SAYS EFFORTS AIMED AGAINST ALIEN STATUTE

Accuses Labor Dept. Trying Defeat Immigration Law

STUDY PROPOSED BY RESOLUTION

Frank Graham, UNC, Named on Commission to Make Survey in Puerto Rico

Washington, March 28.—(AP)—Rep. Cox (D-Ga.) accused the Labor department today of trying to "defeat" the immigration law.

He made the statement at hearings before the House, Rules committee, of which he is a member, on a resolution directing the Immigration committee to study all immigration, naturalization and deportation laws and investigate the smuggling of aliens into the United States.

The Rules committee had endorsed the measure previously, but reconsidered it after opposition developed in the House.

Cox said there was talk that the Labor department was responsible for the resolution. Rep. Schulte (D-Ind.) author of the measure and prospective chairman of inquiry, said the department never had heard of it before its introduction.

Other developments:

The Senate Civil Liberties committee introduced legislation to outlaw "oppressive labor practices" which it said were employed by a "powerful minority" in industry.

The Senate Labor committee voted unanimously to start hearings April 11 on proposed amendments to the Wagner Labor act.

The Senate Banking committee decided to delay action on a proposal for release of some of the government's huge loan supply of cotton for less than the government investment it represents.

It made this decision after learning from Chairman Jesse Jones of the R.F.C. that some administration officials had proposed a government subsidy on cotton exports.

President Roosevelt named a commission of seven to make a survey of the University of Puerto Rico.

The commission including Frank Graham, president of the University of North Carolina, will sail from New York April 6.

Frederick I. Thompson, Alabama publisher, was nominated by President Roosevelt to be a member of the Federal Communications Commission.

He was named to succeed Eugene O. Sykes of Mississippi, whose resignation is effective April 5.

County Will Make Payment on Debts

As Pitt county prepared to pay $30,000 in principal and $22,575 in interest on road bonds, talk of efforts to push through the county's claim on the State Highway Commission of $1,300,000 was revived.

The bill to appoint a special master to study the claims of the various counties is still pending in the legislature.

The $30,000 in principal the county is paying the first of the month brings to $83,000 the amount paid this fiscal year. A total of $86,000 is due by the end of the year June 30. The last payment of the fiscal year—$1,000—was on June 1.

The $22,575 on interest the county is paying on April 1, brings to $87,312 the sum paid so far this fiscal year. A total of $104,000 was due during the fiscal year. Of this amount of interest due, all but $1,475 are on funding bonds, was for road bonds.

All the figures are county-wide bonds and do not include various township securities.

Former Greenville Tobacconist Dies

Goldsboro, March 28.—(AP)—E. F. Estler, 63, veteran tobacconist, died here today of paralysis. Funeral services will be held here tomorrow.

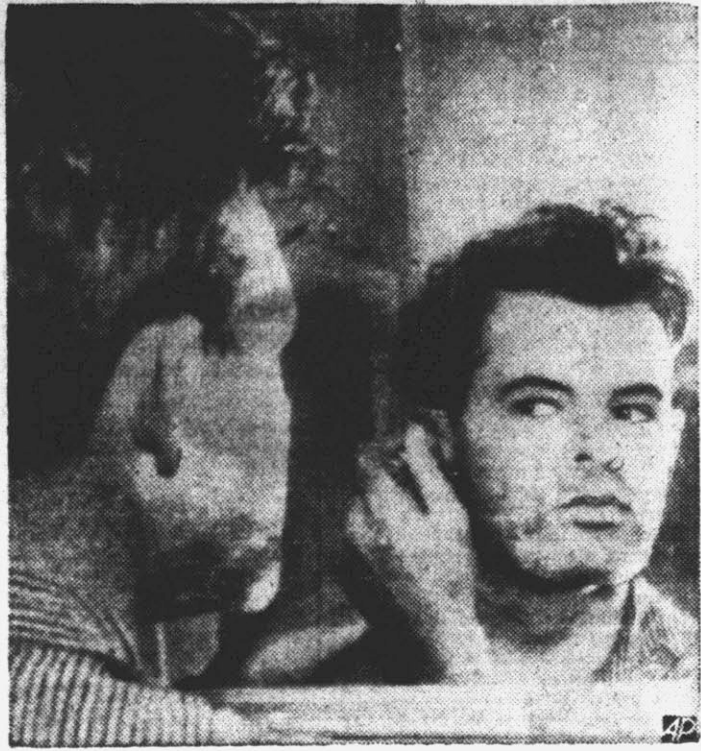

Estler was manager of the Imperial Tobacco Company's Goldsboro plant and had been located in Wilson and Greenville before coming here. He was past president of the Goldsboro Board of Trade.

He was a native of Virginia and a graduate of Randolph Macon College.

Swelling Didn't Leave.
Arkansas City, Kas.—(AP)—A grumpy patient came into the dentist's office to demand why the swelling hadn't gone from his jaws. He'd had a tooth pulled and thought there had been ample time for the spot to heal. "The trouble with you," said the dentist, "is that you went out and caught the mums." A doctor confirmed the diagnosis.

U. S. TO ERECT TWO BIG SHIPS

Navy Given Authority To Build 45,000-Ton Craft

Washington, March 28.—(AP)—The White House announced today that President Roosevelt had given the navy authority to build two battleships of 45,000 tons each.

The navy, which has authority under a 1938 bill to build three new battleships, is asking Congress now for funds to start work on two of them.

The White House said the President gave authority for the 45,000-ton ships, largest ever to be constructed by the United States, to Admiral William Leahy, chief of naval operations, about two months ago.

At that time, it was said, information reached this country that certain other nations intended to build 45,000-ton capital ships. Under the 1938 construction act the President had the discretionary power to meet any such tonnage.

Negro Burned To Death.
Dunn, March 28.—(AP)—A 24-year-old Negro was found burned to death after a residential fire here early today from which six other persons escaped.

Corner Melvin McLean identified the man as Booker T. Bethune.

The various national censuses now cover approximately two-thirds of the world's population.

State To Spend $300,000 In Excess Of Estimates

Raleigh, March 28.—The current General Assembly seems sure to authorize expenditures of almost $300,000 for each year of the coming biennium, over the above total in the big appropriations bill passed last week.

A brief summary made in Calendar committee of the Senate during yesterday's session showed $589,999 already approved by the committee or on the Senate calendar without formal approval of the group.

The sum is made up as follows:

C. C. Camps $ 70,000
Department of Justice 20,000
Fish Hatchery 60,000
Library 100,000
Cape Hatteras Park 20,000
Forestry Service 10,000
Apprentice School 9,000
Eastern N. C. Sanatorium 10,000
Experiment Stations 180,000
Japanese Beetle 10,000
Bang's Disease Control 80,000

Total $589,999

All of these items except that for the Experiment Stations have been given favorable reports by the Calendar Committee, and the exception item is even nearer enactment, having been placed directly on the Senate calendar without committee reference and having already passed its second reading.

Chairman Bill Rodman of the Calendar group who previously served throughout the session as appropriations head, called these items to the attention of his associate members yesterday morning and posed the question whether it is wise to give them all approval or whether a halt should be called and no appropriations voted over and above those carried in the general bill.

There was considerable "economic" talk but when it came to a matter of voting on the bill, there was little dissent.

National Defense Council Capitulates To Triumphant Nationalists Without A Shot Being Fired; War-Weariness Frantically About Streets Dancing for Joy that War Is Over

Madrid, March 28.—(AP)—War-weary Republican Madrid surrendered to triumphant Nationalist Spain today and the savage civil war which frightened Europe for nearly three years was all but over.

White flags of surrender mingled with Nationalist emblems broke out throughout the city today as leaders of the National Defense council fled.

Not a shot was fired when listless soldiers of the defeated Republican regime laid down their arms.

Capitulation in the conflict which lasted two years and eight months and cost uncounted hundreds of thousands of lives came on orders of Colonel Adolfo Prada, the Republican army's new commander. General Jose Miaja "savior of Madrid," and his war minister had gone to Valencia.

It seemed certain that no attempt at resistance would be made.

An estimated 60,000 jubilant Fascists celebrated in the streets of this city, which had been under siege since November 8, 1936. Madrid's famous "fifth column," Generalissimo Franco's sympathizers, who risked their lives to spy for him during the war, came into the open.

Relieved from the strain of war, people rushed frantically about the streets, dancing and embracing each other.

Nationalist troops by noon had not formally taken over the center of the city.

General Franco was expected to make a triumphal entry after "clean-up operations."

The surrender followed long and secret negotiations with the Nationalist commander by a National Defense Council, which was formed to succeed the Republican government of Premier Negrin after Franco had pushed the Catalan army into France following his capture of Barcelona.

SLOVAKS QUIT BORDER TALKS

Negotiations With Hungarian Commission Broken Off

Budapest, March 28.—(AP)—Boundary negotiations between Hungarian and Slovak commissions were broken off today as fighting broke out anew along the disputed frontier between Slovakia and Hungary's newly acquired Carpatho-Ukraine.

The negotiations were interrupted suddenly when the Slovaks decided to return to Bratislava, their capital.

Artillery engagements broke out again in the Labor river valley and at least two men of the Hungarian forces which marched into the disputed area last week were reported killed.

Although clothed with full power to enter into an agreement with Hungary, the Slovak delegation refused to accept the terms offered by Hungary before first consulting with their government.

One report here was that the settlement suggested by Hungary was "dictatorial" and involved the cession to Hungary of large sections of the new Slovak state, from a fortnight ago when Czecho-Slovakia collapsed and later placed under German military protection.

The Slovak commissioners said they would return to Budapest after consulting with leaders in Bratislava.

The Hollidge automobile turned over on a curve as they were returning home after a visit to Florida.

ITALO-FRENCH NEGOTIATIONS ARE DOUBTFUL

Paris will Not Consider Italian Territorial Claims

DALADIER PLANS REPLY TO IL DUCE

Radio Broadcast Tomorrow, In Effect, To Be Answer To Speech by Mussolini Sunday

Paris, March 28.—(AP)—France will refuse to negotiate if Italy advances claims for French territory, sources close to the government said today.

Furthermore, the French are disinclined to open any negotiations until Italy clearly states exactly what she does want.

This, informed sources predicted, will be the thesis of a speech Premier Daladier is to make tomorrow.

And which, in effect, will be an answer to the speech by Premier Mussolini last Sunday.

The Italian Premier's references to problems of France in Djibouti.

Rome, March 28.—(AP)—Premier Mussolini told cheering thousands gathered under his balcony tonight that the Spanish war "is finished with the defeat of Bolshevism."

"Thus will all enemies of Italy and Fascism finish," he declared. Shouts of "Tunisia! Tunisia!" went up from the crowd when Il Duce appeared and continued until he spoke.

Mussolini smiled and some present thought they saw him nod at this reference to France's North African protectorate, where Italy wants concessions.

The Suez Canal, Tunisia and the Mediterranean were considered by many in France as vague references to demands which should be specified before France would be willing to talk them over.

If Daladier's speech is to the nations follows these lines it will constitute a radical departure from the "Molotov" group in the cabinet which was reported in the minority at a meeting of the cabinet yesterday.

The French press said that Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet and four others advocated opening negotiations with Italy immediately on the basis of Mussolini's speech.

The majority, however, led by Daladier, opposed such a move, which they condemned as an exhibition of weakness before Mussolini's boast of Italian strength.

NO ACTION ON 'KANSAS PLAN'

Interest Shown At Start of Assembly in New Idea

Reflector Bureau.
Raleigh, March 28.—During the first week or two of the 1939 legislature several members had their attention attracted to an article in a national magazine about the "legislative council" idea, which had reputedly worked with most satisfactory results in Kansas.

The article explained that this council passed upon every bill before it was submitted, as a sort of super-committee, and studied it carefully, not only in its text but as to its probable effect upon the state.

The council had been instrumental in preventing some very foolish legislation.

North Carolina legislators were interested. Among those interested enough to write for further information was Rep. John Q. LeGrand of New Hanover. Mr. LeGrand not only wrote to Kansas but to some other states having adaptations of the same idea. He received copies of the Kansas law, passed in 1933, and setting up the legislative council.

In Kansas the group is composed of 15 representatives and ten senators. It has power to subpoena witnesses and records, and applies as nearly as possible a scientific test to every proposed statute. One instance cited, was of the case where a legislator wanted to increase the tax on a certain commodity to yield more revenue. The council proved by investigation that other states had found increased tax rate on that item meant decreased tax revenue.

The plan has so many of the same features of the North Carolina budget commission, that some revision of the budget commission act rather than a new council set up, would give this state all the advantages of the Kansas law.

Present War In China Worst In Five Months

Intensive Fighting Follows Japanese Offensive

Shanghai, March 28.—(AP)—The most intensive fighting of the past five months of the Chinese war is in progress 120 to 150 miles southwest and southeast of Hanow as the consequence of a major Japanese offensive.

Both Japanese and Chinese accounts today indicated that casualties were very heavy.

Late last night the Japanese army announced it finally had taken Hanchang in a seven-day 40-mile drive. Chinese insisted the attackers were checked north of the city.

The Chinese acknowledged that hand-to-hand fighting continued. They said they had accounted for more than 1,000 Japanese casualties. The Japanese said that in three days of the offensive 3,700 Chinese were killed and 770 captured.

About 270 miles west of Nanchang and 125 miles southwest of Hsukow a second battle was underway.

A Japanese column endeavoring to cross the Han river for a drive toward Ichang lost 200 men in an isolated battle on Monday Chinese reported.

Corey Bill Would Leave Extension To Local Units

Reflector Bureau.
By HENRY AVERILL
Raleigh, March 28.—There was unanimous agreement of the Senate calendar committee that "there ought to be a law" and so the Corey bill providing ways and means of extending city limits without recourse to the General Assembly received a one hundred per cent favorable vote from that hard working group Monday afternoon.

The measure sponsored by the stout senator from Pitt, and endorsed unofficially by the League of Municipalities, would transfer the biennial city extension headache from the legislature to the local government commission.

The only regret expressed by any member of the calendar committee was that it comes so late in the session.

The bill provides machinery for holding elections at any time they are approved and ordered by the local government commission, that group to act under stated circumstances and after public hearing.

In brief, here's how a city would go about extending its limits: Each city would be mapped with areas immediately adjoining its limits laid off in squares of 2,000 feet sides.

Whenever 20 per cent of property owners within one or more of these squares, or whenever the governing body of any city shall petition the local government commission for extension to take in any given area, the commission shall order a public hearing, giving due notice thereof to all affected parties.

After public hearing, the commission shall, if it decides that extension is desirable, order an election in which all inhabitants of the city and of the affected area shall be allowed to vote, the issue to be determined by a majority of the vote cast.

It is provided that in the event (Continued on page five)

Bill Permit Morehead City to Vote on Pari-Mutual Betting is Passed by House

Raleigh, March 28.—(AP)—The House today, 53 to 38, tabled and killed the Senate bill to provide hospitalization for any person injured in an automobile accident, with funds to be obtained by adding 30 cents to the cost of automobile licenses.

Injured persons would have received $3 a day for 21 days toward paying their hospital expenses.

The Senate received from its Education committee a recommendation that it enact the important school machinery act just as it passed the House. The bill sets up the pattern for operating all public schools.

The House sent to the Senate the Seelye bill to permit citizens of Morehead City to decide at the polls if they want to legalize pari-mutual betting and horse and dog racing.

A second unfavorable report was given by the Senate Finance committee to the measure by Rep. Quinn of Duplin which was designed to prohibit shipments of tax paid whiskey into dry counties.

Twenty-one counties were included in the compromise bill passed by the House and sent to the Senate which would permit government boards of the counties and municipalities in them to decline to issue licenses for wine sales for consumption on the premises. (Duplin, Robeson and Greene counties would be among those affected). Another provision would empower the governing boards to regulate or prohibit wine and beer sales on Sundays. A dozen or more representatives had sought flatly to prohibit wine and beer in their counties.

College Vesper Services. Rev. T. M. Grant, pastor of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church, spoke to the college Y. W. C. A. vesper group Sunday evening on the topic "Follow Thou Me."

"We do not live in an accidental world," he began. There is an order by which certain things are expected to happen. "If we violate nature, we will be unpleasantly surprised," he said. Mr. Grant illustrated this by telling of his experience in growing flowers.

If man expects to get his desired results, it is necessary that he set up certain antecedents to get the results, and he must be willing to pay the price, which is not always easy. Jesus told his disciples they must dare to follow him, and he knew the way would not be easy.

To obtain the desired spiritual results in one's life, it is necessary to have a creed—"I believe." A few of the essentials for a creed as set forth by Mr. Grant are:

1. Belief in God, because "we cannot live gloriously nor think royally without believing in God."

2. Belief in some of the attributes which Jesus exemplified as belonging to God, as part of the fatherhood of God.

3. Belief in folk. Mr. Grant said in closing that until this creed is established one is not able to follow the Great Command in white.

HINTS TO HOUSEWIVES. Did you ever serve a noodle cheese ring filled with creamed shrimp? Try it the next time you entertain your bridge club. With a zesty fruit or vegetable salad, light dessert and plenty of hot coffee you will have an ample menu, not hard to prepare.

When you're serving wedges of lemon with fish or meat, try this: Just before putting them on the platter dip the wedges in finely chopped parsley. The parsley will adhere to the lemon and give it a decorative touch.

Remember this—the color of an egg's shell has nothing to do with its quality or food value. If dark colored ones are cheaper, buy them, they're just as good as those with light colored shells.

Baker sliced bananas, spread with honey and a few chopped nuts, make a delicious dessert. Serve cold or hot. Lemon or orange sauce is a recommended addition.

QUEEN ELIZABETH PICKS HER GOWNS FOR ROYAL U. S. TRIP. London, March 28.—(AP)—Queen Elizabeth is spending a lot of time being fitted for the 50 costumes she is choosing for her "American tour."

For evening the Queen has chosen mostly pastel shades to tone with her fair skin, with darker outfits for travelling.

Most mornings before 10 o'clock a half-dozen designers, fitters, and mannequins from smart Mayfair couturiers troop into Buckingham Palace to stage a private fashion show in the Queen's first floor suite.

The shows are informal affairs, and Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret Rose often accompany their mother when she receives "the dressmakers."

Elizabeth, a determined young lady with independent views, isn't backward about expressing opinions on the new fashions. Queen Elizabeth usually has three fittings for each gown she decides to buy.

A group of forty E.C.T.C. students under the direction of Miss Gussie Kuykendall, sang four numbers. The first two, "The Wind" and "Quaker Maiden," were sung a capella. Then with piano accompaniment provided by Miss Wilda Royall "I Hung My Tent in Crimson" and "Invocation to Life" were sung.

Tom Grant of the Greenville club greeted the Rotarians from out of town. The district governor, Irving Morgan of Farmville, was a guest for the occasion. Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Davis were guests also.

BODIES OF SLAIN POSSEMEN RECOVERED

Members of a sheriff's posse here recover the bodies (right foreground) of two of their number who were shot to death when they approached the mountainside "fort" of Earl Durand, 26 near Cody, in Northwestern Wyoming. Picked marksmen now are seeking Durand, raw meat-eating slayer of four men, who deserted his stronghold before light artillery could be used in an effort to subdue him.

College Speaker

DR. SHERWOOD EDDY

Primed with first hand knowledge of the European situation from a recent visit to Europe, Dr. Sherwood Eddy of New York, known in many countries for his great interest in social, economic, political and religious problems, will speak twice at the college on Thursday, March 30, addressing a specially called assembly at noon, and speaking at night to all who are interested from both college and town. His topic at assembly will be "The Present Crisis in Europe," and at night "Can Religion Build a New World?"

He comes to Greenville under the auspices of the college Y.W.C.A., of which Miss Marie Dawson is president.

Dr. Eddy needs no introduction to American audiences, as he is known both as an authority in his field and as a forceful speaker. In his repeated and lengthy trips abroad he has come to know personally the leaders in all the European countries, and has had chances for first-hand observation that come to few.

He has visited Russia, Poland, Germany, Austria, France, and Great Britain fourteen times, and was Y. M. C. A. secretary in India for 15 years, and later secretary for Asia.

He was in Czechoslovakia just before the Munich meeting and talked the crisis over with Czech leaders. In Spain, in Manchuria, in Berlin and other danger spots of the world he has searched this spring for signs of peace or trends toward war.

On this flying trip to North Carolina, Dr. Eddy has already spoken twice at both State College and Duke, as well as at Atlantic Christian College, Brevard, and a number of other places; and he is scheduled to go from East Carolina Teachers College to address the Raleigh Kiwanis Club, and to speak at Meredith and Shaw.

He will take part in the Institute of Human Relations in Chapel Hill on April 2.

The Y. W. C. A. of the college invites all who will to hear this noted speaker.

and final but not the least possible, ten or fifteen year abyssal depression because in our insisting on money for our supplies in the event of war will leave all other countries broke after the war and unable to buy from us.

In conclusion Dr. Frank exhorted all the lovers of efficient democracy to guard our democracy for what it has been and stands for though blamed for all ills by careless thinkers today. "We and not the Fascists and Communists, endanger democracy because we hold it to blame for all the troubles governments have had to face. If we really love democracy, we must put our shoulder to the wheel and work for it. This is the most important thing that faces us today."

SPROUTS Mark the Beginning of Spring

There are but few more of Lent days. We never make so much fuss over weeks of sunshine as we do over one day of rain.

The Easter Hat is about all a woman has on her mind at present, and Sunday it will be about all she has on her head.

We wish the milliners pretty weather for their opening this week. The day that you have the most to do is generally the one in which you find the least time for its accomplishment.

All Except Scott Get Salary Boost

Reflector Bureau. Raleigh, March 28.—The Senate calendar committee maintained its record of approving every official salary increase asked of it—except for Commissioner of Agriculture W. Kerr Scott.

And even in his case there were obvious signs of relenting—members themselves pointing out the gross inconsistency of the committee's action in refusing to increase the Scott stipend while at the same time (almost in the same breath) hiking pay for Parole Commissioner Edwin Gill and providing very shortly thereafter for "additional pay" of $1,500 annually for Utilities Commissioner Stanley Winborne.

There were also signs that the committee can't stand against the pressure of Superior court judges who are seeking $2,500 annual "expense money" in place of the $1,500 now allowed them.

The committee has reported unfavorably a bill to increase the Scott salary and the judges expense bill, but has reported favorably on a measure allowing the Governor to set Gill's salary (the same thing exactly as authorizing an increase, and the proposal to let Winborne drag down an extra $1,500 each year.

It was estimated at the hearing that committee members will move to take the Scott salary bill (it would increase his pay from $5,000 to $6,000 annually and put it on a par with most of the other department heads) off the unfavorable calendar.

HALIFAX SOLON VERSATILE MAN

One Of The Most Interesting Men In Assembly

Reflector Bureau. Raleigh, March 28.—Practicing dentistry, serving as chairman of the county board of elections, leading a choir in a Presbyterian church and acting as chief of the fire department simultaneously and for more than 30 years, would seem to establish a record for versatility. But those are only a few of the longest tenure jobs held by Dr. William Samuel Long, representative from Alamance county.

While attending to those duties he also found time to entertain many an audience, formal and impromptu, with selection on his harmonica, to organize fiddlers' conventions, to fill every chair in the Knights of Pythias Lodge, and to write music which has been published and broadcast over radio.

Even before taking up what proved to be greatly diversified activities as a man, young Will Long was helping his distinguished father, for whom he was named, convert a private high school at Graham into Elon College. Some of the earliest work he remembers was his job raising leaves and trash off what is now the beautiful campus at the college in Alamance county.

Always interested in helping the fellow who tries to help himself, Dr. Long is credited with paying Kerr Scott the first dollar the present commissioner of agriculture ever earned. The elder Scott had given young Kerr a load of wood, if he could cut it and haul it to town. Kerr got busy, but he couldn't find a customer for his wood, until Dr. Long, then a young dentist, got sorry for him and bought the wood.

Ever ready with a joke or a funny story, seldom declining to oblige with a selection on the harmonica, frequently caustic in his comments about "shady" practices, political or otherwise, Dr. Long is one of the most dependable representatives.

The University of Texas department of agriculture has been unable to fill demands for architects and no graduates in recent years are unemployed.

Washington Daybook

Washington—The silly prospect that the United States might have a hundred or more laws suddenly brought to life after being killed by various Presidents during the past 125 years has paved the way for a new test case on the validity of the "pocket veto."

In order to make the test case possible without upsetting the whole country, a bill is being routed thru Congress repealing all the old bills, some dating back to 1812, which were killed by a pocket veto, or some procedure akin to it.

Ten years ago the Supreme Court upheld the validity of the "pocket veto," a device used by Presidents to kill bills without the necessity of giving a reason in a formal veto message.

There's more than an even chance that the general assembly during its last week will make supplementary appropriations for agricultural work of more than the total amount appropriated out of the general fund for such purposes in the regular appropriations bill.

About 120 Victims. Altogether about 120 acts of Congress have "died" by pocket veto.

Among the first real pocket vetoes, where the bill was just stowed away in a pigeon hole, was applied by President Johnson to the Nebraska statehood bill in 1866.

It Happened This Way. The pocket veto problem arose this way: There usually are two sessions of each Congress. The Constitution gives the President ten days after receiving a bill either to veto it or approve it.

Raleigh, March 25—There has been a lot of backing up and starting over during this legislature. Bills have been passed by one house and then had to be recalled from the other and passed again because of some error.

The house was adjourning its Friday session so as to go into the early Saturday morning session and "make two days in one night."

Can They Hold Out Against Hitler

These Four Men Guide The Policies of Countries In The Path of Nazi Germany's Eastward Drive

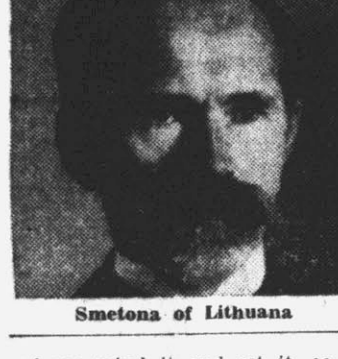

Carol of Rumania

Horthy of Hungary

Beck of Poland

Smetona of Lithuania

RUMANIA'S KING CAROL is a playboy turned "iron man." He's quit romance at 46 to play a dangerous game of international politics. Is one king who really leads his country. The strapping, sandy-haired, blue-eyed Hohenzollern barged right in on Berlin and London officialdom after the Sudeten crisis—brought home sales orders. Angered the Nazi press when some of the local boys were purged. Kicked out political grafters, built schools, a big army. Hitler wants his oil and wheat, and eyes the Ukraine—just beyond Rumania.

NICHOLAS HORTHY is 71 and, practically the dictator of Hungary. He's also regent for a non-existent throne and admiral of a non-existent navy—both were lost in the world war when he was the No. 1 Sailor, a wound-marked admiral. He's a square-shouldered six-footer, silver-haired; as keen-minded and affable as they come. Some say he's hooked Hungary's wagon to the Nazi star. Got a bigger welcome than Mussolini from Hitler. Loves to win at bridge and ride horses—he rode a white one ahead of his troops into Czechoslovakia last November.

POLAND'S Col. Joseph Beck, 44, tall and thin, holds powerful reins for a foreign minister. He's been regarded as the coming head man since he threw Russia's ultimatum in the wastebasket last year, and took Silesia from the Czechs in spite of it. The Poles loved it. Ordinarily Beck is closemouthed, but also two-fisted and fiery. Married a divorcee and still is trying to fix it up with the church. Brilliant diplomat; thinks fast in pinches. Trained by the old master, Pilsudski. He must watch the Polish corridor, Danzig and Memel.

Lithuania's Antanas Smetona, the farm boy who founded a nation, has been its president almost continuously since its birth in 1919. He's 65, plain-spoken, vigorous. Bawled out some enthusiastic fans who wanted him crowned king; later declined to be a dictator. Started nationalism 40 years ago. Writer lawyer, banker. Lives simply; kicks at pomp and ceremony. Faced Poland's big army at border last year; had to knuckle down and exchange diplomats with her. Re-elected for 7 years in 1938 with the Nazified Memel a burning question.

Hitler of Germany

When O'Neill and his wife, the beautiful Carlotta, decided to abandon Sea Island for more remote points in the west, the reason given was that Sea Island had begun to attract too many people. O'Neill wanted still more privacy.

However, there are those on Sea Island who say it was Carlotta who wanted the change because Eugene spent too much time fishing and not enough time writing.

I like to see a man do what he says he is going to do. Ten years ago Frederick Machetanz was a student, majoring in art, at Ohio State University. STATE TO SPEND $300,000 IN EXCESS OF ESTIMATES

(Continued from Page One) of Agriculture were on hand for the hearing and explained the need of the appropriations sought for their agency. At no stage was there any expressed doubt that the purposes are worthy and that the money is needed to meet the exigencies of the committee arising from the question "where's the money coming from?"

With the odds and ends which undoubtedly will be added to the extra appropriations bill spending, it seems certain that the State's authorized expenditures for the next biennium will be at least $300,000 higher for each year than is provided for in the general bill.

OLD HOME WEEK MURDER

by Phoebe Atwood Taylor

The Characters

Asey Mayo, Cape Cod sleuth. Kay Thayer, sprightly girl reporter.

Yesterday, Kay finds out about the murder by listening in on Asey and Terlus. She says she wants the story eventually, but not now.

Chapter 20

Prepared To Daily

"POSE." Asey explained to Kay, "someone's got to be ready with my gun here. We take the bullet, and we know it comes from a forty-five. Now in our real case, we weigh the deer ball, and we know it's a standard load for a twelve gauge gun. But — an this is an important bit. In our case of the forty-five, we carry every forty-five we can find, near or far. Sooner or later, we find a forty-five that shoots a bullet that's got all the signs of a markin's, an' whatnot of the bullet that killed our person. Got that?"

"I'm plowin' along." "Then," Asey continued, "get to our real case right here. The deer ball's got no markin's. It might have been fired from any shotgun in Christendom, providin' it's a twelve gauge. Everyone with the slightest connection with this case might own a twelve gauge gun. They might have a collection of twelve gauge guns. We couldn't do a thing. Not unless we find, or found, the shells in a place — well, like outside Mary's window somewhere. Those shells would have the mark of the hammer. Then we could begin to hunt shotguns, an' try to find the one that left the same mark on the shells as these did. See?"

"Sort of." "An' mind you this. We'd have to prove the shells had some connection with this. That's a nice jockey." "In brief, a shell you probably will never find is the only connecting link between shotgun, deer ball and murder?"

"Just so. For fun, say we find the shell. Then we get to find the shotgun, which any sane person would have to have into the Atlantic night after the night, and killed into something, anyway. Then we get to prove the ownership of the gun. Then, maybe, with the grace of God, an' the hand of fate an' such, maybe we might prove that the owner was the person who was here last night an' killed Mary Randall. But you can see. Asey added drily, "there's some chance involved."

"In other words, even if Jane Warren bought a shotgun, and a twelve gauge, and even if she were near and had a motive, you still haven't a clue, don't expect it find any, and even if you did, they probably wouldn't help?" "Asey beamed at her. "That's a fine summ'n up of this whole case. It's the works in a thimble. Now ask me, what good can I do? An' I'll tell you the honest truth. I don't see how in the world we can do a single thing to help." "Then why do you keep on?" "Guess."

Kay stubbed out a cigarette. "Not for what you can get out of it, that's a cinch. I — well, there are probably two reasons. One is that we've just stated the case from the official cop's point of view, and it's hopeless, but that you've got some ideas on the subject just the same, and you intend to work it out yourself. And the other reason — well, that you feel Mary Randall's murder is incidental to something else."

Asey nodded. "An' there's a third thing. I got a sort of hankerin' notion to find out who this clever feller is. I'd sort of like to meet him." "Are you very sure," Kay asked, "that it's not a madman or the loose? There've been cases sort of like this. I've read about them."

for the not-tempered kind that flies off the hand easy, an' I thought he was tryin' to help. In his way — but out the ramp will you? But now I'm lookin' forward to findin' Conrade Slade at an early date. Tomorrow, probably, while you're takin' down governors' speeches."

But his chance to dally with Mike Slade came much sooner than that. As Asey turned his roadster up the lane leading to the Leach house, he noticed that the house blazed with lights at every window.

His headlights, as he shot the car forward, lit up the figures of three men on the front lawn. Four men. The place was swarming. Swinging his car so that the headlights illuminated the front of the house, he shut off the ignition and ran towards the group.

It was Slade — Slade was fighting Arthur Brinley, and the trooper who'd been stationed by the garage was trying to separate them. Zeb stood there helplessly watching, but doing nothing about it. Just Asey thought, the way he'd stood around when Jane Warren fainted. No great shakes in an emergency, the baked beans here!

Suddenly Slade stopped pounding Brinley's face and turned his attention to the trooper. J. Arthur hastily moved out of range and watched. "What is goin' on —" Asey began.

"Thank goodness," Sara appeared beside him. "An' what a time had gettin' out of that room! I hadn't any idea where Jeff put the key, an' he couldn't remember, but luckily he had one on his key ring (that —"

"Shot Up — Keep Quiet" "SARA, what's goin' on? Hey, trooper, stop! Slade, cut it out — hold it, you two!"

Slade and the trooper, rolling over and over in the grass, ignored his commands. "What happened?" Asey asked. "Sara, stop watchin' them so avid an' tell me what happened, will you?"

"Oh, I don't really know," Sara said. "We just heard the screams and then the fight I don't know who was hitting who, or for what, really. I do think that the trooper is getting far the best of it, don't you?"

Asey strode over to Zeb. "What is this?" "I don't know," Zeb said. "Everyone's all right, I guess. Jane and Eloise and Jeff are indoors. Eloise," he added as an after thought, "is having hysterics. Should I call the doctor, or —"

Asey snorted and turned to Brinley. "See here, J. Arthur, what's the meaning of this rumpus — oh, what's the use?" Brinley was puffing and blowing after his tussle with Slade, making so much noise that he didn't even hear Asey's question. He was nervously dabbing a handkerchief at his lip, which was bleeding freely, and each time he saw the little spots of red, he puffed and blew more fervently.

TENNIS MATCH ON WEDNESDAY

East Carolina Five-Man Team to Make '39 Debut

Five players, composing East Carolina Teachers College boys' tennis team, will make their 1939 tennis debut here Wednesday afternoon in a season opening game scheduled with Lenex Rhyne of Hickory.

Greenville players seem to dominate the roster of mainstays. Leo Burks, Jr., of Greenville, heads the list. Herbert Wilkerson and Leon Meadows are the other Greenville boys on the team. These players are experienced and should offer tough opposition for their foe.

Out-of-town players on the team, but students at the college, are Charles Green of Wilmington, and Douglas Glover of Wilson. Both of these boys are valuable players. Glover is the only player who did not see action with the locals last season. However, he has played tournament tennis all through high school and at Oak Ridge.

In last year's play, the local boys won a pair of matches and tied another. They will make an effort to duplicate some of their victories here tomorrow afternoon when they clash with the Hickory products. The match, a 7-point affair, is tentatively scheduled to start at two o'clock on the E.C.T.C. court.

But the boys aren't the only E.C.T.C. students who are tennis-minded. The girls are making plans for tennis. Long Island University of Long Island, N. Y., whose tennis team is on a tour, will furnish the opposition in the girls' first contest. This match will be played in Greenville.

Then, too, a pair of matches are scheduled with Blackstone Junior College of Blackstone, Va. One of the Blackstone matches will be played here and the other will be played in Greenville. The local girls triumphed over the Blackstone girls last year.

Only three regulars from last year are returning to the girls' tennis team. They are Nancy Albright of Wilmington; Mary Frances Byrd, also of Wilmington, and Ruth Park-er of George, N. C. Intramural tennis matches are to be played among the girls on the campus, from which other regulars will be selected. New selections will be made within two weeks.

Connie Mack the grand old man of baseball is going to be the guest of the Greenville Baseball club and the city of Greenville, when his Athletics play the Williamsport Grays at the new baseball field here April 12th.

Mr. Mack will appear here with his team in person, and will be glad to accept the hospitality of the city and baseball club, as being arranged now by vice president J. O. Clark, and secretary Dave Moore and Manager Rube Wilson.

A Ride On The Rods 20 Years Ago Helps Bring Douglas To The Court

By ALEXANDER R. GEORGE (AP Feature Service Writer) WASHINGTON—William Orville Douglas is a 40-year-old streamlined brain trust but he has a "poor boy makes good" background that should delight the champions of old fashioned rugged individualism.

In fact the career of the professor-chairman of SEC, youngest man appointed to the Supreme Court since 32-year-old Joseph Story of Massachusetts came to the high bench in 1811, could be captioned as a Horatio Alger:

From Furnace Tender to Supreme Court Justice in 20 Years. The nation was heading "back to normalcy" after the war—and into the giddy, stock market gambling twenties—when lean, freckle-faced 24-year-old Bill Douglas kissed his girl goodbye and rode out of the west on a sheep train 16 years ago.

The young Yakima, Wash., high school teacher, who has paid his way through Whitman college by janitorial work and lawn-mowing, was Harvard-bound for a law education. (His father, a Presbyterian missionary, died before William was 6 years old and the boy was soon doing odd jobs to bolster the family's meager income).

Peanut Diet for Traveling. He got free transportation to Chicago for nurse-maiding the sheep, rode the rods to Buffalo, and from there enjoyed day coach cushion luxury to New York city as a regular paying passenger. A bag of peanuts was breakfast, lunch and dinner for him on the last lap.

He looked so sooty upon arrival they wouldn't let him register at the New York club of his fraternity. (Fifteen years later he was to become — as head of the Securities and Exchange Commission — Wall Street's regulator-in-chief.) He ran into a friend from the west who staked him temporarily and persuaded him to stay in opulent Manhattan, getting his law training at Columbia instead of Harvard.

After graduation from Columbia where Harlan F. Stone, now a supreme court justice, was dean of the law school, he taught law there. He met Robert Hutchins, then "boy dean" of the Yale law school who offered him an assistant professorship. Douglas took the post and in a few years was made Sterling professor of law at Yale.

When he came to Washington in 1936 to become a member of the SEC commission, he was reputedly the highest paid law professor in the country. Douglas, loose-limbed, copper-red haired and still freckled, has a trace of the country boy in his look. This is accentuated by his indifference to the sartorial graces and by the informality of a frequent office posture. He often stretches out in a chair with feet on desk, and talks with a drawl as he rubs his chin or

WILLIAM O. DOUGLAS: Indifferent to the sartorial graces: tugs at an ear.

Not Easily Flustered. SEC associates say he apparently is never flustered. Some business acquaintances have described him as "reasonable but cold." He has, however, entertained some stogy capital gatherings with salty stories. His impromptu talks are usually quite snappy — his delivery of formal written-out speech is somewhat wooden.

He is an inner circle New Dealer — a friend and former Yale faculty colleague of trust-investing Assistant Attorney General Thurman Arnold. Like Arnold he is apprehensive about the concentration of great power and wealth in large corporations lacking "personal entity." He has a Scotch Presbyterian heritage. Some Wall Streeters regard him as definitely a "left-winger." He denies he is a radical but insists "democratic" government must be "mobile, bold and intelligent" to preserve democracy and capitalism. His friends tell this Scotch-flavored one on him. Returning from one of those $100-a-plate Democratic banquets, he got out of a taxi cab at the District of Columbia boundary line and walked a half mile to avoid paying an extra 20 cents for the ride to his suburban home in Maryland.

Douglas plays golf wretchedly for exercise. He considers driving a car a nuisance, doesn't like airplane travel. His legal specialties are bankruptcy law and the structure and management of corporations. He is a member of the committee conducting the current monopoly investigation and of the President's committee on railroad legislation.

Mrs. Douglas is a former La Grane, Oregon, girl who taught in the Yakima high school. They were married a year after he had kissed her goodbye before heading east. They have two children, Mildred, 9, and William, 7.

MACK WILL BE WITH PLAYERS

Grand Old Man Of Baseball to Attend Contest Here

Connie Mack the grand old man of baseball is going to be the guest of the Greenville Baseball club and the city of Greenville, when his Athletics play the Williamsport Grays at the new baseball field here April 12th.

Mr. Mack will appear here with his team in person, and will be glad to accept the hospitality of the city and baseball club, as being arranged now by vice president J. O. Clark, and secretary Dave Moore and Manager Rube Wilson.

The local Greenville club will share in the receipts of the game between these two clubs, a major league and a class A team, that will play its second exhibition game here in two days, prior to the opening of the Athletic home stand in the American League.

Mr. Mack expects to bring to Greenville such players as Chubby Dean, Wayne Ambler and others who are known here from former years. Price of admission for the game has been set at 50 cents, come one come all choice of seats. This is the cheapest major league exhibition game gate receipt in the history of this section. The game will start at 3 p. m.

PLAYERS HEAD FOR THIS CITY

Skipper Wilson Expects to Start Practice Tomorrow

Members of the Rube Wilson's local Coastal Plain baseball club were on their way to Greenville today and, weather permitting, the team will start spring practice at the new Guy Smith park tomorrow.

Skipper Wilson announced some time ago that practice would get under way tomorrow and said this morning he had been assured that a good number of the team would be on hand for the first drills. Vincent Smith, catcher, came to the city Saturday and has been renewing old acquaintances. He appears anxious to get started.

Don King arrived yesterday coming in with Director M. O. Minges who has been in Florida and Cuba for an extended tour. Most of the players on the roster at the close of last season have signed their contracts and, in addition, Skipper Wilson and club officials have signed several new players.

Eppes To Be On Radio. Prof. C. M. Eppes, principal of the local colored high school and veteran Negro educator, will speak over the Kinross radio station Thursday from 3:30 to 3:45. Prof. Eppes also will take a musical trip from the local colored school which will take part in the program.

GOLFERS MEET WILSON TEAM

Second Match of Season in That City Tomorrow

The Greenville golf team will go to Wilson tomorrow to engage in its second golf match of the Spring tournament, which got under way last week with the four cities in the league participating.

The Wilson team will be host at a luncheon immediately preceding the match. In the first match of the tournament the Greenville golfers defeated Parkboro 22-16. In its first match the Wilson team won over Goldsboro 43-19.

The six teams in the league are Greenville, Goldsboro, Wilson, Parkboro, Rocky Mount and Kinston.

Data Received Here On Army Enlistments

Major Leslie E. Babcock, United States Army, has received today, notice that over 2500 former soldiers of the Regular Army, residing in the Fourth Corps Area which includes the South Atlantic States, have enlisted in the Regular Army Reserve.

The Regular Army Reserve is the newest component of our National Defense Plan and only former soldiers of the Regular Army with honorable discharges therefrom are eligible for enlistment. Each Reservist receives an enlistment allowance of $8.00 three times a year. Checks are being mailed daily to Reservists and every effort is being made to contact all former soldiers in order that they may avail themselves of the opportunity to enlist in the Reserve and not under military jurisdiction and will not be called to active service except in case of an emergency declared by the President of the United States. Reservists are not required to attend drills or camps and are assured that their civilian occupations will not be interfered with by train-

COREY BILL WOULD LEAVE EXTENSION TO LOCAL UNITS (Continued from Page One) the application for extension is made by a city governing body, rather than by property owners of the areas sought to be annexed, then no election shall be held unless and until approval of at least 20 per cent of the property owners in such areas shall be secured.

Pat Healey, executive head of the League of Municipalities appeared before the committee for the bill, and explained it. As originally drafted, it applied only to cities of more than 5,000 inhabitants, but this limitation as to size was stricken out on suggestion of Senator George Ward of Dupling. The original draft also required only ten per cent of the property owners in order to have a hearing called by the local government commission.

Senator John Umstead of Orange was particularly loud in his approval of the principle of the bill. He is chairman of the Senate committee on counties, cities and towns and as such, has had to preside at some of the hottest hearings of the current General Assembly session — those hearings which concerned city limit extensions.

ing requirements or examinations. Of the 650 soldiers recently returning from the Panama Canal Department where Major Babcock was stationed prior to his present detail as instructor of the North Carolina National Guard, approximately 350 have expressed their desire to enlist in the Regular Army Reserve and become "Modern Minute Men" in the military forces of the United States.

POLL IS TAKEN BY NEWS MEN

Ten Best Legislators Listed by Assembly Reporters

Reflector Bureau. By LYNN NISBET. Raleigh, March 28.—Newspaper men, despite the opinion of some folks to the contrary, are human beings, subject to prejudice and error, but not intentionally unjust or unkind. When several newspaper men associate rather closely with a group of people for weeks, they can be trusted to know pretty well what sort of folks they have been with. It is therefore interesting to note the results of a poll for newspaper men covering the 1939 legislature as to the five "leading" members in each house.

Out of fifteen votes Senator Pat Taylor, Representatives Gregg Cherry and Victor Bryant each got 14. In all seventeen senators and fourteen representatives got some mention. The five leaders selected from the Senate are: Pat Taylor, "smooth, energetic, hard-working;" William B. Rodman, W. M. Long, for progressive health law, "effective, outstanding;" Dr. T. J. Lewis, "smooth, energetic, hard-working;" John W. Umstead, "master of indirection, and an able committee worker;" Joseph H. Seay, "courteous, courageous, and considerate."

Representatives included in the top five are: Major Gregg Cherry, a "forceful personality;" Victor S. Bryant, "finest intellect;" Libby Ward, "good sportsmanship and a pleasing personality in presiding over the house;" Zeb V. Turlington, "generally right, of highest integrity—consistently conscientious, sincere, kindly and humane;" Odus M. Mull, "born compromiser, immune to lobbies, very influential."

There will be considerable criticism of this list, and except for the three mentioned above not a man on it got more than seven votes out of the fifteen. But as the fifteen newspaper boys see the 169 legislators, this is how the big the stack up.

Washington To John Q. Taxpayer the Ides of March means scratch pads and stub pencils but Uncle Sam figures out it's take in advance.

His bookkeepers at the Treasury estimate the U. S. will collect about $922,000,000 from personal incomes tax payers in fiscal 1939, a drop from the $1,286,000,000 in 1938.

They also know who'll pay. Although it varies somewhat each year, two to three per cent of the population usually foots the bill.

OFFICERS RECOVER BODY OF SOCIETY MATRON

Oklahoma City officers and volunteers here are shown recovering the body of Mrs. Eudora Cunningham, 30-year-old socialite, from the sewer ditch to which they were directed by the signed confession of her husband Roger, now charged with murder. Cunningham even drew a crude map to aid authorities. Shown at the extreme left foreground is County Attorney L. Morris, who obtained a confession from the slayer.

Bureau Fate Lies In Goldsboro Case

Reflector Bureau. By LYNN NISBET. Raleigh, March 28.—There is an undercurrent of feeling around the capitol, cropping out in frequent conversations about the probable fate of the department of justice bill, that the State bureau of identification and investigation is sort of on trial before the court of public opinion.

This is the newest major division in the state government and is financed by the collection of fifty cents on every bill of cost in every criminal action in courts from justice of the peace on up. JP courts were added to the collecting agencies by the present general assembly. The division has been of great help to law enforcement officers in finger printing scientific "detecting" and there are many who are sure that it has amply justified itself by its accomplishments.

There are some legislators, however, who think that most of the completed work has been routine, that local officers would have made the arrest anyhow, and that the real test of the SBII is the Goldsboro case. An undetermined number of unidentified masked men entered the Wayne county jail at Goldsboro early in January and took out several Negro prisoners and beat them thoroughly. No lives were taken, but in all essentials it was a lynching. The state bureau was called in. To date no report has been made.

Rumors prevail that the bureau investigators know something and are waiting for the proper time to disclose it. Other rumors are that high pressure is being brought to keep the report from ever being made.

Meantime, as legislative consideration of a new department of justice, which would include the identification bureau, has warmed up the bureau itself, has become a sort of side issue. The fact that it doesn't cost anybody but the criminal to maintain it, will perhaps save it from those who doubt its efficiency.

Street Markers Are Set Up In Greenville

Markers are being set up throughout the city to designate the names of the city's streets.

The markers have white lettering with a black background and names of streets can be determined a number of feet from the markers. Posts for the markers are green.

Purchase of the markers was authorized some time ago at a meeting of the Greenville Board of Aldermen.

Laugh Champ Gets Police Protection

Walsenburg, Colo. — Happy Hearn, 60, champion laugher of Southern Colorado, finally has achieved police protection for his guffaws, a life-time ambition.

"I've been a hearty laugher all my life," says Hearn. "When I get tickled I just burst out.

"People who have heard me are continually heckling me to laugh for them. That's a nuisance because laughing is a spontaneous pleasure. You can't turn it on and off like a water hydrant."

Police Chief Ralph Levy has agreed to give Hearn protection any time he needs it—either against hecklers or to rescue him from the

It runs uphill 4 1/2 miles from Cassville to Exeter, Mo., and the one-car freight train coasts all the way back to Cassville.

It makes one trip a day. Passengers, if there are any, ride in the locomotive tender with the engineer and fireman.
