WAGE FIGHT ON FISCAL POLICY OF ROOSEVELT

Economy Bloc Opens Fire On Dollar Devaluation

SILVER PROGRAM ALSO CRITICISED

Republicans Joined By Group of Democrats Led By Senators Glass, Adams

Washington, June 12.—(AP)—A double-barrelled attack on administration fiscal policies was taking shape in the Senate today with the so-called "economy bloc" opening fire on dollar devaluation legislation and western senators criticising the silver program.

Republican Leader McNary disclosed that he was planning a conference of his party members to meet in opposition to a House-approved bill extending the President's authority to reduce the gold content of the dollar and to continue the two billion dollar stabilization fund.

Joining the Republican opposition was a group of economy-minded Democrats led by Senators Glass of Virginia and Adams of Colorado.

At the same time, Senator Pittman (D-Mo.) said he had urged Secretary Morgenthau to make known the administration's intentions about a possible change in the price of silver when the domestic purchase proclamation expires June 30.

Pittman charged that the Western mining industry was being "ham-strung" by lack of knowledge of future silver prices.

Meanwhile, Congress was rushing its tax revision and relief programs to meet June 30 deadlines and to increase its chances for a July adjournment.

A House Ways and Means subcommittee was called to begin grafting a bill extending more than $500,000,000 of excise or "nuisance" taxes and revising other matters to remove so-called "irritants" to business.

Chiropractors Gather In Meet Here Sunday

The Eastern Carolina Chiropractors Association held a regular meeting at the home of Dr. C. F. Kuzenbamp, 409 Summit street, here yesterday afternoon.

Main emphasis was placed on health clinics to be opened in North Carolina cities. Also discussed was a possible child clinic to be opened in the various cities of the state.

Funeral Rites Today For Washington Man

C. M. Cherry of Washington, N. C., died at midnight Saturday following two weeks of illness with aneurism. He was 62 years old.

He was twice married, the first time to Miss Annie Foley of this city. He is survived by his second wife, Mrs. Mary Howard Cherry, one son, a brother and a sister.

Funeral services were conducted at 5 o'clock this afternoon in Washington.

Mother Local Woman Dies At Wilson Home

Mrs. John Burrell Barnes, 74, mother of Mrs. G. W. Sasser and grandmother of Mrs. D. H. Conley, both of Greenville, and one of the oldest natives of Wilson, died at her home in Wilson Sunday afternoon at 1:55 o'clock.

Funeral services were conducted this afternoon at the home at 4:30 o'clock by the Rev. H. B. Porter of the Methodist Church. Burial was in Maplewood cemetery.

Mrs. Barnes, daughter of Wiley and Mertha Anderson, spent her entire life in Wilson. She was married to J. B. Barnes December 24, 1897.

Other survivors include her husband; a son, T. Floyd Barnes of Wilson; and another grandchild, Christine Barnes of Wilson.

Greenville Invited To Morehead Affair

Greenville is one of 32 East Carolina cities and towns receiving an invitation to send representatives to the second Coastal Festival to be held at Morehead City, July 27-29.

Elaborate plans are being made for the festival. They include sailboat racing, reception for sponsors, dancing, swimming and parades. The invitations were being sent to the respective invited towns today.

Looking Like This In Dear Old London

King George VI and Queen Elizabeth of Great Britain got this view of the Manhattan skyline as the royal procession rolled along the West side express highway at New York.

FLAYS POLICY OF NEW DEAL

Landon Likens It To That of Fascist and Communist

Boston, Mass., June 12.—(AP)—Alf M. Landon, former governor of Kansas and unsuccessful Republican candidate in the last presidential election, today asserted that the New Deal attitude that "the rights of the users are greater than the rights of the owners of property" is identical "with the belief of the Fascist and Communist governments."

Landon, addressing the graduating class of Boston University, declared that "in actual practice of our government today the right of the users are made superior to the rights of the owners."

"We old 'Bolsheviks' of 1912 who were called socialists and radicals because we believed that the right of the users must be considered in relation to the right of the owners are now classed as 'reactionary' because we are still standing our middle-ground between the two extremes."

Meredith Honor Roll Includes Local Girl

Miss Ernestine Hobgood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Hobgood of Greenville, was among the students heading the honor roll of Meredith College for the second semester.

There were 146 Meredith students whose scholastic average was high enough to warrant the honor roll standing. Names were listed according to averages and Miss Hobgood's name was in the top group.

DEAF MUTE COUPLE OPERATE RESTAURANT

Zion, Ky.—(AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bennett, deaf mutes, run a restaurant and dance hall near here.

Customers either write their orders or make their wants known through the Bennett children and Bennett relays the orders to his wife by finger talk—high in the air.

Mr. and Mrs. Bennett say they're sometimes a little thankful for their handicap.

"That thing," wrote Bennett for an interviewer as he pointed to the big electric phonograph in the corner, "plays almost continuously. It would probably drive any other person nuts. Me, I don't even know it's going."

Adrian B. Rhodes, who has had charge of issuing licenses in New Hanover county for so many years that he is regarded as the Cape Fear river, ran into your correspondent in a Raleigh cafeteria a day or so ago and when the conversation got round to the marriage law, he mimed no words in telling just how little he thinks of it.

Be it said at this point that Mr. Rhodes' interest is not financial—he is paid a flat salary whether

Japs Poisoned

Tokyo, June 12.—(AP)—Two officials of the Japanese consular general in Nanking have died as a result of drinking apparently poisoned wine served at a banquet, the foreign office announced today.

Japanese reports in Shanghai charged that poison had been added to wine served at the banquet and termed the incident "a daring attempt of Chinese enemies of the new regime."

Wholesale killing of officials, Japanese authorities searched Nanking for persons responsible for poisoning the wine.

BRITAIN MAKES NEW PROPOSAL

Another Formula For Breaking Deadlock Sent To Moscow

London, June 12.—(AP)—The British government outlined to Ivan Minsky, Soviet Russian ambassador to London, today a new formula which was being sent to Moscow in the hope of ending a long deadlock over a proposed British-French-Russian mutual assistance pact.

The formula was disclosed by Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax and the ambassador before William Stang left to take it to the Russian capital. Stang, foreign office expert on Central European affairs, was named last week as special envoy to Moscow to expedite the deadlocked British-French-Soviet negotiations.

British officials were represented as feeling that the new plan would solve difficulties growing out of Soviet demands that Baltic states be guaranteed by the three larger powers.

No City Court Today.

No session of Municipal court was held today. Recorder L. C. Skinner having announced at the Friday term that he would be out of the city today and all cases would be continued until the Friday session.

Only about a half dozen cases were pending at the conclusion of the hearings last Friday.

Short Circuits.

Several calls were filed with the Greenville fire department around noon today, apparently because of short circuits caused by lightning-bruising the electrical storm. One of the short circuits was at a home on the corner of Thirtieth and Reade streets, but no damage of any consequence at this residence or any other in the city was reported.

The only colored couple to get a license was Linwood Smith and Marion Louise Vines, both of Farmville.

The following white couples secured licenses during the past week: James Cobb and Athleen Hardy of Greenville county; Milton Moore and Annie Bee Dickerson of Chocoma; Willie Owens, Jr., of Fountain and Minnie Mae Letchwich of Macclesfield; C. F. Irons of Rockbride; J. S. Vicks, Va., and Maline Elizabeth Grant of Greenville; Harold W. Wells of New Hanover county and Laura Smith Fleming of Pitt county; James F. Stocks of Farmville and Elizabeth Cowen of Walstonburg; Claud Carmon and Josephine Carty of Roanoke Rapids; John M. Sauls of Norfolk, Va., and Penelope Lewis of Farmville; Elmo Joyner of Nash county and Alma Mae Holliday of Greenville; Robbie Dail and Lucy James Mills of Greenville; G. L. THREE KILLED OVER WEEKEND

Two Pitt Negroes Murdered, Another Burned To Death

Two Pitt county Negroes were murdered, another burned to death, and a fourth slashed with an axe in an apparent attempted murder over the week-end, Coroner A. A. Ellwanger and police reported today.

Willie James Little, Pictolus Negro, was ordered held under a $500 bond following an inquest into the death of Stephen Cooper, another Negro who was shot by Little at Pictolus last night. Coroner Ellwanger said it was brought out at the inquest that a dispute between the Negroes arose over 10 cents Copper was supposed to have paid for a drink of whiskey.

John Chancey, 70-year-old Negro, was burned to death here last night when a shack in which he was living behind the V. C. Fertilizer plant was destroyed by fire. Chancey, a peo-lesed Negro, apparently made an effort to get out of the shack, but was overcome by smoke and fire. The shack was located about a block from any nearby house and before being discovered. The roof collapsed as firemen arrived. Chancey was on charity and grew vegetables on county-owned property for support.

Greenville police today were seeking Dora Price Greenville Negroess, following the shooting of her husband, Elmo Price, in the Bama section of the city Sunday morning about 1:30 o'clock. The Negro died in Pitt General Hospital about two and a half hours after the shooting occurred. Chief of Police George Clark said the couple had been separated once, and that Price allegedly assaulted his wife with an axe last year. The shooting is still being investigated.

Arthur Clark, Negro, is in the city jail to await trial for the cutting of Clint Hardy, another Negro, with an axe Saturday night. Clark inflicted a wound on Hardy's back which required several stitches to close and caused another painful injury when he struck Hardy in another part of the back with the blunt end of the axe.

Twelve Marriage Licenses Granted

Marriage licenses issued at the offices of the Pitt county register of deeds during the past week exceeded the number for any similar period since the new law requiring health certificates came into effect.

A total of 12 were issued last week and 11 of this number went to white couples.

The only colored couple to get a license was Linwood Smith and Marion Louise Vines, both of Farmville.

The following white couples secured licenses during the past week: James Cobb and Athleen Hardy of Greenville county; Milton Moore and Annie Bee Dickerson of Chocoma; Willie Owens, Jr., of Fountain and Minnie Mae Letchwich of Macclesfield; C. F. Irons of Rockbride; J. S. Vicks, Va., and Maline Elizabeth Grant of Greenville; Harold W. Wells of New Hanover county and Laura Smith Fleming of Pitt county; James F. Stocks of Farmville and Elizabeth Cowen of Walstonburg; Claud Carmon and Josephine Carty of Roanoke Rapids; John M. Sauls of Norfolk, Va., and Penelope Lewis of Farmville; Elmo Joyner of Nash county and Alma Mae Holliday of Greenville; Robbie Dail and Lucy James Mills of Greenville; G. L. Mann of New Bern and Mary Hoover Boyd of Greenville.

POLICE CLASH WITH PICKETS AT AUTO PLANT

Dozen Persons Injured, Three of Them Seriously

BITTER DISPUTE BETWEEN UNIONS

Fighting Breaks Out At Saginaw, But Heavy Guard Prevents Disorders At Flint

Flint, Mich., June 12.—(AP)—A dozen persons were injured, three seriously, in a clash between police and pickets of the United Auto Workers (A. F. of L.) at Saginaw this morning as automobile workers sought a showdown in their inter-union fight for recognition as bargaining agent for General Motors employees. Six men were arrested.

In Flint, where the entire police force was mobilized in anticipation of disorder, there was no violence. All plants here as well as the Gray Iron foundry unit at Saginaw began operations today despite a strike call of the A. F. of L. affiliated union.

Workers at Saginaw were escorted into the plant by a detail of 60 policemen.

A spokesman for General Motors said the union apparently had concentrated on Chevrolet plant No. 5 and Fisher Body No. 1 at Flint, which is a key unit in Buick assembly. The corporation representative said there was no immediate indication that operations would have to be halted.

Chevrolet No. 5 was operating without about half of its regular day force of 460 men. This plant makes valves and crank cases. Although small, it is vital in Chevrolet assembly, a corporation spokesman said.

Fisher No. 1 supplies bodies for Buick.

The Saginaw clash started, police said, when Police Lieutenant Fred Bossman was struck over the head by a picket armed with a club. The police then dispersed the pickets, approximately 200 strong, and cleared the way for the maintenance crew to enter the plant. By the time the full day shift was due the pickets had scattered.

Safety Measures Listed By Ennett

Dr. N. Thomas Ennett, Pitt county health officer, today listed precautionary measures which he considers wise to follow during the summer months. They are as follows: Be vaccinated against typhoid fever.

Be careful as to the source of the water and milk you drink and the food you eat. If an eating place or its attendants appear unsanitary or unclean, do not patronize them.

While you are extremely hot, do not drink ice water.

When you go to the seashore, have due respect for the sun. Anointing yourself with cold cream, vaseline, or sweet oil as a preventive is much better than using these remedies as a cure.

Outside of the danger of death from automobile accidents, the next greatest danger to the vacationist is death from drowning. A few don'ts are here in order:

Don't go in bathing alone.

Don't go unless there is a life guard or a boat easily accessible.

When boating, don't rock the boat.

When in the water, or on the water, always keep in mind the possibility of either one or more of your party being drowned. Unless you recognize danger, you can't avoid it.

Make it a rule never to ride with a fast driver or a driver who has been drinking. Remember also that the person who drives late at night exhausted, after a strenuous day at the beach or elsewhere, is a very dangerous driver. At any moment he may lose control of the car and death come to its occupants.

Every summer many vacation parties end in just such a tragedy.

TAGGED FISH MEAN PRIZES FOR ANGLERS

Fort Collins, Colo.—(AP)—Colorado fishermen get a chance this year to play a tag game with trout. Extra large fish have been placed in Cache la Poudre river and each has a tag on him. Fishermen who catch them will win a prize if they bring in the tag and tell the game department where the fish was caught. The department wants to learn which way the fish swim after they are taken from hatcheries and placed in the stream.

292 Million Dollar Appropriation Increase Asked

Washington, June 12.—(AP)—The House Appropriations committee asked Congress today to add $292,695,547 to next year's $508,789,824 War Department appropriation bill, to build more army planes, expand the Panama Canal garrison and provide "educational order" for the purchase of war material.

It acted after a sub-committee heard from Major General Henry Arnold, chief of the army air corps, that his corps' current expansion would provide adequate aerial defense for the United States, despite the superiority of some German war planes.

Merchants' Board To Meet Tuesday Night

The regular monthly meeting of the board of directors of the Greenville Merchants Association will be held in the association's offices tomorrow night at 8 o'clock.

Mrs. Cora S. Powell, executive secretary, said a number of important matters would be taken up and urged a good attendance. Among the questions to be discussed will be the state association meeting to be held in Durham on June 19-20.

JUDGE WEARS REMINDER OF ESCAPE FROM DEATH

Louisville, Ky.—(AP)—A charm dangle from Circuit Judge Churchill Humphrey's watch chain is a constant reminder of the jurist's close brush with death.

The charm is a well-polished bullet, one of several fired at Judge Humphrey by an assailant who visited his home. One of the shots struck the judge in the leg but he soon recovered. His assailant later was committed to an asylum.

It'll Take More'n Heat For Adjournment In June

Washington, June 12.—(AP)—It is no longer possible to turn the heat on Congress in June and July. Both houses have air-cooling this year.

That may sound like something trivial but it isn't. The heat around this place would roast a jungle monkey. For years it was taken for granted that Congress would rush through its business in early June to escape the heat. But now a member of Congress can come to work in the cool of the forenoon, remain in an air cooled region throughout the day and go home in the evening without facing a touch of the old torrid blast.

The senators have the most elaborate layout, which is possible because there aren't so many of them. The senators drive to the capitol in the morning into an underground garage, where an attendant takes

Told That Desire For Peace No Sign of Weakness

West Point, N. Y., June 12.—(AP)—The fledgling officers who will direct the future fights of America's armies heard President Roosevelt assure today that while King George's visit had emphasized that nations without fears could be friendly, this country's "desires for peace must never be mistaken for weakness."

During recent months, Mr. Roosevelt told the graduating class at the United States Military Academy, international political considerations have required still greater emphasis upon the vitalization of our defense for we have had "dramatic illustrations of the fate of undefended nations."

Not by name did he mention Austria, Czechoslovakia or Memel, the states absorbed in whole or in part by Germany, nor did he speak of international concern over these assimilations.

He referred to the visit of King George and Queen Elizabeth to the United States as a "courteous recognition of the cordiality and goodwill which prevails between two great nations." He added:

"Its significance lies in the fact that friendship could exist between the two countries since both were without fear. To achieve that result, strength is needed, strength which comes not from arms alone, but from restraint, understanding and co-operation."

Lightning Causes Fire.

L. A. Mills of the Black Jack community lost his pack house, a quantity of tobacco sticks, some hay and farm implements when lightning struck the house Saturday afternoon. The pack house with its contents burned to the ground. No insurance covered the loss, it was stated.

DOBBIN HOLDS UP CRACK TRAIN AN HOUR

Glenrock, Wyo.—(AP)—An east-bound passenger train was rolling along right on top of its speed schedule when the engineer peered ahead and saw a horse in the middle of the tracks.

He reached for the brake lever and transcontinental passengers killed time for an hour while the train crew untangled the horse's legs from the ties on a trestle he had attempted to cross.

Finally they laid a carpet of boxcar doors over the ties so the horse could walk back to solid ground.

STRESSES NEED OF CONFIDENCE IN CONFERENCE

Chamberlain Makes Statement House Of Commons

BRITAIN SEEKS SUCH A SPIRIT

Prime Minister Asserts His Country Doing All In Its Power To Promote Confidence

London, June 12.—(AP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain said today that mutual confidence was a prerequisite to a successful international conference on European problems and that the British government was working to promote such confidence.

He told the House of Commons, however, that a conference "can succeed if other governments make like efforts."

The Prime Minister made his statement in response to a question as to what he considered essential for a successful conference and what action the government was taking to prepare ground for one.

"In the opinion of His Majesty's government," Chamberlain answered, "a world conference could only succeed if accompanied by a general feeling of confidence that all participating governments sincerely desired this settlement and intended to keep both to the spirit and letter and pledge or undertaking given as the result of a conference."

"His Majesty's government will always do their best to promote such a spirit of confidence which can only succeed if other governments make like efforts."

Final Rites Held For Bethel Woman

Funeral services for Miss Fannie L. Carson, 50, who died at her home near Bethel Sunday morning at 6 o'clock, were conducted at the residence this afternoon by the Rev. M. Y. Self, pastor of the Bethel Methodist Church, assisted by the Rev. Mr. Johnson of the Bethel Baptist Church and the Rev. D. W. Alexander, Bethel Free Will Baptist minister of Bethel. Burial followed in Bethel cemetery.

Miss Carson had been in ill health for three months.

She was born, reared and spent her entire life in the Bethel community and was a member of the Bethel Methodist Church. She was the daughter of Mrs. Maggie Andrews Carson and the late Theophilus Carson.

Besides her mother she is survived by four brothers, V. C. Carson of Greenville, J. W. T. Z. and Wadie Carson of Bethel; three sisters, Mrs. T. F. Nelson of Lees, Mrs. Jesse E. Carson and Miss Lillian Carson of Bethel.

Active pallbearers will be: J. L. Gurganus, Dr. J. B. Hemingway, Charley Manning, Jesse Carson, Orlando Manning, Joe Whitehurst.

No Damage Reported In Hailstorm Today

Hail, brisk wind, and rain visited Greenville and vicinity today, but no hail damage reports had reached the city this afternoon, although rather large pellets fell in the city and probably in different parts of the county.

The county was also visited by hail Saturday afternoon, but no damage of any consequence was reported in Greenville.

Archaeologists have found that gloves were used by the early cavemen.

ARREST WINDS UP 'MARS' FLIGHT

In the presence of the immediate families and a few close friends the marriage of Miss Lucy Jane Mills and Robble Dall was solemnized Friday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock, at the home of the bride's parents, with Rev. J. C. Moye officiating.

Prior to the ceremony, Miss Mary Frances Whitehurst of Bethel, sang "I Love on Truly," accompanied by Miss Margaret Moore of Bethel, at the piano. The bride and bridegroom entered the living room to the strains of Lohengrin's "Wedding March." During the ceremony "Traumer!" was softly played.

The bride wore traveling suit of white with powder blue and white accessories. Her corsage was of sweetheart roses and lilacs of the valley.

Immediately following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Dall left on a motor trip to northern points of interest, following which they will make their home in Greenville.

Mrs. Dall is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jethro E. Mills. She received her education at East Carolina Teachers College.

Mr. Dall is a son of Mr. and Mrs. George Dall of Ayden. He is connected with the Farmers Cooperative Exchange of Greenville.

Forty Years Ago Today

Cheston L. Eshelman, 22-year-old student flier from Carlisle, Pa., borrowed a plane and headed for "Mars"—so he says—but wound up in the hands of Police at Boston. The plane fell into the Atlantic 175 miles off shore but a fishing boat rescued him and brought him back to Boston. Policemen waiting at the dock arrested him on a larceny charge filed by the owner of the plane. Eshelman nonchalantly grinned and waved a dirty pair of overalls when the officer laid hands on him.

Ayden

The editor had the pleasure of spending Friday in Ayden. It was our first day there in some time, and we were surprised to find the town growing so rapidly. From a little cross roads village of a mere handful of people it has quickly extended to a busy town of 800 population. It has two fine schools, the Carolina Christian College and the Free Will Baptist Seminary, that add much to the advantages of the town. It also has many enterprising business men, having five large general stores besides many smaller establishments. Many larger towns might well envy Ayden's broad and well laid out streets.

A Good Enterprise

The other day we spent a half hour in Winterville and took advantage of the occasion to go through the cigar factory there. We knew it was a busy place and turned out excellent quality of goods, but we had no idea that it was such an extensive enterprise. There are about fifteen hands at work in all departments, and the average output is 3,000 cigars a day. They make five or six different brands ranging from the cheroot to the fine Havana ten-cent cigar, and the product will compare in excellence with those turned out at any factory.

$25,000,000 TEXAS DAM PROJECT—Scheduled for completion by June, 1941, the Marshall Ford dam on the Colorado, 16 miles north of Austin, boasts a 190-foot barrier (above). The flood control-power project is being built by the Lower Colorado River Authority.

POET—F.D.R.'s choice of Archibald MacLeish (above), Pulitzer prize poet, as librarian of congress is assailed by Milton Ferguson, American Library association head, who predicts the opposition of nation's 14,000 trained librarians. Opposition also has developed in congress.

MISSED A MILE—Well, maybe Catcher Harry Danning of the N. Y. Giants didn't miss the ball by that big a margin, but there it is, dropping past Danning and Clyde Passeau (left), Cubs pitcher. Passeau hit a foul tip, trying to bunt, and the ball went by faster than a Joe Louis punch. This was in the seventh (lucky for Cubs) inning. The Cubs won, 7 to 1.

BOVINE BEAUTY—Dairymen may have eyes only for flower-decked "Prince's Fran Vogel," a demure Brown Swiss chosen the "world's most beautiful cow" at a Chicago meeting of the Agricultural club. But some observers would find Janet Moore a little more to their taste in the matter of beauty. "Prince's Fran Vogel," from the Savage Marydale Farms of Lafox, Ill., wore her floral horseshoe, emblematic of the title, with all the aplomb of a Kentucky Derby winner.

GLITTER AMONG 'JITTERBUGS'—The vote of 3,000,000 "jitterbug" members of National Swing Club of America is represented in trophy given the Andrews sisters, Maxene (left), Patti and LaVerne (right), by Ned Harris. The N.S.C.A. voted sisters most popular vocal trio.

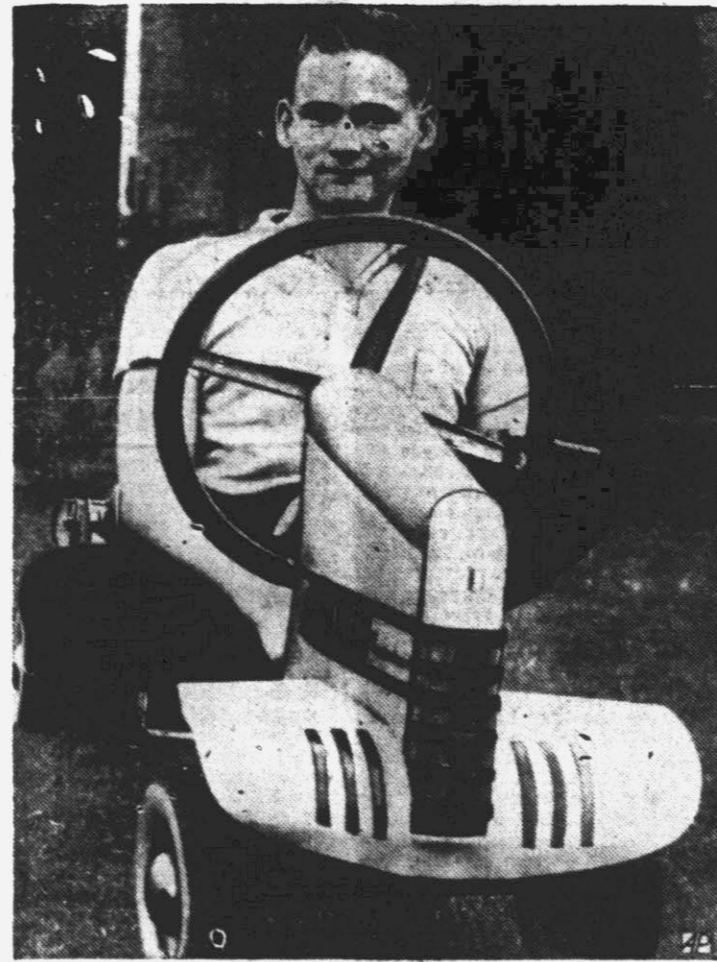

5TH TERM—He's against it, said Maury Maverick, fiery mayor of San Antonio, dodging reporters' questions about a third term. Said he: "I'm against 4th, 5th terms."

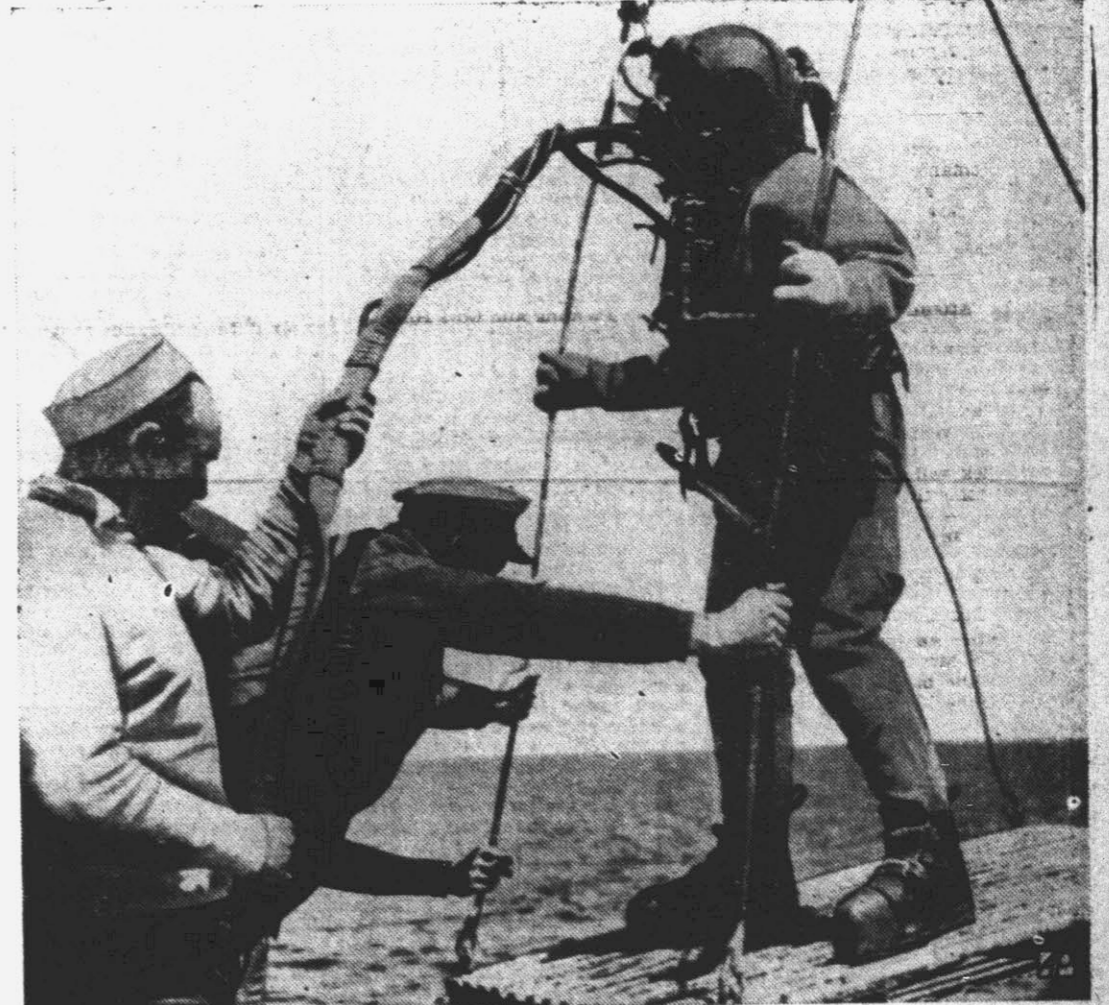

CUT-UPS—Unaware of a cameraman, Film Actress Shirley Ross and hubby, Kenneth Nolan, dance at N. Y.'s Waldorf.

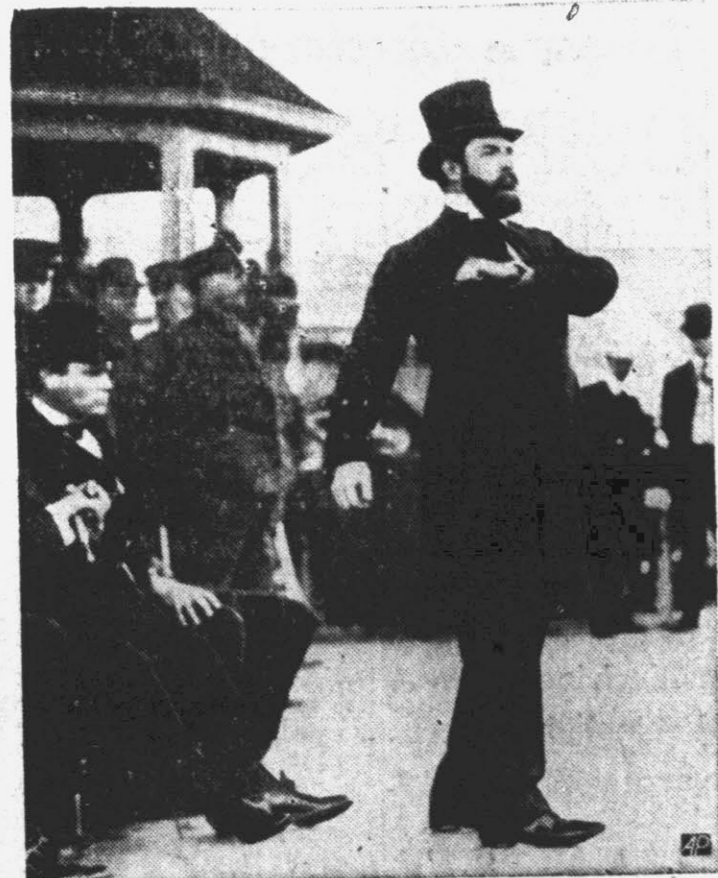

MOCK RESCUE—With one of their own crew as a limp "victim," members of a surf life-saving group at Bondi in Sydney, Australia, show how to rescue a drowned person. They're competing for a chance at the Honolulu games in July.

IT TOOK CRIT—Crippled since birth, 18-year-old James Boyle of Brookville, Pa., got his high school diploma recently, though he'd never attended school. He took home lessons from his mother, a former teacher, and was examined by school officials. This tiny car, which he built from spare parts, gets him around his father's farm. He's interested in advertising.

CALLING ON 'DAVY JONES'—To the bottom of the ocean off Portsmouth, N. H., goes Diver Harry Ross of New London, Conn. He's being lowered from the rescue ship Falcon to the sunken submarine Squallus, in which 26 bodies are entombed. Naval officers now seek to lift the sub which sank May 24, resulting in the dramatic escape of 33 persons by means of a diving bell.

AGE MAY RULE—Back in 1906, the present chief justice of the U. S. supreme court, Charles Evans Hughes, was an arm-waving, silk-hatted orator campaigning for the governorship of New York. He won, and served state for almost two full terms, resigning to become an associate justice of court Oct. 10, 1910. Mr. Hughes is 77; he was born April 11, 1862.

OATH—This is Charles Evans Hughes in February, 1930, when he became chief justice. He'd resigned as associate justice in June, 1916, to campaign for the presidency.

SEA FOOD—With relish, Chief Justice Hughes ate the oysters at a Brown university alumni dinner in March, 1937. He has A.B., A.M., and L.L.D. degrees from Brown.

A LEGAL HUDDLE—When crowds broke up after F.D.R.'s 1933 inauguration, several of the nation's leading jurists were grouped in one spot. Easily recognized is Chief Justice Hughes; directly behind him, to the left, is Associate Justice Willis Van Devanter, since retired. At extreme left is Associate Justice James McKeynois, 77-year-old court veteran.

QUIET—Mrs. Charles Evans Hughes, wife of the chief justice, is a gentle, retiring person anxious to let the news spotlight focus itself upon her elderly husband.

RARE—Good humor radiated from the usually-austere Chief Justice Hughes on above occasion. Recently an ailment diagnosed as duodenal ulcers kept him from such.

SHORT SHOTS

Reflector Bureau.
By HENRY AVERILL.

Raleigh, June 12.—The mystery is so thick you could cut it with a knife, thicker than gloom in the anti-New Deal camp after the 1936 general election.

What is the G. I. A.?
Your correspondent entered exactly seven Raleigh establishments Saturday, all of which bore on one or more of their windows: "Welcome, B. of L. E. and G. I. A." In two of them the hired help knew that B. of L. E. stands for Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

In not one single solitary shop was anyone located who knew what G. I. A. represents. The closest approach to a solution was given by a careless and callow youth in one of the big 5- and 10-cent stores
who said, "It's some sort of auxiliary, which explained the A, but left the G. I. still up in the air."

Of course any army man would say right off that G. I. means Government Issue, but that couldn't be right—Government Issue Auxiliary doesn't sound half correct.

Give us time, the problem shall be worked out yet.

One of Fayetteville street's exclusive — well, almost exclusive — dress shops has an intriguing and attractive window display which carries a good lesson for North Carolinians in practically all sections of the state.

It's a beach scene, completely authentic and natural looking, with a sign post with direction rows labeled "Wrightsville Beach, 151
mi.," "Atlantic Beach, 159 mi.,"
"Carolina Beach, 161 mi.," Myrtle Beach, 189 mi." and Virginia Beach, 203 mi."

The lesson is that our own Tar Heel beaches are more rapidly accessible—and they rate on a par with, or superior to, Virginia and Myrtle in every respect.

The Farm Security Administration is preparing for considerable farm work on two North Carolina road projects.

Bids have been asked for construction on the Wolf Pit Farms project in Richmond county of 325,000 lineal feet of terracing, 25-550 lineal feet of roads to be reconditioned and 1,200 lineal feet of ditching.

Also, bids were invited on a contract for work at the Roanoke Farms project, Enfield, which includes clearing, excavation, cut and fill, finish grading, drainage, roads,
court, parking space and concrete.

The roads are to be bituminous macadam and the court parking space crushed stone and gravel. The area is approximately 2,104 square yards.

Largest hiking club in the South,
the Carolina Mountain Club is ex-

FOUR BLIND DATES

By Edwin Rutt

YESTERDAY, Miss Luella West (teacher of physical culture)
socks our Jumbo in the eye, causing him to fall down a flight of stairs. Tacks Adams locates Miss Patricia North, who is the answer to a movie producer's prayer. But Miss North is not easily convinced that Tacks is (1) a radio man, (2) a meter reader.

Chapter Five

Hard Heart—Cold Heart

"THE meter's in the cellar," said
Miss Patricia North. "At least,
I suppose it is."
"Is the meter in the cellar?"
echoed Tacks brightly. "Well—er—
—which way is the cellar?"
Packs froze a little.

"I'd suggest," she said coldly,
"that if you want to find the cellar,
you go downstairs. That's just a thought, but take it for what it's worth."

Tacks grinned. "Thank, I wouldn't be surprised if you were right. Well, I guess I'd better be going down there."

"I guess you had. If you want to read the meter."

"Well, good-by," said Tacks.
"And thanks a million."
"Good-bye," said Tacks.
The door came scurrying close to shutting Tacks stopped it just in time by exclaiming: "Oh, just a minute, please!"

Packs' head came around the door. "What now?"
"I just wanted to tell you," said Tacks resourcefully, "that I inadvertently heard you singing. You —you've got a swell voice."

Packs thawed a little. This was nice hearing even from a meter reader.
"Thank you!" she said.
"Not at all!" said Tacks hand-somerly. "I don't suppose you'd sing that song over again for me,
would you?"

A startled look crossed Packs' face. "Certainly not! Why should I?"

"Well, why shouldn't you? I look here, if you can bring a little sunshine into the life of one who has to spend his days in dusty, dusty cellars reading meters."

"I think," Packs interrupted,
"that you're crazy. I don't want to be impolite, but I wish you'd go away. I've got work to do."

Tacks took a gambler's chance.
"You could slam the door in my face," he pointed out.

"I've just told you I didn't want to be impolite!" As Packs said this a whole host of grimacing little imps began dancing in her mind mocking her. Unwillingly and wholly to herself, she was beginning to admit that she liked talking to this person. He was the broad-shouldered, lim-waited type. There was a clean look about him. He might, she guessed, have been a light fast end sometime.
And now that she scrutinized him
more closely, he didn't seem at all like a reader of meters.

"Please! Will you slam the door?"
"No. For Heaven's sake, not!
Sing the song."

Coming Clean
"MOST decidedly not! You've got a jenty of nerve! I had any sense, I'd call the superintendent and have you thrown out."

Tacks grinned.
"Now just between us," he said,
"do you honestly think the superintendent could throw me out?"

Packs tossed her head. "I'm sure of it." But she wasn't in the least. The superintendent was short, round, fat and bald-headed.

Tacks summed up the situation quickly. This angel in negligee had actually been talking to him for some minutes when there was no visible reason why she should have. At any time during the conversation she could have closed the portal and left him standing out in the cruel world. But had she? She had not. She had even shown a distinct preference for bandying words with him. What could he therefore conclude? That she liked talking to him? Hm! It seemed phenomenal but, on the other hand, it just might be. Suddenly all the gambling spirit in his nature surged to the fore.

"Look here, Miss North," he said. "I'm going to come clean and tell you why I'm here."

"That's extremely good of you,"
said Packs. "I've been wondering for a long time."

"To begin with," Tacks went on,
"I'm not a radio man."

"I never believed you were,"
said Packs.

"Neither do I read meters."

"You appear," said Packs, "to have a sort of divine gift for saying you're things which you're not.
Would you by any chance be a
liar?"

"Not a real one. Only a white
liar."

"I'm greatly relieved to hear that."

"Now what," pursued Tacks
"do you think I am?"

"I'm not in the least interested.
But, if you want an offhand answer, I'd say you were a young man with more nerve than good sense."

"Those are hard words, Miss North."

"I meant them to be hard. You deserve them."

"You think I should be punished for lying? Crucified for . . . I don't think anything about you. Won't you please go on about your business?"

"It's my business to keep you
from thinking badly of me. Listen, I'll tell you what I am. I'm just a fellow who's been hit so hard he doesn't know whether he's coming or going."

"I'm very sorry."

"You ought to be. You hit me."

"I hit you? What on earth do you mean?"

Quite Impolite
"WELL," Tacks said, "it's like this: The first time I saw you I made up my mind that I simply had to get to know you."

"A quick make-up, I'd say. Considering that the first time you saw me was ten minutes ago."

Tacks wagged a finger at her.
"Ah, but it wasn't. I've seen you before."

"You have? Where?"

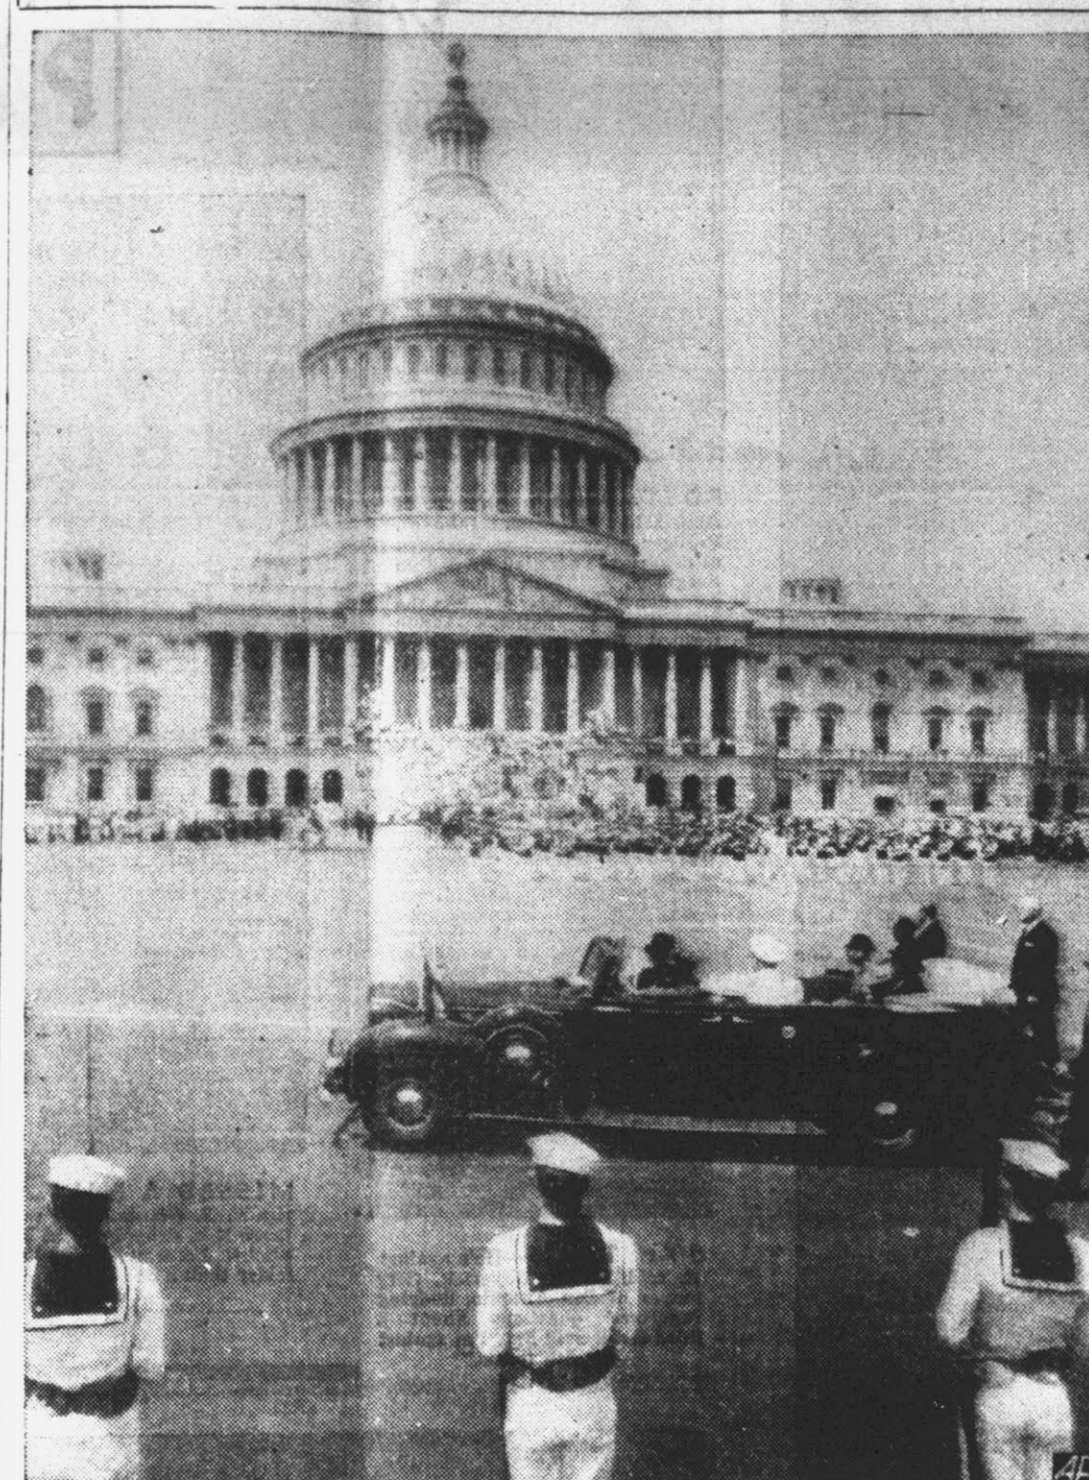

"Er—in the street."

"What street?"

"This street."

"When was that?"

BRITISH KING RIDES PAST CAPITOL OF U. S.

This scene was unprecedented in Washington prior to the state visit of the rulers of Great Britain. It shows a British king, George VI, riding past the Capitol with President Roosevelt. Three sailors present arms smartly as the heads of two great democracies ride by.

Engine off My Neck?—Nobody.

As prize exhibit "A" for the contention that the law is unfair and unjust in many cases he cites the Negress who can't now get married, though she could have, had birth of her illegitimate baby taken place 15 minutes later than it did.

Her "man" applied for a marriage license and submitted to the prescribed blood test well in advance of the childbirth. The examining physician found his Wassermann "positive." As soon as the result was made known to the prospective groom, he began seeking some sort of authority to get married anyhow.

He found that the law permits a special dispensation in case the bride-to-be is pregnant, provided the man will agree to undergo treatment after the marriage. He was only too glad to agree to take the treatment. He was obviously endowed with the best of intentions,
he sincerely wanted to "do right"
by the woman.

But by the time he had received
all the information he needed it was 2:30 p. m. when he applied for the special license. Unfortunately the baby had been born at 2:15
p. m., the mother was no longer pregnant, as required in the law.

As for the increase in illicit cohabitation, Mr. Rhodes contends one needs only to compare the record of marriages before and since the law's passage—the number having been slashed more than in half in his county.

"And you know they're living together just the same—and doing it

Fortune Tells Story Of Continental Oil

The story of Continental Oil Company and its rise to prominence in the oil industry, is told in the current issue of Fortune Magazine.

A striking feature of the article is a thumb-nail sketch of Conoco's president, Dan Moran:

"Born at Cuyahoga, Ohio, he had picked up cash as an office boy and as a telegraph operator, earned his way through the University of Dayton, and then had gone south."

To Tulsa, where he saw the oil spout from the Glenn Pool strike, then to Port Arthur, where he signed up as an engineer for the Texas Co. From there he was sent down to Panama

and to South America, and from South America he had trekked north again into Mexico and to the States.

He had spent 17 days in a hurricane which, ripping through Port Arthur, had floated away the oil tanks of a refinery there like so many toy ships. He had built refineries, drilled for oil, and had put up ocean terminals at Charleston, at Savannah, Pensacola, Mobile, Key West and in Cuba. In the process he had learned something of men and something of the sweet-smelling stuff called crude."

Worked in South Seas

Shortly after his return from the second Byrd expedition, Captain
Black was hired by the Interior Department to perfect the U. S. claim to Canton and Emberbury islands, those flat little atolls southwest of Hawaii, 1,200 miles or so,
which we are planning to use some time as trans-Pacific airplane stations. They are sort of out of the way just now but you can never tell when they may come in handy.
Maybe it is that way with the Antarctic.

Black has made four trips a year to Canton and Emberbury, taking

Whales are being wiped out pretly fast, what with Germany, England, Japan and Norway now in the field with these tremendous factory ships. It is sort of like sending the Chicago packing houses galloping over the Texas prairie gobbling up all the cattle in sight. Germany uses whale oil for butter and we use it for soap, if that means anything. Japan trades hers to us in exchange for fuel oil for her busy war machine.

But all these things are only the big motivating forces. Captain Black is more immediately concerned with the question of getting congressional approval for the expedition. Admiral Byrd's trips cost close to a million dollars each. Plans are to make the government job cost less by using government boats, planes and other facilities. Governments rarely get more for less, but that is the plan, anyhow.

versity of North Dakota.

perience with Arctic weather," he

PHILCO HAVING MEET TUESDAY

Hundreds of Dealers Convening At Morehead

Atlantic Beach, June 12.—Hundreds of dealers from a wide surrounding territory will be in Morehead City on June 13 to attend a meeting being held by the Carolina Sales Corporation, Philco distributor for the Greenville area.

At this meeting, the new 1940
Philco radio line will be introduced for the first time and plans for advertising and merchandising of the line discussed. Mr. Kennally, general sales manager, will also detail Philco's television policy in conjunction with the recent announcement by Philco of a line of television receivers for public consumption.

Announcements will be made of the revolutionary new Philco developments such as the Super Aerial System, which eliminates the outside aerial, ground wires and installations with all new Philco recepters. The new engineering advances which make it possible for every new Philco to receive television sound will also be explained.

"This year is an eventful one in Philco's history," explained Mr.
Little, "because it marks the tenth consecutive year of Philco's leadership in the radio industry. Coupled with a complete new radio line that promises to be history-making, Philco is divulging advertising and merchandising plans which will be the widest in scope since the company was formed."

"Philco will center the greater share of its advertising efforts on the newspaper medium," added Mr.
Little, "because of a long and unusually successful experience in telling its story to the public in the newspapers."

head the expedition, Black may.

Washington. This business of exploring the Antarctic always appeared to us as so much piffle but the government is taking it seriously
just now and that means Captain Richard Black will have to give up the South Seas and take to the ice pack.

Black, a curly haired engineer, is the Department of the Interior's only authentic Antarctic explorer.
He went to Little America with Admiral Byrd on his second expedition.

Every expedition either to the Arctic or the Antarctic has to have a motive. Most of the recent ones starting from this country have explained they were going there to hunt weather data. The weather bureau says it has some importance.

Double-Barreled Purpose
But the current proposal, which is supported by Admiral Byrd, is advanced on a double basis, protection of whaling rights and securing our claims to that part of the Antarctic already explored by Americans, including Byrd Ellsworth and perhaps others.

The idea has been milled over by various government agencies for several months but it was given an official flap when Germany recently laid claim to a whaling tract right in the heart of territory long claimed by Norwegians. The State Department geographer, Samuel W.
Boggs, told us that the claim was close to the border line but didn't quite penetrate the western hemisphere so we won't have to send

Building and Loan Boost Advertising

Advertising and business development methods will be one of the principal subjects of discussion at the thirty-sixth annual convention of the North Carolina Building and Loan League, June 27, 28 and 29.
It was announced today.

The major part of the discussion and the greatest interest will be in newspaper advertising, for the newspapers are the principal advertising mediums used by the associations, many of them using that type exclusively.

An advertising and business development contest will be held, in which two groups of associations will compete for beautiful trophies.
They will exhibit the advertising programs which they have carried on during the past year. These exhibits and the results secured from the various advertising programs will be discussed in the annual report of the advertising and business development committee to be made by David J. White, chairman, of Greensboro. He will point out, in addition, that the free newspaper mail service which the league has rendered the associations has been exceedingly popular and has helped greatly in making the associations
more advertising-minded.

There will also be exhibits of the latest accounting machinery, poster advertising, building and loan mag-

Dinner Table Full of Flies?

Here's what to do. Before mealtime, close the dining room doors and windows. Use a good spray and fill the room with a mist of Bee-Brand Insect Spray. Let the room stay closed for 15 minutes. When you go back the only flies will be dead flies on the floor.

Don't confuse Bee Brand with other in-secticides. It has no nasty, poisonous smell—only a clean, citrus fragrance that soon disappears. And Bee Brand really kills flies, mosquitoes and other flying insects quick—yes, it's really safe to use in the home. Don't waste money on cheap, weak, smelly stuff. Get Bee Brand and get rid of flies. Insist on the genuine, quick-kill Bee Brand Insect Spray—in the red and yellow can. It's sold with a guarantee of satisfaction or your money back.
17 1/2-oz. 29¢; 4-oz. 49¢ qt.

NOTE: You can also kill flies and mosquitoes, as well as roaches and ants, with Bee Brand Insect Powder. Read directions on can.

SEEK TO CLOSE GAP IN SALARY

School Commission Wants To Do Something For Negro

Reflector Bureau.
By HENRY AVERILL
Raleigh, June 12.—North Carolina School Commission is hoping against hope there will be found in figures showing money available for 1939-41 teachers' salaries a bromide for the biggest headache from which school people are suffering—the problem of closing the yawning gap between salaries paid white teachers and Negroes holding the same certificates.

It's a problem which has been harrasing the commission practically since its creation some seven years ago; one which is becoming more and more pressing as time goes on; although in this state it hasn't reached the "suing point" it has attained in some others—Virginia, for instance.

Commission members and personnel have been slow about giving out statistics showing just exactly how wide the gap is, on the theory that as long as a sincere and earnest effort is being made to do what can be done about the matter, there is nothing to be gained by broadcasting material which might be seized upon by radicals to inflame the Negro teachers to the point of demanding immediate and drastic revision of salary schedules.

So far, the leadership of the Negro teachers has shown a marked spirit of moderation and an unusual restraint. General opinion is that this sort of co-operation will continue as long as the school commission is making a real, sincere and earnest effort to correct the conditions complained of. So far, that effort has been pretty obvious and there seems no reason to believe that there will be any change of attitude either on the part of the commission or of the Negro teachers.

The immediate problem of the commission—and particularly of Dr. B. B. Dougherty, chairman of the salary committee—is to make at least a noticeable and substantial gesture toward closing the gap, while at the same time keeping the white teachers off their necks.

With less than a quarter million dollars to apply to increases in teacher salaries school-duties, it seems no deep thinker to realize that the commission must do some very fine slicing in order that the melon may be so divided as to keep everybody in a comparatively good humor.

Dr. Dougherty, Commission Secretary Lloyd Griffin and Auditor Douglas have been sweating through the last few hot days in an effort to do just that sort of slicing.

On Wednesday morning there will be a public hearing on salaries—a meeting at which a lot of steam will be blown off; but which might just as well not be held as far as having any effect on the schedules is concerned.

It is quite likely that neither Mr. Griffin nor Dr. Dougherty can say right now just exactly what is to be done with the slim increase; but it is a reasonably safe prediction that a high percentage of it will be used in attempting to narrow the gap between salaries for the two races.

The problem is really even broader than the salaries. Transportation for Negro children isn't on a par with that provided for whites. Nobody will contend that it is; and yet it is perfectly clear that in the constitution of the United States there is a mandate that it shall be.

Negro children are scattered over counties in small schools, because the counties are unable, or unwilling, to provide the expensive buildings which consolidated schools would require.

In short, the Negro problem is still at the top of the list in North Carolina school affairs, just as it is in many other lines of activity.

The immediate problem of the commission—and particularly of Dr. B. B. Dougherty, chairman of the salary committee—is to make at least a noticeable and substantial gesture toward closing the gap, while at the same time keeping the white teachers off their necks.
