Senate Judiciary Sub-Committee Approves Nomination Murphy as Attorney General

Washington, Jan. 10. (AP)—A House appropriations sub-committee agreed today on a $725,000,000 appropriation to carry the WPA through June 30.

Meanwhile a Senate judiciary sub-committee approved unanimously President Roosevelt's nomination of Frank Murphy to be Attorney General.

Washington, Jan. 10. (AP)—Representative Treadway (R-Mass.) opening a Republican attack on the administration's reciprocal trade treaty, predicted today that the minority party's membership would be strong enough in 1940 to repeal the program.

"The doubling of the representation of the Republican party in the present Congress showed that the people are beginning to realize what the New Deal is doing to them," Treadway said on the House floor.

"In the next Congress we are going to have more than enough Republicans to wipe out the present trade treaty program, which is so detrimental to the interest of our people, and restore the Republican policy of protection, under which our country has prospered for a century and a half."

Treadway opened the second day of the Republican speeches in the House. President Roosevelt's administration, while the House awaits its first piece of legislation, the emergency relief bill, which Speaker Bankhead said might not be ready for debate until next week.

The Senate meanwhile stayed in session just long enough to complete its committee assignments and to receive a few nominations from the President. It will meet again Thursday. The nominations included Spruille Braden to be ambassador to Colombia, and Frank P. Corrigua to be ambassador to Venezuela.

Before the Senate and House convened for the day a group composed of military committee members from Developing Tract South Of 10th St.

About five of the 36 acres in the tract purchased by Greenville to establish a playground and recreation center south of Tenth street extension will be developed soon and part of it used as a baseball diamond for children.

The remaining part of the cleared land will be farmed this year, but it is expected after next fall the entire tract will be developed for a playground.

The State Highway Commission has started extending Elm street through the property and the road ultimately will be paved. Work on a bridge already has begun and it is expected that the street will be completed within three or four weeks, with the paving to be laid later.

After a request for part of the tract to be used as a baseball diamond was made by J. H. Rose, superintendent of the city schools, the board voted to grant this request and leave the renting of the remainder to Mr. Rose, who said today a deal had practically been completed for leasing the rest of the tract for farming purposes. According to Mr. Rose, this will be the last year, however, that any of the property will be rented for farming as this fall the entire tract will be developed into a park.

Signpost

London, Jan. 10. (AP)—Anthony Eden today told an Anglo-American audience President Roosevelt's message to Congress "is a signpost which points the way along which all liberty-loving nations of the world wish to travel."

Speaking to the American Chamber of Commerce in London, the former foreign secretary, recently returned from a visit to the United States, said it would be difficult to exaggerate "the tonic effect of that speech upon the British people." "We live in a time and in a continent where liberty is discarded and our people see more clearly the effort that is called for from them if they wish to protect their freedom

Higher Salaries or 12th Grade Up To Legislature

Reflector Bureau. By HENRY AVERILL. Raleigh, Jan. 10.—North Carolina's budget commission left squarely up to the 1939 General Assembly decision between a Twelfth Grade in the Public Schools and an additional salary increment for teachers of nine or more years experience.

In short the commission declined to commit itself as between a service to the parents and children of the state and a salary increase to those teachers already in the highest paid brackets.

CUT REQUESTS YOUTH HELD ON SERIOUS COUNT

Budget Commission Recommends $416,892 for 1939-40

Raleigh, Jan. 10.—The Budget Commission report, made to the General Assembly last night, includes recommendations for appropriations for East Carolina Teachers College, Greenville, of $416,892 for the year 1939-40 and $417,155 for the year 1940-41.

The college had requested appropriations of $466,793 and $466,579 for the two years of the biennium. Salaries and wages accounted for more than half the recommended appropriations—also for the biggest differences between the sums asked and those recommended.

It was sought to increase the instructional staff of the college from 72 during the current year to 80. Recommendations are made for a staff of 76 during each year of the coming biennium.

Principal amounts recommended, with the sum asked following in parentheses:

Salaries and wages, $246,712 each year ($276,699).

Supplies and materials, $122,000 and $123,310 ($129,550 and $139,750).

Additions and betterments, $2,256 and $2,513 ($26,802 and $25,588).

Leonard Adams, Negro boy, son of Savannah Adams of 209 Center street, attracted much attention this morning when he fell in a street after having suffered a spell which his mother said he frequently experienced.

The boy suffered the spell at the intersection of Dickinson avenue and Center streets about 8 o'clock and a large crowd going to work stopped to investigate. The report got out that he was struck by an automobile and instantly killed. He was first observed in the middle of the street by Banks Cozart, who, not realizing anything was wrong, told him he had better get out of the street before he was hit by an automobile. The Negro then fell to the street and attracted a large crowd of curious.

All applicants must be between the ages of 23 and 25 years and must furnish a physical examination certificate from a reputable physician, examination to be made on standard insurance blanks.

Of its action regarding increments and the twelfth grade the commission said:

Britain Opposes Italian Demands For French Soil

Agreement Between Two Democracies To Reject Any Territorial Demand on French Empire Announced By Bonnet

Paris, Jan. 10.—(AP)—An agreement between France and Britain to reject any Italian territorial demand for a share in the French empire was announced to the French cabinet today by Foreign Minister Bonnet.

Following a cabinet meeting at the Elysee Palace, shortly before British Prime Minister Chamberlain and Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax were to reach Paris on their way to Rome, it was disclosed Bonnet told his colleagues he had received assurance of the "complete accord of the London cabinet with the French point of view."

This, Bonnet said, had been conveyed to him last night by Sir Eric Phipps, British Ambassador to France.

Chamberlain and Halifax, en route to conferences with Premier Mussolini arranged to "take tea" with Bonnet and Daladier here late today.

Chamberlain, alarmed by reports of a new intensive Italian-German campaign for domination of the Western Mediterranean, had left London for Rome to discover the 1939 aims of the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo triangle.

Armed with his famous gold-knuckled umbrella, the 69-year-old Prime Minister boarded the Golden Arrow express for Paris at 11 a. m. on 10 Jan.

A group of jobless who had gathered to see him off greeted him with shouts of "appraise the unemployed, not Mussolini."

Chamberlain carried with him a last-minute report of French Ambassador Corbin, who expressed fears that Germany's new fleet of "Minox submarines" was being built mainly to hamper French-British shipping in the western Mediterranean.

Informed quarters admitted that this promise, together with the success of General Franco's Italian-German supported drive in Eastern Spain, was causing the Prime Minister a great deal of worry.

Meanwhile Rome reported Italy made it clear that she would try to enlist the support of British Prime Minister Chamberlain in her campaign to get concession from France.

Despite efforts of France to keep the French-Italian dispute off the agenda, the Fascist press indicated it expected this to be the main topic of conversations starting tomorrow between Chamberlain and Mussolini.

Newspapers stressed Italy's claims against France over all other matters likely to be discussed.

Reflector Bureau. Budget Commission Recommends $416,892 for 1939-40

Traffic Death Rate In N. C. Drops 20 Per Cent

Reduction Exceeds National Figures; Rate Higher

Raleigh, Jan. 10.—(AP)—The traffic death rate in North Carolina decreased about 20 per cent in 1938, as compared with 1937, James Burch, statistical engineer of the Highway and Public Works Commission said today in a "semi-final" report.

The state's reduction of traffic deaths was better than the national average, he commented, but the rate is higher than the nation's.

"On the basis of actual traffic deaths," said Burch, "semi-final reports indicated 203 fewer deaths on highways in 1938 than in 1937, an improvement of 18 per cent. This is based on 1,123 traffic deaths for 1937 and an estimated 910 for 1938."

Turning to the traffic death rate based on vehicle registrations, with more cars operated in 1938, Burch said the rate per 10,000 registered vehicles dropped from 10.16 in 1937 to 15.35 in 1938, an improvement of about 20 per cent.

The death rate per 10 million gallons of gasoline, Burch reported, dropped from 30.04 persons to 23.57, an improvement of 21 and one-half per cent.

Based on most recent estimates, the traffic death rate in nation for 1938 was 16.82 per 10 million gallons of gasoline, as compared with 20.55 deaths per 10 million in 1937, an improvement of 18.15 per cent.

Committee Assignments Along Lines Predicted

Reflector Bureau. By LYNN NISBET. RALEIGH, Jan. 10.—Chairmanship of the elections and election law committee in the house, in which more general interest centered than any other assignment, went to George W. Phillips of Onslow.

It had been definitely predicted in this correspondence that this assignment would go to the east. The fact that Phillips' county does not have the absentee nuisance to contend with, and further that he lived for several years in the western part of the state, is thought to have influenced the selection.

This announcement was awaited with more interest than any other, because the naming of Fenner of Nash to Finance and Caffey of Guilford to appropriations had been virtually assured several days ago.

The seven fatalities in December compare with six in the previous month. In December there were 44 accidents, in which an additional 17 persons were injured, while in November there were 41 accidents.

Based on most recent estimates, the traffic death rate in nation for 1938 was 16.82 per 10 million gallons of gasoline, as compared with 20.55 deaths per 10 million in 1937, an improvement of 18.15 per cent.

WOULD EXTEND EDUCATION FOR N. C. NEGROES

Proposes Additional Courses at Two Colored Colleges

BILL PROPOSED BY REP. MURPHY

Action Follows Ruling Supreme Court Missouri Must Provide for Negro Students

Raleigh, Jan. 10.—(AP)—A measure to establish graduate and professional courses for Negroes at the North Carolina College for Negroes at Durham and at the Agricultural and Technical College at Greensboro hit legislative hoppers today.

The matter of graduate, professional and specialized courses for Negroes took on added significance last week when a Negro woman applied for entrance to the University of North Carolina, apparently basing her petition on the recent Missouri case in which the U. S. Supreme court held that the state must provide such courses for Negroes.

Last week Governor Hoy recommended in his biennial message that the legislature make provision for graduate work at the two state-supported colleges for Negroes, and the application of the Negroes was filed at Chapel Hill the same day.

Representative Murphy of Rowan offered the bill.

It authorizes the board of trustees of North Carolina College for Negroes to establish graduate courses in the liberal arts field, and professional courses, to meet demands and as funds permit. Specialized and technical courses could be established by the board of the A. and T. College. Demand for the courses would have to be made by 10 or more persons, and if less than 16 apply for such courses the boards of trustees of the institutions may pay up to $300 annually as tuition for the applicants who certify they have entered recognized schools elsewhere to get the courses.

The senate session lasted a bare 10 minutes and the house met only two minutes longer.

This afternoon the joint finance and appropriations committee studied the budget recommendations for the 1939-41 biennium, a record expenditure of $154,000,000 being proposed.

Tomorrow Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins will speak to the Legislature. She will be met by a special legislative committee, one of the members of which is Senator Rodman of Beaufort.

The course will be conducted under the direction of C. W. Willard, chairman of the First Aid Committee of the local chapter of the Red Cross.

Mr. Willard explained that the course was being given primarily for WPA foremen, teachers and time-keepers, but added the course would be open to anyone wishing to avail themselves of the opportunity to learn the fundamentals in first aid.

The course will be taught by local men who took the instructors' course given at Rocky Mount and later here by Dr. Odus Marshall of the national headquarters of the Red Cross.

The course is one of the activities of the Red Cross carried on in the various localities and under the sponsorship of the individual chapters. Similar courses have been successfully conducted here before.

LEAGUE PROVIDES OR HOSPITAL BED, (Continued from Page One) Brown, and Mrs. T. A. Smoot, Jr., will pass upon the case.

Dr. T. M. Watson, who addressed the League Monday morning, spoke of the real opportunity for such service that exists here and of the average person's willingness and eagerness to help others in distress.

He said the average necessary hospitalization per case is about twelve days, for children the average is about five days. Considering this, it is evident that many sick people can receive the comfort of this bed space during a year.

The Service League will bear two-thirds of the daily expense of this undertaking. The remaining one-third will come from the Duke Foundation. Medical services will be rendered to the patient by the hospital staff without additional charge.

In order to sustain its plan the League will sponsor various social activities. It is hoped that the public will manifest its interest in the hospital project by patronizing these entertainments, the first of which will be a dance to be given in the early Spring.

During the Christmas season, the Service League's Thrift Shop served as a clearing house for the community's Opportunity giving. In a report of that work Mrs. W. L. Whedbee, Chairman of the Christmas Basket Committee said "Through the kindness of many individuals and various organizations in the city, one hundred and eighty-three needy families were remembered with provisions at Christmas time."

She particularly commended the cooperation of the Salvation Army, whose workers labored untiringly with aid and comfort.

Huguenot Society.
In starting the new year among the patriotic societies, we note that North Carolina has organized a Huguenot Society, among the descendants of the Founders of Manakin in the Colony of Virginia. The history of the Huguenots and their sufferings from religious persecutions in France, is a familiar story to historical readers, and their contribution to the welfare and upbuilding of the country is too well known for comment here. But they have scattered far and wide still with pride, descendants of these good pioneers have in kindly banding together to perpetuate the memory of their ancestors.

The Society was organized first in California by women who descended from the founders of Marakim, until now many of the states have organized branches, which form a National Assembly that meets annually. This year it will meet in Richmond, April 14-16, when quite a nice program will entertain the Assembly.

The state meeting of the North Carolina branch will be held prior to this, during the month of March, at Raleigh, the date to be given out later by the president, Mrs. James Burton James of Greenville. At that time, visiting members from other states will be present to give the benefit of their experience to the new society of North Carolina.—(From News of the Huguenot Branch, Mrs. James Burton James, Pres.)

At the conclusion of the game, Mrs. James T. Little was presented the high score prize and Mrs. Myers was remembered with an attractive gift.

Mrs. Proctor served a delicious salad plate with coffee.

NEW YEAR'S LOVE

by Angela Lorden

The Characters
Noel Marchand, a beautiful young actress.
Allan Collins, the man she loves.
David Norris, her fiancé.

Yesterday: David tells Noel he is jealous of Allan.

Chapter 23
Beautiful Vagueness

NOEL'S angry argument with David was one emotional outburst too many for her distraught nerves. She had told him defiantly: "I love Allan Collins!"

And now she burst into hysterical weeping. David for a moment seemed moved by her distress but his anger at her was not completely abated. He, too, seemed driven by some force of resentment, stronger than his own reasoning. He had turned white at her significant words.

"Noel, don't be a fool! You're dramatizing a silly infatuation. I don't believe you!"

Was he saying that to save his own pride, or to convince Noel? For he went on, in a more conciliatory tone:

"I understand you so well, my dear. His accident has appealed to your romantic imagination. And you're unstrung by the unfortunate experience."

David took Noel by the shoulders, not in an affectionate way, but as though he would force her to see the situation as he was presenting it. He looked at her long and searchingly, shook her body slightly. She tried to pull away. His hands were gripping her tightly.

"You're not the person who'd waste your affections on a man who didn't care about you! Have you forgotten he's marrying Mrs. Schuyler?"

That stung deep into Noel's consciousness. She tore away from his hold finally with a fierce resentful gesture.

"You're trying to hurt me as much as you can, aren't you?" she asked bitterly.

At David's next words, "Have you spared me, Noel?" she cringed. Her whole attitude changed. The tears stopped flowing. Her eyes rested on his tortured face. He was suffering over her just as she did over Allan. Everything was a mess! Why had she made that crazy, impetuous confession?

"I'm sorry," she appeared to wilt as she said it. The rebellion was out of her. Her lips drooped in despair. "I'm terribly, terribly sorry, David. More than I can tell you! But, at last you know the truth."

"We won't talk about it any more tonight," was David's final decision. He didn't touch her, except with his eyes that now, with the fury gone out of them, seemed to carry her. "It's been unfortunate, this whole quarrel—the first one we've ever had, Noel. I'm sorry, too, that it happened."

"Sooner or later I've forgotten all about it," he hesitated before he added, "When we're away from all this."

After he'd gone, Noel realized he was still counting on their marriage—with all that she'd told him. How can he? she thought, wondering. Asking herself if she would take Allan on similar terms, she was very much afraid that she would.

If Noel had any embarrassment about seeing David again, he made it easy for her. No word about Allan, no mention of their argument!

"I'll be out of town for the weekend, my dear," was all that he said.

Out Of Danger
ALLAN improved steadily. He was out of danger! It was joyful news for Noel. Since her quarrel with David, in a penitential way, she had not gone out to Westbury. Her daily telephone calls to Mrs. Marchand kept her posted.

"Dr. White says you can see him tomorrow if it's convenient for you to come out here," Mrs. Marchand suggested on Saturday.

Convenient? Noel said she'd be there. Nothing would have kept her away, though she knew there was no wisdom in such a decision.

Allan was thinner and looked so awfully weak when she was admitted to his room. The swelling on his lips had gone down, the cut was healing.

"Noel, I'm so glad you came." His voice was weak and thin, too. Without moving his body, flat on the bed, he stretched out his hand, holding hers firmly.

All Noel could say was "Hello, Allan," as she smiled down at him. She wanted to take his bandaged head and cradle it against her breast. She wanted to cry, too, gazing down at him.

"Sit down, bring your chair to the bed," he reached for her hand again, as she sat close to him.

"You gave us quite a shock, for a while." It sounded inane as she said it. She was guarding her words carefully.

"Mother told me how good you were, Noel."

Each time he said her name, he gave it a warm, personal meaning. She loved hearing it from his lips. "It was pretty bad for her. I'm lucky, I guess, from what they tell me."

"And now you'll be better soon, and out of the hospital," Noel was managing a forced cheerfulness.

Tomorrow: A tense moment.

Hollywood

Sights And Sounds
By Robbin Coons

Hollywood—Actors should never complain. The dirtiest deal is likely as not to turn itself into a double O on the roulette wheel of movie fortune.

Lock at Walter Brennan. Two months ago I saw this young-old man of the movies and he was all fired up with plans for a picture called "Jesse James." If he got through in time—he was working then on "The Cowboy and the Lady"—he would get a choice part in the benefit's life story. Everything was set—practically. He could see himself in the saddle, riding on to bigger things.

But no Goldwyn's factory didn't finish the picture in time. "Jesse James" took Henry Hull instead. Walter didn't know about it until the last minute. He was sore.

So he goes into an unpretentious little picture at 2-1/2-Century-Fox. It's called "Kentucky" and Walter's going to be a fine—old crochety, feuding Colonel—and then it turns out to be a very fine, much ballyhooed picture and Walter runs away with the acting honor.

And Walter's boss Goldwyn is so impressed when he sees it that he plans to "include him in" in a large way hereafter in Goldwyn plans!

The doonair George Sanders ("Lamb" Spy). "Four Men and a Prayer" etc. is now the Saint, replacing Louis Hayward who with "Duke of West Point" has gone on to better things.

Sanders is now in his third phase of Hollywood development. The first had him tabbed as "the hermit of Laurel Canyon," a lonely soul living apart from the world with his book and—presumably—his dog. The second sent him to live alone—presumably with book and dog—on a yacht in the harbor. The third.

"Since returning from London where I made a couple of films I've lived in a hotel—and this is the bright lights-and-crowds phase I suppose."

The English Mr. Sanders half-suspects that his Laurel Canyon hermitage was the device of a desperate publicist unable to find "color" in his quite normal life and therefore forced to invent it.

As the Saint, a wrong-avenger who hates crime, Sanders is engaged presently on "The Saint Strike Back"—at what, however, he had no idea.

But what I started to relate was his whimsical idea, which any producer may have gratis, for assembling all the screen's series heroes and heroines into one gigantic series film.

Charlie Chan, Mr. Moto, the Thin Man, Bulldog Drummond, the Saint could combine sleuthing efforts, aided by Torchy Blane and Nancy Drew, and the red on by the Jones, Hardy, and Higgins.

Washington Daybook

Washington—There is an opening in the Senate for a man with a flow of fine flowery words edged with wit and humor.

It would be possible, in fact, to forget the fine flowery diction if only a new face would show up with wit and humor. It is too late to pick one out of the electorate. That chance passed last November. But there are a number of new and comparatively untried senatorial candidates who could make a public career for themselves if they only would barb their quips and at the same time grace them with good humor.

Huey The Master The late Huey Long was the latest complete master. He once took on three senators at a time, backed one after another blushing into his seat by pointing out their political tomfooleries and then rubbed it in mercilessly by adding:

"When you want a fight, don't pick on a porcupine."

He spent hours goading the late Majority Leader Robinson into a lather of fury and only once was taken into camp. Senator Ashurst of Arizona, scholar, wit and gentleman extraordinary, left Huey fairly gibbering by exhorting him in exquisite but telling language to which even the Kingfish could not reply. He didn't bite another senator for days.

There are only two senators now with a flair for wit and the bravery to exercise it, and each is proficient only in limited fields. Besides Senator Ashurst, there is Senator Tom Connally of Texas who will boldly wave aside a telling point in argument in order to make a wise crack or point up a good story.

Holt Looked Promising Young Senator Holt of West Virginia came up with a reputation for sharp wit and telling punches. But he has spent four years of his six-year term in an unpromising cock-fight with his colleague, Senator Neely.

Senator Reynolds of North Carolina, youngish, widely traveled and brassy as a cornet, has the makings. His home state political speeches often are a public picnic. But in the Senate, he drowns his wit in an ocean of words. A two-hour speech is just a warm up for him.

Calvin Coolidge once warned that this business of being a political funny man was a profession once. In his magazine autobiography he told of writing a satirical and witty piece while he was in college. His barbs hurt several people, he felt sure, and undermined his own dignity. He vowed then never to be so humorous again. It is a matter of history that he almost never was.

EVADe STATE TAX BY SPIKING NEAR BEER

Bismarck, N. D. (AP)—Near beer spiked with grain alcohol has become so popular with North Dakotans as a beverage that state officials are going to ask the legislature to tax it.

Director A. J. Gerlach of the state regulatory department said consumers are buying near beer at 10 cents a pint instead of real beer at 15 cents and then fortifying the non-fermenting malt with grain alcohol which retailers and wholesalers are selling "at almost cost price."

He said the practice is completely disrupting the North Dakota liquor market and routine operation of the tax system.

Recent Kansas experiments disclosed that on a five per cent slope of land protected by native grass red 99.7 per cent of the rain that fell in a six year period was absorbed on clear till soil 16.2 per cent.

SHORT SHOTS

By HENRY AVERILL and LYNN NISBET

Reflector Bureau. RALEIGH, Jan. 10.—Commissioner of Revenue A. J. Maxwell has had a hard start on all the other prospective candidates for Governor in 1940. He has $133 cash on hand for the Maxwell Campaign Headquarters.

Here's how it happens: Monday Mr. Maxwell received from the Commissioner of Banks a check part of the final distribution of funds in the defunct Page Trust Co. It was for $133 and payable to the Maxwell Campaign Headquarters.

Johnny Morris, New Hanover representative, listened hard to all the proceedings in the house at its last few sessions. Then though the fighting hasn't really started there was always a bit of cracking on every subject brought up.

Finally Johnnie, a freshman, remarked to a pretty House stenographer who has served in previous legislatures "No matter how simple a thing looks there always seems to be two sides to every question."

"Yes," smiled the stenog, "and if you stay here long enough you'll find there are one hundred and twenty sides to every question in the Senate."

Members of the House is 120, of the Senate 50

D. Lacy McBryde, Cumberland's aggressively "Liberal" House member has everybody guessing—at least up to late Monday it was the case. He hasn't taken the oath though he showed up for the caucus and voted in the hot Speakership fight. It has been estimated he's hanging on to his job as a National Labor Relations Board examination as long as possible.

Representative A. C. Parris of Alexander was one of the few legislators spending the week-end in Raleigh and attending the Jackson Day dinner. He was delighted with Governor Chandler and said that lateral there; diversified farming wanted it, since cotton and tobacco has had it so many times. But this time politics and pre-caucus obligations outweighed geography, and it went to W. W. Eagles of Edgecombe. Eagles served in that same post in 1934, his neighbor Fenner from Nash had it last year and the combination was too strong for Mr. Ward this time. Burgin of Henderson, dairy and poultry farmer and operator of a commercial apple orchard, expected it.

Because of recognized ability, long legislative experience, close relation to the administration, and other obvious reasons, Odus M. Mull of Cleveland had to be taken care of handsomely. He got chairmanship of corporations, a place where he can do much or little as the whim strikes him.

Another item which worried the Speaker until the absolute deadline on getting a committee list passed was the committee on constitutional amendments. That committee will get the pressure from the petroleum lobby, the good roads associations, the various automobile and truck dealers and operators associations, for submission of an amendment to prohibit gas tax diversion. On the other side will be the force of the administration, the governor having made that the longest sub-title in his message, opposing the amendment. The suave and diplomatic Fitzhugh Wallace of Lenoir heads the committee. So far as could be gathered from comment about the hall of the house, this appointment is exceptionally satisfactory to all parties to the brewing war over the millions of the highway fund.

The judiciary committee assignments occasioned little surprise. Necessarily composed of lawyers, the probabilities had been narrowed and it was generally conceded that Hatch of Wake would land one of them. The other was an appropriate place for another loyal supporter, Uzziel Rowan.

Speaker Ward had as much trouble placing Burgin of Henderson as with any of the assignments. Burgin wanted agriculture, the state department of agriculture would have been highly pleased with him in that capacity, and is not so well pleased with Eagles. A veteran legislator, he rated a good assignment, and insurance is no mean committee.

Always important, the committee on roads will have to consider, along with the committee on constitutional amendments, the proposal to submit an amendment prohibiting any diversion of highway funds. Stone of Rockingham is eminently satisfactory to the folks who are most interested in that proposition, and the assignment appears pleasing to the membership at large.

Some surprise was expressed at the naming of Vozler of Mecklenburg to manufacturing and labor, since his primary interests lie with mercantile establishments. Many members also had supposed that the veteran Murphy rated something better than engrossed bills; others suggested that the generally affable, but sometimes irascible statesman from Rowan (accept on last syllable with a broad "a") didn't want an assignment that involved too much work.

Reiterating the geographic angle, the home section of Fenner, third place candidate for speakership, whose withdrawal resulted in the election of Ward gets the lion's share of the good berths. Although Mr. Fenner declared during the speakership campaign that he did not want any committee, he got the biggest one for himself and his influence is believed to have considerable bearing on several others. His fellow countymen, Abernethy, landed courts and judicial districts, which at this time will have the least calendar in recent sessions. The adjoining county of Edgecombe in which is located half of Mr. Fenner's home town of Rocky Mount, got their man Eagles to head agriculture. This gives Edgecombe leadership of this powerful committee in both branches of the legislature. Senator Clark having that post across the hall. Appointment of Mr. Eagles is particularly gratifying also to the Farm Bureau which is a very strong organization in that immediate section.

HIGHER SALARIES OR 12TH GRADE UP TO LEGISLATURE

(Continued from page one) million dollars for the biennium. "The twelfth grade has been proposed for public schools and to be installed gradually, but it was impossible to find funds under the present economic conditions to provide for both the twelfth grade and increments without increasing taxes and it is thought best to leave this matter up to the General Assembly for whatever consideration and action might be thought best. And so the whole thing has been dumped in the legislative lap with quite a controversy in prospect. In his address to the lawmakers last week, Governor Clyde R. Hoey spoke out in favor of both the twelfth grade, gradually introduced over a four-year period, and the additional ninth year salary increment. In view of the position taken by

The Governor-dominated budget commission there are going to be many legislators bemused and bewildered to figure out what His Excellency does, in fact, want; and there are going to be frantic calls on him to set the thing straight. If it were not for the highly organized and highly efficient teachers' lobby there would be little doubt of the outcome of such a legislative battle. The twelfth grade would go in and the teachers could whistle for their ninth year increment. Just how far the North Carolina Education Association, James Warren, general in chief, will go in battling for the group of some 5,000 teachers with nine years experience is quite problematical. This, particularly, in view of the fact that Mr. Warren is known to want a teachers' retirement system in preference to any one thing asked by them for the coming biennium. Incidentally, the budget report follows the Governor's message on that feature—which is to say it is as silent as the tomb.

ACC Defeats Old Rivals 32-28 In Swift Contest

By JAMES WHITFIELD
Atlantic Christian College upset the local cage dope bucket here last night in a spectator-packed gym as the Bulldogs made an unexpected comeback after intermission and trounced Coach Gordon Gilbert's Pirates 32-28.

Wilson's half-time relaxation evidently produced an action-spark ed contingent, in that their surprising offensive attack put them ahead. The teams, both rivals produced one of the swiftest games of the season a few minutes before the end.

That fatal moment, which sent the skin of defeat loughing thru the nerve tissues of the Pirates, came only nine minutes before Timekeeper Bill Merner's dreaded whistle ended the affair.

Marion Lassiter, Wilson's swift center, turned out to be the hero for the visitors. He not only led the Bulldogs' scoring 9 points, but produced three consecutive field goals to put Wilson in front. After that, the locals' rivals stayed ahead the rest of the route.

This Did It!
Coach Gilbert's Pirates held a 23-18 advantage nine minutes before the end, thanks to Bill Shelton's after-intermission tallies. However, that fellow Lassiter got three successive baskets. Wilson forged to the front, 24-23.

At half-time, the Pirates had the Wilsonians trailing 17-10. During the first minute after the half, Lassiter got a field goal for his mates. Bill Shelton got a basket shortly thereafter for the Pirates. From this point, until Wilson got ahead, a nip-and-tuck scoring duel prevailed between Shelton and Wilson's Lassiter.

Donald Brock did a fine job of protecting the basket zone in the first period and part of the second. Wilson took the lead twice in the first half and deadlocked the score at 9 all earlier in the game. It was also tied once in the final phase. Joe Hatem, going in as a substitute eight minutes before intermission, helped to retard the Bulldogs' scoring efforts.

Until those last minutes, which determined the unexpected result, the Pirates had been astute in their offensive and defensive efforts. But the visitors bucked down at an opportune time and won the ball game. Shelton got 13 points and Donald Brock shot 12 to pace the locals' scoring.

Over 7,000 Fans
Last night's spectator melting pot was composed of a barrage of Atlantic Christian College students, the student body of ECTC and undetermined number of Greenville sports lovers. Deafening cheers, on the part of students representing both educational institutions, peppered the ears of those in attendance throughout the game. The visitors were pepped up by their uniformed band. The local school band also sent a number of blasts echoing through the gym.

Washington Wins 22-8
Katy James' Independent Greenville girls were overpowered 22-8 in the preliminary attraction by the Washington Independent Girls. The winners were ahead 8-6 at the half. When the third quarter ended, the Washington sextet was still ahead, 10-8 to be exact.

Mary Louise Arnold, a student at ECTC during the fall quarter, garnered 10 points to lead the Washington attack. Arnold entered the game as a substitute. Katy James shot 5 points to pace her proteges' scoring attack.

Lineup and Individual scoring:
ACC—Forwards, Holloman 6; Aye 6; Newman, centers—Lassiter 9; Wiley 1; Guards—Rogers 3; Broughton 7; Gardner.
ECTC—Forwards, Smith 1, Shelton 13; Glass, Hatem, Martin, center; Brock—12; guards, Hinton, Ridenhour 2; Aycs; Parrish.

FARLEY QUINT PLAYS TONIGHT

High School Team To Play Roanoke Rapids There

By "SMUT" BURKS
Coach Bo Farley gave his G. H. S. cage proteges a final workout yesterday in preparation for tonight's game. The Phantoms journey to Roanoke Rapids where they will lock horns with the Yellow Jackets of the Roanoke Rapids high school in a conference game.

The court power of the Yellow Jax is practically unknown in these parts, but judging by their athletic teams, the mill town five will probably give the Phantoms plenty of trouble ere the final whistle blows. However, the G. H. S. aggression is fresh from a clean-cut victory over the Kannapolis "Y" quint and is in no mood to have their victory march halted by the Roanoke Rapids boys.

If the reader will think back a little they will recall a 6-0 defeat inflicted on the G. H. S. football eleven by the Jacket gridders during the past football season. The Phantom basketball five will certainly be out to avenge this setback and also to keep their 1932-33 court record unmarred.

SHORT COURSE IS BEING HELD

Third Annual Event Now Under Way in State Capital

Raleigh, Jan. 10. The third annual short course for tobacco growers of North Carolina opened here this (Tuesday) morning in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium with addresses of welcome by Col. John W. Harrell, administrative dean and Dr. I. C. Schaub, dean of agriculture, of State College.

A large registration for the four-day course was reported by Dan M. Paul, director of agricultural short courses at State College, although many other growers were undoubtedly prevented from attending by work in connection with starting plant beds.

On the Tuesday morning program were talks by E. Y. Floyd, AAA executive officer, on "The 1933 Agricultural Conservation Program" and by W. G. Finn, assistant director of the East Central division of the AAA, on "The Tobacco Outlook."

Scheduled for the afternoon session was a discussion of tobacco plant beds, practical uses of fertilizers, and production problems, led by Mr. Floyd and L. T. Weeks, assistant tobacco specialist of the State College Extension Service.

The short course will continue through the lunch period on Friday. The morning sessions Wednesday, Thursday and Friday will be devoted to lectures and remarkable discussions, while the afternoon meetings will be in the nature of demonstrations in grading and sorting tobacco. The demonstrations will be in charge of Dr. J. B. Cutner, professor of farm crops at State College, and H. W. Taylor, marketing specialist of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Among the other speakers are E. C. Moss and James P. Bullock of the Oxford Tobacco Station; W. D. Lee, extension soil conservationist; Dr. Luther Shaw, extension plant pathologist; J. O. Rowell, extension entomologist; Dr. R. P. Poole, professor of plant pathology of State College; Dr. J. F. Lutz, associate professor of soils, State College; and K. J. Shaw, agent of the division of tobacco and plant nutrition, U. S. D. A.

NO SURPRISES IN THE BUDGET

Calls for Greatest Expenditures in History of State

Reflector Bureau
Raleigh, Jan. 10.—"The Budget" for the biennium 1933-34, submitted last night to the General Assembly by the Governor and the Advisory Budget Commission, is today being mulled and talked over by legislators, department heads and political observers, but not because its contents were in the least surprising, nor withstanding the fact that it calls for greater revenues and expenditures than any other similar document ever given to the Assembly for guidance and suggestion.

The salient points in it are by common consent—recommendation for a permanent rather than biennial tax bill, insistence on the continuation of a policy permitting diversion of highway funds up to $3,000,000 for the coming biennium, passing of the buck to the legislature to determine whether there shall be a Twelfth grade or whether experience teachers shall get an extra increment, recommendation for 50 additional members of the highway patrol and refusal of the commission to commit itself in the matter of an increase in fertilizer taxes.

On the negative side there were several noticeable features—failure of the report to mention retirement of teachers or state employees, decision to continue present appropriations for Old Age Assistance without any increase in funds or recommendation for centralization of administration and the absence of any appropriations whatever for permanent improvements during the next biennium.

A permanent tax bill was urged, in the language of the report because it was recognized that we should stabilize tax laws so as to induce new industry to come into the state and to reassure present industry as to our intentions. This can only be done by demonstrating to industry the stability of the tax system of the state so that it may know with some degree of certainty what taxes they will be required to pay.

One subject of diversion, the Budget report was explicit and unambiguous.
"The Budget Director and the Advisory Budget Commission feel that it is imperative that this provision concerning the three per cent sales tax on gasoline be allowed to remain as that now provided in the law for this biennium."

The sentence concludes a lengthy argument that there should be continued a provision that the sales tax shall be applied to gasoline sales and the funds transferred to the General Fund revenue whenever they are insufficient to meet the appropriations.

This is what the Governor and his budgeters maintain is not "diversion" at all but merely "the application of the sales tax to gasoline." On the other hand powerful forces, headed by the Petroleum Industries Committee, insist that it is "diversion" in fact no matter what other name is given it.

On this issue many anticipate the hardest fighting of the entire legislature. The Anti-Diversion forces are demanding a Constitutional amendment banning the practice, but may be forced from the offensive on that front to the defensive stand against this continent diversion proposed and insisted on by the Governor.

The auditors found it the part of wisdom to steer clear of any fight on the proposal of the Department of Agriculture to increase fertilizer taxes about one-third in order to give more money for the department's operations.
"The Department of Agriculture requested an increase appropriation based upon a proposed increase in taxes on fertilizers. Since this is a matter for the General Assembly to act upon first, no recommendations have been made concerning this matter," reads the Budget report.

All in all neither the Budget nor its resultant Revenue and Appropriations Bills are such as to create any marked surprise or excitement.

HOT STOVE STUFF

(By The AP Feature Service)

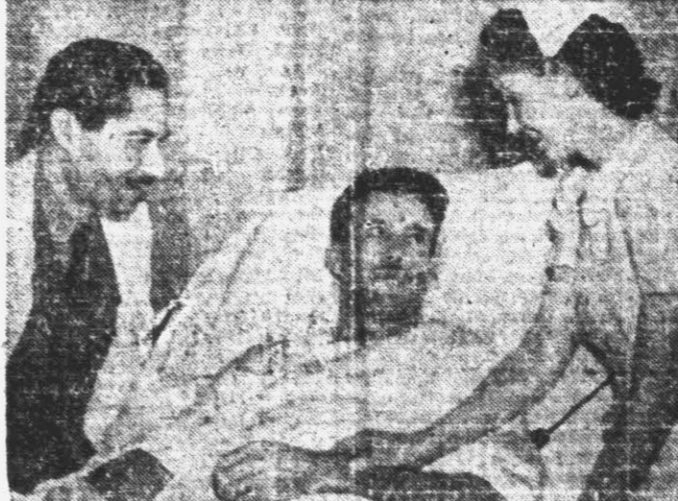

FRED HUTCHINSON sings "Ah." The Seattle pitcher, most sought after rookie of the year, was bought by Detroit for $50,000 and four players. Here the medics are giving Hutch the once-over. Papa Hutchinson peers happily from behind Fred's shoulder.

HANK shows his Big Bertha to Mom Greenberg. Detroit's home-run champion first-baseman had this bat autographed by his major-league stars and fashioned into a smoking stand. He may be the game's highest-salaried player—if he gets the $40,000 we want.

AL SIMMONS sheds weight the hot way—in the steam bath. The veteran hard-hitting outfielder, who has hopped about the American league from Philadelphia to Chicago to Detroit to Washington, was sold recently to the Boston Bees.

AN APPENDECTOMY ruined the Giants' hopes for 1933—Infielder Whitehead was out for the season. Recently, George Myatt (above, center), the rookie third-baseman counted on for 1933, was operated on. Bill Terry has been assured Myatt will be "as good as new."

GERMANS SCORE NAZIS
Adelaide (AP)—Australians of German descent are condemning the measures taken by the Nazis against German Jews and hope to assist Jewish exiles from Germany in finding homes in Australia.

CHINESE BOOTLEGGER FUMBLES ON WALL
Peking (AP)—This ancient capital's only known bootlegger, one Chu Yung-shan, is now behind bars as the result of his own carelessness.
He fell off the city wall while attempting to scale it with a construction of wire to avoid the revenue collectors at the city gate.

BATTLE LOOMS ON CHAIN TAX

Proposed Bill To Go After Stores From Two Angles

Raleigh, Jan. 7.—C. P. Dickson, operator of several food and feed stores at Raleigh, who last session took a leading part in the effort to have "chain stores" taxed so heavily as to virtually run them out of the state, is circling for a more vigorous fight this session.

Dickson is writing a bill which he will have introduced next week for the principles of which he claims support of the State Merchants' association and the several food store organizations. Last session these organizations directed their energies toward exemption of basic footstuffs from the general sales tax and did not put much steam behind the chain store tax bill.

Representative Vowler of Mecklenburg had already announced his purpose to seek further exemptions of foods from the sales tax and the food dealers associations will support it. But Mr. Dickson has been assured that they will display a "great deal more interest in the chain store tax than they did two or four years ago."

The proposed bill will go after chain stores from both the unit and floor space base. The present tax on store units has led some of the bigger systems to close up neighborhood stores and open much larger centrally located units. Mr. Dickson's crowd thinks this is a sorry substitute and they propose to catch the big units with the combination floor space and store levy.

The enthusiasm which these folks are putting into the preliminaries of the legislative battle indicates that this may develop into one of the major scraps before the finance committee.

SUM PROPOSED BY COMMITTEE
TO CARRY ON WPA

both bodies heard first accounts of international developments from Ambassadors Joseph Kennedy and William Bullitt. The session was secret, but those who heard said the diplomats painted a "dismal" picture of European affairs. Kennedy's home on leave from London and Bullitt from Paris.

With the relief measure still before the sub-committee, congressional economy advocates and critics of "political relief" moved rapidly toward an initial showdown with Roosevelt forces over the WPA.

Meanwhile Representative Smith (D-Va.) was elected a member of the Democratic steering committee of the House to represent Virginia, North Carolina and Maryland.

The House and Senate military committees heard Kennedy and Bullitt survey the whole foreign field.

One legislator said the diplomats made no recommendations for bolstering American defenses, but merely described "an utterly chaotic condition" in Europe.

Another House committee member said he was more convinced than ever, however, the United States must accelerate its armament program in line with President Roosevelt's recommendations.

Also President Roosevelt, it was learned authoritatively, has decided tentatively on a Caribbean cruise, starting about Feb. 18.

The trip will have the double purpose of enabling him to witness part of the combined fleet maneuvers between Cuba and the South American coast and of affording him relaxation from the grind of getting the new Congress on its way.

COUNTY COURT HOLDS SESSION
sentence suspended upon payment of the costs of court and $2.30 to the prosecuting witness, Jack Moore.

Jack and Joe Stokes, two brothers of the Ayden community who allegedly operated filling stations where liquor was sold, asked for a trial by jury and the cases were transferred to Superior court. The two were arrested Saturday night.

A case charging Roy Rogers and Fate Smith with having liquor for sale was transferred to Martin county when it was contended by defense counsel that the two lived across the line and in that county.

FOUR PERFECT HANDS
IN ONE BRIDGE DEAL

South Bend, Ind. (AP)—Four perfect bridge hands in a single deal was claimed by Jacob Lechner and his guests.

The deck was shuffled and cut properly. When the cards were dealt each player is claimed to have had a perfect hand—all 13 cards in one suit. Lechner made a grand slam on a bid of seven spades.

Statisticians have figured out that such a deal might occur again in about 300,000 years if the cards were dealt once a minute from now until then.

GAIN CLAIMED BY INSURGENTS

Columns Converging On City 50 Miles of Barcelona

Hendaye, France, Jan. 10.—(AP)—Insurgent dispatches reported today that two of General Franco's columns were converging on Tarragona, a major Mediterranean coastal city, 50 miles southwest of Barcelona.

One column moving toward the city from the west was reported to have taken two villages, just northwest and northeast of Falset and to be encircling the latter town, which is five miles inland from Tarragona.

Another column was driving from the north, advancing against a place nearly 20 miles above Tarragona.

Insurgent reports said the government's counter offensive in southwestern Spain was halted by reinforcements rushed to defend Seville communication lines with Northern Insurgent Spain.

Government dispatches, however, report General Miaja's troops were consolidating conquered positions.

New York Cotton

New York, Jan. 10.—(AP)—Aircrafts found a rallying tailwind in today's stock market and, along with pivotal motors, rails and specialties, posted gains of 7 1/2 to 23 1/2 points. Brokers thought the comeback was partly of a technical nature. The list had lost virtually all of its pre-Christmas upturn with Monday's relapse—and speculative forces generally continued to step lightly, pending a showdown in congress on the administration's relief spending program.

Bonds put on a quiet, selective recovery.

Library At ECTC Provides Service

That the East Carolina Teachers College library is giving excellent service to the student body of the college in spite of great need for more books is very evident from the comparison of ECTC library records with figures in a recent study made by the Carnegie Corporation of New York of library facilities in teachers' colleges of the nation.

In some respects the college ranked high in comparison with others which in certain other points fell a little below the average.

Though 5.3 per cent was the average part of the college income devoted to the library by such colleges, ECTC is now spending 7 per cent of its income for library.

During the past year ECTC spent over $6,000 for books and periodicals where the average was just over $4,000, though its total appropriation was somewhat below that in the average state; and it kept its doors open to students sixty-seven hours a week rather than the average sixty-six, in spite of the fact that it had fewer assistants than the average teachers' college library.

This college was somewhat below average in total number of volumes, per student, and the number trained staff members, and needs additional money if the E. C. T. C. library is to be one of the best among those of similar institutions.

The figures from other colleges referred to above come to Librarian Jas. R. Gullidge referred to above in a summary of reports from fifty-one institutions collected by eight visiting librarians for the advisory group of the Carnegie Corporation. This is the corporation which has just announced a series of grants to libraries of twenty-nine teachers colleges, ECTC among them.

Large Rutabaga.
W. H. Jones, farmer who lives about four miles from Greenville on the Falkland highway, brought a purple-top rutabaga weighing seven pounds to Greenville today.

Mr. Jones said he also raised unusually large sweet potatoes and that his crops generally were above the average.

MOONEY RETURNS TRIUMPHANT

With a pardon in his pocket, Tom Mooney marched in triumph up San Francisco's Market street, at the scene of the 1916 Preparedness Day parade bombing for which he was convicted and for which he served 22 years in prison. He also passed the building (large black arrow in foreground) from which he claims he and his wife watched the parade, far removed from the scene of the bombing, indicated by the small black arrow in the distance. The white arrow in the center foreground points to Mooney marching.

SKIING IS EXCITING! "But don't let nerve tension spoil your fun..."

LET UP - LIGHT UP A CAMEL

advises HANS THORNER Skiing expert and director of the Mount Washington (N. H.) Swiss Ski School

MODERN SKIING is a tiring test of skill, stamina, and nerve-power. Nerves simply must not waver. Skiers, particularly, know how well it pays to protect their nerves—to rest them frequently—by letting up—lighting up a Camel.

BETWEEN ORGANIZING CLASSES, checking up on equipment, giving exhibitions, and arranging a host of other activities, there's plenty of nerve strain in Hans Thorne's day too! Above you see him taking his own advice about the way to avoid getting tense, jittery. He's letting up to light up a Camel. "It's a grand way to break nerve tension," says Thorne. "I find Camels quite soothing to the nerves."

"AN ACCOUNTANT'S WORK calls for absolute accuracy," says Mr. C. W. McArthur. "That means concentration, plenty of nerve strain. My rule to avoid tension is to ease off now and then—to let up—light up a Camel."

DOROTHY LEWIS skates brilliantly at the Hotel St. Regis, N. Y., on a room-size sheet of ice. She says: "Whirlwind spins, turns are nerve straining. I soothe nerve tension every chance I get—I let up—light up a Camel."

WHEN BUSY, STRENUOUS days put your nerves on the spot, take a tip from the wire fox terrier pictured here. Despite his almost humanly complex nerve system, he quickly halts to relax—to ease his nerves. So often, we humans ignore this instinctive urge to break nerve tension. We may even take pride in our will to drive on, forgetting that tiring nerves may soon be jittery nerves! Yet the welfare of your nerves is really vital to success, happiness. Make it your pleasant rule to pause regularly—to LET UP—LIGHT UP A CAMEL. Start today—add an extra measure of comfort to your smoking with Camel's finer, costlier tobaccos.
