BILL TO PROBE PWA APPROVED BY COMMITTEE

Appropriations Group Would Wage Investigation

NO PARTICULAR POINT STRESSED

Measure Providing Funds for Seacoast Defense Reported Out by House Committee

Washington, March 22 (AP)—The House Rules committee approved a resolution today directing the Appropriations committee to make a "thorough investigation" of the Works Progress Administration.

Members said the Rules committee voted overwhelmingly for the proposal with only three or four of those present in opposition.

Representative Cox (D-Ga.) is author of the measure, which may be brought before the House later in the week.

The measure contains no references to the particular points the inquiry should touch upon, and merely said the Appropriations committee "shall report to the House as soon as practicable at the present Congress the results of its investigation, together with such recommendations for legislation as it deems desirable."

Backers of the resolution, which requires only House approval and no action by the Senate or the signature of the President, said administration leaders were opposed to it.

Other developments: A $185,872,028 deficiency appropriation bill, including $115,539,287 for "critical" army equipment and seacoast defenses was reported by the House Appropriations committee and immediately called upon for House debate.

Chairman Pittman (D-Nev.) asked the Senate Foreign Relations committee to order prompt hearings on proposals to change the neutrality law.

Administration forces struck from the government reorganization bill an amendment curtailing Presidential powers to reshuffle federal bureaus.

The amendment was eliminated by a vote of 46 to 44. It had been inserted yesterday by a vote of 46 to 43.

Republicans and many anti-administration Democrats favored the amendment and administration leaders fought it vigorously.

The House Appropriations committee recommended congressional approval of an additional expenditure of $324,000 for construction of a coast guard air base at Elizabeth City, N. C.

The item was included in the second deficiency appropriations bill, reported favorably to the House.

The rivers and harbors congress was urged to endorse improvement of the port at Wilmington, N. C.

Peter Ruffin, secretary and treasurer of the Wilmington Warehouse Company, said interests there wanted depth of the Cape Fear increased from 6 to 32 feet so that, among other things, it could be used by new oil tankers.

Greenville Native Flies Over City

Major Bascomb L. Wilson, native of Greenville and one of five brothers holding the rank of major or a higher position in the regular United States Army, passed over Greenville in a plane about 10:00 o'clock this morning while en route to Pope Field, Fort Bragg, and Fort Benning, Ga.

Major Wilson a few days ago advised relatives here that he would pass over the city today, but would be unable to land because of the lack of an adequate landing field.

Leaving other members of the squadron, which is on a tour of landing fields in the south, Major Wilson and the pilot of the plane circled Greenville in salute, and then the ship westward to rejoin other members in the flight from Washington City.

Major Wilson, the son of the late W. B. Wilson of Greenville, is located at March Field, Calif. He is a surgeon in the army.

Another Contribution To Pitt Tornado Fund

The Red Oak Sunday School, realizing that victims of the recent tornado in Bertie county are still in need, today sent in a contribution of $4.50, raised at a free will offering.

A total of $628.01 had previously been reported and the latest contribution brings the fund to $632.51.

While the world wondered "what next?" all ears were turned to England's House of Commons for an announcement of how Great Britain proposed to effect a "stop Hitler" policy.

REPORTS MADE OF BLUE MOLD

Tobacco Plant Disease Prevalent In Pitt County

Blue mold is spreading over Pitt County, world's largest bright leaf tobacco producing area, R. R. Bennett, County farm agent, revealed today.

County Agent Bennett said that first reports of blue mold in the county came from the Falkland and Chisolm townships.

It was pointed out that a definite shortage of plants may be created if blue mold is as destructive on young and tender plants as it has been in previous years.

The item was included in the second deficiency appropriations bill, reported favorably to the House.

BRITAIN SAYS THREATS MADE ON LITHUANIA

Contends Nazis Had Warned of Military Action

LEAGUE MEETING MAY BE CALLED

No Action to Be Taken by Democracy Because Of Germany's Acquisition of Memel

London, March 22 (AP)—The British government said Germany had threatened little Lithuania with action "in a military sense" if she refused to surrender Memel to her today.

In response to a question in the House of Commons, Sir Samuel Hoare, home secretary, substituting for Prime Minister Chamberlain, said:

"The Lithuanian minister for foreign affairs, who was recently in Berlin, received while there demands of the German government for immediate session of Memel land to the Reich, coupled with a threat that in the event of resistance or appeal for support elsewhere, the matter would be dealt with not diplomatically, but in a military sense."

Also, Britain is considering the possibility of calling a special session of the council of the League of Nations to consider Germany's march toward European domination.

Sir Samuel replied to questions following a meeting of the British cabinet at which it was decided to take no action because of Germany's acquisition of Memel.

"In reply to Philip Noel-Baker, the home secretary said he had no information regarding statements that 20,000 Czechs were now in camps."

G. L. Mander, opposition liberal, asked if the government "were considering immediate steps with a view to arrangements between France, Britain and Russia for joint action in restraining of aggression in association also with Poland, Rumania, Yugoslavia, Turkey, Holland and Denmark."

Hoare replied that "the government is in communication with other governments."

Richard A. Butler, under secretary for Foreign Affairs, announced "it had been decided that Czechoslovak diplomatic representation in London shall remain unchanged for the present."

The cabinet had met to consider what commitment Britain must undertake to check German expansion.

Judgment Day For Underworld Aide

New York, March 22 (AP)—This is judgement day for Dutch Schultz's "Sunnyboy," J. Richard "Dixie" Davis, the church violinist and college graduate who became an underworld prince.

Though he must stand before the bar of justice for a sentence, Davis hopes within 24 hours to be honeymooning with Hope Dare, his red-headed sweetheart, a former show girl.

Whatever the sentence, hope has declared they will be married. Both Davis and Harry Schoenbaum, who kept the books of Schultz's multi-million dollar policy racket, are scheduled to be sentenced by Supreme Court Justice Ferdinand Pecore late today.

Both pleaded guilty of the same policy racket indictment, carrying a maximum 27-year sentence on which Tammany District Leader James Hines, who will be sentenced tomorrow, was convicted February 25.

Funeral Held Today For William A. Pope

Enfield, March 22—William A. Pope, 55, died at 1:30 Tuesday. Funeral services were conducted this afternoon at 3:30 at the home by Rev. J. T. Kirk, Baptist pastor of Halifax, assisted by the Rev. J. N. Evans and D. R. Williams of Enfield. Burial was in Elmwood cemetery.

Survivors are his wife, who was Miss Martha Coffield of Martin county, a daughter, Miss Annie Pope; a son, Almarine Pope of Enfield; a sister, Mrs. Susie Howell; and four brothers, Marcellus, Henry and Hampton Pope of Enfield, and Robert Pope of Roanoke Rapids.

Mr. Pope was born and raised in Halifax county, a son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Pope.

Memel Taken Over By Germany As Hitler Extends Domination

Hitler Boards Ship For Triumphant Memel Trip

Matron Missing

Mrs. Eudora Cunningham (above) pretty young society woman of Oklahoma City, became the object of a far-flung search after her husband told police she disappeared mysteriously from a railway station in that city while he went to park the family automobile.

Fuehrer Evades Passing Through Polich Corridor

Berlin, March 22.—(AP)—Adolf Hitler left Berlin at 3:19 p. m., today, presumably en route to board the battleship Deutschland at Swinemuende for a triumphal trip by sea to Memel, his newly acquired Baltic seaport.

By choosing this mode of travel the Fuehrer will emphasize both Germany's growing power as a nation and avoid crossing what may be another objective of German policy before long—the Berlin corridor.

Hitler left Berlin shortly after Lithuanian capitulation to Nazi pressure and agreed to cede Memel, the German territory acquired in the post-war settlement back to Germany.

The Chancellor presumably left in the hands of his foreign minister, dealings with the delegations of three Lithuanian cabinet ministers due here at 6 p. m.

They are to arrange details of the transfer of Memel back to Germany and give it legal form.

Hitler scored his second triumph within a week in the face of mounting criticism from abroad.

TWO ARE SLAIN IN CAR CRASH

Ray Stokes, Ayden Sign Painter, Is One Of Wreck Victims

Ray Stokes, Ayden sign painter, and Mack Harris, Kinston Negro, were killed instantly, and Alpha Couvrez, Richmond, Va. Negro, was painfully injured, when the automobile in which they were riding left the road about 14 miles from here on the Greenville-Bethel highway last night and wrecked.

After leaving the road the automobile travelled about 100 feet struck a telegraph pole and carried the base of the pole about 30 feet, and then turned turtle about four or five times. Harris was thrown about 50 feet from the demolished automobile. Stokes was found crushed beneath the car.

A coroner's jury impaneled at Bethel today, turned in a verdict that Stokes and Harris came to their death when the automobile left the road after Harris, driving, lost control. Highway Patrolman C. R. Williams, investigating testified at the inquest that Couvrez admitted all had been drinking.

Couvrez, a French-born Negro, who has spent part of his life in an asylum, is in Pitt General Hospital here suffering injuries received in the accident. His injuries are not regarded as serious. He told officers he was a psychologist.

Funeral services for Stokes were conducted in Ayden this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock by the Rev. W. H. Brunson, Christian minister of Ayden. Burial was in the Ayden cemetery.

Surviving are his mother, Mrs. Mary Stokes; two brothers, Joe and Jack Stokes, all of Ayden.

FRANK SPEAKS AT POST MEET

Dr. A. D. Frank, addressing Pitt County Post No. 39, at its meeting last night in celebration of the 20th anniversary of the founding of the American Legion, declared that the greatest dangers to the United States were not from outside foes, such as Communism, Fascism or Nazism, and added that if we constantly danger whatever it would come from a weakening within.

He pointed out the duty of parents toward instilling in their children respect for law and government and a realization that they must fit themselves for the duties of citizenship which soon would rest upon their shoulders. He added that from his observations from contact with thousands of young people during the past 15 years as a teacher, that there apparently was a growing tendency on the part of youth to hold out its hand for unearned and unmerited rewards and "get by" as easy as possible. He called attention to the dangers behind such an attitude on the part of youth and declared that if we constantly danger whatever it would come from a weakening within.

The Legionnaires were guests at the birthday party of the Legion Auxiliary, held at Respass' place with a barbecue supper. Mrs. Arthur B. Corey, president of the Auxiliary, presided at the meeting. The banquet table was attractively decorated.

Mrs. Corey introduced David J. Whichard, Jr., who briefly reviewed the organization of the American Legion and also Pitt County Post No. 39. He urged continuation of adherence to principles and ideals present when the Legion was founded.

A number of those present for the meeting were charter members of the local post or of organizations elsewhere to which they belonged before moving here and joining the local organization.

Following the speaking, a large birthday cake was cut.

The post, at the conclusion of the program, attended to one item of business, voting to purchase four army tents for Boy Scout Troop No. 39, which is sponsored by the Legion. The tents are to be bought in time for the Scouts to use them at the Camporee to be held in Tarboro next month.

Talks May Bring End To French-Italian Dispute

Paris, March 22.—(AP)—A French friend of Premier Mussolini who knew him when they both were Socialists came from Rome today on a secret mission arousing reports that conversations were under way for a French-Italian reconciliation.

Hubert Lefardelle, a writer, who has been living in Italy for many years and has maintained his old personal friendship with Il Duce, arrived on the Rome-Paris express this morning.

Friends of Legardelle indicated he might carry proposals for settlement of the French-Italian quarrel back to Mussolini. Attaches of both the French foreign ministry and the Italian embassy here said they knew nothing of Legardelle's activities. Secret diplomacy, however, has been the order of the day recently. The French have employed special envoys on several missions.

The return of Italy's ambassador from Berlin to Rome for consultations on Germany's bloodless conquests has stimulated French hopes that Italy could be drawn out of the Rome-Berlin axis.

The French ambassador to Rome, A. Francois-Poncet, was reported to have communicated to Paris a belief that Italy would agree to negotiations with France if early overtures were made.

Early today the Fascist grand council in Rome issued a declaration that it adhered fully to the policy of the Rome-Berlin axis and found the move for a united democratic front "not the harbinger of peace, but of war."

The important school machinery act, under which all public schools operate, was reported favorably to the House and set for special order tomorrow. acceptance of the Senate changes and enactment of the Absentee Ballot law, which proponents claim is the answer to North Carolina's unquestioned demands for cleaner and better elections. On the other hand there are still opponents of the bill who see it as nothing but a sham which cannot be defended in logic or in morals.

Without going into details the Senate measure, just as the one passed by the House, abolishes the absentee ballot altogether in primaries and is designed to throw safeguards around its use in general elections.

The bill received support from the most ardent advocate of complete, outright repeal of the absentee law. They backed it on the assertion that half a loaf is better than no bread at all, pointing out that they feared it was impossible to get complete repeal.

State of Emergency is Declared Following Official Announcement by Lithuanian Government That It Had Capitulated To Pressure for Return of Baltic Seaport to Germany

Kaunas, Lithuania, March 22.—(AP)—A state of emergency was proclaimed throughout little Lithuania today, shortly after the government announced formally the return to Germany of Baltic seaport of Memel.

The Lithuanian cabinet announced the return of Memel, 1,099 square mile territory with 150,000 mostly German population, early this morning.

German storm troop formations and Memel Nazis at once began taking over public buildings, the radio stations and other posts in the city of Memel, which had been Lithuania's only port.

The regular troops of the German army, however, apparently had not crossed the frontier, they disarmed Lithuanian frontier police, stopped freight cars and trucks carrying refugees and property out of Memel and forbade all to leave the territory.

The Lithuanian army began gradual evacuation of Memel.

The state of emergency declared by the government resembles martial law. Officials said one reason it was proclaimed was to facilitate withdrawal of the Lithuanian troops.

A Lithuanian defence ministry official declared, however, that German storm troops crossed the frontier at one point, that they disarmed Lithuanian frontier police, stopped freight cars and trucks carrying refugees and property out of Memel and forbade all to leave the territory.

The visits of the evangelist in 1937 and 1938 were declared highly successful and local Salvation Army officers are hoping to make this year's revival the best ever held here.

Commandant E. C. Harris of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., will be paying his third annual visit to Greenville on March 23-April 5, when he will be out to conduct a revival at the Salvation Army hall on Dickinson avenue.

The visits of the evangelist in 1937 and 1938 were declared highly successful and local Salvation Army officers are hoping to make this year's revival the best ever held here.

Commandant Harris has visited some of the largest cities in the Carolinas, among them being Charlotte, Greensboro, High Point, Winston-Salem, Raleigh, Spartanburg, Greenville, S. C., Rocky Mount and Salisbury. In all these cities he is said to have won many souls to Christ, also bringing many Christians to reconsecration themselves.

He has been a Salvationist since 1887, having served in his own native land of England. He also served in Japan before coming to the United States in 1907. He has held commands in the following cities: Cleveland, Cincinnati, Toledo, Louisville, Ky., Lexington, Ky., Indianapolis, Pittsburgh and in many other cities in 10 states of the union. He now is in his tenth year of retirement.

Local Salvation Army officers are urging the public to attend the services. Meetings will begin each evening at 7:45 o'clock.

Hollywood

Sights And Sounds

—By Robbin Coons—

Hollywood—it was only yesterday afternoon—it seems like years—and I remember that the clock said 2:30. I looked furtively around on entering the drugstore, but it was evident that none of the coke-sippers and tea-drinkers recognized us. I whispered, "All's well," to the lovely blonde at my side, and we slipped quietly into a booth, ordered java just as casually as you please, and life went on around us.

Life went on because none there—not even Leon G. Turrou at the studio across the street—realized that I had in temporary custody the most beautiful of the make-believe Nazi Spies.

Our meeting thus was not pre-arranged. I mean it was done in code, because we espionage agents have to be cautious. I spotted Miss Lya Lys (pronounce it Leese and amaze your friends) in a hallway of the studio and I said, looking at the ceiling so nobody would think I was addressing her, "Les-go-de-trug-store, guzzlajava—and you tell all, see." She tossed her blonde hair, which is code for "Oke," and we slipped away.

Strangely, although this famous operative was in Hollywood some years ago, our paths had never crossed before. This is regrettable, for Lya Lys is an interesting girl. They're glamorizing her but she still likes to take auto motors to pieces, put them together again.

"I was here before, yes," she said, "but I could not speak English, and I was doing foreign versions. . . . I was at Metro doing them at the same time with Charles Boyer. . . . Then I learned English and after a while I went to the stage and abroad to make pictures. . . . I am an American citizen. . . . I had a frightful time in Europe during the big war scare. . . . I was to make another picture in London, but nobody was thinking about pictures much then. . . ."

And contracts were easily abrogated, so that she could return home to America—but the only way she could return was through Germany to Scandinavia. At Hamburg she was "detained" five days, was permitted to leave only when friends interceded. She was born in Berlin (of Russian parents, however) but "I want never to go back to Germany—and especially not after this picture!" she added, laughing.

"This picture" is "Confessions of a Nazi Spy." From the sets thereof come strange tales of nervous actors, of actors playing under assumed names, of suspected sabotage, of guarded secrecy. (But the set is closed to all, so the set-up is perfect for all sorts of stories.)

Miss Lys, however, did not appear harassed. On the contrary (maybe it's the Nazi Spy in her) she seemed quite gay and very pleased with life and her contract. ("I was signed in New York and I didn't know what picture I would play in until I arrived—but I am glad to play in it.")

At this point both of us felt that we were observed. There was a waitress, in particular, who kept looking. A G-woman, perhaps? How could we know? Quickly, because the time was getting short, I pursued the theme. Coffee. . . .

She told me, in brazen frankness, that she loves coffee—all except Parisian coffee. She adores French food, but the coffee—ah! At least she had no other recourse but to bring her own to the Parisian res-

Home Marriage
At the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. King, on West Fifth street, at 8 o'clock this morning, their youngest daughter, Miss Ella, and Mr. Larry I. More were happily married.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. D. B. Clayton. A number of friends and relatives were present to witness the marriage.

The couple left on the morning train for an extended bridal tour to northern cities and to Niagara. They will hold a public reception on their return to Greenville.

Mr. Moore is the popular Solicitor of this district, and his bride is one of Greenville's most charming young ladies. They have the heartiest congratulations and best wishes of a host of friends.

She sighed, "I have a fitting XG-12 Adieu!"

"Von voyage, Z-24," I saluted. "I too must see a guy in Hollywood. And that was all. No one suspected anything. It was a triumph!"

NAME HOSTESS FOR N. Y. FAIR

Staff of Eight To Be At North Carolina Exhibit

Charlotte, March 22—Out of a list of more than five hundred applicants, Miss Miriam Johnson, of Aberdeen has been chosen chief of the staff of four girls who will act as hostesses in the North Carolina exhibit at the New York World's Fair this summer. Miss Johnson is the first of a staff of eight, four young men and four young women, who will be on hand to welcome visitors to the North Carolina exhibit this summer, to answer questions and to supply inquisitive Fair-goers with pertinent facts and information about the Tar Heel state. The seven remaining members of the staff will be named by Coleman Roberts, member of the World's Fair committee in charge of the selections, in a few days.

In order to thoroughly acquaint the exhibit staff with North Carolina's resorts, recreational facilities and other facts about the state the eight young people selected will be given a two-weeks training period prior to their departure for New York. The first two days of the training period will be held in Charlotte, where they will be schooled in basic facts about the state. Following this they will be taken on a week's tour of the state, and have their "education" polished off with a two day stay in Raleigh. Various towns and resorts are now inviting the school to their communities. The group will leave North Carolina April 26 to be on hand for the opening of the Fair April 30.

After the program guests were invited to the school class rooms where the work of the year was on display. This showed great improvement over the work displayed on last Educational Day. The boys work shop under the direction of Mr. James Carr Jr., was the scene of interest as many articles were shown here that the boys had made. These included lamps, stools, chests, bird houses and book ends.

Miss Marion Morrow and the home economics girls served delicious refreshments in the home economic kitchen.

All patrons who were fortunate enough to attend this program were impressed by the good work that is being done by Principal Oglesby, and his faculty.

Washington Daybook

By Preston Grocer

Washington—At times we feel like defender of the faith and protector of the Senate, so insistent are we that this branch of the government be safeguarded in its right sphere, but the battle for the time has been taken out of our hands and we are glad of it.

Sometimes it is just a little troublesome to defend the Senate, not to mention when the House is thrown in too.

But the job has fallen to Jim Preston of Washington.
 He has been chosen to present the Senate properly before the country in the movies. For anyone in Washington to make a go of it in the movies is news in itself. It is true enough that Helen Hayes began her career here but she left early in life, long before the blight of politics had fallen upon her.

Jim came into the job this way.
 He once was superintendent of the Senate Press gallery—and may some day be again. More recently he has been keeping the national archives before the public eye. But all that went into the discard when Frank Capra, the producer, came to this town. He is dynamic. He met Jim Preston. Jim is not dynamic. He is factual. They merged.

Won't Overdo It

Capra wanted to produce a picture about Washington. He wanted to tell the story of a Brilliant Young Senator coming to town to make the world over. Somehow romance gets tangled up in it but that is for Capra to worry about. Capra was just a little fearful that in his effort to put romance in the Senate he might overshoot the mark and the important tradition and make the film seem silly.

It is to be his job to present that to the Senate facilities department.
 This is a London to-day fellow about 35 who looks as much like Debra Myer as he does like the Debra Myer of the Senate gallery. He is the man who is to be the main attraction of the picture.

Jim came to the Senate gallery the day before the Senate opened in 1935. He stayed through the World War and the war against the Democracy. He has known every senator who has served since 1905. This man is full of interesting stories which he has told to the Washington newspaper writers. Jim Preston is head of the press gallery.

Press Gallery Stopped

To him the picture is a comedy about the Senate. He will tell the world that the only difference between the United States and Germany is the existence here of an independent functioning Congress. And that the thing that sets the Germans in the people so that they understand its importance is the press gallery.

Jim isn't to be in the picture. He is a "technical director." Capra has given him the power over scenes that tell how Congress functions.
 They must look and smell right, or no go.

We don't know just how the Senate is going to appear, when it is taped up to fit the films. The country has been so long used to cartoon pictures of senators with high hats and white vests that the real thing may look like a fraud. There have been senators who look like that. There are some now. But Jim won't let the movie make them all look like that even if it spoils some of the romance. Jim knows that the Senate is made up of honest men, smart ones, good lawyers, hacks, farmers, and a few squirted into public life from no place in particular.

It is just an average body of men,
 such as you might find any place.
 But once dumped into the Senate they become a body of men like no other in the whole world.

SHORT SHOTS

By HENRY AVERILL and LYNN NISBET

Reflector Bureau
 Raleigh, March 22—The subject under consideration was a bill by Senators Lyn Ballentine and Joe Warren regulating the sale of canned dog food.

Up to the desk came an amendment, offered by Senators Sprull, Bowers and Warren.
 "Provided, that nothing in this act shall apply to the Senator from Burke."

The Chair will rule that the amendment sent forward by the Senators is out of order. The Chair is of the opinion that the "Doggie" referred to is a good dog," ruled Lieutenant Governor Wilkins Horton in solemn fashion.

Then up rose the Senator from Burke ("Doggie" Hatcher) to declare that the "gentleman who sent up that amendment having tried to regulate my life ever since this session started, I have no objection to their now regulating my food."

A few moments later in the same session Senator Sprull tried to get recognition.

"There is a matter now pending" the Chair informed him, but when the subject under consideration had been disposed of:
 "The Senator from the Rippling Waters is now recognized," said the Lieutenant Governor.

Whereupon Sprull in his usual spread-eagle style asked courtesies of the gallery for a class from the Mars Hill school within a stone's throw of the Rippling Waters of the silvery Chowan.
 "Hasn't the Senator mixed his geography?" challenged Senator Curtis of Buncombe. "Mars Hill is in Madison county."

"Little Mars Hill may be, but large Mars Hill, beautiful Mars Hill is in Chowan," countered Mr.
 Sprull.

Judge R. Hunt Parker never fails to rap loud and long for order in the courtroom. Anyone who has ever seen him in action knows this full well.

But yesterday the Judge was one of a group of chatters on in the Senate chamber who were called to order by Senator Emmet Bellamy, presiding over a meeting of the committee on Conservation and Development.

Brunswick's Senator Bunn Frink yesterday introduced a bill providing penalties for putting slugs in telephone boxes or otherwise using imitations of money in lieu of good coin of the realm in like devices.

Haywood's Senator Chester Cogburn is at last realizing results on his long, bitter campaign against any and all regulatory commissions for various trades and industries in North Carolina.

Yesterday the Senate tabled a bill designed to set up a commission and licensing body for warm air heating, sheet metal and roofing contractors—the action coming after Cogburn had started an avalanche of local exemptions by moving to amend so that nothing in the act should apply to Haywood, Jackson, and Transylvania, counties in his district.

Cogburn also prolonged the already long fight over definition of a newspaper by moving that the Senate "do not concur" in House amendments. He had Senator Tom Glavin named Conferees to work out an agreement between the two Houses.

One Republican bill was passed by the house of representatives on Monday night without a dissenting vote. Usually when a bill is sponsored by a Republican it calls for lots of talk and most of the time is talked to death. But when a Republican county wants to spend money aiding in advertising the state that is different. The Senate bill authorizing Wilkes county to do that went through without a hitch.

Going To Have A Garden?

Remember Food For Soil If You Want Pretty Lawn

It takes all kinds of grass for the country's lawns. In giving advice about grass, the department of agriculture divides the country into three regions shown on this map.

By The AP Feature Service.
 Seed sowers who sow grass every spring and let it go at that will be lucky if they ever have a good lawn. No amount of seed will make a bush lawn on soil that lacks plant food. Department of Agriculture experts say, and many yards are filled with mostly basement evacuations of clay plus trash and refuse tossed in by the builders.

The magic word in such a situation is "fertilizer."
 Fertilizer itself is plant food and furnishes minerals and chemicals which your lawn may lack. Repeated doses will work fertilizer down deep where it will make roots grow longer and so build a stronger turf foundation.

Spring fertilizing should be done early to avoid encouraging crab grass. If you didn't do it last fall the Department of Agriculture recommends application of 20 to 25 lbs. to 1,000 square feet this spring. There are several good mixtures of commercial fertilizer. One of the best is a "5-8-4 formula" as the experts call it, which contains lots of nitrogen.

Commercial Fertilizer Good
 Fertilizer is also a "must" before you seed a new lawn. Well rotted stable manure is one of the best but may contain crab grass and other weed seed. Even if you use it add a commercial fertilizer. A local seed man can tell you what formula best suits your soil but it should contain nitrogen, phosphate, potash.

Common Courtesy

A man should remove his hat when talking to a woman. In warm weather, he keeps it off until the conversation is over.

By JOAN DURHAM
 (Associated Press Feature Service Writer)

Many a chill-headed man rejoices when temperatures start climbing again.

Custom dictates that he must completely remove his hat from his head when addressing a woman—no matter how cold the weather. He may replace it in very cold weather, it's true, but often not until the breeze has done its worst.

When and how should he doff his hat?
 If it's a derby or silk hat he takes it by the brim. If it's a soft hat he lifts it by the crown. He removes it when speaking to a woman, when greeting a man accompanied by a woman, when a woman companion greets a passing adult, when standing at attention during the playing of the national anthem or when the flag goes by. He also doffs it when entering a semi-private place, such as his club.

At important junctures in funeral services he holds his hat over his heart.

A young man raises his hat when passing an older man of distinction.

Home Economics Day At Farmville.
 The home economics department of the Farmville colored school, under the sponsorship of the instructor, Miss Ruby E. Crews, observed Home Economics Day March 10, with the presentation of a most interesting and impressive program. The main purpose of the program was to acquaint the public with the types of work carried on in the department, and to interest them in its maintenance.

Among the many present were the mothers of the girls of the department, the adult club and several out of town visitors. Mrs. Lucy F. James, itinerant teacher of vocational home economics in North Carolina, was guest speaker of the day. In the treatment of her subject "Education for Family Relationship," Mrs. James pointed out the great need for a more comprehensive understanding between the parents and the children in the home. If a very small degree of success in homemaking is obtained, it will come through the girl's knowledge of the vicissitudes of life. She pointed out further the need of intelligent instruction in the choice of life companions.

Miss B. C. Donnell gave the history of home economics in Pitt county among Negroes. She also brought with her three girls from her department in Greenville. Mr. H. B. Sugg, principal gave five minutes talk on "What I Think of Our Home Economics Department." Mrs. Carrie Fisher instructor of home economics in the New Bern high school, was present, accompanied by five of the girls of her department. Mrs. D. E. Ligon of Raleigh, accompanied Mrs. James to Farmville.

A one-act play "Safety Followers versus Safety Violators," was presented by the girls of the department. Music was furnished by the girls' glee club of the school. After the program an attractive luncheon was served in the home economics department for the mothers.

the house of course, for about $25. The spread in cost is about typical for other parts of the country.

No matter whether you sod or seed, careful watering will also help beat your weed problem. Water for several hours at a stretch early in the growing season to send roots deep and give the grass a strong start. When crabgrass comes water less frequently to harden desirable grasses and slow down the pest.

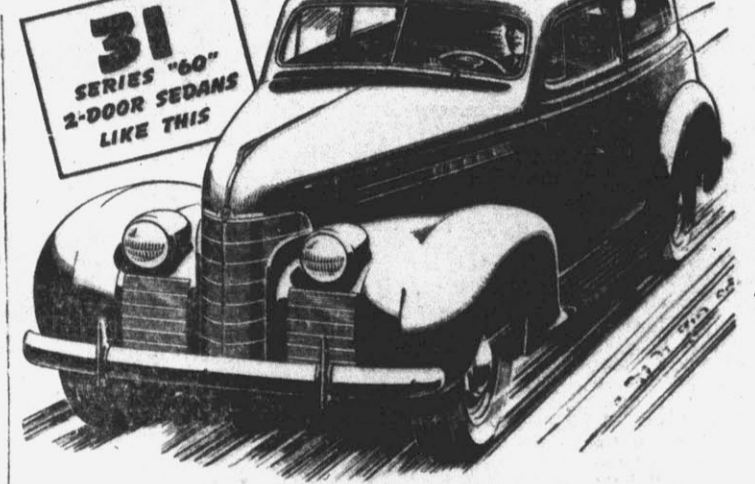

By using fertilizer in early spring and fall and watering carefully you'll give your grass a chance to beat the pests and you may turn up with a lawn that looks like a golf green.

OLD HOME WEEK MURDER

by Phoebe Atwood Taylor

The Characters
Asey, Sara, Cape Cod death, Sara Leach, nice old lady.

Yesterday: Someone breaks into Weston's office searching for his ledger of vital statistics.

Chapter 18

'News Is News'

GENERAL Philbrick, who managed to look as though he had on a full dress uniform even when he wore a white flannel suit, was waiting with Jeff and Sara for the fireworks to begin.

"And I hope," he said to Asey after greeting him effusively, "that you'll find time to say a few words to our radio audience before the week is out. We want you. I know you'll be glad to hear the preliminary reports on our program have been most favorable, and the evening papers gave us fine publicity."

"That's real nice of you," Mr. Tripp, Asey said. "You—er—think this is going to help your business?"

"No question about it, no question about it at all. The American people have unfortunately outgrown the habit of—perhaps I should say, grown out of the habit—of using fireworks of the ornamental type at their—"

"Oh, but the fire, Eloise Randall interrupted. "I mean, I do think they're pretty, and so colorful—but so dangerous, don't you think? I remember torpedoes—of course you can hardly see the scar on my finger now, but that was a long time ago. Then Cousin Dorothy's boy—when he was younger, of course. He's an engineer now, and really doing quite well in spite of the depression—so hard for young people, don't you think? Like Jane, and—well, Gerald would have freerackers' of course we treat—"

"My dear woman," the General said, "modern scientific methods in the manufacture of—"

Asey slipped away to Sara's side. "Let's beat it," he said. "To the edge of this mob, I'd like to hear that conversation, but I'm tired. When Eloise gets going, she goes, don't she? Seems like she hung onto your words for the one purpose of beginning to talk just a split second before she thinks you're winding up. Lane has had an awful time with her. He says she's coy."

"Listen, news is news! A further—more," Asey said, "you'll leave the key of your room outside, because Jeff's going to look you in an 'hide the key. Do you understand that?"

Aunt Sara's face became as white as her hair, and she bit her lip until Asey was afraid that it would bleed.

"Oh, Asey, did I—have I been—?" "You did, Sara, I'm sorry to be so impatient and abrupt, and I don't mean to bully, but you have gone and done the silliest thing you could do! What's her name? Can't I find her another place, an 'head her off? Ain't there some way out?"

"She charmed Jeff, too," Sara said. "I don't know what we can do, she's already had someone take her luggage—Asey, what did I do? When was—of course it must have been last night. Oh, dear, dear, what shall I do if I'm beginning that again!"

"I'm sorry," Asey said again, "but you look for walking out by the swamp in your sleep, an' our shotgun friend was in the vicinity, pretendin' to be a loon. When I found it was you, I near went crazy to think of what might have happened to you. Does it—do you—er—don't you want to talk about it?"

"I don't, but I've got to. Let's leave this din—"

"I've done it since I was a child," Sara said. "No one's been able to do anything about it. It drove mother frantic, and she made me so ashamed of it that it rather preyed on me when I was older. Father took me to doctors, and they figured out that it happened only when I was upset and worried about something, and usually, he thought it was all over. This affair must have started me going again. Asey, what shall we do?"

"How You Talk"
"DO LOCKS stop you, or do you go shiny out of windows?" "Locks will do it, and I'll have to tell Jeff. I'll tell him the whole story, I think he suspects most of it. He knows about me, of course. He thinks it's funny. He claims he did it shortly after we were married, and father'd told me about some railroad bill in the Senate that was a tremendous secret. I've always kept it hidden—you can see why. Billingsgate would love a bit of news like that. He'd make a killing, but mercifully, they like me too much to talk. Oh dear! What can we do about this girl? Her name is Kay Thayer. She's a good sort, really, but—oh darn this Old Home Week! Darn it!"

Here's What Hitler May Do Next

(By the AP Feature Service) Here is the worry map of Europe, based on the recurring question: "What next from Hitler?" He may be content with what he has, but experts believe two Baltic Sea plums, Memel and Danzig (Nos. 1 and 2 on map), are ripe and ready to fall into the Reich. Memel was "taken back into the Reich." Possession of Danzig, a free city under Nazi control, would be a start for the Reich in closing the Polish corridor, Danzig and Memel were lost by Germany at the close of the war. Overshadowing these is the Ukraine question. Hitler may try to form a puppet state of Ukrainians in Russia, Poland, Rumania and Hungary. If he chooses to march east, he must cross other lands (note arrows)—by way of Poland or Hungary and Rumania. (Army figures are from 1939).

Holland Lends Rare Vermeer For New York World's Fair

NEW YORK, March 21.—A rare picture by Jan Vermeer of Delft, officially valued at nearly $1,000 a square inch, is the gem of a collection of six Dutch masters to be loaned by the Government of Holland for the "Masterpieces of Art" exhibition at the New York World's Fair 1939. This is the first loan ever made from the Amsterdam Rijksmuseum to the United States.

Final arrangements were confirmed in a cable today from Dr. F. Schmidt-Degener, director of the museum, setting a value of $560,000 on the entire group, more than half of which would be accounted for by the 18 by 16 1/2 inch "Milkmaid" by the master of Delft who during his lifetime gave a number of his works to his baker to pay for his family's bread.

BILL IS AIMED AT N.C. PATROL

Stone Would Force Officers to Stay on Highways

Raleigh, March 22.—Clarence Stone, Rockingham representative, doesn't like to see a "million and a quarter dollar baby" without proper protection, and so he is trying to put a "new diddy" on the Highway Patrol, which he described as the child in question.

That's what he told the House Monday night, at least. Seriously, he proposed a law requiring highway patrolmen to patrol the highways, rather than to sit around filling stations or in the courthouses of towns and cities.

In his efforts he attracted considerable important support, including the backing of Bill Fenner, chairman of the House Finance committee, who in debate on the Stone bill said that patrolmen are as scarce on the highways as wild bears.

Other members opposed, among them Wayne's Frank Taylor who contended that to make the patrolmen get out on the roads would decrease the amount of revenue collected by them.

The Stone bill went back to committee for ironing out of objectionable features, but will likely be the cause of more brisk debate in the near future.

The Stone proposal is the current bobbing up of the criticism so often voiced of the State Highway Patrol. Motorists by the thousands have been complaining for years that they never see the officers except at football games or on city streets.

Bill Provides For No Beer On Credit

Raleigh, March 22.—The Senate yesterday refused, temporarily at least, to swallow a bill which would make it mandatory that all sales of beer in North Carolina shall be cash-on-the-line, with no credit under any circumstances.

That wasn't in the title of the bill, nor was it known to the Senators until Gullford's Tom Gold, chairman of Judiciary No. 1, which reported the measure "without prejudice" explained it when the bill came up for passage on second reading.

The title was completely non-committal. It said "a bill to be entitled an Act to Amend Chapter 319 of the Public Laws of 1933 relating to the manufacture, transportation and sale of certain beverages."

Its sponsor "by request," Pitt's stocky Senator A. B. Corey, outlined it briefly as designed to protect bottlers and dealers from loss by failure of customers to return bottles upon which they had made no deposit.

But a reading of the bill disclosed that it very explicitly provides that all sales of beer—whether by brewer, bottler, wholesaler or retailer, shall be "for cash only."

Senator Gold objected to this provision. He was joined by others. They contended it would be just as logical to provide that sale of potatoes or any other product shall be "for cash only."

The fact that there is an act designed to protect milk producers in the use of their bottles was injected. Senator Lyn Ballentine of Wake, a dairyman, said he'd be pleased to see the "no credit" provision in the milk law. He defended the beer bill and when it became evident that it was about to be emasculated by exempting counties, he saved it by objecting to the reading. It went over on the calendar and will come up again.

WANTS COUNTY TO GET TAXES

National Park Bill Passed Minus Brunswick

Raleigh, March 22.—Acting doubtless on the Omar Khayyam advice to "take the case and let the law go," Brunswick county's officials speaking yesterday in removing their county from Senator Emmet Ballamy's bill proposing a Fort Fisher National Park and setting up a Commission to administer same if and when the Federal government gets round to sponsoring it.

Originally the bill envisioned a large part embracing not only the immediate Fort Fisher area in New Hanover, but a considerable acreage in Brunswick county including Bald Head Island, a semi-tropical spot recently acquired by Frank Sherrill big come-and-get-it cafe man.

Brunswick has this area on its tax books at a valuation which yields about $140 annually in taxes. A National Park would very conservatively involve an outlay of $100,000 in the county and would attract thousands and thousands of tourists dollars.

But Brunswick preferred the $140 cash to hand and the very remote and nebulous possibility that Mr. Sherrill will, at some distant and uncertain date, develop Baldhead into a resort area.

So out came all mention of lands except in New Hanover. So limited the park bill received a favorable report from the Senate Committee on Conservation and Development of which Mr. Bellamy is chairman.

Officers Elected For Country Club

Dr. W. M. B. Brown was re-elected president of the Greenville Golf and Country club at the annual stockholders meeting held at the club house last night with a large number of members present.

The following committee chairmen also were chosen to serve during the year: House, Dr. M. B. Massey; Greens, Simon Moye, Jr.; Entertainment, Mrs. Willis Glass; Membership, Boris Ruffin; Tournament, T. A. Smoot.

The service of Bob Bailey, golf professional at the club, were highly praised and he was retained for another year.

A report showed the club's financial affairs to be in good shape. A lengthy discussion was conducted on the social side of the club, after which was decided to hold a dance each two weeks; keep the club house lighted nights until 10 o'clock; arrange bridge parties and luncheons for the women; plan parties and dances for the younger members.

Officer Takes Fire To Fire Department

Courtesy, a requisite of a highway patrolman, apparently is practiced extensively by Highway Patrolman C. R. Williams of the Eastern Division.

While riding in Greenville, smoke began coming from the engine of Williams' patrol car into the cab. Instead of stopping and summoning the fire department, he carried his smoke to the fire department, where a possible fire was thwarted.

Hog Shipment Made By Farmers of County

A double deck of hogs were shipped yesterday to Baltimore by the Pitt County Mutual Exchange. R. R. Bennett, county farm agent, said today.

He explained that 193 hogs, weighing a combined total of 36,005 pounds, were included in the shipment. He said also that top hogs brought $7.25, P.O.B. Greenville.

Vealers—supply moderate; Market steady at $10.50 top on choice.

Sheep—Lambs: No receipts of any consequence on sale this week.

Women In The News

By The AP Feature Service—Though they're not all English, this week's four broke into the news in England:

Princess Alice, Countess of Athlone, lays the cornerstone of a building at the Imperial Service College, Windsor, England, which will be a memorial to Rudyard Kipling.

Kathleen Kennedy, one of the daughters of the ambassador to the Court of St. James, attends a "Children-of-Many-Nations" luncheon in London.

Hazel Ward, senior officer of the women's auxiliary fire service in London, is leading a recruiting campaign among British youths and women.

Gertrud Scholtz-Klink, Hitler's "perfect German woman," and supreme head of German women's organizations, is shown as she arrived in England to be feted by the Anglo-German Fellowship.

Evangelistic Service At Memorial Baptist

The Memorial Baptist Church will hold a week of evangelistic services March 27-April 2. Each night this week co-lane prayer meetings are being held in the homes of the members. The meetings begin at 7:30. Tonight there will be a church prayer meeting in the main auditorium of the church.

Dr. Forrest C. Feozor, past of the Tabernacle Baptist Church, Raleigh, will do the preaching at these services. Dr. Feozor is one of the foremost preachers of the south. No man in North Carolina is commanding a larger hearing than he is. For five years his ministry has been a growing popularity in Raleigh. He is a forceful speaker and his sermons are always practical and inspiring.

Two Robberies In City Investigated

The Folger Buick company on W. Tenth street was the victim of another robbery last night, but the prowlers were unsuccessful in attempting to break open the safe.

An automobile was stolen from M. A. Roebuck of 203 East Thirteenth street last night and officers expressed the belief both robberies were committed by the same persons. The automobile was pushed into the street in front of the Roebuck home before being driven off.

Several implements which could be used in robbery were taken from the automobile garage. The loot included a hacksaw, two pry bars, a hand saw, pliers, a cap, belt, shoes and sweater.

Local police officers said the robbers wore gloves and no finger prints were found.

DEFEATS BILL ON GAME LAW

Refuses To Exempt Currituck From State Game Law

Raleigh, March 22.—One quietly spoken sentence by Director R. Bruce Etheridge of the Department of Conservation and Development was principally responsible for killing Gideon Boswood's bill permitting Currituck county to secede from the state game law and endow its own Game Commission with powers not conferred on other counties of the state.

An hour's hearing during which charges of bad faith, broken promises and incorrect news reporting had been bandied about with great freedom preceded the Etheridge intervention.

"I am a peace-loving man," he said, "and I am sure that all of this could have been avoided if the gentlemen who are backing this bill had come to the department with their case."

"But the first I heard was when the bill was introduced in the House by Mr. Boswood."

That was all, but it was enough. The committee not long thereafter voted unanimously an unfavorable report for the Boswood bill.

What it attempted to do was to restore the status which existed prior to 1935, when the Currituck Game Commission was practically a law unto itself in the department—no at least, not in the eyes of the commissioner of Game and Inland Fisheries—contended it was inspired by "politicians" in Currituck.

There was also mention of Joseph Knapp, millionaire who was referred to by the Currituck superintendent of education as "the Father of Currituck."

An opponent of the bill described Knapp in far less complimentary terms and indicated that Knapp is behind efforts to get control of all hunting regulations in Currituck.

The Currituck contended their situation is unique and that they should be allowed to have certain privileges not enjoyed in other counties. They contended quite aggressively that the bill's purpose has been misrepresented by the game protection division and by the press.

Smallest Texas county is Rockwall with 149 square miles.

Plans Are Mapped By Little Theatre

Obtaining a permanent director and producing another play in Greenville in the near future were objectives that gained momentum at a regular meeting of the Little Theatre Guild held at the Shepard Memorial Library last night.

Dr. James E. Hawes, acting as chairman, reiterated some of the plans toward securing a director that were outlined by John Walker, State Director of the Federal Theatre project, who recently addressed the Greenville Little Theatre group.

A group of Little Theatre members will go to Chapel Hill Friday night where a play, "Lamp Shade," which was presented locally some time ago, will be presented. Those participating in the one-act production are Paul Fitzgerald, Mrs. W. L. Hall and R. G. Walsler.

The next play to be presented locally will be one of the following: "The Trial of Mary Dugan," "Night of January 16," and "Men Must Fight." These plays will be studied with the next week by the Play Approval Committee, composed of Mrs. J. H. Rose, Mrs. A. Dittmer, Paul Fitzgerald, Miss Helen McGinnis, R. G. Walsler and C. B. Fetner. Their selection will be reported at next Tuesday night's regular meeting.

Members of the Little Theatre Guild will read a take-off from "Tobacco Road" next Tuesday night and the public has been extended an invitation to attend the meeting.

James Whitfield last night was named publicity chairman of the Little Theatre Guild.

Indianapolis, Ind. (AP)—Judge John R. McNeilas gave Cecil Shock a novel way to settle the speeding charge against him.

"This is my first offense and I haven't very much money," Shock told the judge.

"Then I'll let you set your own fine," said Judge McNeilas.

"A dollar and costs and costs suspended," Shock ruled.

The judge agreed.
