FLEET OF U.S. CONVERGES ON VIRGINIA PORT

Uncle Sam's War-dogs Demonstrate Naval Might

MANY CRAFT AT HAMPTON ROADS

Today's Arrival Of Fleet's Battle Force Brings to 62 Number of Ships in Roads

Norfolk, Va., April 12.—(AP)—The United States fleet churned white the waters of Hampton Roads today as Uncle Sam's war-dogs knifed between the Virginia capes on a 15-day concentration of naval might.

The nations "first line of defence" entering and leaving Virginia waters during the period will total 104 ships, carrying more than 46,000 officers and men.

Arrival of the fleet's battle force today brought to 62 the warships already in the Roads. A flotilla of destroyers and smaller craft's preceded the battle forces, cruisers and aircraft carriers through the capes.

Battle force cruisers are the Milwaukee, Honolulu, Nashville and Boise. Battleships are headed by the California, flagship of Admiral Kajiobu, senior officer of the fleet under Admiral Bloch, commander in chief. The four aircraft carriers are the Enterprise, Yorktown, Ranger and Lexington.

Ashore, meanwhile, families and friends of the many personnel prepared a gala welcome for Jack Tar as he landed for shore-leave.

Funeral Held For Mrs. Sarah Jones

Funeral services were conducted at 2 o'clock this afternoon for Mrs. Sarah Jones, who died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. R. D. House of 1206 Evans street, Monday morning. Five Awaiting Trial Being Held In Jail

Only five persons, one white man and four Negroes, are being held in the county jail awaiting trial in Superior court next week. In addition, four persons are serving terms in the jail.

Along Border

Trina, Albania—April 12.—Italian troops occupied points at Albania's Yugoslav and Greek borders today as a constituent assembly met to form a new government under Fascist rule.

One detachment in trucks reached the Yugoslav frontier at a point north of the Albania port. Foreign Minister Count Ciano flew to Tirana to represent his father-in-law, Premier Mussolini, at the assembly.

Will Not Yield

"Never stronger" were the words of French Premier Daladier (above) when he couched his summary of France's desire for peace with a warning of her military strength. He said that France would not yield an inch of territory to aggression.

Hoover Taft Joins In YDC Programs

Hoover Taft, Eastern Carolina organizer for the State Young Democratic clubs, went to Columbia last night for a rally of club members in Tyrrell county.

Organizer Taft reported that much enthusiasm was in evidence at the meeting. It will be recalled that a Republican sheriff was elected at the last election by a margin of six votes.

Tomorrow night Mr. Taft and S. B. Underwood, Jr., president of the Pitt county club, will go to a YDC rally in Bertie county, at which the former and J. M. Broughton of Raleigh, will be the principal speakers.

The First Congressional district YDC rally will be held in Plymouth on April 21, with the program to get under way at 3 o'clock. The Eastern organizer reported that a program for the rally had not been completed as yet. The county rallies are being held in preparation for the district rallies.

Britain, France To Issue Statements On Positions

FRANCE PLANS REVEAL STAND

Government Decides To Issue Formal Declaration of Its Position in Current European Tangle; French Mediterranean Fleet Meanwhile Slips Out of Toulon on Secret Mission

Paris, April 12.—(AP)—The French government decided today to make a formal statement to the world of its position in the international tangle, as most of France's Mediterranean fleet sped to a secret destination.

The mission of the fleet, which slipped out of Toulon naval base last night, was not disclosed, but it was believed the warships were operating under a joint French-British command.

The same cabinet meeting which unanimously adopted extraordinary military measures, reinforcing the French army and navy, approved a frank declaration which Premier Daladier will issue tomorrow.

In conference at the War Ministry after the cabinet meeting, Daladier ruled against broadcasting the statement. The Premier declared it would be a very brief communique defining the French position exactly.

The final draft of the declaration was to be agreed upon later today in a conference between Daladier and Foreign Minister Bonnet.

The foreign minister made arrangements to receive William Bullitt, United States ambassador, and Sir Eric Phipps, British ambassador, before his talk with Daladier.

Final Rites Held For Mrs. Holmes

Funeral services for Mrs. Margaret Helen Holmes, 62, who died at her home at 200 Cotanche street Monday afternoon, were conducted at the residence yesterday at 4:00 p. m. by her pastor, Rev. T. M. G. Grant of Jarvis Memorial Methodist church. Burial follows in Greenwood cemetery.

She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Rena Alfred of Greenville, two sons, David S. Holmes of Greenville and Wade H. Holmes of Washington City; three sisters, Mrs. C. M. Mingle of Raleigh, Mrs. M. C. Perry of Raleigh and Mrs. Fab Haskins of Rocky Mount; and five grandchildren.

Mr. Holmes and her late husband, O. C. Holmes, came to Greenville from Wake county in 1901, when Mr. Holmes served as engineer at E. C. T. until his death.

Active pallbearers were Sam Haskins, Ed Sawyer, F. L. Whitehurst, James C. Cockrell, J. G. Proctor, Jr., Fred Duncan and C. V. Cattrill.

Out-of-town persons here for the funeral were: W. H. Holmes, of Washington, D. C.; Mrs. M. C. Perry and Mrs. C. M. Mingle of Raleigh; Mrs. P. A. Haskins of Rocky Mount, brother and sisters of Mrs. Holmes; Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Privette and family, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Privette, Mrs. Sherwood Blackwood, Mrs. W. A. Faison, Mrs. Bud Seedy, Mrs. W. E. Cole, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Perry, Mrs. D. S. Cockrell, Mrs. John Cockrell, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Cockrell, Mrs. Roy H. Davis, Mrs. B. W. Franks, Mrs. G. E. Allbrook, Mrs. W. G. Tharington, Mrs. B. P. Bedard and Miss Alma Dudley of Winterville.

NOTE TO 'ESCAPISTS'—TAHITI IS SCARED, TOO

Papeete, Tahiti.—(AP)—The South Seas may seem faraway, peaceful haven to war-conscious Europe, but actually the inhabitants are as deeply disturbed over international events as people anywhere else.

Diplomatic news is eagerly read and the residents of Tahiti listen to daily broadcasts on current events from Paris and London.

It is generally understood that in event of war, France would call all able-bodied men of suitable age to the colors, even in this distant colony.

The "first robin" of spring often has passed the winter in the locality where it is reported.

ITALIANS TAKE OVER ALBANIA

Count Galeazzo Ciano (left), Premier Mussolini's son-in-law, and Gen. Alberto Guzzoni, commander of the Italian expeditionary army are shown in this radiophone as they conferred at Tirana in establishing Italian rule over captured Albania. Shortly afterwards the Albanian provisional government pledged its loyalty to Mussolini and accepted his domination.

GADDDY BLAMED WITH ROBBERY

Eludes Trap Set By Officers in Cumberland County

Fayetteville, April 12.—(AP)—A woman who identified herself as Noella Storm, an entertainer from New York city, told police today she was robbed during the night of jewelry valued at $1,000 or more.

State Highway Patrol Lieutenant A. T. Moore and Police Chief Barney McBryde expressed belief Frank Gaddy, described as an escaped convict, was responsible for the theft.

They said Gaddy drove into a trap shortly after the robbery report abandoned his car and outdistanced the officers. Moore said the car was stolen in Wilmington.

Miss Storm's suitcase and clothing were recovered.

She said she locked her valuables in her automobile parked near a tourist cabin where she spent the night en route from New York to Miami, Fla.

The officers said Gaddy escaped a Monroe prison camp last March 18. They said he was serving 19 to 29 years for breaking and entering and larceny in Pitt County.

Wayne County Negro Killed in Accident

Goldsboro, April 12.—(AP)—James Faison, a Negro, was injured fatally when struck by an automobile near here today.

James F. Bradshaw, state highway patrolman, said the car was driven by Mrs. Carolyn Bonner of New Bern, a WPA social worker. He said investigation showed the Negro walked into the path of the machine and that Mrs. Bonner would not be held.

A recent survey disclosed 11,539 aircraft and 22,985 pilots in this country. At the same time there were 221 gliders and 172 glider pilots.

High Court Hopes Evade Little Switzerland Case

Reflector Bureau By HENRY AVERILL

Raleigh, April 12.—Outwardly they are all serene and they wouldn't admit it if anybody could get up nerve enough to ask about it, but six of North Carolina's seven Supreme court judges are probably aground these days with their fingers crossed.

The digits are in that figurative position in hopes that it will ward off necessity for deciding the case wherein the state highway and public works commission is bucking and balking at paying $25,000 or more to the Little Switzerland corporation in which the seventh member of the august tribunal—Judge Henry Clark—holds the biggest interest.

Yet it now appears that Chief Justice Walter P. Stacy and five of the Associate Justices are going to the Commission's move, and the Supreme court judges are hoping hard that next move won't pass the buck to them.

BRITAIN HOPES STOP GERMANY

Prime Minister Chamberlain Expected To Announce New Guarantees To Turkey And Greece As Another Step in Movement to Check Aggression Begun With Fall of Czecho-Slovakia

London, April 12.—(AP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain is expected to announce broad guarantees to Greece and Turkey to Parliament tomorrow, advancing another step the British-French program to halt aggression that was begun after Germany broke up Czecho-Slovakia last month.

The declaration which Chamberlain is to read in the House of Commons is expected to state that any act of aggression in the Eastern Mediterranean would be considered an "unfriendly act."

Political informants said that Chamberlain meanwhile was prepared to accept promises attributed to Premier Mussolini that, now that Italy has occupied Albania, he is willing henceforth to preserve present Mediterranean territorial alignments.

As a consequence of these promises Chamberlain is expected to condemn the Italian invasion of Albania, but not to denounce the Anglo-Italian friendship pact concluded last year—as some sections of British opinion suggested.

The Italian government yesterday announced a note of assurance to Greece to respect Grecian integrity and independence. The Greek government replied today that the guarantee gave "full satisfaction."

The Turkish Ambassador called at the Foreign office this morning and it was reported he expressed a willingness to accept any guarantee Italy had prepared to make.

It was understood that Greece, despite the exchange with Mussolini, was willing also to accept a British pledge.

Poland, bolstered by a tentative mutual-aid accord with Britain, France and Italy and other European countries meanwhile called up reserves to build their armies to the strongest peak since the World war.

The British Mediterranean fleet kept watch at Malta and the French Mediterranean fleet having left its Toulon base, was on a secret cruise.

Merchants' Board In Regular Meet

The Board of Directors of the Greenville Merchants Association, in regular monthly meeting last night, discussed several matters other than the regular routine business.

A proposal for a Federal Art Gallery for Greenville was read and members went on record as approving plans outlined for the project.

The members also discussed a proposal to close all stores and other business houses for the opening tilt here of the Coastal Plain league on April 28. Although expressing a desire to cooperate with the ball club and going on record as favoring employers giving a reasonable percentage of their employees the afternoon off so they can attend the game, it was decided that there would be a large number of persons who would not go to the game and would want to do some shopping.

For this reason the board decided to keep the stores open, with a skeleton force, allowing a good number of their employees to attend the opening game.

Pitt Man Escapes From Prison Camp

Raleigh, April 12.—(AP)—Six convicts escaped from a road crew in Jackson county during the rain yesterday, Penal Division Superintendent Oscar Pitts said today.

One was quickly recaptured and officers scoured the mountains today for the others. Pitts said the group escaped from under a shed.

Two other escapes were listed in the state.

The Jackson escapes still at large Pitts said, included: LeRoy Batten, about 27, sentenced August 20, 1932, in Moore county, to five to seven years for breaking and entering and possession of burglary tools; and D. G. Taylor, about 29, sentenced September 7, 1933 in Pitt county, to 15 to 18 years for robbery.

War Veteran Held

Steve E. Mefford, 47, a world war veteran who was a patient at the United States Veterans' facility at Biloxi, Miss., is shown in jail at Jackson, Miss., after authorities quoted him as confessing he killed seven-year-old Clifton Winterstein in a thicket near the facility "just on impulse." The boy was strangled.

TORRIO GIVEN TERM IN PRISON

Former Underworld Agent Sent To Federal Prison

New York, April 12.—(AP)—John Torrio, former notorious Chicago underworld agent, was sentenced today to serve two and one-half years in federal prison for income tax evasion.

Judge John W. Clancy first sentenced Torrio to three years, but reduced it by six months at the request of the United States attorney.

Torrios' face showed no emotion when he heard the original sentence. After two co-defendants were sentenced, Judge Clancy looked down from the bench and said: "I'll change that sentence for Torrio and follow the recommendation of the United States attorney. Make it two and one-half years on the first count, five years on the second, and two on the third count, with sentences suspended on the second and third counts and probation for 10 years."

Torrio pleaded guilty Monday to an indictment he evaded payment of $86,000 in income taxes.

Before Torrio, a former crony of Al Capone in the early and profitable days of prohibition, was sentenced, his counsel, Max Stuer, made a 45-minute plea for leniency.

Two of Torrio's co-defendants, William Stockbower, his brother-in-law, and James La Penna, an associate of Torrio's bootlegging days, were also sentenced. They changed their plea Monday, following Torrio's example.

Stockbower was given a suspended sentence of one year and a day and placed on probation for a year. La Penna was given nine months and placed on probation for five years.

'High School Day' Is Widely Attended

A check-up this morning at the registration desk for the college High School Day yesterday indicates that a total of 31 counties actually registered, with an average number of 90 visitors per county.

From every high school in Pitt county, of course, most of the seniors were present, and this was true also of Wilson county, which led in point of numbers present.

Following are the names of the other counties represented here, with the number of high school people from each: Beaufort 133; Bertie 79; Carteret 61; Chatham 10; Craven 116; Cumberland 23; Currituck 25; Duplin 58; Edgecombe 210; Gates 19; Greene 132; Halifax 27; Harnett 48; Hertford 18; Hyde 33; Johnston 133; Jones 66; Lenoir 103; Martin 98; Moore 27; Nash 78; Northampton 110; Onslow 36; Pamlico 25; Pasquotank 52; Sampson 60; Wake 25; Washington 86; Wayne 146.

Other delegations are thought to have been present without getting registered.

The general program of the day was under the direction of Dr. Carl Adams, chairman of the High School Day committee.

At the first such day at E.C.T.C., observed in 1936, there were around 50 schools represented and a total of 1,100 or 1,200 students. Attendance has more than doubled in the four years.

HOUSE PASSES BILL DESIGNED TO EXTEND FHA

Agency Would Be Continued for Another Two Years

SEEK PROHIBIT WRITE-UP COSTS

Amendment Drafted To Prevent Apartment House Promoters from Boosting Price of Lots

Washington, April 12.—(AP)—The House passed and sent to the Senate today a bill extending for two years the powers of the Federal Housing Administration and raising from $3,000,000,000 to $4,000,000,000 the amount of mortgages it may insure.

The FHA, seeking to stimulate the flow of money into the construction industry and provide low-cost financing, insures loans by private institutions for home-building and renovation. Unless Congress continues its powers, they expire on June 30.

Before passing the bill on a voice vote the House accepted an amendment by Rep. Cochran (D-Mo.) designed to prevent what he said was the writing-up of land values by promoters of large apartment projects. He cited what he said were two instances of such write-up in St. Louis.

The roll call vote on the Cochran amendment was announced as 199 to 142.

The Senate Finance committee, meanwhile, gave speedy approval to an increase from $49,000,000 to $80,000,000 in authorized federal expenditures to pay state administrative costs for unemployment compensation.

The Senate committee made no changes in an amendment to the social security act passed by the House Monday.

Meanwhile, President Roosevelt accepted the resignation of Federal Judge E. S. Thomas of Connecticut.

A presidential secretary announced that Thomas had resigned in a letter dated April 6, and the President accepted his resignation effectively immediately, in a letter Friday.

Attorney General Murphy issued this statement:

"It is well known for a number of weeks the financial affairs of Judge Thomas, and his action in certain cases, have been under investigation by John Cahill, U. S. attorney for the southern district of New York, and a special grand jury. The nature of the evidence adduced has not been made public.

"Due to a recent attack of illness, Thomas is at present under the care of a physician. The resignation has made it unnecessary to give further consideration to the question of impeachment. The grand jury will continue its investigation."

Neither Driver Hurt In Tuesday Accident

A record of a traffic accident between two trucks yesterday afternoon at the intersection of Evans and Fourteenth streets was listed on the police blotter.

Carl Langley, driving an express truck, and Lorenzo Harris, Negro, driving a truck said to be owned by L. C. Venters, were cited to appear in police court. Neither driver was injured in the collision.

Stolen Car Found Burned

City police headquarters revealed this morning that a car stolen from a parking lot here Monday night had been found burned, near the Martin county line. The car was owned by the Folger Buick Company. No trace of the person or persons who stole it has been uncovered by police.

to the 20th century civilization from the Dark Ages. She declared that America relied upon England for practically all her fabrics during the Seventeenth and Eighteenth centuries. Mrs. Northrop very interestingly identified Captain Kidd and Samuel Pepys as connoisseurs of fine fabrics. Before he became involved in acts of piracy, Captain Kidd was said to have been engaged in a lucrative business in fabrics. His stock of fabrics came into his possession on his marriage to a rich widow. In 1683, it was related that Pepys gave his wife a painted East Indian Calico fabric with which to decorate her study. This was its first recorded use in England. During the luncheon course, Mrs. Stancill led an informal discussion on the International situation. The club members displayed keen interest in the present world unrest. —Reported.

Noted Artists Exhibit Here. Among the many artists whose work is being exhibited at the Woman's Clubhouse this week, are several who are listed in "Who's Who." Chauncey Foster Ryder, whose painting "Haystack Mountain" is being shown at the exhibit, was born in Danbury, Conn., in 1868. He was a pupil at the Art Institute in Chicago and of Raphael Collin and Jean Paul Laurens in Paris. He was presented with a silver medal at the San Francisco Exposition in 1915 and was made a member of the American Water Color Society in 1920. He is living in New York City. Jonas Lie, whose "Woolworth Building" is shown in the exhibit, was born in Norway in 1880 and came to America in 1893. He was graduated from the Ethical Culture School in New York in 1897 and received the Doctor of Fine Arts degree from Lawrence College in 1936. Among the countless awards and prizes he has received are: Silver medal, St. Louis Exposition in 1904; silver medal, San Francisco Exposition, 1912; Carnegie prize, National Academy of Design, 1927; Olympic award in Amsterdam, 1928; Saltus Medal of Merit, National Academy of Design, 1936; president, National Academy of Design in 1934. Honored At Easter Breakfast. Mrs. L. M. James and Mrs. J. B. James were hostesses at a delightful Easter Monday breakfast, at the home of the latter, honoring Miss Ada James, whose marriage to Mr. Luther Moore of Greenville and Washington, D. C., will be solemnized this month.

The spacious home on East Fifth street, was lovely with decorations of iris, tulips and spirea. Individual tables, arranged in the hall, music room, sun room, and library, were centered with bud vases filled with tulips, and attractive place cards carrying out the Easter motif, directed each guest to her table.

Seated at the table in the dining room, which had as a centerpiece a colorful Easter bonnet tied with orchid satin ribbon, were, Miss James, Mrs. J. W. Goodwin, Mrs. R. C. Stokes, Sr., Mrs. R. C. Stokes, Jr., Mrs. Will Lipscomb, Mrs. Lee Hannah, Miss Sonora Moore, and Mrs. Jesse Moye.

An Easter basket, with handle of green satin ribbon and filled with spring flowers, was given to Mrs. H. L. Ormond for the highest cut in cards.

Mrs. L. M. James presented the honor guest with a silver platter, and Mrs. J. B. James remembered her with a covered silver chop plate. Mrs. J. W. Goodwin, Mrs. R. C. Stokes, Sr., of Lynchburg, Va., Mrs. John Wooten, a guest of Mrs. W. I. Wooten, Mrs. Tom Rivers, and Mrs. James Skinner were given dainty linen handkerchiefs as reminders of this delightful occasion.

Fine Arts Festival. When you visit the Art Festival exhibition at the Woman's Club, be sure to look up the seascape "Western Shore" by Frederick Waugh and "Woolworth Building" by Jonas Lie.

Loans of Mrs. Katherine F. Arlington, as well as the bird etching by three prominent American artists—Frank Benson, Richard Bishop and Conrad Roland. Frederick Waugh is probably the most popular American artist with the people, though the art world considers his sea pictures entirely too photographic. For five successive years Waugh has won the popularity prize (what the people like) $200, at the Carnegie International Exhibition.

It does not seem to matter that there is a tiresome similarity in his work: a foaming sea surging on a rock at the right side in one picture, and on the left side in another. Just the same this representation of nature in a dramatic moment is perfect and gives vastly more pleasure to the uninitiated than many modern depressing distortions. So, who can say with finality just what is or is not the best art.

Maybe you will be attracted to the evening scene by Jonas Lie, with its dim Woolworth tower faintly visible in the city's mystic night life. Jonas Lie has been one of America's best and most prolific artists who is now classed among the veteran conservatives, having yielded not at all to any of the radical departures in the art of today.

These two artists as well as the three bird etchers, are so prominent in the art world that Greenville has an unusual opportunity in these to add to its art appreciation as well as its pleasure. Georgia P. Hearne.

Inter Se Book Club Meeting. The Inter Se Book Club had its bi-monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Tyson Bilbro Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. B. H. Stancill presided in the absence of Mrs. William Taft, president of the club.

To Have Fish Fry. The Carson Memorial Class of the local Methodist Church will have a fish fry Thursday night, April 13. They plan to meet at the church 6:45 p. m., and go to Public Landing. The class members who can go are asked to please call Hicks Corey or Bill Drum at once.

Winterville To Organize Club. On Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, in the town hall at Winterville, there will be a meeting for the purpose of organizing a Woman's club. Mrs. J. R. B. Moore, president of the Greenville club, will be present. All women who are interested are urged to be present.

Invitations Recalled. Due to illness in the family, invitations have been recalled to the tea that was to have been given on Friday by Mrs. W. E. Hooker and Miss Lousia Hooker, in honor of Mrs. Tom Rivers and Miss Ada James.

End Of Century Club. Mrs. F. C. Haxton was hostess to the End of the Century Book Club on Tuesday, April 11th, at the home of Mrs. E. B. Ferguson. Misses Mary Harding, Eliza Harding, Frances Moseley, Emma Hooper and Mrs. Worth Wicker were guests for the afternoon.

The newly elected officers assumed their duties and a most inspiring greeting was given the members by the new president, Mrs. R. C. Stokes, Jr.

Mrs. Stokes presided over a business meeting, during which she announced the committees for the following year, and the program of the Fine Arts Festival for the week.

The club voted to support the proposed plan for the Greenville Federal Art Gallery.

At the conclusion of the business meeting, Mrs. Charles White introduced Miss Emma Hooper of East Carolina Teachers College, as guest speaker for the afternoon. Miss Hooper delighted her audience with her vivid presentation of the subject "Contemporary Literature." She reminded her hearers that "Literature should give joy and sustenance." She also warned them to beware of superlatives in judging books, as "there is no greatest book, but many great of their kind." She gave various standards for selecting literature of lasting value, and gave brief evaluations of many novels, poems, dramas, and biographies.

Following the program, Miss Mary Harding assisted the hostess in serving a delicious salad course. —Reported.

Chlo Club. Mrs. Roy Barrett was hostess to the Chlo Book Club on Tuesday, April 11 at her home on West Fifth Street.

Mrs. Barrett, club president, presided over the short business session. Mrs. W. S. Bost told of plans to have Mr. Paul Green to be guest speaker of all the book clubs at the Austin Auditorium on Thursday night of this week. This is in connection with the Fine Arts Festival which is now in progress at the Woman's Club.

Mrs. Barrett and Miss Dorothy Snyder explained the Federal Arts Center which is being considered by Greenville citizens. The Club voted to cooperate in this project.

Mrs. Jack Spain gave a most interesting paper on Art in Dress. She began with the dress of the first man and traced the history of dress to the present day, bringing in the kind of fabrics, color combinations, suitability of clothes to one's general make-up, etc.

Misses Sue Barrett and Laura Foley were guests for the afternoon and assisted Mrs. Barrett in serving a tempting salad course with coffee. —Reported.

honor. Little Ann Darden Webb, flower girl, wore a floor length blue net frock over taffeta and carried a pink basket filled with rose petals. The bridegroom was attended by Paul Fitzgerald of Greenville, as best man, and ushers were Hugh Winslow, E. T. Forbes, Oliver Van-Nortwick and E. S. Flanagan of Greenville, and A. J. Hamilton, Jr., and Bernard Leary of Morehead City.

Mrs. Hamilton, mother of the bride, wore a gown of blue lace with corsage of tallman roses, while Mrs. Nobles, mother of the groom, was in pink chiffon with corsage of gardenias. Mrs. McWilliams, grandmother of the bride, was becomingly gowned in black lace with shoulder corsage of white roses. Mr. and Mrs. Nobles left during the evening for a motor trip in the south, and after their return will be at home in Greenville.

For travel, Mrs. Nobles changed to a chalk stripe black worsted two-piece suit with three-quarter length box coat. With the suit she wore furs of silver fox with black French hat, white veil and white gloves, and accessories of black. Her corsage was of lilies and roses which centered her wedding bouquet. The bride is a graduate of Meredith College and for the past two years has made her home in Washington, D. C., where she was employed in the Department of Agriculture. Mr. Nobles, the son of Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Nobles of Greenville, attended Citadel for two years and holds a responsible position with the Imperial Tobacco Company in Greenville. Both Mr. and Mrs. Nobles have a wide circle of friends and have been extensively entertained since the announcement of their engagement. Immediately following the ceremony, the bride's parents entertained at a reception at their home on Arendell street. The bridal motif in green and white was carried out throughout the home. Parlor smilax hung from the chandeliers and was gracefully draped over mantels and windows, silver baskets and urns held a profusion of white carnations, snapdragons and gladioli and many lighters tapers burned from silver candlesticks and candelabras.

Receiving the guests at the east door were Judge and Mrs. Luther Hamilton who introduced them to the receiving line. Presiding at the punch table was Mrs. H. P. Smith, with Mrs. Paul Cleland and Mrs. George McNeil presiding over the cutting of the beautifully decorated five-tiered wedding cake. Assisting in the serving of the

RALEIGH HOST FOR PTA MEET

Post-Legislature Calm Broken by Convention

Reflector Bureau.
Raleigh, April 12.—Raleigh's post-legislature calm was broken today as hundreds swarmed into the city for the twentieth annual convention of the North Carolina Congress of Parents and Teachers—a convention which will continue through Friday and which will be marked by attendance and addresses of noted educators and laymen.

Pre-convention activities began yesterday with a meeting of the executive committee and a session of the board of managers. This afternoon's session, which will be climaxed with an address by Virgil Dahl, Assistant Director of Recreation Division, Works Progress Administration, was preceded by a session of the board of managers this morning.

Mrs. Doyle D. Alley, Waynesville, president of the North Carolina Congress, is presiding this afternoon, with the cooperation of Mrs. Francis H. Blake, Albion, N. Y., vice president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

The session was opened with devotional exercises led by Dean J. B. Messick of Elon College, state chairman of character education. Mrs. T. S. Johnson, president of the Raleigh council, welcomed the visitors and Mrs. W. W. Weant, second vice president for North Carolina, responded.

The afternoon session was to be climaxed by Mr. Dahl's address on "Government and Recreation", an outline of the objective and program of the Federal government in its program for healthy, normal recreation.

At the conclusion of the session delegates and visitors will be entertained at tea at the Governor's Mansion, through courtesy of Mrs. Clyde R. Hoey and the Raleigh council.

Tonight there will be an informal reception at Needham Broughton High School, through courtesy of the Parent-Teacher Association of that school.

Tomorrow morning there will be held, preceding the general session a series of group conferences at 8:30 o'clock. These will deal with specific problems and will be held in each instance by the Parent-Teacher Association state chairman.

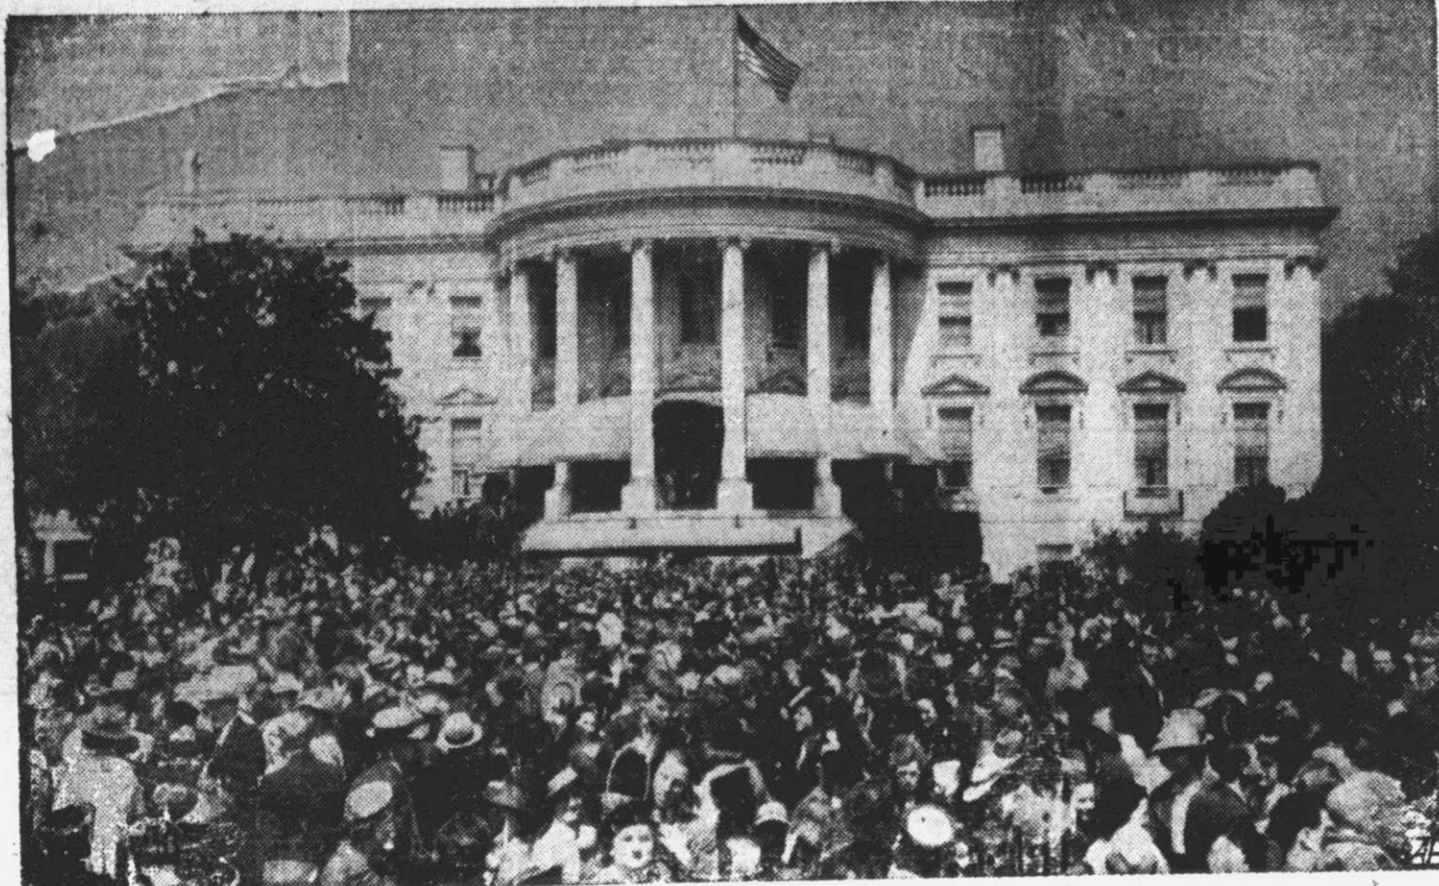

The Thursday morning business session at 9:30 will include reports of various committees, notably that of the legislative committee headed by Mrs. E. L. McKee of Sylva.

Two officers will also be elected at this session, second vice president and treasurer. Other officers are serving three-year terms. There will be nominating committee reports presented by Mrs. Raymond Fuson of New Bern, and additional nomination may be made from the floor.

The Thursday afternoon session will feature the annual awards for excellence in many fields, such as achieving standards set for local units, magazine subscriptions, membership gains, summer institute attendance, and pre-school clinic reports.

The night's high spot will be the annual banquet at 7 o'clock at Meredith college, where there is the largest dining room in Raleigh. Dr. Clyde A. Erwin, state Superintendent of Public Instruction will preside as toastmaster. Speaker will include Governor Clyde R. Hoey and Professor Harold D. Meyer, of the Department of Sociology at the University of North Carolina.

THOUSANDS FLOCK TO WHITE HOUSE EASTER EGG ROLL

Just try to roll an egg in this gigantic crowd which covered the White House grounds in Washington at the annual Easter egg roll sponsored by the President and Mrs. Roosevelt. The event was intended primarily for children, but it appears the grown-ups took over the festivities. White House officials estimated the throng at 18,000.

Home-Made Opera Scores Hit In Scouring-Cloth Costumes

Ready to take the stage in the Raleigh production of Il Trovatore His armor is a lot of scouring cloths.

By The AP Feature Service.

Raleigh, N. C.—The hor-eshoe may not be a "diamond" one and the moving scenery may stick now and then but it's still grand opera. And the people who hear it evidently get as much kick out of the performance as the singers.

John Farmer Cole, a music-loving accountant, a few years ago presented to the Raleigh Little Theatre Group the idea of giving grand opera. Since then the amateur organization has produced three operas (in English) before packed houses in Raleigh.

Clerks and stenographers, salesmen, housewives, and school girls and boys made up the cast of Il Trovatore, most recent production. Teamwork and ingenuity, as usual, provided the costumes and scenery.

An artist member of the group designed and water-colored the costumes. Sewing was done in the homes of the singers.

Male members of the cast wore suits of armor fashioned from metallic scouring cloths. Their helmets were of wood, plastered with small bits of paper and gilded.

The women wore costumes made of bolt-end material bought from nearby textile mills.

Vines Hooked To Radio Aerial Bear Huge Crop Of Tomatoes

Dickson leans out an upstairs window to pick tomatoes from a wired vine.

SACRAMENTO, Calif.—Archibald Dickson can lean out the second story window of his home and pick tomatoes. He says the vine grows that tall and yields heavily because of a mysterious wiring system.

Dickson, using brass tacks, connects a common radio aerial to crochets of plants, and at east end of the vegetable he sinks a metal cylinder—he calls it an accumulator. These, too, he connects to the plants with wires.

No current is connected to the system, and Dickson says he has done no fertilizing or other forcing

He won't tell what's in the cylinders, apparently water tight, but says their purpose is purely electrical.

Just what, if anything, the plan gets from the wires attached to them, Dickson says he doesn't know. "It could be something originating with radio broadcasts," he says, "but I don't think so. I think I've stumbled on something new."

For his first experiment he put two sets of tomato plants side by side in identical soil. Those grown normally rose to five feet and averaged 14 tomatoes a vine. Dickson says he plucked 60 tomatoes from the wired vines—which grew eleven feet tall.

Then he took two fig trees, part of a shipment he said a commercial nurseryman has discarded as dead. With his electrical gadgets attached, they're now flourishing in his yard.

The retired business college operator makes no claims except to state what he has done and point to results.

Four state and county agricultural experts have looked over his work and they declined to take a stand one way or another.

Mental Millstones are Going Out of Style

Too often we have met a person who was content to wear defeat like a millstone 'round his neck. How refreshing it was to see him resolve to use his neck to hold up his chin! Then he saw a failure for what it should be — not a millstone but a milestone on the road to long-range achievement. It's how well he carried on that was all-important. He had looked defeat in the face and no longer feared it. Nor would he let mild success lull him into lazy contentment. He was ready for his full share of the glorious opportunities that America alone can offer him. He went swinging down the highway with the courage of youth — the spirit of America.

Washington Daybook

By Preston Grover

Washington—When you take that swing around the national parks, which open soon, look long at the hotels, lodges and swimming pools. They are privately owned now. But soon you may have a personal interest in them. Secretary Ickes is planning to take them over.

The secretary can't do it without consent of Congress, which has put up about $30,000,000 to turn the trick, but the House Public Lands committee is for having Ickes take them over and run them. The idea is that prices will be lowered. Ickes didn't commit himself on that. Maybe prices would be knocked down, and maybe not. But he thought the government would do a better job of running the hotels than the private operators.

"I have been opposed and I am opposed to the concession system," he told the public lands committee. "Two bills will be presented to give Congress the opportunity with respect to two parks to wipe out the concessionaire system. I do not believe in it."

The committee didn't stop with the two bills covering Mt. McKinley park in Alaska and Mt. Rainier in Washington, but shaped up a blanket order to give the secretary authority to put the whole works under Government operation. Congress has not acted yet, and there is a lot of controversy over it. But Ickes and the committee members have injected an under-dog idea into the business—and it is hard to vote against the under-dog.

Says Costs Too High
Costs of going through the parks are too high, says the interior department. They build up their case this way. Private concessionaires have to make a profit on their operation. If the government operates, no profit is necessary.

Moreover, most national parks provide only a three, or four month season and a private operator has to make a year's profit on his investment in that period.

What won committee members to the idea was the suggestion that some of the parks, when under government direction, would cater more to the low-cost tourists. Private operators have to cater to the big money tourists, because that is where the profit lies.

That went over big with the far westerners.

"One of the reasons the public has opposed establishing more parks is because people get in there and take all the concessions and make huge private fortunes out of them," said Rep. O'Connor of Montana.

"They don't though. They nearly all go busted," said Ickes.

"Some private fortunes have been made out of park concessions," O'Connor pegged back.

Likes Roughing It
Ickes personally favors the rough and ready wilderness idea of a park but is willing to concede much to keep the limousine trade coming. He thinks more should be done however, for the "sage-brushers" who bring their own tents.

"I have been through Yellowstone Park twice," said he reminiscently, "and I have never slept in a hotel yet—in Yellowstone park I slept under the trees on the trail."

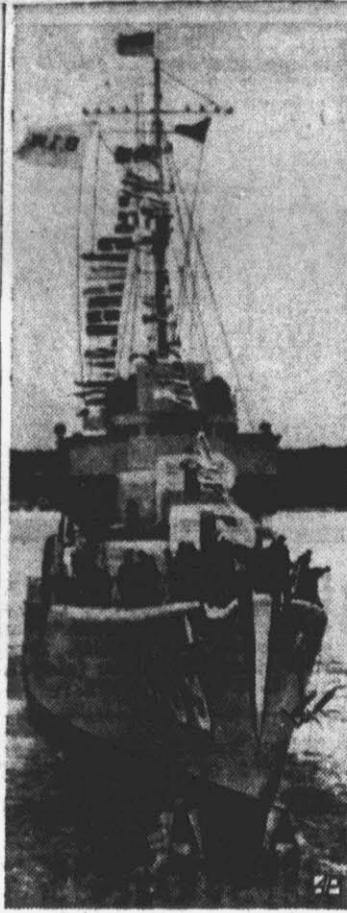

What worries us is what will happen to the college world. Half the college folks we know earned their tuition money by driving rubber-neck busses through Yellowstone, Glacier and Yosemite parks. Gary Cooper got his start behind the wheel of a rubber-neck wagon in Yellowstone. What if THAT gets into the hands of the politicians?

SHORT SHOTS

By HENRY AVERILL and LYNN NISBET

Reflector Bureau
Raleigh, April 12—More than one hundred Unemployment Compensation Commission employees are to be cut off the pay rolls in the very near future.

The ironic feature is that these people, who have been working at the job of paying compensation to the jobless themselves not be eligible for it when they are separated from the pay rolls.

Of course they were fully aware of that fact when they took positions, so perhaps they should not be too much pitied.

Recently Utilities Commissioner Stanley Winborne received a communication complaining loudly that ice manufacturing companies are not classed as public utilities. It seems somebody who owes a company money from one summer wants to be sold ice again this year, and thinks the U. C. might order it done.

In Raleigh's heated municipal campaign now in full swing, one of the candidates for Commissioner of Public Safety is nominally R. C. Powell, but everybody acquainted with the situation will tell you that two of every three votes he polls will be first, last and all the time due to the influence and activities of his wife, "Miss Ann."

Not much has been said in the public prints, but under the surface this same Raleigh campaign is being waged on the issue of gambling and racketeering. Tip book men, tin-horn gamblers of all sorts are out to "get" Chief of Police H. L. Pierce through the medium of beating present Safety Commissioner Teddy Fountain.

Tuesday wasn't really Tuesday at all, but a sort of "Double Bill" on Monday, following as it did "two" and a half days holiday.

"The calm after the calm," cracked one enterprising reporter whose hardest morning efforts had yielded the next thing to a complete blank.

He isn't saying anything about it, but Thad Eure, Secretary of State, is confident he will surprise the State at large by the speed with which his office makes available the bound and printed copies of the "Public Laws of 1939."

Dare's Senator D. Bradford Fearing was around town Tuesday smiling and, as usual, ballyhooing Roanoke Island and the "Lost Colony" to everybody who'd stop to listen.

The whole thing's going to be bigger than ever, he declares with five performances a week this summer.

Oscar Barker of Durham was glad-handing it around Raleigh on Tuesday also. The affable Bull City man has never stopped running for Congress.

In the primaries last summer, only to be nosed out by High Points Judge Lewis Teague, Oscar formed the habit and can't stop.

that Nash sales have shown sharp gains over the comparable periods of 1937 and 1938. He attributed much of Nash's rapidly rising public acceptance to its many distinctive new features, such as "sand-mortex" soundproofing, twin-ignition, valve-in-head engines and the famed "Weather Eye" conditioned air system.

"It is also impossible to over-estimate the powerful effect of Nash's unusually heavy newspaper advertising schedule, which this year is one of the most intensive in Nash history," he said.

GENERAL MOTORS VALUE

LOW PRICE buys quality when you buy an Olds — quality exemplified by all these leading features:

- Rhythmic Ride, a revolutionary new development, exclusive with Oldsmobile, that results in a finer, smoother ride. There's nothing else like it.
- Quadri-Coil Springing. Big, flexible coil springs cushion all four corners of the car. They need no lubrication.
- Four-Way Stabilization controls up-and-down motion, fore-and-aft and side-to-side movement and body-roll — resulting in a steady, stabilized ride.
- Knee-Action Front Wheels, acting independently of each other, step over bumps, ruts and holes in the road.
- Dual Center-Control Steering provides exceptional handling ease and accurate, positive car control.
- Self-Energizing Hydraulic Brakes assure quick, smooth, straight-line stops with minimum pedal pressure.
- 90 H. P. Econo-Master Engine delivers brilliant, all-round performance — saves money on gas and oil.
- 100% Full-Pressure Lubrication with Rifle-Drilled Connecting Rods. All engine bearings and piston pins are pressure lubricated.
- Roomy, Wide-Vision Body by Fisher has extra-large windshield and windows for greater vision and safety.

NASH SALES GAIN IN THIS TERRITORY
Local business is continuing its steady improvement, according to Mr. Oscar Brown, proprietor of Oscar Brown Motors, 118-120 East 3rd street, Nash distributor for this territory, who reports that Nash retail sales in this area during the second 10 days of March were up 100 per cent over the same period last year. Similar gains, which since the first of the year have made Nash the fourth largest producer in the automobile industry, are being registered nationally by Nash, he said. Total U. S. sales of new Nash cars in the second 10-day period of March were up 8.3 per cent over the like 1938 period, up 14.2 per cent over the first 10 days of the month, and up 47 per cent over the last period of February. This makes the fourteenth consecutive 10-day period, he pointed out.

OLD HOME WEEK MURDER

by Phoebe Atwood Taylor

The Characters
 Asey Mayo, Cape Cod sleuth, J. Arthur Brinley, pompous selector of Billingsgate.

Yesterday: Asey finds Kay beaten up by an unknown assailant in the woods. He trails the fellow and is shot at. Asey shoots back.

Worse Than A Greased Pig

Chapter 33

SOMEWHERE away off in the distance, three shots replied to his. Asey nodded. That was Lane, or some one of his men, and they would be heartily welcome.

As the noise of the shots died out, the fellow began to run, apparently realizing that Asey was shooting reinforcements. Asey went after him.

In the chase that followed, he began to understand how Zeb had felt the previous Saturday night.

No matter how grimly he continued, or how many times he tried to raise his speed, the man was always ahead, and just far enough ahead that Asey actually never once saw him. Once he took a shot, but a pot shot had no effect on that speeding, twisting, dodging human.

"If," Asey thought, "the man is human!"

By degrees they circled around to where the ground sloped to the pond and the surrounding marshes.

When they reached the beginning of the marsh land, Asey slowed up.

He had no knowledge of this particular spot, but he knew enough about these treacherous muddy marshes in general to be very wary. In his childhood the marshes near his home had been to wandering cattle what the automobile later became to wandering dogs. A series of pictures flashed through his mind—the time his father's best mare had gone down in a mud hole over by Holbrook's, and the hastily improvised blocks and tackles, and the lanterns flickering, and finally his uncle borrowing a shotgun from Nate Holbrook.

The strange laugh floated out ahead of him, but Asey stood still. Not even on the chance of catching a murderer would he let himself be maneuvered toward that ground.

Instead he sat down and loaded his forty-five.

According to his calculations, he was on the edge of the swampy land east of the pond, and not over three hundred yards from the ice house where he had been with Kay and Brinley and the soprano earlier in the day.

Somewhere, this fellow must have a car. There were two approaches to the pond, the short narrow lane which Kay and Kay had used, and the road where Brinley had left his machine. The latter road was by far the better, but it was also farther from the pond and harder to reach in a hurry. But it seemed to Asey that if he were in this fellow's shoes, he would prefer having a greater distance to cover in an emergency to the chance of being bottled up in that narrow path. It was about three to one that the car was parked on the east road.

Asey decided to abandon the chase and investigate the line of retreat. Trying to do this fellow was on a par with trying to catch the greased pig at the old Barnstable fair, the principal difference being that the pig at least was visible.

After three unsuccessful attempts, he finally reached the east road.

A parked car loomed out of the fog directly ahead of him, and the sight nearly made him whoop.

He waited in the bushes, flashlight in one hand, forty-five in the other. This business was going to come to a finish, right then and there.

At last the man came, sliding out of the underbrush so quietly that Asey almost missed him.

The fellow was panting, Asey noted with pleasure. His breath came in short quick gasps and he walked as though he were utterly exhausted. Asey knew how those feet felt. His felt exactly the same way.

"Flabbergasted"

THE man was abashed of him. Asey's light flashed into his face and the forty-five ground above the fellow's belt buckle.

"My golly! So it's you, is it, J. Arthur? Brother Brinley, the old—say, it is you, isn't it?"

J. Arthur was shaking from head to foot.

"It's me—who—are—in it Asey?"

"Old Mayo," Asey said. "Nurmi Mayo. You turn around. That's it. Keep on reaching. That's right, J. Arthur. You don't mind if I admit to bein' flabbergasted, do you? I'd never suspected it in a hundred years. Feel this gun borin' into your back? You do? Well, J. Arthur, you behave, or it'll go off with r'suits that'll be a rev'lation to you."

With the flashlight propped between his jacket buttonholes,

Continued tomorrow.

Panthers Edge 9-8 Win Over Gilbert's Pirates

High Point Wins In Ninth Verse After 7-7 Deadlock

High Point's Panthers defeated East Carolina Teachers College's baseball team 9-8 in the feature athletic attraction of annual high school day held at the College yesterday.

With the score deadlocked at 7-7 in the ninth verse, High Point sent two runs across the plate on Towery's single and Koontz's infield out.

Coach Gordon Gilbert's boys staged a five-run party in the fourth by combining two double steals, an error, passed ball and a single. Norman Mayo, Pirate centerfielder, banded out a blow to left field good for a homer in the fifth stanza, but Umpire Barnhill ruled him out for failure to touch first.

High Point's hardest blow came off the bat of Ed Greeson, who poked a two-run homer over the left-field fence in the seventh inning. Cochrane Greeson and Scott with two for five paced the winners' hitting.

Joe Hatem collected three singles and Mayo and Walter Moritz a double and single apiece to feature the locals' attack.

Willie Phillips, Pirate relief hurler in yesterday's doings, gave up only one single in the last three innings. Ed Wells of Greenville also showed his ability to handle the ball like a veteran. He was the starting hurler.

Although he gave up 11 hits in 8 2-3 innings, Dave Scott, High Point freshman, turned in a fine hurling performance, especially in the pinches.

Locals Use Two Hurlers Against Visitors Hitting Attack

Roanoke Rapids High scored a dozen runs to trounce Greenville high 12-2 in an Eastern Conference affair at the Third Street stadium here yesterday afternoon.

Wayland Tucker, the locals' starting hurler, went for eight innings giving up a combined total of eight safeties.

Burney Warren relieved Tucker after the eighth, but a barrage of wild pitches and walks sent a trio of rallies across the winners' plate. Warren did not allow a hit, but his doings only added the visitors' scoring spree.

Simms and Joyner went the route for Roanoke Rapids. The locals managed to gather only a combined total of six safeties off the visiting chunkers.

Ford McGowan turned out to be the pacesetter with the willow in yesterday's defeat, Ford's triumph for the day was two singles, a double and a triple and a single. He was the top performer in hitting ways for the Roanoke Rapids contingent.

This was the first tilt of the season between the Greenville and Roanoke Rapids teams. The winners are regarded as one of the toughest foes the locals had to face this season.

DEACON SQUAD IS TOUGH TEAM

To Engage Duke At Guy Smith Park Saturday

Saturday, when Coach John Caddell brings his Wake Forest Demon Deacons to Greenville to battle Duke University's Blue Devils he probably will bring with him one of the strongest squads in Wake Forest baseball history. Boasting a pitching staff that is little short of phenomenal and an infield that functions perfectly, it is no wonder that the present Wake Forest nine has downed all opposition at ease.

To begin with, there is Captain

A SOUR NOTE marked a senate row over whether Sen. Ellison "Cotton Ed" Smith (above) insulted his colleagues by charging that their relief philanthropy "is based on vote-getting."

Erwin Dickens, Roanoke Rapids lad, who is playing his last year for the Black and Gold. Dickens is a captain in more ways than one, in that he is a born leader as well as a fine player. Last summer, he played shortstop on the Roanoke Rapids Owl semi-pro team, which went to the finals in the National semi-pro tournament at Wichita, Kans. In three years of varsity baseball he has compiled a batting average of .330 and his fielding leaves little to be desired.

Flanking Captain Dickens are Woodrow (Pete) Nelson, sophomore second-sacker; Tally Dupree, Angier youth, who holds down the hot corner. These three boys, together with Dave Fuller, make up one of the smoothest-functioning infields in college baseball. Time and again, when the pitchers find themselves in trouble, the Nelson-Dickens-Fuller combination will come up with a double play. In addition to being good fielders, these boys are also handy with the stick.

Each is known as a dandy hitter. Behind the bat, Coach Caddell has William Sweet of basketball fame. Sweet is as peppy a catcher as is found on the diamond, and time and again his fighting qualities have pulled his team through many a tough spot. The outfield, although not boasting the sluggers that Duke will throw against them, nevertheless have three boys that are mighty potent sluggers. In all of the games played thus far, Dick Hoyer, Fred Eason and Jack Williams have been the ones to come through and knock in the runs when they were needed. They should give a good account of themselves Saturday.

As to the pitching staff, this is where the deacons top everything. In Tommy Byrne, sensational left-hander, Ray Scarborough, who almost pitched a no-hit game against State College Easter Monday, and Jim Denning, Angier fireball artist, Coach Caddell has three of the finest flingers that can be found anywhere. It is believed that Byrne will take the mound against Duke, but whoever is selected to pitch, the fans can rest assured that they will see a top-notch performance turned in.

Interest is running high in this city and vicinity for the coming game and it is believed that a record crowd will turn out to see the first Big Five college ball game played in Eastern North Carolina. Not only will they see a ball game, which in all probability will decide the conference championship, but they will also see Greenville's new $50,000 municipal stadium dedicated in a very impressive and elaborate ceremony. Greenville's Junior Chamber of Commerce is back of the dedication program and has expressed the hope that all the citizens will lend their support by turning out for the game and making it a gala affair.

SCOFFS DOSING KIDS WITH 'SPRING TONICS'

Norman, Okla.—(AP)—If children were newspaper editors the announcement of Dr. W. A. Fowler of the University of Oklahoma City would be front page stuff.

"There is," Dr. Fowler said solemnly, "nothing especially beneficial to the patient in a dose of sulphur and molasses, a time-honored but nasty-tasting spring tonic for children."

Dr. Fowler, director of the student health service at the university, said the same thing about other treatments intended to thin the blood in preparation for hot weather. "If parents are determined to give children a spring tonic I suggest they choose a tonic with a good taste," he said.

There are 1,775,000 persons living on cotton farms in Texas, constituting more than 70-per cent of all the agricultural people in the state.

State Attempting To Preserve Quail

Reflector Bureau.

Raleigh, April 12.—Action of the recent General Assembly and the continuous program of the Department of Conservation and Development indicate that North Carolina is determined to preserve one of its greatest attractions for sportsmen—the quail.

Specifically, the legislature put real teeth into the law against selling quail and killed every effort to break down or weaken the state-wide program of game, protection and propagation developed over a period of years.

The Conservation department, meanwhile, is spreading information among farmers telling them that thousands of dozen of quail are how to increase the number of "bootlegged" annually.

"Bob White's" on their lands. The new anti-selling law does just as its predecessors, it flatly and positively bans sale of quail anywhere or at any time, but where as former laws carried on nominal penalties, the new statute sets a $50 fine or 60 days in jail as the minimum to be imposed upon conviction; and adds the ominous "or both" order to give judges, even more power to put the fear of law into dealers in game birds.

Another protective piece of legislation was the statute making it unlawful to use shot guns of more than three-shot capacity in shooting quail, grouse, squirrel or rabbit.

Both laws were backed to the limit before the Assembly by the Conservation department, which reported that investigations have shown

Uncle Sam's Collegiate Fledglings Find Flying Hard Work But Love It

Atlanta—Learning to fly at Georgia Tech means cutting out dates, dances, and other diversions—but 157 applicants sought the training and there was room for only 30.

The civil aeronautics authority picked the Georgia School of Technology as one of 13 schools in which to launch an experimental training program.

President Roosevelt, when he announced the experimental plan, said that if this year's work is successful the instruction may be extended to take in 20,000 students annually in hundreds of schools. This year's students could continue their training.

The faculty estimated the work would add a 25 per cent load to a student's studies. So a check of scholastic records eliminated those already too hard pressed with school work.

Students Love It.
Those finally enlisted are enthusiastic about the course—which has 80 hours of ground school work and from 30 to 50 hours of flying instruction.

The only cost is $10 for a physical examination and $15 for insurance. No college credit is given. Students released the school from accident liability—each has $3,000 insurance.

All of the training work is to be finished by the end of June. The CAA certificate awarded then permits only pleasure flying but may be a stepping stone to commercial flying.

Here's where Uncle Sam comes in, as explained by V. A. Calhoun, head of the flying school in charge of the instruction:
"If war should come, this course

One of Uncle Sam's Georgia Tech fliers dons a 'chute' would make it possible to cut the transition training for military flying practically in half. The cost of the experimental instruction is met with $100,000 of National Youth Administration funds.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, April 12.—(AP)—A sturdy recovery today lifted the stock market out of the depths of its fast retreat on the European scare.

Many shares were up one or more than four as rallying tendencies continued to sway the market near the fourth hour, but most of the upturn came in early dealings and trading contracted on the advance.

Corporate bonds joined stocks in the rebound.

New York Cotton

New York, April 12.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened two to six lower, partly responding to weakness of Liverpool. Bombay, Liverpool brokers and commission houses sold.

Prices showed net losses of four to seven points by the end of the first hour. May was down four to 7.95 and October slipped from 7.47 to 7.42, showing a decline of seven points net.

Midday prices were three to eight lower as May traded at 7.96, off three, and July at 7.71, off five.

Seeks To Escape Unemployment Tax

Raleigh, April 12.—(AP)—The Supreme Court took under advisement today an appeal by the Wachovia Bank and Trust Company from a Superior court ruling that it must pay unemployment compensation taxes.

W. P. Sandridge of Winston-Salem, counsel for the bank, argued that its membership in the Federal Reserve System and the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, as well as its designation by the government as one of its fiscal agents, made it an instrumentality of the federal government. This, he contended, exempted it from the unemployment compensation act.

J. Q. B. Ehringhaus, Jr., argued the case for the Unemployment Compensation Commission. He said the state laws under which the bank was organized and operates make it subject to state statutes such as unemployment law. Membership in the Federal Reserve System, he said, is optional with state banks and such membership should not "nullify and 'brogate the power and authority' of the state.

The court was to hand down opinions late this afternoon.

HINTS TO HOUSEWIVES

Did you ever try baking a thin slice of ham in tomato juice? The flavors blend very well. Put the ham in a shallow pan, cover with tomato juice, a little chopped celery, onions and peppers and bake about an hour.

Red cabbage can always be substituted for white when making cabbage slaw. The red color makes it most attractive to serve with fish or meat. Or use some of each for a change.

Chili sauce and mayonnaise, equal portions, make a delicious sauce to serve with fish, hot or cold.

To soften dried fruits (prunes, apricots, peaches) quicker, soak them in hot, not boiling, water.

Here is a new kind of meat ball: Make meat cakes the usual way and then insert inch cubes of bread soaked in chili sauce. Cover and bake or brown the meat cakes on top of the stove. The sauce flavors the meat from the inside.

A new spring flavor—add a dash of cinnamon to the sugar you serve on strawberries. Cinnamon also helps the whipped cream topping.

for a strawberry shortcake. best to measure them instead of using a given number. From 8 to 10 egg whites will fill a cup.

A Jersey cow stolen at Hale Center, Tex., returned two days later dragging a brand new rope to its owner.

GUARDSMEN LOOSE BREECHES — BUT GET TROUSERS

Lincoln, Neb.—(AP)—They look away the Nebraska national guardsmen's breeches but they substituted pants in their place.

Adjutant General Guy Heninger said the War Department will issue no more breeches to guardsmen, but will supply trousers hereafter.

"It doesn't look as military," he commented, "but it will be easier to fit the men."

Poultry producers will buy about eight per cent more hatchery chicks in 1939 than in 1938, says an estimate by the Federal Bureau of Agricultural Economics.
