REPUBLICANS LAYING PLANS FOR CONGRESS

Outline Three Major Topics for 1940 Session

COMMITTEES TO BE NAMED SOON

Harry Hopkins Says Business Progress in July Represents Recovery Spurt Begun in May

Washington, D. C., Aug. 8.—(AP)—House Republicans aimed today to have a definite program on at least three major topics — housing, agriculture and reciprocal trade agreements — to present at the 1940 session of Congress as alternatives to administration measures.

Minority Leader Martin (R-Miss.) probably will appoint special committees in the near future to study each of the subjects and to draft legislation. He declined to discuss the matter before leaving for home except to say it was under consideration.

Other developments: Secretary of Commerce Hopkins said that business progress during July represented a continuation of a "recovery movement" started in May, with activity well ahead of a year ago in all major lines.

The War Department announced that several North Carolinians had accepted appointment as first lieutenants in the Medical Officers Reserve Corps, including Beaty Lee Bass of Scotland Neck, Lemuel Underwood Creech of Smithfield, Berlin Francis Barham of Winston-Salem and Robert Lansing Normont of Lumberton.

The department announced also that federal recognition had been accorded Lieut.-Col. William Jones of Durham of the 120th Infantry, North Carolina National Guard.

Permits Exchange Of Rail Property

Raleigh, Aug. 8.—(AP)—The Atlantic and East Carolina Railway Company has received an order from the Utilities Commission allowing it to lease railroad properties from the Atlantic and North Carolina Railroad Company. Traffic Director C. H. Noah of the commission said today.

The Interstate Commerce Commission announced Saturday it had granted the Atlantic and East Carolina such a license. Noah said the Utilities Commission made its order effective in intra-state commerce when the ICC's became effective on interstate and foreign commerce.

Vessel Is Ablaze Off Carolina Coast

Beaufort, Aug. 8.—(AP)—The Cape Lookout Coast Guard station reported today an unidentified four-masted schooner was burning at about 15 miles east of the station. Smoke first was sighted pouring from the vessel at 10:30 a. m. A patrol boat from Morehead City and a motor life boat from Cape Lookout went to the rescue.

Several Are Tried In County Session

Action was taken in several cases in Pitt County court here today, presided over by Judge Dink James. Chesterfield Peyton, Negro, charged with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor, was given an 18-months' sentence. His driving license was revoked for two years. The defendant appealed the case and bond was set at $500.

Clifford Evans, white, charged with driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor and resisting an officer, was adjudged not guilty. Luby Worthington, Negro, tried on a charge of abandonment, was adjudged guilty and given a 12-months' sentence, suspended upon condition that he pay $2 a week for the support of his wife.

Adrian Smith, white, charged with assault and using profane language, was found guilty, but prayer for judgment was continued on condition that the defendant vacate his premises by Saturday.

WPA Allocation. Raleigh, Aug. 8.—(AP)—The state WPA administrator, C. P. McGinnis, today announced allocation of $9,482 in Washington county for water and sewer system work in Fivemouth.

Department Of Agriculture Forecasts Cotton Crop Of 11,412,000 Bales For '39

No Log Roller, Another Queen

Three times a queen by vote of her townsfolk, Miss Helen O'Bryan of Beaufort, N. C., enjoys the surf, too. She has been queen of Beaufort's Gladioli Festival and is now Beaufort's queen at the State Tobacco Festival and at Morehead City's Coastal Carnival.

First Estimate Made By Bureau For This Year's Crop

SLIGHTLY LOWER THAN '38 YIELD

North Carolina Crop Reported 83 Per Cent Normal, with Production of 489,000 Bales

Washington, Aug. 8.—(AP)—The Agriculture Department forecast today a cotton crop of 11,412,000 bales in its first estimate of this year's production.

This estimate of production in bales of 500 pounds gross weight was based on conditions as of August 1 and on the area in cultivation on July 1, adjusted to abandonment. The cultivation area less the 10-year average abandonment of acreage was placed at 24,424,000 acres.

Last year, 24,248,000 acres were harvested to produce 11,943,000 bales, while in the 10 years, 1928-1937, an average of 34,984,000 acres were harvested to produce an average of 13,800,000 bales.

The condition of the crop August 1 was 74 per cent of normal, compared with 78 a year ago and 70, the 1928-1937 average. Indications are for a yield of 23.7 tons to the acre, compared with 23.5 pounds the acre, and 190.8 pounds the 10-year average.

The census bureau in its first ginning report of the season announced 137,076 running bales, counting round as half bales, of this year's growth had been ginned and 1,000,000 bales of 1938, 1,000,000 bales a year ago, and 142,983 bales two years ago.

The condition of the crop August 1, and indicated production by states include: North Carolina, 83 and 489,000; Virginia, 82 and 20,000; and South Carolina, 80 and 18,000.

Body Of Army Private Is Found In Tar River

FDR WORKING IN RURAL HOME

Studying Stack of 200 Congressional Bills

Hyde Park N. Y., Aug. 8.—(AP)—President Roosevelt arrived at 8:24 a. m., today, and motored to his country home to spend several days, working on a stack of some 200 bills passed in the closing days of Congress.

Aside from a press conference, White House officials said Mr. Roosevelt had made no engagements for the day.

The President was expected to remain at his Dutchess county home at least until Saturday. Afterward he planned to go to New York and board a cruiser for a cruise off the New England and Canadian Coast.

Mrs. Roosevelt met her husband at the station and rode with him to their family home.

Claiming fulfillment of all the objectives of his 1937 court reorganization program, the President began three weeks of work and recreation far from Washington's humid heat.

A few hours before he left the Capitol last night for a visit to Hyde Park, the Chief Executive unexpectedly issued a statement saying, "Attacks recently made on the Supreme court itself by ultra-conservative members of the bar indicated how fully our liberal ideas have already prevailed."

Many Counties, Towns In State Have Same Name

Reflector Bureau. Raleigh, Aug. 8.—Pity the poor postman in North Carolina! His towns are as apt to get mixed with his counties as to be the bawpsprit to get all tangled up with the rudder of the Bellman's famous ship in "Hunting of the Snark."

As a matter of mixed names, there are no less than 49 counties of North Carolina towns which bear identical, or practically identical names with other counties.

This town of Alexander is not located in Alexander county, but on the other hand there is an Alexander in Buncombe and still another in Rutherford. There's an Ash in Brunswick, an Asheboro in Randolph and an Asheville in Buncombe, but there isn't any Ashe or compound thereof in Ashe county.

Sam Lovett of Pitt County Believed Slain

The decomposed body of Private Sam L. Lovett of Fort Bragg, and a native of Pitt county, was found floating on Tar river about six miles from Greenville early today. Lovett is believed to have been mysteriously slain and then dumped into the turbid waters of the river.

Workmen operating a dredge on the river discovered the body around 5 o'clock and notified Coroner A. A. Ellwanger who, along with Greenville and Pitt county authorities, launched an immediate investigation.

Examination of the body by morticians revealed that no water was in Lovett's lungs, an indication that he could have been murdered and then thrown into the river.

Lovett secured a leave of absence at Fort Bragg Saturday that became effective Sunday morning at 5:45 o'clock and was supposed to have terminated tomorrow morning at the same hour. He was said to have left Fort Bragg Saturday afternoon and was reportedly seen in Greenville late Saturday. Officers said, however, that he was last seen at a filling station on the Greenville-Washington highway.

It was believed in the out-of-state that Lovett had been dead a week because his body was so badly decomposed, but the rapid decomposition is believed to have resulted from warm weather.

Coroner Ellwanger had planned to hold an inquest into the death this morning, but deferred the matter until Saturday pending further investigation. Although no official comment was made by an investigator, it was believed that an investigation had already prevailed.

In Favor of Plan To Retire Firemen

Carolina Beach, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Mayor Thomas Cooper of Wilmington told the North Carolina Firemen's Association today he would appear personally before the 1941 legislature to fight for legislation to pension firemen.

Cooper proposed financing the program by levying a tax of two per cent on gross premiums collected by out-of-state fire insurance companies in North Carolina business.

Such a levy would replace a tax of one-half of one per cent now levied on gross premiums of all companies operating in the state, he said.

Advance Reported In Leaf Averages

Florence, S. C., Aug. 8.—(AP)—Reports of improving tobacco prices came in today as markets of the Border belt continued to handle heavy sales.

At Kingstree, Sales Supervisor E. L. Blackmon announced 203,000 pounds were sold yesterday at an official average of 21.37 cents per pound.

Prices on all grades, a Lumberton report said, took a sharp upward trend. Yesterday's official figures there showed $11.87 pounds sold for $161,024.36.

Florence, S. C., Aug. 8.—(AP)—Slight advances in prices around the Carolina's Border belt markets cheered growers today.

No markets reported a drop in the average price from the 1938-1939 year's selling. Good gains were reported by several. Offerings continued heavy and buying at a rapid pace.

Estimates of yesterday's trading included:

Table with 3 columns: Market, Pounds, and Avg. Price. Rows include Dillon, Fair Bluff, Taber City, Farmont, Whiteville, and Chadbourne.

Prices at Conway, Lumberton, Kingsiree, Lake City and Mullins were reported improved over those of last week.

Polio Causes Trio Of Schools Close

Shelby, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Three rural schools in Cleveland county were suspended today because attendance had dropped to such a low point at fears aroused by a recent death from infantile paralysis that authorities decided it was inadvisable to continue operation for the present.

About 600 pupils are enrolled in the schools affected, the number three township high school, the Earl Elementary school and the Patterson Springs Elementary school. Authorities said they believed the apprehension of patrons was groundless. The schools will probably resume classes Monday, it was announced.

Carolina's Farmers Cheerful Over Weed Prices

With prices above expressed anticipation, Carolina's farmers were cheered by payments on the 16 Border belt markets, first to open in the two states. Pictured above is a scene on the Lake City, S. C., market, showing buyers just before the auctioneer began his chant.

FEDERAL HUNT BEING PUSHED

Expect More Indictments in Oil Violations

New Orleans, Aug. 8.—(AP)—The government pushed an intense hunt for "big violators" today with more indictments expected shortly, as O. John Rogge, assistant United States attorney general, announced a federal search for political corruption in Louisiana was just picking up speed.

Less than 20 hours after former Gov. Richard Leche and Seymour Weiss, two of the late Huey Long's most favored political heirs, were charged with "hot oil" operations, Rogge said:

"We're concentrating on the big violators now, taking the smaller ones in stride. The federal investigations in this state are just getting under way. Beginning today the grand jury will work overtime, sitting in all-day sessions and perhaps even on Saturdays."

Leche and Weiss were indicted yesterday on charges they each profited by $67,000 through transactions in violation of the Connally act, which is designed to aid states in maintaining oil conservation quotas by prohibiting interstate movement of illegally produced "hot oil."

Freeman Burford, wealthy Dallas, Texas, oil man, and the East Texas Refining Company also were indicted in this deal.

Rogge said the government was particularly probing the point of tampering with jury, which acquitted Abraham L. Fushman, another Long field general, of income tax evasion charges in 1935.

Mrs. Susan Byrd Claimed by Death

Mrs. Susan Byrd, 72, died this morning at 3 o'clock at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Clara Squires, of the Swindell farm about five miles from Panteago, after having been in declining health for some time.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed, but final rites probably will be held Wednesday, and burial will be in the family cemetery plot near Whiteville.

Mrs. Byrd had been visiting her daughter for several months. She was born in Pitt county and had spent her entire life in this county. She was the widow of the late Lamb Byrd.

Surviving are one son, Ed Byrd of near New Bern; a daughter, Mrs. Clara Squires of Panteago; one brother, Joseph Tripp of near Greenville, and a number of grandchildren and great grandchildren.

Third Person Dies Of Wreck Injuries

Fayetteville, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Hilda Beal, 15, of near Graham, died in a hospital here shortly before midnight, the third fatality as the result of an automobile collision near Clinton Saturday morning.

Mrs. Julia Parrish of Greensboro and Garland Hill of Newton Grove died Saturday of injuries they suffered in the crash.

Seven other occupants of the two cars were given treatment here and are in a Goldsboro hospital.

OPENING DATE DRAWING NEAR

Greenville Warehouse To Start Filing Next Week

Two weeks from today the Greenville tobacco market will be in full swing and farmers throughout this section already are grading their leaf and otherwise preparing to place it on the warehouse floors.

The Eastern Carolina market will begin auction sales on Tuesday, August 22.

Although the crop was considered unusually large, much of the crop ripened at the same time and farmers lost a large quantity because they were unable to house it at the proper time. Too many farmers reported that worms were getting some of the late tobacco.

It is generally predicted, however, that this will be a banner year for offerings on the local market.

With the opening date rapidly nearing, an atmosphere which indicates that farmers and, in fact, all other persons of this section, are anticipating a big year.

Farmers will begin next week putting their tobacco on the warehouse floors and a heavy opening break is anticipated. Although some few farmers may be carrying tobacco elsewhere for sale in other belts, the vast majority are believed to be waiting on the opening here.

Felt Safety Conference May Have Other Angles

Reflector Bureau. Raleigh, Aug. 8.—Representatives of the Motor Vehicle Bureau, the State Highway Patrol, the Highway Safety Division and the truckowners and operators of North Carolina are to meet next week in Greensboro ostensibly for a round-table and set-together discussion of "highway safety," with particular regard to the equipment and brakes of motor vehicles.

Behind this "ostensibly" however, there are numerous indications that other things are lurking which will come in for as much earnest, if not as public and audible, discussion—such, for instance, as promotion of better relations between highway patrolmen and truck operators throughout the state.

AIR DEFENSES TO BE PARADED

Great Britain to Stage Anti-Aircraft Demonstration

London, Aug. 8.—(AP)—British anti-aircraft defenses were manned against a make-believe "enemy" bombers raid in a spectacular prologue today to full-dress rehearsal of the nation's armed forces.

The raiders, 500 of them, will operate from the south and east. One group of Royal Air Force planes flying the part of the enemy will fly over France tonight to wheel back from the vicinity of Beauvais, northwest of Paris. The rest will swoop in from the North sea.

Their jobs will be to dodge 800 defending planes, some 1,500 anti-aircraft guns and a barrage of 500 or so captive balloons designed to fend off bombing planes. It was estimated about 60,000 men would take part in the exercises which continue until Friday night. Observers will note the effectiveness of both the attackers and the defensive operations.

The climax of the aerial maneuvers will come with a black-out at 12:30 a. m., Thursday, covering half of England, including London. Street lights and traffic signals will be snapped out and all-night restaurants and clubs darkened along with docks and railroad stations. Trains and buses will operate with screened lights. A small army of anti-aircraft precaution forces will test the efficiency of their organization.

Along with the air war games is a program of sea maneuvers between the home fleet and the reserve fleet which King George will review Wednesday.

Crazed Negro Youth Sets His Home Afire

A crazed Negro youth today set fire to his home on North Washington street this morning around 7:45 o'clock, with loss ranging from $300 to $400.

The home belonged to Lil Allen, but was occupied by Josephine Yeeche, whose son is said to have set the home afire.

Firemen said the youth made a dash for the river after igniting the home. The blaze was said to have started in the kitchen.

OFFICIAL NAZI GERMAN PRESS FLAYS POLAND

Editorial Blasts Are Considered Unusually Bitter

LITTLE FUEHRER TO MEET HITLER

Nazi Leader in Free City of Danzig Reportedly Landed Near Hitler's Home Last Night

Berlin, Aug. 8.—(AP)—A new German newspaper attack on Poland flared today as arrangements apparently were completed for a new meeting between Adolf Hitler and the Nazi leader of the Free City of Danzig.

The Nazi leader, Albert Forster, was reported to have landed last night at an airport only a few miles from Hitler's Berchtesgaden place.

Officials, however, refused to say whether Forster, who frequently has declared that Hitler must determine the moment when Germany will move into Danzig, had seen his Fuehrer.

The Berlin press blasts at Poland were unusually bitter and the unanimity and enthusiasm with which all of the papers sallied into the subject hinted at concerted action. Editorials followed the lead of the German official news agency, DNB, which, in a commentary criticizing the Polish newspaper Czas, attributed to it a threat that Polish artillery would demolish Danzig if the Free City attempted to reunite with Germany.

(Czas' commenting on declarations Sunday by Polish Marshal Smugly-Rydz of the importance of Danzig to Poland's economic life, said, "The guns of the Polish army are facing Danzig should authorities of the Free City not abandon in time the dangerous road they are following on orders from the outside.")

DNB said the Polish newspaper "openly threatened the maltreatment and brutal bombardment by which Danzig should be laid in ruins. But Polish loudmouths must be told they are not ruthlessly provoke Germany in this manner."

Rites Wednesday For Mrs. L. Brown

Funeral services for Mrs. Laura Smaw Brown, 91, who died in Pitt General Hospital Monday afternoon at 1:40 o'clock following two days of critical illness, will be conducted Wednesday morning at the late home on 302 Summit street at 10:30 o'clock by the Rev. T. McE. Grant, pastor of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church, and burial will be in the family plot in Cherry Hill cemetery.

Mrs. Brown was the daughter of the late Samuel V. and Juliette Harvey Smaw, prominent Beaufort county family, and had lived in Greenville for many years. Mrs. Brown was the widow of the late Dr. Jesse Brown, who died in 1899. Dr. Brown was well known in Greenville, having practiced medicine here for many years. Mrs. Brown was the oldest member of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church.

Surviving are three grandchildren, Miss Jessie Bullock who had made her home with her grandmother for some time, Harvey Reid Bullock of Binghamton, N. Y., and James Dudley Bullock of New York City; two great grandchildren and several nieces and nephews; one sister, Mrs. O. Cuthrell of Washington, N. C.

Active pallbearers will be Wm. Brown, Dr. Alfred Schultz, Joe Norman, Frank Deiner, A. B. House and Judge Dink James.

RIDDLE: WHY IS A WOMAN LIKE A NEWSPAPER?

An enterprising Florida paper offered a year's subscription for the best answer to this question: "Why is a woman like a newspaper?" Here are some answers:

"Because they are thinner now than they used to be."
"Because they carry the news wherever they go."
But this one won the subscription: "Because every man should have one and not run after his neighbors."

WHAT IT MEANS: Action Against Japan

By MORGAN M. BEATTY
AP Feature Service Writer

Washington.—The abrogation of the Japanese-American trade treaty of 1911 convinces knowing observers that the American State Department is trying to kill 10 birds with one stone.

Whether Mr. Hull's note accomplishes its purposes can't be known, of course, for some time. But it is generally agreed that these are his targets:

1.—To keep Japan guessing and thereby strengthen the American position in the Far East. Nobody at all Japan, can guess what attitude the United States will take toward an embargo against Japan at the end of the six months period required before the treaty is repealed. Mr. Hull has long tried to keep other nations guessing about American policy, because it's always an advantage in international poker to keep the other players in the dark about your hand.

2.—To observe strictly international law and thereby accent, by contrast, the inference that Japan is among those outlaw aggressor nations the United States has so often condemned in recent years. Japan's aggression in China, for instance, is condemned as a violation of the nine-power treaty guaranteeing the integrity of China.

3.—By using the word "abrogate," and by adopting a mild tone, to take a step from which it will always be possible to recede without losing prestige, or without inviting Japan officially to charge that we are using bluff and unfair economic pressure. Abrogation, in law, is an inoffensive method of repeal. If the State Department had renounced the treaty, that would have implied we were definitely on the verge of breaking off commercial relations with Japan, an unfriendly act within range of war.

BOLSTERS BRITISH

4.—At the same time, to prevent Japan from taking it for granted that the United States will not retaliate for the abuse of Americans in the Far East, and for Japan's pressure against the open door in China. Rather, she might expect an embargo against shipment from the United States of materials that help Japan carry on her abuse and pressure. Some authorities estimate that the United States is now supplying 65 per cent of the materials essential to Japanese military forces in China.

5.—As a timely move, to strengthen the hands of the French, British and Russian diplomats, who are supposed to be close to a military alliance against the axis powers which Japan has so definitely joined.

6.—To bolster Great Britain's mission in Tokyo negotiating a new Anglo-Japanese formula in China, where both have investments close to $1,500,000,000. The action came just after the British had suffered an initial defeat in the negotiations by recognizing in effect that Japan has special status in China.

7.—To keep down any charges of British influence in American foreign policy. The American abrogation notice was clearly not served in concert with the British. If it had been, the American isolationists, led by Senators William E. Borah and Hiram Johnson, would have been free to open up another blast against playing the British game in the Far East. As it stands, the British were resentful toward our lone-handed play, claiming they should have been told what we were planning to do.

8.—On the domestic front, to slap on the wrist the senatorial bloc of conservative Democrats, isolationists and Republicans who blocked President Roosevelt's drive to revise the neutrality law and untie the President's hands in ticklish foreign situations. At present, the law provides embargoes against shipments of arms and munitions to warring nations. The administration contends this is more likely to get us into war than keep us out. The abrogation notice is the President's way of exercising a right conferred on the President by the constitution, completely independent of the Senate.

BOTH PARTIES SUPPORT IT

9.—By taking the initiative against Japan in the administration, it clearly shows it is trying to beat the Republicans to the punch in 1940, assuming that anti-Japanese sentiment will be running at full tide in this country during the presidential campaign. The Democratic orators will be able to say that the President himself acted to penalize Japan in the Far East, but that his action was such as not to invite a useless war. This should solicit popularity among churches with missions in China, too.

10.—And, finally, the administration can claim the complete backing of both parties, and American political opinion generally—a factor of vast importance to the Japanese.

For Mr. Hull's notice to Japan

Indicted with Leche

Richard W. Leche (above), wealthy independent oil operator of Dallas, Texas, was indicted by a federal grand jury in New Orleans on charges of violating the Connally "hot oil" act. The same jury returned similar indictments against former Gov. Richard W. Leche of Louisiana and Seymour Weiss, Louisiana political leader.

comes right behind the introduction in the Senate of a resolution by Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan, favoring abrogation of the 1911 treaty, the one possible obstacle to an embargo against Japan. No doubt Japanese, as well as American observers, will carefully note that Mr. Vandenberg is a leading Republican candidate for president in 1940.

CAPTAIN TATE PEANUT CROPS TO BE HONORED FOUND SPOTTY

Horton Will Speak at Banquet Friday Night

Raleigh, Aug. 8.—Lieutenant Governor Wilkins Horton will be the principal speaker at a banquet to be held here Friday night in honor of Captain William J. Tate, associate of the Wright brothers in the pioneer days of aviation and the man who is credited with bringing them to North Carolina for their experiments which culminated in the famed first flight at Kitty Hawk.

Perhaps the most unusual feature of the banquet will be presentation of a recording, which Captain Tate is making in New York today. It is being made in order that his own story of the Wright brothers' three years of experiment and study may go down to posterity. One copy will be made part of the exhibit of the Museum of Science and Industry.

Another copy will be presented to the Smithsonian Institute, and one copy will be placed in a North Carolina institution which will be selected later.

Captain Tate was here over the week-end, but flew to New York Monday to open that city's newest

Lack of Rainfall in Many Sections Is Harmful

Raleigh, Aug. 8.—Lack of rainfall during the early growing season has caused the peanut crop in many sections of North Carolina to be spotted. E. Troy Ferguson, district agent of the State College Extension Service, said today.

As a result, yields may be lessened in some areas, but for the belt as a whole the crop is in excellent shape. This is especially true of that area growing large-podded peanuts.

The anticipated early harvesting of new crop peanuts did not develop in the Southeast, Ferguson said in quoting a report of the United States Bureau of Agricultural Economics, and digging even in north Georgia has not been as general as anticipated. However, old crop Spanish and Runners in the Southeast are stronger.

Ferguson said the shortage of good Virginia-type peanuts has now become so definite and so well recognized that some cleaners are finding it difficult to fill orders for Jumbos. Some are offering Jumbos in less than carload lots only.

The general impression seems to prevail, the bureau reported, that most remaining farmers' stock is of inferior quality and condition and that good handpicks can be made from the average Runner farmers' goods only with difficulty and with considerable expense.

The stronger market situation is raising the price level for fancy and to a less extent for Jumbo handpicks and No. 1 Virginia shelled handpicks and No. 1 large Virginias.

At the same time, farmers' stock is fully firm to slightly stronger for best grades, with some millers' paying 4 1/2 cents a pound delivered for best Jumbos. Best Bunch now commands 4 to 4 1/2 cents a pound delivered, and even best shelling stock has advanced substantially over last week's figures.

Farmers all over North Carolina are making their plans now to clothe their fields in green during the cold weather months with winter cover crops.

Grass-molasses silage is steadily increasing in popularity among the dairymen of this state, reports A. C. Kinney, extension dairyman at State College.

Washington Daybook

By Preston Grover

Washington.—Congress has passed up one of its last opportunities to determine whether the army's "Dreyfus case" will go into history without a conclusive investigation. The "Dreyfus case" is that of Oberlin M. Carter, late-time captain of engineers, top-ranking man in his class at West Point. In pre-Spanish war days he was engineer of a harbor improvement project at Savannah, Ga., out of which grew a scandal and a court martial that sent him to imprisonment in Leavenworth.

He was tried in 1898. Scarcely a year has passed since that he has not pressed a case in court, or, more recently, in Congress to have that stain removed from his record. It never has been. The rush of the final hours of Congress made it impossible to take up the bill which, year after year, has been introduced to clear Carter's record. It will be investigated another summer and hearings will be held again, perhaps next winter. But, meantime, Carter is getting older—he's in his eighties.

HARNESSED THE TIDES

They were always friends and, to the last, General Goethals never questioned Carter's integrity. But others did. Carter and others have testified that army associates, jealous of his pre-eminence as an engineer, set out to ruin him. Although only a captain he was put in charge of the huge works at Savannah. He devised a plan for laying artificial dykes through which the tides would course and wash the harbor deep enough for heavy traffic. He was commended at home and abroad.

Ultimately he turned over the project to other officers and was the distinguished honor of appointment as United States military attaché with the embassy at London. He returned from there with his name under a cloud, for officers at Savannah had charged him with conspiring with his wealthy father-in-law and with contractors, to defraud the government of large sums of money. They alleged that, while engineer at Savannah, he had approved payments to contractors for inferior rock and brush mattresses when superior material had been specified. The contractors had already created a bad atmosphere in Savannah by assertedly chiseling on contracts for the immense quantities of bound brush cut from the countryside for the harbor work. And Carter himself, financed by his father-in-law's money, had cut a social swath which made him the envy of some of his fellow officers.

MARK HANNA INVOLVED

The trial, before a tribunal of army officers, began just as the Spanish-American war was breaking out. It lasted six months. Carter was found guilty on a small number of the numerous detailed charges. The verdict was passed up to President McKinley for approval. Weeks of delay followed. An election campaign was coming on and the Carter case had been a sensation. The President had a special investigation made before he acted. It had been asserted and denied that final approval of the conviction was dictated by Mark Hanna, McKinley's political mentor, as being politically the most expedient course.

In any event, the conviction was approved by the President. Carter, dismissed from the army, served his sentence. His standing as an engineer had not been forgotten and he soon was received big fees. All those, together with wealth received from his father-in-law, he has spent the vain attempt to wipe the blot

SHORT SHOTS

Reflector Bureau

By HENRY AVERILL

Raleigh, Aug. 8.—By cutting off all the Atlantic ocean and by bending Cherokee county right in the middle, Rural Electrification Authority Engineer J. M. Grainger finally made his big map of North Carolina fit one side of a room in the REA suite in the Revenue building. So there isn't any water to speak of in the east of the state and Murphy with about half of Cherokee is around on the east wall while the rest of Tar Heelia's on the South side; but the map's up just the same, and that, of course, is something.

There was quite a wreck out at the junction of the Hillsboro road and Western boulevard Saturday when a big passenger bus and a little Ford had an argument in which, strangely enough, the bus was overturned completely while the smaller car stayed right square on its wheels and right square in the middle of the road.

A Negro man was pinned under the bus and it took some time, maybe a quarter of an hour or so, to extricate him and get him on his way to a hospital. After everything was all over, including most of the shouting, a highway patrolman, first arm of the law to put in an appearance, reached the scene by speeding along the boulevard at something like 70, or maybe more.

He was practically just in time to be too late, but he was taking no chances on being later than that. Probably if nobody had wanted him, he would have been Johnny-on-the-spot even before the thing happened at all.

A truck or other motor vehicle loaded to the full 40,000 pounds limit allowed by North Carolina law couldn't operate in nine other states which will not permit that much gross weight on their highways. These are Kentucky, Tennessee, Alabama, Mississippi, South and North Dakota, Vermont, Virginia and New Hampshire.

On the other hand, 21 states permit even heavier loads than the Tar Heel 40,000 pounds, and so trucks loaded to their limits couldn't come into this state without reducing. All of which is another argument being used by those who favor uniform laws with regulation to motor vehicle operation in the several states.

It's still vacation time for many of North Carolina's state officials, and besides that, it is still hot as the hinges. The result is that there's quite a scarcity of news around these diggings and almost everybody seems to be taking it easy except candidates for governor, of whom there are legions, and the hard-working newspaper men who have to get out copy whether there's anything much to write about or not.

It ought to be easier soon for the sports departments of the papers, anyhow. The time is nigh at hand when every little college publicity agent will sit himself down at his trusty typewriter and begin the annual court martial, have opposed him. Various courts and investigators, as well as congressional committees, have asserted or implied his innocence of any complicity of fraud, and the record stands.

Parade Is Finale of MRA Conference

A thousand members of the Moral Rearmament group, which has been in conference at Monterey, Calif., went on parade at San Francisco's Golden Gate exposition as their gathering came to an end. This picture shows the parade through the Court of Pacifics. The conference was attended by delegates from 30 nations.

Man About Manhattan

By George Tucker

New York—The old man who operated a tiny, untidy shop in the core of the lower east side for so many years isn't there any more. And gone are his ghastly displays of tape-worms, which used to startle the citizens out of their wits, and sometimes their dinners, when they learned what those things were.

Those jars were to frighten you. For he was a business man, and he sold patented cures for tape-worm victims. Yet it seemed at times as if the old man was really fond of his "pets," as he called them. He even had names for them. . . .

"There's Joe, poor old Joe in that glass. . . . Now, this one is Daisy. . . . Daisy has been with me five years. . . . It went on like that, endlessly and forever. . . . One day the neighbors found him weeping bitterly, all by himself in his little shop. They pressed him for a reason. Finally, between sobs, he pointed to a lot of shattered glass on the floor. "Poor Thelma," he sobbed, "I accidentally dropped her, and now . . . he trailed off, unconsolable."

Of course, I did not witness this spectacle of grief, and I cannot vouch for it. The man may have been just a very good ham actor. There were stories circulated about the Orchard street neighborhood that some of his "props" were strictly on the phoney side. For instance, they pointed out that next door was an Italian spaghetti store, and that perhaps Katie was just a long, dangling string of macaroni.

But what of it? The point I wish to make is, the old man is gone. Where, I don't know. No one seems to know. One day he was there. The next a sign that said "For Sale" was dangling in the breeze. The spelling is his own. Maybe he did go for a sail. Anyway, he gave a touch of novelty to a district where the unusual is commonplace and where the commonplace is abhorred.

The south-bound Third avenue surface cars snould remove those "To Post Office" signs. The post office isn't there any more. It was torn down last winter to make way for an enlarged City Hall Park at Park Row (where all the New York newspapers used to have their offices) and Broadway.

Incidentally, when that post office was torn down it removed the most appropriately situated building in New York. For the post office was on—Mail street.

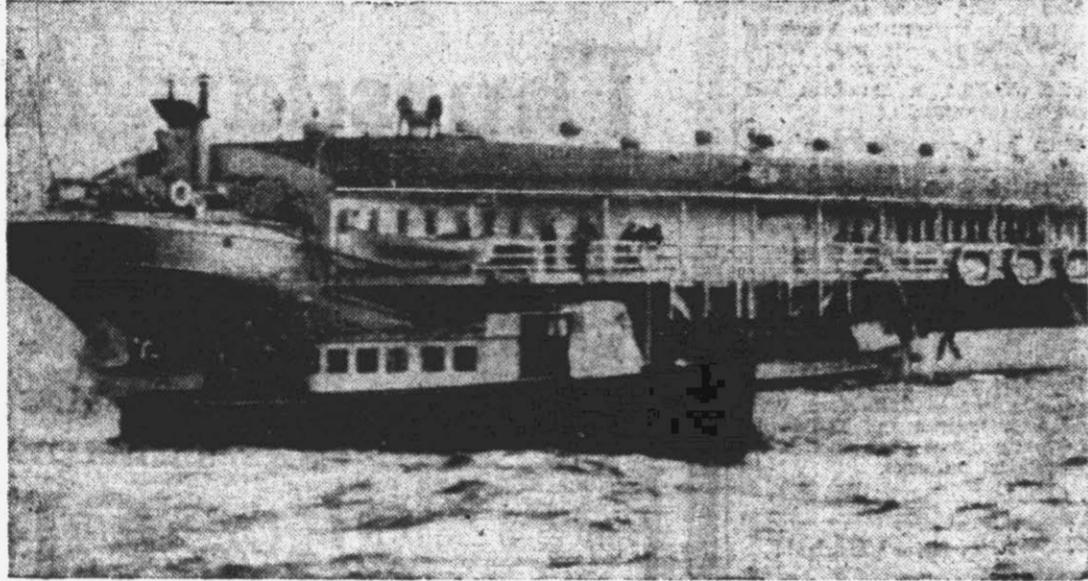

Sign in front of a Bowery barber-shop: "Shoes shined inside." Now that is carrying fastidiousness too far!

Leche, Weiss Indicted on 'Hot Oil' Charges

Gambling Boat Crew Uses Hoses to Resist Officers

Operator Tony Cornero and the crew of the gambling ship Rex, which is anchored offshore from Santa Monica, Calif., used fire hoses to repel officers seeking to board the vessel as raiders. Three other ships were boarded and in one instance some gambling equipment was smashed. Most of one night was spent aboard the Rex by 500 patrons. Cornero finally agreed to accept service of a gambling complaint, authorities said. Above, the Rex and the launch of the foiled raiders.

THIMBLE THEATRE (Starring Popeye)

Now Showing - "Stick Your Hand Out For A Turn"

WE TURN LEFT AT A WHALE AND TURN RIGHT AT SOME SHARKS—THEN WE FIND LAND? YES, IT ISN'T FAR!

THERE IS A SHORTER WAY IF YOU ARE IN A HURRY!

A SHORTER WAY? YES IT IS VIA SOME PORPOISES, BUT THE PORPOISES MAY BE GONE!

THANK YOU WE SHALL TRY THE WHALE AND SHARK ROUTE

NEPTUNE TELLS ME WE ARE NEAR LAND! WHAT LAND IS IT, WIMPY? I DID NOT ASK!

WHALE!! PORT YER HELM!

OKAY GOOD LUCK!

AVE, AVE!

The key to those mystery ships, freighters for the most part, lying in East river, is this. When they first arrive they are low in the water, their holds being crammed with cargo. Next day they appear so high as to be unbelievable. This is because the holds are now empty and the ships are riding high in the water. (I didn't just figure that one out—a cop told me.)

You will, I'm sure, cheer through your tears for Dwight Long, author of "Seven Seas on a Shoestring," who four years ago sailed out of Seattle in a 32-foot boat on a round-the-world cruise. A dog was his lone companion. After four years of storm and strife, he arrived in New York without a mishap—and then wrecked his craft in a hurricane which slapped the Atlantic coast. It required some time to make it seaworthy again. He is en route to Bermuda now, from which he will return to the West Coast, marking the end of his round-the-world voyage.

AMATEUR MARKSMEN MAKE THEMSELVES USEFUL

Louisville, Ky.—(AP)—A group of amateur marksmen is combining pleasure with utility. Their hunting ground is the old city dump, an area about three blocks square where rats have been breeding for years.

About once a week, this group of rifle shots, usually a half-dozen or more businessmen, go to the dump. Armed with 22's and flashlights, they take the range about dusk when the rats come out of their holes.

The marksmen averaged nearly 150 rats a night.

Pepper Assails New Deal Critics

Shortly before the 76th Congress of the United States adjourned at Washington, Sen. Claude Pepper, (D-Fla.), an enthusiastic supporter of President Roosevelt, stirred up a hornet's nest by bitterly assailing administration critics from the floor of the senate. A number of New Deal critics replied biting. This picture shows Pepper in a calmer mood after adjournment.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Aug. 8. - (AP) - An unconvincing early rally failed to follow through in today's stock market and initial gains running to a point or so were chopped down to fractions in many cases or changed to declines at the close.

Dealings were moderately lively in the first few minutes, but from then on the ticker tape moved only spasmodically. Transfers approximated 450,000 shares.

Looking for a Job

Potentially, Mrs. Pluma Louise Palmer (above) is worth $1,500 a day. But just the same, she's looking for a job. She would even take a job as a waitress, the work she followed before she married the late Potter D'Orsay Palmer, heir and playboy of Chicago and Sarasota, Fla. The funds left to her as his widow are tied up in litigation brought by members of his family. Meanwhile, says Pluma, "I haven't got a cent."

Here Tomorrow

"Like mother, like daughter" might well be said of Lois Bannerman, American harpist, who will appear in a concert at East Carolina Teachers College tomorrow night. Her mother is a harp teacher and it was with keen delight that the daughter became interested in the study of harp music. Mother and daughter have worked and played together and have appeared together in harp duos on a number of programs.

Miss Bannerman has won numerous awards for young artists. A favorite of the New York State Federation of Music Clubs, she has been presented by their artist department many times. She won the Young Artist Contest of the New York MacDowell Club, and the Debut Award of the New York Madrigal Society. Both awards gave her presentations in recitals before distinctive audiences, representative of New York's society, and music patrons.

gator that the man was murdered, all indications point to murder.
Coroner Ellwanger said the body was so badly decomposed it would have been impossible to determine if Lovett had died of foul play. He said this could be determined only by investigation of Lovett's activities after he left Fort Bragg Saturday.
Army officers came to Greenville from Fort Bragg this afternoon to identify the body, a normal military routine. The remains were then taken to Maysville, where funeral and burial followed in the family cemetery plot.

Private Lovett was the 24-year-old son of W. J. Lovett, well-known farmer of the Gritton community in Pitt county. He was born and reared in Pitt county and enlisted at Fort Bragg two years ago.

Besides his father, surviving are five brothers, David of Durham, Jesse of Washington, N. C., Alex of New Hanover county, and Albert and Eddie Lovett of Onslow county.

Rusty And Harry Hit Homers To Produce 6-5 Triumph

WILSON HURLS FOR GREENIES

Bruins Also Turn In Pair of Circuit Clouts

Rusty McCall and Harry Jenkins went on a home run spree in the sixth, inning last night to climax Greenville's 6-5 triumph over Doc Smith's New Bern Bears, who play the Greenies here tonight at 8 o'clock.

Greenville and New Bern scored two runs apiece in the opening inning and the locals scored a singleton in the fifth to match the one the Bears racked up in the fourth inning to create a 3-3 deadlock.

It was Rusty's homer that broke the deadlock and his blow combined with that of Jenkins gave the Greenies three runs. The Bruins scored two more the rest of the route, but it wasn't enough to win the game.

Morris Willson, who hadn't performed in several days, took charge of the hill for the Greenies in the same and allowed 10 scattered hits. Bull Hamons, Morris' foe, allowed only five safes, but the home run losses that crossed the plate last the ball game.

New Bern's feature blow was Barnes' two-run homer, which came in the opening inning. McMullen also got a homer.

Gracie Allen and McCall were the only Greenies to collect more than one hit. Norwood and Barnes got two hits apiece for the losers.

Bruins Playing Tonight In Greenville Stadium

Only 13 More Home Games Left for Season

There are only 13 more home games for Rube Wilson's Greenies' sports fans, with one of these being whittled from the schedule here tonight at 8 o'clock in a game with Doc Smith's New Bern Bears.

The 13-game contention is based on the normal playing schedule, but if the Greenies are successful in the play-off, there'll be more home games. However, if they do not gain victory in the conclusion, the home season will end with only 13 more games.

Greenville has a combined total of 29 more games, 16 of which will be played out of town. There are four of these games that will be played in the form of doubleheaders because of rained-out contests. The rained-out games include one at Wilson, one at Snow Hill, another at Tarboro and a fourth at Williamston.

A real baseball battle is anticipated for the remainder of the season, particularly where the Greenies are involved. Greenville is riding high in the Coastal Plain League and other teams are trying to forge ahead to be in the play-off. Hence, only real battles can be the consequence.

After tonight's game, New Bern will have only two games left to play with Rube and his fast-stepping Greenies, with others to be played with the following teams: Wilson, five, one of which, scheduled for August 20, will be the locals' last Sunday home game of the season; Kinston, six; Snow Hill, five; Tarboro, seven, and none with Goldsboro.

Greenville's home schedule for the remainder of the week includes a game with Kinston here Wednesday night and another with Tarboro on Friday night. The Goobers have never won a game on the local diamond, but with their increased playing skill of the past few days should be able to show the Greenies a thing or two when they clash here Friday night.

Grady Knowles will be in the line-ups for tonight's game, having been reinstated. He plays in the outfield. Don't forget, tonight's game gets under way at 8 o'clock.

Chance to Aid

With the Greenville Softball League running a little behind in finances and with directors anxious to finish the season, the last week of regular play now going on, with their books even, it has been suggested that fans who are able and willing say "Keep the change" when they buy a ticket to the games.

An admission of only 10 cents is being charged and three games are scheduled for each night this week. It is proposed that if a person wants to help he can pay a quarter or fifty cents, even more if he feels like it, to witness the contests.

Too, it was suggested that persons with season tickets might purposely forget and leave them home and buy a ticket upon entering.

These suggestions were not made by officials of the league, although they admit they would like to get out of the red, but by persons interested in seeing the loop come out without any deficit.

After tonight's game, New Bern will have only two games left to play with Rube and his fast-stepping Greenies, with others to be played with the following teams: Wilson, five, one of which, scheduled for August 20, will be the locals' last Sunday home game of the season; Kinston, six; Snow Hill, five; Tarboro, seven, and none with Goldsboro.

MARTINS LOSE PAIR TO BUGS

Herring Allows Wilson Only One Hit To Win 3-0

Goldsboro took a double-header from Williamston, 10-4 and 6-1, in yesterday's Coastal Plain League, while Kinston shut out Wilson, 3-1, and Snow Hill defeated Tarboro, 7-2.

Harry Soufas hit his twenty-sixth homer of the season to tie his Snow Hill teammate, Joe Bistoff, for the season record. Five of the Billies' runs were accounted for by homers.

The double win Goldsboro scored over the Martins enabled the Bugs to take over second place in the league.

Bill Herring of Kinston shut out the Wilson Tobs by allowing them only one hit. Catcher Anderson's double in the seventh was the only safety garnered by the Tobs over the Bugs. Herring also connected for a double and a single in three trips to the plate to take batting honors.

False Alarm.

SPECIALIZE IN CURB SERVICE

New Place To Be Opened Just Across Tar River

The hundreds of Greenville people who practice the well-known pastime of "riding out to get a drink" will have a new, modern, sanitary and up-to-date place to go beginning tomorrow morning.

The Chicken and Duke place will formally open at that time just north of the Tar river bridge on the west side of the highway.

The two owners and operators are well known through this section. Although each is well known by his nickname, Chicken and Duke, for the sake of exactness they are Arthur (Duke) Andrews and Woodrow (Chicken) Andrews. Each has been connected with Dal Cox in a similar business to the one the two men are opening, for several years.

Chicken eight years and Duke five years.

Chicken and Duke's place will feature curb service, serving sandwiches, frozen drinks, smokes, etc. Music will be provided and the operators declare they will keep records of the most popular music.

The place will remain open from 5 a. m. until 1 a. m. daily, and plenty of parking space in the shade will be provided.

The new place will feature Pure Oil products and cars will be thoroughly serviced.

Chicken and Duke will have a corps of able assistants and curb attendants. They also announced that Jimmy Wells, well-known local man, would be connected with the new business.

A new tree pruner, operating on hydraulic pressure easily cuts limbs up to two inches thick. Extension poles enable the operator to remove a limb 20 feet from the ground.

HORSEMEN, IT SEEMS, ARE THRIFTY WITH WORDS.

He'll Try Anything Once. Hopkinsville, Ky. (AP)—George (Tarzan) Claiborne, 12, is getting a good start toward the "hard luck" championship.

Three times he's been near death. He's fallen off everything from wagons to trees.

When 3, George fell from a moving farm wagon. The back wheel passed so close to his head it mashed part of his hair into a rock in the road.

A year later, the boy was in an automobile that rolled suddenly down a hill into a stream. The car door flew open and George fell out, but his clothing caught in the door handle and held him suspended over the water—deep enough for him to drown—until help arrived.

Then, when less than 6, George fell from a tree. He escaped with a broken leg.

A football game supplied him with a broken nose. Recently he fell from a grapevine at a picnic. Both arms were broken.

The lad's father, Patrolman Jim Claiborne of the Hopkinsville police force, says George stays in hot water because he'll try anything once.

"I had to call him down once, though," the father said. "He was climbing trees and jumping in the river. He couldn't swim in the first place and the water wasn't deep enough for diving in the second place."

Meet Mr. Lochinvar

By Marie Blizard

YESTERDAY: Locke invites Cecily to a picnic supper on the beach, next Sunday. Still puzzled about him, but excited, she accepts.

Chapter 16 Preparations

CECILY didn't want to think of the problem of Philip. She wanted to think of Locke.

She was going to see him on Sunday!

The room felt hot, stuffy to her. She didn't want to make the effort necessary to talk to them. She didn't want to play bridge.

She wanted to be alone.

She had another problem. She had accepted Locke's invitation to a hike on Sunday. But now that she had accepted it, she hadn't the least idea of how she was going to manage.

She couldn't very well say, "By the way, I have a date on Sunday with a nice young man. I'll be gone most of the afternoon and evening."

"Oh, no, you can't do that when you're supposed to be engaged to another man who is a house-guest. You could, of course, tell a lie. Say that you had to do something for Laura. But you couldn't do it if you were Cecily Stuart. You might be able to tell one very white little lie about being engaged to someone you didn't know. But that didn't mean that you were a habitual liar.

Nevertheless, you meant to keep that Sunday date.

If only you could think of a way—

"Cecily, have you heard about the dinner-party?" Helene Fernandez broke in on Cecily's thoughts.

"No, what dinner-party?"

"We're all invited to Mrs. Brewster's who is giving it a week from Thursday. Manuel and I were planning to return to New York before then but Olivia insists that we stay."

"But I thought Mrs. Brewster never gives parties?"

Olivia said, "Only for state occasions. Cecily, this will be one and I think Helene ought to stay to see it. Not even in Newport is a summer dinner arranged with such grandeur. There will be at least seven courses and the gold plate service."

"What is the occasion?"

"Sir Hubert and Lady Rathbone are to be her house guests and she is dining them on that occasion. We will be six from Darelea. Helene and Manuel, Philip and yourself. Armando"—Armando was Olivia's accompanist—"and myself."

Helene sighed. "Dress. I suppose."

"Yes, indeed. As formally as your wardrobe permits."

"Will Philip still be here?" Cecily inquired sweetly. And pointedly.

"Of course, he will," Olivia said at once.

Philip, looking frightfully pleased, rose at once and took one of Olivia's hands in his. "Dear lady you know that I want to stay but I feel that I've overstayed now. You've been so kind. I find it hard to resist your invitation."

"Don't talk nonsense, Philip. We want you to stay with us as long as you can. You're an ideal guest. I'd miss you if you were to leave us. And so would Cecily. Wouldn't you, dear?"

Cecily smiled weakly.

Didn't the man have any decency? Didn't he have any work to do?

Going Away

SHE would have very much enjoyed handing him his hat and saying goodbye forever.

"Then I shall surely return," Philip was saying.

"Are you going away again?" Cecily's question was hopefully put. And not at all in the manner to be expected of a love-lorn girl whose fiancé was about to leave her.

"Yes," Olivia answered for him. "he's got to go to New York. Poor darling, and it's so dreadfully hot there. Gloria writes that she is simply languishing at Southampton."

"When are you going?" Cecily asked, trying to hide her eagerness.

"I'm afraid I'll have to leave on the morning train, my love. I've got to see my publishers Saturday. There's some question come up about my new book."

"Saturday? I thought publishing houses were closed on Saturday?"

"My little goose! Publishers do not have office hours when they have business to talk over with authors."

"Not important authors," Helene contributed.

Cecily had her doubts about Philip's importance but she was content to let it go. Philip was going away. It was enough for her that she was to be free over the week-end. There was no longer any need for her to worry about managing to get away on Sunday.

Saturday she scanned the heavens anxiously. It was a cloudless day and at night the stars came out. "Please don't let it rain tomorrow," she prayed that night.

"Cecily, we're driving to Kenne. trunkport for some golf today."

Continued tomorrow.

HOLDS SUPPLY OF PHOSPHATE

All of Allotment for This State Not Taken as Yet

Raleigh, Aug. 8.—Only 1,362 tons of the 4,000 tons of superphosphate allotted North Carolina for this year under the Triple-A grant-of-aid plan remains to be taken, it was announced today by E. Y. Floyd, AAA executive officer of State College.

Farmers already have requested 2,626 tons of phosphate, and 56,502 tons of ground agricultural limestone to be delivered to them at once, or at future dates, with the cost of the materials to be deducted from their Agricultural Conservation payments for 1939.

Orders for triple-superphosphate have been received from 26 counties, as follows: Ashe, 340 tons; Watauga, 329; Madison, 292; Mitchell, 263; Buncombe, 192; Yancey, 172; Alleghany, 163; Avery, 146; Caldwell, 136; Jackson, 98; Haywood, 87; Guilford, 49; Henderson, 46; Wilkes, 45; Cleveland, 44; Clay, 36; Edgecombe, 28; Macon, 27; Stokes, 25; Yadkin, 24; Graham, 23; Swain, 22; Alexander, 21; Warren, 21; Person, 20; and Cherokee, 9.

Ground limestone has been requested by farmers in 66 counties. Whereas, most of the phosphate has gone to Mountain and Piedmont areas, lime has been ordered by Currituck, Camden, Pasquotank, Perquimans, Tyrrell, Washington, Hyde, Northampton, Bertie and Beaufort, among the far-eastern counties.

However, the mountain counties have placed the largest orders for lime, the leaders being: Watauga, 5,373 tons; Buncombe, 3,982; Cherokee, 3,927; Ashe, 3,821; Davidson, 2,839; Henderson, 2,399; and Transylvania, 2,175.

went to school hungry, came home to the one-room apartment, which was dark and dreary, and played alone. There was never food enough. It is hard to believe now, but she says her schoolmates called her "homely liss."

Bright spot in this childhood was her trip to Holland. Kindly Dutch farmers, undertook the care of many Hungarian child unfortunates: Iona was one of those selected. A couple of years later she returned, flesh on her bones again, color in her cheeks.

She had to work. At 14, she became apprentice in the dress establishment. With tips for delivering gowns, she earned as much as $2 a week. Already she was consumed by the desire to sing, to be an actress.

She saved from her pittance to pay for voice lessons; often her food money and her carfare went into the music fund. A year later, on her own, she asked for and got a job in the chorus of Budapest's leading opera house. Nobody thought she could sing; they all told her to try for dancing. She kept on singing, taking lessons. She went to Vienna. There she had better luck. Minor roles in one of the city's opera houses, and understudying the leading lady, brought her opportunity. The leading lady became ill, permitting Iona to sing "La Rosa" in her place. She was liked, although criticized for inexperience. She had "arrived."

She was still making small money, still sending some home; she was still, although a star, not eating too regularly. She wanted to come to Hollywood. She went to Metro's Vienna manager; all he could do was take her photograph, marked "singer." Talent Hunter Bob Ritchie and Executive Benny Thau arrived, became interested. They heard Iona sing, offered her $50 a week. Take it or leave it—and she left it.

From London they wired an offer of $350. Iona packed. Two days after unpacking in Hollywood she was in "Rosalie," singing triumphantly. (She's had a raise since.) She could speak no English; memorized her lines parrot-fashion. The ensuing two years have been spent in preparation for "Balalaika." Shedding 12 pounds was part of her stint.

She is a serene, intelligent, unself-conscious beauty. And that means true beauty. With a glorious voice besides, she is on the slate for stardom.

There was a knapsack on the grass, which he picked up and slung over his leather-jacketed shoulder.

"The steak's in here," he said.

"And the potatoes?" she persisted.

"Woman, don't you ever think of anything but food? The potatoes are at the beach. I sent them out by special messenger."

"You're very efficient," she said, and matched her stride to his.

The road was a brown and gray tweed. The fields were green and yellow silk patterned with the pale pink of wild roses, with the purple of thistles that grew by the side of the road. It was a changeable silk that moved with dappled sunlight in the soft summer breeze.

Continued tomorrow.

An inquiry into the death of 40-year-old Al Clair, actor and film dance director, was requested by his comely wife, Mrs. Joyce Clair, (above), 32. Clair died of a cerebral hemorrhage at the county hospital in Los Angeles 15 hours after his arrest in Hollywood on drunk charges. An inquest was scheduled for August 7.

Hollywood.—The slim ash-blond girl with the exquisite profile is posing for a close-up. While Nelson Eddy's voice moans and booms a Russian folk song from an off-stage record, Director Reinhold Schunzel points the camera at one of its loveliest subjects, recording the emotions evoked by that song. It is a scene in "Balalaika," and the girl is Iona Massey, Eddy's co-star.

Two years she has been here, working hard. Hours daily, she has trained rigorously. Two hours with Lillian Burns, the diction and drama coach; two hours with voice; sessions in English instruction; sessions with a masseuse; sessions in picture theaters, hearing English as the screen speaks it; light lunches, often when she's hungry. She thinks it's nothing.

Once, in Budapest where she was born, she worked from 7 to 6 as a seamstress' apprentice. Once, as a child there, she went hungry and lonely. Her father came back from the war broken in body and spirit; her mother worked all day to support the family. Iona Rajmasey

It Looks Like A Fair Year For The Farmers

1939 SEEN AS HEALTHY YEAR

Favorable Mortality Rate Realized Past Six Months

New York.—The American people have just passed through six months of such favorable mortality that they may reasonably expect 1939 to end as one of the healthiest years in their history, despite the high prevalence of respiratory diseases during the winter months, and an increase of 59 per cent in the influenza death rate for the first half of the year.

As an indication of the outstanding health of the general population during the first six months of 1939, statisticians of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company point out that the 1939 June mortality rate among the company's Industrial policyholders reached an all-time low level for that month. Also, for the year through July 29, the cumulative death rate for the first half of 1939 among the wage-earners was only slightly higher than the record low point established for the same period of 1938. And much the same health conditions existed among the general public, as represented by the population of the major cities, including New York, where the death rate for the year up to July 15 was only 2.9 per cent higher than that for the corresponding period of 1938—the record health year for that city.

Showing how the country's health has been improving during 1939 and declaring "The outlook for a mortality rate very closely approaching the low point for last year becomes more and more promising," the statisticians say that "While the death rate among the insured at the end of the first quarter of 1939 was 3 per cent higher than that in 1938, the excess, by the end of the half year, was only 2 per cent."

The improvement in tuberculosis mortality among the insured wage-earners during the half-year is declared to make it the first quarter that 1939 will be added to the long sequence of years in which the death rate from that disease has been falling. Automobile fatalities shared in the general decline in mortality from accidents and have a good prospect of establishing a lower death rate for the full year than for any year since 1925. Pneumonia mortality, which usually rises with an increase in the influenza death rate, followed an opposite course and declined 9 per cent as compared with the first half of 1938. Indeed, the statisticians say, "It is almost a foregone conclusion that relatively few of the fatal pneumonia cases so far this year were of influenza origin." The death toll of lobar pneumonia, the deadliest of the numerically important acute diseases, has dropped abruptly since 1936.

"A practically continuous drop in the mortality rate from conditions arising out of pregnancy and childbirth has been observed for two decades among the insured wage-earners and their families," the statisticians say.

Besides influenza, the diseases for which higher mortality rates were recorded during the first half of 1939 among the insured wage-earners and their families were cancer, diabetes, cerebral hemorrhage, heart conditions, and diseases of the coronary arteries.

WIN HONORS AT POULTRY MEET

North Carolina 4 - H Clubs Make Good Showing

Raleigh, Aug. 8.—North Carolina 4-H Club teams who competed in contests at the Seventh World's Poultry Congress in Cleveland, Ohio, made fine records, it was reported here today by C. F. Parrish, poultry specialist of the State College Extension Service and secretary of the North Carolina Committee for the Congress. The event ended Monday.

Three types of contests were held: Production demonstrations, consumer demonstrations and judging contests. White and Negro teams represented this state in each of the contests. Three designations were made in placing the teams—superior, excellent and good.

A Guilford county team, composed of Raymond Oakley and Frank Johnson, scored "excellent" in the production demonstration contest for white club members. The Alamance consumer demonstration team and the Craven county judging team were graded "excellent" in the Negro division. The other teams, from Johnston and Durham counties in the white club contests, and from Hertford in the Negro contests rated "good."

J. I. Wagoner, Guilford county farm agent, trained Oakley and Johnson with the assistance of extension poultry specialists.

B. A. Hall, Negro farm agent of the extension service, coached the Alamance team, which comprised Hulon Jeffries and Lafoy Hayes. Craven's judging team, which was composed of Roosevelt Bryant, John Green and Latham Wallace, was coached by Otis Evans, Negro farm agent in that county.

GREENVILLE, N. C.

Asaop's Fable, 1939 Version.
Taswell, Va. — (AP) — Asaop's Fables credit the fox with outwitting a crow, but a turtle here went beyond one better by capturing the crow instead of a piece of cheese. Harold Jones found the pair in a field, the crow protesting vigorously as the turtle kept a bulldog grip on the crow's leg.
