ALBANIA REPULSES INVADING ITALIAN TROOPS

BORAH FAVORS $150,000,000 FUND FOR WPA

Ridicules Cries of Economy by Bill's Opponents

HOPE TO SECURE VOTE SATURDAY

Hull Confers With President by Telephone on Italian Occupation of Albania

Washington, April 7. (AP)—Asserting that there is "no sign of economy at Washington except where distressed men and women are asking for food and shelter," Senator Borah (R-Idaho) announced today he intended to vote for a $150,000,000 emergency WPA appropriation.

"I am told an agreement had been reached which satisfied the administration," Borah told reporters. "I am not voting for or against the administration. I am voting for millions of American men, women and children."

Supporters of an amendment by Senator Pepper (D-Fla.) to increase to $150,000,000 the $100,000,000 appropriation approved previously by the Senate Appropriations committee and the House, hailed Borah's aid.

Democratic leaders, confronted by prolonged speech-making on the relief bill, scheduled a Saturday session in an effort to reach a vote this week.

Meanwhile, Secretary Hull telephoned President Roosevelt at Warm Springs, Ga., and talked to him at great length on the situation created by Italy's invasion of Albania.

The telephone call, the second in 12 hours, dealt with possible effects on relations of the United States with both countries.

Hull communicated to the President all the information the State Department had received on the Italo-Albanian situation from a half dozen European capitals.

The American problems involved are these: Is Mussolini's march into Albania a violation of the Kellogg anti-war pact and should it therefore be denounced as such by this government?

How will American diplomatic representation at Tirana, Albania, be affected, if Italy makes an actual protectorate of the little country? (Warm Springs reported there was no comment from the temporary White House, where it was said Secretary of State Hull would have something to say at his press conference.)

The Treasury reported to Congress that corporations paid 17 persons more than $300,000 in 1937. They included L. B. Mayer, movie executive, $1,161,753; J. Robert Rubin, movie executive, $641,123; William Randolph Hearst, publisher, $500,000 ($500,000 in 1936 also).

Only Few Will Get Holiday Monday

Bankers, teachers, pupils, state employees and dry cleaning and laundry workers will get a holiday Monday, but Easter will not mean a day from work for any others in the city.

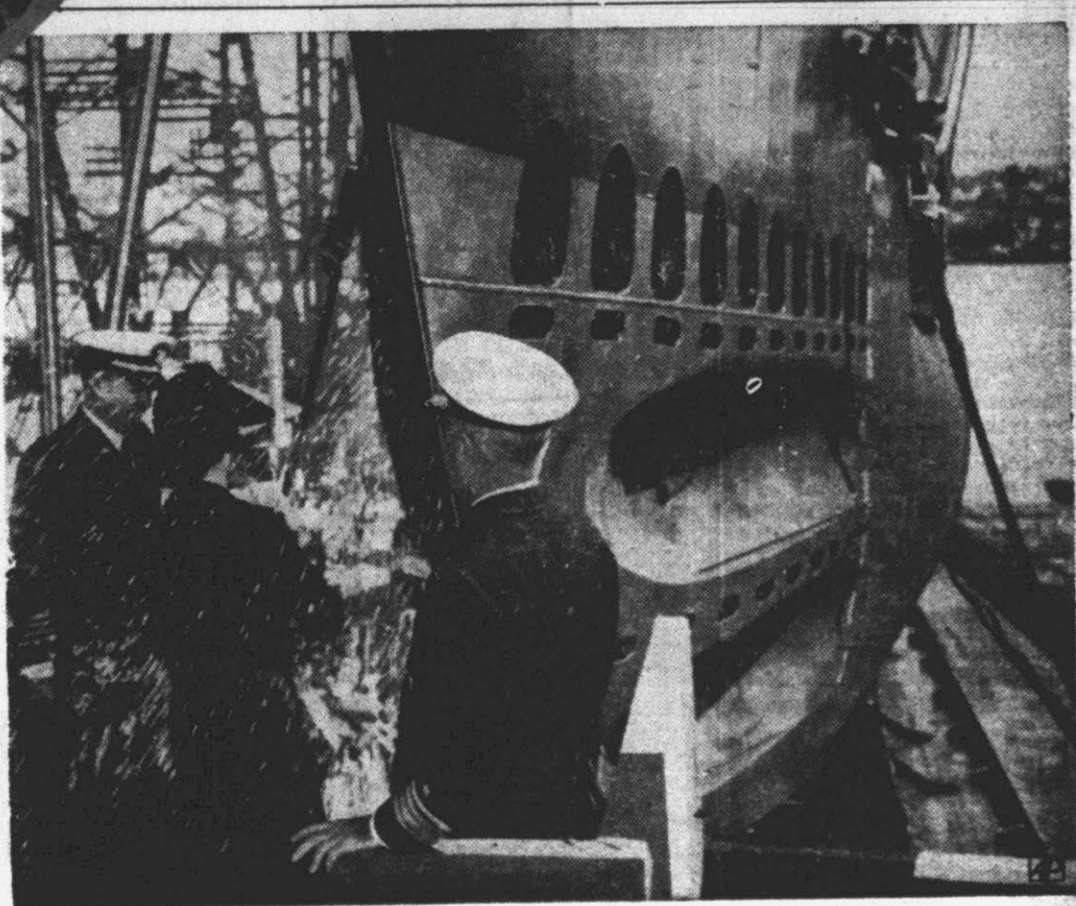

All county and city offices will remain open, as will the ABC stores and other local business houses. Banks usually observe the holiday and were closed this year by dry cleaning and laundry establishments. City schools are closed until Tuesday morning, but county schools and the college will operate as usual.

W. G. Cherry, Jr., in charge of the local State Employment offices, said the department would be closed and added that all persons scheduled to file claims on Monday should do so on Tuesday. Although most state offices will be closed, the local highway patrol office will remain open.

Tahiti Revives Gayety. Papeete, Tahiti—(AP)—Tahiti's carefree life of old has been revived in the Solree de Gala, an annual event presided over by the governor of French Oceania. Ancient dances and festival activities were featured.

Kentucky used 4,670,000 more gallons of gasoline in 1938 than in 1937.

NAVY GETS NEW $5,000,000 SUBMARINE

A fish took to the sea when the navy's new $5,000,000 submarine was launched at Mare Island navy yard, California, with Miss Louise Shaw Hepburn, niece of Admiral Arthur J. Hepburn, doing the honors. The 1,500-ton streamlined sub was named Swordfish.

Patrolmen

School boy patrols gathered here today from all over Eastern Carolina came under the observing eyes of the state's highest highway patrol officials. Major J. T. Armstrong and Captain Charles D. Farmer, both of the Raleigh office, and Lieut. A. T. Moore of Fayetteville, were guests of Lieut. L. L. Jones, head of Troop A of the force. J. T. Armstrong, Jr., accompanied his father and other patrol officials here for the day.

PATROL RALLY STARTS TODAY

Boys Here From All Parts of Eastern Carolina

East Carolina high school and primary school boys began arriving today to participate in the Eastern Carolina School Safety Patrol convention being held in Greenville today and Saturday.

Assembling in the dining hall of East Carolina Teachers College today at 6:30 p. m., the delegates, with an address by D. L. Ward, General of the House in this year's State Assembly. He will be introduced by Col. E. G. Flanagan of Greenville former Senator from Pitt County.

Formal welcome will be offered at the banquet meeting by Mayor M. K. Blount. Hon. Clyde A. Eason, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, will make the response to the address.

Besides other features of tonight's program, which include movies, an open-forum on safety and talks by safety patrol leaders, brief talks will be made by Senator Arthur L. Coe, J. H. Rose, city school superintendent, Ronald Hockett, Director of the State Safety Division, W. T. Kizer, secretary of the Greenville Chamber of Commerce.

Lee A. Folger, Sr., of Charlotte, will serve as toastmaster in the absence of Coleman W. Roberts, president of the Carolina Motor Club which is sponsoring the safety rally. Folger will present an award to the patrol winning in athletic contests which were being held this afternoon at East Carolina Teachers College Stadium.

An elaborate parade, led by Corporal L. L. Jackson of the State Highway Patrol, will begin moving from the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad tomorrow morning promptly at 11 o'clock. Besides the safety patrol members, city firemen and police, also taking part in the parade are the honor guards of the American Legion and civic organizations, the latter being represented by colorful floats.

Auto Stolen Last Night. A report was made to the State Highway patrol office today of the theft of an automobile from the left back of the Big Four Sales agency here last night.

The automobile was a 1936 de-lux Plymouth sedan, color green.

TWO EXECUTED AT N. C. PRISON

Negroes Asphyxiated For Murdering White Men

Raleigh, April 7.—(AP)—Bat Dejournette and Clarence Bracy, Negroes convicted of murdering white men, were asphyxiated at Central prison today. Both men were pronounced dead after inhaling hydrocyanic gas for exactly 13 minutes and 25 seconds.

Bracy, 24-year-old Vance county farm hand, was found guilty of slaying W. H. Williamson Dejournette, 43, of Guilford county was convicted of slaying Garland Mangum.

The men were the 216th and 217th persons to be executed at the prison since 1910, when the state took over the responsibility of administering capital punishment.

Approximately 20 official witnesses and newsmen saw the Good Friday execution. It was the first time since September 1938 that two men had been put to death in a single day at the prison.

Both men wore shorts when they were led into the gas chamber. Each started his march to the triangular room other prisoners on death row chanted "God be with you till we meet again."

Bracy made no final statement, but Sheriff L. L. Swanson of Vance county said he previously had admitted his guilt.

He was convicted in Vance last October of beating his employer to death with a wagon standard and robbing him of three dollars. Bracy entered the gas chamber at 10:03 o'clock. A brown mask was placed over his face and he was strapped into the chair. Gas was administered at 10:06. Warden Williamson said no one appeared to claim his body.

Ernest D. Edwards Claimed By Death

Ernest D. Edwards, 25, died in Pitt General hospital Friday morning at 2:15 o'clock following a 10 days illness.

Funeral services will be conducted Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of his mother-in-law, Mrs. J. B. Baker of Greenville; by the Rev. J. C. Spivey, Pentecostal Holiness minister. Burial will be in the Williams family cemetery at St. Paul's church.

Mr. Edwards was born and reared near Galloway's Cross Roads, and moved to Greenville about 15 years ago. He was a farmer.

Besides his wife, surviving are his father, Elisha Edwards of near Greenville; two half-brothers, Lee and Johnnie of the home; two sisters, Mrs. Paul Williams and Mrs. Preston Harrington Jr., of near Greenville; one half sister, Mary Rose Edwards, and his grandfather R. D. Edwards of Grimesland.

Active pallbearers will be R. T. Gaston, Alonza Harrington, A. D. Glisson, Jack Spain, Willie Lewis, and J. R. Williams.

ITALIAN ENVOY MAKES REPORT ON NEW MOVES

Advises London Albanian Occupation Only Temporary

SAYS TROOPS TO BE WITHDRAWN

Britain, However, Considers Action Breach Of Anglo-Italian Pact On Mediterranean

London, April 7.—(AP)—The Italian embassy in London issued a statement today saying that Italian troops would be withdrawn from Albania "as soon as the recent disturbances are terminated."

The Italian spokesman said occupation of Albania, which British officials consider a breach of the Anglo-Italian agreement guaranteeing the status quo in the Mediterranean, was only temporary.

He denied that Italians had met resistance from the regular Albanian army. "According to information reaching London," the spokesman declared in a statement, "Italian troops landed at four points on the Albanian coast today and met with slight resistance from Albanian irregular troops. This resistance was not offered by the regular Albanian army."

He said the Italian troops proceeded to the interior from Durazzo encountering "no resistance whatsoever from the people" and treated them "cordial."

G. Grolla, Italian Charge d'Affaires, was understood to have informed Vice-Count Halifax, British Foreign Secretary of Italy's intentions to withdraw her troops from Albania.

Lord Halifax immediately telephoned Prime Minister Chamberlain in Scotland, where the Prime Minister just had arrived for a short vacation.

CITY FATHERS HOLD SESSION

Little Other Than Routine Business Is Considered

Little other than routine business was taken up at the regular monthly meeting of the Greenville Board of Aldermen last night.

Bancroft Moseley appeared before the board in the interest of the Choral Club and the matter was referred to the Finance committee.

James J. Perkins stated to the board that Norfolk Southern trains were coming into the city too fast and was advised that the matter would be taken up with the railroad officials.

Mr. Perkins also requested one block of paving on Davis street, between Ward and Fourth streets.

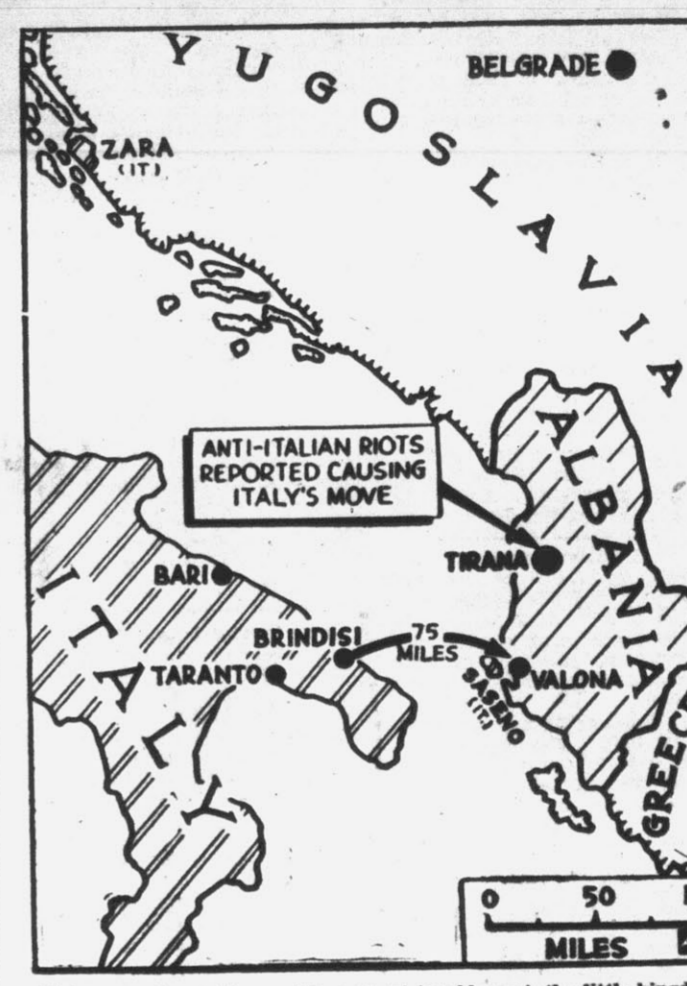

The rat problem in the city occupied much attention, with two representatives of an exterminating company appearing before the board. They advised the members that a city-wide project could be carried on for approximately $550 or $600.

The question was referred to a committee composed of Aldermen A. Watson, Troy Burnette, David Evans, Finance Officer Marvin L. Westmoreland and Street Department Supt. E. G. Lynch.

It was agreed to put in underground conduits in front of the new city hall and fire station.

Alderman M. B. Massey advised the board that some local women were interested in an art gallery for Greenville, but no action was taken.

ROME BEGINS TO CASH IN ON AXIS

This map shows the world's newest trouble spot, the little kingdom of Albania where fighting was officially reported to be under way following the invasion by Mussolini's soldiers. Albanians were said to have repulsed the Fascists four times, but two towns were burning as a result of the invasion, under cover of warship guns and bombing planes. The world had been wondering whether Mussolini intended to cash in on the Rome-Berlin axis, but the newest European developments indicated that he was not to be left out.

European Crisis Causes Alarm In All Capitals

Conferences Hurriedly Called Over Situation

Bucharest, Rumania—April 7.—(AP)—Foreign Minister Gafencu left Bucharest late today for Istanbul, for an emergency conference tomorrow with Turkish Foreign Minister Saracoglu on Italy's invasion of Albania.

The Rumanian minister was to travel by warship from Constanca, on the Black sea to Istanbul.

In quarters close to the government it was admitted that the Foreign Minister of the Balkan Entente States, Rumania, Yugoslavia, Greece and Turkey had exchanged views on the invasion, but a meeting which would include the Ministers of Yugoslavia and Greece adjacent to Albania.

The Manian government gave evidence of great concern over the news of the invasion.

King Carol, back in the capital from an inspection tour of the Hungarian frontier, kept close touch with developments.

Rome, April 7.—(AP)—U. S. Ambassador William Phillips called today on Count Ciano, Italian Foreign Minister, to ask for information concerning Italy's invasion of Albania.

The Embassy said the Ambassador made the visit on his one initiative.

Earlier in the day the British Ambassador the Earl of Perth, called on Count Ciano and was reported to have told him that British regarded Italy's action as a violation of the British-Italian treaty of 1938 guaranteeing the status quo in the Mediterranean.

The Hague, The Netherlands—An official announcement today disclosed that Easter leaves for the the Netherlands frontier and coast defense forces had been cancelled.

The announcement said that these orders were due to "the international situation," but did not mention any specific factor on the present European crisis which caused misgivings in the Netherlands.

Paris, April 7.—(AP)—The Albanian legation strongly protested the "barbarous action" of Italy against Albania in a published statement this morning.

Lines Hold Four Times With Heavy Casualties

Official Reports Declare Albanians Resisted Heroically the Advance of Fascist Soldiers, Landed Under Cover of Warship Guns and Bombing Planes; Two Towns Reported To Be Burning

Tirana, Albania, April 7.—(AP)—Official Albanian reports said today that Italians invading Albanian soil were repulsed four times with heavy losses.

(Sofia, Bulgaria reported that Tirana radio this afternoon announced the invasion of Albania was being resisted heroically.)

The official report said Valona was bombarded from the sea and air and was burning, but that the Italians had been unable to land at that port city.

It was stated, however, that the Italians had occupied Sarans, at the southern tip close to the front with Greece and St. Jean. St. Jean was said to be burning.

The Italians were said to have advanced inland 10 miles from St. Jean and to have been stopped after that advance.

It was reported here that the Italian commander at Durazzo, where his forces landed on the beach, proposed a truce to save bloodshed. This evidently was not accepted.

Italian bombers flew continuously over Tirana the capital, dropping proclamations.

Peace negotiations were reported under way at noon by a delegation which a well informed source said, went to Durazzo to arrange an end to hostilities. Informants said Italy accepted "Albanian counter proposals."

(A French news agency reported from France that Queen Geraldine of American-Hungarian descent left for Greece with her two-day-old son before the fighting began.)

Rome, April 7.—(AP)—Italian troops swarmed onto the shores of tiny Albania today under cover of war ship guns and bombing planes.

Sharply on the heels of this action, Fascist spokesmen in a bitter attack on King Zog accused the Albanian ruler of seeking Italian aid for an attack on Yugoslavia.

While Italian landing parties invaded Albania's Asiatic coast at four points, these spokesmen said Italians in Albania had been threatened because Italy refused to help Zog attack his neighbor.

The first word of Italy's military action brought the British Ambassador to Rome, the Earl of Perth to see Foreign Minister Count Ciano.

No Politics Allowed. Lucknow, India.—(AP)—As part of a cultural development plan, the United Provinces government is sending troops of musicians into the interior. Their songs must have no political trend, it is stressed.

The "average" North Carolina farm of 1938 had a livestock population of a mule, a milk cow, four hogs and 33 chickens.

zation makes her an able advisor for the smaller bodies. Local League members heard her with avid interest.

Mrs. R. M. Garrett, chairman of the Hospital Bed committee, reported that the Service League's free bed in the local hospital has been occupied constantly with gratifying results. Her committee is eager to express its appreciation of the widespread interest that has been shown in the project and its gratitude for the donations that have been received.

League members have assisted the local county health office by furnishing transportation for patients to and from the recent maternal and infant welfare clinic. Dr. N. Thomas Ennett finds this assistance of real value to his staff and their patients.—Reported.

GREENVILLE City of Sunshine

For the past several days everyone has been asking many questions concerning the widely publicized State Garden Pilgrimage which is to open next week.

Most important of all, let me say that the state pilgrimage has been planned by Garden Club members throughout North Carolina so that you, and you, and you may know and see some of the beauty spots of your community and state.

Members of the Greenville Garden Club are participating this year so that our city may be known and recognized among the leaders of the state. There will be several local gardens open for your inspection next Wednesday and Thursday. We do not pretend to have the beautiful gardens which will be seen in the cities, but we are proud of those which will be open. The very early season and the heavy rains have damaged flowers considerably, but there still remains some very beautiful color spots.

The entire week, starting with Easter Sunday, affords several rare treats for us. Opening a week of festivity and beauty, the Greenville Symphonic Chorus will give a concert at the Methodist Church. On the following Tuesday evening the Little Theatre will present a one-act play. These entertainments are in conjunction with the Fine Arts Festival being sponsored by the Woman's Club.

Tickets will go on sale Wednesday morning at the Woman's Club for the local garden tour. You will register here and be directed to the gardens. The tickets are a very nominal charge and will entitle you to see the gardens and attend the following functions:

Wednesday at four o'clock, you are invited to a tea at the Home Management House on E.C.T.C. campus.

Wednesday at five o'clock, you will want to attend the concert in the campus park near the lake, by the college band. Go directly from the tea to the concert. And you can think of any place more delightful for an hour of relaxation and music than the setting which this park affords?

On Thursday afternoon at four o'clock, you are cordially invited to a tea in the gardens of Mrs. M. L. Wright, Mrs. W. E. Hooker and Mrs. J. B. James. Assistant hostesses will be Mrs. Graham Planagan and Mrs. K. B. Pace. You will need the tickets purchased at the Woman's Club in order to attend. During the tea hour the high school girls' glee club will entertain. What a delightful affair is in store for you.

Remember, you do not need to be a member of the Garden Club to attend these lovely festivities. Simply get your ticket at the Woman's Club any time Wednesday or Thursday.

Tomorrow a list of the local gardens to be open will be given for your convenience.

For those who may have time to attend other city tours we are listing those near here for your convenience.

April 10—Elizabeth City.
April 11-12—Fayetteville, Tarboro and Rocky Mount.
April 12-13 — Greenville, High Point, Raleigh.
April 12-14—Lexington.

April 13-14 — Bath, Winston-Salem.
April 14-15—Durham, Henderson.

Sunlight Buick Has Novel Uses

HOLD THAT POSE. From the vantage point of her Buick sunshine turret top, this candid camera fan makes a bathing beauty shot at the beach. A wide variety of uses are found for this new car feature, which consists of a sliding panel in the top affording an opening of about six square feet. It operates easily from the driver's compartment and when closed is rain and weather-proof. Open, it admits fresh air and sunshine and permits desirable upward vision.

Horton Definitely Out For Office Of Governor

By HENRY AVERILL

Raleigh, April 7.—Post-legislative activities of Lieutenant Governor Wilkins P. Horton indicate that he is definitely running for Governor of North Carolina.

Of course, it hasn't come to the official announcement stage and the Pitsboro man may exercise a prerogative not exclusively feminine and change his mind about the whole thing, but as of today he is an active, aspiring, ambitious candidate for Governor.

He will undoubtedly have an announcement of some sort to make at some time before the end of May which will be almost exactly one year in advance of the 1940 primary voting date.

For quite a spell the Horton name has been placed high on the list of candidates in the 1940 political free-for-all, and there are now indications that it won't be too long before it can be removed from the possibility and assigned to the certainty class.

Ever since the legislature quit sine die last Tuesday, the Lieutenant Governor has been closely examining the situation and it seems quite clear that he believes himself about ready to make the plunge.

What this correspondent has learned comes from sources other than the prospective candidate himself, and there is always the chance that these sources, which are not unimpeachable although considered highly reliable, can be wrong even if fifty million Frenchmen can't.

The Lieutenant Governor's chances of moving from the State's No. 2 to its No. 1 spot cannot be laughed off or belittled by citing precedent. He has strength in his own right and has connections which can add greatly to his inherent appeal.

He is quite definitely identified with the conservative and organization element in North Carolina politics, but not so irrevocably a Tory as to shut off all hope of support from more liberal elements. His election to his present post has been almost universally attributed to the fact that the Hovey forces supported him in the run-off primary after he had trailed Paul Grady by several thousands in the first voting test.

As Lieutenant Governor, he has proved one of the strongest and most capable presiding officers the Senate has had in a long, long time—comparing quite favorably with Sandy Graham, who is generally cited as a shining example.

Yet all the while he has held himself sufficiently aloof from the rows going on below his dais that he has not incurred the enmity of any of the warring groups.

His only real noticeable activity on the floor of the late unlamented Assembly was in favor of the Folger amendment to the Markers bill—activities which indicated strongly that he might be thinking of running with control of the election machinery in his favor in most of the counties.

He is anything but a novice in the ways and wiles of North Carolina politics. He was serving as County Attorney for Chatham within two years of his graduation from the University of North Carolina in 1914, and served his first State Senate term as far back as 1919.

The vital statistics: He was born in Kansas City, Kansas, September 1, 1889, but moved to North Carolina in time to get his elementary education in Chatham county's schools. He attended Draughan's Business College 1910-11, and graduated from UNC in law in 1914. He served in the State Senate of 1919, 1927 and 1931 and was secretary of the State Democratic Committee in 1930. He is a Mason and a Methodist.

Washington Daybook

By Preston Greer

Washington—Congress is discovering that a pretty face and a soft voice not only turn away wrath but snare nice promotions in the Civil Service.

Congress probably suspected it all the time. But they have been told officially now in one of those buckaroo proceedings—a Senate investigation. The investigation began after a strange old rumor reached the ears of Senator Ellender of Louisiana. It was that some place in the Navy Department was a bureau which hired only redheads.

That rumor has been around here probably as long as the redhead fad (or dare we call it a fad). Once we went over to the Navy Department to look into this matter. We weren't trying to vindicate the Navy Department. We were trying to find the redheads.

We remember checking off a couple, but had, sir, that was a very poor percentage among hundreds. Even these two were not in the same bureau. Maybe the redheads are a Navy secret. We don't know. We didn't get in on it.

Soft Voices Help

But Ellender (not a redhead but a black haired southerner with mayhap a trace of French in his ancestry) would not be put off. He went to bat to determine whether ulterior influences like red heads could win promotion through the sacrosanct avenues of the Civil Service.

It is witness said she had been passed over by a gal with a peach-blossom voice.

"Here," says Ellender, "a girl got a job because over the telephone she would be more courteous to senators and congressmen."

"I am sure that you will recognize that as very important," smilingly responded youngish John J. Corson, director of the Old Age Insurance Bureau. Ellender sort of huffed.

It is a fact, though, that telephone voices go big in the Government.

At the hearing Ellender galloped widely in all directions.

'Quite A Few Cases'

"There is some working agency which selects these people, from some other department even, to give them the better jobs. These transfers have been made with the direct view of keeping somebody down. It is a case of getting somebody in who may be better friends, or something. I have quite a few cases of that sort."

Tommy Corcoran is the man who reputedly keeps his eye out for key jobs to be filled by selected parties. Ellender did not hint that he was seeking a showdown with Tommy the Cork the President's "passionate anonymous."

Ellender intimated that states near to Washington, like Maryland and Virginia, were supplying the lion's share of job holders in the Civil Service regardless of the requirement that they be apportioned among the states.

"Louisiana has about 50 per cent of its share," he said. "Some states have as little as 30 per cent."

Congressmen from outlying states will back him in THAT kind of a search if it looks like jobs ahead.

CONTINUE SEARCH FOR ATTILA'S BONES

Belgrade (AP)—Archaeologists will attempt to ascertain this spring whether there is any truth in the legend.

For centuries the peasants at Haidine, village near Pettau, have been telling their children that a huge mound covered with weeds is the grave of Attila.

The lost grave of the Barbaric invader whose hordesmen menaced the Roman empire in the fifth century is one of the middle European archaeologists' choicest riddles. Thousands of yards of earth have been moved by diligent diggers, mostly in Hungary in search for Attila's bones. Scientists, often disappointed, are not pinning much hope on the accuracy of the peasants' tales.

State Treasurer Charles M. Johnson announces a good bond swap.

The state sinking fund owned some short term bonds, and this week Mr. Johnson got a chance to buy some long term bonds. So he sold the short term bonds at a profit of about $25,000 and then took the money and bought long term bonds which will yield $56,000 more in interest than the ones sold. This something more than $80,000 in profit. The money was credited to the swapping.

SHORT SHOTS

By HENRY AVERILL and LYNN NISBET

Reflector Bureau
Raleigh, April 7.—A bicycle is now a vehicle in North Carolina by legislative fiat. For the past two years it hasn't been.

Change in the status of the two wheeled method of walking while sitting down was made in an amendment to the Motor Vehicle act, which specifically states that a bicycle is a vehicle within the meaning of the law and subject to all the provisions. The 1937 law makers inadvertently left out "bicycle" in defining vehicles and the Supreme court held their operation was accordingly not limited by the law.

Mrs. Harry S. Caldwell, wife of the State Grange Master and who is superintendent of the juvenile work of the National Grange, will attend a conference on "Children in a Democracy" by special invitation of Miss Frances Perkins, U. S. Secretary of Labor.

President Roosevelt is sponsoring the meeting which will be held April 26 in Washington "because of his conviction that a society founded on democratic principles finds both its aims and its security in the happiness and well being of its people and especially its children."

Thad Eure, "the Peoples Secretary of State," was telling Attorney General Harry McMillan how much his department has been enlarged and how many activities have been put under its direction.

"Look out, Thad," cracked Harry, "or you will have a regular department of labor over there."

Incidentally the Attorney General is one of Raleigh's busiest men just now. It seems that everybody wants to know what this new law means and what that new law pretends.

The unemployment situation may be getting better, but state jobs still look good. There have been more than a thousand applications for fifty new jobs as highway patrolmen. Requirements are rather rigid. Applicants must be between 21 and 30 years of age, must be at least five feet, ten inches tall, and must weigh not less than 160 pounds. Out of the hundreds of applications, 75 will be selected for training and of this 75 the best 50 will be selected and put to work by July.

All of the out of town legislators had left Raleigh Wednesday except Senator Gregory of Rowan. The Senator didn't stay because he wasn't anxious to get home, but because he was sick. Instead of going home he went to the hospital for a couple of days.

New election laws are clumping down on Raleigh and other cities. The usual ballyhoo about absentee voting is not heard around the barber shops and street corner conventions, and at Raleigh and official investigation has been asked of the prolific registration of State College students.

SHOWERS

Of News Here, Raindrops Outside

A. H. Critcher has moved into the Jenkins house west of the railroad.

Spring will get here some time if we be patient and keep waiting for it.

Monday Night

There are to be a number of interesting features in the cantata to be given by the young ladies, under the direction of Miss Bessie Jarvis Monday night. "The Gypsies' Festival" will be bright and sparkling.

The Bear Phantasties will be something entirely new. The farce "Six Cups of Chocolate" will show the amusing spectacle of six girls with but a single thought, all being in love with the same boy. "The Lotus Eaters" in fifteen scenes will be a whole entertainment in itself. "The Bachelor's Dream" will be fine, and all the other scenes will be unusually attractive. Don't miss it.

A number of infurious insects are checked by breeding and using against them some of their natural parasitic enemies.

Thousands of acres of land in the South too poor for crops are being planted in pines for possible use in the section's paper industry.

NOTICE
North Carolina—Pitt County. In The Superior Court. Lullie Dixon vs. Bessie Dixon. The defendant above named will take notice that an action, entitled as above, has been commenced in the Superior Court of Pitt County, North Carolina, for the purpose of securing an absolute divorce; and the defendant will further take notice that she is required to appear before the Clerk of the Superior Court of Pitt County, at his office in Greenville, North Carolina, within thirty days from April 20th, 1939, and answer or demur to the complaint filed in said action, or the plaintiff will apply to the Court for the relief demanded in the complaint. This the 25th day of March, 1939. J. B. James, Atty. E. F. TUCKER, Asst. Clerk. Mar. 25-1939-twk.

OLD HOME WEEK MURDER

by Phoebe Atwood Taylor

The Characters
Asey Mayo, Cape Cod sleuth.
Kay Thayer, girl reporter.

Yesterday, Brinley claims he was looking for his dog's license tag in the pond. He has found out about the murder.

Chapter 20

'Keep Him in Hand'

"If you want your murderer," yelled Brinley, "go for Mike Slade! Don't you—"
"Did you write this note, tellin' him to get out an' stay out?" asked Asey.

"I did—that's my writing, cut it—see here, just what are you trying to do?"
J. Arthur blustered for ten minutes, without seeming to stop for breath.

Asey made no effort to curtail the flood of words. Instead he walked over to the ice-house door and looked out at the rain which continued to drive down in torrents.

Kay had commented on the bright blueness of the water when they first came, but now the pond and the sky above were nearly black. Lightning jagged down in brilliant flashes and the thunder was almost continuous.

"Quite a tempest," he said to Kay, who had come over beside him.

"Asey, he may not be a fiend, but I'm beginning to wonder if he's quite the fool I thought. What about this dog tag business?"

"Easy enough to check on."
"If only he hadn't been hunting Fido's tag—how flimsy that is! Don't you suppose he was after the shotgun? He was prodding pretty hard. I think he wanted to make sure it was still safely there. By the way, where is the gun now?"

"Locked up in the car, an' the person ain't livin' who can get at it inside of three hours," Asey assured her. "One nice thing about havin' pull with the company, you get locks that don't pick so easy."
J. Arthur stomped to the door.

"Now, Mayo, I want you to pay some attention to what I'm sayin'."

"When," Asey said, "you consent to answer the questions I asked you, I'll pay so much attention you'll be flattered by it."
Brinley stomped off.

"D'you really think he guessed?" Kay asked. "About the murder, I mean?"

"I wouldn't know, I thought we had him pretty well convinced last night that it was all Slade's nonsense."
"Slade!" Brinley overheard the name. "Slade! There's your man Slade and that Warren girl. Two people on earth who have the most to gain from Mary Randall's death. And what do you do? You—your part in bushes with young girls, malingering around while justice waits! You—"

"Poor justice," Asey said, "certainly is takin' an awful lickin' from the folks in this town."
"You," Brinley was thundering, "you call yourself a detective, you do! First you carry on with that woman," he pointed to Madame Meaux, "and then you take young girls—"

Discovery

"TOOTS," Madame Meaux said calmly, "shut your face and pin it up tight."

"Don't you talk to me, I—"
"Toots," Madame Meaux said, "I told you to shut up. You shut up. Or maybe you'd like me to stage a little act for the benefit of your wife?"

"What—wouldn't you dare!"
"Oh, toots, wouldn't I? Keep in mind, Arthur, that you play ball with Asey, or very shortly your wife will find you in what is known as a compromising position with her star boarder, see?"

"You—what do you mean?"
"It would be so simple," Madame Meaux said, "to make a pass at you just as she comes in the room. And mind, toots, you're the one that does the explaining. Not me. I've got a contract. I get paid no matter what happens. No moral turpitude clause in my contract. And I'm going to stay right through to the bitter end. But if you force me—well, I'm sure that dear old Mr. Leach would believe me if I said I was leaving because of your undesirable attentions. And Mr. Mayo's cousin told me when I came that I was to march straight to him with any complaints. He meant Pinky Upjohn and the boys, but you'll do. Asey, if the rain's letting up, how's for taking me home along with you two? I don't trust myself with Casanova here."

"Oh, you can't!" Brinley was on the verge of tears. "You've got to drive home with me! My wife would ask questions—she knows you started out with me!"
"And I'll tell her plenty, toots."
Brinley collapsed and never uttered a word until half an hour later, when the rain abruptly stopped.

"Okay, toots," Madame Meaux reined. "You can take me home, but just keep in front of your mind just what'll happen if you don't behave, Okay, Asey?"

"Fine," Asey said. "Keep him in hand for me. I'll see you later, Brinley, an' you better be thinkin' up a lot of nice expl'nations, because considerable checkin' is goin' to be done on you. So long—where's your car, on the east road?"
"Bye."

Kay's teeth were chattering as she and Asey walked back to the roadster.

Asey gave her a coat from the rumble seat.

"I was goin' to stop at the hollow, but that can all wait. You're due for a hot bath an' dry things I forgot you was wet to begin with."

But as they passed by the hollow and the figures out in front of the Randall house, Lane and two of his troopers halted them triumphantly.

"Shells!" Lane shouted. "Hey Asey, we got a shell!"

"Hustle Up!"

IN SPITE of Kay's appeals to Asey to stop and find out everything at once, Asey merely slowed up long enough to call out and assure Lane that he'd be right back. Then he continued on to Aunt Sara's.

"Don't wait," Kay hopped out of the car. "Hurry right back there and when I'm ready I'm going to steam back after you in my perforator! Asey, do hurry—Lane was so excited!"

"I'm goin' to wait for you," Asey said. "Hustle up, an' but on something that'll withstand the next shower we're goin' to get, because—"

"Asey, Lane'll be frothing at the mouth! He wants you, and—"
"Uh-huh, an' I want you. You got a job to do for me, young lady so hustle up!"

Kay rushed off.

While she took a brief hot bath and a briefer cold shower, Asey sat there in the car and puffed at the two discoveries made that afternoon, but not at all for the same reason Kay supposed.

He started the car as Kay appeared, dressed in a light tweed suit and wearing black and white sport shoes.

"I'm simply thrown together—what's the big idea, anyway?"
"You'll see."

Back at the hollow, Lane was annoyed at the way Asey had flipped past, and he went into the subject at some length.

"Nice way to treat the only clue we got so far," he said. "Zippins past in—"

"You may have the ham," Asey told him, "but we got the rest of the sandwich." He unlocked a compartment in the roadster and displayed the shotgun Kay had found.

"Where'd you find that?"
"Kay found it, over in the pond yonder. Now, let me gaze at that shell, will you? An' then you play around an' see if it c'nects with the gun. That r'minds me, where'd Jane go to, anyway?"

"Jane shut up shop," Lane said and went tripping off with that Chase boy. She just ignored some customers. She—"

"With Zeb Chase?"
"Yes, she said something about a clam bake. I said what should I do with the customers, and she said, never mind them. No one's been around lately, though. They got rained out."

An hour later Lane lined up half a dozen shells for Asey's inspection.

"There," there was a note of joy in his voice. "There you are. See? The same. This is the gun that fired the shell that killed Mary Randall. There you are."

"This is the gun that fired the shell," Asey corrected him.

"I suppose you think—look, you come out here and let me show you where I found it."

Asey and Kay followed him out to a small and badly kept garden at the side of the house.

"Now, here's where the shell washed it out of that hole! It's smack on our line, or near enough, anyway. Someone tossed it there, and covered it over. See—Asey, what's the matter with you?"

Lane was annoyed and impatient. Usually Asey caught on to things before you expected him to. This afternoon he was being unnecessarily slow.

Continued tomorrow.

GREENIES SET FOR SUNDAY

To Play Lucky Strike Team of Durham At New Park

Coach Rube Wilson's Greenies will open their exhibition schedule here Sunday afternoon, when they meet the Lucky Strikers of Durham at the Guy Smith ball park at three o'clock.

Local baseball fans will see a club that is regarded as one of the strongest independent teams in the state. Led by Capt. L. Perry, former pitcher in the Bi-State League, will be a team composed of 15 players. Most of the players with the Lucky Strikers this year were with the team last season, when they played the Greenies an 11-inning affair which ended 5-4 in favor of the Greenies.

Coach Rube Wilson will have 20 men in uniform Sunday, all with years of experience. No definite line-up for the Greenies has been announced, but it is thought that all men on the squad will see action. As Skipper Wilson, prior to the beginning of the season April 27, will have to cut his squad down to 18 men, which he can carry for 20 days after which the squad will be cut down to 15.

Headed by a list of nine veterans from last year's team who won their 24 out of 25 games, the following players will likely see action in Sunday's affair.

Manager Wilson 1b; "Red" Christopher and Teddie Maloney, 2b; "Gracie" Allen, ss; Harry Jenkins, 3b; Ralph Simpson, Whitey Heavens, Jack Cochran, Bill Wiggins, Rufus Webb, outfielders; Vincent Smith, Eddie Steck and Edward Shalley, catchers; Don King, Morris Wilson, Hoodie Briggs, Robert Glover, June Badger, Glenn Shirreff, pitchers.

Manager Moore of the Lucky Strikers announces the following roster of players, together with their positions and leagues that they have played in:

COACH GILBERT GIVES LINE-UPS

Twin-Bill On Tap At College Stadium on Saturday P. M.

Coach Gordon Gilbert today released the probable tentative line-up for the East Carolina Teachers College Pirates, who meet Ohio Wesleyan University in a double-header here Saturday afternoon, with the first phase of the twin-bill getting under way at 1:30.

It has not been definitely determined who will do the hurling, but the job will fall into the capable hands of either Ed Wells of Greenville or Kelly Martin of Conasa. Both Wells and Martin performed on the found last year for the locals and proved themselves rather effective in hurling tactics.

Coach Gilbert said that Bill Szelton would play short, Lester Ridenhour, third base, Eral Smith second base, Floyd Hinton, catch, Joe Hatem, left field, Norman Mayo center field, Walter Moritz right field, and that David Breese of Charles Futrell, both top-notch first sackers, would be given the first base job.

In the first two games of the season, Floyd Hinton of Rocky Mount was stationed at first. In an effort to develop strength in the catching division, he has shifted Hinton to the catching zone for Saturday's game, which are destined to produce thrills in America's favorite summer sports.

If Coach Gilbert finds that additional shifting is necessary in Saturday's game he'll make the necessary adjustments. Charles Futrell of Greenville, local high first-sacker of last year has already seen action in right field this season. He is being substituted in Saturday's game by Walter Moritz of Long Island, N. Y. a freshman who has been making enviable progress in the outfield.

Don't forget, the first ball (or strike) will breeze across the plate promptly at 1:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the college stadium. The second game, a seven-inning affair, will get started shortly after the first is concluded.

BADGER JOINS IN PRACTICES

New Arrival Brings to Six Number Of Hurlers

By BERT MOYE
Manager Rube Wilson's pitching staff was increased to six here today when June Badger, who hails from Gastonia, made his appearance at the spring practice during the morning session at the Third Street stadium.

Badger, who throws them right handed, is the youth that pitched his way to fame in the Junior American League team at Gastonia about four years ago. This will be his first time in pro ball. He has also seen action in the textile leagues around his home town.

Others at the present time who are working for pitching posts on the Greenville team are Hoodie Briggs, Glenn Shirreff and Don King, left-handers; Robert Glover and Morris Wilson, right-handers. Freddie Caliguri has not yet made his appearance, but it is expected to report during the ensuing week.

Announce Opening of Grocery Store Here

The opening of a new grocery store and market was announced today. The new firm will be operated by J. B. Cayton and son, T. G. Cayton at 706 Dickinson avenue.

All kinds of groceries, vegetables and meats will be carried by the new store.

Doughnut Snacks. To use up doughnuts, split them in half and spread them with a cottage cheese. Toast several minutes and serve hot for luncheon or supper dessert, or with a hot beverage for a snack.

DEAN TO HURL IN GAME HERE

Connie Mack Promises to Use Former Greenie

By BERT MOYE
Word has come from Connie Mack that Chubby Dean, who played with the Greenies in 1935, will most assuredly see action on the mound when the Athletics play the Williamsport Grays here on Wednesday afternoon, April 12, at the Guy Smith Ball Park at three o'clock.

Chubby, when with the Greenies made quite a name for himself during the 1935 season. Local baseball fans will remember him as the lad who alternated between right field and the pitchers mound. In order to refresh your memory on the record which he made during this time, let us look back at the old records.

During the 1935 season Dean played in a total of 48 games, went to the bat 159 times, scored 31 runs, and made a total of 63 hits for a .399 percentage, to lead the entire club. In the 63 hits he collected three home runs, six baggers and fourteen two-baggers.

In the pit-him record established that year, Chubby had a perfect record. He saw action on the mound nine times, pitched 38 2-3 innings, allowed 41 hits, 18 runs, and struck out 30 batsmen; he issued 16 walks, and was credited with four wins against no losses for the season with a perfect score of 1.000.

His record in fielding was also most outstanding as it showed that he made 186 putouts, 167 assists and 16 errors for a percentage of .956.

COTY FATHERS HOLD SESSION

(Continued from page one) was considered and the matter referred to the cemetery committee. Alderman Taft brought up the question of zoning parts of Dickinson avenue to allow parking areas for trucks to load and unload, and the board instructed the ordinance the city attorneys, to study the problem.

Any requests for quarter-year committee, with the assistance of licenses for filling station will be denied in accordance with action taken last night. The recent action in repealing an act requiring all houses in the city to have sewer connections by April 1, was amended to require all persons building new houses or altering old ones to secure connection if available.

"ARCADIAN MADE 38 EXTRA BALES FOR ME"
Says C. L. THOMAS Raeford

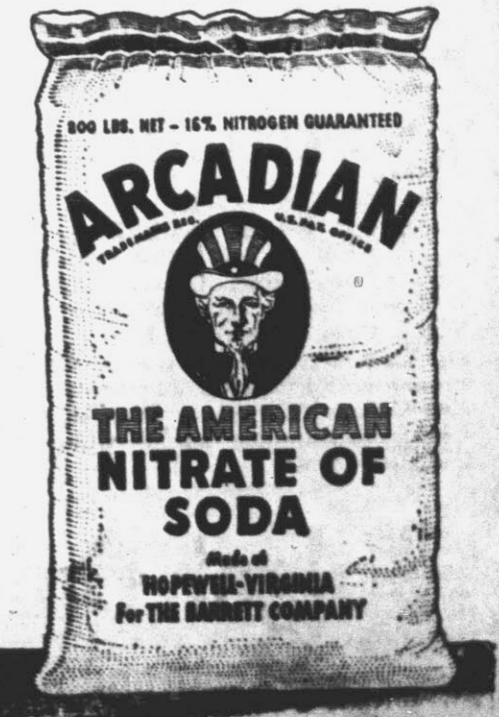

"I try to make 100 to 125 bales of cotton each year," says C. L. Thomas, Raeford. "I also have 95 acres in corn and 35 acres in tobacco. I find that I can make this yield of cotton on about 100 acres if I have a favorable season and use ARCADIAN NITRATE, the American SODA. In 1938 I picked 35 bales from 24 acres of cotton fertilized with 700 pounds of 4-8-5 per acre and side-dressed with 150 pounds of ARCADIAN NITRATE. On a check acre that I did not side-dress, I picked two-thirds of a bale. I picked 115 bales from my entire crop of 100 acres. This convinced me that the ARCADIAN NITRATE OF SODA I used made me 38 extra bales of cotton."

THOUSANDS OF FARMERS agree with Mr. Boyette in saying: "ARCADIAN IS MY SODA!" When they need extra nitrogen for plant-food balance they always ask for ARCADIAN NITRATE, the American SODA. You too can benefit by giving your cotton a liberal application of mixed fertilizer at planting and side-dressing later with ARCADIAN. The amount of ARCADIAN you should use depends upon the amount of nitrogen your mixed fertilizer contains. The table below will help you to give your cotton the balanced fertilizer treatment that produces bigger yields of better quality lint at lower cost.

500 to 600 lbs. per acre of COMPLETE FERTILIZER containing—	SIDE-DRESSING NEEDED FOR BALANCE
3% NITROGEN—such as 3-8-5, 3-8-4, 3-8-2, etc.	ARCADIAN NITRATE OF SODA 125 to 150 lbs. per acre
4% NITROGEN—such as 4-8-4, 4-8-4, 4-8-2, etc.	ARCADIAN NITRATE OF SODA 100 to 125 lbs. per acre
6% NITROGEN—such as 6-8-4, 6-8-4, 6-8-2, etc.	ARCADIAN NITRATE OF SODA when early-season weather is unfavorable

YOUR FERTILIZER MAN will supply you with complete fertilizer of the correct analysis to use at planting and ARCADIAN NITRATE, the American Soda for side-dressing.

ARCADIAN NITRATE
The American SODA is celebrating its tenth anniversary. During its 10 years of growth, nitrate prices have come down some 40% while quality of product and package have improved. Today its production is a vast Southern industry. ARCADIAN means growth for the South and growth for your crops . . . quick, vigorous, productive growth. When you buy Nitrate of Soda, ALWAYS ASK FOR ARCADIAN.

Speed Law Hailed By Patrol Measure

Raleigh, April 7.—(AP)—A new law fixing the maximum speed for automobiles at 60 miles an hour will strengthen North Carolina's motor vehicle regulations. Major John Armstrong of the Highway Patrol said today.

The law became effective upon enactment by the General Assembly. Before the measure was adopted motorists could travel at any rate of speed on the open road, provided they did not drive recklessly.

Armstrong said he was warning bus drivers not to drive faster than 45 miles an hour and truck operators not to exceed the speed limit. Trucks with trailers are limited to 30 miles an hour, those without, to 35, he said.

Makes Available Use Of Jewish Calendar

Rev. D. A. Windham of 1120 Evans street, has prepared a Jewish calendar showing comparative dates with the present-day calendar which he declares he will be glad for Sunday school teachers and others to make use of in connection with Easter services.

Rev. Mr. Windham has been working on the calendar for some time and declares it provides much useful information for Sunday school teachers and other church workers.

Likens Hitler To Abraham Lincoln

Chapel Hill, April 7.—(AP)—Abraham Lincoln and Adolf Hitler were classed as the world's most conscientious men today by Rep. T. V. Smith (D-Ill.) "because Lincoln was and Hitler is willing to go to almost any length for the sake of their ideals."

Smith's talk was at the closing session of the human relations institute at the University of North Carolina. "Hitler is so convinced that what he is doing is right that he will perpetrate cruelties and shed blood to carry out his theories," Smith said.

Smith, deploring the specialization of professional groups and labor, said "this division within the whole is a weakness that makes us afraid of the ideologies of Europe."

Charlotte Barri ster Dies Of Heart Attack

Charlotte, April 7.—(AP)—J. Clyde Stancill, 50, one of Mecklenburg county's legal advisors, died here today of a heart ailment at a hospital.

He was a native of this county and an alumnus of Erskine College, Due West, S. C., and the University of North Carolina law school. He was a former city solicitor, assistant superior solicitor and legislator.

The funeral will be held tomorrow at 4 p. m. at the Associate Reformed Presbyterian Tabernacle. Surviving are the widow, two daughters, a brother and a sister.

Busy On Inspections Of Fertilizer In N. C.

Reflector Bureau Raleigh, April 7.—Eleven Fertilizer inspectors of the State Department of Agriculture are busy at their posts scattered all over North Carolina. D. S. Coltrane, assistant commission of the department said today.

Mr. Coltrane urges all farmers who wish to have their fertilizer inspected and tested to write him at the Department of Agriculture in Raleigh. Requests for these inspections and tests will be promptly relayed to the man in the field, he said.

A 1939 survey indicated the largest supply of feed grains and hay per animal in the United States in more than ten years.

Light Cotton Crop Is Seen For State

Raleigh, April 7.—(AP)—Will Rogers of the AAA office at N. C. State College, forecast today that Tar Heel farmers would plant about 88 per cent of their 997,252 acre cotton allotment this spring.

"If it were not for the fact that farmers must plant at least 80 per cent of their allotment to receive benefits under the AAA program," said Rogers, "many growers would not plant a stalk of cotton this year."

P. H. Kine, agronomist at the experiment station, said wet weather early in the year delayed preparation of land, but it now looked as though most of them would be able to seed cotton in the ground at about the usual time.

J. O. Rowell, entomologist, said conditions through the winter had been favorable for boll weevil, but that it was too early to make a reliable forecast on infestation.

Last year's North Carolina cotton crop was only 400,000 bales, compared with 780,000 bales in 1937.

YOU'VE probably noticed that most of the folks who drive Buicks come back again and again to this great automobile when it's time to buy a new car. There are two reasons for that. One's a money reason, the other's a pleasure reason. Sticking to Buick means you're sure every year that you're getting top value, and no hunting all over town to find it. Repeating on Buick means that season after season you ride behind the ablest eight of its size in the world—the Buick valve-in-head straight-eight, that Dynaflex power-house that's livelier and smoother and thrifter than engines of other type. Year after year you'll travel in comfort—the smooth, easy, level-going comfort of the torque-tube drive and BuicOil Springing, sailing along on a staunch and sturdy chassis that holds you true and steady to your course. You always have room in a Buick—and this year you've a new and broader outlook through 412 added square inches of safety plate glass. And you're leading the style parade—no doubt about that—with appearance that's like a leaf from tomorrow's book. All of which adds up, you'll find, to satisfaction so complete that once you've got the Buick driving habit, no other car quite seems to measure up. Now this big strong resilient straight-eight costs less than you think. It's priced lower than a year ago—even below some sixes. So why not simplify your car-buying for all time—get that smart Buick riding habit now. In no other way that we know can you make sure of having so much fun.
