EFFORTS MADE BY LOYALISTS END UPRISING

Outbreaks Purportedly Inspired by Communists

MIAJA'S PLANES FLY OVER MADRID

Pronouncement Declares Revolt Apparently Attempt to Force Continuation of Civil War.

Madrid, March 7.—(AP)—War planes were used over Madrid by General Miaja's new Republican Defense government today in an effort to crush an uprising of "some troops" said to have been inspired by communists.

Earlier pronouncements by General Miaja and his defense minister, General Casado, said that the revolt and apparent attempt to force continuation of the Civil war as opposed to Miaja's expressed desire for a "worthy peace" was under control.

It was subsequently reported that communists, who had been holding out in a building on the site of an old race track on Madrid's outskirts had surrendered, but that companion forces still were in possession of a few other buildings elsewhere.

The Miaja's government, which succeeded that of Premier Negrin and included no communists, tried to reassure Madrid citizens by broadcast that the populace should not be frightened by the presence of fighting planes over the city.

"It is the old Republican aviation force standing loyally and unconditionally behind the defense council government," one radio explanation said.

The revolt developed among troops in the environs of Madrid. In the early morning there was cannon and machine gun fire, sniping sections and isolated snipers kept up an intermittent fire within the city proper.

Miaja last night became head of the national defense government, which succeeded that of the ousted premier.

"Let's come back to common sense and I assure you the war will end soon," Miaja declared in a radio broadcast today.

Prief Session of County Court Held

Two cases were tried in County Court this morning, one was transferred to Superior court for trial by a jury and several were continued, as the session was completed by the 11 o'clock hour.

William Rigby was convicted of fraud and was ordered to pay a $25 fine, costs to be deducted, and to pay 95 cents for gasoline he bought had charged to the State. The defendant also was placed on probation for 18 months.

The case charging Tom Little with larceny was transferred to Superior court.

Assembly Offers Little For Would-Be Governors

Reflector Bureau. Raleigh, March 7.—At the 1939 general assembly goes into its 10th week, observers can find little factual basis for predictions as to who will emerge as the leading candidate for governor in 1940. This is an unusual situation, brought about by unusual conditions.

DEFEATS BILL TO PUT TAX ON PUNCH BOARDS

House Opposes, 56-52 Act to Tax "Illegal" Boards

ONE DOLLAR TAX HAD BEEN ASKED

Action Follows Favorable Vote to License Slot Machines For Amusement

Raleigh, March 7.—(AP)—The House refused today by a 56 to 52 vote to place a tax on "illegal punch boards."

Last night the representatives voted to license slot machines used for purposes of amusement only, with proponents of the levy arguing it would not license slot machines that "pay off" while opponents argued "it opens the gate wide open for any kind of slot machine."

The finance committee proposed a $1 tax on "illegal punch boards" and estimated the state could get $40,000 a year in revenue.

Rep. Cherry of Gaston, who led the unsuccessful assault on the slot machine section, had better luck on punch boards after he told the house "there is absolutely no moral or legal justification for this section in the revenue act. If you are going to do that, let's put in horse races and license hardy horses. Let's get the big boys and not play around with three by four punchboards."

McBryde of Cumberland offered the amendment which struck the tax completely from the bill.

The representative put in a new tax to charge junk yards annual fees from $25 in towns of 2,500 to $125 in cities above 30,000 population, with the same levy to apply within two miles of the municipal limits.

The license tax article was then adopted as amended and the committee of the whole quit work until 3 o'clock, with a night session also set for tonight.

The punch board and slot machine sections have caused more debate than any others.

Senators in a short session passed three minor bills and received 12 new measures.

The senate elections committee met this afternoon to consider "reform" bills passed by the house.

Senate Judiciary committee number two held a lengthy hearing on bill 88, to relieve tobacco warehousemen of liability for mortgaged tobacco unless they had been notified of the lien, then referred it to a subcommittee consisting of Senators Gibbs and Warren, Lumpkin of Franklin and Price of Rockingham.

Warehousemen appearing for the bill were: J. C. Lanier, Greenville, C. R. Watkins of Oxford, B. I. Satterfield of Durham, W. E. Fenner of Rocky Mount, and B. B. Sugg of Greenville. Frank McGowan of Columbia, S. C., representing various federal farm credit agencies, vigorously opposed the bill.

Miss Daisy Mills, 37, Dies at Chicod Home

Miss Daisy Mills, 37, died Monday afternoon at 5 o'clock in Chicod Township following a lingering illness.

A Salem, Oregon, businessman wrote R. M. Reed, Cheyenne agent for the Colorado & Southern line, that 15 years ago he was stranded in Cheyenne and "hopped a freight" to get home. His conscience was bothering him, he said, and if the agent would let him know the price of a train fare from Denver to Cheyenne, the distance he rode, he would send a check.

He added that he thought he should get half price since it was a freight train.

Reed replied that the cheapest fare was $214 in a coach, and he had no authority to make a reduction. Back came the check for $211.

LONDON PAPER NOTES ATTACK

Refers to Reynolds' Statement on Visit of Royalty

London, March 7.—(AP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain's star will rise or fall on the success or failure of the royal visit to the United States this spring, the Daily Express declared today in a long article headed "Do These United States Attacks on the Royal Visit Matter?"

The newspaper said U. S. Ambassador Joseph Kennedy "more than any other man" was responsible for the invitation to King George, VI, and Queen Elizabeth and that Kennedy was convinced it would be a success despite the "savage onslaught" attributed by the paper to Senator Reynolds (D-N.C.).

Ambassador Kennedy was not immediately available for comment.

(Senator Reynolds discussed the British royalty's visit in a Senate Foreign Affairs debate January 16.)

"Americans who oppose the visit say we are sending our king and queen to call on them cap in hand, that the whole affair is a begging expedition, and an attempt to pull the Americans into Europe," the Daily Express said.

OPEN BIDS ON RIVER PROJECT

Work Expected to be Completed by September 1st

Announcement was made by J. Nat Harrison, President of the Greenville Chamber of Commerce, that bids for the dredging of Tar River from Greenville to Washington, were opened in the District Engineer's office of the War Department in Wilmington at noon today.

Major G. W. Gillette, district engineer, advised that the government estimate was $163,202.83. Contractors bidding on the work follow: Shell Producers Co., Tampa, Fla., $189,888; Arundel Corporation, Baltimore, Md., $208,876; I. N. Y., $251,712; Atlantic Gulf and Pacific Co., New York, $282,403; Standard Dredging Co., New York, $284,832.

Work is expected to be started in the near future and be completed by September 1.

Mr. Harrison stated that the realization of this project is the culmination of efforts on the part of the citizens of Greenville extending over a long period of years, and its completion will provide water transportation to Greenville, together with resultant reduction in freight rates which will inure to the benefit of not only Greenville, but adjacent territory. The lower freight rates obtained will not only enable local business interests to expand their operations, but will undoubtedly attract other businesses and industries to Greenville, as the city is the Hub of Eastern Carolina, and is located to serve a large surrounding area.

Even though actual dredging on this project has not begun, one of the transportation companies serving Greenville, has already made substantial rate reductions on a necessary commodity which is used in large quantities in this section, indicating one of the expected benefits to be derived by the completion of this project.

PATRIARCH OF RUMANIA DIES

Miron Cristea Also Served Country as Premier

Bucharest, Rumania, March 7.—(AP)—The death of Miron Cristea, premier and patriarch of the Rumanian church, brought a period of national sorrow today—and a new premier who was hailed as a political "strong man."

Three hours after the death of the venerable Dr. Cristea at Cannes, France, last night, King Carol named as premier, Armand Calinescu, lawyer, educator and vigorous champion of law and order in government. Calinescu had been vice premier, minister of war and interior. He retains the latter two posts.

Most of the nation heard only this morning of the death from pneumonia of the 69-year-old patriarch because radio and newspapers withheld the news until the King formed the new government.

To more than 10,000,000 Rumanians the patriarch was Christ's vicar on earth. Another 8,000,000 in Rumania did not recognize him as religious leader, but venerated him for the moral authority he brought to the government. National mourning was decreed.

An official of the prime minister's office departed by airplane for Cannes to supervise the homeward journey of the body on Friday.

In government circles it was expected that a decree law would be promulgated to simplify the procedure of electing a new patriarch.

Cape Fear Authority Act Would Invest Wide Power

Reflector Bureau. Raleigh, March 7.—Advocates of the Cape Fear Authority bill, introduced last week by Representative Lacy McBryde of Cumberland, are trying hard to prevent their pet from having to bear the brunt of any onus involved in labeling it a "Little TVA," but a reading of the measure indicates it would give the proposed Authority wide powers for development of the Cape Fear Valley.

Quoting from the bill the Authority would be clothed with power:

"To build, construct, maintain, and operate canals, locks, dams, aqueducts, reservoirs, draw bridges, ditches, drains and roads and to lay and construct any tunnels, culverts, flumes, conduits, mains and other pipes necessary or useful in connection therewith.

"To build, acquire, construct, and maintain power houses and any and all structures, ways and means necessary, useful or customarily employed and used in manufacture, generation and distribution of water power, steam electric power, hydro-electric power and any and all other kinds of power, including power transmission lines, poles, telephone lines, substations, transformers and generally all things used or useful in the manufacture, distribution, purchase and sale of power generated by water, steam or otherwise.

"To manufacture, produce generate, transmit, distribute and sell water power, steam electric power, hydro-electric power or mechanical power within and without the state of North Carolina.

TESTIMONY ON SMUGGLING OF ALIENS HEARD

Committee Told "Millions" Smuggled In Annually

RIGHT OF WAY ASKED FOR BILL

Rep. Dickstein Seeks Authority For Committee To Study Immigration Laws

Washington, March 7.—(AP)—The House Rules committee heard testimony today that "well organized" groups were smuggling "millions" of aliens into the United States annually.

Chairman Dickstein (D-N.Y.) of the House Immigration Committee made the statement in asking legislative right-of-way for a measure to empower his committee to set a thorough study of the subject, aimed at revision of the immigration and naturalization laws.

Dickstein said practices of certain steamship companies and captains in over-manning their ships would be given particular attention.

Representative Schulz, (D-Ind.) a member of Dickstein's committee, testified that "a great many captains are being paid $25 to $50 a head" for every alien they bring in illegally.

While the House Rules committee was discussing the immigration legislation, three members of the House Judiciary committee said the latter group was ready to vote "almost unanimously" to exonerate Secretary Perkins of impeachment charges involving the Labor Department's enforcement of the immigration laws.

At a congressional executive monopoly committee hearing Professor Frank A. Puffer of Princeton university said that if the committee did not solve the economic problem of "basing point" prices it would "arguably have failed" in its objective.

Other Developments. A bill designed to provide reimbursements for states and counties for taxable values lost through government acquisition of lands was introduced in Congress by Senator Harrison and Representative Colmer, both Mississippi Democrats.

Rep. Cox, (D-Ga.), who opposed the administration's reorganization bill last year, told the House that "we are now closer to adoption of a reorganization bill that expresses the will of this House, unfrustrated by any outside interference" than (Continued on page six)

All Contributions Go to Aid Victims

J. Nat Harrison, chairman of the Red Cross, declaring that it had been brought to his attention that there was some doubt regarding the distribution of the funds being raised locally, stated today that every penny contributed went directly to the tornado sufferers in Bertie county.

None of the money being raised goes for administrative purposes, he explained, adding that it should be made clear that the national headquarters did not use any of the campaign funds, but even used money in its treasury to aid the victims. The National Red Cross shares only in the money raised through Roll calls.

Twenty-two dollars added to the fund being raised by the Pitt county chapter of the Red Cross brought the amount to $448.73.

Christian Science Church. "Man" was the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches and societies on Sunday, March 5.

The golden text was from Ecc. 2:26, "Good given to a man that is good in his sight wisdom, and knowledge, and joy."

Among the citations which comprised the lesson-sermon was the following from the Bible: "O Lord our Lord, how excellent is thy name in all the earth! ... When I consider thy heavens, the work of thy fingers, the moon and the stars, which thou hast ordained; What is man, that thou art mindful of him; and the son of man that thou visitest him? For thou hast made him a little lower than the angels, and hast crowned him with glory and honour. ... Thou madest him to have dominion over the works of thy hands; thou hast put all things under his feet." (Psalms 8:1-6).

The lesson-sermon also included the following from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "When understanding changes the standpoint of life and intelligence from a material to a spiritual basis, we shall gain the reality of life, the control of soul over sense, and we shall perceive Christianity, or Truth, in its divine Principle. This must be the climax before harmonious and immortal man is obtained, and his capabilities revealed. It is highly important—in view of the immense work to be accomplished before this recognition of divine Science can come—to turn our thoughts towards divine Principle, that finite belief may be prepared to relinquish its error."

Exhibits. Important in the series of exhibits of work in the Greenville High School is the English exhibit now on display in the Sheppard Memorial Library. Parents and teachers who are interested in knowing the language activities of the English classes of the Junior and the Senior High School should not fail to examine the varied specimens of their work.

Practical drills in usage are shown through the workbooks in grammar and composition; the application of English to a vital problem is evident in the original playette in Safety First; development of dramatic appreciation is indicated by the stage-set; and appreciation of literature is shown through artistic booklets on well-known classics and on North Carolina poets.

The teachers who have directed this vital English work are Mrs. C. A. Bowen, Miss Deanie Boone Haskett, and Mr. Richard G. Walsler; and the exhibit is sponsored by the high school and the A. A. U. W. Education committee, of which Dr. Lucille Turner is chairman.

The exhibit will be open through March 10.

To reclaim and drain swampy and flooded lands.

To reforest the water shed of the Cape Fear and Haw rivers and tributary streams and to prevent soil erosion and floods.

To do all these things the Authority is empowered to borrow money, make and issue negotiable notes and to secure the payment of such obligations; particularly "without limitation of the foregoing" to borrow money from the United States government or any agency created, designed or established by the United States.

All projects undertaken are to be self-liquidating and it is specifically provided that no debt of the Authority shall be construed to be a constitutional debt as defined by the Constitution of the State of North Carolina or any political subdivision thereof; and that "the State of North Carolina and its political subdivisions shall have no legal or moral obligation for the payment of any such debt.

The Authority is vested with the right to eminent domain so that it "shall have the right to acquire by eminent domain any real property, including fixtures and improvements, which it may deem necessary to carry out the purposes of this act.

It would be exempted from every form of State tax and any and all levies or subdivisions of the state "and for the purpose of such tax exemption, it is hereby declared that acts of the Authority are for a public purpose."

As to the Authority, the act provides if "shall consist of eleven members, one from each congressional district of the state, and a chairman, chosen from the state at large. The members and the chairman shall be appointed by the Governor." Initial terms shall be for one, two, three, etc., up to 11 years and as terms expire members shall be named for 11 years. The chairman's term would be five years.

Lenoir Solon Has Longest Biography

Reflector Bureau. By HENRY AVERILL

Raleigh, March 7.—In this year's North Carolina Manual, no less than 56 lines (nearly two pages) are devoted to the biography of State Senator Frederick Isler Sutton of Lenoir county. His is by 12 lines the longest of any senator. Gaston's J. H. Sparr running second with 44 lines.

At the other end and the shortest Senatorial biography is that of Lawrence Benton Prince, who represents the Twenty-seventh (Cleveland, Henderson, McDowell, Polk and Rutherford) counties.

Sutton, the distinguished looking Kinstonian, seems to have gathered up into himself almost endless memberships and chairmanships in various and sundry organizations—business, social and political.

Too, he should be one of the Assembly's best educated men, being a graduate of Harvard, no less, and having studied in England and on the Continent, 1911.

He's "member Kinston Bar Association, North Carolina State Bar, Inc.; President Sixth District Bar Association; Chairman Executive Committee North Carolina Bar Association; member Harvard Law School Association; American Bar Association; Secretary, North Carolina Municipal Association;" and so forth and so on in one paragraph.

In the next he's "trustee of the University of North Carolina eleven years; President of University of North Carolina Alumni Association of North Lenoir county; Chairman Nominating Committee, Officers Alumni Association of North Carolina; member Monogram Club of the University of North Carolina," etc., etc., on another paragraph.

And in still another he's "director, one State and three National

CITES USE OF FREEZER-LOCKERS Encourage Cold Storage Of Meats

Raleigh, March 7.—Success attained by three freezer-locker and seven pork curing plants in the State has served to stimulate wide interest in cold storage of meat, it is reported by H. H. Taylor, swing specialist of the State College Extension Service. There is a possibility that several more freezer-lockers will be established in North Carolina before next fall, Taylor said.

In response to requests for information about this system of storage and curing pork and beef, Taylor and Dr. John E. Foster, associate professor of the State College Animal Husbandry Department, recently completed a tour of the State with K. F. Warner of Washington, D. C., senior extension specialist of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Farmers, business men and county agents of the following counties attended this series of meetings: Martin, Edgecombe, Washington, Pitt, Hertford, Nash, Warren, Harnett, Vance, Johnston, Bladen, Surry, Burke, Haywood, Cherokee, Alexander, Caldwell, Sampson, Columbus, Mecklenburg, Gaston, Cleveland, Catawba, Cabarrus, Rowan, Davidson and Alamance.

The three freezer-lockers now in operation are at Greenville, Goldsboro and Lumberton. The newest of these, at Lumberton, is operated by R. E. Nance, formerly meat specialist of the Extension Service.

Dr. Foster said that plans are being made to establish freezer-lockers in several counties in which he traveled.

STATE ACTIVITIES OF SERVICE LEAGUE

The Service League Ball which was held recently for the maintenance of the free hospital bed was a success in every respect. The net receipts amounted to $141.25, which was immediately turned over to the Hospital Bed Committee. With the assistance being received from the Duke foundation, this amount will provide seventy days of hospitalization for worthy persons. The interest shown by the public in the hospital bed project was said to have been most gratifying to the League. "This interest has been manifested by inquiries, kindnesses, services, donations, and in many other ways, all of which have been most encouraging to the workers for the project, and heartily appreciated by the League," officials declared.

HER MOTHER LOST the match, but Norma Taubele softened that defeat by wiping off the marks of battle. This was in the quarter-finals of the national indoor championships in New York and Norma, the No. 1 seeded player, beat her mother, Mrs. Rose Taubele, 6-4, 6-3. Norma is 27; her mother, 56.

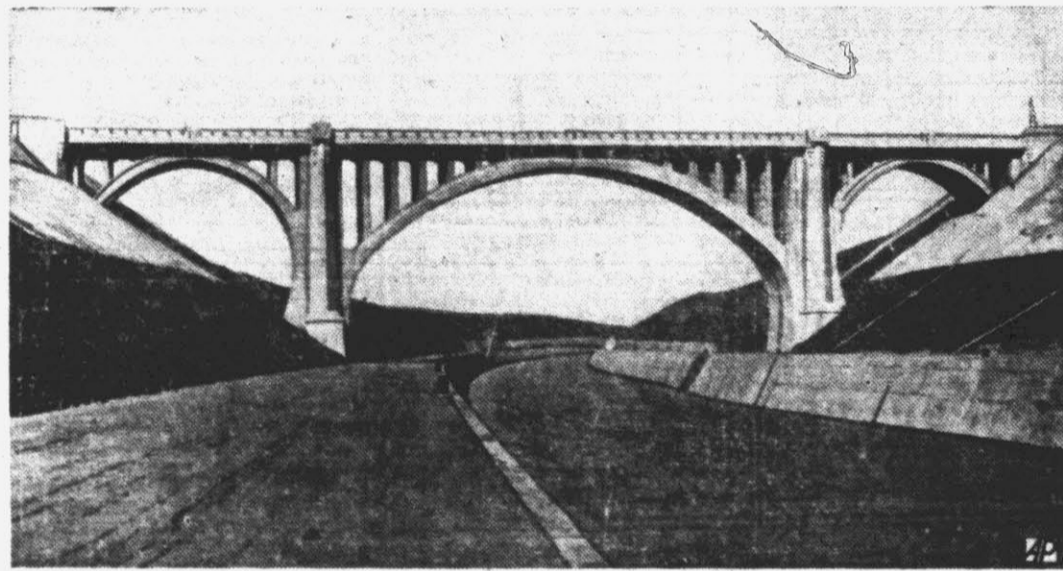

STEP RIGHT UP, FOLKS, and see if you can hit Vernon "Goofy" Gomez, the Yankees pitcher playing "I spy" behind a new catcher's dummy hung up at the camp in St. Petersburg, Fla., to encourage hurling accuracy. Lefty said he preferred looking through the catcher's glove to firing a ball through it.

SHAKE WELL BEFORE USING seemed the right medicine for dusky Buster Brown whose under-sweater welts looked suspiciously like baseballs. They were, but this pre-season shakeup was all in fun, with George Kelly, Boston Bees coach, doing the assist at the Bees training camp in Bradenton, Fla.

OLD HOME WEEK MURDER

by Phoebe Atwood Taylor

The Characters
Asey Mayo, famous Cape Cod sleuth.

Yesterday: It's Old Home Week in Billingsgate. Weston tells Asey he anticipates trouble.

Chapter Two

'Quaint Old Town'

NOW you listen," Weston continued. "We're a town of round a thousand. We got more'n five thousand coming here to stay for the whole week. We got thousands more tourists coming by the way. We're going to be paid by Philbrick for broadcasting every day. Quaint old-time town, see?"

"And we're going to be a quaint old-time town, see? Nothing's going to spoil it! We're going to make enough out of this coming week to pay up all the town debts, and have a surplus left big enough to pay up roads, and the Town Hall, and the new wharf, and everything. No more relief and unemployment problems for us, see? We're going to wipe out the red ink and start out fresh, and—"

"But Weston, you—"

"And furthermore," Weston's fist was pounding the car door. "Furthermore, we've gone and spent so much that if this doesn't you don't want me. You want real help. You got to put your Week across, an' you can't risk any slips. But if you explain things to the p'lice, they'll keep mum. I'd be glad to help, but—"

"You will?" Weston said happily. "Then you'll settle things? You won't need the cops. Not you. Asey. All you got to do is to see that nothing bad gets out, or happens, until next Sunday. You will, won't you?"

Asey hesitated. He had visions of all the family landing on him if he didn't, and landing with both feet.

"Well," he said at last. "I'll see what I can do. But mind you, if I get bogged with you ma'factors, or tourists, an' microphones, an' your bonanza dries up on you, don't you go to blame me!"

"I won't, I won't!" Weston said. "You can have anything or anything you want to help."

"An' furthermore," Asey said. "If I need p'lice help, I'll call for it."

Town Hall

SHORTLY after five o'clock that same afternoon, Asey strolled into the Town Hall by the rear entrance.

Except for occasional thumpings from the basement, the noises had stopped and the crowd dwindled to handfuls. The vacuum cleaners and the waxing machines had done their duty nobly; everything was spick and span, gleaming with an anticipatory polish. Weston to over, we're licked for good! Whatever's going on has got to be stopped, quiet and quick. Nothing's going to keep this Old Home Week from being a success! And whatever's trying to, you got to settle it! See?"

The girl, a stranger to Asey, approached him.

"I got the point," Asey told him, "about five minutes ago. In a nutshell, the fair name of Billingsgate's got to shine till the coffers get filled. It's a patriotic point, rousin' an' well taken. Half a column of sabotage tidin's, an' pop goes the budget. Only I ain't—"

"I never," Weston spoke deliberately, "put any stock in all the chatter about your always being willing to solve cases for rich summer folks, but nobody else. Of course, as a matter of fact, all the problems you took on have been for rich people. I suppose knowing the Porters so well, and all their rich friends, and helping Bill Porter with these cars, you've kind of got touch with the Cape. I he— you got thousands and thousands of dollars, just finding lost cats and things, and of course I see where you wouldn't be interested in helping out here, for, say, fifty dollars the week. I got some bonus bonds," he added thoughtfully, "and I suppose I could always mortgage the house. It's never been mortgaged in all the two hundred years we had it, but—"

"You Won't Need Cops"

"NOW see here, Wes," Asey's tone made Weston feel that perhaps he had gone a little too far. "I don't mind you layin' it on with a trowel, but I do resent your bringin' in a steam shovel! You're usin' good Cape tactics—family tactics, 'cause I know 'em. But you're headin' the wrong way."

"I just wanted to—"

"I know. But first off, you know right well the only reason I never took on anything for the folks around here is that they don't get themselves into trouble like summer people an' city people always do. No one hereabouts ever asked me for help, except like for fixin' cars, or boats, or pumps, or houses, or such. An' you know I never took a cent for helpin' anyone in all my life. I don't need money. I got all I want. The only thing I'm tryin' to bring out is this, that if things is as serious as you say, had got back onto his job, too. The bulletin boards were covered with schedules in his neat writing, listing every angle of every committee assignment for the entire week.

"Grinning, Asey paused to read through the orders of the Welcoming Committee, for whom there was apparently to be never a dull moment. Upton's Merry-makers, and the decorations of church fairs, suppers, and similar entertainments told him that the room was done. He tried to make his survey impartial, but the results still left him with an intense dislike for crepe paper in quantity, and still Assey waved and strolled on down the hall to the Women's Club parlor. Years of experience with the decorations of church fairs, suppers, and similar entertainments told him that the room was done. He tried to make his survey impartial, but the results still left him with an intense dislike for crepe paper in quantity, and still

Only a few women lingered in the parlor, and they were too busy packing up tack, hammers and aprons, and trying to change blue and yellow rosettes in front of the mirror, to notice his presence.

He was about to speak to one of them when a girl, a stranger to him, approached him in the corridor. She was a tall girl, good-looking in a dark way, and probably a visitor, he decided, from her smartly cut blue dress and jacket.

Bill Porter's wife Betsy had an outfit like that, and he and Bill had howled at New York's prices for faded denim.

"Mr. Mayo? Aunt Sarah Leach sent me to—"

"Has she gone?"

"Yes. She said she thought you might want her, and I told her I'd wait and take you over to Briar Path."

"Thanks, but my roadster's here. I can't—"

"But she said I was to be sure to take you," the girl persisted. "She said that you were to leave your roadster at the garage."

Asey nodded. Aunt Sara Leach had some information for him, and she didn't want everyone to spot that famous roadster at her door.

ARTHUR GIRLS TAKE TOURNAMENT

Stokes Boys Win In Pitt County Tournament

By JAMES WHITFIELD

An estimated 1,000 Pitt county citizens turned out at the Greenville high gym last night to see the finals in the girls and boys divisions school basketball tournament.

Both contingents turned on the heat in the last half and played one of the hardest-fought last half periods of play seen in the tournament for girls' entries.

Louise Taylor shot 17 points to clinch the scoring honors for the Arthur girls, while Fannie Clark, Grimesland scoring ace, chalked up 16 to pace the losers.

Sporthmanship D. H. Conley, Pitt County school superintendent, last night awarded a sporthmanship plaque to Griffon high school at the half of the boys' game.

The joint-honor will go to both the boys' and girls' teams of the Griffon school in the indoor division, voted by other schools in the county as displaying the most sporthmanship.

Runners-up for the distinction were the Arthur and Farmville schools.

J. H. Moore, superintendent of the Farmville Public Schools, president of the Pitt County Athletic Association and director of this year's tournament, said sporthmanship plaque awards in the outdoor division were being withheld pending further voting.

Stokes Wins 18 - 4 That last game of the tournament, which saw Stokes trounce Farmville high's boys 18-4, never got interesting until the last half when both teams unleashed the pressure.

Stokes held at 14-3 lead at the half. Then the boys for both contingents got busy Stokes managed to rack up only two points in the third period and Farmville one point—this on a foul shot. During the rest of the route, Farmville was held scoreless and Stokes added two more points to their advantage.

Lineups: (Girls game) Arthur: forwards—L. Taylor 17; E. Sutton (captain) 5; O. Tyson 6; guards—M. Rasberry, R. Ross, G. Lassiter.

Grimesland: forwards—F. Clark 16; A. Hardee, S. Hardee 1; guards—A. Bailey, Fleming, Wilson.

Lineups: (Boys game) Stokes: forwards—T. Whichard 1; C. Whichard 9; Cranden, Whitehurst, center—H. Fleming 4; guards—R. Simmons, E. Fleming 2; P. Clark 2; Crambell.

Officials: Brake (Elon) and Wallace (Carolina).

Negro High Teams Will Play Bethel

In the High School Auditorium Wednesday night at 8:00 o'clock, the local Negro High School will play Tarboro girls and Bethel boys.

This game will serve for the boys as a test for their strength in the tournament which will begin here Friday evening at 10.

The girls game will be played between the "B" teams of the local Negro High School. The boys' team's record for this year shows 10 victories and 6 losses. With this record they will be a strong contender for honors in the tournament.

The coach and the team are putting forth every effort to have the team in the best of condition for the last game as well as for the tournament.

WORK ON PARK GOES FORWARD

Begin Placing Fence Around New Baseball Field

By BERT MOYE

Work on the new Greenville baseball park is moving at a rapid pace now, and with clear weather, should be finished in plenty of time to be used for spring training, which gets underway on March 22.

The grand stand, seating 1,400, has been practically completed, with the exception of putting on a top.

Home runs, which have been scarce at third street park, as compared to some other parks in the league, will be more plentiful this year, as the dimensions from home plate to the respective outfield fences will be as follows: Left field and right field 320 feet each, center field 360 feet.

The row over the sales tax established Ralph MacDonald into the limelight and with the astute aid of Itomous Valentine and Willie Lee Lumpkin he upset lots of predictions.

But all the while the real makers of governors showed little concern. Hoey had been selected and in due course he was elected.

The Hoey election ended a cycle. It represented the culmination of a long planned program. He would indeed be foolish who thinks that the influence of former Senator Simmons or former Governor Gardner no longer counts in North Carolina politics.

On the other hand there is not the slightest basis for the belief that either will exert itself to the extent it has in past campaigns. Naturally Governor O. Max Gardner wants his political philosophy to continue in this state.

There are those who look to young Ralph Gardner, son of the former governor and member of the present senate, to carry on the Shelby tradition. A very large element doesn't discount the possibilities there. But the immediate ambition of the Shelby group has been attained in the governorship of Clyde Hoey.

The next governor may have the tacit blessing of the Gardner crowd, but he cannot hope for the same active help tendered the present and immediate past governors.

That throws the lists wide open. Two years ago when "Our Bob" hopped up the state with Frank Hancock there was some thought that he might attempt to translate that emphatic victory into political domination of the state. There is very little evidence that he attempted to do so, and none whatever that he did—or could have—succeeded if he tried. In spite of the anti-New Deal proclivities of Senator Bailey it is the opinion around Raleigh that the senior senator can, if he desires, have much more influence on selection of the next governor than can Senator Reynolds.

TWO SONS OF ERIN

The next two or three weeks will have a lot of bearing on the fate of at least two potential candidates. One of them has been casually mentioned for months; the other entered the picture only since the present legislature convened.

But when he came into the picture he immediately claimed a focal point in the limelight. Lieutenant Governor Horton has been designated as a "possible" candidate ever since the 1936 primary.

David Livingstone Ward, "Libby" to everybody except the author of his birth certificate and marriage license, wasn't seriously considered until a month ago.

Within the past month there has developed a very well organized but under-cover campaign for Ward for governor and Gray for lieutenant governor. The Gray is the senator for Forsyth, the millionaire publisher of the Winston-Salem morning and evening newspapers, an operator of the radio station in the twin city, besides being state president of the young democrats.

The campaign is running along smoothly, without any desire for haste. Here and there potential supporters are being converted into actual supporters.

Libby Ward, speaker of the house of representatives, is conservative in politics. He would be no Dick Fountain or Ralph McDonald. But he definitely is not included in the "administration machine."

What support he gets he will get on his own and not as the crown prince. There isn't a better political organizer in the state than Libby Ward, and there isn't among the suggested candidates for governor a personality so attractive as his.

If he decides to run for governor, as now seems more than likely, he can't, in his own right furnish plenty of trouble for any other candidate.

If his friends succeed in perfecting the Ward-Gray combination it will be darned near unbeatable. The Gray million, newspapers and radio, with the Ward genius for political organization would be almost the answer to a politician's prayer.

But Mr. Ward will not get Mr. Gray as an avowed running mate without a contest. One of the serious phases of this whole gubernatorial business is the eager unanimity with which prospective candidates announce satisfaction with Gordon Gray as a running mate.

By all the canons of political faith Gray would be a conservative, and there has been no free rent on Blount street, has political sagacity enough to know that this isn't his year.

State Treasurer Charles M. Johnson has adopted a policy of watchful waiting. He isn't saying or doing anything that can be construed as active campaigning for the nomination.

But he jolly well isn't saying or doing anything that could rise to damn him if he elects to ask election. Willis Smith, speaker of the 1931 house, doesn't deny that he is very much interested. It is known, and is marked up to his credit, that he has declined employment as lobbyist for two or three concerns so that he might feel free to do a little "politicizing" with legislators.

Hardly a week passes that a group of senators or representatives or both are not given an excellent dinner at the Smith home.

Out of all the talk about the next governor emerges this outstanding admonition: Watch Libby Ward.

WHAT IT MEANS
promises. Great Britain, in the person of Neville Chamberlain, decided to get Il Duce on paper with his assurances, if that could possibly be arranged. Chamberlain succeeded last year, and those assurances reached the world in the form of an Anglo-Italian Mediterranean accord.

That treaty assured everybody who might be interested that Italy was by no means intent upon upsetting the Mediterranean status quo (sappie cart, to you and me), where Britain and Italy shared the driver's seat. Therefore, Mussolini was quite willing to withdraw from Spain. But the canny Italian was not putting his "M" on paper, willy nilly. He would withdraw, of course, only after the war was over and Franco had won.

A Strategic Move
5. Just to be sure that Mussolini would have no further excuse to remain in Spain, France and Great Britain recognized Franco as soon as it was certain he'd won. Tardy recognition of the Franco regime would have been the one excuse for Mussolini's troops to stick around in Spain to guarantee that Spain's victory stuck. But now Spain has been recognized. It's Mussolini's move.

6. That's what put Mussolini on the spot. If he expects trouble in Europe soon—some military movement by Hitler—or a fire-back from his quarrel with France over African colonies—he would naturally find some plausible excuse to keep Italian troops in Spain.

Italian troops in Spain are a direct threat to France, forcing her to plan defenses of both her Italian and Spanish borders. Spanish airplanes and submarines in the Mediterranean—where they now are—could menace French communication with her African possessions.

So Italian military positions in Spain give Mussolini something of a drop on France. And since France is Great Britain's first line of defense, those positions are not so agreeable in London, either. If a fellow expects trouble, and he has the drop on his adversary, he doesn't quietly put his gun in the holster; he keeps the barrel up and his finger on the trigger.

Those are the big reasons why experts here are watching Mussolini. If he intentions are peaceful, and if he expects no European warfare in the immediate future, he'll put his gun away. Otherwise, he may keep it drawn. The experts say either move will telegraph his intentions to the world.

Prof. E. C. Hollar of E. C. T. C., spoke to the Pitt County teachers at their county-wide meeting Saturday.

He chose for his subject "The Sun Do Move"—a quotation borrowed, he said from Rev. John Jasper, a member of our own race. Briefly he likened the Negro race to the sun and gave instances showing how it had moved forward in the past 50 years. He urged the teachers to keep moving by having definite teaching objectives to meet their respective community needs. "Teachers should be models," he said, "not fashion plates," and explained that a good model serves a long time but fashions pass with each year's new styles.

New York Cotton

New York, March 7.—Cotton futures opened unchanged to one higher. Suet houses were active buyers of July positions. Also on the buying side were trade, Japanese brokers and the continent. The south and Liverpool offered contracts at the end of the first hour prices held around opening levels, or unchanged to two higher. March was 87.8, or one net higher. May advanced to 84.0 a net gain of two.

TESTIMONY ON SMUGGLING OF ALIENS TO U. S. HEARD

we've ever seen before.

President Roosevelt authorized the Navy to build in private yards four new 6,000-ton cruisers to cost $12,000,000 each. The cruisers previously had been authorized by Congress.

The President called leaders of the C. I. O. and the American Federation of Labor to the White House to express the hope that their forthcoming peace conferences would end labor's internal strife.

AUSTRALIAN PAPER
Burnie, Tasmania (AP)—A pulp and paper plant here has turned out what are said to be the first papers in the world to be commercially manufactured from eucalyptus wood pulp.

A Roman named Galen is credited with inventing cold cream, by using a formula that is virtually unchanged to this day.

still being a delusion that the finance and appropriations bills as reported are balanced.)

Typographic errors in the printed bill, whether made by the printer or some earlier copyist, called for other amendments. Just as the word "discretion" where it ought to have been "direction" messed up consideration of the election markers bill last week, so reference to a previous "section" when a previous "paragraph" was meant, necessitated amending the item licensing real estate auctioneers.

Representative McClamroch of Orange sent up an amendment which also was adopted gleefully, when he discovered that phrenologists were given preference over other fortune tellers. The bill levied $100 on phrenologists, $500 on gypsies, and $200 on "other fortune tellers." McClamroch didn't object to further penalizing gypsies, but he couldn't see why a head-reader should get off with half the cost of a hand-reader. Smelling a little more money, maybe, the membership agreed that he had a good idea there.

PAROLED MURDERER HELD IN ROBBERIES

roadside place at Hampstead.

Officers charged them with robbing the Brooks and Edwards grocery here the night of January 22. Loot, mostly cigarettes, amounting to $1,500 was taken from the two places. Batts is held on a charge of receiving stolen goods. Bad Eye Moore is held in connection with the hold-up of a filling station at Cure Beach two weeks ago.

Commercial production of 22 truck crops in the United States in 1938 reached a new high record of 10,227,000 tons.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION FOR PAROLE

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned, convicted of an assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill, at the December, 1936, Term of the Superior Court of Pitt County, and sentenced to not less than 7 nor more than 9 years in the State Prison, will make application to the Commissioner of Paroles and the Governor of North Carolina for a parole for the remainder of said sentence.

All persons who desire to oppose said parole are invited to forward their protests to the Commissioner of Paroles without delay.
