FAIL TO TAKE ADVANTAGE OF UCC BENEFITS

Payments Available to Many White Persons in County

MANY POSITIONS ALSO AVAILABLE

Local Manager Finds People Not Taking Advantage of Opportunities Offered

Hundreds of unemployed Greenville white persons could receive substantial sums of money merely by making application and a free employment service is at their disposal, neither of which is being taken advantage of by a large number of citizens in Greenville and throughout the county.

The funds available are credits built up in the Unemployment Compensation Commission during the periods they held positions and the employment service is that offered by the state. Offices for both are on the Railway Express office on Dickinson avenue.

W. G. Cherry, Jr. in charge of the offices, declared in an interview today that the white people are not taking full advantage of the opportunities, adding that it was their loss and one which they could not recover after a certain period.

Mr. Cherry declared most emphatically that the Unemployment Compensation Commission is not a relief agency "that we are not content in any shape, manner or form with any agency engaged in relief, relief or charity work."

Benefits are not paid out through organization from the standard of charity, but are paid out to people who have worked and then under the provisions of the Unemployment Compensation act.

Mr. Cherry explained that in order to be eligible for unemployment compensation a person must have accumulated wage credits by working for an employer covered by the compensation act, that is, generally speaking, one who employs as many as eight people for at least one day in each of 20 weeks during the calendar year. No person is eligible for compensation unless he is unemployed, or partially unemployed, through no fault of his own.

Also, declared Mr. Cherry, a person is requested to sign a sworn statement that he is able to accept employment in his line of work when it is offered him.

In this connection the branch manager called attention to the employment service provided. He said hundreds of persons had been found work and recalled that only recently he had calls for several brick masons, but could provide only about half the number wanted and had to send out a call elsewhere in the state to secure the needed number of men. He said that he wished to assure the public that "those of us entrusted with the enforcement of this law are thoroughly in sympathy with the idea that no person who refuses work or deliberately gives up a job without reason is entitled to any benefits." He added he appreciated it when such cases were reported to the office.

A person may, however, earn up to $3 weekly and still be eligible to draw compensation, he declared. "If it were not for this clause it would be almost impossible to employ a cook or handy-man about the house," he observed. Each recipient of benefits, however, must report all earnings, either from all-time or part-time jobs.

He discounted the idea that part-time work is a "get-around" (Continued on page eight)

MEADOWS SAYS FUNDS NEEDED

Opposes Appropriation Cut and Boost in Tuition

That the proposed decrease in appropriations for North Carolina institutions of higher education would be a real handicap to the continued development of the state was the opinion expressed by President Leon R. Meadows of East Carolina Teachers College when interviewed on the subject at the college this morning.

President Meadows pointed out, too, that the proposed increase in tuition would bar from the doors of such institutions many of the best students, who are already finding it difficult to finance a college course. As proof of his statement he said more than 90% of those applying for entrance to East Carolina Teachers College for the present school year, asked for work on the campus to help defray their necessary expenses. A higher tuition would, of course, cause even more students such difficulty.

"There is on the part of the State," said President Meadows, "a definite obligation to furnish education to its citizens. Unless it does this, it can have no hope of an educated citizenry able to hold its own in the competition of modern life."

Then, too, said President Meadows, the proposal to increase tuition puts the state-supported educational institutions in the same class with the heavily-endowed private ones. Not being so endowed, (Continued on page eight)

Tar Heel Aviator Victim Of Crash

Rock Hill, S. C. Jan. 11.—(AP)—Tom H. Gable, 27-year-old Charlotte, N. C. Novely dealer, was fatally injured in the crash of his private airplane in the Rock Hill city limits today.

Gable was returning to Charlotte after participating in the air show at Miami, Fla., last week. Witnesses said the plane crashed head-on after it had zoomed a tree. They were unable to say what caused it to fall.

The accident occurred about 10:20 a. m. as Gable was brought to a hospital here, where he died about 1 p. m.

His father, L. A. Gable, Sr., of Charlotte, who came here upon receiving word of the crash, said Tom had been flying about two years.

Bus Investigation May Run Into Strange Angles

Reflector Bureau Raleigh, Jan. 11.—An item of $20,000 buried in the budget appropriation bill for the highway and public works commission, by long odds the smallest item in the list of suggested appropriations, has the germ of a real legislative scrap. This is the new item for "bus investigation," something that has not appeared in any previous appropriation bill. Bus and railroad folks are wondering if it is to be the center of the biennial contest for advantage between these two major transportation facilities.

Considerable doubt is expressed as to just what course the investigation is intended to take, and there is much speculation as to just how far it might go. There is also the question of why only one branch of heavy motor users of the

MONEY GROUPS AGAIN TAKE UP '39-'41 BUDGET

Two Sessions Do Little But Hear Secretary Perkins

ROW DEVELOPS IN SEED DEALER TAX

Resolution Inviting Jack Dempsey To Session Adopted In Spite of Opposition

Raleigh, Jan. 11.—(AP)—North Carolina's legislators heard Frances Perkins, Secretary of Labor, praise the state today for having done "wonderfully well" in labor legislation since 1933 and did little else in routine sessions.

The joint money committees met this afternoon to continue work on the record $154,000,000 1939-41 proposed budget.

Fireworks came at a meeting of the House Agriculture Committee, the first such debate of the session, when the spokesman for the Department of Agriculture opposed the Page-Underwood bill to reduce the license tax from $10 to $1 on seed dealers doing less than $100 business a year.

The committee voted in favor of reducing the tax, but referred the matter to a sub-committee for its study.

After Representative Page of Bladen and Turlington of Iredell had expressed opposition, the House adopted a resolution inviting Jack Dempsey to attend a meeting of the lower division tomorrow.

Senator Graham of Lincoln offered a bill to require the Highway Commission to provide new draining facilities when its construction work blocks drains already fixed.

Speaker Ward announced the appointment of Rev. Alfonso Jordan of Edenton as House chaplain.

Saturday Closing Hours Considered

Various Other Questions Discussed at Regular Monthly Meet of Directors Merchants' Group

The board of directors of the Greenville Merchants Association in regular meeting last night, voted to call a special session of all business men in the city to discuss the question of a standard closing hour for Saturday nights.

The meeting will be held Thursday morning at 10 o'clock in the association offices in the federal building.

Last night's session was presided over by O. S. Meadows, recently elected president of the association.

Mrs. Cora S. Powell, executive secretary, was instructed to attend a meeting of the Associated Credit Bureaus of North Carolina to be held in the King Cotton Hotel in Greensboro, Feb. 6-7.

Another question discussed last night was that of the groceries of the association forming a unit to discuss their credit and other problems. The secretary was instructed to work with G. C. Honeycutt of the proposal and call a meeting at a later date.

The association adopted a resolution to endorse state aid for public libraries in North Carolina.

BIRTHDAY BALL PLANS MAPPED

Township Chairman Outlines Activities At Session

County chairman Hoover Taft invited chairman of committees for the celebration of the President's birthday from the various townships of Pitt county to a combined dinner and business meeting conducted at the Proctor hotel last night.

The meeting was called for the purpose of maintaining a uniform program throughout the county.

Various letters and bulletins from the national and regional headquarters were read and discussed. The program for this year's campaign was announced and instructions reviewed. Several new and interesting features including the "March of Dimes" started by Eddie Carter wherein one "gives a dime and waves a button," the President's birthday card which is to be filled with dimes and mailed directly to the President at the White House, ten-cent stickers for automobile windshields and finally the President's Ball.

The money contributed through these features will be divided. Half will go to the National Foundation and the other for maintenance of a local clinic, enabling them to purchase supplies and give treatment.

Those attending were Marion Bount, Greenville chairman of the President's Ball ticket committee; T. E. Joyner, Farmville; H. G. Jefferson, Fountain; J. W. Taylor, Ayden; and Dave Mosler, Greenville chairman.

HILL HEARING IN WASHINGTON

Youth Turned Over to Federal Juvenile Authorities

Paul Hill, Jr., 16-year-old Greenville boy, who yesterday admitted sending an extortion letter through the mail demanding $500 from Graham Flanagan, local business man, under threat of harm to one of the Flanagan children, today was ordered turned over to federal juvenile authorities in Raleigh.

The youth, who was arrested here Monday night, was taken to Raleigh by Deputy Marshal Ben Buck and a probation officer immediately following the hearing before Mrs. Hugh Paul of Washington, N. C., United States Commissioner.

Young Hill already was under state probation, such action having been ordered after he pleaded guilty to a charge of larceny in Superior court recently.

What disposition federal authorities would make of the case was not known here. It was pointed out at the Washington hearing that Hill was only 16 years of age now and was only 15 when the crime was committed.

One Convicted Of Driving Reckless

Two wreck cases were aired at yesterday afternoon's session of Pitt county court, three defendants being involved.

J. O. or J. E. Meeks was acquitted of a charge of careless and reckless driving in one of the cases.

Charles D. Bowen was convicted of a similar charge and given a 10-day sentence, suspended upon payment of costs of court and license driving license suspended 30 days, or until the defendant makes satisfactory settlement with Daniel Cannon for property damage sustained in an automobile collision.

Cannon was indicted for careless and reckless driving in a companion warrant, but was acquitted of the charge.

All defendants were white men.

MISS PERKINS PRAISES WORK IN THIS STATE

Says Much Progressive Labor Legislation Enacted

N.C. DEPARTMENT HELD BE MODEL

Asserts Industry, Labor enter 1939 under Conditions Which Invoke Confidence

Raleigh, Jan. 11.—(AP)—Frances Perkins, Secretary of Labor, highly praised North Carolina today for enacting "progressive labor legislation" as she told the legislature that the state's economic condition is "highly favorable."

"The Department of Labor you have set up is a model of its kind and has been and will continue to be administered so as to improve the working conditions of your many wage earners and to advance their opportunities for profitable employment," said Secretary Perkins.

The first woman cabinet member stepped here for a busy day en route to Chapel Hill, where she speaks tonight before the Carolina Policy Council. She conferred with the joint labor committee of the legislature this morning and with state labor officials.

From a national standpoint, Miss Perkins forecast "by and large American industry and American labor enter the new year under conditions which should give confidence to all who are interested in bettering our national welfare."

"Among the important laws enacted by legislature is the coverage provided under a workmen's compensation measure of 25 occupational diseases, including silicosis," she said. This makes for the protection of workers and is in the interest of all the people of the state.

The enactment of a 16-year minimum wage for employment in any factory or in any craft occupation during school hours will serve to keep youngsters out of oppressive labor and give them an opportunity to avail themselves of the fine educational facilities of North Carolina.

"The establishment of a maximum 48 hour week, nine hour day for female employees and a 55 hour week, 10 hour day for male employees, with certain exemptions is another step in the direction of progressive labor legislation."

"The provision made by the forward-looking legislators of North Carolina for unemployment compensation, employment service and old age assistance is definitely in the interest of wage earners of this great state and in the public interest as well."

Factory workers in North Carolina increased from 200,000 in 1933 to over 250,000 in 1938, a rise of 26 per cent and factory wages in the same period rose from about $113.50-cent to $100.000 in round numbers," said Miss Perkins. "This represented an advance of 67 per cent. As to building construction the permit valuation of 12 identical cities in the state were only 2,526,053, as against $17,393,778 in 1938, an increase of over 538 per cent."

'38 BEST YEAR FOR GUARANTY

Ten Per Cent Cash; 10 Per Cent Dividend Declared

Out of a total of 2,375 shares of common stock in the Guaranty Bank and Trust company, 1,832 were represented in person or by proxy at the 38th annual meeting of the stockholders, held in Shepard Memorial library yesterday afternoon. The meeting was presided over by E. G. Flanagan, who has served as president of the institution since 1912.

J. H. Waldrop read a report as of December 31, 1938, showing total assets of $6,371,279.93, an increase of $300,000 over the corresponding date of the preceding year. After making substantial additions to surplus, undivided profits, and reserve accounts, the stockholders were paid a ten per cent cash, and ten per cent stock dividend.

An amendment to the charter was passed providing for the increase of the capital stock from $437,500 to $500,000, but no additional stock is to be offered at this time, except the stock dividend, amounting to $23,750, which would bring the total paid-in capital to $461,250.

W. H. Woodard, executive vice-president, made interesting remarks with reference to the growth and expansion of the bank, and made comparisons between conditions now and in 1929. He stated that the Guaranty Bank and Trust company now had in cash and in banks more than twice as much as all ten banks in Pitt county had on December 31, 1928, and he also stated that it was the policy of the officers of the bank to keep same in a sufficiently liquid condition to meet a recurrence of emergency. He commended and thanked the directors and committees of the home office and branches for the aid they have given the bank.

The entire board of directors was re-elected, as follows: A. W. Ange, M. O. Blount, J. S. Picklen, E. G. Flanagan, A. M. (Continued on page eight)

HOUSE ATTACK MADE AGAINST FRANK MURPHY

Nominee For Attorney General up for Discussion

FDR SUPPORTERS GO TO DEFENSE

Trio Senate Sub-Committees, Meanwhile, Consider Appointments of Executive

Washington, Jan. 11.—(AP)—Administration members defended Frank Murphy in the House today during an attack on the new Attorney General's sit-down strike record.

Representative Hoffman (R-Mich.) said selection of Murphy "as legal advisor of the President means, if it means anything, that the President approves of a government by men, by expediency—not a government by law under the constitution."

"If the people of the country want that kind of government, Murphy's appointment should be confirmed," said Hoffman. "If they want a government by law, the appointment should be rejected."

Representative Rayburn of Texas, the majority leader, heatedly asked Hoffman to cite "one instance in which Governor Murphy broke the law."

Murphy's nomination to head the Justice Department already has been approved by a Senate Judiciary sub-committee.

With the Senate in adjournment until tomorrow, three of its sub-committees were at work today on President Roosevelt's nominations to high offices.

One approved former Senator Pope of Idaho for the Tennessee Valley Authority board of directors.

Another heard Harry L. Hopkins testify that he had done everything in his power to keep petty, partisan politics out of WPA. Answering questions concerning his qualifications for Secretary of Commerce, an office to which he has just been named, Hopkins said, "if anybody had had an intimate experience with business during the last six years it has been myself."

Mrs. Elizabeth Dillings, who described herself as an author of anti-communist books, told a third sub-committee considering the nomination of Felix Frankfurter to the Supreme Court that she could prove that President and Mrs. Roosevelt were "dangerous radicals." Mrs. Dillings said Frankfurter, a Harvard law professor, is an associate of "red revolutionaries."

$10,000 Asked In Pitt Slander Suit

R. A. Gardner, corn mill operator of Fountain, has brought suit against J. W. Reddick, filling station operator of the same place, seeking to recover $10,000 for damages allegedly suffered because of purported slanderous remarks made by the latter recently.

The suit charges that, on January 4, the defendant entered Mr. Reddick's filling station, bought and paid for some cigars, after which the station operator walked around the counter and within a step of the plaintiff and with threats to injure the plaintiff and his good name, business and credit, and bring him to public scandal, said Gardner with and among his neighbors and other good citizens, slanderously and falsely said to the plaintiff in the presence of various persons:

"What do you mean by stealing my corn? You stole it and everybody else that took corn down there."

The court action also charges that upon denial of the charge by the plaintiff, the defendant continued in a rude, insulting and threatening manner to curse the plaintiff and said: "If you say you didn't steal it and everybody else's you are a liar and I will break you in two."

The plaintiff is represented by J. B. James. No answer has been filed.

Christian Science Church.
"Sacrament" was the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches and societies on Sunday, January 8.

The golden text was from John 8:33: "The bread of God is he which cometh down from heaven, and giveth life unto the world."

Among the citations which comprised the lesson-sermon was the following from the Bible: "The word which God sent unto the children of Israel, preaching peace by Jesus Christ: (He is Lord of all): That word, I say, ye know, which was published throughout all Judea, and began from Galilee, after the baptism which John preached; How God anointed Jesus of Nazareth with the Holy Ghost and with the power; who went about doing good, and healing all that were oppressed of the devil; for God was with him." (Acts. 10-36-38).

The lesson-sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Ask yourself: Am I living the life that approaches the supreme good? Am I demonstrating the healing power of Truth and Love? If so, then the way will grow brighter unto the perfect day." Your fruits will prove what the understanding of God brings to man."

Sans Souci Club Meets.
The Sans Souci Club held its first meeting of the New Year with Mrs. J. B. Kittrell on Tuesday afternoon, January 10.

Lovely bowls of pink roses and gladioli were arranged in the drawing room. The president, Mrs. W. E. Hooker, welcomed as guests for the afternoon, Mrs. L. L. Kittrell, Mrs. T. McM. Grant and Miss Carolyn White.

The club unanimously adopted a resolution endorsing state aid for libraries throughout North Carolina.

Mrs. W. M. Scales, who was in charge of the program, then presented Dr. Frank of the college, who gave a most enlightening and interesting talk on "Outstanding World Events of 1938," the most significant being:

The Munich Conference, describing those feverish days in September when Chamberlain, Daladier, Mussolini and Hitler met and signed the agreement that prevented war; made dictator nations the most powerful in the world and dealt a blow to England's prestige.

The Lima Conference of the nineteen republics, with our nation from which finally emerged the compromise that assured protection against Nazism, Fascism and foreign invasion.

The rise of Japan to such a dominant place in the Orient.

Dr. Frank spoke of their program in detail, and of Henry L. Stimson's efforts to persuade France, England and the United States to stand together and stop Japan, and the book that he wrote foretelling everything which has happened as he predicted.

Then the interesting and scientific feat of Hughes with his wonderful military plane, flying around the world in 91 hours, being a most remarkable incident, everything going as planned and in perfect comfort.

Mrs. Kittrell, assisted by her two daughters, served a beautiful and delicious salad course, with cake and coffee.—Reported.

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

By Robbin Coops

HOLLYWOOD—Only three years ago a young blond chap and a cocky little fellow in a high silk hat were making the rounds in Hollywood.

"Time on our hands" might have been their theme song, except that they were too busy looking for work to get in any singing.

The blond chap (aw, his name's Edgar Bergen) tried to get a job acting, either with or without the little fellow (and his name's Charlie McCarthy). He tried to tell Hollywood he'd make a good dialogue writer. But Hollywood was bored. Edgar and Charlie went back to Chicago, where they knew they could have regular meals, anyway.

What has happened since then? Well, they're back in Hollywood now, and they're making the rounds in Hollywood. They're making the rounds in Hollywood. They're making the rounds in Hollywood.

At present Bergen and McCarthy are spending about 9 hours daily at Universal, helping W. C. Fields prove that "You Can't Cheat an Honest Man." Then there's their weekly air show, not missed once in nearly three years, and requiring two new comedy routines a week. Bergen works those up at night after movie work.

There are 25 McCarthy novelties on the market, each representing a "deal" which had to be investigated and closed like many other which have been rejected. And then—benefits.

As a double-take artist, Bergen is the town's busiest actor. He must speak his own lines, do his own acting, speak and act for Charlie at the same time.

It's uncanny the way he gives that little fellow personality, and yet retains his own. At Bergen's house, I understand, the servants speak of the woodpecker's feast as solicitously and admiringly as they do of the master—and are as proud of Charlie's wardrobe.

Incidentally, I picked up a new chapter in the McCarthy-Fields " feud," relating to the bulbous-nosed Bill's first visit to the Santa Anita racetrack this season. Here:

Charlie: "Mr. Fields, I heard that you rode one of the horses at Santa Anita yesterday"

Fields: "As a matter of fact, I did, Charlie, my diminutive little chum"

Charlie: "What a jockey! I suppose, to hear you tell it, you won by a mile?"

Fields: "No, Charles, I am given to tarradiddle—I won by a nose."

Charlie: "Oh, just a length-and-a-half."

you all know, and it all adds up to the fact that "time on my hands" is likely to be a missing element in the pair's life for a good spell to come.

Funny, how these things work out. Success in pictures, fame on the air. They bring a fine home, maybe a swimming pool—and precious little time to enjoy either.

Not fancy Messrs. Bergen and McCarthy are complaining, but—"I work five times as hard as I did before Hollywood recognized our existence," says Bergen. "Before, I used to spend a great deal of my time looking for work. Now work comes looking for me."

Local High Scores 30-29 Win Over Roanoke Rapids

Stave Off Last Minute Rally by Halifax Quintet

By "SMIT" BURNS
Staving off a desperate last minute rally, the undefeated basketball five of G.H.S. edged out a thrilling 30-29 victory over the Yellow Jacket quint of Roanoke Rapids high in a game played in the Mill town last night.

The game was closely contested all the route and the game was never in the bag for the Phantoms. George Sakas opened the night's scoring with a field goal after two minutes had elapsed. Johnnie Lautares and Marvin Stock then combined their efforts to give G.H.S. an 8-4 margin when the first quarter ended.

The score was tied several times during the first half and the half ended with the Phantoms holding a slim 14-13 advantage. The Phantoms returned to the court after intermission and rang up four successive field goals while limiting the opposition to a lone action shot and pulled into a 22-15 lead.

With only three minutes left in the ball game G.H.S. was spinning a 30-23 lead and appeared rather sure of victory. However, the Jax rallied and made two quick action shots and two foul shots to pull up to within one point of the Phantoms. The clock saved the day.

George Sakas, forward on the Phantom quint, led the scoring of the G.H.S. team with 12 points. He was closely followed by Johnnie Lautares, who garnered 10 points. Stocks, Jordan and McGowan also played well for the Phantoms.

Taylor, big center, led the Yellow Jackets by collecting five active shots and two charity throws for a total of 12 points. Captain Shell took runner-up honors by scoring 10 points.

Chas. V. Floyd Offers Economy Oil Burner

After a year of actual trial in tobacco barns under all kinds of curing conditions and handled by experienced hands, Charles V. Floyd of Fairmont, inventor and manufacturer of the Floyd Economy Oil Burner Tobacco Curer, is offering his burner to tobacco farmers of this section this year.

At the close of the past tobacco curing season, Mr. Floyd worked out several improvements to the burner and this year's model, which is being offered to the public generally through county representatives all over Eastern North Carolina and South Carolina, is acclaimed by him to be far superior to any other type of burner on the market today. Many of the hazards of curing tobacco have been removed and the burner, which is so simple that a child can operate it, will not only cure tobacco better on a grade basis but will do it much cheaper than any other method and save the farmer much time and sleepless nights, it is claimed.

A popular feature of the Floyd Economy Burner is that it connects to the regular flues in the barn and fresh air from the outside passes through the burner creating a heat that is intense but easily regulated. The burner is fire proof. Odors and fumes from the burner pass out through the flues and there are no wicks or parts to burn out and replace.

An additional feature of the Floyd Economy Burner is its use in curing sweet potatoes in the barn and as a chicken brooder. It has proven itself ideal for both uses because it is economical to operate and safe.

more than a little surprise in many quarters, particularly his reference to the necessity of transferring $2,000,000 at the end of the current year. Governor Hoy has repeatedly boasted of the fact that he has not yet transferred any funds under the contingent diversion provision and has repeatedly promised no such diversion unless it should become absolutely necessary.

According to the Bryant statement the June, 1938, transfer would be made not because there will then be a deficit, but in order that the general funds may start the next year with a surplus large enough to meet estimated expenditures for the following year.

Altogether the pronouncements of the Durham representative, who is regarded as speaking for the Administration because of his budget commission membership, tightened the diversion light.

With a New Improved

Floyd Economy Oil Burner

Manufactured by Chas. V. Floyd, Fairmont, N. C.

HERE ARE SOME OF ITS PROVEN FEATURES:

1. Costs less than any other burner to operate.
2. Consumes from 50 to 90 gallons of oil to the barn because the oil is heated before reaching the burner.
3. Heating unit placed at the end of where your twin furnace would be distributing equalized heat throughout the barn through regular size tobacco flues.
4. Made of cast iron, the outer part one-half inch thick and the burner itself one and one-half inches thick.
5. Fresh air passing from the outside through the burner creates unusual heat which can be regulated by a child.
6. No wicks, or other parts to wear out. The oil travels from the outside tank through a small line into the burner hot plate making the cheaper grades of oil more satisfactory than the more expensive kind.
7. The practicability of the New Modern Floyd Economy Burner is seen immediately by its operation.
8. Above the burner is a heat spreader with one-eighth inch sand covering. This provides an even temperature even to the farthest corner, top or bottom.
9. Fumes in your tobacco have been eliminated by the use of a patented enclosure for the flame, and all odor and fumes pass out through the flues.
10. No barn of tobacco is smoked by this method. There's only one master burner and it's impossible to ruin or even damage your product.
11. Positively no way for tobacco or barn to catch fire from the Floyd Economy Burner.
12. Should your barn burn for any other cause the Floyd Economy Burner would not be damaged in the least. A great insurance protection and the safest of investments.

If such a survey is anticipated in North Carolina there has been nothing said to indicate it. For that matter, no advance indication had been given that any sort of bus investigation was contemplated. Bus people are trying to find out if the railroads, either the management or the labor brotherhoods inspired the thought.

The bus lines contend that they are already paying more than their just share of taxes. An instance was cited last night to bolster this contention. On the occasion of the recent Ross Bowl game at Pasadena one line proposed to operate a special through bus from Raleigh. It was discovered that the total taxes which would have to be paid to the several states traversed would total more than $1,300. In addition to that, two states required the posting of $500 cash bond upon entering the state to be refunded only after the trip was completed and all vehicle laws complied with. This meant an immediate cash outlay by the bus company of $3,300, since the $5.00 had to be put up on entering the state from either side, and taxes had to be paid at once. If the bus had carried a capacity load at regular rates the income from the trip would have amounted to about $2,250. The bus line abandoned the idea. But it and other bus lines have not abandoned the fight for relief from what they feel is too heavy taxes. Nor will they sit by and permit an "investigation" of their business without including in the probe all other forms of motor vehicles.

Any full investigation of the matter will involve also the collateral questions of license plate rates, increase or reduction of the gasoline tax, diversion of highway funds, etc. Almost certainly it will bring into the picture the powerful railroad brotherhoods lobby.

Total appropriations recommended for the highway and public works commission for the biennium are slightly under $70,000,000. Forty thousand dollars is an insignificant portion of the huge total, but if bus and truck representatives are correct in their surmise of what it means, this item will precipitate one of the hardest fights of the session.

ENTIRE BUDGET BASED ON DIVERSION OF $7,000,000
disbursements, but was chiefly notable for its continuation of the Administration's desperate efforts to keep "contingent diversion" in the Revenue bill.

Mr. Bryant pointed out that all appropriations recommended have been based on the promise that there will be enough money raised to meet them.
Estimates of prospective revenues, he said, have been "liberal" and that even with these "liberal" estimates it will be absolutely necessary to transfer the sums from Highway to General fund.
He said that transfer of $2,000,000 at the end of this fiscal year would be needed "in order to start the next fiscal period with a general fund balance of $3,200,000." He did not explain how this proposed transfer can be made, in view of the fact that existing law does not permit such a transfer unless and until there is a deficit in the general fund. Under the circumstances cited by Bryant this condition will not appear fulfilled.
Therefore, he said, it will be necessary to transfer $2,500,000 at the end of the fiscal year 1939-40 in order to give the general fund a balance of $1,307,500 to begin the fiscal year 1940-41, and during that year it will be necessary to make another $2,500,000 transfer in order that the general fund balance be $2,307,500 at the end of the coming biennium.

DON'T INCREASE TUITION FEES

The recommendation of the budget commission for higher tuition fees at state educational institutions is, we feel, a backward step for this state and should not be adopted by the legislature. North Carolina has recognized the fact that it owes a duty to its citizens in the way of making it easy for the children to receive an education and this plan should certainly include the opportunity to receive a college education.

The fact that every one of the state operated colleges and universities each year receive far more applications from students, who wish to work their way through college, than can be taken care of is evidence that our young people desire a better education to fit themselves as better citizens, and when this is the case, we do not see the wisdom of increasing tuition costs thereby making it even harder for our young people to receive a higher education.

In the present times when there are but few jobs for those leaving the high schools, it is our idea that the intervening years between the high school age and manhood and womanhood can well be devoted to procuring a higher education, better fitting the recipients to face the battles of life, but if our state sees fit to increase the burdens of those who are seeking this higher education, additional thousands will be barred from our colleges, bringing about more idleness with its attendant evils.

It is to be hoped that the legislature will give careful consideration to this matter before following the recommendation of the budget commission, for we feel that barring thousands of young people from our colleges will in the long run cost the state far more than the potential half million dollars that it hopes to gain through the increased tuition fees.

ONE RESOLUTION YOU SHOULD KEEP

By this time, most of your New Year's resolution have probably been broken. That's only human. But there's one resolution every one of us should make and keep for the twelve months ahead. Here it is: "I resolve to do my part, as a motorist and pedestrian, to help reduce America's ghastly death and accident toll."

During a large part of 1938, the accident rate declined. But we haven't yet earned the right to compliment ourselves and sit back on our laurels. Tens of thousands of people died unneessarily last year—the victims of recklessness and ignorance. Tens of thousands more will die unnecessarily this year—unless all of us do something about it. We can have safety—if we want it, and are willing to earn it. This is a universal problem, and its solution depends on the cooperation of us all. We made progress toward that end last year—let's do a great deal more this year.

Washington Daybook

By Preston Grover

Washington—Before Congress can become as independent as once seemed possible, it must prove that national defense does not envelope such a field as the President mapped out.

On previous occasions the President has used the tactics of putting Congress on the spot. His message to the 1938 session was right in harmony with the earlier procedure. He included under the program of national defense not only the usual business of building ships and guns but also virtually the whole New Deal program. In the President's view, labor legislation, stock exchange regulation, power development, social security—all these now become a part of the program of unifying the country internally against outside dangers.

Observers here agreed it was a smart move for the President, harassed as he is by threat of a recalcitrant Congress. Let Congress kick up its heels, said the President, but whatever it does, it will be responsible to the people for any damage to the national defense.

Nothing If Not Strategic
Already Congress has begun to kick up its heels, of course, for the President's move has been hinted for weeks past. It is not necessarily an impregnable position for him to take, but it is a strategic one, most authorities agree.

The President has been accused of making every problem an emergency in order to compel acceptance of his own plans for meeting it. It has worked often. In the instances of the court bill and the reorganization bill it failed. In the beginning of his administration the President used the serious emergency of the collapse of business. He said democracy itself was at stake, that the three-part government was on trial, just as he says it now. In his inaugural address on that exciting March day in 1933 he expressed hope that Congress would respond to the needs of the hour and do the necessary.

"But in the event that the Congress shall fail . . . I shall ask the Congress for the one remaining instrument to meet the crisis—board executive power to wage a war against the emergency, as great as the power that would be given to me if we were in fact invaded by a foreign foe."

He Got Results
Congress acted fast, with an omniscience in presidential recommendations not equalled in peace-time history.

The gold emergency came in 1934, and the President obtained authority to nationalize gold.

The condition of the underprivileged became in his view an urgent case in 1935 and Congress had to do something about social-security, about housing and about tax reform that would take away some of the profits that concentrated power in few hands. As he put it, Congress had to act or face the onus of bad faith with the down-trodden.

The President's overwhelming victory of 1936 was accompanied by a comforting rise in prosperity. Congress, overwhelmingly Democratic, had no ground for an independent position until the court bill backfired. That came in 1937. Since then the trend toward an independent Congress has been widely observed. The trend was emphasized by returns of the last election.

Now the President challenges this independent Congress to act on its own hook—but warns it to deal courteously with anything endangering the nation's defenses in the face of greedy totalitarian nations. If Congress worsens the relationship between employer and labor, if it cuts spending enough to start a new recession, if it unsteadies the credit and banking structure—if it hurts any New Deal enterprise it means the national defense, says the President, as much as if it interfered with armaments themselves.

An off-center play that will test congressional mettle.

SHORT SHOTS

By HENRY AVERILL and LYNN MASSEY

Reflector Bureau.
Raleigh, Jan. 11.—Rupert Pickens of Guilford, a lead tanner, and Arch Aech of Wake, a second time member, both of whom put their money on the wrong horse in the great sheep derby, were announced to each other yesterday as chairman of the immigration and drainage committee, respectively. These two promising young lawmakers, like several older ones who also resigned wrong, did not even lead chairmanship of committees on how not to get along in the legislature.

Walter (Pete) Murphy of Rowan did not want his friend Victor Bryant to languish in idleness because he failed to land the speakership job. Murphy yesterday introduced a bill providing for establishment of a graduate school of liberal arts, and courses in law, medicine and pharmacy at the North Carolina College for Negroes in Durham when as many as ten Negroes apply for any such course. The bill was referred to the new committee headed by Mr. Bryant on higher education.

It provides that if funds are not available from regular sources, it shall be the duty of the governor and the budget commission, with the council of state, to provide the necessary money.

In the House of Representatives Monday night Reading Clerk Seawell put a new word in the governor's budget message. The governor had written about an "incentive" to greater effort. Young Seawell thought the occasion required a bigger word. He made it "incentative."

The general assembly may hold one day's session in Charlotte, under the Volter resolution of last Thursday. It may even come about that the session will be held on May 29th, although not one member can be found to say the present assembly will last that long. The legislature may also hear Madam Perkins, secretary of labor, again before the Volter resolution in Charlotte on May 20th. The House overwhelmingly voted down Pete Murphy's amendment to the Senate resolution naming the secretary to address a joint session today, the amendment having sought to change the date to the Charlotte meeting May 20.

The legislature acquired four new members Monday night. Lacy McBryde of Cumberland, R. E. Finch of Buncombe, Spruill Thornton of Forsyth, and A. E. Johnson of Franklin. Johnson was just elected last Saturday in a special election called to name a successor to C. T. Nicholson, who was one of the victims of the Christmas holiday highway accidents. Thornton went to the Rose Bowl game at Pasadena—the only member of the general assembly who saw Duke lose the one game during the season—and did not get home until last Friday. Finch was in a Asheville hospital all last week. McBryde had "personal business" to look after. When these four kissed the Bible after Speaker Ward had administered the oath, there were no vacancies in the House of Representatives.

Legislators are complaining about state officials parking their cars on the capitol square walkways. Back in 1935 the late Dr. Douglas, representative from Wake, introduced a bill which was passed making it a misdemeanor to park a car on the brick paved driveway or walkways of the capitol grounds. Although that law was duly ratified and published, it is almost impossible to get from the capitol on the north side without walking on the grass, which is also against the law. Most of the cars parked there have license numbers below 100, indicating that they belong to state officials.

A group of bulb growers from down east came up yesterday to confer with Commissioner Scott in the Department of Agriculture and they brought along tangible evidence of their proficiency of growing bulbous flowers. The commissioner's office yesterday afternoon was all ablaze with jonquils and iris and other bulbous flowers which constitute an important part of Eastern Carolina's agricultural produce.

Legislators have new carpets to tread upon and new lights in the ceiling. Oldtimers as well as newcomers appreciate them. But the oldtimers miss something.

Keeping Up With the Supreme Court

(By The AP Feature Service)

A year and a half ago there were no Roosevelt appointees on the Supreme Court. When the appointment of Professor Felix Frankfurter is confirmed, there will be three. Only Justices Butler and McReynolds are now classed by New Dealers as out-and-out conservatives. Important cases coming before the court concern the wage-hour and marketing-control laws. Here's the new court line-up:

Charles Evans Hughes, New York, 78, appointed 1930, Hoover.

James Clark McReynolds, New York, 76, appointed 1914, Wilson.

Louis Dembitz Brandeis, Massachusetts, 82, appointed 1916, Wilson.

Pierce Butler, Minnesota, 72, appointed 1922, Harding.

'NEW YEAR'S LOVE'

by Angela Lorden

The Characters
Noel Marchand, a beautiful young actress.
Allan Norris, the man she loves.
David Norris, her fiancé.

Yesterday: At the hospital, Elaine walks in just as Allan was about to tell Noel something.

Chapter 24
An Awful Idiot
STRANGELY enough, it was Elsie Grant who gave Noel some sense of comfort in the ensuing hectic days. Without realizing it, too, she advanced David's cause with Noel.

On impulse, Noel called Denise's shop and invited Elsie to have dinner with her. Elsie was a different person than the dispirited young woman who had joined the Christmas party in Claiborne. She was blossoming—it was the new job. She was more smartly dressed, too.

"Security is a wonderful thing for a woman, isn't it?" Noel commented as they sat in her living-room.

"I've you to thank for it all. I don't know how I'll ever repay you," Elsie's eyes were shining.

"You don't know what it is to be jobless—to wonder where your next week's rent is coming from," Elsie continued.

"Oh, don't!" Noel was remembering the lean seasons with no calls from producers bolstering her courage. She found herself telling some of this to Elsie, of her own unhappy period at the Weymouth Club. "Are you still there?" she asked Elsie.

"Yes, I could afford something better now but I'm afraid not to save every dollar I can. I'll stay on a while longer, until I'm sure my place is permanent with Madam Denise."

Noel could understand that, too. "Promise me one thing, Elsie—if you're ever in any difficulties, will you let me know at once? I'll have more than I need for myself."

She was thinking of David and his wealth. "I'm marrying David Norris in a few weeks. There, she'd said it with finality. "We'll be away for most of the summer but I'll keep in touch with you somehow."

Elsie was trying to wish Noel happiness with stumbling words. Her face had a strange look as though she were remembering some secret.

"Were you ever in love?" Noel asked unexpectedly. She was sorry the next moment when she saw Elsie's reaction. The thin young figure seemed to become tense in the low chair. Noel had a feeling Elsie resented the question.

"Yes," she finally admitted. "It wasn't pleasant."

"Don't talk about it then," Noel protested.

"I'd like to—it doesn't hurt any more," Her voice belied the words. "I was engaged to be married back home. A week before our wedding he eloped with the richest girl in town. That's why I came to New York—to forget. Places don't make much difference when you've been hurt so bitterly."

"I'm sorry," Noel felt her words so inadequate.

"I'd never trust any man again," Elsie spoke cynically.

"That not fair to yourself," Noel suggested. "I hope you'll be married happily some day."

"If I do it will be for companionship—and security," Elsie retorted. Security, Noel was thinking—how women cling to the word. She didn't tell Elsie that's why she had first promised David—out of fear of the future and what it might hold for her.

But she thought about it continually while she went to the theater. Love only brings misery there was her own experience, and Elsie's.

It was out of this retrospection that she talked with David after the performance that night. He brought up the subject of the marriage ceremony, and Noel, who had never heard of "Who would be there?" Noel had a sense of closing every door behind her as she passively agreed with all his plans. David had a friend, a clergyman up in Westchester. They'd drive there in time to come back and board the Atlanta for its North Cape Cruise.

If We Waited Awhile...
AREN'T you afraid to marry me, David, knowing how I feel, knowing so much about me? She interrupted his eagerly reported arrangements.

"If you mean... Whatever he was going to say, he didn't utter. Instead he looked at her ahead of him. "I know you think you don't love me now, dear. But I know, too, that you'll keep your promises. I'll teach you to love me," he said as though making a solemn pledge.

CONTEST SEEN ON DIVERSION

Issue Becomes Principal Problem For Legislature

By HENRY AVERILL

RALEIGH, Jan. 11—Every indication of the still-young General Assembly session points to diversion of highway funds and a Constitutional amendment banning the practice as the issues over which this year's legislators will wage their bloodiest battle.

It is the one issue so far brought into the light which gives real promise of a sustained, determined fight against Governor Clyde R. Hoey and his Administration forces.

Early signs are that Governor Hoey and his friends have adopted the philosophy that the best defense is a strong attack, with the result that the proponents of an anti-diversion amendment have been placed squarely on the defensive, where they had hoped to be the attacking army.

To accomplish this, the Governor has lost not one chance to drive home his contention that the present application of the sales tax to gasoline policy should be continued, while at the same time reiterating his opposition to the amendment.

Which means that the anti-diversionists have found themselves driven to a desperate effort to wipe out the contingent diversion possible under the "sales tax on gasoline theory."

So far all the firing—artillery, machine gun and rifle—has come from the Administration side of the battle line, the anti-diversionists haven't opened up. The Governor started the barrage in his address to the Assembly last week, devoting more time to the diversion question than any other single issue upon which he touched. He kept it up in the Budget report and the Budget message he made Monday night. Here again the diversion issue was made almost paramount.

The appointment of Senate and House committees likewise stressed the importance of the issue—though here the anti-diversionists seem to have drawn about an even break.

The Senate Constitutional Amendment Committee appears heavily loaded with Administrationists and consequently "packed" against the amendment in the opinion of many of its proponents. On the other hand the Senate Roads committee, headed by Jones county's John D. Larkins, Jr., is termed "completely satisfactory" by most of those opposed to diversion and favorable to an amendment.

On the House Constitutional Amendment Committee there does not seem to be such a heavy preponderance against the diversion measure. On the face of its composition—subject to change as pressure is brought to bear from one source or another—there seems almost an even chance that it might report favorably on anti-diversion amendment.

As for the House roads group, the chairman Clarence Stone of Rockingham, is listed among the strong opponents of diversion, and the committee makeup does not offend those who are of the same mind.

So far the fighting has been confined to the preliminary artillery barrage of oratory and advice from the Governor. The hand-to-hand and head-to-head combat is still a long way off.

But when the anti-diversionist forces really go over the top in their drive, it's going to be interesting to sit on the sidelines and act as a war correspondent.

Two years ago the Antis almost upset the Administration apple cart on the centennial diversion proposal. Since then the state has been the area of one of the best organized, financed and directed campaigns of propaganda it has ever seen. Anti-Diversionists, headed by the powerful petroleum lobby have since their siren notes in every section and the Administration will have no walkover. The Governor knows it, and that's why he is working so hard even this early in the session.

BUDDHISTS HAVE A PLAN TO END CHINESE WAR
PEIJING (AP)—Believing that continued butchering of animals for food has brought on the present war between Japan and China, a group of local Chinese Buddhists has launched a campaign to induce people to refrain from every kind of killing.

Their campaign proposes simply that people kill nothing, not even an insect. Membership in the drive is free, no fees are required, and no meetings held.

If no more life is taken, state the campaign posters, the war will soon end and Buddha will again smile on humanity.

Man About Manhattan

By George Tarkenton

New York—Looking back on New Year's Eve I recall two impressionable happenings—one about 45 minutes before Tommy Dorsey's boys swung into "Auld Lang Syne," the other about 2:30 a. m.

I had just claimed a table in the Terrace room at the New Yorker when the first occurred. The usual conglomeration of paper hats and coat-makers were piled chin high. I picked up my hat, a cacophony of "hats," inside was printed the unbelievable legend: "Made in America."

The second took place when a man, host to a party of four, called his check a couple of hours later. He paid for it out of a $100 bank note. When the waiter returned with his change the man left some money on the tray with the words: "That's yours."

For a moment the waiter looked at the tray. "I'm sorry, sir, but I can't take it. That's too much money." The man looked down at the tray. There was a $20 and a $10 note. "Okay," he said pocketing the $20. The waiter took the $10, bowed, and said respectfully: "Thank you, sir."

That was so unusual in this grab-bag what-you-can-get-tow that I took occasion to remember the waiter's number. It was No. 25. Ralph Hitz ought to be told what a manly and worthwhile fellow he has working for him.

Monolog by Phil Baker, who recently went on a quiet rampage concerning: Song writers in general (including myself—I'm lousy); California ("It's too consistently sunny"); Tim Pan Alley ("Tim Pan Alley's lye down on the job; it lacks talent. There haven't been a half dozen songs of lasting quality written in 15 years. The only one I can think of right now is 'Stardust.' Maybe 'Trees' too"); Commercialism ("The trouble is that composers are writing solely Addresses County Teachers.

Prof. James A. Clarke of the St. Teachers College of Elizabeth City and head of the department of Health Education there, addressed Pitt county teachers in their monthly meeting last Saturday on "Some Trends in Education for Needs of Society."

Pre-school education, family relationship, health education, leisure time, vocational guidance, sex education, health-safety, etc., were some problems discussed by him. A number of parents and visiting teachers were present. Two solos were sung by Mrs. Rosaly North of the Greenville school faculty. The teachers gave several group presentations, led by Mrs. M. L. Newton of the county system.

The Falkland group teachers met at Oak Ridge school Monday. The program committee presented a program, after which teachers discussed in open forum "The Lunch Hour."

Much improvement has been made in schools providing ways to have children enjoy a lunch period with clean hands and sanitary surroundings for providing the process. A number of P. T. A. members will finance the project for providing paper towels, soap, etc., and constructing a water supply for warm water.

Tuesday the Ayden group teachers met at Pleasant Plain. A program was rendered by the school and how to re-make old furniture was demonstrated by Mr. Bone, principal of the school. How to make attractive kitchen curtains from flour sack at no cost was also demonstrated by Mrs. Rountree a parent.

Music was presented from the primary grades, after which Mr. D. H. Conley, superintendent, spoke to teachers and parents. He stressed many things that will be helpful to parents and teachers in their efforts to make good citizens themselves, as well as to train children to do so.

After the close, parents of Pleasant Plain served a delicious dinner including barbecue and hot coffee. Parents from the entire district were present and expressed themselves as having been highly entertained and will meet the same group at Rodgers school in February.

Aide Of New Deal Dies From Attack

Washington, Jan. 11.—(AP)—Herman Oliphant, general counsel of the Treasury and intimate authority of President Roosevelt, died today.

The Treasury said Oliphant's death occurred at Naval hospital at 9:30 a. m. He suffered a critical heart ailment for about a week.

Oliphant, 54 years old, was best known in administration for his reputed authorship of the controversial undistributed profits tax.

Although retiring and reticent, Oliphant also was credited by associates with frequent consultation with the President on many other important matters.

At the time of his death Oliphant was the Treasury's member of the monopoly investigating committee.

The Indian came into the Roosevelt administration first as general counsel of the Farm Credit Administration in March, 1933, when Henry Morgenthau, Jr., head of that agency. When Morgenthau became Secretary of the Treasury he took Oliphant to that department.

Ten Youths Enlist For CCC Service

Ten Pitt county boys were enrolled in the CCC camp at Washington yesterday, but no more will be enrolled from this county until about March 20, K. T. Futrell, welfare officer, said today.

The county's quota of 10 was made up of white boys. They were Henry Alexander Andrews of Greenville, Route 4; Ray Cherry, Greenville; J. A. Harris of Greenville, Route 5; Troy Harris of Farmville, Route 1; William Cleveland Newton of Farmville; Benjamin Franklin Ormond of Washington, Route 3; Durwood Rouse of Greenville; Johnnie William Simmons of Greenville, Route 5; Joe Nathan Teal of Greenville; and Robert Lee Tripp of Grifton, Route 2.

Under new provisions CCC boys must send at least $22 of their earnings home, keeping $8 for themselves. Under the previous ruling each boy must send at least $25 a month home.

Mr. Futrell said it would be of no use for any Pitt county boys to go to his office to make application for entrance in the CCC until March.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Jan. 11.—(AP)—The New Year down-drift was resumed in the stock market today as the previous session's rally petered out.

Steel and aircraft shares, recent bull favorites on U. S. armament expectations, were at the head of the retreat and most of the market followed. Numerous losses of one to three points were on the quotation board around the fourth hour but dealings became fewer after an early selling flurry.

Bonds were mixed and narrow.

Col. Ruppert Lies At Brink Of Death

New York, Jan. 11.—(AP)—Gen. Col. Jacob Ruppert, beer and baseball magnate, lay near death today in his palatial Fifth Avenue home.

The last rites of the Catholic Church were administered and attending physicians said there was no hope for recovery of the 71-year-old owner of the world champion New York Yankees.

But the stout, little bachelor sportsman, who built one of the nation's biggest fortunes in brewing, baseball and real estate, fought strongly against an attack of pleuritis that has kept him from his office for nine months.

Asks Federal Tax On Scrap Tobacco

Columbia, S. C., Jan. 11.—(AP)—Representative Stanley Bryant of Horry county, introduced today a resolution memorializing Congress to enact legislation imposing a tax on inferior grades of tobacco existing of the penalty imposed by the inland federal control act.

Pointing out "fine cured" tobacco growers voted against production control, which "will result in an over-production of inferior grades of tobacco and bring material loss to tobacco growers," the resolution asked Congress to "impose a reasonable tax on all scrap tobacco marketed at a price not exceeding five cents per pound" in lieu of the 50 per cent penalty provided under existing acts.

The resolution was referred to the Agriculture committee.

President Of ECTC Addresses Students

Speaking on the topic "Hope for 1939" President L. R. Meadows addressed the student body of the College at assembly yesterday for the first time since the beginning of the new term.

Dr. Meadows looked briefly over the international field and spoke of the hope of all for peace this coming year. "Perhaps we are facing a worse struggle than those going on in China and in Spain now," he said, "a struggle between democratic nations and those under dictatorships." He went on however, to express his hope of the world's avoiding such a struggle and still preventing the spread of the way of dictatorship.

Among his chief wishes for the nation, said the speaker, is that our people may be put to work. Referring to a statement he had made from that same platform six years ago about the dangerous trend of our economic policy, he repeated his opinion that a nation cannot spend itself out of debt.

sees drawing benefit checks would not work if they were offered a job or explaining that the payments are merely wage credits earned while they were working.

No person can draw checks for more than 16 consecutive weeks and there is a $15 limit on the weekly payment, regardless of how much wage credit the individual may have earned. A person may draw benefits on the first eight of the nine preceding quarters.

For this reason the local offices have been crowded since the first of the year by persons filing claims for work they did during the third quarter in 1938. Mr. Cherry said that more than 5,000 applications were handled last week.

Of this 5,000, he said, only a small per cent were white persons. He expressed the belief that if separate offices were provided for white and colored applicants many more white people would take advantage of the benefit payments. In most instances, he said, he did not believe the white unemployed were familiar with the act and were not aware they were eligible to draw payments. A person may draw one-sixth of the wages he earned during the qualified period, eight of them in preceding quarters, the amount to be paid in weekly installments and based on the applicant's average earnings.

dependent solely on funds voted by the legislature, the state colleges and universities can not hope to work on the same basis as those private universities with large endowments—such, for example, as Duke in this state, Tulane, Vanderbilt and Baylor in other Southern states, and Yale, Harvard, Columbia and many others in the East.

Institutions like these, it is already conceded are attended by people of wealth. Only state-supported colleges and universities can care for the education of those of moderate or limited means, a classification which covers thousands of North Carolina's young people.
