U. S. TREASURY CASH BALANCE IN GOOD SHAPE

No Necessity To Borrow 'New Money' This Summer

TO REFUND NOTE DUE SEPTEMBER

Secretary Morgenthau Declares Balance Sufficient To Balance Books Until Fall

Washington, June 1.—(AP)—Secretary Morgenthau announced today that the Treasury will borrow no "new money" this summer, but will refund a note issue coming due in September.

The Treasury head said the $2-464,760,293 cash working balance in the Treasury was sufficient to meet the difference between expenditures and income at least until the next financing date, which is September 15.

On Monday, Morgenthau said, he will announce an offer of a new five-year note to the holders of 1426,554,600 worth of one and three-eighths per cent Treasury notes which mature September 15.

The interest rate on the new notes will not be disclosed until Monday morning, but Morgenthau said it would be the lowest for a comparable security ever offered by the Treasury.

Discussing the reasons why additional cash will not be borrowed this month to pay governmental operating expenses, the treasurer said the word "ample" in the description of the Treasury's present cash resources should be "underlined."

College Prepares For Alumnae Day

High spot of Alumnae Day at West Carolina Teachers College on Saturday, June 3, will be the reunion of the 25-year class, the 10-year class and the one-year class, all of which will take part in a morning program at 10:30 that will find its keynote in the theme, "Silver Linings."

Miss Mamie E. Jenkins, known to every graduate for her work in the E. C. T. C. English Department, will act as alumnae hostess for the day. Mrs. Kate Beckwith, lady principal in the early days of the college, will be a guest of honor.

At the morning program, Mrs. Louella Lancaster Staniel, winter-term state president of the E. C. T. C. alumnae, herself a member of the 25-year class, will preside.

For another member of this class, the commencement will have a double significance: Mrs. S. J. Avrette, Oxford, celebrating the 25-year reunion, will see her daughter, Mrs. Marie, receive her diploma along with around a hundred and fifty other members of the Class of 1939.

President of the 25-year class is Miss Bessie Doub, assistant dietitian at W. C. U. N. C. Their faculty adviser, Miss Maria Graham, will welcome them back.

Developing the theme of "Silver Linings," one member from each of the classes, 1914, 1929, 1934 and 1938, will speak for a few minutes, and President Leon R. Meadows will speak briefly.

Here's how Maj. Gen. George Van Horn Moseley, retired, looked on the witness stand in Washington as he told the Dies committee investigating up-American activities that he has repeatedly warned Gen. SALVAGE WORK GOES FORWARD

Rear Admiral Satisfied With Progress Being Made

Portsmouth, N. H., June 1.—(AP)—Ascertaining he was satisfied with the progress of salvage work on the sunken submarine Squalus, Rear Admiral C. W. Cole said today it was important that the public realize that this necessarily is a slow tedious task.

In charge of the Squalus when it sank a week ago Tuesday, the admiral declared the work was proceeding according to routine, with efforts now under way to blow out 800 tons of water from the water-filled aft compartments which house the 26 dead.

The forward sections of the submarine already have been placed under air pressure and when buoyancy is induced into the remainder of the craft pontoons will be brought out for the actual raising process.

For every 10 minutes of work by a diver under the 40 fathoms of water, there is 45 minutes of "dead" time while the diver is being lowered and raised.

James McDonald, master diver, agreed the task would be slow, but added, "We'll get her up."

Poles Not Surprised At Molotoff's Reply

Warsaw, June 1.—(AP)—Polish circles took a calm view today of Soviet Foreign Minister Molotoff's speech rejecting British-French assistance alliance, one informant termed it an "obvious and not unexpected instrument of bargaining."

Newspapers gave prominent display to the speech without editorial comment.

Quick Peek At Royalty To Cost From $3 To $10

By PRESTON GROVER Washington, June 1.—(AP)—Anybody wanting to see King George and Queen Bess from the luxurious divan of the Pennsylvania hotel lounge or the dusty window of a dollar flophouse will pay $3 to $10 for the privilege and there are plenty of takers.

Kings come high and seldom in this democratic city, and in places the price for a berth at a window is higher than at an inaugural. Room prices mostly are two or three times the normal rate, but 2,000 per cent up in others.

OLD AGE BILL LOSES ON VOTE OF 302 TO 97

Backers Say Result Be Remembered At The Polls

BILL'S FAILURE BEEN EXPECTED

Attorney General, Meanwhile Announces Counter Espionage Activities Tightened On Coast

Washington, June 1.—The House defeated the Townsend old-age pension bill on a 302 to 97 roll call vote which the bill's backers declared would be remembered "when the next election rolls around."

That the long-discussed proposal would bob up again in political campaigns and in Congress was deemed sure by proponents and critics alike. They also had agreed in advance it had no chance of passage today.

In the last few minutes of debate, Representative Dirksen, speaking to members "with faint heart and faltering feet" showed that the bill was "more absurd than painted on the floor of this house."

He asserted that a Townsend leader had told him the Townsend group did not expect the bill to pass, believed it would take a year to draft a "proper bill" and thought the constitutional amendment route was a better way.

Dirksen said this man told him, "We didn't want this bill to pass." Representative Hendricks (D-Fla.), who sponsored the bill, demanded to know who the man was amid applause. Dirksen said it was a Mr. Jeffrey, whom he described as a vice president of the Townsend movement.

Dr. Francis E. Townsend, the movement's founder, told newsmen that L. W. Jeffrey was a vice president of the Townsend organization.

The bill to pay pensions up to $200 monthly to persons 60 and over, would have provided revenue for paying its benefits through a graduated transactions tax ranging from one half of one per cent to two per cent.

Other developments: Attorney General Murphy announced the Justice Department was tightening its counter espionage activities on the West Coast, where a number of military naval (Continued on page six)

MASS SUICIDE IS THREATENED

Jews Denied Entrance In Cuba; Are Kept Under Guard

Havana, Cuba, June 1.—(AP)—Police in launches and aboard the German liner Saint Luis kept a close guard today at the request of the captain, who feared a series of suicide attempts among 917 German Jewish passengers, denied entrance to Cuba.

The passenger-refugees were to start back to Germany this afternoon unless a last-minute decision permitted their immigration here. The ship's representative was instructed to deliver a memorandum signed by women and children aboard the Saint Luis to the wife of President Bru, requesting her aid in seeking permission for all to land.

One refugee slashed his wrist and jumped overboard Tuesday. He was rescued by Captain G. Schroeder, who informed authorities he feared a "collective suicide pact" was being considered and declared that a "state of mutiny" might result if he were forced to take the Jews back to Germany.

They were refused permission to land when they could not show Cuban consular visas, passports and Cuban labor department permits.

NAVAL FLIERS DIE IN CRASH

Killed When Plane Plunges Into Pensacola Bay

Pensacola, Fla., June 1.—(AP)—Two fliers of the naval air station here were killed today when a training plane plunged into Pensacola Bay.

Naval officials identified the men as Joseph S. Fox, 34, Seattle, Wash., lieutenant, junior grade naval reserve, flight instructor; and Alfred Peter Ivy, 23, Norfolk, Va., aviation machinist's mate, student at the air station training school.

The pilot of another plane aloft at the time alighted and made futile attempts to rescue them.

Fox was married last Friday to Miss Norma Cook.

FEAR FELT FOR TWO CHILDREN

In Critical Condition Following School Explosion

Barberton, Ohio, June 1.—(AP)—Two small children and a janitor were given serious fighting chance today to survive an explosion caused by gas, which demolished a makeshift public school building.

Doctors described as serious the condition of four others, including a teacher. Thirty-one of the 57 injured were confined to hospitals.

The blast occurred at mid-afternoon yesterday, blowing out walls and buckling the floors of the two-story, eight-room structure, a residence converted last fall into a temporary school for first to fifth grade pupils.

Those near death were "First Graders" Dorothy Young, 6, and Frances Fisher, 7, both injured about the head and body, and P. S. White, 58, janitor, critically burned.

The State Department of Industrial Relations opened an investigation of the tragedy, reminding of the 1937 New London, Texas, school blast in which 297 children and teachers met death. The Federal Bureau of Mines ordered two chemical engineers who have specialized in gas to investigate.

"The worst part of this is that some of the little girls probably will be disfigured for life," said a workman who aided in rescue work.

Fire Chief Claude Wither said evidence indicated gas accumulated in the basement from a leak near the building's foundation.

More Revenue Eliminates Necessity For Diversion

DC 24 — MORE FRANKS Reflector Bureau.

By HENRY AVERILL, Raleigh, June 1.—All necessity for, or chances of, diversion of highway funds at the end of the current fiscal year vanished with release of the May revenue report showing that North Carolina's tax collections have gone soaring far beyond original budget estimates and even something beyond the last estimates made by Commissioner of Revenue Allen J. Maxwell during the General Assembly session.

The commissioner pointed out today that should June collections for the general fund from all sources run as much as $2,000,000, the state's revenue for the year will be sufficient to leave a surplus of more than the $2,200,000 upon which the 1939-41 biennium spending estimates were based.

He then pointed out that June collections from the sales tax and from privilege taxes alone should approximate the two million mark. The sales levy should bring in at least as much as it did in May, when it yielded $972,429.27, while privilege taxes are quite likely to reach the million mark by reason of the fact that all Schedule B taxes are due and payable June 1 and it is during this month that the collectors make a concerted drive to get this money into the till.

Elsewhere along the revenue front there is likely to be a falling off in other items such as franchise, inheritance, income, beverage, intangible, gift and miscellaneous.

An inspection of the May report, coupled with estimates for June, indicate that Mr. Maxwell scored one of his accustomed bull's eyes when he made his revised estimates (Continued on Page Four)

BRITAIN STILL HAS HOPES FOR RUSSIAN PACT

Believes Soviet Will Finally Be Brought Into Bloc

LATEST BRITISH DRAFT REJECTED

Moscow Holds Out For Guarantees To All Countries On Russia's Western Borders

London, June 1.—(AP)—British official sources expressed belief today that Soviet Russia eventually would be brought into the British-French front, but said Russian insistence on guarantees for the Baltic states on her borders presented a "difficult problem."

There was no official comment on the speech by Soviet Premier and Foreign Commissar Molotoff rejecting the latest British-French proposals, but one spokesman pointed out that Molotoff himself said negotiations still were under way.

The foreign office awaited a formal note from Moscow before determining the specific points at variance.

Molotoff's speech indicated the main point was how the proposed British-French-Soviet mutual assistance pact would apply to other European states.

Molotoff said it must guarantee all the countries on Russia's western borders—Finland, Latvia, Rumania, Poland and others.

The British-French proposals had provided for Russian military aid in the event Britain and France were involved in war carrying guarantees to Poland, Rumania, Greece and Turkey, but no mention was made of the Baltic nations.

The proposals did provide, however, that signatories would aid any European states which were attacked if those states asked for help. The British contended this would take care of the Baltics and would satisfy those small nations.

Fire Loss In May Below '38 Figure

Chief George Gardner of the Greenville Fire Department reported three fires in the city during May left damage of $34,700, the entire loss being caused by a short circuit in the freezing unit motor at Askew's market.

No damage was reported from the other two fires.

Firemen also were called to two fires outside the city limits, one at Harvey's Dairy and the other in Cooperfield, for which no record of loss was filed.

In May last year the city had a fire loss of $46,100, all but $100 having been caused by the Webb's warehouse blaze, this figure comparing with the $34,700 loss for May of this year.

The total loss to date this year is $7,397.42, compared with a loss of $58,453.17 up through May last year.

Chief Gardner explained that all figures were based on settlement of losses.

Continue Search For Missing 60-Foot Boat

Belhaven, June 1.—(AP)—The search for the missing 60-foot sloop still continued here today, with no trace of the craft and its crew of three having been seen since they unsuccessfully tried to put in at Hatteras during a storm Sunday.

A deckhouse sighted yesterday and at first thought to have been that of the sloop, later was identified as that of the Dixie, which sank Sunday night, with no loss of life, however.

Greenville School For Young Ladies
Has closed the spring term without the usual formal closing exercises, very much to the disappointment of teachers, patrons and friends. We understand that a very enjoyable operetta was being prepared and it was to have been given at the opera house, but at the most critical point, when the roll had been completed and after several drill rehearsals, two of the leading characters were taken sick. It was then too late to take substitutes or to change the play, so all had to be given up. We shall claim this treat on the school, however, and hope to have it paid up before the summer is over.

Joint Hostesses To Book Club.
Bethel, June 1.—Mrs. Leland Andrews, Mrs. Tom Andrews, Mrs. Clara Mae Roberson and Mrs. Sam Whitehurst were joint hostesses to the members of the Round Table Book Club and their husbands at a banquet served by the Bethel Public Library committee in the Methodist Church dining room.

The table was beautifully decorated in candles and white, purple, and orange flowers carrying out the club colors.

The program opened with two songs by the guests, led by Dr. Connel Garrenton, after which Mrs. Sam Whitehurst, presiding hostess sang a welcoming song. Mrs. Leland Andrews welcomed the guests with a short talk, and other speakers of the evening were Mrs. Abbot McWhorter, president of the book club, Mr. John Burton Bunting, who represented the husbands, and Mrs. Tom Andrews. Mrs. Clara Mae Roberson led two interesting contests and the highlight of the evening was the songs rendered by the husbands' quartette. A very enjoyable three-course dinner was served and the banquet ended with "Good Night, Ladies," sung by all.

"Husband Night" is an annual feature of the book club and is the outstanding social event of the club year.

The members and guests present were as follows:
Mr. and Mrs. Tom Andrews, Mr. and Mrs. Leland Andrews, Mr. and Mrs. Leighton Blount, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Bunting, Dr. and Mrs. Connel Garrenton, Mr. and Mrs. John Hooker, Miss Olive Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Abbot McWhorter, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Latham, Mrs. Clara Mae Roberson, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Powell, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Powell, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. John Staton, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Clayton Whitehurst, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Whitehurst, Mr. and Mrs. M. Y. Self.

Mrs. May Ill.
Mrs. Charles B. May is critically ill in Pitt General Hospital. Mrs. May was formerly Miss Mildred Mae Clark.

Miss Bostic Complimented.
Another of a series of charming social courtesies complimenting Miss Margaret Bostic, bride-elect of this month, was the bridge party given yesterday afternoon, when Miss Pearl Lautares entertained at her home on East Ninth street.

The entire lower floor presented a delightful picture with bouquets of mixed garden flowers. Bowls of lilies, larkspur and maiden hair fern were placed upon the auxiliary tables and in mantel arrangements. Guests were received by the hostess and invited into the spacious living room where a refreshing drink was served prior to the bridge games.

At the conclusion of the games Mrs. Dick Evans, high scorer, was presented pottery and Miss Harriet Lloyd, low scorer, was awarded crystal ash trays.

A delicious salad course and demitasse was served by the hostess.

A number of additional guests joined the group at the refreshment hour. They were seated in the dining room. Each guest's place was marked with a corsage of sweet peas. The table, covered with a cloth of Italian cutwork, was centered with a beautiful bride's bouquet and white tapers in crystal candleabra burned at either end of the floral arrangement.

The individual tables were centered with white candles in silver holders tied with white tulle.

The hostess remembered Mrs. Dave Mosier and Mrs. Tom Rivers with hand painted prints.

Miss Bostic's gift was china in her chosen pattern.

The stories "Ask Mr. Bear" and "The Three Billy Goats Gruff" were then dramatized.
Mrs. Charles White gave a demonstration of the various phases of her work with the children in music—songs with action, game songs and scale songs were sung. Next came the Rhythmic Orchestra. This showed excellent training. Especially was "The Midnight Train" special with its three part grouping and perfect timing. The rhythmic activities illustrating the ability of the children to express with their bodies what they hear in the music come next, also a delightful group of children's folk dances.

After these, the children invited their mothers to see some of their work on display: sewing, woodwork, drawings and paintings, clay objects and a block town.

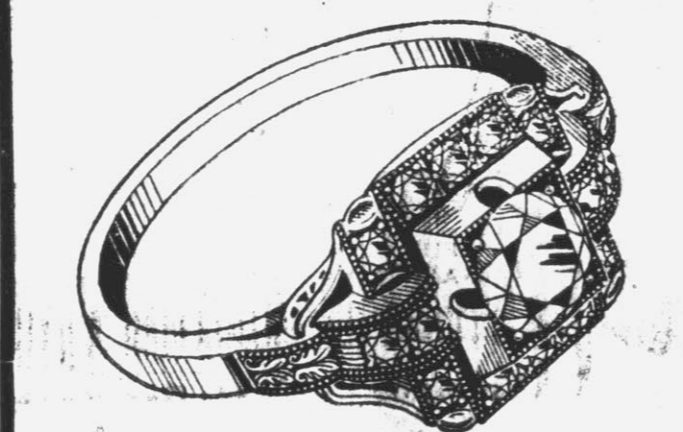

The children served their mothers with ice cream and goodies.

When good-byes were said the mothers left feeling that the children had accomplished much in social, musical and aesthetic growth.

 By Preston Grover

Washington—Maybe it is Roosevelt luck or Wallace luck, but at any rate the drought is hitting the wheat and corn belt just as it did in 1936 to give the administration a wide open opportunity to show the effectiveness of its farm-aid setup.

Most people don't look upon drought as anything but a calamity but politics finds strange bedfellows and if a drought comes along and crawls under the sheets with Secretary Wallace he is not obliged to complain.

Lately Secretary Wallace has about been written off as a presidential candidate for 1940 because of farm program difficulties. If he came handsomely to the rescue of the Midwest he might have to be written on again. And President Roosevelt could expect enhanced popularity in the central states where Republicans in 1938 did in his congressional candidates.

There isn't the slightest intimation in this that any member of the administration is delighted with the appearance of drought. From President Roosevelt down to the last outgoing county agent drought economic loss. But in 1936 it meant political gain and in that light it may show up again this year.

Wheat And Corn Hit
 Already both wheat and corn crops have been damaged by a dry spring and a current shortage of rain. Crop prospects shrink with every sunny afternoon but the result while hitting individual farmers, is to absorb more and more of the surplus of corn and wheat which has flooded the market and the Department of Agriculture for two years or more.

Until recently the prospects were that a healthy new corn harvest would come on while the country still had 400,000,000 bushels hanging over from the 1938 crop. The past surplus of corn has swelled pork production so much that the department has been issuing warnings that pork was going to be almost a drug on the market. There has been some unozelial exploration of a barter trade of pork and lard to Germany in exchange for Nazi threshing machines and barbed wire.

But with the shrinkage in prospect now this carryover may come in handy. Even considering the current surplus, a real drought such as hit in 1934 and 1936 could leave the country with a dry wind to many increase prices of corn and pork at once.

The same goes for wheat, where until the drought appeared a normal crop seemed certain to leave the present 270,000,000 bushel carryover untouched.

Decreases Dairy Surplus
 Not only does drought shorten the wheat and corn crop but it decreases dairy supplies. Dairy products have been in such quantity this year that they are one of the items now being pushed along through experimental relief stamp sales.

A substantial increase in prices would almost certainly diminish the complaints that have come from the farm belt about the administration agricultural program. Dollar wheat is a synonym for heaven to a Dakota farmer, even if the drought hasn't left him so many bushels to sell.

In 1936 President Roosevelt made a personal tour through the farm belt, held conferences with the governors and even met the then Republican candidate for President, Alfred Landon. The Resettlement Administration already had reached the field in force, extending relief that tempered the dry wind to many a shorn farmer. The same machinery is available and will go into operation if the drought hit.

Chapter 28
Gramp's Trickery
 JOCELYN jumped up and caught his arm. "Thorn, what in the world are you raving about? Sit down and control yourself."
 "Sure," he sputtered, "control yourself! Let's see how you'll control yourself when I tell you every cent of our money is gone! Lost. We're penniless paupers! That old fool there talked me into putting every cent of our inheritance into Texas oil land—only there's no oil on it. There never has been and never will be. There isn't oil within miles and miles of it. It's barren, just-covered prairie not even fit for grazing! It happens to be the identical thousand acres that the Macks abandoned... and we own it!"

Gramp fumbled surreptitiously for his crutches, his eyes on the door. He deflected weakly: "Now, Thorn, that ain't no way to talk. I never told you to buy it. 'Tain't fair to blame me."
 Thorn dropped into a chair and covered his face with his hands. He groaned: "Gone—every cent gone! I'd like to kill that old fool! What can we do?"

So many words tumbled on Jocelyn's lips—angry words, accusations, recommendations—but she only said: "Oh, Thorn—oh, Gramp—how could you do this to me?"
 Thorn's voice, muffled by his hands, ran on: "Well, why don't you say it, Lyn? Why don't you remind me I had no business judgment? The money was yours and Bob's as well as mine. I'm practically an embezzler, I... I'm a stupid fool. Why don't you say those things, Lyn? You're thinking that I won't blame you if you hate me."

Lyn fighting, won her battle for composure. She said: "I don't hate you, Thorn, although you were foolish. Rather expensively foolish—forty thousand dollars worth."
 "I know," he groaned. "Lyn there's no money at all. Not even enough to pay the servants' wages, or the grocer, or any of the monthly bills."

Jocelyn walked over to the windows fronting the ocean. The two men watched her in silence as one of her slender hands gathered the homespun drapery into creases, released it, then creased it again. Without turning her face to them she said at last in a steady voice: "Talbot Mack is no fool. Thorn: He paid you back with interest for every insult and injustice you perpetrated on his family. He has made both you and me as poor as he is. Somehow I can't seem to blame him much. We were pretty awful. Anyway, that's that. You'll have to sell both of our cars. Thorn: The money will pay the servants and other bills and leave some balance to carry us until we make plans. Now, if you don't mind, I'd like to be alone for awhile."

Thorn grudgingly picked up Gramp's crutches and helped the old man fit them under his arms. He thought how difficult it would be to wrap one around old Mack's neck!

Readjustment
 "SORE, ain't you?" Gramp inquired when they were out in the hallway.
 "Certainly. Why shouldn't I be? If I hadn't listened to your lies—what's more I don't believe you're the least bit regretful. You're glad we're as poor as you are! You schemed and planned this for months, you... you thieving old fox!"

"Well," Gramp said cheerfully, "seems as if you got to blame your bad judgment on somebody besides yourself. Might as well be me. I been blamed for lots of things in eighty-odd years—o' livin'."

"Yes, and I'll wager you deserved it!" Thorn muttered. "You're pretty smart, aren't you? I underestimated you. You're too smart for an old man. Well, your plot against the Russells succeeded. You've more than evened your score for the way we treated you and your family. I hope you'll enjoy our ruin!"

"I will!" Gramp cackled, hobbling into his own side of the manor, laboriously closing the door between the two hallways. Jocelyn scarcely heard them go; was only subconsciously aware that the door had closed and silence enveloped her staid room. It seemed to her now, as she stared out at the blue sea, white-capped by a determined October wind, that her life had been carefully built on the sandy beach at Sealcliff and had been suddenly tumbled, topsy-turvy, by crashing breakers.

She analyzed the causes carefully. Geoffrey, her solid bulwark there wouldn't be so many rackets.

Dr. J. S. Doughton, general factotum of the State Fair, was in his office at the Department of Agriculture this week. Essays he'll be here off and on from now until the big October event is run off again this year.

George Uzzell, Rowan's colleague of Pete Murphy in the General Assembly, was a capital city visitor on Wednesday. But this correspondent didn't get a chance to find out whether he is already campaigning actively for the 1941 Speakership.

This is attributed to, but not proved on or confirmed by one of the Supreme Court justices in discussion which involves $3.13 and the constitutionality of the Sales Tax. Mr. Leonard's claim for $3.13 principal, it's the interest on it.

The Department of Conservation and Development is distributing several thousand copies of "North Carolina, Variety Vacationland," its latest publication of which $5,000 copies are to be printed.

The title is the same as last year's

SHORT SHOTS

Reflector Bureau.
 Raleigh, June 1—It's not the heat, it's the humidity or something. To prove it look at the class of political gossip of late—Maxwell for Governor as an Anti-Sales taxer; Lindsay Warren for President; Capus Wayne for Budget Director; Dick Fountain again a gubernatorial candidate.

Today's orchids are awarded by this column to B G Brooks, operator of the Carolina Bowling Club here.

Approached by a slot machine distributor with a proposition to put one of the bandits in the club, Mr. Brooks said, not violently but decisively enough to make his meaning quite clear:

"I'm 39. I've been making my living for about 21 years, without violating the law and I'm too old to beg in now."

booklet designed to attract the summer visitor; but its contents are completely different from cover to cover. It contains hundreds of new pictures from the first (a color shot of a girl in a canoe on Lake Lure) to the last (a bathing girl on the coast and a golf scene at Pinehurst).

The booklet begins at the extreme east of the state and away back at the founding of Roanoke. Lateral color by Sir Walter Raleigh some 350 years ago. There are pictures of sand dunes of "The Banks," the Old Cape Hatteras light house, the courthouse at Edenton, the Wright Memorial.

Pictures and text then move west into the Piedmont, thence over into mountains, with pictures of Indians who were in North Carolina before Virginia Dare and of many beautiful scenes from the "Land of the Sky."

The general theme is that every month in the year is a real vacation month in North Carolina. This idea is portrayed on the inside of the cover page, with twelve pictures portraying sports typical of each of the months.

Passing on to other subjects—State Senator Jack Morphy from Graham, a man who is familiar with western North Carolina, its politics and prejudices, says that there's a good chance that Swain county will vote for legal liquor stores. On the other hand, he sees only the slimmest chance that Buncombe will vote anything but dry.

 Once you leave the big hotel district you find Pennsylvania avenue full of history, hock shops and beer dens. One side of the street is grand and gorgeous with the marble and granite buildings of the famed Federal Triangle, but the other is a hodge-podge of rusty, white washed ruins.
 If you have a drag with some of the federal help with offices along the happier side of the avenue, that is nice—for you get a grand view for nothing. But those places are in demand, what with a hundred thousand job holders loose for the big day.
 Across the street at Azul's second story billiard and table tennis haven we priced one of his three windows.
 "If it's your family," says Azul, kindly like, "I'll make it $3 a head if you take the whole window. You can easy get seven—some of 'em kids—around that window." That levels us. We haven't seven—some kids—and can't get them by June 8. His prices for the King are higher than for inaugurals.
 "If you don't see one President you can see another," he says, "but a King—if you don't see this one you may never see another."
 At the neat Mount Vernon hotel on Pennsylvania and Fifth the price is $10 a window in a two window room that usually rents at $1 a night. We tried a vacant building next door and that's been rented to a concessionaire who will sell seats on a wooden bench at $3 and up.
 The lowest price will be at the Volunteers of America next to the precinct police station, where $2 seats can be had on the second floor. A few gentlemen guests can view the King from the men's dormitory on the third floor at $1 a head. And the money goes to sweet charity, part of it to keep a girls' refuge.
 Nearest to broken hearted was the liquor store dealer on Sixth and Pennsylvania. Forlornly he pointed to the bank of trees which screened his windows like a British fog.
 "Fifty dollars I could make in ten hours if the King comes in February, March, April, May, when it's no leaves but no. The King don't come 'til June and I can't see nothing but leaves, leaves, Jeppers."

 for the legislators while they were struggling to attain an approximate balance between anticipated revenue and proposed spending for the next biennium.
 Without going into individual items, it is noted that the Maxwell estimate was that the state will collect approximately $34,500,000 in general fund revenues for the fiscal year that ends with this month. If the June collections approximate the anticipated $2,000,000, then Mr. Maxwell will have been proved a very fine estimator.
 Through May 31, the total general fund revenues amounted to $33,029,831.72; but in arriving at the state's share of them for the year there must be subtracted slightly more than half a million in intangible tax money which will be distributed to local government units.
 This will leave the net state revenue to the end of May at approximately thirty-two and a half million dollars; and adding two million for June would make the thirty-four and a half million Mr. Maxwell said back in March would be collected.
 It seems quite likely that the June figures will, in fact, go above this two million mark—May's collections of $2,253,627.22 indicating as much, because the month of June normally shows little, if any, decline from May's receipts.
 The May figures were somewhat surprising in the increase they showed over May of last year, though there is, of course, to be taken into consideration that fact that about two-thirds of the net total increase was due to the wholly unpredictable inheritance tax collections. In brief tabular shape, here's how 1939 compares with May, 1938, report: 1939 1938 Increase Inheritance Tax ..... $294,008.36 $ 52,136.54 $241,871.82

 Privilege Tax ..... 324,336.54 282,365.80 41,970.74
 Franchise Tax ..... 161,762.00 126,834.49 34,927.51
 Sales Tax ..... 972,426.27 890,324.05 82,102.22
 Beverage Tax ..... 298,338.17 150,111.51 148,226.66
 Miscellaneous ..... 37.06 9.00 28.06
 Total ..... $1,050,868.37 $701,567.35 $349,301.02

Here are the May items showing increases from the same month in 1938: 1939 1938 Increase
 Income Tax ..... $185,151.60 $378,336.43 $193,184.83
 Intangible Tax ..... 17,527.08 27,343.32 9,816.24
 Gift Tax ..... 37.90 481.73 443.83
 Total Increases ..... $202,716.61 $406,161.48 $203,444.87

Which yields a net increase for the month of $342,784.53, with the May total standing at $2,253,627.22 against the $1,910,842.69 for May, 1938; or a percentage increase of 17.94.

Getting around to consideration of some of the trends shown in the May figures, it is noticeable that the upward movement of sales tax collections, which started around the first of this calendar year, continued. For the first half of the fiscal year the figures for each month run behind the corresponding 1938 reports; but the reversal has been sufficiently strong to forecast without too much danger that total sales tax collections for the current year will run about eleven million dollars, only some quarter million short of last year's final, and about $150,000 above Mr. Maxwell's March estimates to the General Assembly.

For the eleven months of this fiscal year, total sales tax receipts were $10,858,759.71 as compared with $10,233,353.28 for the same months last year. A June total the equal of last month's will put the sales tax in the eleven million bracket this year and it seems probable that this will be attained, as June collections are usually as high as May's.

The grand total of general fund receipts for this year's eleven months is running only 7.45 per cent or $2,656,282.77 behind last year; with approximately half the difference accounted for by failure of rich Tar Heels to die during the period. Inheritance tax collections are off about a million two hundred thousand. All the rest of the deficit is to be found in the income tax item where this year's collections are just about a million and a half lower than last year.

All in all, the May revenue report indicated that North Carolina isn't in perilous shape financially and that business, on the whole, seems to be holding up better than mid-June fair.

GRACIE ALLEN GETS 5 FOR 5

Christopher Makes Good Showing Upon Return

A team which resembled the regular Greenville line-up more than any one that has taken the field in some time last night won an easy victory over the Williamston Martins behind the superb pitching of Don King.

Don fanned 10 men and allowed only five hits in scoring a 7-1 victory over the Martins at Guy Smith park.

After the Greenies had scored three in the first frame, chasing out from the mound with two out, the Martins made their single tally in the second, the only inning in which they got more than one hit. With two out, O'Malley singled, Tallegue walked and Diem singled. King, however, struck out the next man to retire the side.

Greenie scored its three first-inning runs on four safeties, a base sacrifice, Allen, first man up doubled, Christopher and Rimmer followed with singles, Allen scored on Rimmer's single. Heavener walked, Christopher scored on a wild pitch and Rimmer came home on Wilson's sacrifice fly to right. Jenkins fanned, but Calliguri doubled, Heavener being held at third. Olson was relieved by Levin at this point and forced Smith to fly out to second base to retire the side.

Greenie also added a single score in the second. Allen tripled, following his double in his only other trip to the plate. Christopher also hit again, scoring Allen, but was left at first.

The Greenies made one hit in each of the third, fourth and fifth frames, but were never able to score. In the sixth, however, they garnered four hits to account for another three runs. King, first man up, singled to left. Allen doubled, his third straight hit, having gotten a single in the fourth, and King went to third. Christopher doubled, scoring King and Allen. Rimmer flied out, but Heavener doubled to score Christopher. Swain relieved Levin in the box for the Martins and forced the next two men to fly out to end the scoring for the game.

Allen, with a triple, two doubles and two singles, led the hitting, getting a total of nine bases in his five trips. Christopher got a double and two singles in five trips. These were the only Greenies to get more than one safe blow. Both Christopher and Allen returned to the line-up for the first time in several games. They started in the Snow Hill game here Tuesday night, but rain held the game at the end of the first inning.

Vincent Smith also returned to the line-up last night and, although a little stiff, added strength to the team. Ralph Simpson, centerfielder, now is the only regular Greenie on the sick and injured list.

GIRLS' FEAR OF FAT HURTS SCHOOL MILK PLAN

Edinburgh, Scotland—(AP)—The senior girls' fear of growing fat has pushed down the number of pupils participating in Scotland's "milk-in-school" scheme.

An investigating committee reported that other causes were distaste for milk, interference with normal appetite for the midday meal, and the scornful attitude of older pupils who regard milk drinking in schools as a "childish practice."

215,000 New Homes.

New York—(AP)—Some 215,000 families were provided with new homes last year, according to F. W. Dodge Corp. This year is expected by these building statisticians to show an increase in residential building of 13 per cent over this figure—which was the highest since 1929. The dollar value of these homes, however, was the highest since 1922.

To Be Sworn In As Member Of Board Of Agriculture

Reflector Bureau. Raleigh, June 1.—Claude T. Hall of Roxboro, 49-year-old state farm leader and chairman of the North Carolina Tobacco Growers Advisory Committee, will take oath of office as new member of the State Board of Agriculture at the next meeting of the board, Commissioner of Agriculture W. Kerr Scott announced today.

He was appointed by Gov. Clyde R. Hoey last week to succeed T. G. Curran of Oxford.

A life-long farmer, Mr. Hall cultivates 1,000 acres of land of his 3,400-acre farm in Person county where he was born May 13, 1890. His work as chairman of the Tobacco Growers Committee has brought him recognition throughout the tobacco-growing areas and resulted in his selection by the Roxboro Kiwanis Club as Person county's outstanding citizen in "agricultural and community service" in 1937.

He has been president of the Graham Production Credit Association which serves Person, Durham, Orange, Caswell, Chatham, Rockingham, Guilford and Randolph counties, since its organization five years ago, and is also chairman of the Person County Soil Conservation Association.

The desire to look her best has done strange things to the modern woman.

The end justifies the means, for her, even if she has to resort to maneuvers tabooed by the masculine public.

The compact and the lipstick are acknowledged accessories to the modern woman's purse. So are several other so-called beauty items. "When may I use my make-up?" asks one young debutante seriously. "I don't like to put it on in public, either, but everybody does—and I feel almost naked when I don't."

The answer is: Put it on well when you're in your boudoir. Then do your retouching as seldom and inconspicuously as possible.

It's all right to powder your nose in public, but don't take all day about it. And don't try too much fancy work with rouge. Remember, you're simply repairing damages temporarily.

It's also all right to add a touch of lipstick without going into hiding. You often need it after you've finished a meal, for instance. But you don't have to go into facial contortions about it—or use a fistful of implements.

There's one thing you must NOT do, however. That is comb your hair in public.

...tive than to enact the bill which would permit the Treasury to issue long-term bonds up to the legal debt limit. Such bonds now are restricted to a total of $30,000,000.

Herbert E. Gaston of Oregon and New York was nominated by President Roosevelt to be an assistant secretary of the Treasury. Gaston, who has been serving as a special assistant to Secretary Morgenthau, would succeed Wayne Taylor, fiscal assistant secretary, who resigned about six months ago.

Major General George Van Horn Moseley, retired, told a congressional committee that while he disliked some of Hitler's methods he approved his restoration of control of Germany to "the hands of the German people."

Testifying before the House committee investigating un-Americanism at a hearing prosaic in contrast to yesterday's turbulent five-hour session, the rugged former commander of the fourth army corps said Hitler had "solved the racial problem" as well as the problems of international finance and trade.

Burning Of Forests Fails Check Insects

It would appear that North Carolina farmers who for years have been burning their woods and fields in the belief that this burning helps to destroy harmful insects, such as ticks and boll-weepers, and other wise helps their land, are all wrong, according to Assistant State Forester W. C. McCormick in charge of forest fire control in the Department of Conservation and Development.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture in Washington, through its Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine, has recently informed F. A. Silcox, chief of the U. S. Forest Service, that it does not recommend the burning of woodlands as a means of controlling plant pests and insects, Mr. McCormick said.

In a letter written to Chief Silcox of the U. S. Forest Service by Lee A. Strong, chief of the Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Mr. Strong says: "In official statements issued by the bureau recommending the use of broadcast burning of forest areas or other woodlands for the control of forest insects.... The present tendency is to develop new methods of controlling or preventing bark beetle outbreaks without the use of fire."

Division of Forest Insect Investigation: "This division does not recommend the use of broadcast burning of forest areas or other woodlands for the control of forest insects.... The present tendency is to develop new methods of controlling or preventing bark beetle outbreaks without the use of fire."

Division of Insects Affecting Men and Animals: "This division does not recommend the use of fire for the control of ticks and fire ants, etc. We recommend the burning of woods for the control of the screw worm or other insects affecting man and animals. There are many stockmen and others who firmly believe and advocate the burning of pastures, which may involve wooded areas, for the control of various species of ticks and chiggers. Some evidence is at hand that such burning accomplishes the destruction of large numbers of these pests, though careful experiments to determine the effectiveness of fire on these insects have not been conducted. We have never suggested the use of fire in connection with the control of fire ants and it is our opinion that it has no place in combating those pests. Until the use of fire in the control of ticks, chiggers and other insects has been established, we shall not recommend the use of this medium."

Division of Cereal and Forage Insect Investigation: "The burning of woodlands is no longer recommended by us for the control of the chinch bug or any other insect with and aviation bases make "special vigilance" necessary.

Asked why this activity had been quickened, Murphy said, "Because we think it ought to be done."

"We're taking adequate measures," he said. He added there is a "great deal" more espionage on the West Coast than ever before.

Wherever necessary, he said, efforts will be made to deal with espionage on the East Coast.

Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) asserted in the Senate that Congress merely would be "postponing the evil day" of a $45,000,000 debt by approving legislation to lift present restrictions on the issuance of government bonds.

Nevertheless, Vandenberg said he thought Congress had no alterna-

College Commerce Graduates Listed

Six of the seven students who chose Commerce for their major work at East Carolina Teachers College when the Commerce Department opened its doors for the first time in January, 1936, will be among the graduates of the college when diplomas are given out on June 5. They are Misses Sallie Anderson, Halifax; Lena Mae Ehrhardt, Whitakers; Joyce Harrell, Herford; Lucile Lewis, Wilmington; Helen McGinnis, Greenville, and Nancy Page, Trenton.

Added in response to repeated requests of superintendents and principals for teacher training in commerce, the department has had a remarkable growth in its two and a half years. This spring it has 200 students specializing in the field, in contrast to the seven of that first year; 400 are enrolled for same course, in place of the 40 at the beginning; and 23 courses are scheduled, rather than the three offered at first. In addition to the head of the department, E. R. Browning, there are two other full-time teachers, Miss Lena C. Ellis and Miss Velma Lowe.

Equipment, which now includes micrographing machines, adding machines, a bookkeeping machine, nearly 50 typewriters, and up-to-date tables built by the Industrial Arts Department, was purchased a little at a time through the use of a laboratory fee.

As the department has outgrown space allotted it in Austin Building, it will be moved into the ground floor of the new classroom building as soon as that is ready for occupancy next fall. Additional equipment will be added at that time.

It was found in a recent check-up that over 250 students whose special is in other fields are taking typing because they feel a need for it in their courses now and expect to use it later in their teaching.

Decrease Sure In Internal Revenue

Greensboro, June 1.—(AP)—With one month still to go before the end of the fiscal year, it became apparent today with the release of the report of May collections that the internal revenue in North Carolina this year will fall far short of the all-time high of $326,946,571.78 for the year 1937-38.

May collections, announced by Collector Charles Robertson, amounted to $26,463,277, a decrease from collections of $27,145,397 in May of the 1937-38 period.

The May collections brought the total for the first 11 months of this fiscal year to $279,188,494, a decrease from the $297,857,768 collected during the first 11 months of the previous fiscal year.

Republican Victory Predicted By Landon

Buffalo, N. Y., June 1.—(AP)—Former Governor Alfred Landon of Kansas predicted today a Republican victory in 1940, but declined to discuss the Republican candidates.

"If we once started discussing candidates," he said in a brief stop-over here, "we should have to call the whole roll. Everyone can say there is a definitely Republican trend which will bring victory in 1940 and under those circumstances you never have much difficulty in getting a good candidate."
