis, Minn., at 7:38 a. m., EST, after a 3,441-mile hop from Fairbanks, Alaska, over the Canadian Rockies, down the great wastes of the Yukon, and the barrens of northwest Canada.

Ludington, Mich., July 14.—(AP)—An airplane believed to be Howard Hughes' globe-girdling plane, flying eastward at high speed, was sighted over Ludington on the east coast of Lake Michigan, about 660 miles from New York City, at 10:55 a. m., EST, today.

New York, July 14.—(AP)—Howard Hughes and his four globe-circling companions roared toward New York today on the last leg of their round-the-world flight—a hop of 11,054 miles.

Bearded, extremely weary by the unending roar of the ship's motors and their long vigil over 11,000 miles of travel, they landed at the airport at Minneapolis, Minn., at 8:38 a. m., EST, after a 2,441-mile flight from Fairbanks, Alaska, in 12 hours and one minute.

They halted at Minneapolis only long enough to refuel—a job that took 33 minutes. They were in the air again at 9:11 and one-half. The last leg of the record-breaking trip should be covered in four and a half hours, with Floyd Bennett Field the final destination.

The Minneapolis airport was the first American soil the fliers had touched. Alaska excepted, since leaving here last Sunday at 6:29 p. m. Their elapsed flying time at the moment of landing was 66 hours and 49 minutes.

Hughes and his companions smiled and waved at the Minneapolis crowd that gathered quickly at the air field.

Their landing at Minneapolis was made more than six and a half hours after they had last been heard from by radio.

RESIDENTS BUILD MOAT TO WAYLAY HOARDS OF INVADING 'HOPPERS'

Fountain, Colo. (AP)—The residents of this town and of nearby irrigated districts resorted successfully to ancient moat defenses recently to repel a threatened invasion of grasshoppers.

'Hoppers, too young to fly, were moving toward the town and the rich farm lands. The problem was to exterminate them before they grew wings and could fly.

Water was turned into an old ditch that circled the city on the north, east and south sides. Poisoned bran was scattered on the side of the ditch from which the 'hoppers were approaching.

Healthy grasshoppers can swim, but the poison made them ill. When they tried to cross the water they were washed downstream into a nearby reservoir.

There they drowned and nearby residents reported the millions of bodies created such a stench it was "almost unbearable."

Washington Daybook

By Preston Grover

Washington—There are already two rather well-defined patterns outlined for managing monopolies and trusts, and both will be much aired in the upcoming investigation to be conducted jointly by Congress and representatives of several downtown departments at a cost of $500,000.

The Capitol Hill pattern, advocated by Senators Borah of Idaho and O'Mahoney of Wyoming, would require all corporations to be federally licensed before they operate in interstate commerce. That plan would put the federal hand on every monopoly, since for all practical purposes all monopolies or monopolistically inclined organizations are corporations, although it does not allow that all corporations are monopolies.

It is the Borah-O'Mahoney view that the federal government could write into the law all conditions necessary to end harmful monopoly and insure sensibly free and open competition. Any corporation refusing to be licensed or violating the law would be denied the right to operate in interstate commerce.

The Senators contend that business would not be disrupted, but could operate on a known federal pattern. More important to these two western Senators, it would end
in one act the free and easy practices allowed so-called "Delaware corporations."

By Easy Stages

The downtown or Arnold pattern,
on the other hand, calls for a slower evolutionary approach to the problem. Supporting this view is Thurman Arnold, Yale professor, who lately became assistant attorney general at the head of the antitrust division. He is likely to represent the Department of Justice in the investigation body.

His plan calls for taking one wayward industry after another into court on criminal complaints alleging violation of existing anti-trust laws. Mr. Arnold does not look upon these corporations of their officials as criminals in the sense of thieves or embezzlers. But he believes that at times do not hesitate to fix prices or take other steps for their corporate advantage which cannot be condoned either as legal or good for the public welfare.

So he presses his criminal suits with the view of bringing either a conviction or, better still, a consent deed under which the corporation will agree not only to suspend the practices complained against but to follow a future pattern of conduct more in harmony with the public welfare.

Recently this step was pursued against three finance companies accused of unfair practices in handling the credit business of Ford, General Motors and Chrysler Motors. The negotiations for the consent deed were carried on allegedly without the knowledge of the court, and Judge Geiger of Minneapolis threw out the whole action.

The same case now is being presented in another court under Arnold's new plan. He was not in charge in the first instance.

Guide For Conduct

Arnold has announced that in future each suit is to be accompanied by a public statement of what it is intended to accomplish and the basals upon which it is brought. Further, any consent decrees proposed by the accused corporation or corporations will be laid immediately before the court without any behind-scenes operations. The government will recommend acceptance or rejection of the proposal but it will be up to the court to determine whether it is to be accepted and the criminal suit legally terminated.

Each case under this plan then becomes a guide for future conduct of other corporations. Some cases may suggest the need of amending present laws. In such cases, Arnold says, the exact amendment needed will be asked of Congress. Thus the future anti-trust code would be a matter of growth rather than the quick evolution contemplated in the Borah-O'Mahoney plan.

Borah and O'Mahoney find such a process wholly unsatisfactory. Already Borah and Arnold have crossed swords so sharply as to indicate that the investigation may devote itself as much to inquiring into rival remedies as into corporate evils.

LOVE ON THE RANGE

BY NELSON C. RYE

The Story So Far

Someone is out to bust the Raf-fer T ranch. Under the name of Abe Streeter, quick-fire "Blar" Ankrom takes a job there to help lovely Lee Trone. Ankrom immediately dislikes Ratchford, the sheriff, and when Colonel Struthers and his daughter Betty arrive
for a visit, he recognizes Struthers as an impostor, Kelton Drea-
n, Claydell, a neighboring rancher, is expected for a conference at the Trone's. A shot is fired at Ankrom in the dark. Another shot rings out, and a body falls.

Chapter 12

The Dude Is Dead

"GOOD LORD!" choked a voice
—a girl's voice. "It's Colonel Struthers!"

It was; Ankrom had known it instantly.

"Hold this lantern, somebody," Ratchford growled, and thrust it into Ankrom's hands. The sheriff then dropped to his knees beside Kelton Drea'n's form. When Ratchford got to his feet, his eyes met Ankrom's squarely.

"Pretty quick," he said, "we're all going to saunter over to the house an' go inside an' stay there until daylight. Meantime, I don't want to catch anyone tramping round over by that bunkhouse. This Struthers dude is dead."

A heavy sigh reached Ankrom's ears. It came from a man beside him. Looking up Ankrom saw that the man was Trone. The ranch-er's face looked haggard; his hands were clasped so tightly about his belt that their knuckles stood out like jumps of chalk.

Then Ankrom saw Lee Trone.
Betty stood beside her. Lee's face
he thought a trifle pale but her eyes were bright with interest—
a little horror was in them, too.
Betty's eyes were like burnt holes in a white counterpane; just now the rouge upon her cheeks gave her face a ghastly appearance.

"Daddy—Daddy, it's Daddy!"
There were tears and laughter in her voice, and the laugh ran thin with hysteria. She swayed and Ankrom sprang to catch her; he scopied her up in his arms and strode angrily toward the house.
Behind him came Ratchford's voice: "Trone, you an' the others better go along, too. I'll be with you in a minute."

Lengthening his step to hold his lead, Ankrom gritted fiercely.
"You little fool!"

They were close to the ranch-
house now and light from the un-shaded windows showed Betty's eyes come swiftly open. "Don't scold me—please. I had to see you I've got to talk with you alone
right away—"

"We'll get no chance now," Ankrom cried in a gruffly. "That sheriff's nobody's damn clown. He made sure this was no bluff by sendin' them others with us. What did you want to talk to me about?"

She got a hand inside her dress.
When it came out it held a gun.
As Ankrom carried her to a sofa,
she held the gun out to him anxiously.
"Quick—take it! You'll have to get rid of it for me. I—"

"Did you shoot Drea'n?"
"I had to. He wouldn't have missed you the second time." Her eyes grew large again, filled with apprehension. "Quick—put it out of sight! The others are coming!"

They were. Ankrom heard their steps upon the veranda. Hastily he thrust the weapon—a short-barreled .32—out of sight beneath his coat. And none too soon.

In This Room

LEE TRONE came into the room,
her father and the others behind her. Ankrom lifted a hand to push back his hat and found his forehead moist. "Gosh," he said,
"She keeled right over, didn't she?"

Lee looked oddly at the girl with the closed eyes who lay so limply
on the sofa. "I'll get some water,"
she said.

"Poor kid," Old Man Trone heaved a sigh. "Pretty tough on her, havin' her father shot down like that." The two punchers stood behind him, looking on with interest, hats in hand, mouths open.

Ankrom saw that Trone's glance,
resting upon him, held a gleam
of something he could not define.
Clearing his throat Trone said,
"Did I understand you to tell the sheriff someone took a shot at you, Streeter?"

"Someone shot a cigarette out of my mouth, yeah."
"Pretty good shooting for night
work, don't you think?"
"Depends. I was lightin' the cigarette. I'd say I made a pretty fair target."
"Do you think the same man fired both shots—the one at you and the one that downed the colonel?"
"Kind of hard to say," Ankrom evaded, and felt relieved when the sheriff came striding into the room. Lee came, too, bringing a towel and water. She passed Ankrom without a look and, bending
above the sofa, began bathing Betty's forehead. "She looks awfully white," Lee said.
Ratchford flung the girls a disinterested glance, cleared his

SHORT SHOTS

By HENRY AVERILL

Raleigh, July 14—Just as one
swallow doesn't make a man drunk, North Carolina's tax collections for the first nine days of the current fiscal year cannot be accepted as an infallible index of what is in store during the balance of the period.

If it could be Governor Clyde R.
Hoey wouldn't leave on his vacation
with few cares of state to harass him, and Commissioner of Revenue
A. J. Maxwell would doubtless be losing several hours sleep every night.

This because the collections thru July 9 are far under those for the corresponding period of 1937, with practically every item on the tax lists showing a marked and, in many cases, drastic falling off.

For example, sale tax collections through July 9, this year, brought in $87,059.12 as compared with $109,057.80 for the first nine days of July, 1937—a decline of about 20 per cent.

Total revenue division collections
this year amounted to $443,459.16 against $517,031.51 last, or drop of $73,572.35, or nearly 15 per cent.

In the Motor Vehicle Division the declines were equally marked. Gasoline taxes for the first nine days of this July brought in $10,103.72
against $15,761.44, off almost one-third; while total from all items in the division yielded $75,326.98 as compared with $96,129.50 in the corresponding period of 1937—a decrease of more than 20 per cent.

These declines, if continued in the same ratio through the entire year would cut last year's almost $70,000,000 in revenue to something like $58,000,000.

Fortunately, as said at the start,
it's much too early yet to accept the current figures as indicative of a definite trend; and so nobody is getting excited about the matter—
not yet, at any rate.

Commissioner of Labor A. L.
Fletcher's statement that his department needs a full-time attorney, remains, that no department of the state government can hire a lawyer for any special purpose without the authorization of the Attorney General's office.

Not so long ago a memorandum went out from the Budget bureau of all department head warning that employment of legal assistance without authority would result in payment of the hired lawyer, or lawyers, out of the pocket of the hiring department head.

It may seem a far cry from Rural Electrification in North Carolina to mining of feldspar and kindred minerals in Canada, but J. M. Grainger, engineer of the N. C. REA board believes the latter is proving a tremendous hindrance to the former.
It's this way: Competition of Canadian mineral products has just about shut down the feldspar, kaolin and mica industries of western North Carolina. As a result that in the form of a tariff against the Canadian competition. Result of this standstill, quite naturally, is loss of interest in all development, including rural electrification, in the western sections hit the hardest.

Now it appears the results of Richmond county's legislative races
are again completely in the dark;
but maybe they'll get through counting and recounting votes there

The second-place Blount-Harvey softball team defeated Carolina Sales, 12-7, in the only contest played on the offday yesterday afternoon.

The department store men proved too good for the Sales team, which is resting next to the cellularite Professional Men, who have forfeited several games recently because of inability to get a team on the field.

Transportation-Nehi still leads the league with 14 victories and three losses, only on game ahead of Blount-Harvey. The recently fast-stepping Water and Light team is in third place with 13 victories and six losses.

They Hit 'Em Far and Often in Billies' Park

Snow Hill, July 14.—Snow Hill pounded an 11-6 triumph over the Tarboro Serpents yesterday in a game featured by five home runs. Harry Soufas, Billie first baseman, contributed two of the round-trippers. His two-run homer ended scoring in Snow Hill's five-run fourth inning, and he hit his other homer to open the sixth. Johnny Taylor also contributed a two-run homer in the Billies' big inning. The home run business was started by Maynard, Tarboro lead-off man—he connected with the second pitch of the game and sent the ball over the left-field fence. Shortstop Solly Myers of the Snakes hit a two-run homer in the fourth.

Monk Joyner offered the feuding feature of the day. In the second inning, he all but climbed the centerfield fence to catch Bullock's drive. Monk then threw in to Mewborn to double Lehman off second.

mark of six points lower than his figure of a week ago, is Johnny Wyrostek, Kinston outfielder, Wyrostek has .382.

Latest official averages were announced yesterday by J. Gaskill McDaniel, league statistician. Don King, Greene pitcher, now has possession of the lead in the Coastal Plain hurler's standings. Don has won 9 and lost 2. Ed Hurley, Kinston chucker, is in the runner-up spot with 12 win and 3 losses.

New York, July 12.—(AP)—The stock market turned balky today after early rallying attempts failed to get very far, and leading issues backed down fractions to a point or so in the final hour.
The forenoon comeback was led by my motors and steels, but it was not overlooked that dealings were the most active on the opening sell-off, when blocks of 1,000 to 2,500 shares changed hands.
Bonds for the most part moved irregularly.

To Fix Allotment Of Small Schools

Raleigh, July 14.—Principal item of business before the State School Commission at its meeting here today is allotment of teachers to the few "sub-standard" schools not having high enough average daily attendance to be taken care of in the regular allotment.
The commission passed on the allotment, tentatively made by Secretary Lloyd Griffin, of 64 teachers to these sub-standard schools.
According to Mr. Griffin, total allotment of teachers for the 1938-39 session will be approximately 24,000—an increase of about 200 over the 23,867 allotted last session.
The commission secretary said that all allotments have not yet been completed and it is, therefore, impossible to give the exact number of teachers allotted for the beginning of the coming school year.
Until October 1, at the earliest, it will be impossible to say exactly how many teachers North Carolina schools will be allotted this year, as changes will be made after school opens by allotting additional teachers to those schools which show an attendance substantially higher than that on which the original allotment was made.
Most of the 64 teachers scheduled for allotment by the commission today are for duty in colored elementary schools, though in a few instances they apply to white and high schools.
Among the schools for which allotments were made were:
Colored school at Mebane, Alamance county; colored schools at Branche (2), Rose Hill and Magnolia in Duplin county; colored school at Davidson, Mecklenburg county; colored schools at Willard, Webb and Long Creek, in Pender county; and colored schools at Granite Quarry (2), and Aggery Memorial in Rowan county.

It's The Same Everywhere.
Fort Collins, Colo.—(AP)—Ray Anderson, butcher, says he can tell the time of the month by the size of the money that comes over his counter.
"For the first few days it's $5 and $10 bills," said Anderson. "By the last of the month it's down to nickels and dimes."

TO FIX STATUS N. C. WARDEN

To Determine Employer of Co-Operative Officer

Reflector Bureau
Raleigh, July 14.—Commissioner T. A. Wilson of the State Industrial Commission today heard evidence at Burgaw in a compensation claim which, when finally decided, will determine the new district employment status of a district Forest Warden while he is actively engaged in work on a fire prevention program in which the state is co-operating with a private company.
The question at issue is whether the warden is working for the Department of Conservation and Development (a state agency) or for the co-operating private agency at such times.

The question arose this year when J. I. Chadwick, a district forest warden, died as the result of injuries suffered when he fell from a bridge over a Pender county canal while engaged in inspection of the structure in line of duty to protect from forest fires land on which the Virginia Pulpwood and Paper company was operating.
Assistant Attorney General T. Wade Bruton appeared for the Department of Conservation and Development and argued that in view of the facts, Chadwick was actively engaged in employment of the company and not of the state agency.

Bee Brand
INSECT POWDER
USE Bee Brand Insect Powder—kills roaches, ants and many other crawling insects as quickly and surely as Bee Brand Insect Spray kills flies and mosquitoes. Harmless to humans, birds, pets.

at the time the accident occurred. It is the first time the point has been raised in North Carolina, so far as can be learned here, and final decision will probably be made only after the case has gone to the Supreme court of the state.
Whatever finding Commissioner Wilson makes as a result of today's hearing must be approved by the full three-member commission, after which the losing party may (and in this case probably will) appeal to the Superior court, from which it would then go, on appeal to the Supreme Court.

Hook Brings Ace
Loup City, Neb. (AP)—R. R. Jenner dreamed fondly of the time when he would shoot a hole in one on the Loup City golf course. He hooked his drive off the No. 4 tee. The ball settled neatly into the No. 6 cup, about 125 yards away and to the left of the No. 4 fairway.

Florida Booms Ice Sports
Miami, Fla. (AP)—Ice sports are coming to the land of sunshine and oranges. The Coral Gables coliseum with a seating capacity of 4,000 has been leased for year-round activity in these sports. The winter schedule starting December 1 will include hockey, ice shows and public skating. Ice will be formed artificially in the rinks and arenas.

Just why people from New York to California are storming theatres that are playing THE SHEIK we can't be sure.
