SAYS SUCCESS OF DEMOCRACY LIES IN YOUTH

Childrens Conference Addressed by Chief Executive

PARLEY IS HELD AT WASHINGTON

President Says Success of Democracy Does Not Lie in Financial or Military Power

Washington, April 26.—(AP)—President Roosevelt told the White House children's conference today that democracy's success rested "not on territory, financial power, machines or armaments," but on the "deeply satisfying" of its citizenship.

In an address broadcast to the nation Mr. Roosevelt touched on international troubles by quoting from two recent addresses. He recalled his Pan-American day assertion that men are "only prisoners within their own minds" and "have within themselves the power to become free at any moment."

And then quoted from his peace appeal to Reichsfuehrer Hitler and Premier Mussolini that "leaders of great nations have it in their power to liberate the disaster that impends."

"In providing for the health and education of children, for the formation of their minds and characters in ways in which are in harmony with the institutions of a free society," Mr. Roosevelt continued, "democracy is training its future leaders."

"The safety of democracy, therefore, depends upon the widespread diffusion of opportunities for developing those qualities of mind and character which are essential to leadership in our modern age."

The President spoke in the east room of the White House to members of the White House conference on children in a democracy. It was the fourth such conference and Mr. Roosevelt recalled the first was held in 1929 under the leadership of President Theodore Roosevelt.

Honor Rating Won By "Green Lights"

One of the four best papers in the United States, published by high schools having an enrollment of 500-800 was the rating given Green Lights, local high school publication, in the score book recently received from the National Scholastic Press Association which has its headquarters in Minneapolis, Minn. This "All-American rating is the highest honor ever bestowed upon Green Lights."

The N. S. P. A. critical services, analyzing and evaluating the work of school publications throughout America, criticized work of various departments of the paper. For example, under "Headlines" appeared "Your make-ups show evidence of being well and carefully planned. I would suggest, however, that you try to get away from too balanced arrangements."

"You make excellent use of class-work as a source of copy. In fact, your news coverage is excellent in every respect." Green Lights received all points possible under "news coverage" and "balance of news."

Of 1,437 papers entered in the National Scholastic Press Association, 212 were rated All-American.

Having entered papers in the N. S. P. A. for two previous years, Greenville High has gotten ratings of first class.

Chamberlain's Message To Hitler Is Delivered

Envoy Fails, However, to See Nazi Foreign Minister

Berlin, April 26.—(AP)—Sir Neville Henderson, British ambassador, after waiting two days, succeeded today in conveying to Chancellor Hitler the message he brought from Prime Minister Chamberlain regarding British motives for introducing peace-time conscription.

The ambassador, however, had to content himself with seeing Baron Von Weizsaecker, secretary of state in the foreign office, instead of Foreign Minister Von Ribbentrop, with whom he desired to talk.

At the same time the British envoy was being received by a subordinate, the fuhrer himself was welcoming with military honors Alexander Cincin-Markovich, foreign minister of Yugoslavia, a country which has pledged loyal cooperation with the Rome-Berlin axis.

Regardless of the contents of the British message, which were not made public, German official spokesmen made it plain that Hitler's Reichstag speech of Friday, in which he will reply to President Roosevelt's peace appeal, had been completed and that nothing the British prime minister had to tell him would change what he intended to say.

The ambassador's meeting with Von Weizsaecker was comparatively short. It was taken for granted that the latter had passed the message on to Von Ribbentrop to be presented to Hitler himself.

Premier Mussolini of Italy knows what Hitler will say when he addresses the Reichstag.

UNITING MEET IS UNDER WAY

Delegates of Three Branches of Methodism Gathered

Kansas City, April 26.—(AP)—Led by the white and maroon robed seminary singers from Boston University's school of theology, 960 delegates and bishops of the three branches of Methodism marched today to a joint worship service opening the uniting conference from which they hope to emerge as members of one church.

As delegates from the Methodist Episcopal Church, the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, and the Methodist Protestant Church, assembled in Kansas City's large municipal auditorium, no mention was made of an injunction threat which hung over their efforts to bring their 8,000,000,000 churchmen under one organization.

The delegates and several thousand spectators recited in unison the Apostles' Creed, common to all three branches.

Moving into the business session, the delegates adopted the plan of union calling for a temporary organization. By that action they symbolized action to end the schisms of 1828 and 1844.

Dr. L. H. Estes of Memphis, secretary of the Southern church's general conference, was elected secretary of the uniting meeting.

Heads of the three churches said today the united conference "sets before the religious forces of Christendom an example which is both appealing and challenging."

Sacramento, Calif.—(AP)—Certain gardeners who consider a border of milk bottles ornamental have been ordered to cease and desist by the State Department of Agriculture.

FDR REQUESTS FUNDS AT ONCE FOR AIR BASES

Asks That $31,621,000 be Made Available Immediately

SEEKS TO BLOCK RE ORGANIZATION

Although Governmental Changes Generally Approved, Step Is Taken to Block Move

Washington, April 26.—(AP)—President Roosevelt asked Congress today to make immediately available $31,621,000 to start a program authorized in the bill he signed yesterday to strengthen the Navy's air bases.

In addition to asking the cash immediately, the President requested that the navy be given authority to enter into contracts aggregating $65,000,000. The new air base authorized outlays of $66,800,000.

Meanwhile, Rep. Taber (R-N.Y.) took the first step toward blocking President Roosevelt's reorganization plan.

Taber, ranking Republican member of the House Reorganization committee, offered a resolution of disapproval of the chief executive's plan.

The resolution was a short paragraph stating merely that Congress disapproved the reorganization plan number one submitted yesterday.

The President's first proposal for government reorganization met widespread approval in Congress, although a few members objected to specific changes.

Other developments: President Roosevelt was represented as being unopposed to a "reasonable amount" of appropriations for farm parity payments if the money is raised by taxation.

Rep. Cooley (D-N.C.) after a White House visit, also said the President told him he would not veto a processing tax for such a purpose, but was not "promoting" the proposal.

The President in the past has frowned on a processing tax.

Cooley called at the White House with Rep. Ferguson (D-Okla.). Both are members of the House Agriculture committee.

Rep. Martin of Massachusetts, the House Republican leader, said he probably would ask the House this week to direct WPA officials to make public all salaries paid administrative employees in excess of $1,200 a year.

The meeting was called as a result of a discussion of the proposed trade event by the committee on such affairs Monday night. Oscar Vatz is chairman of the special committee which called the meeting.

Wilmington, April 26.—(AP)—The death of Luther Thomas Russ, 20, at a hospital here this morning brought to three the toll in a train-auto crash here last night.

Roger Rochelle, 26, was instantly killed and Miss Selma Costin, young Wilmington girl, was fatally injured when an automobile driven by Russ crashed into the 52nd car of a 60-car freight train at a suburban crossing.

The fourth occupant of the car, Miss Helen Brinson, also of Wilmington, lies critically injured in a hospital here.

Judge Clawson L. Williams this afternoon sentenced T. E. Edmondson of the Falkland community, who was convicted in Superior court here late yesterday afternoon of assault on his wife and also on his wife's brother's wife, but was acquitted of a charge of attempted arson in connection with a fire in his own home.

The defendant was given a 36 to 48 months road sentence, suspended upon condition the defendant pay the court costs, provide adequate support for his family, not use any intoxicating liquor or violate any state laws for the next five years. The judgment provided that if the defendant failed to live up to all the terms of the suspended sentence, capias shall be issued and the defendant required to serve the road sentence.

Supreme Court To Hear Negro Juror Arguments

Raaleigh, April 26.—The Supreme court calendar will be featured next week on the criminal side by efforts of a convicted Negro to escape the gas chamber because, he contends, members of his race were systematically excluded from New Hanover county juries.

On the civil side, chief interest will center on arguments for and against the constitutionality of North Carolina's "Fair Trade Act" of 1937, an act which Superior Court Judge Henry L. Stevens consigned to the trash can in a lower court decision.

James Henderson, Wilmington Negro, was convicted for the slaying of Mrs. Stella Hobbs on November 6, 1938. A week later he was arraigned and tried, sentenced to die. His attorneys, Alan A. Marshall and "Bill" Jones, court appointed, base their appeal on the contention that Negroes have been systematically excluded from New Hanover juries. They offered Clerk Tom Woody of the Board of County Commissioners, who testified that in his 15 years experience names of Negroes were put into the jury box

Liggett And Myers Co. Strike Brought To End

BABSON TALKS ABOUT LIQUOR

Noted Authority Says Prohibition Party Again Active

By ROGER W. BABSON Boston, April 26.—I am not now speaking for or against any political party. I, however, do say it is a disgrace, both to the Church and to Democracy, to have the best people of our country divide their vote between the two major political parties. This is especially true in connection with the liquor problem.

In saying this, I am not referring to the great harm liquor is doing to our people, especially to the youth. I am not even thinking how this harm may strike our own homes and ruin our sons and grandsons—yes, and now, even the girls of our families. No one is obliged to drink and a proper campaign of education as to the evils of liquor could save most of these young people. My reason for being against the commercialization of liquor, gambling, vice, and similar evils which now flourish under both Republicans and Democrats is because of what these evils are doing to Democracy.

I am convinced that only by crushing the traffic in these evils can Democracy be saved. I go further and say that the American people are now fast approaching the time when these evil interests will be running the United States government. If our Constitution is thrown over for Fascism, it will be due primarily to the liquor, gambling, vice and other rackets. Even today, the liquor interests claim that they elected President Roosevelt and that it is up to him to protect them.

As a statistician, I am especially disturbed by the arguments which the liquor interests use in connection with taxation. They claim that liquor is contributing about $500,000,000 a year to Federal and State treasuries. They, however, are telling only one-half of the

Employees Return To Work in Durham and Richmond

Richmond, Va., April 26.—Employees of Liggett and Myers Tobacco Company, Richmond and Durham N. C. plants returned to work today after ratifying an agreement described by union leaders as giving them "99.99 per cent" closed shop.

Company representatives and spokesmen for striking members of the International Tobacco Workers union announced yesterday that an agreement had been reached ending a nine-day strike by some 900 union employees of the local plant.

Representatives of the Durham local were members of the union's negotiating committee.

The union received a "preferential shops" clause in the proposed new contract, as well as a blanket five cents per hour was increased.

In lieu of the preferential shop clause the union accepted a company statement which was read to the union membership by the president, W. O. Hartberger, said:

"In the interest of promoting a more harmonious relationship the company approves of its employees becoming members of the union and therefore it is further desired by the company that those employees not now members of the union shall become members."

The agreement also provided for an upward adjustment of wages for several classifications.

The services were conducted by Rev. W. A. Crow, Methodist minister of Grimesland. Burial followed in the family cemetery.

ACT DESIGNED TO WARN FOES

Announcement of Compulsory Peace-Time Military Service Also Considered an Assurance to Poland, Rumania and Greece that Britain is Prepared to Back Guarantees

London, April 26.—(AP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain, in an unprecedented statement in the House of Commons today, announced Britain will compel all men of ages of 20 and 21 to bear arms in the British army.

These men who were born during or immediately after the World War, will be compelled, Chamberlain said, to serve six months in regular army units and then will be given the choice of joining the territorial army or the army reserves.

According to the last census there were 747,131 men of those ages in England, Scotland and Wales, but it was not believed that more than half of them would be available.

The announcement brought compulsory peace time military service to Britain for the first time in modern times. This break with the tradition of voluntary service was designed as a warning to Italy and Germany and an assurance to Poland, Rumania and Greece that she is prepared to back up her guarantee of their independence by drastic measures.

Prior to the conscription, Chamberlain had said that Britain was ready to discuss with the German Government a "general settlement."

In response to a question Chamberlain said: "The British government would be ready to take part in a discussion with the German government with a view to a general settlement if they were satisfied such a discussion would be welcomed and would likely to have useful results."

Chamberlain added that "although the British government had not received a specific invitation from President Roosevelt to participate in a world conference, he had made it clear that he warmly welcomed his initiative and would be willing to participate in any conference."

OLD HOME WEEK MURDER by Phoebe Atwood Taylor

The Characters Assey Mayo, Cape Cod sleuth. Kay Thayer, girl reporter. Yesterday: The criminal eludes Assey, but he discovers Lane's car was used. Meanwhile, Brinley picks up one of the dummies he found in the road.

Chapter 45 More About Dummies

NOW, Lane, Assey said, "which was the dummy that you said had dropped, the one that toppled over all the time?"

"That one," Lane said, "with the scarf around his neck. The one you just brought in from the lawn. That was the one that dropped, but I fixed it."

"An' this one from Brinley's car, with the stock an' fancy vest?" "That's the one that's just acquired drowsy," Lane said, "just today. I was going to fix it tomorrow. What in the name—what are you doing?"

Assey set to work disrobing the dummy he had just brought in from the lawn. "But it's the other one," Kay said, "it's the one on he took. Assey! You're working on the one that was here, the one he didn't take, the—"

"I know it." "But he continued to rummage around in the pockets and the lining of the tall coat belonging to the figure he had just taken from the lawn."

"There!" he said triumphantly at last. "There! Catch, Lane. Catch 'em an' hold 'em. There's your clues."

Lane and Hamilton stared blankly at the two shells Assey had brought out of the lining of the figure's coat.

Hamilton turned to Kay. "See what I mean?" he asked. "I knew he was after something."

"Assey," Lane said, "how did you guess that?" "On Monday night," Assey said, "I went to the fire at Slade's shack. When I cut across lots to this place, them dummies scared me to the point of drawin' my gun. But get this, Lane. I saw only three figures. Two women, an' a man. Next day I said somethin' about it, an' you told me that one man kept fallin' down. So I thought of course that the fourth figure'd been on the ground when I first saw 'em. But it's been botherin' me, all this time, just the same. Because I was certain of there bein' three then, an' only three later when Zeb an' I drove up. An' I couldn't remember one on the ground either time."

"But there really are four figures," Kay said. "Two men and two women, what do you mean, only three—Lane's look alieced her."

"Put it this way," Assey said. "When I came here first on Monday night, there was three figures standin' outside, but the fourth wasn't on the ground. It was in the woods. An' somebody was busy peelin' off his coat an' things, an' puttin' on the dummy's clothes. Then—the land rolls there, remember. Then he slips down easy an' cautious, dressed in the dummy's clothes, with his shotgun under a white sheet to his feet. To any car goin' by, or anyone passin', he's just a dummy. An' he can wait there for his chance to shoot Mary. An' he's also, Lane, in the proper place to fire accordin' to your line."

Lane nodded slowly. "I begin to see—that's why I placed him over by the garden, where the figures wouldn't have been in his way. I need, thought about—go on."

"The fireworks begin," Assey continued. "Mary Randall leans across the window to get a cigarette box. Fellow shoots twice at her head outlined on the shade, all under the cover of the fireworks noise. He don't have to run. Because if anyone hears, or catches on, he's the dummy on the ground again. But no one comes Jane's listening to the concerts on the short wave, with static galore, an' the fireworks is boomin'. He waits till he feels he's safe, an' then cuts back to the woods to put on his own clothes. An' then, I'd say, to his great annoyance, Zeb an' I come back durin' the process."

"But the shells," Lane said. "How do you account for—?" "In The Pocket!" "Wait. He's stuck 'em in his pockets—he must have re-loaded, an' he knew better than to leave the shells. So he sticks 'em in his—that is to say the figure's—pocket. Then Zeb an' I come. We rattle him. He changes in a flurry, puts the dummy's clothes back on it, an'—"

"But now wait," Lane said. "There were four dummies there when I came with the doctor. I know that. The fourth was on the ground then."

"Sure it was. Zeb an' I go in, see? the dummy, puts the hat on—it's held on with safety pins, see? Anyway, after dressin' up the dummy, he rolls it down the slope an' goes. The dummy lands back where it should. An' I'm willing to wager that about halfway home, the fellow remembers the shells in that pocket."

"Then why didn't he come right back?" Hamilton asked. "Maybe he did. But Lane's here, and the doctor, and Weston, and Zeb and Jane and L. An' mind you from that time on, there's not a minute so me one hasn't been around this house. He hasn't any chance to get to the dummy. See, he's got to take the coat off, an' hunt around in the linen, because there's a hole in the pocket. It's easier for him to plant shells, an' he does it, probly while Prettyman is here. It's a lot better to give the shells that'll lead us to Jane an' her gun she gave Slade, than to get caught findin' the real shells, or have anyone catch on where they are."

"All he really needed to do," Lane said, "was to pose as a tourist. The tourists nearly picked those figures apart the last two days."

"Probly would have, if he could have posed as one. But someone's on guard here all the time. Anyone tryin' to find anythin' is suspect. If he could be sure of gettin' the shells right off, that'd been fine. But I had to grope for 'em. That's a stiff interlinin'. He knew he might have to grope, an' that'd have given him away."

"What was he after the night I met up with him?" Kay asked. "Got to guess at that," Assey told her. "He had a s'cencer. I shouldn't wonder if he didn't intend to silence the cop an' take his shells then. Maybe he was just waitin' for some chance when he could get 'em. But he runs into you, an' into me."

"Now, what about Eloise?" "Let's settle this first. Tonight our friend comes right out in the open, apparently havin' d'cided he ain't gettin' places with his skullin'. Barges up in his car—"

"My car," Lane said. "You know, that he's previously borrowed from the fillin' station. I should think that kid there might lose a lot of cars, if that's the way he looks after 'em. Anyway, fellow comes with his radio goin' full blast, to make us think it's a bunch of kids, or a parking assistants, or all three in one. Reverses his ordinary methods. Grabs the figure that's down, thinkin' of course it's the same one that was down the other night. Only Lane's mended the one he wants, an' this is the other. But not bein' a fool when he's through his searchin', he dumps it out on the road for someone to find, so we'll find that it was just kids havin' fun."

"Risk involved" "Wouldn't he have done the same," Kay said, "if he'd got the right figure?" "Sure. He'd have dumped that after he got the shells. But it come over me sudden about Lane fixin' 'em, an' I just wondered if there wasn't a chance the fellow got fooled. But no prinkin' soul was after 'em, they'd take the one nearest the road, not this that was farthest away. Wouldn't have gone at my tires so careful, so's not to be followed in case of a slip. There was a risk involved in stealin' that figure, but it was important enough to him to take it. Well, Lane, there you are. That's how Mary Randall was killed. There's your shells."

"Isn't there a chance that he might come back for the other figure?" Kay asked. "He might. Stick 'em back. Hamilton, an' have someone watch. But I don't think he'll be back. He ought to be disposin' of his shotgun. If you hadn't talked so about that figure fallin' figure, I'd have passed this off as kids. After all, we can't prove your car was taken, even when we know it. Maybe Kay an' I followed two other cars. Maybe Sammy slashed the tires. But—well, we found the shells. Now all you got to do is to find a gun that fits."

"That's all," Lane's laugh was hollow. "That's all. But one thing I know, those shells didn't come from Jane's gun. Altogether different mark. We'll play with 'em for prints. Why do you suppose, Assey, after stealin' Jane's—that is, Slade's—gun, another was used?" "Praps he preferred his own to a mail order one," Assey said. "Praps it was just his idea to plant all he could on Jane, in passin'."

"What I'd like to know," Kay said, "how did he manage to get back so quickly, if he took Lane's car?" "After he whizzed by us," Assey said, "after the axle broke, he might have turned right around. Might have been the first car that passed by us. Can't tell. Probly he'd already thrown the figure out by then—Lane, I hear any number of cars outside."

Zeb Chase dashed in, followed by Jeff Leach and Weston and Brinley. "Weston and I," Brinley said, "want to know what's going on."

"I've been tearing around," Zeb said, "tryin' to find some track of you, and when I just went back to Aunt Sara's, Jeff said he'd called Brinley, and Brinley said you'd been there—what's happened?" "Come on Kay," said Assey. "Zeb's takin' us home with Jeff."

WILL OBSERVE COURT HEAR'G

McMullan to Sit in on High Point Power Row

Reflector Bureau. Raleigh, April 26.—Attorney General Harry McMullan will be an observer at the hearing Thursday on the High Point hydroelectric power project controversy.

Whether his role will change from "neutral and unofficial" to "counsel in the case" will depend upon the course taken by the hearing, Governor Clyde R. Hoey said today.

The Governor again emphasized the point that the State of North Carolina has no interest in the case except insofar as it may determine sovereignty over the Yadkin river.

"I have told the Attorney General to sit in on the Thursday hearing as an unofficial observer in order to follow the course of the case; and I have authorized him to intervene in his official capacity as Attorney General of North Carolina if it becomes apparent that control of the Yadkin becomes a determinative issue," he said.

The Governor said he has read all pleadings in the case, which is an action by a group of High Point taxpayers who seek to enjoin the city from proceeding with its plan to erect a huge hydroelectric plant on the Yadkin for the purpose of supplying High Point with power.

In the case, he said, plaintiffs have made allegations regarding the Yadkin and its control, but the city has moved to strike all such allegations out as immaterial to the issue. Should the Yadkin question be removed, then Mr. McMullan, of course, would not intervene.

The Governor pointed out that no definite action has been decided upon with reference to the suit of Yadkin county to restrain High Point from condemning lands there.

In this case, he said, control of the Yadkin is apparently made an issue by an answer of the city, setting up its right to condemn under a license from the Federal Power Commission. It is to resist federal control of the river that the state will intervene, if at all.

Line-Ups For Opening Game Announced By Managers

Gala Opening And Parade To Be Staged Here Friday

UNDECIDED ON LOCAL HURLER

Wilson Announces King Will Be Held For Friday

With the exception of the Greenville pitcher, line-ups for the opening game between Wilson and Greenville in Wilson tomorrow were announced today by skippers of the two teams, Rube Wilson and Frank Rodgers. The game will be called at 4 o'clock.

Wilson announced that he had not decided who he would put in the box, but said it would be Badger, Wilson or Spence. He added that he would save Don King for the opening tilt here on Friday.

Miller has replaced Cochran in right field. Cochran left suddenly without advising anyone early one morning last week. He is under contract to the local club and will not be able to play professional ball with any other club. Skipper Wilson said he probably returned to his home and is playing semi-pro ball.

The local roster has been cut to 17 men, six of whom are pitchers. Taylor, who hails from Winter Park, Fla., has been secured as relief catcher. Smith, who had a slight attack of appendicitis and went to the hospital for an examination, is out and will take his place in the opening battle.

Allen, Greene shortstop, will be the first batter up in the opener tomorrow. Ralph Simpson and Mutt Miller follow, with Whitey Weaver batting in the clean-up spot.

The line-ups for tomorrow's game were announced as follows:

Greenville

Allen	short stop

PHANTOMS WIN 15-9 VICTORY

Defeat Winterville In Rather Ragged Game

Staging a four-run rally in the ninth frame, Coach Bo Farley's Greenville high school Phantom nine scored a 15-9 win over the Winterville Bobcats in the second meeting of the two teams at Winterville yesterday.

Both outfits offered loose and ragged play as several errors were chalked up against both teams. The Phantoms took an early 6-3 lead as a result of a four-run party in the second inning. Bill Taylor's mighty home run was the feature of the spurt.

Winterville kept pecking away at the Greenville lead and finally knifed the count at 8-8 in the seventh stanza. Hobgood, Reids and Pede slammed out hits to mix with a number of G-Men miscues to score their runs.

Waylan Tucker started on the mound for the Bees but was pulled for a pinch-hitter in the seventh. Bill Taylor took up hurling duties from his point and set the losers down with one run in his three-inning turn.

John Lautares, utility infielder, who played second base in yesterday's tilt, led the Greene attack with a pair of safeties. Taylor also featured at bat, knocking in four runs for the Phantoms.

Yesterday's victory gives the Parley-men a record of four wins and three losses in 1939 diamond contests. However, the G-Men do not stand so high in Eastern Conference standings. The Phantoms have two loop wins to their credit with three defeats chalked up against them.

Notice is hereby given to all creditors and others who may be interested, that the partnership business between F. A. Elks and Arthur J. Elks, operating under the name of Elks Clothing Store, has been dissolved and terminated. F. A. Elks having sold all of his right, title and interest in same to Arthur J. Elks; said Arthur J. Elks assumes and will pay off all debts and liabilities of the said Elks Clothing Store; and the said F. A. CITY OFFICIALS HONOR GUESTS ETC DEFEATS NORFOLK TEAM

High School Band, Highway Patrol, Police and Fire Departments Scheduled for Parade Friday

Greenville will have its official opening day Friday afternoon when the Wilson-Greenville baseball tilt in the new Guy Smith park will follow a parade and other ceremonies. The game is scheduled to start at 4 o'clock.

J. B. Eure of Ayden, president of the league, has been invited to be present and throw out the first ball of the game. The mayor of Wilson and the president of the club there have been invited to join Mayor Marvin K. Blount, members of the Board of Aldermen and other city officials in places of honor for the home opening. Alderman J. M. Taft is chairman of the aldermanic committee handling the stadium and reports everything will be in readiness for the game. Martin Swartz, water and light superintendent, who is supervising the installation of lights at the park, City Finance Officer Marvin L. Westmoreland and others will take part in the parade, as well as club officials.

The parade will form at the High school building and is scheduled to get under way at 3 o'clock with the High School band, members of the State Highway patrol, city police department, the fire department and others participating.

The march will proceed down Cochran street to Third, west on 3rd to Evans, thence to Five Points and down Dickinson avenue to the Atlantic Coast Line tracks.

Manager Rube Wilson has announced that he intends to assign the pitching duties to lefthander Don King.

Orders Audit of A. & N. C. Raleigh, April 26.—AP.—The Council of State voted today to have State Auditor George Ross Pou make an immediate audit of the State-controlled Atlantic and N. C. railroad.

The line, which runs between Morehead City and Goldsboro, is to be leased to H. P. Edward of Sanford as soon as details can be worked out, and both Edwards and the Council of State expressed the opinion an audit should be made.

AL SIMMONS HURT IN GAME

It was a tense moment in the game between the Boston Bees and the Brooklyn Dodgers at New York when Al Simmons of the Bees was hit on the back of the head by a pitched ball and fell to the ground unconscious. Bending over Al a moment after he collapsed is his teammate, Tony Cucicello. Beside them stands ump Sears. Simmons was taken to a hospital but soon he felt well enough to complain of hunger.

Season tickets to all home games, except the July Fourth contest, have been placed on sale at $22 and may be purchased either from Secretary D. C. Moore, Jr., or at the ticket booth at the park. Fans will realize a saving of $2.50 by purchasing the season tickets.

If you really want the low-down on these new Nash cars, step right up to the next bright and shining face you see behind a Nash windshield. (You may have to shout—for when those windows are up, he can hardly hear anything on the outside.)

Don't be backward—because he's aching to tell you all. Only, if he talks like a man from California, you be a man from Missouri. Don't let him get away with a thing.

When he claims that engine is so smooth he can hardly hear it, edge inside... make him step on the starter and prove it. Cock your ear... and feel the floor-board for the vibration that isn't there.

When he boasts about the terrific pick-up of the new Nash engine—just ride with him up to the next red light. Watch his fingers flick that gear-shift—feel that cushion behind you flatten out.

Then look back to see the other cars! When he waves his hand in the air then you know he's trying to describe the feeling of the Nash Fourth Speed Forward.* For it's not driving—it's more like flying, and Webster needs new words to describe it.

If you ask about the Nash "Weather Eye", he'll tell you how he drove all last winter without an overcoat. He'll show you how low dust, bugs, drafts, are spirited away forever. (Be sure to see the cigarette trick.)

Just try to get away without him telling about the Nash convertible bed... or the special soundproofing and shock-absorbers that only Nash uses.

And if he tells you some whoppers about Nash economy, don't try to argue back. For these big Nash-Lafayette models beat all cars in their price class in the Gilmore-Yosemite economy run with 21.25 miles to the gallon.

G. Mayo, Susie Mayo Moore, Maude Mayo Warren et al. Ex Parte, now pending in the Superior Court of Pitt County, the undersigned Administrator will expose to public sale before the Court House door in Pitt County, North Carolina, to the highest bidder for cash, on Monday the 15th day of May, 1939, at 12 o'clock noon, the following described real property to-wit: That certain house and lot lying and being situated in the Town of Greenville, Pitt County, North Carolina, and being on the North side of Fourth Street and situated between the lot owned by The Standard Oil Company and the Holiday lot, and fronting 50 feet on Fourth Street and running back 109 1-2 ft. and described as follows: Beginning at an iron pin on the North side of Fourth Street Hollidays line, corner on said Fourth Street and running in a Northerly direction with said Hollidays line 109 1-2 feet to L. C. Skippers line, thence in a Westwardly direction with said Skippers line 50 feet to a stake in the Standard Oil Company's line, thence with said Standard Oil Company's line in a Southerly direction 109 1-2 feet to an iron pin on the North side of Fourth Street, thence an Eastwardly course with the property line of Fourth Street to the beginning.

This sale will be made for the purpose of making assets to pay the indebtedness of the estate of Mattie E. Vines.

TRY A DAILY REFLECTOR WANT AD

You be a Man from Missouri

When he waves his hand in the air then you know he's trying to describe the feeling of the Nash Fourth Speed Forward.* For it's not driving—it's more like flying, and Webster needs new words to describe it.

If you ask about the Nash "Weather Eye", he'll tell you how he drove all last winter without an overcoat. He'll show you how low dust, bugs, drafts, are spirited away forever. (Be sure to see the cigarette trick.)

Just try to get away without him telling about the Nash convertible bed... or the special soundproofing and shock-absorbers that only Nash uses.

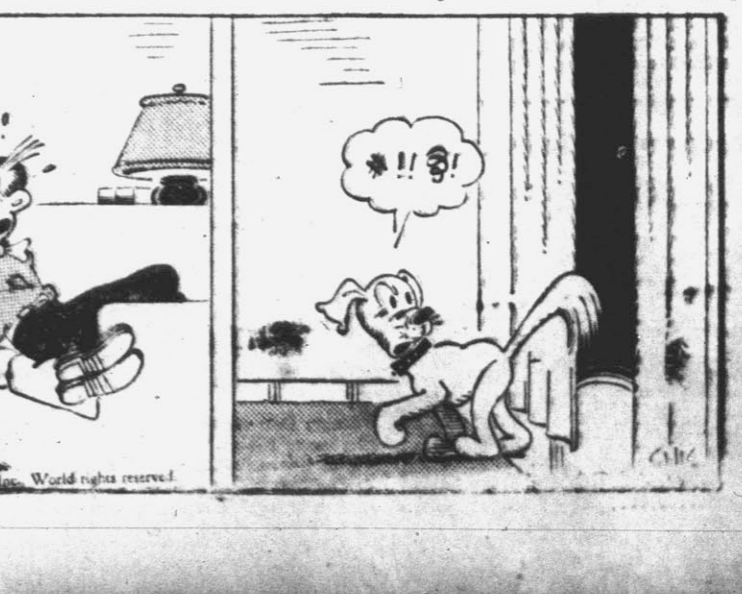

And if he tells you some whoppers about Nash economy, don't try to argue back. For these big Nash-Lafayette models beat all cars in their price class in the Gilmore-Yosemite economy run with 21.25 miles to the gallon.

According to the people who own it, this new Nash is a veritable "Paul Bunyan" of a car. There doesn't seem to be anything it can't do!

Frankly, in all our 24 years, we've never had such enthusiastic owners. We do hope you'll talk to one of them—before you buy this year. And you can't spend much less for a new car—for ten Nash models are priced next to the lowest!

MARE GIVES BIRTH TO HORSE AND MULE TWINS

Farmer Ben Gritton of Lawrenceburg, Ky., rubbed his eyes in wonder when his five-year-old Percheron mare foaled twins—and he gasped in astonishment when he looked a little closer and observed one was a horse colt and the other a mule. Even the odds on twins being born to a mare are 25,000 to one. As for one being a horse and the other a mule, nobody in the Lawrenceburg community ever heard of such a thing. Gritton is seen riding the mare with the twins following. The mule is on the right.

RADIO COURSES TO BE OFFERED

Will Be Available At University This Summer

Chapel Hill, April 25.—Two courses in radio and one in photography will be given by the University of North Carolina Physical Department with the cooperation of the Extension division during the first term of summer, June 2 to July 18. It was announced today by R. M. Grumman, Director of the Extension Division.

One course—amateur radio—is planned for high school science teachers, aviation radio amateurs and others, including high school and college students who are interested in preparing for building and operating stations of their own as a hobby. Mr. Grumman said, it is designed to aid anyone who wishes to prepare for an amateur radio operator's license examination and at the same time, to improve the technique of those who already hold such licenses.

The other radio course is offered to high school science teachers and college students interested in studying radio and electronics for college credit.

Lectures, laboratory and code work will be given by Dr. Sherwood Githens, assistant professor of physics at Wake Forest College. The daily routine will include two lecture hours and two Morse code classes, and during the two weeks each student will perform approximately 15 laboratory experiments with important pieces of communication apparatus.

Each student may, if he wishes, spend his spare time in building pieces of radio equipment for himself using the student shop under the guidance of Prof. Nestore DiCostanzo of the Physics department.

Putures drifted lower after the call, but a steady undertone was maintained at gains of two to four points.

Some foreign buying appeared and prices picked up a little during the second hour, ranging around 2 higher at midday.

N. Y. STOCK MARKET

New York, April 26.—(AP)—A fall in steel shares and a sudden run-up in Eastman Kodak provided lively side-acts for the stock market today.

Trading continued small as speculative held down commitments, waiting for the Hitler speech Friday. Minor gains were mixed with moderate losses near midday.

CHICOD FINALS SPEAKERS

HON. THAD EURE

REV. F. E. MORRIS

Fourteen proud seniors will step across the stage of Chicod high school auditorium on Friday night, April 28, to receive the insignia of four years work. This night will culminate eleven years of work for the coveted final night of graduation.

These fourteen boys and girls are the only remaining ones from a fairly large class.

The baccalaureate sermon was delivered on Sunday, April 23, by Rev. F. E. Morris of the First Baptist Church of Winterville. He is considered one of the best speakers in the county.

The following boys and girls are to be graduated on April 28:

John Aster Clark, Elmer Ray Loftin, Earl Sadler, Norman Stanley, Doris Buck, Roselyn Cox, Thelma Lee Edwards, Lena Mae Ramsey, Arline Stanley, Llewellyn Sutton, Iris Wall, Essie Wiggins, Ruth Williams, Pauline Taylor.

This class is the smallest that has been graduated from Chicod high school in a number of years. But it makes up for its lack of size in its accomplishments of various kinds.

WHAT PRICE CHIVALRY? IN THIS CASE—$60

Providence, R. I.—(AP)—Glendon E. McFarlane told Judge Luigi de Pasquale he was driving an automobile because his "best girl friend" became "jittery" over foggy conditions.

Judge de Pasquale said that was commendable but pointed out that McFarlane had no driver's license. The fine was $60.

Good Government

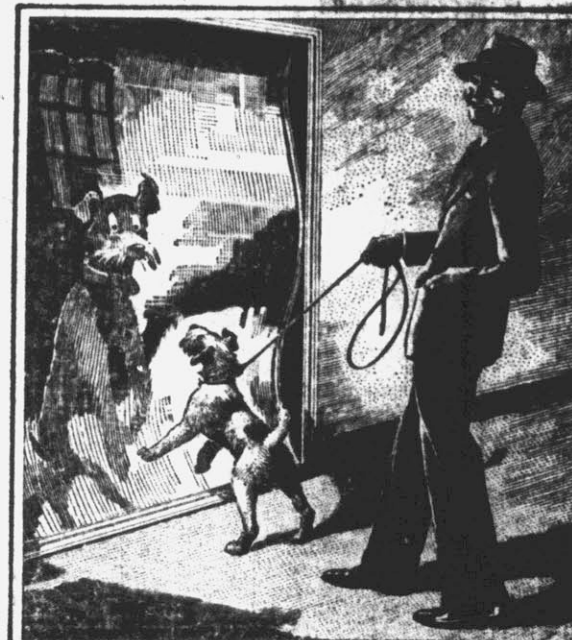

Good Government is not a burden to taxpayers. Good Government pays no political debts contracted by politicians. Good Government is impartial, shows no favoritism. Good Government supports and helps to maintain the best schools. Good Government is not dominated by factions, groups or special interests. Good Government creates no easy jobs for political supporters. Good Government is progressive within its ability to pay, not beyond. Good Government is equally fair to all citizens, giving all the same consideration. Good Government spends its money wisely, insisting that the taxpayer's dollar buys its value.

I favor Good Government. May I depend on your help and support in the election next Monday.

In this land blessed with boundless energy and skill... rich in human as well as natural resources... the successful man of tomorrow will give credit to his clear understanding of today. New opportunities invite us daily to share by doing our share... to have courage for day-to-day problems and confidence for long-range planning. Such is the program of those who are young in heart and viewpoint... and it is they whom America rewards.
