Roosevelt Says Question Of Sufficient W P A Funds Entirely Up To Congress

ASSERTS DATA REVEALS NEED

Although Not Specifically Recommending Additional Appropriation for $150,000,000 to Carry on Agency Until July 1, President Describes Situation As Very Serious

Washington, March 14.—(AP)—President Roosevelt, describing the relief situation as "very serious," told the law-making branch today that the possibility for appropriating sufficient money to carry on WPA until July 1 "rests of necessity" on Congress.

While not recommending a deficiency figure, the President in a special message asserted recent data furnished him substantiated "the real need" of his previous proposal for an additional appropriation of $150,000,000.

This was the amount cut by Congress from his original January request for $875,000,000 to run WPA the last five months of the fiscal year and which he asked to have restored in a message February 7.

In his message today Mr. Roosevelt said there had been no "substantial change" in conditions of unemployment since then.

Immediately Senator Barkley of Kentucky, the Democratic leader, predicted the Senate would vote the $150,000,000.

Senator McNary of Oregon, the Republican chief, said the sum would be approved if it were needed "for relief and not for politics."

Just before the President's message was read to the House Rep. Cox (D-Ga.) announced from the floor he was introducing a resolution to "broaden the powers of the Appropriations committee so as to make possible a full investigation of the WPA."

"The government of the United States is faced today with a condition and not a theory," the chief executive declared. "The insufficiency of the money appropriated will compel the administrators to discharge about a million and a quarter actual workers in the immediate future."

Officials of the Carolina Dairy estimate that there are approximately 175,000 milk bottles scattered around the city—and the city figures upon which they base their estimate.

During the three years the company has been operating here it has acquired some 300,000 bottles. At the present time they can account for only 20,000.

When the dairy opened it acquired bottles of individual dairies and since then has purchased 232,000 of the containers.

Interest Being Shown In State Retirement Funds

Reflector Bureau By LYNN NISBET Raleigh, March 14.—With separate retirement fund bills for school teachers and for other state employees pending in legislative committees, and with the school teachers of the state assembling in Raleigh the last of this week for their annual convention, the retirement funds are occupying attention of many members of the assembly.

The impression has been that the teachers did not want their retirement plan encumbered with other employees, and that the other workers did want the teachers included in the same bill for the added prestige that would give the measure.

This impression is erroneous, according to Julie B. Warren, executive secretary of the North Carolina Education Association, which is the school teachers' organization.

Mr. Warren declares that his group not only has no objection to inclusion of all state employees, but really will welcome them. The teachers do not want to come under the bill introduced Saturday providing retirement for state workers, because they do not believe that the proposition is actuarially sound. Experience has shown that actual cost maintaining a retirement fund will be about ten per cent of the salaries paid. The teacher bill provides for five per cent deduction from teaching pay to be matched by the state. The state employees' bill calls for just half of that, or two and one-half per cent payment by employees to be matched by the state. Again, the teachers feel that any plan for retirement at seventy years of age will not do the schools or the state any good, however much it might help the individual teachers.

The teachers feel that they can support their plan as economically sound, because they have spent a lot of money hiring insurance actuaries to work out the figures. They have taken the experience of other

HOUSE PASSES SPENDING BILL ON VOICE VOTE

Funds for Vocational Education Are Increased

ECONOMY BLOC TRAMPLED OVER

Revenue Bill, Adopted by Senate Last Night, Sent Back to House with Several Changes

Raleigh, March 14.—(AP)—The House passed the biennial appropriations bill by a voice vote today after increasing funds for vocational education and the weights and measures division. The measure went to the Senate.

The representatives rode roughshod over economy advocates on the vocational education item. Then Volger of Mecklenburg got weights and measures funds increased from $10,000 yearly to $13,810.

Amendments were put in increasing per diem pay from $7 to $10 for members of the Highway Commission, Advisory Budget Commission and School Commission.

Representatives Pickens of Guilford, Cherry of Gaston and others then called upon the House to abide by the compromise it adopted last night. Proposals to increase funds for Highway Commission administration, ECTC, Fayetteville State Normal, Commercial Fisheries and the A and T College were defeated.

The vote was 94 to 19 to add $45,000 to vocational education funds.

The representatives at first seemed determined to boost many other funds approving the compromise given them last night with the approval of Governor Hoey, which raised funds for schools, the Uni-

The action in which Mrs. Thorsen also was a defendant, was dismissed and Attorney Roberts immediately announced he would bring civil action.

State Of Czecho-Slovakia Officially Ends Existence

MANY REASONS FOR SITUATION

Enumerates Steps Which Led Up to Announcement Of Dissolution Of Republic; Hitler Who Has Surprised The World Year After Year During Month of March, Behind Action

Prague, March 14.—(AP)—These were the steps which led up to the announcement of the dissolution of the Federal Czecho-Slovak state, announced today by the Prague government.

These were the steps today that led up to the announcement of dissolution:

President Hacha, under pressure from Adolf Hitler, convened the Slovak parliament.

The Slovaks declared themselves an independent state with Dr. Tiso as the new Premier.

The Czecho-Slovak cabinet of Premier Benes drew the consequence from this cessation and resigned.

The Czech unity party was summoned to a conference to decide what to do next in the thoroughly confused state.

Tiso sent a message to Hitler, formally advising him of the independent declaration and asking his support for the new state as an advocate of self-determination.

Hungarians penetrated a reported 18 miles into Ukraine, eastmost section of Czecho-Slovakia.

From German language "isles"—sections within the Czech part of the republic where German is the chief language—came appeals to Hitler for delivery from the Czech terror.

All this happened just a year after Hitler joined Austria and Germany.

Thus Hitler, who year after year has surprised the world during the month of March, used this month to change the map of Europe still further and to extend German domination eastward.

Try Several Cases Here In Pitt Court

Several cases were removed from the docket in a regular session of Pitt County court here today.

Isiah Oliver, Negro, convicted on a non-support charge, prayer for judgment continued; Roscoe Raynor, worthless check, three cases, 12 months sentence suspended upon payment of costs and also payment of the amount of checks. Appeal was taken and bond was set at $500.

Guilford Cherry, Negro, pleaded guilty to driving to left center of the highway. Judgment suspended upon payment of costs. Marvin Barnhill, driving careless and reckless, and under influence of liquor, fined $50, taxed with costs, license revoked two years, and given a six-month sentence, suspended upon payment of property damage and medical treatment of those injured in a wreck, and upon further provision that he remain of good behavior for two years.

Johnnie White, Negro, driving careless and reckless and without driving license, pleaded nolo contendere. He was ordered to pay the costs, and $20 for use of W. H. Lilly. A 90-day sentence, suspended, if costs and $20 paid. The defendant will not be permitted to drive until six months after a driving license is procured.

Funeral services for Lula Clarice Wilson, 12-year-old daughter of Fred Wilson of near Greenville, who died Sunday morning at 4 o'clock, were conducted at the home yesterday afternoon.

The services were conducted by the Rev. Walter Nobles, Free Will Baptist minister of Winterville. Burial followed in the Laughing-house family cemetery near Shermerside.

BILL PROVIDES FOR DRAINAGE

Proposed Measure Would Allow Levy For Maintenance

The Pitt county Board of Commissioners has gone on record favoring a bill, now in the hands of the county's delegation in the General Assembly, which would permit special taxation in the areas affected for the purpose of maintaining drainage projects already established in the county.

Judge F. M. Wooten, authority on drainage projects, explained that drainage districts were set up under a legislative act of 1909 but added no provision was made for the maintenance of such projects.

These areas have been developed he explained, but there is no provision for appropriating funds for their upkeep, he continued. The projects, he said, diminish in value unless they are maintained properly.

Pitt county has four separate drainage projects. They are: Number one, Contentnea creek in the Farmville community; Number two, Grindle creek in the Bethel community.

Battered "Markers" Bill Finally Passed By House

Raleigh, March 14.—It was so battered and scarred that its daddies hardly knew it, but a "Markers" bill finally got through the House yesterday afternoon without complete emasculation.

In fact its supporters were so numerous near the end of the debate that the rules were suspended and it was put upon its immediate third reading and final House passage despite objection which made a two-thirds vote necessary.

The count on suspension was 69 to 20 on a teller vote. Previously an effort to table the whole thing—amendments and all—had failed on a roll call vote that turned into something of a farce as almost nobody voted for the killing proposal made by Hertford's R. H. Underwood.

Opponents had their final scornful fling at the thing through an amendment sent forward by Wilshire Darden, the Washington county man proposing that the bill be

WAS CREATION OF WORLD WAR

Republic Envisioned By President Wilson, Unable to Survive Amputations of Large Parts by Germany, Poland And Hungary Following Munich Accord, Finally Ends Its Existence

Prague, March 14.—(AP)—The Prague government announced at 3 p. m. (9 a. m. EST) today the formal dissolution of the Federal Czecho-Slovak state, from which Slovakia already had declared its independence.

Thus, the republic envisioned during the World war by President Woodrow Wilson and created at the Versailles peace conference ended its existence.

It collapsed after nearly six months of disintegration which followed the September 29 accord of Munich where the nation was dismembered to keep Europe from a general war.

The government's announcement was the first official notice the Czech people had of the new situation, although the Czecho-Slovak cabinet earlier had resigned.

Slovakia declared its independence today under assurance of protection from Hitler.

A second section of the three-part state Carpatho-Ukraine, was partially occupied by Hungarian troops and Hungary sent an ultimatum demanding evacuation of all Czech soldiers from that section.

(The breaking up of the republic left Prague with only the Bohemia-Moravia section under its control.) "We worked together 20 years with the Slovaks and certainly not to the detriment of the Slovaks," the government announcement said.

"That is attested to by flourishing cities and towns in Slovakia. The state federation is dissolved."

"This act leaves Czech without enemy or hate. We wish them (the Slovaks) a happy future."

"The new situation also changed matters in Prague. The government will take the necessary steps called for by the new situation."

The announcement ended with a call for "discipline and understanding."

Czecho-Slovakia apparently could not survive the amputations of last October and November, when large parts of a once thriving republic were taken by Germany, Poland and Hungary.

County Board Against Dividing ABC Profits

The Board of County Commissioners, in special session yesterday, unanimously went on record as opposing any measure to set aside any of the profits derived from the sale of legal whiskey in the county to the city of Greenville.

The Greenville Board of Aldermen has adopted a resolution requesting the county's delegation in the General Assembly to secure an enactment of a bill giving the city 20 per cent of the net profits derived from the two liquor stores in the city.

City officials contend that the stores have added much work and responsibility to the city, while the county board contends that if a portion of the profits were turned over to the city, Greenville would be receiving double benefits.

Rev. Clarence Patrick Speaker at Local Rotary Club

Mahatma Gandhi—"Great Soul"—was pictured for the Rotarians last night at their regular weekly meeting by Reverend Clarence Patrick of the Immanuel Baptist Church.

The Mahatma is the only man in the history of India to be called "Great Soul". As an attorney in South Africa representing the underprivileged Hindus living there Gandhi became a believer in Tolstol's philosophy and adopted the way of poverty and non-violence leading to the ascetic life.

Gandhi went to South Africa as a lawyer after having failed to achieve any success in India though he was well trained in English universities. In Africa he grew into an international figure for his espousal of the underprivileged and it was there he first did one of his fasts for a cause.

NO DODGING THE ISSUE NOW

We have recently been told by Treasury officials that it is "necessary" to inflate the national debt to $45,000,000,000 this year, but that we needn't worry for this is not the danger point.

Perhaps it is below the danger point. But what is to prevent it going up again next year and the year after—like a snowball, the bigger it gets the faster it grows? The habit of reckless spending is as difficult to eradicate in a government as in an individual. And just where is the danger point? Would it be reached at $50,000,000,000, $75,000,000,000, or $100,000,000,000? And lastly, just what excuse is there for complacently allowing it to reach the danger point?

It's easy enough to alibi excessive spending. It's a great deal harder to pay the bills as they fall due. And the American people, in spite of rapidly increasing taxes, have not yet had a taste of what paying means. We have added and added to the debt, in order to put off the evil day when income must be made to meet outgo. It's an actual fact that if we were at present taxed enough to meet expenses, our tax load would be as much or more than England's.

Reckless spending has been justified in the name of "emergency." But too many years have now passed to further excuse out and out waste in the name of relief.

It's time for straight talk about taxation and government spending. We can't dodge the issue much longer unless we are willing to court bankruptcy.—(Industrial News Review).

Governor Clyde R. Hoey ought to be well informed on the state's fiscal state and the status of its money raising and spending bills. Yesterday he had as successive callers Assistant Director of the Budget Bob Dayton, Commissioner of Revenue A. J. Maxwell and Speaker Libby Ward.

Here are two suggestions Libby Ward says were seriously made to him recently as means of solving the state's financial problems.

No. 1—Close all public schools for the next two years and use money now appropriated for them in paying off the State's debt. Then reopen the schools and pay to the teachers the sums now spent in meeting debt service in addition to their regular salaries as at present.

No. 2—Stop killing so many people on the highways in order that there may be more living citizens to pay taxes, hence more tax money.

Capitol Lawn Snapshot: Two candid camera addicts getting a candid shot one of the Capitol lawn squirrels. One coaxed the bushy tail with a handful of peanuts, while the other squatted near by, camera at the alert position.

Senator John W. Umstead of Orange put over one on the girls last week. A number of girl high school graduates have wanted to enter the University at Chapel Hill or at State College, and have found that the first two years and some courses were closed to them. Senator Umstead offered a bill requiring all state institutions of higher learning to accept students without regard to sex. That is fine. It lets the girls in at Chapel Hill and Raleigh. But what some of the girls did not figure on, it lets boys in their college at Greensboro. Effect of the bill is to make all the schools supported by the state, from first grade to post graduate college work, fully co-educational.

A couple of newspaper men converged on Lacey McBryde, representative from Cumberland, redoubtable Scotchman, and one of the "economy block" in the appropriations committee. He was cornered right beside the capitol square monument to the man who "could not tell a lie."

"What are you going to do about re-opening the board of health appropriation matter, and about increases for the University and for the school teachers?" he was asked. One of the reporters wanted to know "are you in favor of striking out the appropriations?"

"Which appropriation?" asked the legislator.
"Any of 'em—all of 'em" suggested the second scribe. McBryde grinned and walked off. Later he remarked that it would not be such a bad idea at that.

One of the neatest retorts courteous of the session was made by the youngest senator to the oldest one. Senator Ralph Gardner, 26, was supporting an amendment to the finance bill relieving fairs of paying carnival taxes. Senator Separk, 68 opposed it. Separk spoke of the money which the carnivals take out. Gardner came back with the sally that Cleveland County was glad to pay that amount for the instruction and entertainment received just like some folks can spend money to go to a Row, Bowl football game." Senator Separk's Sunday school class gave him a trip to Pasadena as a Christmas present.

They laughed when Senator Doggie Hatcher solemnly rose at the mid-night session Saturday morning and announced that he had "carefully" examined the Friday journal and found it correct. Everybody knew it hadn't been done—couldn't because it was a physical impossibility.

Few realized, however, that it was actually the first time the Burke Senator had made the statement without being ready to back it up with proof.

For the very first time within the memory of man, Doggie has kept right behind the Journal clerks and has really corrected the Journal every day before reporting on it.

Concrete proof of advantage of the Hatcher bill permitting sale of confiscated liquors was given yesterday in Durham when about $3,000 worth of tax paid liquor was sold to the Durham board by Caldwell county.

POPE PIUS XII IS TO BORNE TO PONTIFICAL MASS

In his radiophoto Pope Pius XII is shown being borne on his portable throne into the nave of St. Peter's cathedral for the impressive pontifical mass, first step of the brilliant pageantry that was climaxed by his coronation as 262nd Pope of the Holy Roman church. This picture, first to reach the United States, shows also colorfully clad papal dignitaries and prelates escorting the new pontiff.

'MARCHING MOUNTAIN' MOVES TOWARD HIGHWAY

Moving at better than one foot an hour, a mass of earth 125 feet high and with a front of approximately a quarter of a mile is advancing from the "Dead Hills" near Gilroy, Calif., toward the Pacific coast's principal Canada-to-Mexico highway, U. S. route 101. Here the darker mass of the slide is shown about a half mile from the highway (foreground).

Washington Daybook

By Preston Groves

Washington—The Army was more than a trifle peeved when Col. Watson, the President's aide, was promoted to a brigadier general. There would have been even more fuss if it had not been announced at the time that he would move into retirement at once and clear the way for another to be promoted. In retirement he will become a presidential secretary.

The Army—and the Navy, too—have always wrinkled a bronzed nose at "White House soldiers." The Navy disliked it when President Wilson made Dr. Grayson a rear admiral, and didn't like it much better when President Roosevelt recently made Dr. McIntire, the White House physician, a rear admiral and surgeon general of the Navy.

The Army thought it was free of "White House" promotions until Colonel Watson was moved up. His career record seemed to be good good enough, but harness-hardened Army men felt he hadn't been out with troops enough since the war to qualify him for a generalship ahead of clusters of other fighting men.

The Army's view point was not the President's. With Jimmy Roosevelt in the movies and Secretary McIntire not too robust, Secretary Steve Early has been swamped. Army men like Colonel Watson as a person and so does almost everyone else. He is a sort of White House Grover Whalen, affable and pleasing.

He will get $10,000 a year as secretary, more than two times what he would draw in retirement as a brigadier general. He can be put on active duty whenever the President needs a high ranking military aide. He likely will need one when the King and Queen of England arrive. Watson probably will be secretary one hour and general the next, just as in Gilbert and Sullivan.

Bombs and Debt Limits

Bombs:
The Navy has officially conceded that a bomber can sink a cruiser. That doesn't include heavily armed battleships, however. The Navy won't give up THAT ship, not on paper anyway. But as to cruisers, whose armor isn't so thick, Admiral Leahy, chief of operations, said several cruisers were "sunk" by air bombs in the mock war recently fought in the Caribbean. He wouldn't say how big the bomb had to be. The "sinking" depended on a number of theoretical hits obtained by a bomber during a raid.

Debt:
The legal debt limit set years ago by Congress is $45,000,000,000, but if you are inclined to be exacting you might find that the limit has already been exceeded. Our last glance at a Treasury report showed the record indebtedness was $30,031,000,000. In addition, however,

MANY SOLONS U. N. C. ALUMNI

One-Third Assemblymen Graduates of University

Raleigh, March 14—On any analysis of the collegiate affiliation of North Carolina legislators two things stand out as prominently as a pair of knobby knees in a bathing suit—more than one-third the law makers are alumni of the University of North Carolina and less than one-fourth of them are products of the big college of experience and no other.

To be exact the Chapel branch of the Greater University alumni number 39 in the House and 17 in the Senate, for a grand total of 56, just short of one-third of the 170 total, but there are also two Senators who attended both Duke (when it was Trinity) and the University. Counting them as one, the U.N.C. percentage rises slightly beyond the 333 mark.

Running a distant second are the Wake Forest alumni in the legislature, of whom there are 28, just one-half the Carolina total. Way back in the also rans came the Government has "guaranteed" the securities issued by certain Government corporations, such as RFC and HOLC. These "guaranteed" obligations total $5,370,000,000. That with the regular debt, stacks up to $45,301,000,000.

But That's Not Fair

The Treasury, in defense, says it isn't fair to look at it that way. The Treasury says that the Government corporations have enough assets to pay off the "guaranteed" debt, as well as about $3,000,000,000 of un-guaranteed debt, and still leave a balance of $4,915,000,000. The assets consist of loans made by HOLC, RFC, Commodity Credit Corporation and the Housing Authority, together with some cash and real estate. Nevertheless, Morgenthau recently appeared before a Senate committee to recommend increasing the debt limit to $50,000,000,000. He has a good chance to get his way, but congressional economy advocates are planning to pry loose some federal expenditures before they yield. It is a little technical advantage Congress has in the tugging and hauling with the executive branch.

the other colleges. Duke sending only an even dozen of its one-time students into the legislative halls, while State and Davidson trail far behind in the "Big Five" race with only seven each.

Importance of these figures lies in the fact that they show what a tremendous start anything pertaining to the good of the University has from the first time it is suggested to the legislature. On the question of increased appropriations for Frank Graham's pride, for example, it's safe to say that one out of every three appropriators start off with kindly leaning toward making them.

Which is not to say of course, that these law makers would stick out for bigger funds in the face of facts making them out of the question, but it is certainly no handicap to the University in getting them.

Another quite warranted conclusion to be drawn from the figures is that the North Carolina legislature is no collection of hicks and hill billies sent up to Raleigh by ignorant folks back home. Only one-fourth the House and less than one-sixth the senate lack whatever advantages a college course may give. This percentage, it is a good guess, will compare favorably with that of almost any state legislature.

Figured on an alumni per capita of population, Wake Forest's record is probably the outstanding one, duplicated by any college—a fact undoubtedly due to the existence of a fine law school over where old Doc Gully still holds forth. A high proportion of Wake graduates are, therefore, lawyers, and a high percentage of the legislature is always composed of lawyers.

Figures were obtained by going carefully through the North Carolina Manual for 1939, compiled by Legislative Reference Librarian H. London and the biographies contained therein.

states, and have taken several hundred specific cases in North Carolina, as a basis for figuring probable benefit payments that would be possible with a given "premium" payment on part of the teacher and the state. Committees have worked on the matter for six years, and the teachers have proven facts and figures to support their contentions. The state employees have spent comparatively little time or money working up these figures. They base their plan upon the federal retirement act and it is known that this fund has been running "in the red." The state of North Carolina cannot afford any scheme that will not pay out.

LOST!

175,000 Milk Bottles

In addition to the number of bottles we are using daily to take care of our customers, we have approximately 175,000 bottles lying idle somewhere in Greenville. This is the number of bottles that we have been unable to get back from our customers after allowing a reasonable amount for breakage.
Your number of lost bottles represents more than ten each for every man, woman and child in Greenville. An empty milk bottle is of no use to you and only helps to litter up your premises but they are worth much to us and enable us to render better service by having a full supply of bottles on hand at all times.
We urge you, please look about your premises now, and if you have any of these lost bottles, place them on your porch where our drivers can pick them up or give us a call and we will send for them.
Your co-operation in aiding us to recover these bottles will be appreciated.
